THE ANNUAL tree-lighting ceremony and Santa's arrival to Westland will be held Dec. 6 at 6:30 p.m. at Westland City Hall.

Along with the Christmas carols, cocoa, cookies, candy canes and a chat with Santa, awards will be presented to the winners of the 1982-Christmas-card contest. As a special treat, children can call and speak with Santa on Dec. 6 by calling 722-7660 or 722-7661 between 4-8 p.m. They can give him their Christmas list, ask about Rudolf and see how Mrs. Claus and the elves are faring.

INSPECTOR PAUL SCHARR of the Westland Police Department, and his two sons, Paul, 22, and Stephen, 21, found deer hunting was truly a family affair this year.

All three returned recently from the Upper Peninsula after each had bagged a deer. For Stephen it was particularly satisfying since this was his first deer.

WALTER YOUNG, first assistant in the general-information department at the main Detroit Public Library, received the 33rd-annual staff memorial and fellowship award in ceremonies held recently at a staff-association banquet.

The award, which includes cash and extra vacation time, was established to honor library staff members whose careers of 10 years or more have been exemplary and who have given outstanding service to the library public. Young, a 13-year veteran, is a graduate of the University of Detroit with a library-science degree from Wayne State University.

During the late '60s, he served in the army at Fort Knox, Ky. staffing the Army Armor School Library where he became known as the "General's Librarian." He lives in Westland with his wife, five children and grandmother.

BERNIE MODLINSKI, of Bernies Marine, 232 S. Newburgh, Westland, has been named a Mariner Outboards top dealer for 1982. The award recognizes 12 months of outstanding sales and promotion of Mariner outboards. As part of the award, Modlinski and Debbie Brower will receive a five-day, expense-paid trip to the Pointe resort in Phoenix, Ariz. with other top dealers.

ROBERT A. YOUNG of Westland, a student at Schoolcraft College, received a fifth award of $100 for his entry in the annual Arc Welding Awards Program sponsored by the James F. Lincoln Arc Welding Foundation of Cleveland. His entry described the design and fabrication of a rolling tool cabinet.

THE WESTLAND JAYCEES will hold their annual canned-goods solicitation for the food-basket program starting today (Nov. 29). Collection of canned goods will be held in the schools through Dec. 17. Door-to-door collections with the Boy and Girl Scouts will run the first two weekends in December. The goal this year is to reach over 1,000 people with food to last during the holiday season.

TED MILLS of Westland, a senior at Franklin High School, has been awarded an honorable mention by Lawrence Institute of Technology for his outstanding score on the National Engineering Aptitude Search Test.

LORI BOYNTON, clerk-typist on the staff at Eastern Michigan University, has been promoted to senior clerk-typist.

Union makes counter-proposal

Teachers reject board's concession plan

Wayne Westland teachers last week rejected the school district's proposals for contract concessions and urged instead consideration of an alternative, union-designed plan.

Both plans cover much the same ground, but the union's proposal would be effective for 1½ years — six months longer than the district's plan.

Teachers turned down the school's plan by a small margin, then voted to make the counter offer. Exact figures in the voting were not available pending the arrival of a few mail-in votes, union officials said.

The district wants a one-year agreement because it doesn't have an accurate picture of its financial status beyond that time, according to school officials.

Under the union's proposal, teachers would accept a 6 percent pay increase instead of the 9 percent raise scheduled for this year. They would accept two unpaid holidays and a longer period before becoming eligible for sick bank days, according to Robert Kowalczyk, Wayne Westland Education Association executive director.

Teachers would pay a higher deduct-able in their medical insurance with single employees paying a $50 deductible. Families would have a $100 deductible. In addition there would be a $2 drug rider added to their insurance plan, according to Kowalczyk.

In February 1984, the district could lay off teachers in mid-year without incurring legal objections from the union if the district plan is passed.

"They would be in the driver's seat in February," Kowalczyk said.

Unlike layoffs at the end of the school year in which teachers receive 60 days' notice, mid-year cuts carry a 30-day notification clause. According to the teachers' contract, the union can object to mid-year layoffs if the district hasn't proved that the staff cuts are the only way it can end the year without a budget deficit, according to Kowalczyk.

In exchange for these concessions, the union wants the district to restrict layoffs to those necessitated by declining enrollments. It also wants the district to retain elementary school art, physical education and music programs as well as maintaining hour-long high school classes.

Under the union's proposal, teachers would accept a 6 percent pay increase instead of the 9 percent raise scheduled for this year. They would accept two unpaid holidays and a longer period before becoming eligible for sick bank days, according to Robert Kowalczyk, Wayne Westland Education Association executive director.

Junior miss crowned

By Maurie Walker
staff writer

Denise Marie Bixler, a 17-year-old senior at John Glenn High School, is Westland's new Junior Miss.

She was chosen over a field of 20 candidates at Wayne-Westland's 16th annual Junior Miss program last week.

First runner-up is Laura Turbeville of Wayne Memorial High. Second runner-up is Susan Smiley, also of Wayne Memorial. She also won the Spirit of Junior Miss award.

The program was held in Wayne Memorial High School auditorium where contestants were judged in scholastic achievement, youth fitness, poise and appearance, creative and performing arts and from an interview with the judges.

The new Junior Miss is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Bixler of Westland. She has a sister, Therese, and two brothers, Dennis and Terrance.

Denise lists music, dance and dramatic arts as her favorite subjects. She hopes to attend either Northwestern University or the University of Michigan, aiming eventually for a career in the musical theater.

She has been on the honor roll every semester from 1977-82, is a member of the National Honor Society.

Denise is a member and section leader of Concert Choir and the Chamber Singers, a select group of 20 vocalists.

HER GOAL is to become proficient at both teaching and performing in the area of fine arts. She credits her parents with encouraging her in her chosen field.

"When I decided that I would like a career in musical theater, my parents did not discard the idea as frivolous," Denise said.

"Rather, they encouraged me to work hard, study diligently and, most importantly, to prepare myself for my future."

As the new Junior Miss, Denise will receive a $500 cash scholarship from Wayne-Westland Junior Miss Inc., a $100 cash Mayor's Scholarship from Westland Mayor Charles Pickering, a $200 cash scholarship from the City of Westland senior citizens, a suit from Hit or Miss Shop, an evening gown for the state program, a Princess Gardner wallet, and an engraved plaque.

First runner-up received a $200 cash scholarship from Wayne-Westland Junior Miss Inc., a $50 cash scholarship from the Westland senior citizens, and an engraved plaque.

The second runner-up received a $100 cash scholarship from Wayne-Westland Junior Miss Inc., $50 scholarship from the Westland senior citizens, as well as an engraved plaque.

There was a tie for the creative and performing arts award. Annette Clark of Wayne Memorial and Corrine Nowakowski of John Glenn High shared the honors with both receiving a $50 cash scholarship, a $25 gift certificate from JC Penny, and engraved plaques.

The new Junior Miss will be Wayne-Westland's representative at the state Junior Miss program to be held in Marshall in January.

PRESIDENT OF THE program is Tony Rosati who, with his wife, Carol, have been involved in the program for 10 years. They were honored by proclamation from Mayor Pickering.

Judges were Marie Neu Lambert, Westland's and Michigan's Junior Miss for 1973; Robert J. Beeny, member of the Wayne city council; Marlene Saponic, originator and coordinator of her own personal modeling and self-improvement course and a professional model; Cindy Goddard Westerman, Westland's Junior Miss in 1975; and Frederick J. Button, a member of the Westland Civic Theatre for 15 years.

On hand to present the crown to the new Junior Miss was Lynne Taylor, last year's Junior Miss. She was also choreographer for the program.

Those cuts in classes are being considered as part of the district's cost-cutting package.

"We feel that once those programs are cut, they'll never be back," said Kowalczyk. "You never go back to what you have."

Retirement decision wasn't made posthaste by postal employee

By Maurie Walker
staff writer

When a person has been on the job 40 years, retirement can look awfully good.

But deciding to retire can be a tough decision to make.

Such is the case of Walter Makowski of 6726 Bison, Westland, who recently walked out of the Garden City Post Office for the last time as an employee.

Makowski started his postal career in Dearborn in November 1942. He transferred to the Garden City post office in 1946 after serving two years with the U.S. Army in the Philippines.

"I've worked in the finance department of the post office all these years," Makowski said.

"Believe me, retiring is a tough decision to make. My wife, Carol, and I have been talking it over for a year.

"I was only 16 when I got the job with the post office. My father was a barber and one day he was cutting the Dearborn postmaster's hair. The postmaster told my dad they were looking for help because so many men were in the service. I applied for a job and was hired," he said.

MAKOWSKI AND his wife are moving to Bellaire, near Traverse City.

"We have five acres there and will be living near one of our daughters, Pamela Dunson," he said.

"I will spend some of my time fishing and traveling. We have a motor home and plan to travel around the country part of the time."

He said he has seen a lot of changes in the postal business since he started 40 years ago.

"There is all types of new machinery that makes the job easier. And today everything is computerized."

The Makowskis have two other daughters, in addition to Pamela. There is Cheryl Free and Debra Wilson. They also have a son, Todd.

"We have three grandsons and a granddaughter, too," he said proudly.

Mrs. Makowski was there as he was preparing to leave the job for the last time.

"I was afraid he might change his mind at the last minute," she laughed.

But she didn't need to worry, because her husband was ready for retirement.

"I thought I'd give someone else a crack at the job," he said.

"Besides, I want to get out before my bones crack."

Dynamics has new owners

Garden City's largest manufacturing plant, Michigan Dynamics, has been acquired from the Automotive Group of United Technologies Corp. by the general manager of the division and a New Jersey financial group.

The plant at Ford Road and Hubbard was purchased Sept. 26 by Leonard J. Ortino, an employee at the facility for nine years, in financial partnership with an affiliate of Wesray Corp. of Morristown, N.J.

Last year, Michigan Dynamics grossed $7 million in sales. The concern is the second largest tax source in Garden City.

No sweeping changes are scheduled for the plant. Ortino doesn't plan to immediately expand the plant beyond the 80 people it now employs.

"The only change will be the name, to Michigan Dynamics Inc. For years, we have been well-known as an industrial porous metal filter company and will continue with our existing product lines," Ortino said.

"The change will come as we introduce already-developed elements, hardware and systems which will help fill out our industrial filter product lines to full-line capabilities," he said.

Filtration products manufactured by Michigan Dynamics such as porous metal filter media, elements, housings and systems serve the polymer, chemical, pharmaceutical, food and aerospace industries. Porous metal fluidizing media serve the powder-handling industries.

The firm plans to introduce all welded candle elements for use by the polymer and thin film industries.

Ortino, of Dexter, is active in the Garden City business community. He is an active member of the Garden City Chamber of Commerce, the Civic Theatre, the Michigan Manufacturers Association and the Michigan State

Chamber of Commerce.

He is an executive counselor for the Small Business Administration and a member of the Detroit Area Business Education Alliance.

Ortino has participated in career days at local high schools as a guest speaker representing the engineering field.

Senate reductions save tax dollars

The Michigan Senate has saved taxpayers more than $2 million in the 1981-82 fiscal year through voluntary budget cuts, according to Senate Majority Leader William Faust, D-Westland.

The voluntary reduction in Senate expenditures, including salaries, postage, travel and telephone costs, represents a 15.5-percent cut in the Senate's total budget.

"In a year when the legislature asked other state departments to bite the bullet through budget cutbacks, the Michigan senate has led the way with fiscal restraint, prudent management and careful budgeting practices," Faust said.

"These voluntary budget cuts continue the trend of reduced spending in the Senate initiated in 1979 with the landmark reform of the Senate's operating rules."

The 1979-rule reforms place final responsibility for Senate spending regulation in the office of the Senate Majority Leader.

SINCE THAT time, the Senate's payroll has increased at a slower rate than the rest of state government due to voluntary wage reductions, layoffs and elimination of employee pay raises for the current fiscal year.

The Senate's overall expenditures have been in line with the rest of state government during this period, despite one-time expenditures for technological advancements in Senate operations, including computerization of Senate voting methods, word processing and fiscal information, Faust said.

Senate expenditures for travel, postage and telephone expenses have declined dramatically since enactment of the rule reforms, despite inflationary price increases in each of these areas.

Cable squawk

To the editor:
The delays and squabbling over the awarding of a cable television franchise on the Westland City Council have gone on for several years now, and I am one city resident whose patience has reached its limit.
The City Council's reluctance to move quickly in granting the franchise raises many questions. One of the most disturbing is the suspicious way in which the council first proposed to bring cable to the city. The council proposed a city-owned system, which could open it up to possible manipulation by the city officials for personal profit.
There has been evidence of graft and pay-offs to city officials regarding cable in other cities. While I do not wish to question the integrity of Westland Council members, their snail-like progress in getting a private system for Westland does raise the level of suspicion of their possible motives in my mind, especially since numerous other communities such as Canton, Northville, Taylor and Southgate have all managed to have provided cable for some time now to their residents.
Recently I read in the Observer that the Council had decided on setting up a committee to select a consultant who in turn would recommend which company to award a franchise to. This should have been done years ago. The time the Council is taking to provide the people of Westland the service of cable is inexcusable and outrageous.
Doubtlessly the chosen consultant will have business connections with someone in Westland city government, and will require a fee of thousands of dollars to provide his service. A more efficient way to select the franchise would be to put the names of the many competent cable companies in a hat with their bids for the city, and draw the winner. At least then the Westland City Council couldn't bicker over which one of their preferred choices should get the franchise.
Westland is not known for its cultural and educational position, as compared to say Southgate or Taylor.
We have much to be proud of in this city - lots of open land filled with trees and meadows, excellent services to our senior citizens, recreational facilities for our youth. We also have one of the finest congressmen in all of Washington serving us, Democratic Rep. Bill Ford.
The City Council's failure to provide us with cable, which, like the computer is the wave of the future, only further promotes the image of Westland as a hokey place to live full of country bumpkins. Let us show the other communities that culturally, intellectually and aesthetically, Westland is not "wasteland."

Candidates' forum praised

To the editor:
I attended the Wayne-Westland "Meet Your Candidates" forum held Nov. 16 at Marshall Junior High School.

This event was sponsored by the Wayne-Westland Area Council of PTAs and the Westland Observer.

I want to congratulate Arlene Funke (Observer Newspapers reporter) for conducting the moderation of the forum in a fair and unbiased manner, and a truly professional way. The ground rules were explained to every candidate. Equal time was allotted to every candidate.

From my observation, I noticed that some candidates sort of stumbled over the answers when the question was asked. But it's only a natural reaction when the question is unknown and comes as a complete surprise.

Some of the candidates were calm and collected. But then again, everyone wasn't born to be a politician or a great orator.

What surprised me was that so many people showed up which was very heartwarming.

Hoping that the Westland Observer continues to sponsor more forums in the future.

2 supported in election

To the editor:
On Dec. 7 there is a special Wayne-Westland school board election scheduled because of the recently successful recall of four board members.

There are a total of 10 candidates running in this election to fill four vacant seats. For the term ending June of 1984, there are two seats to be filled with seven people running for them.

For the term expiring June 1983, there are three people running for these two seats.

This is a very important election for our school district, so please examine the candidates carefully. Within the next year, there will be many very important issues facing the school board members.

Right now our district is faced with an approximate $4 million deficit. Believe me, part of this deficit is due to the 7-9 percent raise the teachers received, and part to the cuts in state aid. That's the reason the four past board members were recalled. And, we have several contracts to negotiate with other employee groups this coming year, including the administrators.

We need people on this board with open minds and day to day, downright common sense to look at situations realistically and dig into them before they cast their vote of yes or no.

People who put the K-12 education of our children first. There are many other areas of the budget that can be cut back before cutting into the K-12 program directly.

The administration is devising a plan to drop to five hours of school instead of six in junior high and eliminating expressive art in the elementary school to be put into effect either in January 1983 or next school year.

This may be necessary down the road, but not before the people on the top get some cuts. This is where a lot of our tax dollars are spent unwisely.

Of the 10 candidates running, two of them are ministers who in my opinion have no business mixing religion and politics (LeDuc, Robichaud).

Then we have four who have been endorsed by the Wayne-Westland Education Association. They are Chorbagan, LeDuc, McCusker, Scott.

Beware of these people. Usually anyone who is endorsed by the Wayne-Westland Education Association tends to give the store away when their contract comes up for renewal.

A good example of that would be the four board members who were recalled. They all had WWEA endorsements when they ran.

As for Mr. Arbini, he has a family member who is a secretary for Wayne-Westland schools central office.

WITH THE exception of one of these people, rarely, if ever, have they attended school board meetings in the last year to keep up with what's going on. They stated they didn't have time or concerns.

The other four that are running, Anderson, Runion, Shaw, Stockwell, have possibilities. I believe they would be fairly open minded people who would consider the kids and the taxpayers on issues they were to vote on.

Of these four, I strongly recommend Kathy Shaw and Glenn Anderson. They hold the K-12 program as top priority and I'm sure they would cut all other areas of the budget before cutting directly into the K-12 program.

They have been concerned and involved citizens in the community as well as having attended school board meetings to keep up on what's happening in the school district.

These two people have the quality of leadership and common sense of decision making that we most desperately need to keep our schools operating effectively with a quality education.

They are aware the taxpayers of this district have always given generously and that it's time they were considered because they can't give anymore.

Please vote on Dec. 7.

Benefit to aid Franklin grad

A benefit will be held for Steve Tresik, a Westland resident and 1976 graduate of Franklin High School, at 8 p.m. Friday in VFW Post 3323, 1055 S. Wayne at Avondale Street in Westland.

Tresik was injured Aug. 15 in a diving accident in Oakland County. He is paralyzed from the chest down and receiving treatment at the Rehabilitation Institute in Detroit. Proceeds from the benefit will help pay for medical and therapy bills and for renovations that must be done to make the Tresik home barrier free.

Tickets for the benefit are $15 per person and includes food, beer and entertainment. Tickets are available by calling Tom Nisun at 422-7507, 425-0646 or 422-1190 or by writing to the Steve Tresik Benefit, 2950Q Min-ton, Livonia, MI. 48150.

Tresik was recognized as an outstanding baseball player when he at-

DON'T IGNORE "PINK" TOOTHBRUSH
If your toothbrush turns pink after brushing, you have a dental problem — one that should not go unattended. You are experiencing bleeding gums, a likely indicator of gingivitis (or inflamed gums).
Gingivitis is the first stage of periodontal disease which accounts for the greatest tooth loss in adults. But if you catch it early, you can reverse it with the help of your dentist and a proper home brushing and flossing regimen.
There are other symptoms of gingivitis, such as soft or swollen gums. Rather than go into all the details, take this advice. Go straight to your dentist and let him examine your gums and evaluate your situation. With a little looking and painless probing, and perhaps an x-ray check, he'll immediately know how far advanced it is and what can be done to save you a lot of future problems.
If left untreated, it will only get worse. If you do nothing about improving your home care along with proper professional care, the disease may eventually destroy the tissue and bone supporting the affected teeth. This could likely result in the loosening and eventual loss of teeth which could have been kept healthy.

Candidates vie for Wayne-Westland school board

Glenn Anderson

Glenn Anderson said his main interests in running for the school board are quality of education, resolution of political hostilities and representing the people.

"My child will be in preschool in a couple of years, and hopefully we'll improve the schools," said Anderson, 28. "I know we have a good school system, but there's always room for improvement."

Anderson, of 32311 Grandview in Westland, said he didn't want the divisiveness and political fighting to be an influence on his daughter's education.

"Someone ought to be able to represent the people on the school board, keeping in mind the highest standards and that people pay taxes to support the schools," he continued.

While he recognizes that budget cuts are coming, Anderson said he would like to avoid having them affect the district's kindergarten through 12th grade program.

Although he doesn't have the answer, Anderson believes that somehow a more equitable taxation system of supporting education needs to be found to give relief to property owners. He suggested that part of the sales tax may be one answer, if schools can be controlled without outside interference.

BEFORE A decision is made to close schools due to declining enrollment, Anderson wants to examine the issue for himself. He said that the district may need to do more frequent census studies.

"I realize it's an emotional thing. It's easy to say no, but we'll be faced with tough decisions on the board. I don't want to find myself making a turnaround," said Anderson, adding that he wasn't about to lie to get elected.

The consideration of parents should have a strong bearing on any decision made, according to Anderson.

ALTHOUGH HE did support the recall, Anderson said it should not be an issue in the campaign. He thinks that it's time to remove politics from the schools.

Anderson said he would, if elected, examine all issues without any pre-termination as to which way to vote.

"I want to make decisions that are best for the kids and the schools," he said.

Anderson said he could bring to the board an ability to read contracts, familiarity with contract language and an ability to mediate differences.

"No one should be elected if they claim they're anti-this or anti-that," added Anderson. He said that he plans to run for re-election in June if he wins Dec. 7.

The district ought to have a professional negotiator deal with contracts, Anderson said, but he wants to still "maintain a mood of cooperation with teachers in the school district. I see that as important — that we don't have labor problems."

A Ford Motor employee since 1972 and a licensed Realtor, Anderson is a member of the Tinkham PTA, Westland Jaycees, Wayne-Ford Civic League, PAC chairman for the Westland Democratic Club and a precinct delegate.

curriculum. "Test scores have moved up the last three years. Miracles don't happen overnight, but the scores now allow us to work with individual children. I think they're (staff) trying. Definite efforts are being made."

She sees the board as a group of "lay people from the community who employ the administration. I see the board as a community tool."

"We'll have to take a much stronger stand when it comes to issues. We'll have to question. I feel we'll have to negotiate. We can't have overnight decisions."

Chorbagan, who considers herself to be independent, believes the board should function as a mediator for all sides. There are positive ways of getting things done in the district, she said.

ALTHOUGH SHE didn't support the recall, Chorbagan said she didn't like what the four recalled board members had done either.

"That's my right. I didn't support the recall because I thought it was a personal vendetta. I don't get into vendettas." She also criticized of the cost of the election.

"I don't think this community has $50,000 to put on an election. Down the road we're paying for it."

Although she has been endorsed by the Wayne Democratic Club and by the Wayne-Westland Education Association, Chorbagan pledged to represent all sides in the district.

Chorbagan, who has numerous civic involvement including two years as an Area Council PTA president, said the election has been a great adventure and a growing experience.

"I'll keep going even if I lose the election."

Her civic service includes work with the school district, First Congregational Church of Wayne, Wayne recreation and garden groups and a volunteer for the American Cancer Society.

Kathleen Chorbagan

Kathleen Chorbagan describes herself as the compromise candidate.

"I don't owe anything to anyone. I want to do what's best for the kids," she said. "Both sides realize they have to make changes."

Chorbagan, 35, of 4159 Hayes in Wayne, believes that declining enrollment will mean the district will have to close one elementary school in the next two years.

"We have to do what's best for the entire community," she said, adding that she was upset with the way school closings were handled the last time. She believes there needs to be better communication with parents and enough time to make the change.

School board members also must remember who they represent, Chorbagan said.

"They sit there for people in the community. Some control over money is all they have left. They've lost control over their lifestyle as far as jobs are concerned."

"They just want to know what's going on in the school district."

A 1964 graduate of Wayne Memorial High, Chorbagan said she loves the school district, although she knows it "isn't perfect, nothing in life is perfect."

"We need a good foundation, not tear it down so the structure collapses. We need to reinforce the foundation."

TO COPE WITH the deficit in the budget, Chorbagan suggests the board streamline programs, not cut them.

"Children aren't all high academically. Some won't make it unless they have those other things (like music and sports)."

But she believes the district is "headed in the right direction" in terms of its

Mathew McCusker

The "belief that all people are obligated to become active," and to end disruption of the school system are two reasons why Mathew McCusker, 46, of 35103 Birchwood, Westland, is running for the school board.

The father of three children, two of whom will graduate from John Glenn High in June, McCusker said he wants his youngest child to "have the same educational opportunities I have had. I want to keep the school system working."

A Ford Motor Company employee who is working on training programs for employee involvement, McCusker said he has his management skills, ability to deal with the public and commitment to schools to offer the district. McCusker formerly worked as secretary to the board of water commissioners during the Jerry Cavanagh administration in Detroit.

"I can take to the board an unbiased view that isn't pro or anti the teachers or (Supt. Timothy) Dyer or the other three board members," McCusker said, adding that if elected in December, he definitely would be a candidate for re-election in June.

THE MAJOR issue in the campaign is the way schools are funded, according to McCusker.

"We're still getting the short end of the stick, and that's got to be changed whether it takes a massive lobbying effort in Lansing or not," he said.

To cope with the district's deficit, McCusker believes that cuts need to be made across the board so that "kids aren't made victims."

McCusker said he's an advocate of shared services as one way of coping with declining enrollment. He added that recommendations to close schools need to be looked at very seriously, and if buildings are closed, "there should be a great deal of effort to let the people know why and what's going on."

The eventual decision, however, must be made on data, not emotions, according to McCusker.

McCusker, who didn't support the recall, said he thinks that teachers ought to take a wage freeze.

"Their (teacher's) concept and mine of concessions differs. I think they'd be smart to accept a wage freeze," he said. "The people whose children they teach have done it, and in many cases more than one."

"There is tendency of teachers to place themselves in an ivory tower and not to know what's going on in the community."

"They better get out and see what's going on."

THE ROLE OF a board member is to be the people's voice, McCusker said.

"The board isn't the lackey of the administration or any constituent groups in the community," he continued.

McCusker said that it's "disheartening to see public bodies divided into groups that vote depending on who presents the issue."

"I'm as aware as anyone else that the district has problems," he said. "They're not unsolvable. They just take more work."

McCusker has studied at Wayne State University, the Center for Creative Studies and the Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations.

He is a member of the Michigan Democratic Party, the Westland League of Democratic Voters, a softball coach with the Youth Athletic Association and vice-president of the John Glenn Football Boosters Club.

A special election will be held Dec. 7 to fill four seats on the Wayne-Westland school board. There are two six-month unexpired terms and two 18-month terms to be filled. Candidates Anderson, McCusker and Scott are running for the six-month terms. Seven candidates, including the two others profiled on this page, are running for the 18-month terms. The remaining five candidates will be profiled in Thursday's Westland Observer.

Sharon Scott

Concerned after "seeing things I didn't care for," Sharon Scott decided to run for the school board.

"There has been animosity between the administration and the voters. It bothered me that they forgot the kids," said Scott, 43, of 36010 Rolf in Westland.

Scott wants to read closely the report and recommendation of the building utilization committee on school closings. She said she wants to check to see if the committee considered the preschool population when making its decision.

She also believes that the board should listen to the people "instead of making up its mind before we've had public hearings."

Scott admits she is a "novice with a lot to learn" about financing education, but she believes the district must rely on the state for aid. The deficit in the district means that wasteful spending should be cut, she added.

The two school board meetings she has been to were a "zoo," according to Scott.

"PEOPLE SHOULD be heard. I'd do that as a board member — listen — and follow through with complaints. I'd do my homework, and hopefully, people would do their homework too," she said.

Scott said that the reason for the recall was a "personally problem." She thinks that the teachers will be concessions in their benefit package to help cut the deficit, but thinks it would be difficult to cut programs to eliminate the deficit.

If she proves to be an effective board member, Scott said that she would run for re-election in June.

She pledged to keep her campaign clean. "I'm not the kind of person to dish out dirt," she said.

A life-long resident of the area, she is a graduate of Wayne high school. Scott has been a member of the board of canvassers, a precinct delegate, co-chair of the Westland Bicentennial Committee, Annapolis Hospital Auxiliary and a former Episcopal diocese youth group leader.

Joseph Arbini

Campaigning under the slogan, "Shape tomorrow together," Joseph Arbini believes that "kids are always the issue" in a school board election.

"We have to do what's right for them," said Arbini, 51, of 33961 Pawnee in Westland.

"The economy has affected the financial aspect of everything. If we both work together, may we can have a new focus and thinking."

Arbini, who voted against the recall, called for all seven board members to "pull together." He said he can offer his experience of having lived in the community since 1958 and having dealt with "all kinds of kids from John Glenn High."

Critical of the cost of the recall and special elections when two board members had only six months remaining in their terms, Arbini said people need to look for solutions.

"There's no problem that can't be solved by talking."

Efforts by the PTA and by the board to let the media know what's going on in the district help to improve communication, Arbini said. There still is a need for more parents to get involved, he said.

DECLINING ENROLLMENT means that the district will have to close schools, Arbini said. He suggested that the school board should decide which school to close only after a lot of study.

Because he isn't on the board, he doesn't know how the budget should be cut to cope with the district's deficit, Arbini said. Everyone would have to make sacrifices, he said.

"I know this district is second to none in the state. The facilities for boys and girls are tremendous. My six kids who went through the schools got a great education, and I hope my 11-year-old receives an even better one."

The role of a board member is an important one of communication and finding out what's going on in the community, Arbini said.

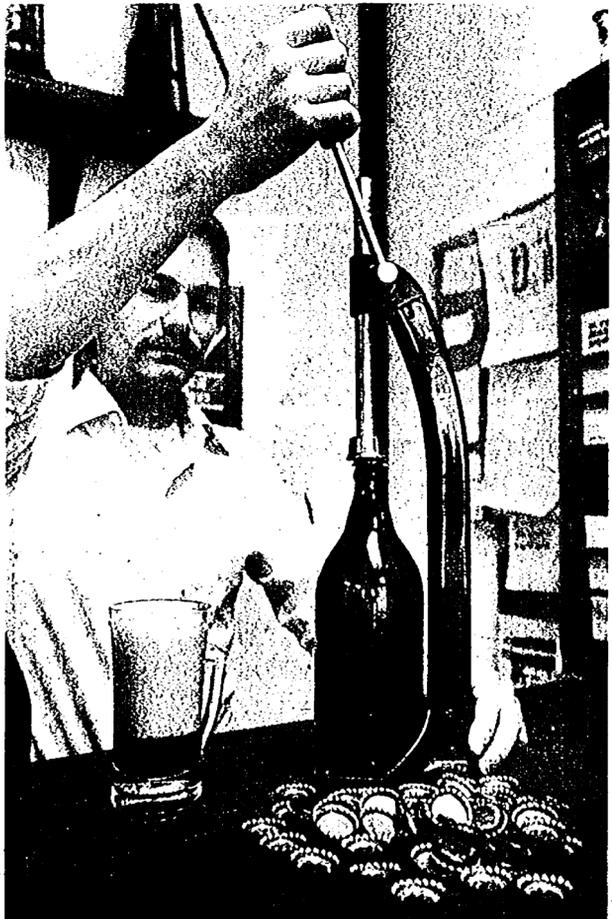

Arbini called for a more positive attitude.

"Since the recall began, I've heard nothing but negative comments. Maybe the recall happened because things were running so smooth, maybe we got too complacent. Now some folks are sorry they voted for it."

Arbini said his listening ability will make him an asset to the board.

A painter/gazier at Ford Motor Co., Arbini is a former member of Tonquish PTA. He has also served with the Nankin Mills Parent Advisory Committee, John Glenn Football Boosters, and the secondary facilities, bond issue and local public works committees.

From one beer lover to another . . .

Rick Cushman, owner of United Home Brewers Co. in Garden City, caps a bottle of homemade beer.

By Maurie Walker
staff writer

There's great news for beer drinkers. How would you like a 12-ounce bottle of good-tasting beer for just 11 cents, a six pack for 66 cents, or a case for $2.64?

Sound like a beer-lover's dream? It could be, but it's a fact.

And it's made possible by easily — and legally — making your own home brew.

Rick Cushman of Garden City, owner of United Home Brewers Co., 33165 Ford Road, has all the equipment and ingredients needed to make a good beer right in your own home. A complete brew-making kit is $29.95.

"This is really the only investment needed. The kit can be used for as long as a person wants to make beer," Cushman said. "After that, all that a person has to buy is the malt and sugar."

Cushman has more than 35 different hopped malt extracts that range in price from $4.99 to $10. There's light, dark, amber, pilsner, heavy, stout — any type malt to fit a person's taste. With sugar at $2.80 for a four-pound bag, a person can make five gallons of beer for about $6.75.

A KIT CONSISTS of a 7½-gallon tank, a thermometer, a tube for siphoning the beer for bottling, a bag of bottle caps, two pounds of corn sugar and choice of malt along with instructions on how to make the brew.

Also available are bottle cappers and a capper corker.

"It's a very simple process," Cushman said.

"Four gallons of cold tap water are put in the tank. Then you fill a one-gallon pot with tap water, allow to boil and pour in a can of malt and yeast, which is included in the price of the malt, and two pounds of corn sugar.

No preservatives are added, so you have a pure beer.

"The ingredients are stirred and allowed to simmer for about 10 minutes.

This is then poured into the large vat of cold water and let to ferment for about a week at 70-degree temperature before bottling.

"We don't sell bottles but all a person has to do is go to any party store and ask to buy a case or two of empties, which are worth five cents a piece. Once the bottles are sterilized and labels removed, they are ready for your beer," Cushman said.

Making brew at home became legal in February 1979, Cushman said, when Congress passed a law allowing a person to produce 100 gallons per year tax-free.

CUSHMAN STARTED making beer as a hobby about three years ago.

"I worked in a factory for 15 years and finally decided to go into business for myself," he said.

"My wife, Linda, has a beauty shop in Oak Park so with her income we decided to gamble on this business, which is turning out very well."

He has been in the business in Garden City for six months and said that October was a record month for him.

"A lot of people find this is an inexpensive and fun hobby. I've had people buy the kit as presents, too," Cushman added.

"What's nice about it is that any adult can make their own home brew with very little cost and in a short time. "And another factor is that in today's economy, beer lovers can have all of it they want without handing out a lot of money."

"By following the simple directions, a person can enjoy a pure, good tasting brew," Cushman said.

Youngsters rev up for '500' race

By Catherine Bilek Roberts
special writer

West Middle School in Westland had something in common with Indianapolis and Pocono recently.

The school provided the setting for a "500" car race, hosted by the YMCA's Tonquish Creek Federation (of Westland, Canton, Plymouth and Northville) for its Indian Maidens, Braves, Guides, Trailblazers, Traillettes and Princesses.

The children made their own cars from a standard kit, and the finished product weighed a maximum of five ounces.

Children competed in different age categories, beginning with drivers 5 years old. Winners in each age category, determined by a point system, received a trophy cup at the end of the event. Each driver, however, walked away from competition with a ribbon commemorating his or her participation.

A lot of work, creativity and imagination went into each colorful car. In addition to awards for the best racing time, recognition was given for the most creatively decorated car in each age category. Winners for the most creative car are: Peter Hock, 5-year-old category; Shannon Jenson, 6-year-old category; Brian Delany, 7-year-old category; John Hines, 8-year-old category; Jonathon Ziebol, 9-year-old category and Mark Humphrey, 10-and-up division. The adult division winner is Jerry Smith.

Winners in the 5-year-old division include:

- 1st place: Michael McPartlin.
- 2nd place: Benjy Grean Yea.
- 3rd place: Jeff McMahon.
- 4th place: Jeff Koche.

Six-year-old division winners are:

- 1st place: Derick Faunce.
- 2nd place: Steven Kush.
- 3rd place: Andy Fierfiel.
- 4th place: Derek Clemens.

Seven-year-old division winners are:

- 1st place: Jackie Setlek.
- 2nd place: Jean Paldan.
- 3rd place: Anne Schroeder.
- 4th place: Charlie Stalmack.

Eight-year-old division winners are:

- 1st place: Brian Smith.
- 2nd place: Kasey Fillion.
- 3rd place: Elaine Dawson.
- 4th place: Todd Kearney.

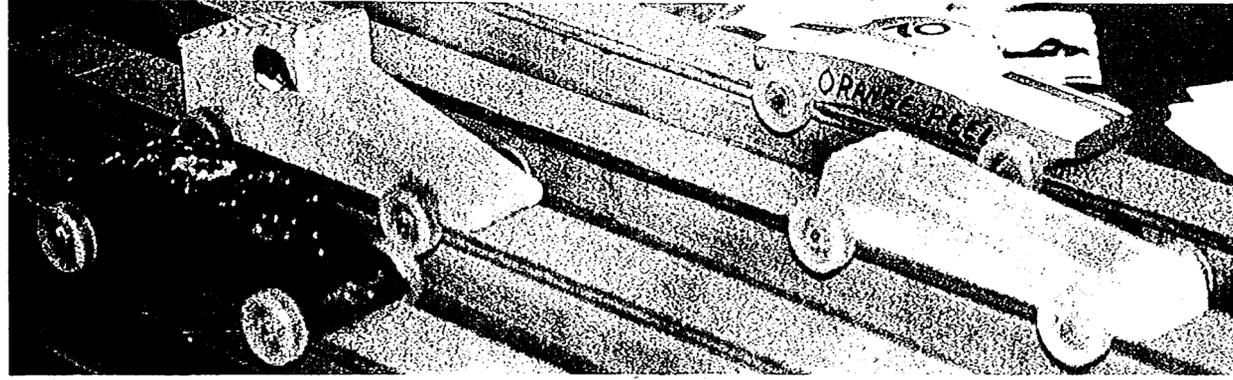

Nine-year-old division winners are:

- 1st place: Steven Amburgy.
- 2nd place: Mark Meszalos.
- 3rd place: Jonathon Ziebol.
- 4th place: Jason Greanyea.

Winners in the 10-year-old and up division are:

- 1st place: Dave Smith.
- 2nd place: Michael Humphrey.
- 3rd place: Matt Harris.
- 4th: Dan Smith.

Upcoming activities planned by the group are summer and winter campouts, roller skating outings and a bowling tournament.

Enhancing Dental Awareness
Carolyn Moore, D.D.S.
Question: At what age should I begin to bring my child to their dentist?
Children should be brought into the dental office at 2 1/2 to 3 years of age. Their initial visit depends upon the maturity and ability of the child to accept a visit to the dentist.
There are several factors that should be taken into consideration:
1. The emphasis of modern dentistry is on prevention. The benefits of early sealant and fluoride treatment are necessary to control cavities.
2. Early exposure of dentistry to children makes for a pleasant experience. The child has their teeth cleaned, examined, and is taught the proper procedure of tooth brushing.
3. Early dental visits allow small, minor cavities to be repaired with little discomfort, avoiding painful procedures.
With these factors in mind, it is recommended that your child's dental health program begin at 2 1/2 to 3 years of age. However, if at any time you have a question regarding your child's oral health, you should not hesitate to ask the dentist.

Taxing unemployment comp is consistent, but it's wrong

RONALD REAGAN is consistent, which is OK if you admire consistency.

By his logic, it makes perfect sense to advocate taxing unemployment compensation and gasoline. People trying to live off unemployment benefits and those maintaining autos, however, are less inclined to appreciate the Reagan logic.

Those who would condemn Reagan logic must first understand it, and that's what this piece is about.

THE ECONOMICS which generally underlies administration thinking addresses the problem of "stagflation" — how America can have inflation at the same time it has unemployment and stagnation.

The answer — again, this is Reagan's view — is that America has over-stimulated demand through New Deal policies. Federal budget deficits were one method of such over-stimulation, but there were plenty of others.

Unemployment compensation was designed by the New Deal as one method of stimulating demand for goods and services. So were a host of other demand-stimulating programs: Social Security (allowing workers to retire and still have an income), workers' compensation, welfare, food stamps and so on.

These programs were designed not only as helping individuals, but as economic measures to spend the nation back to health. New Dealers assumed that demand would stimulate business to produce.

Demand-side economics sought to tax productivity (incomes) and reduce or eliminate taxes on consumption.

THE NEW SCHOOL of economics contends demand was over-stimulated and supply (industry) was punished through over-taxing and over-regulation. It came to call itself "supply-side economics."

Reagan's emphasis on deregulating industry is consistent with supply-side economics, though his budget deficits are not.

Reagan's income-tax cuts, particularly as they affect investors, are consistent with supply-side economics.

Reagan's program of not taxing the first $2,000 which folks put into Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) is especially consistent with supply-side economics since it directly rewards savings and investment.

Reagan's desire to reduce double-taxation of business income (the corporate income tax and the tax which individuals pay on investment income) is consistent.

Reagan's increased tax on cigarettes, a consumption item, is entirely consistent with supply-side economics. And as long as it doesn't apply to my pipe tobacco, it's a laudable program.

AND SO WE come to the two proposals his administration has been talking about in the last week.

First, he said he supports doubling the federal gasoline tax in order to pay for highway repairs.

Second, he tossed out a trial balloon Thanksgiving Day by saying he is considering subjecting unemployment compensation benefits to the income tax "to make it less attractive" to stay unemployed. Dick Headlee, in the days when he was running for governor, had a niftier way of phrasing it: "Tax what you don't want and subsidize what you do want."

Among Michiganians, the reaction to those two ideas is bound to be horror, particularly to the notion of taxing unemployment checks. Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., lost no time shrieking "callous, insensitive, cynical," which sums it up.

If there are any unemployed folks sitting on their butts and waiting until the checks stop coming in before looking for work, I certainly have never met them. Most unemployed people are scared. They're not out of work because they want to be. They know those checks won't last forever.

MOREOVER, Michigan, with its 16 percent unemployment rate and $2.2 billion debt to the federal government, will have to reduce unemployment benefits next year. And now we should tax benefits, too?

But as I said, Reagan is logically consistent. If the White House should call for advice — an event I don't anticipate, but you never can tell — I intend to tell the president the principles of supply-side economics make sense; that the IRA tax break is the smartest thing any president has promoted in 40 years; and that the president is consistent.

But the tax on unemployment compensation — no way.

Learning about gaggles, skeins and geese

By Robert G. Woodring
Special writer

J. DONALD Adams talks about them in his book "Magic and Mystery of Words." Newspapers slip them into their columns in order to tease readers.

They are the words that refer to gatherings of creatures — words like flock, herd or clutch.

I never worried about them until I had my latest run-in with neighbor Hester, a retired English teacher.

I was looking at the sun setting over the horizon when I heard a commotion. From the patio next door I heard Hester saying that it sounded like Model-T horns in rush-hour traffic.

"A whole flock of Canada geese just landed," I whooped. "I'll get some pictures."

"Hold on there," Hester ordered. "There is no such thing as a flock of flying geese. When they're flying, they're a skein, and when they're on the ground, they're a gaggle."

"OK, OK, whatever you say, Hester. Let me get over there before they're gone again."

She didn't hear.

"NOW DUCKS group in broods, but when they're flushed, the group is a flush. But they're only flush when there are more than two ducks. A pair of ducks flushes in a brace," she said.

She continued undaunted by my lack of enthusiasm.

"Many farmers have seen a flock of crows attack a field of corn. That's what they think. In reality, they saw a murder of crows brutalize the corn. If the murder were attacking a single bird of prey, the murder would be ambushing a cast," she said.

"SPARROWS GATHER in hosts, and starlings group in murmurations," she said. "Turkeys gather in rafter, and a trio of pheasants is a nye."

"And then you have a windy of politicians," I mocked.

Hester ignored me and continued: "Frogs gather in colonies, but toads gather in knots."

"No, they're a litter," she answered, adding, "And so are kittens. Cats clutter, but big cats, like lions, are a pride."

As Hester sped on, I quipped, "And then you have a gabby of housewives. That's when I heard her door slam shut."

Musician with MS can barely crawl but stands tall

By Bill Casper
staff writer

The career of Al Wotton, a 27-year-old professional drummer, could have come to a debilitating end three months ago when he learned he had been struck with multiple sclerosis.

But he's not about to let that happen if he has any control over his future health and he believes he does.

Wotton, a former Redford Township resident, said he is certain he'll be banging on his drums with a rock and roll band some time in the not too distant future just as he has been the past 15 years.

But first things first. Before he picks up a couple of drumsticks and makes his hands and feet sustain a beat, he must beat MS, a disease that hardens portions of brain or spinal cord tissue causing partial or complete paralysis.

JUST FIVE months ago, Wotton was on tour, playing Jimmy Hall in the Wet Willie country and western band.

He also has played with such notable rock stars and bands as Rachael Sweet, Frankle and the Knockouts, former Grand Funk member Mark Farner on his first solo album after the group disbanded, Mitch Ryder and the Detroit Wheels and Question Mark and the Mysterians, along with a number of local bands.

However, MS eventually deprived him of the split-second neural muscular timing necessary for Wotton to play. At its worst some four months ago, he was unable to walk and barely able to crawl, he said.

The MS warning symptoms began about seven years ago and gradually worsened to the point that he played his last recording session with the use of only one hand and one foot.

"I was playing with me, recording some of my original music for a demonstration tape in my attempt to land a recording contract at that time when he fell of the stage," said close friend and fellow musician Tim Kelly of Westland.

"THE NEXT day he called and told me he couldn't walk and would be unable to continue with my studio gig," Kelly said.

Wotton, who had been receiving chiropractic adjustments to alleviate the reoccurring numbness of his body, sought medical attention at that time.

"The first warning symptom I experienced was a numbing sensation in the middle of my back," Wotton said. "Later, I experienced numbness in my feet and the left side of my body, weakness in my legs, temporary loss of balance and temporary blindness in one eye."

"When I experienced the numbness in my back, I went to a chiropractor and his adjustment alleviated the numbness. It would reoccur and I'd go back for adjustments."

"But the numbness eventually led to severely debilitating attacks, resulting in the immobilization of one arm and one foot, then both arms and legs," said Wotton, who began playing at age 12 and dropped out of Clio High School in his sophomore year to devote all of his time to a rising career.

"I could barely walk when I went to a neurologist for an upper-neural pathway brain scan, which detected indications that I had MS. A day later, I had a spinal tap, which confirmed I had MS."

"AFTER THE brain scan, the neurologist thought I had a spinal tumor, which really scared me," Wotton said. "When he told me after the spinal tap that I had MS, I was immediately relieved, not knowing much about MS and thinking that it wasn't so bad. But after the neurologist told me about MS and I realized just what the disease meant, it came as a crushing blow."

"I couldn't walk after returning from the hospital tests and I could barely crawl," he said. "There's no cure and the major characteristic of this disease is that there is no path of predictability as to what part of the body will be attacked or how serious the paralysis will become."

Wotton has chosen to fight it with his mind, employing meditation as well as prayer and he seems to be winning the battle. He has gotten back up on his feet and can walk at least short distances before his wobbly legs begin to fatigue.

"I believe my recovery to be a purely mental process," he said. "When I first learned I had MS, it put me on the bottom rung of emotional fortitude."

"I've been told by a doctor that MS does not necessarily get worse and I've discovered that stress or worry about it tends to aggravate the disease."

"SO I'VE decided I must assume the responsibility for the disease and fight it with my mind or succumb to it. I've put a lot of work recently into mental concentration through meditation and prayer. I'm sure there are laws that exist beyond the physical laws we know and I must now rely on my mental powers to put this disease into remission," said Wotton.

"I've had some success just recently in improving my condition through the mental process and that has made me determined to continue to fight the disease with my mind.

"I'm absolutely certain I'll recover fully through this process, which is hard to master. But after I've got it started, I don't expect it will take long to complete. The length of time depends solely on me," Wotton said.

"I just want to get back to playing the drums, which was always the biggest factor in my existence. Not being able to play is just about like not being able to breathe," he said.

Wotton said he hoped his story would help others who may be experiencing any of the MS warning symptoms in discovery of the disease before it progresses as far as it did in his case.

HE ALSO hopes his experiences in coping with MS may be of some value to other MS victims.

There is one aspect of coping that Wotton declined to discuss, but later was brought out by his friend Kelly.

"He is positive about his situation because that's the way he's dealing with it," Kelly said.

American Cuisine: Entertain With Style

The time-honored melting pot of the U.S. is spilling forth a cuisine that chefs around the world are acknowledging as "American." Comprising adaptations from practically every country, as well as dishes unique to regions of the U.S., clever American hosts are entertaining American style. Take the pride of the southland, for instance—the pecan pie. It could crown any party meal in triumph. And it combines two of America's famous originals—pecans and corn syrup.

As nearly everyone knows, corn was an important staple to Indians across this land. They shared it with the new settlers from Europe, and taught them how to dry it, grind it, press it and love it. Pecans, also an Indian favorite, were called variously "pakans," "pagans," and "peccans" by the local Indian tribes. The Indians roasted pecans, and they also ground them, mixed them with vegetables and extracted their oil.

Pecan trees, given to George Washington by Thomas Jefferson and planted just weeks before the Revolution, can still be seen at Mt. Vernon. Even then pecans were prestige nuts and a worthy gift. Today, their flavor and delightful crunchiness add goodness to a variety of foods—desserts, of course, but also main dishes, meats and relishes. Pecans are also nutritionally wholesome. They add fiber to the diet and contain iron, calcium, the B vitamins, potassium and phosphorous.

Although the ingenuity of the Indians was great and their use of corn creative, it wasn't until this century that corn syrup was developed. It was named Karo, perhaps for romantic reasons, by its inventor. Corn syrup quickly became a standard product in the American kitchen. Cooks like its subtle sweetness and the consistency, body and gloss it lends to sauces and glazes. Many of the fine corn syrup recipes developed by its early fans remain classics of good eating today—whether they be special desserts, meats, fruit, or vegetable dishes, sauces, condiments or candies.

Call it patriotic, chauvenistic, or just plain fun, but embracing American cookery is a festive way to entertain.

Citrus Glazed Ham with Pecans

- 1 (12 to 15 lb) fully cooked ham, with bone in.
- 1 cup dark corn syrup
- 1 tablespoon shredded orange or lemon rind
- 2 tablespoons orange or lemon juice
- Toasted pecan halves
- Whole cloves
- Very thin slices orange peel

Place ham fat side up on rack in large roasting pan. Bake in 325°F oven about 1 hour and 15 minutes. In small bowl stir together corn syrup, orange rind and juice. Remove ham from oven; with sharp knife, score fat 1/8-inch deep in diamond pattern. Brush ham with some of the syrup mixture. Continue baking about 45 minutes, basting frequently, until ham is well glazed and heated through. Remove from oven. Place 1 pecan half in center of half of the square marked on ham. Put whole clove through center of orange peel and insert 1 in center of each of the remaining squares. Baste ham once more. Return to oven 10 minutes.

Cranberry-Orange Relish

- 2 cups fresh or frozen cranberries
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup
- 1/4 cup orange juice or orange-flavored liqueur
- 1 cup orange sections
- 1/2 cup coarsely chopped toasted pecans

In 2-quart saucepan stir together cranberries, sugar, corn syrup and orange juice. Stirring occasionally, bring to boil over medium heat. Reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes or until cranberry skins pop. Remove from heat. Stir in orange sections. Cover, refrigerate several hours. Just before serving, stir in pecans. Makes about 2 1/2 cups.

Deluxe Pecan Pie

- 3 eggs
- 1/2 cup light or dark corn syrup
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons corn oil
- 1/2 cup ground toasted pecans
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups pecans
- 1 unbaked (9-inch) pastry shell

In large bowl with mixer at medium speed beat eggs slightly. Beat in corn syrup, sugar, margarine, vanilla and salt until well blended. Stir in pecans. Pour filling into pastry shell. Bake in 350°F oven 55 to 65 minutes or until knife inserted halfway between center and edge comes out clean. Cool. If desired, serve with whipped cream. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

Praline Gateau

- 1 1/3 cups unsifted flour
- 1/2 cup ground toasted pecans
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 4 eggs, at room temperature
- Dash salt
- 2/3 cup sugar
- 1/3 cup light corn syrup
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2 cups heavy cream, whipped
- 1 cup finely chopped toasted pecans

Grease and flour 2 (9 x 1 1/2-inch) round layer pans. In small bowl stir together flour, ground pecans and baking powder. In large bowl with mixer at high speed beat eggs and salt until foamy, about 1 minute. Gradually beat in sugar, then corn syrup until mixture is thick and pale yellow, about 3 to 4 minutes. Beat in vanilla. Reduce speed to low; add flour mixture, 1/4 at a time, beating until well blended after each addition. Pour into prepared pans. Bake in 350°F oven 30 to 35 minutes or until cake springs back when lightly touched. Cool in pans 10 minutes. Remove from pans. Cool completely on wire racks. Place one layer on serving plate. Spread with about 1 cup of the whipped cream. Top with remaining cake layer. Frost top and sides of cake with remaining whipped cream. Sprinkle sides of cake with finely chopped pecans. Garnish with additional whipped cream and chopped pecans. Refrigerate until ready to serve. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Candied Pecans

- 3 cups pecan halves
- 2 tablespoons corn oil
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup
- 1/2 cup sugar, divided
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Place pecans in 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. Heat in 250°F oven 5 minutes. In 2-quart saucepan melt margarine over medium heat. Stir in corn syrup and 1/4 cup of the sugar. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat. Boil without stirring 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla. Pour syrup over pecans, stirring constantly to coat evenly. Bake in 250°F oven 1 hour, stirring several times. Sprinkle with remaining 1/4 cup sugar; toss to coat evenly. Immediately spread out on greased cookie sheets to cool. Separate into individual pecan halves. Cool. Store in tightly covered container. Makes 3 cups.

To toast pecans: Place pecans on cookie sheet. Bake in 400°F oven 5 minutes or until lightly toasted.

Wafer Crisps

- 2/3 cup unsifted flour
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup dark corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup chopped pecans

Line cookie sheets with foil. In small bowl stir together flour and salt. In large bowl with mixer at high speed beat eggs until foamy. Gradually beat in sugar until thick, about 2 minutes. Beat in corn syrup and vanilla. With mixer at low speed, gradually stir in flour mixture until well blended. Fold in pecans, drop by teaspoonfuls, 3 inches apart, onto prepared cookie sheets. Bake in 375°F oven 9 to 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool 5 to 7 minutes on foil on wire rack. Remove cookies from foil. Cool completely on wire rack. Store in tightly covered container. Makes about 6 dozen.

Crunchy Chicken with Peach Sauce

(Not Illustrated)

- 1/3 cup dark corn syrup
- 1/4 cup spicy brown mustard
- 2 whole chicken breasts, skinned, boned, cut in 1-inch cubes, 1/4-inch thick
- 2 egg whites
- 4 tablespoons corn starch
- 2 tablespoons water
- 3 cups finely chopped pecans
- 1 quart (about) corn oil
- Peach Sauce

In small bowl stir together corn syrup and mustard. Add chicken; toss to coat well. Cover, refrigerate several hours or overnight. In small bowl beat egg whites lightly but not until frothy. Gradually stir in corn starch and water until smooth. Dip chicken pieces, a few at a time, into corn starch mixture, then coat with pecans. Dry on waxed paper-lined trays while coating remainder. Pour corn oil into heavy 3-quart saucepan. Heat over medium heat to 350°F. Add chicken pieces, a few at a time, fry about 1 minute or until golden brown. Drain on paper towels. Serve with Peach Sauce. Makes 8 servings as an hors d'oeuvre.

Peach Sauce

- 2 cups fresh or frozen peach slices, thawed
- 3/4 cup dark corn syrup
- 1/4 cup cider vinegar
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg

In 2-quart saucepan stir together peaches, corn syrup, vinegar, onion, cinnamon and nutmeg. Stirring occasionally, bring to boil over medium heat and boil gently 15 minutes. Place fruit mixture, about 1/2 at a time, in blender container, cover. Blend on medium speed 5 to 10 seconds or just until coarsely chopped. Store in tightly covered container in refrigerator. Serve with Pecan-Coated Chicken. Makes about 3 cups.

Lamb is good; good for you

If to your family, lamb means chops and an occasional leg roast, they're missing out on many marvelous eating experiences. With dozens of different lamb cuts to choose from, a wide variety of lamb entrees that will appeal to the family can be created.

For a hearty fall meal sure to spark appetites, try Savory Lamb Shanks and Squash. In this recipe as the shanks slowly cook to tenderness, they pick up flavor accents from garlic, rosemary and marjoram. In fine fall fashion, the lamb shanks are paired with strips of acorn squash and pieces of celery.

While some lamb entrees are reserved for special occasions, you'll find lamb shanks are among the more economical cuts available and provide the opportunity to include lamb more often in daily menu plans. The shanks are cut from the arm of the shoulder section of lamb. They contain the fore-leg bone, part of the round shoulder bone and are covered with a thin layer of fat and the fell, a thin paper-like covering on the outer fat. Although hind shanks are usually sold attached to the leg, when they have been removed they can be used in the same way. In fact you can ask your butcher to remove the shank when you buy a lamb leg. You can then collect shanks in your freezer until you have enough for a meal.

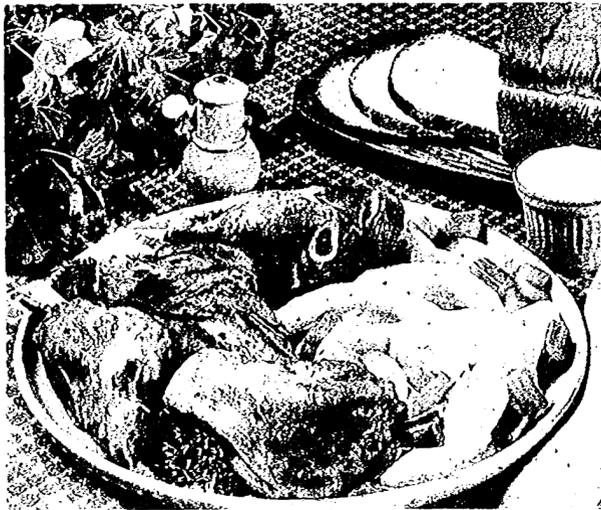

Since lamb is a naturally tender meat, most cuts can usually be prepared by dry heat methods, such as roasting and broiling, as well as by moist-heat cookery. However, to insure maximum tenderness, it is generally agreed that lamb shanks are best prepared by moist heat such as cooking in liquid or braising as called for in this recipe. You'll want to include lamb often in family meals not only for its variety and appetite appeal, but also for its outstanding nutrition. The protein in lamb is vital to good health for it is complete, containing all the essential amino acids in the proper proportions to build, maintain and repair body tissues. It also supplies the B-vitamins, thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, B-6 and B-12. Iron and zinc are two of the necessary minerals that help to make lamb an important food in a varied and well-balanced diet.

SAVORY LAMB SHANKS AND SQUASH

- 4 lamb shanks (approximately 2 1/2 lbs.)
- 2 tbsp. flour
- 1 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. pepper
- 2 tbsp. cooking fat
- 3/4 cup water
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/4 tsp. crushed rosemary
- 1/4 tsp. marjoram leaves
- 1 medium acorn squash
- 1 cup celery pieces

Combine flour, 1 teaspoon salt and pepper; dredge shanks. Brown in cooking fat in large frying-pan. Pour off drippings. Add water, garlic, rosemary and marjoram. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1 hour and 15 minutes. Meanwhile pare squash, cut in half lengthwise, remove seeds and stringy portion and cut lengthwise into 3/4-inch strips. Add squash and celery to shanks; sprinkle with 1/2 teaspoon salt and continue cooking, covered, 15 minutes or until vegetables are done. 4 servings.

Lamb's not just for Sunday anymore!

Look to lamb shanks with squash to spark interest in a family meal.

Open house slated by culinary students

The Oakland Community College Hospitality Department is presenting its third culinary arts open house at the Orchard Ridge Campus, Farmington Hills, Dec. 16.

The two-hour open house, which will be held in Tirrell Hall, begins at 7 p.m. Students will demonstrate a variety of culinary techniques including cake decorating, table-side cooking, vegetable carving and napkin folding. Refreshments will be served.

Advanced culinary arts students will also present a culinary arts salon and competition.

Differing slants show emotional changes

Dear Mrs. Green:

There is such a variance in L.Y handwriting that I am extremely curious why this occurs. Seems to be in accordance with the purpose, nature or intent of the writing and the amount of time involved for the accomplishment. Would have to assume my mood is also an important factor. I will attempt to portray throughout this letter the various styles.

My age is 57 and I am ambidextrous. Those things that were taught me I do right-handed, but any self-taught skills or innate abilities are performed left-handed, although I am able to skillfully use both hands. This has been a most valuable asset.

I always look forward to your column and have been wanting to write for so long. Finally acquired the courage.

Thank you for taking the time to read this. I am sending this letter as is, would generally rewrite it, correcting mistakes in grammar, spelling and punctuation but possibly a draft will reveal a truer personality.

Dear L.L.:

Your various handwriting styles reveal different slants which in turn suggest emotional changes you experience. However many similarities are woven throughout these samples. Take the disproportionate t bars which are omnipresent and suggest scattered energies. Then consider the large lower loops that overlap the line below which are characteristic of each sample. They indicate that you are restless, active and involved in numerous things. Actually you are probably over-extended to the point that it is difficult for you to keep matters sorted out in your daily life. It also seems highly possible that you have difficulty prioritizing.

Fast writing, such as yours, is usually done by a person who thinks and acts quickly. There is a good intellect here.

A penchant for music and art, especially of a fancy nature, are also manifested in your handwriting.

It appears that many of the things you do you feel you can do as well or better perhaps than others.

A nature that is sensitive to criticism can be seen in each of the styles.

Someone is trying to tell you something but you are turning a deaf ear to the message.

Throughout the various samples is a wide left margin indicating generosity and good cultural background.

If you have a question about your handwriting please write to Lorene Collect Green, a certified graphologist, in care of this newspaper. Please use a full sheet of white unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Age and handedness are also helpful. Letters can be answered only through the column.

Hospice group seeks funding

Cranbrook Hospice Care, a volunteer and non-profit organization, needs money to continue its service programs. It hopes to interest both individuals and organizations in donating money for operating expenses such as utilities and office supplies.

Located at 1669 W. Maple in Birmingham, it serves the terminally ill and their families in Wayne and Oakland counties. Volunteers work on a one-to-one basis with the dying, listening and giving support. They promote clear communication between patient and family members and help the patient retain his dignity.

Those interested in giving the organization financial support may contact Pat Johnson at 644-6116. Contributions may be mailed to Cranbrook Hospice Care at the above address.

These quadriplegics are not letting go

By Sherry Kahan
staff writer

Twelve years ago a fit, taut Jim Shinn projected his body into a double somersault from a trampoline in the Plymouth High School gym. His sweaty hands slipped from his knees, and he went into a wild spin, landing on his head.

The accident transformed the physically active teen-ager into a quadriplegic — a person who is paralyzed from the neck down.

Now when Shinn moves about, a wheelchair supports his body. But he gets a different kind of support from a group recently organized for people like him.

The Quadriplegic Support Group, for quadriplegics and parents, meets at 2 p.m. the third Saturday of each month in St. Gerald Catholic Church, 21220 Farmington Road, Farmington Hills. For more details call Jean McGillen at 681-8857 or Betty Hussey at 477-5348.

A quadriplegic, Shinn explained, generally is paralyzed from the neck down and has minimal use of his arms, but not his hands. A paraplegic is paralyzed from the waist down. "At first you are in total shock," said Shinn. "Your world is turned upside down. There is a time when you won't listen to anybody. It had to come from within me to decide that if this was the way it would be, I would have to make the best of it."

But until this group came along Shinn had no one in the same boat to talk to.

"IF A NEW quadriplegic comes into the group, I tell him about my experience," said Shinn, who teaches diving as a volunteer at Plymouth-Salem High School. "I don't know if he'd get over it any faster, but I'd explain how I came to grips with it. But there finally will come a time when I'd say, 'Get out into the community.'"

Three other members of the support group joined Shinn in talking about their organization. They had gathered in a new recreation room in the home of Keith Gresens of Livonia. He was forced into life in a wheelchair after diving into shallow water in Lake St. Clair.

Besides Shinn and Gresens there were Mike Hussey of Farmington Hills and Tom McGillen of Orchard Lake.

Hussey became a quadriplegic when his car left the road and turned over. McGillen's life changed when a land mine blew him from a tank in Pleiku, Vietnam.

The visitors had come to Gresens' home in vans made especially for handicapped persons.

In learning to drive these vans, they have to master a whole new skill — making the car respond to the movement of their arms. It takes great effort and concentration on the part of a quadriplegic.

When Hussey starts his car he presses a button with a stick held in his mouth. He moves the vehicle into gear by a certain movement of his arm. Brakes are applied, not with the foot, but by a motion of the arm.

"I know what to do," said Hussey. "It's a matter of practicing enough to be completely comfortable."

GRESENS REGARDS the new support group as a source of information as well as companionship.

"When you get put in this position, it's pretty abrupt," he said. "You are thrown from a hospital, where everything is wheelchair accessible, into the home where things are not that easy. "Before this room was added on, I couldn't get into anything but the kitchen and living room. I couldn't go into the bedrooms or bathroom. I needed a special sink, turning-around room and a ramp."

Gresens found there was little information available on homes for the wheelchair population.

"A lot of builders think that a bathroom for the handicapped includes a handrail, and that's about it," he said. "The person having to make changes has to do his own research, or you never get anything useable. My dad did all the research."

Gresens knows that the information unearthed by his father, Erwin Gresens, can be used by other quadriplegics in need of home alterations.

GRESENS' MOTHER Joann said that 80 percent of quadriplegic injuries happen to people between the ages of 18 and 24 who have diving or driving accidents.

"The ones who are 16 or 17 don't want to come to the group," said Mrs. Gresens. "From about 21 on, they are more mature and can cope with the injury a little better. If someone is contacted right after the accident, there is too much on their minds to want to go to meetings. But when they're ready, they want to know if there is a support group around."

"My first reaction was that I didn't want to be part of the group," said Hussey, who, at 25, is dealing in the best way he can with the trauma to physique and psyche caused by his accident. He is relearning how to drive.

"After I went to a meeting I found it was a time to share feelings and information," he said. "I feel I can help others, make them feel comfortable. I can tell what happened to me and listen to what happened to them. For some that might be a step to recovery."

MCGILLEN, WHO is president of the support group, studied clinical psychology when he returned home after his hospitalization. He is employed at Innerservision Neuro Psychiatric Clinic in Southfield. Many of his clients are Vietnam veterans.

He said he appreciates the physical therapy given him by the Veterans Administration and the emotional push given him by his doctor.

"He told me to accept it and make something of my life or else do nothing," McGillen said. "It was up to me."

He received therapy for a year and is able to move his wheelchair with his hands instead of with a motor. He believes he received far more therapy than many members of the support group.

"They don't develop their muscles to the fullest," he said.

A quadriplegic is forced early on to deal with his deep dependency on others, mainly his parents. With few muscles to rely on, he must constantly seek help.

His mother, Betty Hussey, thinks "this is the hardest part for them. They have no privacy whatever."

Gresens does not regard dependency as "a major factor."

"You have to adjust to doing things differently," he said, calmly downplaying the enormous change in a quadriplegic's life. "It doesn't help being angry."

Jim Shinn of Plymouth shows how he is lifted into his van after pressing a button with arm movement.

Rolling down a ramp at the Livonia home of Keith Gresens, a quadriplegic and a member of the Quadriplegic Support Group, are three fellow members, Tom McGillen (front), Jim Shinn and Mike Hussey. Behind them is the new room the Gresen family put on the house after Keith's accident.

Decide, then adjust

Is it 2 paychecks or 2 careers?

By Kathy Maday
special writer

Take any one piece of a mobile and yank. If just one piece is moved the whole system becomes upset.

That is the analogy Jeanne Knoff DeRoche used to describe the adaptation problems encountered when married couples who are both employed contemplate any change in their family structure.

She and her husband Fred DeRoche talked about how work affects family structure in a recent program titled, "Coping with Dual Careers: A Survivor's Manual for Working Couples" which was held at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic School in Plymouth.

The DeRoches are a dual career couple who have two children, 6 and 2 years of age.

Mrs. Knoff DeRoche is a substance abuse counseling supervisor with Henry Ford Hospital's Fairlane Center. Her husband is vice president of Odorne International, a Plymouth management consulting firm. He specializes in career guidance and counseling.

A FIRST consideration is to determine whether you are a two-paycheck couple, or a two-career couple, or in a situation where either of the spouse's careers is primary, Mr. DeRoche explained.

He said that in the two-paycheck marriage there is a sense of temporariness on the part of one or both spouses. Child care in this situation is handled mainly by the female, he said.

"In a dual-career marriage both the male and the female are seen as the primary wage earners. Relocation is determined by strategies both partners set up, and child care is handled by both partners," he said. "Part of the reason I like what I'm doing," Mrs. Knoff DeRoche said, "is that my career leaves a lot of flexibility so I can be home when the kids are home, if necessary. Also, my job allows me to take mental health days when work becomes too stressful."

Mr. DeRoche said that some companies are becoming more sensitive to the family needs of their employees. They are providing day-care centers, flexible hours, counseling services, and other means which help the dual-career couple cope.

IT IS IMPORTANT to discuss role expectations in advance so that issues don't come out in arguments, he noted.

"Dual-career couples may experience ambivalence, guilt, jealousy, or resentment about switching roles in household management tasks," he said. "It is important to talk through our feelings about roles, since role sharing may often involve the loss of ego satisfaction."

"It may be difficult for a wife to admit that her husband is a better cook than she, or for a husband to say his wife's a better handyman than he is. Both are experiencing a loss of ego identity developed through previous sex role expectations," he said.

The speakers handed out a checklist of household chores to be marked if the husband or wife does the task, if both do it, or if neither one does it; for example if hired help does it.

The checklist included food chores, clothes chores, money chores, house or apartment maintenance, social obligations, children, pets, and leisure time activity.

The object was to determine who does what task now, and who is best equipped to do it in the future.

"The most we can go without discussing who is doing what is two weeks," Mrs. Knoff Roche said. "After that, you don't know who you're living with anymore."

SETTING SEPARATE and joint life plans in motion is important in the dual-career couple marriage, the husband said. He encouraged couples in this situation to decide first separately, then together, where they want to be in five years, ten years, and beyond retirement.

"Ask yourself, 'What things in life do I really want in terms of personal, career, and family goals? What things do we want together?'" he said.

Mrs. Knoff DeRoche explained that in the adult developmental process males and females often progress through conflicting stages.

PARTICIPANTS in the program agreed that the dual-career marriage was challenging, but could be most rewarding, if thought and effort was given to the marriage in terms of task and goal sharing.

They felt that much commitment was required on the part of two achievement-oriented individuals to prevent the dual-career couple from becoming a dual-career couple.

Smith-Kinast

Andrea Lynn Kinast and Dave Neal Smith were married Nov. 13 in an afternoon ceremony in the chapel of St. Paul of the Cross Monastery.

Parents of the couple are Gloria Efthimion and Robert Kinast, both of Livonia, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith of Redford.

Patricia Alastra was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Gerri Smith, Cathy Smith, Kathy Benedict, Kathy Thompson and Paula McGarrity.

The bridegroom's attendants were Ross Britton, best man, and Jeff Smith,

Jessie Thompson was flower girl and Bobby Kinast ring-bearer.

The reception for 110 guests was held in the Warren Valley Country Club, Dearborn Heights. The couple went to the East Coast for their honeymoon and are living in Wixom.

The bride is a Bentley High School graduate and employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. The bridegroom graduated from Thurston High School and works for Earl Keim Realty.

Schultz-Allison

Janet L. Allison and Bill Schultz exchanged marriage vows in a ceremony in Westminster United Presbyterian Church of Detroit, with the Rev. James Cole officiating.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Allison of Louis Street, Redford. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Vincent Schultz of Southfield.

The bride wore a white gown with lace trimming the sweetheart neckline, sleeves and hemline. Her veil was illusion and her flowers white and blue roses with baby's breath.

Margaret Gallagher, matron of honor, wore a powder blue dress and carried flowers in shades of blue and dusty rose. She had blue flowers in her hair. Bridesmaids Theresa Matsco and Anne Kruszka were dressed similarly in deeper blue.

The best man was Kevin Reid and the ushers Thomas Rembessa, Michael MacKenzie, Michael Martin and James Allison.

The reception was held in Mercy Conference Center and the couple honeymooned on Myrtle Beach, S.C. They are living in Detroit.

Both are employed by the Methodist Children's Home in Redford. The bride is a graduate of Mercy College and has a master's in social work from Wayne State University. The bridegroom graduated from Aquinas College and has done graduate study at the University of Michigan.

All-Area team unmatched

Prep stars form state hotbed

By Brad Emons and C.J. Risak staff writers

Soccer, the "sport of the '80s" according to the game's enthusiasts, may yet live up to that title.

True, soccer has not fared so well on the professional level. But it's finding support on other levels, with junior programs booming and this year, at long last, the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) recognizing soccer as a sport worthy of its own state tournament.

Soccer is on a roll, and there's no where else in the state that it's rolling faster than in the western Wayne County suburbs. It doesn't take a genius to figure out that this area is, indeed, the best place in the state to cultivate talent.

FOR EXAMPLE: What two teams played for the Class A title? A pair of Livonia schools, Stevenson and Churchill.

Who is the state's best player, according to coaches, and where is he from? Gary Mexicotte, who earned All-America honors at Stevenson.

And how many teams from the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) were listed among the top 15 in the state? Five of 10: Stevenson (first), Churchill (second), Northville (12th) and Plymouth Salem (15th). A fifth team from the area, Detroit Catholic Central, was ranked 10th.

It's true, soccer is just getting off the ground in many sections of the state while this area has been playing for years. Which means that, for the next few years, our area should continue as a hotbed of soccer. At least until the rest of the state catches up in terms of talent, coaching and development.

The Observer's All-Area soccer team, chosen by the local coaches, could truly be considered an All-State squad. Included in its ranks are three players who were unanimous choices, a rarity in an area so highly competitive.

So here's the All-Observer soccer team.

Gary Mexicotte, Livonia Stevenson, forward — The senior forward wrapped up his career at Stevenson by scoring 48 goals in 16 games and totalling 16 assists. That gave him a three year total of 107 goals. The top player on everybody's list, Mexicotte was an unanimous choice by the coaches and also has been named an all-stater by the Michigan Soccer Coaches Association.

Since leading Stevenson to the state title over Livonia Churchill, Mexicotte has been the starting striker on the Michigan state Under-19 Youth squad and plans to continue his playing days at Indiana University next fall.

Erik Hansen, Livonia Churchill, forward — The senior used his powerful kick to score 34 goals, including two against Stevenson in the state finals. Nicknamed "The Great Dane", the exchange student from Denmark was also an unanimous choice as well as a member of the All-State second team and first team All-Western Lakes.

Ken Burt, Livonia Stevenson, goalie — The third unanimous choice, Burt was one of the outstanding goalies in the state as he record 10 shutouts for the year to give up only an average of 0.59 goals per game. The senior was a major contributor to Stevenson state championship victory and a first-team All-State selection and first-team All-Western Lakes.

Tom Wright, Plymouth Canton, forward — The senior booted 17 goals to lead Canton in scoring and to its near-500 record. Although Wright did not make first or second team All-Western Lakes, coaches thought highly enough of him to select him All-Area.

Eric Pence, Livonia Stevenson, forward — The junior forward scored 17 goals and managed nine assists for the state champions. Pence, who also plays for the Arsenal, was All-Western Lakes and will return next year to pick up where Mexicotte left off.

Mike Aulicino, Livonia Stevenson, midfielder — Called "Spark Plug" by his teammates, the senior was not only one of the best midfielders in the league but an inspiration to his squad on the field. Stevenson coach Pete Scerri admits he'll have a hard time replacing Aulicino who was also a All-Western Lakes selection and first-team All-State.

Dan O'Shea, Livonia Franklin, midfielder — Despite playing center half-back, the senior was Franklin's leading scorer with seven goals and six assists. A three-year letterman in soccer, this year O'Shea was co-captain of the squad and a member of the All-Western Lakes first team.

Troy Collareno, Detroit Catholic Central, midfielder — Although he totaled only three goals and three assists, Collareno was a far better player than his statistics indicate. The senior impressed enough coaches to be named most valuable player of the Catholic League and second-team All-State.

John Lectka, Livonia Churchill, defender — The senior had many strengths on the field but he proved extremely good at clearing the ball by heading it. The quick player anchored the center of the field for Churchill and was honored by being named All-Western Lakes as well as All-Area.

Ashley Long, Plymouth Salem, defender — The 6-foot-1 senior was captain of the Salem squad and its best tackler.

Dan O'Shea Franklin

Troy Collareno CC

John Lectka Churchill

Ashley Long Salem

Rick Ajluni Churchill

Don Guss CC

A member of the state champion Arsenal club, Long was also first-team All-Lakes Division in the WLAA.

Rick Ajluni, Livonia Churchill, defender — Known for his aggressiveness, Ajluni could play on either the right or left side.

The senior was also an All-Western Lakes League choice and kept the Chargers in many games during their state tournament stretch run. He was an honorable mention All-State pick.

Don Guss, Detroit Catholic Central, defender — The junior played a strong sweep as the Shamrocks finished with a 14-3-1 record. The first-team All-Catholic pick scored only one goal, but set up many of CC's scores this season.

SECOND TEAM

Randy Johnson, Ply. Salem, forw. Dennis Patchett, Liv. Bentley, forw. Paul Newstead, Liv. Churchill, forw. Mike Eriksson, Liv. Churchill, forw. Bill Ravenna, Liv. Stevenson, midf. Brian Schonfeld, Liv. Bentley, midf. Dave Wiegell, Liv. Stevenson, midf. Phil Lussier, Liv. Churchill, midf.

Chris Banyal, Liv. Stevenson, def. Bob Tartaglia, Cath. Central, def. Cary Even, Garden City, def. Bob Sinnaeve, Cath. Central, goal.

HONORABLE MENTION

Livonia Stevenson — Dan Divens, Chris Gemblis, Louie Broccardo, Larry Witkowski and John Gelmsis.
Livonia Churchill — Chris Cassar, Mike Duckworth and John Merner.
Catholic Central — Bob Orlovski, Steve DeMattos, Dan Scharpf, Rick Longuski, Andy Rama, Jeff Haseem and Jim Kowalski.
Plymouth Salem — Bob Bowling, Jeff Neschlich, Todd Chatman, Steve Moran and Tom Skrobecki.
Plymouth Canton — Eddie Hintz, Bob Brusa, Tim McFarland, Mike Funkhouser and Tim Butzow.
Livonia Bentley — Bill Benson, Art Pulice, Raffi Tufenkjian, Abe Yaffai and Jeff Wilkinson.
Livonia Franklin — Graham Crockford, Greg Makila, Matt Kean, Bill Carroll, Tom Wagnitz, Bob Dickerson and Jim Rhoad.
Garden City — Jeff Feltz, Sam Falk, Jeff Early, Scott Gromacki, Mark Grigerrit, Andy Muglia, Paul Pummill, Bill Hyde, Craig Skinner, Ramon Escobar and Brian Deal.

Aggies get rolling after slow start, bomb district foe

By Jim DuFresne staff writer

One fan called it cautious, a score-keeper called it strange, coach Jim Murphy called it inevitable. Whatever it was, it wasn't Redford St. Agatha.

The undefeated powerhouse of girls' basketball had problems getting on track Wednesday in the Class C district finals before finally beating Pontiac Catholic, 54-29, in a lackluster performance.

Still it was a win, the team's 21st without a loss, and it was another district crown for the Aggies. Murphy was more than happy to accept the championship trophy and the trip to the regionals where his squad will meet Armada at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Harper Woods Lutheran East.

"We played a real tough game against St. Mary's on Monday," said Murphy of his team's dramatic 69-62 win. "There is no doubt that took away from our performance tonight."

"We did better in the second half than we did in the first. And I'm sure we'll do better than this in the next game."

THE AGGIES will have to if they want to keep playing this season. Wednesday's game began as if it was in slow motion. Players for both schools appeared overly cautious and as a result there was no scoring for the first four minutes. With 3:30 remaining in the period Mary Kellow finally managed the first goal of the game for St. Agatha to tie up the score at 2-2. She managed to sink another and her teammates finished the quarter outfront, 6-2.

The pace picked up in the second quarter as St. Agatha began to outrun its opponent. Mona Clor dropped in four straight points midway through the period to put her school ahead, 16-6.

Pontiac Catholic then displayed its only rallying effort of the evening. Mary Haslinger hit a field throw but on her second attempt the ball rolled off the rim. Teammate Connie Alfes, just off the bench, grabbed the rebound and turned it into a three-point play. Carol Young came back with another bucket and Pontiac Catholic had pulled to within five with 2:34 remaining in the half.

ST. AGATHA shook off the charge when Clor dropped in a pair of field goals, the second at the sound of the buzzer, for a 20-11 halftime lead.

"We were rushing things in the first half and were not patient enough to get the ball inside," said Murphy. "Mona wasn't getting loose inside and we weren't getting the ball to her."

That all changed in the second half. With Beth Reicha forcing turnovers and Clor dominating the boards, St. Agatha took away whatever life Pontiac Catholic had left. Clor went on another shooting spree at the end of the period, hitting three baskets with less than a minute remaining, to increase her team's lead to 36-16.

The center added 11 more points in the final period and with three minutes remaining in the game, both coaches began emptying their benches.

For the evening, Clor led all scorers with 27 points while Kellow had 13 and Reicha added eight. Pontiac Catholic, which wrapped up the year with a 9-10 record, was paced by Vicki Morrow who managed seven and Megan O'Flynn with six.

1st state tournament disastrous for PC

Plymouth Christian, playing its first district game in the history of the school, was steamrolled by Wyandotte Mt. Carmel, 86-35, last Monday.

Allcia Kowalski dropped in 16 points to lead Mt. Carmel to an easy 50-13 lead at half time.

Plymouth Christian, which finished the season with a 3-14 record, was paced by Muzette Carrol who scored 14 and Kim Allen with nine.

Schoolcraft cagers rip apart Windsor '5'

Schoolcraft College won its third straight basketball game at the expense of the hapless University of Windsor junior-varsity squad, 136-51.

The game, played Wednesday night at Schoolcraft, was highlighted by guard Carlos Briggs' school-record 60 points.

The Detroit Benedictine High School product had 18 points in the first half as the Ocelots jumped out to a 61-33 halftime lead. He added 44 points in the second half. Briggs, who scored primarily on layups, made 30 field goals and hit two free throws. His three-game scoring average is 53.6.

Scott Conrad, a 6-foot-8 center from Livonia Churchill, added 23 points. Also in double figures were Ricky Johnson (14), George Meriweather (10) and Bill Keyes (10).

Gary Greenwood scored 13 points for Windsor.

GREAT LAKES HEATING COOLING REFRIGERATION

NSL contenders hope to unseat Franklin

By Brad Emons
staff writer

The Northwest Suburban League (NSL), born in 1962, is marking its 20th anniversary this year.

And for two decades, balance has been the word in NSL boys' basketball. This year promises to be more of the same with a number of teams ready for a run at the title.

Here is a pre-season look at five of the six teams in the NSL. (North Farmington will not be previewed).

LIVONIA FRANKLIN

Coach Jim McIntyre, now in his sixth season, gained his first league title last season.

The Patriots, 16-6 overall in 1981-82, lost speedy guards Mike Williamson and John Hart to graduation.

But first-team All-Observer pick Bob Stebbins, a 6-4 senior, returns to the center position. A three-year regular, Stebbins averaged 16 points and 13 rebounds per game last year.

He is joined up front by 6-3 senior holdover John Mimnaugh, who possesses a good touch around the hoop. Another returnee, 6-1 senior guard Mike Johnson, is the team's designated zone buster. Mike Wilkins, a 6-2 junior forward, also returns after a year's experience as a starter.

The point guard spot is up for grabs between seniors Rich Kelly, Rich Wood, Art Durivage and Scott McNabb.

"Whoever does the best job against Fordson in our scrimmage Tuesday will probably get the starting nod at the point," said McIntyre. "We don't have anybody of Williamson's ability up to this point."

basketball

"I won't have a true starting lineup until after Christmas."

Mike Wrublewski, a 6-3 senior left-handed sharpshooter, is also expected to contribute immediately for the Patriots.

"We'll do a few things differently on defense," said McIntyre, "but we'll still do a lot of running and have the inside game."

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN

The Rockets were a young, but competitive team last season and coach Dan Henry hopes the experience will pay off for the 1982-83 campaign.

Senior Jack Walker, a 6-4 center, returns as a strong rebounder and scorer from a year ago. His season high was 24 points in a district final loss to Wayne Memorial.

Walker is joined by junior holdover Greg Gill, who skillfully ran the Rockets' offensive attack a year ago as a sophomore.

Glenn, 7-14 a year ago, loses only one starter — Bob Hawley.

Another starter back is Todd Stein. He will be flanked by several other players who gained varsity experience last season.

Most coaches in the league said that if one team is going to unseat the Patriots, it will be Glenn.

Under Henry's direction, Glenn won a district basketball crown by defeating rival Wayne. That team, led by Kevin Thweatt and Rob Sisson, was known for its aggressive defensive style.

With added size this season, Henry hopes to recapture the defensive form which propelled the Rockets during a successful 1980-81 campaign.

Glenn opens its season Friday at Taylor Center. The Rockets then meet Taylor Kennedy Tuesday, Dec. 7 in their home opener.

REDFORD THURSTON

The Eagles are coming off their most successful season (17-4) in years.

But All-Area performers Tim Fredericks and Rich Biskner are gone. Three other regulars also departed.

Thurston coach Gary Fralick isn't singing the blues, however.

George Sibel, a 6-2 senior, returns. He started the final 13 ball games a year ago and averaged 13 points per game.

His outside shooting ability will be matched by the inside power of 6-3, 205-pound Jim Weiss, a transfer from Redford Temple Christian.

Weiss was a regular for the unbeaten Crusaders last season.

"He fills a need for us," said Fralick. "He can play any position — the shooting guard, big forward or center."

Steve Smith, a 5-11 senior, will plug the point-guard gap. He was the first guard off the bench last year.

The center spot belongs to 6-6½ junior Dan Starinsky, who served as the team's eighth man as a sophomore.

The final starting spot, according to Fralick, is a battle between senior Bob Davidge and 6-3 junior Lars Anderson.

"We're hoping for the best," said the Thurston coach. "We have good height and halfway decent speed. We'll run and try to be patient, and we should be good to the boards."

GARDEN CITY

Because East and West high schools merged, that doesn't necessarily mean the Cougars are the team to beat in the NSL according to new coach Bob Dropp.

"We have two players back from West and we were 6-15," Dropp said, "and we have five back from East and they were 3-18."

Dropp, however, does have a little more size.

Mike Butka, a 6-4½ senior center, should see regular duty but is coming off a badly sprained ankle. He is joined by 6-3 senior forward Craig Dimaya.

Other help up front will be provided by juniors Dave Haydon (6-5) and Scott McCloskey (6-4½). Both players are coming off of East's 13-7 jayvee squad.

The Cougars are loaded with guards. Seniors Brett Emery, Tom Ferrell, Scott Carroll, Ken Fislter and Tom McGrath all have varsity experience in the backcourt. Junior Paul Krol is also expected to help there, too.

"Dealing with the kids has worked out really well so far," Dropp added. "We're a little taller than either team last year and we're quicker."

"And we have a lot of smaller people to push off the bench."

Bentley hockey club takes its lumps

By Paul King
special writer

The ice has not been smooth for the Livonia Bentley hockey team lately.

On Thursday the Bulldogs, defending Suburban League champions, dropped a 5-1 outing to Trenton, defending state champion. The lone Bentley goal was by Tom Anderson while Eric Lemerand and Pat Slitti each scored a pair for Trenton and Ken Wend added another.

The loss came on the heels of Bentley's 6-5 defeat by Southfield Tuesday. It was Southfield's first victory since February, 1981 as the school, down 2-1 in the first period, rallied for four straight goals.

Forward Ken Chaput had a hat-trick for Southfield while Rob Sorge and Chris Finger each added one and Doug Olree slapped in the winner late in the third period breaking a 5-5 tie.

Dave Lentz scored a pair for Bentley. Anderson, Scott Boos and Mike Hachigian each added one goal.

LIVONIA STEVENSON 17 SOUTHFIELD-LATHRUP 0

E.J. Perreault had four goals and two assists to pace unbeaten Stevenson to an easy win Wednesday over Lathrup. Scoring a pair for the winners were Bill Jordon, Erik Strom and John Phillips. Darin Phillips and Phil Bryant combined in the goal for the shutout.

MILFORD 4 LIVONIA FRANKLIN 2

Chris Schellenderg scored a pair of goals and Brad O'Neill and Tim Heinonem each added one to lift Milford past Franklin last week.
 Jim Barnes and Scott Williams each managed one for the losers.

what's at the movies

A BOY AND HIS DOG (R). Exploits of a young man and his telepathic dog as they struggle to survive in a post-atomic wilderness of dried mud that has covered the earth.

THE CHOSEN (PG). Dramatization of Chaim Potok's novel about father-son relationships, the interlocking lives of two teenage friends and the faith that divides and unites them.

CREEPSHOW (R). Film of terrifying tales and creepy monsters directed by George Romero from a screenplay by Stephen King.

THE EMPIRE STRIKES BACK (PG). Second in the "Star Wars" saga, the further adventures of Luke Skywalker, Darth Vader and the rest.

E.T. THE EXTRATERRESTRIAL (PG). Steven Spielberg's best film yet, and probably the best film of the year, develops story of an alien being stranded on earth and befriended by a young boy.

FIRST BLOOD (R). Sylvester Stallone is a Vietnam vet who goes berserk when hassled by the local police and wages a guerrilla war against the sheriff's men and the state police.

HEIDI'S SONG (G). Animated musical based on Johanna Spyri's timeless tale of a young girl who goes to live with her grandfather in the Swiss Alps.

JIMMY THE KID (PG). Gary Coleman, Paul LeMat and Don Adams star in comedy crime caper. Directed by Gary Nelson.

L'ADOLESCENTE (PG). Story of a young girl's coming of age set in France in 1939 prior to World War II. Stars Simone Signoret and Laetitia Chauveau.

THE LAST UNICORN (G). Modern classic for children and grown-ups brought to life with animation and the voices of Mia Farrow, Jeff Bridges, Alan Arkin and Angela Lansbury.

THE MISSIONARY (R). Sprightly British comedy stars Michael Palin as a missionary who finds that saving the souls of "fallen women" in England can be more harrowing than anything he experienced in Africa.

MY FAVORITE YEAR (PG). Set in New York in 1954, comedy starring Peter O'Toole focuses on the "Golden Age" of live television.

NATIONAL LAMPOON'S CLASS REUNION (R). Humor centers around annual gathering of the grads of Lizzie Borden High.

NOT A LOVE STORY (Unrated). A National Film Board of Canada documentary on pornography and its impact on women.

THE PERSONALS (PG). A gentle, slice-of-life film that takes a look at one man's attempt to find a new relationship after a recent divorce.

TEX (PG). S.E. Hinton story of struggles and conflicts of two teenage brothers growing up in the Southwest.

'Pirates' on tour

Don Goodspeed and Maureen Brennan are the hero Frederic and the heroine Mabel in a new touring production of Joseph Papp's Broadway-based "Pirates of Penzance," coming to Detroit's Fisher Theatre for five weeks beginning Jan. 11. This will be the second subscription play of the season. For ticket information and performance times, call 827-1000.

backgammon

of the Cavendish North backgammon club

At the backgammon table, not all problems arise from complex positions. Sometimes the very simplicity of the position lulls us into an "automatic" play that might be improved upon if only we would stop to think for a moment before playing. Such is the case in the diagrammed position.

Black has started the game with a 6-5 and has moved one of his back men to safety on the white 12 point. This play, dubbed "the lover's leap," cannot be faulted, but as many a leaping lover has found out, sometimes the affair ends up on the rocks.

In response to black's opening play, white now rolls a 4-2. The vast majority of players would look with approval on this roll and make their 4 point at slightly under the speed of light. And indeed it is difficult to find fault with this excellent play, but let me try.

I suggest that white play his 4 from the black 1 point to black's 5 point and his 2 from the black 12 point to the white 11 point. This rather eccentric-looking play is an attempt to keep maximum pressure on black. With a man poised on black's 5 point, white threatens to hit any loose men that black might ordinarily like to bring into his outer table to serve as builders for his 4, 5 and 7 points.

SUCH A HIT would not only catch white up in the race but leave him with the much stronger position since he would have an extra builder in his own outer board and at the same time be threatening to complete the escape of the man with which he just hit.

In addition, should black roll a number that adds up to 8 or 9 and try to escape with his second back man, white will have two men bearing directly on the unfortunate piece. Note that if black rolls a number to make his own 5 point, he would do so in any event and consequently would have both a positional and a racing advantage.

By making the mundane play of building his 4 point, white allows his opponent the option of either bringing builders down into his outer board or attempting to escape with his second back man. Either of these options figure to succeed about two out of three times.

By making the suggested play, white inhibits black's freedom of movement and leaves him in a position where fewer than half of his possible numbers play well and almost all of these would have been good for black no matter how white played.

This 4-2 play is an often-overlooked example of a basic principle I have always tried to teach my backgammon students: i.e., "When the opponent has escaped a back man on the opening roll, you should advance one of your own back men to the opponent's 4, 5 or 7 point whenever feasible."

Some people move to Knob in the Woods for the location. Some come for the Olympic pool and the club house (complete with steam room and showers). Some come for the security. or the fact that we pay the heating bill. Some come for the reasonable rents (one-bedroom apartments start at just $420 a month). Come and see what they've found--set in this unique in-town forest.
