Cross is burned as vandals hit church

By Mary Klemic
staff writer

Divine Savior Catholic Church is nestled in a peaceful, wooded area between Hix and Haggerty roads in Westland. But the tranquil setting was shattered somewhat over the weekend.

In a break-in that is under investigation by Westland police, a variety of electrical and musical equipment was taken, and a hard oak cross, handmade by one of the parishioners, was pried off from the front of the church and partially burned.

"It's such a neat, neat place, and the people are nice, and then this has to happen," a church secretary said. "We feel like we've been violated."

"Maybe if someone does hear something (about the break-in) they can call the police or the church."

AMONG THE items taken in the break-in were 10 microphones, cymbals, a bass guitar, music stands, cord and a music mixer, according to police.

"The only things they didn't take was what they couldn't get through the hole in the ceiling," the secretary said.

Police said the thieves entered the church, located at 39375 Joy, through the roof between 9:30 p.m. Sunday and 7 a.m. Monday and broke into an office. Once inside, the burglars threw pictures and wall hangings on the floor, tipped over flower pots and set off a fire extinguisher. Lawn mowers were filled with sand and rolled into the woods.

The amount of damage resulting from the burglary was unknown earlier this week. But the burning of the cross is the most costly part of the break-in for church members, the secretary said.

THE CROSS, measuring between eight and 10 feet, reportedly was taken to the back of the church, where it was set on fire. The fire was still smoldering when the break-in was discovered by a custodian Monday morning.

"It's a shock that anybody would do that," the secretary said. "The cross is a symbol of our faith."

Police said that "Lucifer," "Death" and "666" were found written in sand at the church. The figure "666" has been associated with the devil.

Divine Savior was dedicated in 1977. Many of the 560 families in the parish come from Westland, Canton, Plymouth and Livonia.

The incident was not the first break-in at Divine Savior. Burglars took $2,000 in collection money from the church in January 1982. That burglary is still being investigated by police.

Anyone with any information about the break-in is urged to contact Westland Police Sgt. Emery Price, 721-6311, or Divine Savior Church, 455-3621.

Canton resident Walt Pollesk, a custodian at Divine Savior Catholic Church in Westland, surveys the fire damage done by vandals to a handmade cross. The cross was pried from the front of the church in a weekend break-in.

Arena contract returns to MSB

By Margaret Neubacher
staff writer

The battle over control of Westland's multipurpose arena goes on.

Mayor Charles Pickering indicated this week that he is not ready to concede to council's decision to hire a private company to run the arena.

City employees will continue to prepare the arena for fall activities, he said.

Pickering's position is in direct contradiction to council's Monday night action.

In a special meeting, council voted 5-2 to override Pickering's veto of the council's previous decision to hire a private company to run the arena. Councilman Ben DeHart and Councilwoman Nancy Neal voted against the override.

On Aug. 18 the council awarded a three-year management contract to a firm known as Municipal Service Bureau (MSB) which has former parks and recreation director Ralph Tack as its chairman.

Tack was fired from his city job by Pickering.

PICKERING SAID he was not satisfied that MSB could do an adequate job and thought that allowing the firm to run the arena would lead to labor problems with city unions.

"I'm not prepared at this time to enter into a contract with MSB," he said. "I'm not ready until I take a look at how it will affect operation and labor. I'm not going to enter into an agreement with MSB or any other management operation until I'm convinced that we're safe legally to do so." Pickering indicated he would check the legal ramifications.

Council could try to force the mayor to go ahead with taking the private firm by some court action, one source said.

The union representing city employees working at the arena, Local 1602, has reportedly threatened to take its own action if a private company is hired to run the arena.

Pickering said the local could get a court order that would stop all operations at the arena. City attorney Jeffrey Jahr advised Pickering that the local would have a strong case for unfair labor practice if the city signed a contract with a private firm.

THE MAYOR said city employees will continue to work at the arena while he reviews the issue and learns what the city workers' union, Local 1602, decides about the matter.

During the special session Monday night, the council authorized two assistant city attorneys for labor relations, Angelo Plakas and C. Charles Bokos, to pursue discussions and/or negotiations with the local regarding the arena. Neal was the lone dissenter on that motion.

Debate over the arena's operation began earlier this year. It costs the city about $50,000 a year to operate the arena. The idea of leasing it to a private company was considered as a way to save money. An outside private firm with an "incentive" to make a profit could operate the arena more effectively, proponents said.

Local businesses may get tax breaks

By Margaret Neubacher
staff writer

Tax exemptions in Westland are in the works for Plastipak Packaging Inc. and Jedtco Corp. Between them, the two companies are planning to hire 36 workers.

Under State Act 198, local governments can grant up to 12 years of tax relief to industrial manufacturing facilities that are building plants or adding on to existing facilities. Companies that qualify can receive as much as 50 percent relief on real and personal property tax, with what is known as an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate.

The Westland City Council must declare the site on which the company is located an Industrial Development District before the application for the exemption is accepted. Plastipak received that approval in 1978. Jedtco was approved as an industrial development district at the last council meeting. Final approval for the application must come from the State Tax Commission.

THE TAX ABATEMENTS granted under the state act, which was enacted in 1974, were designed to encourage industrial growth in Michigan.

"It is being used more and more each year," said Robert Matzo, director of the Department of Assessment and Economic Development.

"We gain tremendously with these abatements. They increase employment opportunities and the industrial tax base in our community."

Jedtco Corp., which rents a building in Livonia, employs 45 workers and manufactures rubber parts primarily for Aerospace Aircraft. Jedtco is constructing a new building with a 2,100-square-foot office area and a 17,500-square-foot work area in the Ford-Hix industrial park in Westland.

Jedtco intends to hire 16 additional employees when it moves into its new facilities in early November, a company spokesman said.

"THE TAX EXEMPTION is the main reason we decided to move to Westland," said Evelyn Hanninen, secretary-treasurer of Jedtco. The price of the property and the general location were other reasons, she added.

Plastipak Packaging Inc., on Hix, employs 50 people and manufactures several types of plastic containers. The company plans to add a 42,000-square-foot metal building with six bay truck docks for manufacturing and storing plastic containers. The expansion will be twice the size of the current building and will employ 20 new employees.

Westland has developed four industrial parks in the last two to three years but for a while, like much of the rest of the state, didn't have much new development, Matzo said.

"The industrial parks are ready for new industry, and with the economy turning around, we are seeing some activity," he said.

No verdict in judge's case

Jury deliberations were still under way Thursday morning in U.S. District Court in the case of 18th District Judge Evan Callanan Sr., his son and two other men. No verdict had been reached at the Westland Observer's press time.

Callanan Sr., his son, attorney Evan Callanan Jr.; UAW Local 1776 President Richard Debs and Dearborn Heights businessman Sam Qaoud were charged with case-fixing, conspiracy and mail fraud.

The jury began deliberations Monday, Aug. 22. Final arguments in the case were heard Sunday and Monday, Aug. 18 and 19. The trial lasted almost eight weeks before U.S. District Judge Horace Gilmore.

The government charged that Judge Callanan accepted money in return for lenient treatment for defendants he believed were charged with drunk driving, selling liquor to minors, third-degree criminal sexual conduct, larceny and felonious assault. It alleged that Callanan Jr. hid the fact that he was representing clients before his father by having an attorney from his law firm make formal court appearances for him, and that he lied before a grand jury.

Council candidates examine city issues

5 explain their views

Ten candidates have filed for the Westland City Council, resulting in a primary election on Sept. 13. In preparation for that election, the Westland Observer asked all of the candidates to submit a brief biography and resume and to respond to six questions.

The responses of some of those candidates will be published in this issue. Responses of the remaining candidates will be published in the Monday, Sept. 5 issue.

The six questions sent to every candidate are:

1. Why have you decided to run for city council?
2. What skills do you have that would make you an effective candidate?
3. What should be the roles of the city council and the mayor in running the government of the city?
4. What do you think should be done about library funding and services?
5. What do you think should be done about Department on Aging funding and services?
6. What level should the fire department be staffed at and how would you pay for it?

Thomas Artley

Thomas Artley, 45, is president of the Westland City Council. A 17-year resident of Westland, he works as a computer systems analyst for the Ford Motor Co. Artley holds a bachelor's degree and has graduated from the University of Michigan-Dearborn and Sault High School in Sault Ste. Marie. He also attended Lake Superior State College. He was named Jaycee of the year in 1970. Artley served on the Westland Parks and Recreation Advisory Council 1975-78, was appointed to the city council in 1976 and was elected to the city council in 1977 and 1979. He belonged to the Westland Jaycees 1968-73, where he was treasurer and director, and to the Westland Hockey Association 1972-79, where he was treasurer and board member. A member of the Westland Host Lions Club from 1978, he was treasurer and third and first vice president, and has been a member of the FCHA from 1980. Artley also belongs to the Dad's Club and WYAA. He is married to Darlene and has five children.

1. To continue my efforts, time and energies, to the best of my ability, to provide every citizen of Westland with representation in the operation of their city government. As any human being, I've made mistakes, but I have learned from these errors by doing much research and investigation on my own, especially when little or no information is provided, upon which decisions must be made.

2. My background in working with and being involved in youth groups gives me a full understanding of their needs and I am fully aware of the basic services which our senior citizens require, and will continue to take the lead in providing these groups with their basic needs. My background in civic affairs, as well as seven years on the city council have given me a complete exposure to the continuing needs of all sectors of the community.

3. The basic, initial role of the mayor and council is to maintain and pursue informal, open communications. Open communications will allow the flow of new ideas, alternatives and options between both parties and will serve to complement one another in making

Marjorie K. Daniels

Marjorie K. Daniels, 43, graduated from the Monroe, Mich., Public School System, and has been a resident of Westland for six years. She has lived in six states and one foreign country, and held jobs in four of those states. Her community involvement includes serving as den mother and den leader coach for the Boy Scouts of America, and working with several wives clubs, the Heart Fund, Red Cross and Muscular Dystrophy. Daniels is employed by Contemporary Structures Inc. of Romulus, a design and build engineering company dealing in pre-engineered steel buildings.

1. About three years ago I became interested in the workings of local governmental bodies, especially in my own city of Westland. Since then I have spoken out on various issues, and have been very vocal in stating my view that there must be a working harmony between Westland's branches of government. It is my firm conviction that if Westland is to move forward there must be changes, and I believe if I am going to speak out, then I must also be willing to work toward that goal. I am a candidate for Westland City Council to try to produce those changes, and to achieve a proud future for Westland.

2. I can deal with organizations, businesses and charities. I can read a blueprint, understand specifications and contracts, and I am in contact with several unions daily.

3. Did not respond.

4. I started my working career as an employee of Dorsch Memorial Library, now a part of the Monroe Country Library System. Of all the issues during this campaign library services affects the most people, as it touches all the residents of Westland, young and old. I am one who deeply regrets the loss of usage in some libraries, and the funding problem the city has. My personal preference would be to have Westland's own library system, separated from city politics, with an elected library board, funded by necessary millage, and perhaps utilizing the closed school buildings. It is certain that something will have to be done to assure our residents access to libraries.

Government witness claims police harassment

By Mary Klemic
staff writer

A key witness for the government in the case-fixing trial of 18th District Judge Evan Callanan Sr. and three other men says Westland police are harassing him.

The witness, Hanna Judeh, said this week he received a ticket from Westland police through the mail. The ticket cited Judeh for having a "for sale" sign on a car parked at his Westland service station, he said. Judeh said he didn't have such a sign on the car.

"They said I was offering a car for sale in a prohibited zone in the area," Judeh said. "But one time I did have a car for sale, parked against the wall, that belonged to somebody else, and that one they didn't ticket."

JUDEH WORKED as an FBI informant in the case against Callanan and the three men, including the judge's son, Evan Callanan Jr. A major part of the prosecution's evidence during the eight-week trial of the four men consisted of recordings of conversations between Judeh and the defendants, made with concealed devices, that were played in court.

In other evidence presented in court, Judeh introduced undercover FBI agents to the defendants and was videotaped with Callanan Sr. as the two counted out money that allegedly was paid to the judge to fix a case.

Judeh pleaded no contest to a charge of attempted third-degree criminal sexual conduct in 1981 and was sentenced by Callanan Sr. to three years probation. The government charged that the judge accepted money in return for lenient treatment for Judeh and other defendants.

Judeh said this week the police officer who issued the ticket was the same officer who reportedly told him "We don't like you here" when Judeh went to the Westland police station less than three weeks ago concerning a report.

"WE'RE CHECKING on it, that's all I can say," Westland Police Inspector Fred Dansby said Tuesday. "It may be a misinterpretation or misunderstanding on both parts."

Judeh told police that in the early morning of Aug. 12, Judge Callanan's 25-year-old son, Paul Callanan, went to his station, swore at him and threatened him. The younger Callanan told police Judeh approached him first and threatened him.

Judeh said the police officer told him, "We don't like you here" when Ju-deh went to the police station to correct the report later that day.

Both Judeh and Paul Callanan want to prosecute, police said. Dansby said Tuesday there was no decision from the city prosecutor as of yet concerning the charges and countercharges.

School lunch prices will stay the same

Elementary and secondary students in the Wayne-Westland School District will pay the same prices for school lunches in the 1983-84 year as they did last year.

The district has awarded the school lunch contract to the Canterbury Food Service this year, the low bidder. It had awarded the contract to the Livonia Public Schools last year.

Costs for the lunches this year will be $1 per elementary student and $1.25 per student in the junior and senior high schools, according to Dr. Marjorie Harrington, director of food services for the district. Students may purchase milk only, at 20 cents each.

"ELEMENTARY schools aren't a closed campus," Harrington said. "The students have a choice to eat at school or at home. They can bring a lunch and buy their milk only, or eat the full lunch. Junior and senior high students have a closed campus."

Adult prices will be $1.50 per lunch in the elementary schools and $1.65 per lunch in the secondary schools.

The meals follow U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) requirements to contain two ounces of protein, 3/4-cup fruit and vegetables, one serving of bread and 1/2-pint milk. Dessert, not required by the USDA, is included.

Approximately 40 percent of the entire school body participates in the full lunch program, Harrington said. She said that five years ago, an estimated 28 percent of the students took part in the program.

SOME 5,000 students purchase full lunches daily, with another estimated 3,000 secondary students buying a la carte, Harrington said. The a la carte program includes milkshakes, ice cream and salads.

"A reason for the increase is, I think, we have gone to a student-oriented menu," she said. "We look on the cafeteria as a restaurant, where you please your customers. We used to have the best-fed dumpsters in the world because the kids weren't eating."

The school menus were reached through trial-and-error and student committees, Harrington said.

The district serves free lunches, according to income levels set by the USDA.

Cable TV meeting set

The City of Westland will host a general cable television informational meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 14, in the City Council chambers at City Hall, 36601 Ford Road.

Westland's cable TV consultant, Carl Pilnick of Telecommunications Management Corp. in Los Angeles, will be present at the meeting to answer questions from the audience.

Questions regarding proposals by interested cable TV companies will not be received until Wednesday, Sept. 21. At that time, the city will receive and answer any questions regarding the bidding from the cable TV companies.

Candidates' issues include library, fire services

A. Kent Herbert

Councilman A. Kent Herbert, 33, has been a Westland resident since 1958. A product of Wayne-Westland Schools, he earned a bachelor's degree from Michigan State University in financial administration in 1971. He was appointed budget director by Mayor Eugene McKinney in 1974 and grants director by Mayor Thomas Taylor in 1978. Herbert served as Westland's finance director and treasurer in 1980. He was treasurer of the Westland Festival Committee 1977-79, chairman of the municipal service bureau 1977-82, and consultant to Plymouth Township in 1982. He served on the Westland Economic Development Commission 1980-81 and the Westland Elderly Housing Corp. 1980-83. Currently employed as vice president of Baseline, Inc. — Plymouth, Herbert is married to Nora and has three children.

1. I have financial expertise that no else in this city government has that can help guide this city through the difficult financial situation it is in.

I believe I am creative in approaching city problems and services. In times like these, creativity is needed instead of the same old tired approaches to city services that are no longer working.

I think that I have helped foster the new attitude on the council to dig for information, instead of relying totally on sugar-coated and sometimes inaccurate information from the city administration. In addition, in the next term I want to stress long-term planning, goal-setting, and capital acquisition to provide a more stable city in future years.

2. First of all I am knowledgeable. I know intimately how the city's system works because I worked in it for 10 years. I know how things get done, where things break down, what administrators are effective, what ones aren't; with my knowledge I can help determine solutions to problems. I have effective communications skills. I can express myself well both verbally and in written form. I believe I have the respect of my council colleagues. No one in their first six months of office has been able to be part of so many accomplishments such as the tax cut, initiation of the investigation of illegal transfers of funds and the start of the formal citizen communication program.

3. The council's role should be one of long-term goal-setting, review of ad-

5. The Department on Aging concerns a much smaller, but no less important, group of people. Westland has the greatest seniors in the world, whose enthusiasm is hard to beat, from those who are a part of the organized group to my 90-year-old neighbor who is finding it a "little" difficult to get out in the cold weather to vote. As with other segments of the community, not all problems the seniors have are the same. Some want and need the closeness of the group, while others are homebound. I agree with those seniors who say that the Bailey Center was not designed with their special problems in mind, but I cannot agree with the expansion of the Friendship Center at this time. Here again possibly other options are available, such as using one of the closed schools, which could be adapted to senior's special needs, and perhaps more accessible to some. I think a long hard look must be taken, so that the Department on Aging can give the maximum benefits to all our seniors, while at the same time making the department cost efficient. Of most importance to me is obtaining transportation for those seniors who are presently without a way to get to senior centers, doctors, or to do some shopping. I would like to see a concentrated effort put into this transportation problem, and I would like to see a great expansion of the hot meal delivery program.

6. I am aware of the city's financial problems, but the people have indicated that they would prefer cuts be made anywhere except in the safety and well-ness of the city. I believe that the administration effectiveness in carrying out of services and as a forum for hearing citizen complaints about city services or administrative decisions. The council needs to get away from administrative-type decisions such as approving ice-cream vendor licenses and earth-moving permits and utilize itself more as a place where different elements of the city can come together to get their problems resolved. The council, even more than the mayor, in the budget process can make decisions and compromise on funding priorities that take more of the general citizens' viewpoints into consideration.

The mayor's role is one where leadership can be exercised the most. The mayor has the full-time people to get necessary information to make informed decisions, he is in the position of being able (if he chooses) to more easily bring together both sides of an issue to work out compromises and solutions to problems. The mayor's role ought to be one of recommending to the council long-term solutions to problems and do long-term planning. According to the Charter of the city, if the mayor disagrees with an official action of the council he may veto it. If such veto is overridden by five members of the council, then that action shall become law. The mayor is then obligated to execute it. The council, however, must be prepared to give the mayor the resources necessary to carry out his obligated duties. As a former city administrator I am particularly aware of this issue. To date, if we were financially able, I have consistently voted to provide necessary funds for programs and personnel needed to carry out the administration's duties. I have voted, in fact, lobbied other council members, to approve the mayor's department head appointments.

4. Citizens have complained for a long time that they should have more of a say when their taxes are raised and for what. With that in mind, the city council opted to lower the tax rate on the average home about $20 and funded the library for approximately one-half the year, and suggested to the library board if it couldn't live within that budget maybe it could ask for a 0.3 of 1 mill tax levy. This would cost the average homeowner in Westland about $10 a year. Since the council's survey of actual Westland residents revealed only lukewarm support of the city's library system, I felt it was best to let the taxpayers decide what support our library system should have, not some councilman. We gave $20 a year back to the citizens, now it's up to them. I trust their wisdom.

5. As the state of Michigan comes out of the recession and provides more money to the city, more money, at least half, should be funded out of the city's general fund instead of the Community Development Block Grant. Although I do not believe services should be expanded with tax dollars, I see no reason less money and services should be provided to seniors. Remember, this is a department that two years ago was cut in half. Any improvements, such as a senior bus, etc., should be manned by senior volunteers helping other seniors.

6. Of course, we would all like to see more firefighters and police officers funded to always assure a rapid response time to our needs. After all the cuts have been made in all the various departments there no longer remains a realistic way to find extra funds to pay for extra police and fire personnel. For example, three firefighters of three years seniority cost more than the entire Department of Aging budget. If someone can illustrate the need to add to their tax burden, then let them do it.

Record year for tourism?

The Labor Day weekend is expected to crown what tourism officials say could be the best summer since 1978.

"The fine weather has boosted many outdoor activities this summer and put tourism levels 2-4 percent ahead of last year's pace," James Drury, Auto Club travel operations manager, said. "A good Labor Day weekend combined with ideal weather for the fall color season should translate into the state's second $10-billion tourism year."

Total tourism spending hit $10.1 billion in the state last year.

Gas supplies are expected to be adequate for the Labor Day weekend, which begins at 6 p.m. Friday and ends midnight on Monday, Sept. 5. An Auto Club survey of 300 stations along major travel routes shows 92 percent planning to be open daylight hours. An average 50 percent will operate after 9 p.m. and 15 percent past midnight.

Twenty-one persons lost their lives in Labor Day weekend traffic in Michigan in 1982. Two-thirds of the accidents oc-those decisions required to serve the best interests of all the citizens of Westland.

4. Continue with current discussions between the library board, administration and council to find the best alternative available to find the best funding sources and restore full services to Westland residents. Recent discussions concerning a "district library" concept is a viable alternative. Discussions between the City of Wayne and the City of Westland must be continued.

5. The administration should actively and aggressively pursue grants to assist in funding this important service.

MSB gets arena contract

The mayor at one time supported the idea but now feels strongly that the city should continue to operate it.

"I'm convinced the city can operate the arena as a cost-effective business," Pickering said.

BUT CONFUSION surrounding the bidding process and the mayor's changing stance has led council members to charge that Pickering was never really interested in taking bids.

He had decided long ago to continue running the arena with city employees, they said. Council members said the mayor extended the deadline on taking bids, which goes against "long-established procedure," according to council president Thomas Artley.

Pickering contends that "the administration had the alternative and the authority to seek proposals after the deadline."

"The council approved an alternative proposal after the deadline," he said. "I just question why MSB is so important to the council."

"I'm really concerned about that," he said. "I really think the only reason MSB was chosen over the other bidders was because the chairman is Ralph Tack, whom I terminated," Pickering said.

The city charter allows the council to override the mayor's veto within two weeks if at least five of the seven Firefighters Association and Michigan State AFL-CIO. He is married to Norma and has two children.

1. I have decided to run for city council because I am a lifelong member of this community, and I find that in the past few years there has been a lack of progress and much confusion in our city government. I would like to try and have some respect brought back to Westland.

2. After 27 years on the fire department, 20 years as an officer, I have had the opportunity to listen and learn first hand of the operations of our city government. Also serving as treasurer of Local 1279 for five years I have been able to watch and absorb the workings of the people running our city.

3. I feel that the administration (mayor) and legislation (council) are two distinct and separate functions, and they can and should work hand-in-hand with less conflict for the betterment of the taxpayers of this community.

4. Library funding and services should be maintained as it was done in the past. This is necessary to provide the resources necessary for the education of our residents.

5. There are monies available for the funding of the Department on Aging services. I believe there should be an in-depth study on how the money is spent to make sure it benefits all the seniors in our community, without political decisions being made.

6. The decision of what level the police and fire departments should be staffed should be determined by the administration and department heads, to increase the productivity and efficiency of the departments. The funding should be done as in the past with the normal function of the city budget.

There are many service organizations in the city which could provide many volunteer services to assist in staffing the department. Many seniors today provide their time and energies to assist in providing basic senior services to fellow seniors.

6. There is no magic number at which the fire department should be staffed. The department is maintained by dedicated individuals who provide the best service possible. If overtime and some supplies can be cut without affecting the response time or the firefighters' safety, then perhaps additional staffing could be realized to benefit all.

council members vote to do so. The council planned a special session to consider the Mayor's veto Aug. 19, but canceled it when attorney Jahr advised that official notice of the mayor's veto had not been up long enough in a prominent place, as required.

"They are so anxious to disrupt my administration that they are making some very key mistakes," Pickering said.

Ben DeHart

Councilman Ben DeHart has been a resident of Nankin Township or Westland for 40 years. He graduated from Wayne Memorial High School in 1957 and from the labor school of Wayne State University in 1968. He was elected a Westland precinct delegate for 20 years and was a metropolitan Detroit delegate for the AFL-CIO. DeHart has been past president of Westland Democratic Voters, the Westland Young Democratic Club and the Westland Democratic Precinct Delegate Organization. He has been past chairperson of the Wayne County Unemployment Benefit Appeal Board and the 15th District COPE AFL-CIO. DeHart is a former member of the Westland Planning Commission and a past member of the Westland Board of Canvassers and the State Central Committee Michigan Democratic Party. He is co-vice chairman of the 15th District Democratic Party, a past member executive of the COPE AFL-CIO and a member of the Committee on Political Education AFL-CIO. DeHart is married to Eileen and has five children.

Teacher is reinstated

The administration of the Wayne-Westland School District has decided to reinstate physical education teacher Danny Henry, who was acquitted last week of three counts of third-degree criminal sexual conduct.

Possible legal issues related to Henry's reinstatement were discussed by school board members and administration officials at an executive session Monday night. Henry has been suspended from his job with pay since April 19.

"Since he was judged by a jury of 12 of his peers, our feeling is that he should be reinstated, and we would not pursue the matter further," said Dr. Dennis O'Neill, deputy superintendent of instruction.

IT WAS up to the administration, not the Planning Commission, city council and my involvement in the community.

3. The roles of the mayor and city council should be that the city council should legislate and the mayor should administrate. A spirit of cooperation should exist between the city council and the mayor's office. I have made every effort to give the mayor's recommendations fair consideration.

4. I feel we should restore full library services. To resolve the immediate problem of funding, the city has a number of vacant pieces of property that can be sold and the revenue used for restoring services. Revenue from the cable TV franchise should be used to fund the library services.

5. Services of the Department of Aging should not be reduced from their present level. One of the most important things for seniors is the stability of the program. Proposals to close the Friendship Center and drastically alter programs and meeting places does not represent fair treatment to the seniors. I voted for the expenditure of Community Development funds to enlarge the Friendship Center. Continued use of Community Development funds for the seniors is an acceptable practice. Additional revenues could be extracted from increased industrial commercial tax base and franchise fees from the cable TV system.

6. I would like to see the fire department increased in staff by two additional firefighters. This year, during budget sessions, I attempted to amend the budget to include an additional firefighter and avoid the problem of the temporary closing of a fire station. I strongly oppose the closing of any of our four fire stations. Response time is the key to saving lives and property. The closing of any one of our four stations would, due to geographics of our city, place that area in a situation where the fire department could not respond in acceptable time limits. I am opposed to a property tax increase and feel that we must shift the burden away from residential property owners. As with Questions 4 and 5, funding could be obtained in those previously mentioned ways. The additional sources of revenue that I see for this city are increased federal and state funds and the full development of our industrial and commercial property.

the school board, to decide on Henry's reinstatement, O'Neill said.

Henry has been notified of the decision, through a letter from Superintendent Timothy Dyer. Bill Taylor, assistant superintendent of employee relations, has met with Henry to discuss his teaching assignment at Stevenson Junior High for the upcoming year.

The position of head basketball coach at John Glenn High School, which Henry held last year, is still open.

"Coaching contracts are terminated yearly, and at this time no one has been hired," Taylor said.

Henry, 30, was suspended after allegations were made that he had seduced a 14-year-old Stevenson Junior High student.

Sheridan helps build up city

With the apparent slowdown in the current recession, many experts use the construction industry as a barometer of the future.

If you look to Sheridan Construction Co. of Garden City as an example, the future looks very bright.

In the past three years, Sheridan has built and located its own business office in Garden City, invested and built the offices and studios of the city's cable television company (Maclean Hunter Cable TV) and is seriously considering construction of a new building in the industrial park.

"I do have some capital available," said Bob Sheridan, owner and president of Sheridan Construction, "and I want to give Garden City the first shot at it."

"The city council and the administration have been extremely fair to me and have encouraged industrial and commercial development."

Sheridan moved his business to Garden City two years ago. Prior to locating in the city, the company was based in Brownstown Township, Redford Township and Dearborn Heights.

BEFORE establishing his company in 1975, Sheridan worked with Wayne County and Ford Motor Co.

Sheridan's extremely pleased he began his own business.

"It's the only way to go. I should have done it a long time ago," said Sheridan, who earned a construction engineering degree from John Brown University in Arkansas.

Since moving his business to Garden City, Sheridan has become more active in community affairs.

He is a member of the Garden City

Chamber of Commerce and secretary of the Garden City Industrial Association which organized to improve the city's climate for industrial development.

In addition to the industrial park, Sheridan sees another base for Garden City's economic future in the Garden Plaza area. He believes that continued improvement of the appearance of the businesses in this area are vital to Garden City's economic health.

"That strip is well exposed because of its location on Ford Road and the large amount of traffic which passes by," he said.

SHERIDAN SEES another development opportunity in vacant schools. With more schools vacated each year in the area, Sheridan believes some action must be taken to use these buildings.

"I'd like to see the creative development of these schools, not only in Garden City but in the entire area. As vacant buildings, they become a drain on the resources of the school system and entire community," Sheridan said.

He believes that the community center approach to converting vacant schools has reached a saturation point and that alternative housing for senior citizens could be a productive use of a vacant school building.

"I'm sure that with the attitude the city has, which is very positive, somebody's going to come up with something that might be unique and very usable."

"I would enjoy being a part of improving Garden City," Sheridan added.

Car sales plan OK'd by council

A new car leasing and used auto sales company will open for business in about 10 days.

David Husak of Westland said he would open the new business at 27777 Ford, several blocks west of Inkster Road, following Garden City Council approval of his site plan at a special session Tuesday.

Husak plans to buy and occupy a building which was formerly the site of a Plymouth-Chrysler agency until it closed about 10 years ago.

The building has been vacant since then with the exception of a week when a produce business moved into the building last summer.

City Councilwoman Mary Markowicz expressed a concern over a proposed retention pond on the site to help drain storm water.

But Mayor Vincent Fordell told her the pond would improve the area's drainage.

Other council members, specifically William Haydon and Gene Salvatore, were pleased that a vacant business building will be occupied soon.

Husak plans to lease new and used cars and sell used cars in the new business.

The council's action on the site plan followed a recommendation by the city's planning commission that it be approved.

The site plan includes substantial landscaping of the property.

Garden City drops workshop

The Garden City Council indicated Tuesday it would cancel its scheduled Tuesday, Sept. 13, workshop meeting.

The reason is that the council primary is scheduled for the same day.

There was a brief suggestion that the workshop moved up to the day before or the following day.

But campaign plans and other commitments by council members forced the cancellation.

The next workshop will be Tuesday, Sept. 27, with a business session scheduled for Monday, Sept. 19.

Restaurants, service groups plan weekend benefits

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

A 10-speed bike is one of numerous prizes to be awarded during a muscular dystrophy benefit planned by the Biscuit Company restaurant Sunday and Monday at 6071 Middlebelt, north of Ford. There will be a trip to Las Vegas and a color TV set given away. Restaurant employees Linda Wild shows off a bike to be given away, while Martha Venaska shows off a promotional poster for the Labor Day telethon on network TV.

What do three Garden City restaurants and two service groups have in common?

They will be raising funds in different ways this weekend to help the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The restaurants are the Biscuit Company, Middlebelt at Block, opposite city hall, with support from the Silver Saloon two blocks away, and Omar Khayyam on Ford at Harrison.

The service groups are the Garden City Jaycees, which is co-sponsoring the MDA event with the Silver Saloon and Biscuit Company, and the Garden City Moose Lodge.

The fund-raisers are planned to coincide with the national Jerry Lewis telethon which in recent years has raised an estimated $30 million a year for research and treatment. The telethon begins Sunday and runs through most of Monday.

The Biscuit Company will hold its fourth annual "workathon" in which employees donate their wages and tips to the MDA, said owner Kenneth Buccell.

He will be trying to get food donated for that weekend to keep down the costs of the project and make more money available for the association.

Buccell said 30 employees plus friends will be working that weekend to raise funds.

THE RESTAURANT will open its benefit at noon Sunday and continue through 8:30 p.m. Monday, or 30 1/2 hours.

There will be 10 bands playing a variety of music; four kiddie rides, a drawing with first prize being a free trip for two to Las Vegas, appearances by TV and sports figures, a dunk tank, auction and sale of MDA T-shirts.

Other prizes are two 10-speed bikes, color TV and tickets to a United States Football League Panthers game next spring.

The restaurant raised $14,000 in two of its best years.

Jaycees' public relations chairman Tony Graham said the 10 bands will perform from noon Sunday through 11 p.m.

The bands, in the order they will appear, are Lazarous, Tom Rengyel, Shooters, Pledge That Tune, The Insiders, Benny and the Jets, Paul Tucker Band, Cross Country and the Relatives.

THE OMAR Khayyam restaurant will hold its first "bellyathon" from noon Sunday to 2 a.m. Monday morning with live music, belly dancers, drinks, food, prizes and celebrities.

Among the prizes are a trip for two to Atlantic City, N.J., arcade games and 14-karat jewelry.

The Moose Lodge will sponsor its third annual charity weekend for MDA, planning bands, dancers and entertainment Friday night, most of Saturday and Sunday, and Monday afternoon in the lodge on Ford just east of Middlebelt.

In its first charity, the lodge raised $5,700, split between MDA, Veterans for the Retarded, and the Mayor's Committee for Underprivileged Children.

The lodge raised $3,900 last year, splitting the funds among the three groups.

The weekend will begin at 7 p.m. Friday with Disco Danny, followed by a floor show featuring Scorpio and Linda at 9:30 p.m.

Disco Danny will start at noon, Saturday, followed by Robert Lee Dance Studio at 2 p.m.; Son Dance at 3 p.m.; Isshinryo Karate at 4 p.m.; the Banks Band at 5 p.m., and First Class at 9:30 a.m. and continuing to 1:30 a.m.

The fun will resume Sunday with Union Street performing at 1 p.m., First Class at 5 p.m., Motor City Players with Lil Rueben at 9:30 p.m. and a floor show featuring Frankie Rapp at 11 p.m.

The weekend will conclude Monday with the Tennessee River Band at 2 p.m. and Jerry (Hank Snow) Rich at 4 p.m.

No strike predicted

Schoolcraft negotiates; classes start

By Kathy Parrish
staff writer

Fall semester got underway as planned at Schoolcraft College despite unsettled contracts with four bargaining units.

Students started classes Aug. 25 at the Livonia-based community college, which also serves Canton Township, Clarenceville, Garden City, Northville, part of Novi, Plymouth and part of Westland.

Agreements with food service, office-clerical and physical plant employees expired June 30, but were mutually extended. Administrative-supervisory personnel extended their contract through Sept. 16.

But Schoolcraft officials do not expect a strike to halt the semester, which looks like a record term for enrollment.

"We've had a number of strikes and work stoppages, but they were mainly by faculty," explained David L. Heinzman, director of college relations.

"These groups are important, but couldn't have that kind of impact."

The Faculty Forum, an MEA-NEA affiliate with 160 members, is in the last half of a two-year contract.

Negotiations continued this week with the four other organized groups with a total of 116 members.

The unions involved are food service, represented by Local 547 of the Operating Engineers Union; physical plant, represented by Schoolcraft College Support Personnel Association; Schoolcraft College Association of Office Personnel; and Schoolcraft College Association of Administrative and Professional Personnel.

Michael Petrack, Schoolcraft's chief negotiator, said wages and benefits are the remaining issues with food service, physical plant and office-clerical employees who are also discussing layoff procedures. Administrative-supervisory employees are working on salary, benefits, individual employment contracts, staff reduction language and accretion of other employees to the bargaining unit. If necessary, he expects all the agreement deadlines will be extended to Sept. 16, necessary.

WHILE FINAL FIGURES aren't in yet, Heinzman estimates this fall's enrollment will be larger than last fall's record 10,780.

"We should match or go beyond that," he said, explaining that community education and continuing education courses don't finish registering students until Sept. 15.

This semester Schoolcraft College is offering four new credit programs in robotics, cardiovascular technology, medical assisting and emergency medical technology.

As well as the main campus, Garden City and Plymouth-Canton High School, three courses are offered for the first time in Northville High School.

Schoolcraft also plans to offer more courses this year as part of its business and industry outreach program. Called "contract education," the courses are taken right to businesses like Ford Motor Company, General Motors Corp. and Kroger.

"It's part of our effort to take the college into the community as much as possible," said Heinzman.

"And we're pretty much full during peak hours on campus and in Garden City."

C of C wants more defense spending

A major campaign to capture more federal defense dollars for southeast Michigan is being launched by the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce.

For a year, a special chamber committee investigated reasons for the decline in federal defense procurement business in metropolitan Detroit over the past three decades. That committee's recommendations on how to overcome the decline have now been adopted by the chamber board of directors.

"Defense contracting is sought after and maintained by small and large businesses nationally," explained Philip I. Levin, who chaired the Ad Hoc Committee to Increase Southeast Michigan Federal Defense-Related Contracts.

"Many companies have learned to manage federal contract work successfully," added Levin, a partner in charge of Management Consulting Services for Coopers & Lybrand.

"Detroit industry can support growing defense production needs, and the chamber intends to make certain that the federal government and area businesses alike realize the advantages of awarding more federal defense contracts to southeast Michigan companies."

COMMITTEE MEMBERS analyzed Michigan's current level of defense procurement, visited major defense contractors in the area, toured Air Force Logistic Command facilities in three locations across the country, analyzed defense-budget reports, and met with top government and business officials.

They found prime federal defense contracts awarded to Michigan businesses have declined by 29 percent since 1951. And although federal procurement for the private sector accounted for one-fifth of the fiscal 1981 federal budget, Michigan received only 2 percent of these federal dollars, even though the Detroit area is the third largest manufacturing center in the United States.

Michigan received only $119 per capita in defense expenditures in fiscal year 1983, compared with $272 per capita in Ohio, $285 in Illinois, $289 in Pennsylvania, $814 in California and as high as $2,264 in Virginia.

In the fiscal 1983 budget, Michigan received only $1.1 billion in defense expenditures, while Ohio received $2.9 billion, Illinois got $3.2 billion and California got $19.26 billion.

The chamber found only three states receive lower per capita defense expenditures than Michigan: Iowa at $112, West Virginia at $84, and Wisconsin at $76.

THE CHAMBER COMMITTEE said military prime contracts in Michigan fell off from nearly $2.5 billion in 1951 (8.3 percent of the total) to $1.7 billion (2 percent) in 1981.

As reasons for the decline, they cited:

- Because of the tremendous growth of the auto industry between 1950 and 1973, area businesses had their hands full building autos and did not seek defense contracts.

- Local suppliers were reluctant to pursue federal contracts because of such perceived barriers as federal contracts being non-profitable and short-term, filled with red tape, requiring major retooling and requiring small production runs.

- Most local suppliers have uncompetitive production expenses due to traditionally higher labor costs and standard fringe-benefit packages (such as high workers' comp rates) in Michigan.

To reverse the decline, the chamber plans to offer a course on federal procurement procedures to southeast Michigan companies; establish contact with prime defense contractors and key Defense Department facilities to market the area; publish a directory of federal procurement assistance in southeast Michigan; and encourage the Michigan congressional delegation to advocate for increased competition in defense work.

It will also urge the state to fund a market feasibility study for increasing federal military procurement; develop a lobbying strategy to encourage more federal military contracting; appoint a task force to review the set-aside of federal contracts for minority firms; and continue funding for the established network of outreach centers set up by local communities to assist the state in obtaining federal military procurement contracts.

School responsibility goes beyond pocketbook

MAYBE WE OUGHT to ban all private schools in the country from opening their doors in September.

While this suggestion is facetious, it is something to think about while you're buying your kids new clothes and school supplies.

Our suggestion is made in response to those who argue that subsidizing private schools with tuition tax credits will improve the quality of public schools.

"Hey, heh. That's the way to put a scare in 'em," they claim.

One could turn that kind of logic around and argue that if all private schools closed, the sudden influx of money going to public schools would be bound to bring about an improvement.

ACTUALLY, THERE'S some truth behind the absurdity. Money is a real indication of support. Out of that support grows the kind of concern that makes taxpayers keep a watchful eye on their schools.

No one argues that there is a crisis in the state of education nationally.

But responsibility for a "Nation at Risk" lies with the people who, instead of getting involved in the educational process, opt to ship their kids to a private school. Sure it costs, but some find it easier to shell out money than their own time.

Tuition tax credits would make it all the easier to do just that.

Now, if all the private schools were to close, the parents of all those kids would probably start paying closer attention to what goes on at the school down the street. We're betting out of the attention would come more than a little action.

FORTUNATELY, IN the Wayne-Westland district, public school students didn't have to wait for a commission to report that education is having a seizure or for private schools to close their doors.

Westland parents have always been supportive of a good education for their kids. Sometimes that's meant opening the pocketbook. Othertimes it's been reflected in the involvement of parents in special committees and parent-teacher groups.

Like an actress interacting with her audience, Wayne-Westland's staff responded long ago to concern about educational standards in the district. Textbooks were purchased, and test scores were reviewed.

About five years ago, a task force on elementary education was formed. From teachers to department heads, the staff decided what students should know and how they should learn it.

That experience proved so successful, a task force on secondary education was formed in 1981.

NOT CONTENT to rest on their past accomplishments, the staff issued its own analysis of the "Nation at Risk" report. Their findings: The district still needs to address high school requirements, the foreign language program, time for studies in the expressive arts, electives and increased requirements in the five basics.

Somehow it must be comforting for parents to know that they share a common goal with their neighbors. What makes them different from the rest of the country?

Perhaps Dr. Clarice Stafford, assistant superintendent for curriculum, explained it when she talked about how the district planned the changes it made.

"Start with a dream, what you think should be done and set goals. It takes a long time," she said. "It's important that all are geared toward working toward the same thing."

State Youth Job Corps: They did something right

IT'S EASY to find things to cuss in government — taxes, bureaucracy, the law's delay, the insolence of office, taxes, business regulation, taxes.

Yet every so often government does something right. And in occasional moments, several units of government do something right.

And when the younger generation has something to do with it, well, it's really time to sit up and take notice.

And so it is with the Michigan Youth Job Corps.

Our own impressions are that the 18-21-year-olds applied themselves diligently to even menial roadside work. The impressions we hear from local officials are that the young folks performed yeoman service.

THE YOUTH Job Corps was a combination of efforts at all levels of government.

The federal government kicked in $3 million. The state contributed the bulk, $36 million, and used 2,000 of the 25,000 persons who were finally hired.

Local governments and non-profit agencies submitted proposals on how they would use Youth Job Corps workers. Despite some misgivings by director Doug Ross about the capability of local units to come up with meaningful projects, the local units responded well and imaginatively.

Although some corpsmen and women worked at inside jobs, the bulk of it was done outdoors.

Nine tons of junk, including four cars, were hauled out of the muddy Middle Rouge River in western Wayne County. Campuses of Oakland Community College haven't looked so good in a long time.

At Pontiac Lake State Park, a crew developed a new 196-site campground with woodchip nature trails and new trees and shrubs. At the top of the Keewenaw Peninsula, a crew restored buildings at historic Fort Wilkins State Park.

AT FIRST, there were some negative thoughts.

Gov. James J. Blanchard's name was used too prominently on some Youth Job Corps materials to suit some people. But the governor himself left no doubt about who made the program a success when he told corps members:

"You've made us all look good . . . Thank you for making the Michigan Youth Job Corps a success."

There were some doubts that this particular generation of young people was willing to do hard work. Of course, there have been such doubts about young people since the days of the ancient Greeks. The truth of the matter is that young people will respond when they are asked and given a challenge, and the summer of 1983 was no exception.

BY LAW, the Youth Job Corps Program expires Sept. 30, the end of the current fiscal year. That is as it should be. Such programs should be re-evaluated before they are automatically continued and encrusted in the bureaucracy.

If the Youth Job Corps is continued — as it probably will be and undoubtedly should be — those planning for 1984 must be sure they concoct meaningful jobs and not just make-work. The young workers should be assigned jobs where, in some future year, they can bring their children and grandchildren to the site, point with pride and say, "Look, I did that."

As we approach Labor Day, that is a good thought for all of us. The spirit of pride in meaningful work well done is alive and vibrant in Michigan.

The success of the Youth Job Corps is another manifestation of that old-fashioned pride in work.

King plus 20: Integration is only a dream

More than 250,000 people marched in Washington, D.C. last weekend to honor the famous "I Have a Dream" speech given by Martin Luther King 20 years ago.

This weekend hundreds of people with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (N.A.A.C.P.) will arrive in Detroit after walking from southern Ohio in a voters' registration drive.

All of this activity makes one wonder: What is the status of blacks in the suburbs in 1983?

Stan Connelly, a white civil rights activist who lives in Birmingham, is taking part in the N.A.A.C.P. march.

"It's all right for football players to live in the suburbs, but that's about it," Connelly said earlier this week. "Integration of the suburbs is something you just don't hear much about anymore."

Integration has been quietly going on in several suburbs north of Detroit, such as Southfield and Oak Park. In the 1980 census Southfield reported a 9 percent black population. It is believed that population has continued to grow since the census.

Redford, a community immediately west of Detroit, still has few black families.

Connelly said the slow rate of suburban integration is due to several factors.

"With the poor economy, few blacks can afford to buy suburban houses," he said. "At the same time, Detroit is improving. Fewer blacks want to get out to move to the suburbs."

THE EXCEPTION to the quiet on the integration front is Birmingham. On May 2, 1982 federal Judge Robert DeMascio dropped a bombshell on that city.

He found Birmingham guilty of racism "in part because of its desire to exclude black people from the city."

The ruling came after a trial over a 1978 election in which voters turned down proposed low-income senior citizen and family housing. The City of Birmingham's appeal is pending before the U.S. Sixth District Court in Cincinnati.

Nick Sharkey

Most suburbanites are sophisticated in dealing with blacks. Loud threats are not uttered. No houses are firebombed. Obscenities are seldom used.

Only the most uneducated suburbanite would use the term "nigger." They are now "undesirables."

Thus it is almost impossible to pin down racism. Take, for example, the attempt of the Word of Faith to find a school in Southfield. Word of Faith is a fundamentalist black church.

For three years the church has been frustrated by the Southfield Board of Education and neighborhood associations in attempts to buy two closed schools.

The Rev. Keith Butler of Word of Faith has given up. "We've had racial slurs thrown at us by people in the community," he said. "It isn't worth all the anguish."

Neighbors counter that they were worried about non-educational uses of the building. The head of the neighborhood association which opposed the church school, Cliff Worthy, is black.

Word of Faith has now leased classroom space in the vacant Franklin Elementary School in Franklin. Was racism a factor in denying Word of Faith the Southfield school building? It's impossible for an outsider to know.

SUBURBANITES CAN BE such slick racists that they are difficult to pin down.

Stan Connelly remains optimistic. He is volunteer director of development for Focus: Hope, a Detroit-based civil rights group which promotes better relations between blacks and whites.

Connelly reports that Focus: Hope recently received an unsolicited gift of $250 per month from a Grosse Pointe woman. In addition, 107 employees of the Wayne County Road Commission began taking payroll deductions to raise money for the civil rights group.

"One day we will disagree with each other based on issues and not on whether someone is a woman, Jew, black or Arab," he said.

Keep on marching, Stan.

Bonus babies started here with Briggs

The sports pages of the nation's newspapers are filled these days with stories dealing with the high salaries and long-term contracts being tendered to baseball players and the behemoths of pro football, along with the bonuses being handed out just for signing the documents.

And each day, as the stories appear, the question often is asked, "Who started it all?"

Well, it may be surprising to learn that the payment of bonuses started right here in Detroit by a millionaire who was considered one of the best baseball fans of the time. He was the late Walter O. Briggs, who came into ownership of the Tigers when Frank Navin died following the 1935 World Series.

Briggs proved to be a great owner and he handled the ball club just as he did the automobile body building firm that bore his name.

Shortly after the glamour of winning the 1935 world series wore off, the Tigers went into a slump and the cry went up for some new faces on the playing field.

THE FANS voiced their plea for some changes and often accused Briggs of not wanting to pay the price for the new faces.

At the time a young fellow named Dick Wakefield was going great guns at the University of Michigan. He was rated one of the best outfielders in college baseball.

Finally, Briggs could take the protests of his failure to acquire talent no longer. He sent word down that Wakefield was to be signed regardless of the price.

It didn't take much dickering and finally Wake-the stroller

W.W.
Edgar

field was given a bonus of $52,000 just for signing. The deal caused all sorts of comments in the nation's press. But it was the start that today would be considered "chicken feed" in dealing with the players.

Wakefield, a happy-go-lucky sort of fellow, never took baseball seriously. He had the largest hands of any player on the team. But baseball to him was just another way of having a good time. He didn't last too long but he had a lot of fun while it lasted.

THE BIG bonus had a bad effect on some players. For instance there was an afternoon when Wakefield dropped a fly ball that cost Hal Newhouser, the great left hander, the game. When it ended Newhouser stalked in to the dressing room, tossed his glove high in the air and shouted "that's your $52,000 beauty." Wakefield just laughed.

Finally came the day when Wakefield had enough of baseball and he entered politics. He ran for sheriff of Wayne County — and lost. But to him it was just another lark.

What made the scene in the Tiger dressing room all the more interesting was the fact that Newhouser had agreed to terms without a bonus.

"Wish" Eagan, the greatest of all Tiger scouts, sold him on the idea of what an honor it would be to play for his hometown team. And being young and just beginning a career, he listened to "Wish" and was glad to don a Tiger uniform.

That fact didn't become part of baseball lore, but Wakefield's $52,000 bonus for signing left its mark on baseball for it was the beginning of the multimillion dollar deals made in today's baseball market.

And Wakefield still laughs about it.

From Troy to Ann Arbor

State has its own silicon center

California has its Silicon Valley. Boston has Route 128, and North Carolina has the Research Triangle.

Not to be left out, Michigan has what some have come to call the Silicon Ridge.

Silicon Ridge runs from Troy in the east, through Farmington Hills and west to Ann Arbor. Similar to other locales where high technology industries have clustered, the Silicon Ridge previously was farmland.

ORCHARDS AND vineyards once traversed the Silicon Valley. Potato and vegetable farms were located along Route 128, and rich tobacco fields were found in the metropolitan areas around Raleigh and Durham, North Carolina.

But it took more than the availability of rich farmland to cultivate high technology industries. All major concentrations of high technology industries have similar and important characteristics which aided their growth and expansion as well as their attraction to other high tech industries.

Each of the three developed around two or three major research universities. The Silicon Valley had the University of California at Berkeley, and Stanford University at Palo Alto.

high tech
Ronald R. Watcke

Route 128 had Harvard and Massachusetts Institute of Technology had Duke, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and North Carolina State at Raleigh.

ALONG WITH this education-research environment came a highly sophisticated and well-trained work force of Ph.D.s, engineers and research scientists. The quality of life in these areas also aided in drawing in new blood to add to the already highly skilled work force.

Each high tech cluster is located in close proximity to a major urban population center. This allowed for greater congressional representation, thus increasing the potential for more and larger government contracts.

Coupled with large endowments from the private sector, the universities were able to attract some of the most sought after scholars and scientists in the country and from abroad.

Looking at a map of the United States, one can readily see the Silicon Valley represents high technology in the West. Route 128 around Boston depicts the East, and the Research Triangle portrays high tech in the South.

Missing from the map is a high tech center geographically located in the Midwest. The two obvious metropolitan areas are Chicago and greater Detroit.

I believe Detroit has the clear-cut advantage based upon its international reputation as the leading tool manufacturing and metal machining center. Metropolitan Detroit also scores high on the list of factors which made the other high tech centers successful.

THE DETROIT METROPOLITAN area has several major research universities. There is Wayne State, the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, and Oakland University in Rochester. In addition, Michigan State University with its molecular biology research is less than 100 miles away.

The quality of life in southeastern Michigan is excellent with numerous cultural and recreational opportunities. All four major universities are well-respected and have a track record of receiving significant federal contracts as well and private gifts and grants.

Another factor in metro Detroit's favor is substantial amounts of venture capital available for investment. Also, state government is committed verbally and financially to attract new and expand extant high technology industries.

It is not premature to refer to the area as Michigan's Silicon Ridge. Estimates indicate between 100 and 125 high technology industries located on and around the Silicon Ridge.

Approximately 30 companies are in Troy alone, with an additional 20 in the Ann Arbor-Plymouth area. The remaining high tech industries are in Farmington Hills, Rochester, Southfield, Redford and Livonia.

HERE ARE a few high technology industries and their location on the Silicon Ridge.

ADP, Ann Arbor; Bernal Rotary Systems, Troy; Burroughs Corp., Plymouth; DeVilbiss, Ann Arbor; Energy Conversion Devices, Inc., Troy; Ex-Cello, Troy;

Gelman Sciences, Inc., Ann Arbor; GMF Robotics, Troy; Honeywell, Southfield; IHI-Kemtron, Farmington Hills; Inacom Computer Centers, Inc., Troy; Lucas Industries, Inc., Troy;

Meteor Photo Co., Troy; Photon Sources, Inc., Livonia; Rebmam Products Corp., Redford; Rockwell International, Troy; Stegner Electric, Livonia; Troy Design Services, Troy; Xerox Corp., Southfield.

A Troy resident, Ronald Watcke, Ph.D., is dean of liberal arts at Wayne County Community College.

SEMTA will consider big cuts

Facing a $15 million deficit, the board of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) plans to meet Sept. 13 — if not sooner — to trim the SEMTA budget.

High on the proposed list of cuts is elimination of the rail service which carries 450 passengers daily along the Pontiac to downtown Detroit train route.

SEMTA is also considering drastic cuts in staff and the number of buses serving Oakland, Macomb and western Wayne counties.

Large buses would be reduced from 278 to 175 and small buses from 145 to 100, possibly causing problems for some school districts which use the vehicles to transport children.

Priority would be given to "site to site" transportation of senior citizens.

"It's still up for discussion, but no matter what services we run we're going to lose money," said SEMTA public affairs director Marvin Meltzer.

SEMTA cut back 20 percent in March 1982, Meltzer said. He blamed the reduction in federal operating assistance. This was $42 million in 1981 and $25 million this year. SEMTA also receives $46 million from the state.

All other funding is from fares, which Meltzer said are the highest in the country at $1 for two zones and 25 cents for each additional zone.

"We think fare increases would be counterproductive," he said.

Elimination of the commuter rail service would save $2 million a year.

Meltzer said "transit systems everywhere are running deficits. . . This is not a service that can pay for itself."

SEMCOG looking for alternatives to landfills

By Kathy Parrish
staff writer

People count on them for advice on getting rid of the 15,000 tons of garbage thrown out daily in southeastern Michigan.

Sometimes, though, Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) officials weren't quite sure what their own policies were — because they didn't have any.

So SEMCOG brought 40 solid waste experts together June 28 for a daylong brainstorming session. Just two months later, their guidelines were accepted by SEMCOG's executive committee — and are on their way to general assembly action Oct. 26.

If adopted, the policies would help SEMCOG and local governments make decisions on important solid waste management issues like whether to use landfills. It would also give the regional agency "effective, coordinated input" into the process of amending Public Act 641, Michigan's Solid Waste Management Act.

"We are asked to speak with the voice of the region on these issues," explained Patrick Brunett, SEMCOG's manager of land use and environmental programs.

"But we really had never adopted our own policies on them. We knew most of the issues, so it was just a matter of clarifying them."

The 22 policies address water quality and environmental protection elements of solid waste disposal, with special attention to siting of landfills and management of landfill sites.

SEMCOG URGES FINDING alternatives to landfills, calling them the "least desirable method of dealing with solid waste." Reasons given were that landfills take up land, increase truck traffic and produce noise, litter and odor.

But a landfill moratorium was vetoed during the original planning session, which brought together more than 40 technicians and citizens interested in solid waste management issues.

"We need landfills for part of our disposal system. There's no way to get around them," said Brunett, explaining that even when trash is incinerated ash still remains.

"But we must be sure local governments are involved in the process and that it's the most environmentally sound."

Backing local control, the proposals recommend that each county handle its own disposal needs within its boundaries or negotiate with counties it exports waste to.

Communities would participate in making decisions about solid waste management, with sites conforming to local land use planning and zoning requirements.

Local governments could inspect operating standards and there would be mitigation measures such as landscaping and truck routes to make facilities more acceptable.

SEMCOG's recommendations also urge that funds be available to host communities to defray costs for activities related to landfills and other disposal facilities. And communities which dispose of their neighbors' waste would get monetary or other compensation.

"THERE ARE some excellent landfill operators, who are very good neighbors," said Brunett. "But in some cases there are problems. What we think needs to be done is provide a system that assures cooperation."

While emphasizing local control, the policies also request that Michigan "strive to bring an improved approach to solid waste management" through adequate, competent staff for planning, permitting and enforcing the programs.

SEMCOG in turn would put together a common data resource by examining the seven Southeast Michigan county solid waste management plans and those of adjoining counties. It would also help set up pilot source separation programs, helping homeowners separate out their recyclable trash.

Brunett, who is hopeful that the policies will be adopted by the 134-member general assembly, is pleased to get the guidelines on paper.

"Anything we do for the environment is major," said the SEMCOG employee, estimating that such a proposal usually takes 12 to 18 months to complete.

"I'm very pleased with the process; that we were able to get together, pick each other's brains and deal quickly with this very important issue."

Conference set for parents of gifted kids

Seminars and workshops of interest to parents of gifted children will be presented during the fifth annual Conference on Gifted Education. Sponsored by Roper Review and The Academy of the Gifted, the conference will be Saturday, Oct. 29, in Roper City and Country School's Birmingham campus.

The conference will begin with a dinner and keynote speech Friday, Oct. 28, in Somerset Inn, Troy. Nick Colangelo, assistant professor of education at the University of Iowa, will talk on "Giftedness, Moral Development and Social Responsibility."

Other topics will include "Parenting for Gifted Children," "Who's Afraid of a Gifted Kid?," "Special Concerns of Black Parents of Gifted," and "The Gifted Child in the Nuclear Age."

The Somerset Inn event begins at 5:30 p.m. and costs $25. Saturday's programs will run from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and cost $20. The package price for both days is $40.

Roper School is an independent school for gifted pre-school through high school students. The Academy of the Gifted is a consortium of school districts, schools, universities, associations and individuals in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Livingston Counties.

For registration call Karen Parkhurst or Richard Watson at Oakland Schools, 658-1999, or write Roper Review Conference, P.O. Box 329, Bloomfield Hills 48013.

YOU HAVE UNTIL SEPTEMBER 16 TO STOP PAYING DOCTOR BILLS.

GM employees can change from old fashioned health insurance coverage to Health Alliance Plan. But only between September 1st - 16th.

That means if you wait, you won't be covered the way you should be. By the leading health care plan of its kind in Michigan.

When you join HAP you're covered — completely. In the doctor's office and in the hospital. Even for regular check-ups, minor illnesses and allergy tests.

And you're covered for emergency care wherever you are: when you're away on a business trip or a vacation or when your kids go away to college, you're covered as completely as you are at home.

And when you belong to HAP, you choose your own HAP doctor. You can go to a brand new health center opening in Plymouth just in time for you to join. Or you can choose one of our 9 other health centers all over town.

In short, with Health Alliance Plan, you get all the professional, personal care without all the aggravation of claim forms and doctor bills.

(And if you don't work for GM, ask your employer when you'll have a chance to change to HAP.)

THE NUTRITIONAL requirements of the federal government now are being packaged in ways that will make the food more enticing to the taste buds of students in area schools. As students sit down to the first meal of the 1983-84 year, they will be eating cuisine a la fast food.

Students already have taken in food and drink at Livonia and Clarenceville schools, with the first food day being yesterday, Aug. 31. Garden City students will be given their first meal Monday, Sept. 12; Wayne-Westland, Friday, Sept. 9; South Redford, Thursday, Sept. 8, and Redford Union, Sept. 8, for elementary and Hilbert Junior High School students, and Friday, Sept. 9, for those attending high school.

Packaging items in the modern style is the way schools are encouraging students to ingest daily 2 ounces of protein, three-fourths cup of fruit or vegetables, bread and 8 ounces of milk. This is what the federal Type A meal requires.

"We have to cater to our customers," said Dr. Marjorie Harrington, director of food service for the Wayne-Westland school district. "Our food follows the social trend of fast cooking. But if you take a piece of beef, grind it and serve it, it has the same nutrition as roast beef. The important thing is that if the student isn't willing to eat what we serve, it won't do anything for him nutritional-ly."

FREE OR REDUCED fee lunches are a continuing part of the school scene. But this year there will be a change. The U.S. Department of Agriculture is asking for verification of the applications for these meals. After applicants have applied and been accepted into the program, 3 percent of them will be asked to verify the information provided through W-2 forms or pay stubs.

Catering is still a part of the food picture. In addition to feeding its own students, the Livonia school district manages the food program in Garden City and sends food to two other communities. South Redford students eat food provided by a catering firm.

Commodities provided by the Department of Agriculture resume their role in giving an important financial boost to school districts. This is surplus food acquired through the department's price support program.

In addition, school districts are now having a modest amount of input from students and parents regarding the food served in school cafeteria.

A READING of several school menus reveals names of lunch items that seem familiar. Chicken turns up in Clarenceville schools as McChicken and as chicken nuggets in Wayne-Westland schools, which also features festsada, a Mexican pizza.

Quarter-pounders are being munched, along with french fries, sloppy joes, and tater tots. Up from the Mexican border have come nachos, tacos and burritos.

But wait, Redford Union, now in its 38th year of school lunch preparation, has a salad bar. According to food service director Mary La Croix, it is becoming increasingly popular.

"A student can make up a Type A lunch at the salad bar," she said.

IN THE PAST eligibility for free or reduced price school lunches was de-income generated from student lunch fees, the food budget is usually kept separate from the regular school budget.

The only time the school gets involved in lunch costs is when the program loses money.

SMALL DISTRICTS throughout the country have found it to their financial advantage to join with others in ordering food. Bulk prices are cheaper. That is why both Livonia and Garden City have found it to their advantage to work together.

What's for lunch? Ed Sallex (left), assistant superintendent of the Clarenceville school district, looks over food supplies

Before Livonia schools opened, Gary Derrigan, food service director, checked the food production line at the commissary in Wilson School with Eileen Sivalski, head cook.

Livonia, G. C. profit from bulk buying

Shiny stainless steel cooking and packaging equipment fill several rooms at Wilson School, which is now a commissary for the Livonia school district.

When school is in session it gets a lot of action processing and wrapping food for 8,500 students a day in the Livonia district (which also includes northern part of Westland).

The Livonia district also cooks for about 2,000 Garden City youngsters as well as for students in North Dearborn Heights and the Bendel school district near Flint.

Pre-packaged food is brought to elementary pupils in Garden City and Livonia elementary schools and then heated in convection ovens. Food is made on the site at junior and senior high schools of both communities. The Livonia district, whose food supervisor is Gary Derrigan, oversees the work of Garden City employees at Garden City school cafeterias.

Because of savings through cheaper bulk food purchases and careful utilization of the Wilson facility, the Livonia district wound up in the black last year with a budget that is about $2 million. Last year Garden City was within $185 of its goal to break even.

The cost of a lunch in both districts is $1 at the elementary level, and $1.15 at the secondary level.

Warehouse keeps food costs down

"Few school districts have a warehouse this size," remarked Dr. Marjorie Harrington, food service director of the Wayne-Westland school district. She was referring to a facility at Ford Vocational Technical building that has storage space and equipment for feeding students in the district's 24 schools. From 7,500-8,000 people buy lunches each day.

Prepackaged food for elementary students is shipped in from New York City and heated (rethermalized, they call it) in on site ovens. Food for secondary students is prepared at their school.

The warehouse she was discussing appeared to be spanking new, but Harrington said that it was three years old.

It contains an elevator (which Harrington called a power leveler) that can take a Hi-Lo down to the tailgate of a truck at the dock. The vehicle can then be driven inside the back of the truck to pick up supplies. Once loaded the Hi Lo can ride up on the power leveler to the warehouse floor.

The facility also features two huge freezers and a back-up oven that can be called upon when cooking equipment at a school malfunctions.

We used the oven two times last year for pre-pack lunches when the school ovens failed, Harrington said. "I was glad we had it. You can't tell students that you'll feed them tomorrow."

The size of the warehouse is proving to be a financial boon when food commodities arrive from the federal government in need of plenty of storage space. Some schools have to pay for storage space.

Last year's food budget was $1,502,000, and 90 percent of it was returned in revenue and government reimbursements. Cost of a meal this year will be $1 for elementary pupils and $1.25 for junior and senior high.

School menus: cuisine a la fast food

The pre-packaged food cooked in the commissary that occupies all of Wilson school in Livonia is trucked each day to elementary students in Garden City. Secondary meals are made on site in Garden City by Garden City employees under supervision of the Livonia district.

Livonia also sells lunches to the north Dearborn Heights district and the Bendel district near Flint.

"Last year we were within $185 of breaking even on our lunch program," said Mike Wilmut, superintendent of Garden City schools. "We are very satisfied in terms of what we have done financially."

The South Redford schools have found satisfaction in having their food delivered by a commercial organization.

"We were losing $20,000 a year before going with a caterer, the Canteen Corp." said Dr. Bill Weber, assistant superintendent for personnel of the South Redford schools. "Since then we've not lost any money. This year a profit of more than $700 of a $251,000 budget is anticipated."

ANOTHER WAY the school districts are saving money is through the acquisition of commodities from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Each month the district receives a list of what is available to the schools.

Botsford General Hospital is conducting four community health programs that will begin in early September.

One is a stop smoking clinic being conducted in conjunction with the American Health Foundation. Free introductory meetings will be held 7:30-8:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 12-13, in Classroom C of the hospital's administration and education center, 28050 Grand River, Farmington Hills. Charge for the classes is $125, payable at the first session.

The hospital also will offer prenatal and postnatal exercise classes beginning the week of Tuesday, Sept. 6. Day and evening classes will be offered. The classes run twice a week for six weeks at a cost of $24.

Two other offerings are:
 • A SERIES OF FOUR high blood pressure classes will be given on Tuesday evenings beginning Sept. 6, 6:30-9 p.m. Those attending at least three of the four meetings will be eligible for a free follow-up program.

The classes will be held in Classroom A, 28050 Grand River, Farmington Hills.

• EIGHT WEEKS OF aerobic classes will begin the week of Sept. 6 with classes offered 5-6 p.m. Monday-Wednesday and 4-5 p.m. Tuesday-Thursday. Prices are $36 for two classes; $46 for three classes; and $56 for four classes.

All classes are held in the Botsford General Hospital Administration and Education Building Community Room, 28050 Grand River.

• IN CONJUNCTION WITH Weight Watchers, Botsford General Hospital will offer weight reduction classes beginning Tuesday, Sept. 6, 4:30-5:30 p.m. in Classroom A/B of the hospital's administration and education center.

For more information and registration for any of the classes, call the Department of Health Promotion and Development at 471-8090 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

• RP NETWORK

A nationwide telephone network has been established by the young Adult Program of the National Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation. The purpose of the network is to provide an outlet for newly diagnosed patients to discuss their fears and frustrations, resulting from coping with retinitis pigmentosa (RP).

The network provides the new patient (or any patient) the opportunity to talk with another young adult with RP who is also coping with similar issues. It is hoped that the network will help alleviate the isolation often resulting from coping with RP.

RP is a group of inherited disorders which affect the retina of the eye and result in a progressive loss of vision. The early symptoms of RP are difficulty seeing at night followed by reduction in peripheral (side) vision, leaving only a small central portion of vision (sometimes called tunnel vision).

For further information about the network, the foundation and RP, contact the National Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation, 8331 Mindale Circle, Baltimore 21207.

• CLASSES FOR DIABETICS

Diabetics and their families can learn about the condition of diabetes mellitus, its control and treatment, and the relationship of diet in classes sponsored by the Wayne County Health Department.

Beginning Wednesday, Sept. 7, the classes will be held in the Merriman Road offices in Westland of the health department. They will be led by a public health nurse and will meet from 7-9 p.m. for six consecutive weeks.

All diabetics regardless of age may attend with written acknowledgement from their physician. Children under 14 should be accompanied by an adult.

To register, call 274-2800 or 729-2211, Ext 390 any week day between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

• HOLISTIC RETREAT

The American Holistic Association, a non-profit organization, will hold a weekend retreat at Columbiere Center, Clarkston Sept. 9-11. Theme will be "Stress Reduction through Holistic Education." Speakers will be: Dr. Paul Pearsall, stress; Dr. Leonard Portner, vitamins, minerals, herbs; Jacqui Kendall, developing your creative powers; Dr. Steven A. Goren, developing a positive attitude; Charlie Heavenrich, exercise; Dr. Jude Cotter, sexuality; Tim Brolls, nutrition.

Gerontology career classes offered

With the advances in medicine and health care and people living longer, the percentage of the population falling into the "senior citizen" category is on a constant increase.

Schoolcraft College will offer courses this fall through Continuing Education for those who wish to enter into a career in gerontology, a scientific study of the aging process, to help those seniors deal with their own aging, and also for children wanting to better assist aging parents.

Introduction to Gerontology I is a one-credit course which begins Monday, Sept. 19, and meets 6-8 p.m. Mondays through Nov. 7. It introduces the myths and realities of aging in this society and considers historical and cross-cultural aspects, theories, mental and physical changes, social and psychological implications of aging.

GERONTOLOGY CAREERS for the '80s is a one-credit course offered 1-3 p.m. Monday, Sept. 19, through Nov. 7. Designed for students considering gerontology as a possible career, the course will focus on death and dying, stereotypes and problems with aging parents. Simulation games, music, films and role playing will help make this class enjoyable.

Walk-in registration is scheduled 3-7 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 7 and 8, in the Registration Center-Student Affairs Building on Schoolcraft's campus.

For further information, telephone 591-6400, Ext. 410.

Schoolcraft College is located on Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile roads in Livonia.

Wayne board puts off hospital veto

Wayne County Commissioners have again postponed considering trying to override county executive William Lucas' veto of a bill designed to keep the Wayne County General Hospital under county control.

The commissioners voted 7-6 last week to put postpone the matter — for a second time — in order to give commissioners an opportunity to discuss the bill with Lucas.

"The postponement gives us more time to talk among ourselves and with the other side," said Commission Chairman William G. Suzore. "Maybe we can still work something out and still devise an ordinance that everybody can live with comfortably."

The ordinance, proposed by commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster, would ensure that the hospital remain under a board of institutions. It passed by a 11-2 vote of the board.

Lucas vetoed the ordinance, saying it violates the charter and subverts executive appointive power.

He and the commission disagree on provisions affecting overall disposition of the hospital as well as appointments to the board which would oversee day-to-day affairs.

Kay Beard, chairman of the Human Resources Committee which drafted the ordinance, said, "There are still some on the commission who want to keep their options open. After all, negotiations are still underway on this."

Beard said there could be new arrangements with the University of Michigan which is the hospital's teaching affiliate; discussions on possible state take-over; and ongoing budget deliberations for the new fiscal year.

"It is the opinion of enough commissioners that the potential here is sufficient for more study," Beard said.

At its Aug. 25 meeting, the county board of commissioners:

- Authorized transfer of $3.4 million from the county delinquent tax revolving fund to the county general fund.

The delinquent fund is an alternative method of delinquent tax payments to municipalities and school districts allowing them 100 percent of their tax revenue without cost to the county.

Before the fund was set up, some communities were forced to wait as long as three years before receiving their full share of revenue.

- Approved three grant applications to the state Department of Natural Resources for projects funded by the Michigan Youth Corps for next summer. The grants would:

Provide $576,450 for 360 youth to clean and collect debris from the middle branch of the Rouge River and Hines Park.

Make available $37,638 for 19 youth to help the Environmental Health Division of the County Health Department prepare reports on water contamination sites; determine exposure of birds to viruses with potential to spread encephalitis; and determine incidence of rat densities along with development of public information on rat control measures.

Use $118,130 for nature trail development in William P. Holliday Wildlife Preserve and Hines Park beautification.

RIVERSIDE PARK CHURCH OF GOD

Rally Day will be observed Sunday at Riverside Park Church of God, 11771 Newburgh, Livonia. It kicks off the new Sunday school year. All Sunday school classes will assemble in the sanctuary where the teaching staff will be introduced and promotion certificates will be awarded. Those entering the junior department will receive Bibles.

WARD PRESBYTERIAN

Common Bond, the musical ministry of Single Point Ministry of Ward Presbyterian Church, Six Mile and Farmington, Livonia, will offer a multi-media presentation called "Beyond Imagination" at 7 p.m. Sunday. It includes 16 contemporary Christian songs.

Members of the musical ensemble are Bea Wilson, Michelle Hart, Evelyn Jones, Linda Leckenby, Donna Trosien, Gerry Triplett, Rob Jahn and Woody Chafee. Special effects will be provided by Charlene Neer and Art McCoy.

The performance is open to the public. Nursery care is provided for pre-school children.

Dr. Bartlett Hess, pastor, will return to the pulpit Sunday following a vacation. He will speak at the 8:30, 10 and 11:30 a.m. services. Holy communion will be observed at all three services.

ST. MATTHEW UNITED METHODIST
Carol Gleason has accepted the position of church life coordinator on the staff of St. Matthew United Methodist Church, 30900 Six Mile, Livonia, according to pastor David Strong.

ZIONIST CULTURAL CENTER

Selihot service for the Sephardic Community of Greater Detroit will be held at Zionist Cultural Center in Southfield Saturday, Sept. 3 following a 10 a.m. social hour. Traditional Sephardic foods will be served by Teresa and Gilbert Senor.

Sephardic high holiday services will be conducted by David Hazan and Salvatore Katan at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 7, and at 7 p.m. Sept. 8 and 9. They will be assisted by Dr. Rafael Barfi and Kenneth Bernard, Torah reader.

The Sephardic community is comprised of Jews whose antecedents came from Spanish speaking and Arabic countries. Recently Iranian Jews have been incorporated into the community.

SACRED HEART BYZANTINE CATHOLIC

The annual fall festival of Sacred Heart Byzantine Catholic Church, 29125 Six Mile, Livonia, will take place Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 10 and 11, at the church. # A siren calls Monica (Sissy) Hallaway, 4, gets a chance to use the hose.

YOUNGSTERS learned about the dangers of fire in an exciting way recently at the vacation Bible school sponsored by the Nativity United Church of Christ, 9435 Henry Ruff, Livonia.

Livonia firefighters arrived at the church with an attention getting fire engine to teach children some practical ideas about safety. The firefighters mingled with the children and explained the simpler side of fire fighting.

World class thrills for the kids included holding onto a hose as water shot out and trying on a fireman's suit and hat.

And probably from now on when a fire siren wails at midnight, they will know their firefighter friends are on the job protecting them.

Do we behave cruelly in the name of God?

Using God to endorse dehumanizing behavior is not a very attractive proposition. Most people do not like it at all when they read about children being allowed to die in the name of religion. They are even more appalled when other children are beaten in the name of God.

However, the real issue is much larger than deprived or damaged children. Rather, it has to do with using religion, whatever its label, to justify intrusion into and violence toward the life of another.

Those who beat their children "because God told me to punish them," or who deprive little ones of ordinary medical care "because God does not approve of doctors," are really not acting any differently than what has in many quarters come to be acceptable human behavior.

HUNDREDS of years ago the Christian Crusades took to the fields of battle and slaughtered untold numbers in the name of religion. Many of us grew up being taught about how noble they had been. Fortunately some of us have learned that there is nothing noble about killing or looting or any of the other atrocities that go with the game of war.

There are those who see such action as evil only when the perpetrators wear swastikas or decorate their armor with a hammer and sickle. But others reject such action even when the warriors paint crosses on their shields or cover their aircraft in red, white and blue decals.

moral perspectives Rev. Robert Schaden

As enraged as we may be over children being deprived of medical help in the name of religion or beaten in the name of some divine mandate, such tragedy is not without acceptable precedent.

Such happenings are simply a case of people being convinced that the horror for which they are responsible is justified because of some higher good.

These travesties of religion are really no different than a group in uniform being convinced that killing in the name of patriotism is noble and a deed to be honored.

NATIONALISM is as vulnerable to extremism as any other religion. Whether we are waving a flag or a cross, wearing the star of David, shouting Islamic slogans or proclaiming civil liberties, playing God can be a very dangerous game.

And that precisely is the name of the game when we dare to determine who can live and who cannot whether the victims of our judgment have been born too long or have not yet seen the light of day. Victims are victims regardless of the sincerity of those who play God.

Cultic fanaticism will always have room to poke its head where consistency concerning life issues is not present. Such consistency has not been one of our strong suits. Those who slaughtered native Americans in the name of building a nation are called heroes while the Indians who defended their land are classified as savages.

FOREIGN opponents are imperialists but when we topple a government with covert assistance to insurgents that is to save the people who do not know what is best for them. When an abortion decision is made, that is a woman exercising her right to privacy but when a parent in the name of religion deprives a child of medicine that is murder.

When rebels arise in El Salvador, that is to be stopped in the name of freedom but when rebels arise in Nicaragua they are supported.

Not only do we dare to play God, we seem to do an extremely poor job of it. Perhaps we might consider learning to be responsible human beings with a certain sense of consistency about life, death issues. Such a climate may be less likely to spawn the kind of cultic fanaticism which frightens all of us.

Landorf series at St. Damian

A new film series featuring best-selling author Joyce Landorf will be presented by St. Damian Religious Education Office on six consecutive Thursday evenings beginning Oct. 6 and ending Nov. 10.

The new series, entitled "His Stubborn Love," addresses the problems common to many women who are trying to balance marriage, career, children, work and are quietly suffering from the conflicting demands on their time and their identities.

Author of 14 best-selling inspirational books, Landorf has presented her seminars across the U.S. "His Stubborn Love" is called "an example of her blend of humor, insight and compassion and her effectiveness in the Christian community as an articulator of women's concerns."

The first four hour-length films are especially suited for women while the last two are designed for married couples.

3 ways to invest and save for college

If you have children in college, you already know how onerous the experience can be. It's even more frustrating if it is too late to do something about it.

So the key is to give money to your children while they are young.

The purpose for giving a gift should be clear. A gift is not taxable to the recipient.

Also, you can give each child up to $10,000 a year ($20,000 per couple) without incurring any federal gift tax.

However, the main purpose of giving a gift is to shift earning assets from your high tax bracket to the low tax bracket of your children.

THERE ARE THREE ways in which you can gift your earning assets. The easiest and cheapest way to make an outright gift of money to a small child is to set up a custodial account under the Uniformed Gift to Minors Act (UGMA).

To open an UGMA account, you just get a Social Security number for the child and ask a banker, broker or mutual fund manager to open an account in the child's name.

Someone will have to act as the account's legal custodian — a relative or friend usually, but preferably not someone who intends to contribute money. If a donor-custodian dies before the child reaches the age of majority, the property goes into the donor's estate.

The second way of giving a gift is to set up a Clifford Trust, which is a short-term trust in which the earnings from your assets accumulate in the child's name, but you maintain the firm right to reclaim the principal.

The biggest liability is that you must wait at least 10 years and one day before taking your principal back. If you make an early withdrawal, you must pay back taxes on any earnings from the money.

THE THIRD WAY of giving a gift is to lend money to your children, com-finances and you

monly known as a Crown loan. It is an interest-free loan that the child must repay whenever you ask. If the child is under the age of majority, you will have to set up a trust in which to deposit the money.

Because you can get at the principal anytime, a Crown loan is more suitable for youngsters nearing college age than is a Clifford Trust with its 10-year holding period.

One important caution: Once you give money to a child — even an infant — there is no legal way to get it back. Therefore, care should be exercised in giving gifts to children.

EDUCATIONAL SEMINAR: The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and I will conduct our next financial planning seminar 8-9:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 7, at the Michigan State University Management Education Center, Troy. The seminar is free, but registration is required. For more details, call 643-8888.

Sid Mittra is president of Coordinated Financial Planning Inc., Troy, and a professor of management at Oakland University in Rochester.

My parents died and left the children a farm that we sold in July 1983. My part is $29,000. My share of the Inheritance Tax Value Increase is $6,500. Will I have to pay a capital gains tax on the increase? Will I have to pay federal or state tax?

How could I invest this money best to create a living estate and shelter it from possible taxes at the same time?

It would seem that the standard exemption would eliminate any need for you to pay federal taxes on your inheritance, but that is not my field, and I would suggest you cover that question with your attorney or tax man.

As to your question on investing the money and sheltering it from taxes, let's talk about the latter item first. While no one likes to pay taxes, they are a fact of life, and we believe it is best not to base one's plans on making the payment of taxes a major consideration in your decisions.

When you are in an upper tax bracket, tax planning becomes more important. When you are not in an upper bracket, the possibility of saving a meaningful amount on taxes is seldom worth its possible effect on an investment decision.

I DON'T KNOW anything about your personality's ability to tolerate investment risk. If you are the kind of person who is frightened by the movement of stock prices, then I would divide the $29,000 into five roughly equal parts and buy Public Service Co. of New Mexico, Standard Oil of Indiana, R.J. Reynolds Industries, Chesebrough-Pond's and Public Service of Colorado.

Those companies should give you an increase in income through the years and appreciation from growth and shouldn't have much risk on the downside. To make the most of their potential, I would reinvest their dividends in the companies through their dividend reinvestment programs or put them in the next companies I have listed.

If you are still quite a young man, and if you can tolerate fairly wide price changes in stock, then I would divide the money among Air Products & Chemical, Trinity Industries, W.R. Grace, Blount Industries and Avco Corp. Those stocks should have a little more appreciation prospects.

Adjusting to bifocals takes time, practice

Dear Jo:
I have been fitted with my first pair of bifocals and am having a problem adjusting to them. When I walk and look down at my feet I get off balance and am afraid of a fall. Could you give me some suggestions as to how I can adapt to them?

Mrs. K.

Dear Mrs. K.:
Most of the many millions of people who wear bifocals have had to make some sort of an adjustment to them in the beginning, so you are not alone.
First of all, make sure that your frames have been properly adjusted so that the lenses are in the correct position. Do not hesitate to return to the professional who fitted you with them for an adjustment.

It is important that you wear your bifocals continuously for the first week to two, even though you may feel you don't have to wear them for certain activities. When walking, avoid looking down at your feet. You're right, this can cause you to lose your balance, and I'm sure you don't usually look down at your feet when walking anyway.

Lastly, one of the hardest things to do with new bifocals is to read the newspaper. To do this, fold the paper into half or quarter size and move the paper rather than your eyes until you are able to read it comfortably.

In a few weeks time, you'll wonder how you ever "coped" before you had your bifocals. Good luck.

Dear Jo:

I had a thorough physical exam, including several tests, by my doctor four months ago. I haven't heard anything back from him or his office. Should I just presume that I am fine and all that tests were normal?

Concerned

Dear Concerned:

Presume nothing. Call the office and make an appointment for a followup visit. You are responsible for our own health and you should know the result of your physical examination and the tests.

Dear Jo:

My mother, age 74, has had some mental problems over the years, but has always been able to manage pretty well on her own. She says she is fine, but we (the family) all see changes in her appearance and lifestyle. Should we be worried about her? How can one tell if a person is mentally ill or not?

Miss R.

Dear Miss R.:

Your letter does not give me enough information about your mother's physical and mental health for me to know whether you should be worried about her or not. Since you and your family have noted some changes, perhaps some straight talk with your mother about how she feels and how she is managing is necessary. A professional physical or mental evaluation may be needed.

To answer your question as to how you can tell if a person is mentally ill or not according to the psychiatrist, Eric Pfeiffer, mental illness is present when a person is unable to meet his or her physical, mental and/or social needs, or can do so only with pain, suffering, and considerable personal discomfort. Although some older people are mentally ill, mental illness is not a part of growing older. Should any of these apply to your mother, you should assist her in getting help.

Red Cross: blood need 'critical'

Late August is usually a difficult time for blood collections due to warm weather diversions for donors. This year's collections have fallen dangerously, resulting in what is termed a "critical" shortage by the Red Cross. Hospitals are being requested to postpone elective surgery so that emergency blood needs may be met. All blood types are needed, especially types O and A.

Blood can be donated by anyone ages

17-65 who is in general good health and weighs at least 110 pounds. Donors are being encouraged to bring a friend or relative along to donate with them.

Donations are accepted from the Livonia Donor Center, Bell Creek Office Plaza, 29691 W. Six Mile, Suite 100 C, Livonia. Hours are 2-8 pm. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Friday; and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. For an appointment, call 422-2820.

Wanted: talent to teach talent

WHAT D'YA MEAN, University of MICHIGAN?

It probably should be the University of Florida-Michigan extension. Or University of Illinois, Ann Arbor branch.

Or even — hold tight to those maize and blue hats, you Meechigan rooters — Michigan's own Ohio State University.

A glance at the Wolverine football roster explains all. One-hundred sixteen players. Twenty-three hall from Ohio, another 10 from Florida and 11 others from Illinois.

Know how many Michigan natives are on the team? Forty-one. Just over one-third of the total. Not many. And don't believe for a minute it's because Michigan State out-recruited U-M. They didn't.

The reason is that Bo Schembechler didn't recruit heavily in the home state. He said he wasn't going to.

He said he wasn't going to because the talent just wasn't there.

THAT ISN'T exactly correct. A decline in population has no doubt robbed the state of some talent. But there's still a lot remaining. What isn't around is the talent to teach the talented.

Coaching is on the decline — in all sports, not just football. Reasons vary, but the bottom line is traceable to that decline in population.

A wage-earner leaves the state to look for work elsewhere. He takes his kids with him. Schools close, school teachers are laid off. And with the teachers go the coaches.

After all, 10 years ago teachers did all the coaching. Bob Atkins can testify to that. Atkins quit coaching football at Redford Union in 1976 and his replacement, Harvey Heitman, was the first coach ever hired who was not teaching at RU.

There are 35 coaching positions at RU. Of that number, only six are filled by RU teachers.

Turnovers make any basketball or football coach cringe. And although the context changes, the turnover effect is the same on high school athletic directors.

"OUR AVERAGE turnover rate is usually about five or six a year," Atkins said. However, this year he had to search for 12 new coaches — nearly one-third of his staff.

In Rochester, teachers filling 22 coaching positions were pink-slipped. "Some have been called back," said a relieved Bill Seltz, athletic director for both Rochester and Adams high schools.

Layoffs are only part of the problem. The reason for a decline in quality coaching certainly stems from falling enrollment and limited finances, but the effects are just now surfacing, like weeds cropping up in a deteriorating garden.

"I'm concerned with what's coming around the corner," said new Farmington school district athletic director Ron Holland. "There's just no training ground for coaches any longer."

Here's the pattern of evolution: Student enrollment declines, so fewer teachers' jobs are available. College students discard futures in teaching. For decades, it was the teachers who coached. Now there are fewer teachers. And fewer coaches.

With level of play becoming more intense, coaching becomes a year-round profession. Burnout takes its toll, retiring coaches after 10 years instead of 20.

Replacements? Layoffs have robbed the teacher ranks, already shrunken by a lack of new teachers. Hence, a shift to non-teaching coaches.

ALL SCHOOL SYSTEMS have shown a vastly increased number of non-faculty coaches. And in general, those coaches aren't as effective. Nor do they last as long, which compounds the problem and increases the turnover rate.

And makes the athletic director's job never-ending.

"It's like going fishing," was how Atkins described his search for non-faculty coaches. "Sometimes you catch a whale, sometimes a minnow or a carp. Or maybe just an old inner tube."

The coaches from the business world often are unaware of the complexities involved with the job. The pay for coaching is terrible: $1,500-$2,500 for head coaching positions, $500-$700 for assistants. Divide that into how many hours a coach works and the resulting figure might even make the National Labor Relations Board take action.

All that time with so little payback. Add in the hassles of holding a 9-to-5 job while trying to coach and the sacrifice can become too great.

TEACHERS ARE prodded — oftentimes unprepared or unqualified — into coaching.

"Before, you used to have to wait your turn, you watched and studied and learned at the freshman or junior varsity level," Holland said. "Now you can get into any level of coaching in a high school almost immediately."

Summation: Lack of quality coaching equals lack of developed athletes. Holland agreed with Schembechler's assessment of Michigan football talent: "The level of skill and technique isn't as good as in, say, Florida or Texas."

But he, like Atkins and Seltz, was not without a solution — encourage college students to get into coaching, no matter what their field of study.

Seltz and fellow Oakland County athletic directors like Norm Quinn of Bloomfield Hills have enlisted computers to help lick the problem.

Available coaches are listed by sport and qualification in a system kept at Quinn's office.

Jamie's grabs Massey crown

Jamies, Class A men's softball champions from Wayne, fought off a valiant surge by Livonia's Studio Lounge to win the annual Massey Tournament of Champions Softball Classic last weekend in Plymouth.

Jamies, after losing 7-5 to Studio Lounge in the semifinals, rebounded in the championship game, 11-10. Jamies was 5-1 for the tourney.

The Plymouth and Canton teams, Don Massey Cadillac, Dooney's, Stans Market and Canton Sports, were all knocked out of the tournament early. Yet, thanks to Bobby Smith, the host city had something to be proud of.

SMITH, A PLYMOUTH native playing for Jamies, won the home run derby sponsored by Budweiser. Smith banged five out of 10 pitches over the fence to win the derby.

Smith was also a key man in Jamies' 11-10 championship game victory collecting two hits in three at-bats.

It looked as though Jamies might sweep through the tourney undefeated. They jumped ahead of Studio Lounge 5-0 in the first inning of the semi-final game. Studio had already lost once and was facing elimination.

The Livonians, however, blanked Jamies the rest of the way and rallied to win 7-5. Ron Griffin was the big gun for Studio, going two for three with a two-run home run. Tim Kelley had two hits also.

softball

Smith and tournament Most Valuable Player Mark Morgan, staked Jamies to an 11-8 lead going into the final inning of the championship game. Morgan, who batted .500 in the tourney, hit seven homers and knocked in 18 runs, went two-for-three and blasted a long home run in the championship contest.

STUDIO WAS FAR from finished. Trailing by three in the seventh, Griffin quickly reduced the margin to one with a two-run homer. Studio put its next two runners aboard, but a line drive through the box was caught and turned into a rally-killing double play. Ironically, the runner doubled off had just entered the game as a pinch runner.

Griffin and Terry Johnson each had three hits and a home run for the losers.

Romaine Party Store of Livonia finished third in the 12-team tourney played at Massey Field in Plymouth.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Ron Griffin (right) helped his team close the gap with a two-run homer in the seventh, but Jamie's of Wayne held on to beat Studio Lounge of Westland in the championship game of the Massey Tournament of Champions, 11-10.

Kromm answers Calgary call

By C.J. Risak staff writer

For about 90 minutes a day, four days a week, Rich Kromm plays a rugged, exhausting game of four-on-four hockey at Redford's Ice Arena.

The other three days of the week he lifts weights. He constantly conditions his body, fervently believing that a sound body will lead to a clear mind.

Kromm will need that clear mind to absorb the numerous "little things" it takes to make the jump from professional hockey's minor leagues to the National Hockey League (NHL).

Kromm, a 19-year-old Livonian, was selected by the Calgary Flames in the second round of the 1982 draft. He signed with the Flames in June and on Sunday will depart for the team's training camp, which opens Sept. 11.

"This is something I'm keyed up for," Kromm said. "I wouldn't be going up there if I didn't think I had a chance. Calgary doesn't have many left wingers."

WHICH IS KROMM'S position. A former Detroit Country Day School star, Kromm played for the Portland Winterhawks last season and helped them to the Canadian Junior Hockey League amateur championship.

"We really took over that tournament," Kromm said. The Winterhawks hosted the playoffs, with sellout crowds of 10,000 fans jammed into the ice arena for Portland playoff games. Games between other tournament teams attracted 8,000 or more.

Kromm, 5-11 and 187 pounds, blistered the opposition for 36 goals and 67 assists, a total of 103 points during the season. The Winterhawks won three of four games in the double-elimination tourney, beating Oshawa twice, the second time in the championship game. The Portland squad also knocked off Olympic star Pat LaFontaine's Verdun team.

ALL OF WHICH increased Kromm's value to Calgary. Although unsigned, Kromm spent two weeks in the Calgary camp last year and said he "learned a lot just in the time I was there, like never give the puck away, no matter what — even if you have to freeze it."

Calgary's lack of left wingers and the possibility of losing Kromm — if he remained unsigned for two years Calgary would surrender its rights to sign him — helped in negotiations, conducted by family friend Ron Roberts.

Kromm's 103 points no doubt played a role in Calgary's decision. Still, signing a pro contract provides no automatic bye into the NHL. Kromm knows it. But last year's training camp experience provided some important insight.

"I felt comfortable there," he said. "It's not as big a step as people think. It's just the little things that the pros do that separate them."

HELPING TO INSTRUCT Kromm in those little things is someone well-versed in the ways of the NHL: his father, Bobby Kromm, former Detroit Red Wing coach.

"He's pretty happy for me," Rich said of his father, now an auto parts manufacturer's representative. "He's always giving me tips."

Rich Kromm fired up to be a Flame

Christoff counts on winning season

By C.J. Risak staff writer

It's a problem few coaches — even on the high school level — ever face. A rebuilding year every year.

But that's the way it goes at the community college sports level. And it's something Schoolcraft College soccer coach Larry Christoff has become accustomed to.

"You got to go through it every year," said Christoff at a team practice last week. "The years I had four people returning I was able to go to the national championships."

"But there aren't many (teams) that can do that."

CHRISTOFF PAUSED just long enough to send the large contingent of players on their way in another of a long series of sprints around the field. It was a muggy 90 degrees, but Christoff still drove his players at an exhausting pace.

If Schoolcraft is destined to lose a game this year, the reason won't be a lack of conditioning.

"We may get beat," Christoff, now in his ninth season, said, "but we'll never lose a game. We'll always be in it."

A year ago, the Ocelots posted a 10-3-1 record, missing the league title by a half-game. Macomb Community College won the championship but was eliminated early from the national tourney.

DESPITE LOSING all but one starter, Christoff expects Schoolcraft to once again battle Macomb for the crown.

"It's been basically Macomb and us the last few years," Christoff estimated. "They're always tough. It runs in cycles. We're not necessarily strong, but we're balanced all the way around."

That balance comes from a large array of players. Thirty-three is the current count, with the roster still growing.

"I got a ton," Christoff said, surveying the troop as it loped along the

soccer

Schoolcraft jogging trail. "And they're still coming."

"It's a good thing, bad thing type of deal. The bad thing is that we can only carry 24 on the travelling team. We don't cut anybody, so if they want to stick with us they can."

"The good thing is that we have enough so they can push each other."

JIM KING, a Livonia Franklin graduate, returns for the Ocelots and will play either at forward or midfield. Gone is Brian O'Shea due to eligibility problems, but younger brother Dan O'Shea, another Franklin grad, will be a definite Schoolcraft plus. O'Shea will play "everywhere", according to Christoff, with midfielder his basic position.

Others expected to play extensive roles for Schoolcraft are, at the forward positions, Emanuel Murua of Redford Temple Christian and Northville alums Chris Koenig and Doug and Greg Marshall. Dan Laurie of Livonia Stevenson will play at midfield and at forward, Jim Rhoad of Franklin is slated for midfield and Rick Ajluni of Livonia Churchill will be a defender.

THE KEY POSITION, according to Christoff, to fill is in the net.

"We've always had very good goalies here," the Ocelot coach said. "If we don't have one, we'll make one."

Those currently being "made" into goalies are Andy Bunting of Farmington and Ken Stamsbesky of Dearborn.

Schoolcraft, which has a 242-32-12 soccer record since the sport's inception in 1968, opens its season at Lake-Land Community College Sept. 17. Key dates on the schedule are Sept. 28, when the Ocelots host Macomb, and Oct. 19, when they travel to Macomb; Nov. 12-13, the Inter-District tournament in Chicago; and Nov. 22-26, the nationals in Trenton, N.J.

Dan Gilmartin (left) hopes to pick up where he left off from last season. The senior quarterback led Stevenson to wins in each of its final five games.

Percentages in Spartans' favor

By Brad Emons
staff writer

What school owns one of the top won-lost football percentages (.784) in Metro Detroit during the past seven years? Livonia Stevenson ranks No. 8 with a 50-13-0 record.

Incidentally, Marysville is No. 1 with a 57-6 record followed closely by Dearborn Fordson at 55-6.

The coach during those seven years and for 19 total at Stevenson is Jack Reardon.

After a slow start, Stevenson rebounded for 6-3 mark last season, including five straight victories.

The Spartans lost 13 starters, but Reardon embarks on a new season in the same situation like all the others.

"We will lack varsity game experience," he said. "We'll have seniors playing positions they haven't played before."

"During the first week this team picked things up quickly. We will not lack in enthusiasm. They have a good attitude."

STEVENSON, however, can be optimistic about the return of quarterback Dan Gilmartin.

The 6-foot-3, 205-pound senior started the final five games of 1982, which Stevenson won, passing for 689 yards.

"Dan is our only back with any game experience," said Reardon.

Brad McLive started at tackle last year, but has been moved to center.

The only other Spartans with offensive experience are senior split end Rick Rozman and junior tailback Steve Bixby.

"Rick played a lot, but did not start," Reardon explained. "Steve was moved up after the fourth game from the junior varsity and played about 2½ quarters."

Contesting at the end positions are juniors Tony Beaune and Chris Lucukowski and senior Brian Porter.

SENIORS Brad Oppot and John Carney are working at tackle along with juniors Scott Boot and Brian Hassell. Mike Vaughn and Chris Doblaz, both seniors, have the inside track at guard, along with Toney Angelosanto.

"We like a 60-40 percent pass game," Reardon said. "We think Dan Gilmartin and Chuck Donaldson can pass the ball, but we're not going to come out and just throw the football. We cannot win that way. We'll have to establish a run game."

The Stevenson defense does have some experienced with the return of Rozman, a safety, Tom Brzezinski and

football

John O'Connor, linebackers; and Bob Brown, end.

"We are looking for outstanding play from Brad McLive who has moved from tackle to linebacker," said the Stevenson coach. "And Scott Underwood is going to help us a great deal as a down lineman."

Reardon added that Tom York and Jay McMillan, both seniors, should strengthen the defensive end slots.

ANDY TALIAFERRO, a senior, moves in at linebacker. Other players vying for defensive time include Bill Ulle, Dave MacIntyre, Dave Green and Bixby.

Promising newcomers include tackles Pat Conway and Vic Nettie, both juniors. Paul Ureste, Brian Trainor, Paul Truax look good in the defensive secondary, according to Reardon, while Rob Kuphal, Steve Kempanen and Scott Trainor should help on the line.

"Our practice schedule always has been to spend as much time on defense as we do on offense," Reardon continued. "But that's hard to do because you have a tendency to push the offense — we hit defense very hard every day."

The kicking game is in good shape with the return of Rozman (punter) and York (placekicker). Pete Huddy, a junior, and Bob Brown, a senior, are also competing for those spots.

THE SPARTANS open Friday, Sept. 9, at Redford Union and follow with Livonia Franklin before diving into the Western Lakes schedule.

"Farmington Harrison will be very good again and I think Farmington will be right in there," Reardon said. "And Plymouth Salem, Walled Lake Central and Canton will all be good ball games in the Lakes Division."

LIVONIA STEVENSON'S 1983 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Sept. — 9, at Redford Union; 16, Livonia Franklin; 23, at Plymouth Salem; 30, Livonia Bentley.
Oct. — 7, Walled Lake Central; 15, Farmington (2 p.m.); 21, Plymouth Canton; 28, Western Lakes crossover (time and site to be announced).
Nov. — 4, Livonia Churchill.
— All games start at 7:30 p.m. unless otherwise noted.

Speed to burn in backfield

Redford Union looks to rebound

A young Redford Union football team took its lumps last season to the tune of a 2-7 record.

But eighth-year coach Harvey Heitman believes his team can return to its winning ways in 1983, although he calls the season outlook "fair."

Heitman should be at least semi-optimistic because he played "12 to 13 sophomores" a year ago. RU lost seven starters to graduation, including All-Observer nose guard Bernie Johnson.

But RU has a wealth of running backs with good speed. The Panther running game, coupled with a big and strong offensive line, should give its opponents a few lumps.

Seniors Bob Macek (6-foot, 181 pounds) and Keith Manus (5-10, 180) are back for their third year on the varsity. Macek was an All-Northwest Suburban League halfback choice two years ago, while Manus, a fullback, made the grade last season.

They are joined by junior halfback Don Angel (6-0, 184), who came of age late in the season.

RICK HOLMES gained valuable experience late last season and should be ready at quarterback. One of his main targets is tight end Ken Atwood (6-3, 220).

Returning on the line are center Scott Ullias (5-10, 188) and tackle Jay Politi (6-3, 228).

Politi anchors the defense along with the Picano brothers, Gino and Rico, at 6-1, 200 and 6-0, 198, respectively. Defensive end Matt Kazor (6-5, 208) returns, too, as well as backs Darren

Wilson and Tim DeGraells.

Promising newcomers on offense include Mike Randazzo (6-1, 216) and Bill Taylor (6-1, 190). Jim Rood, meanwhile, should help defensively, according to Heitman.

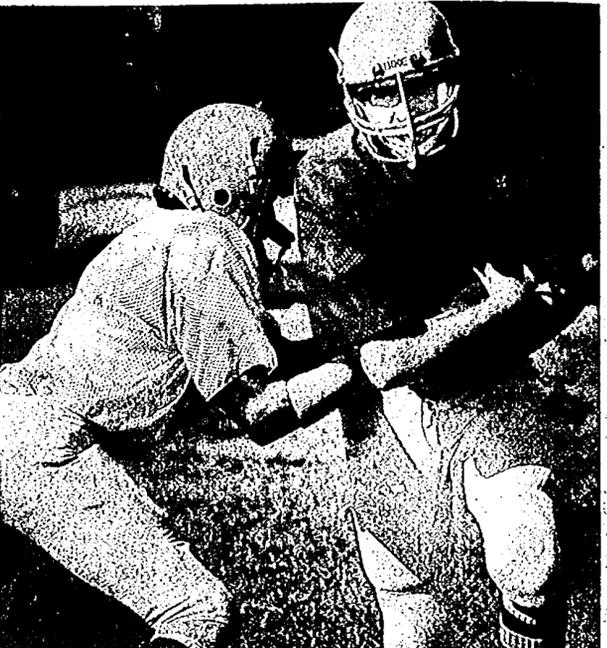

HEITMAN said his team will run out of an I- or pro-formation. Defensively, the Panthers will give a 5-2 look.

RU opens the season Friday, Sept. 9, at home against Livonia Stevenson. The Panthers will then take on Redford Bishop Borgess before embarking on the Northwest Suburban League (NSL) schedule.

Heitman predicts North Farmington and Westland John Glenn are the teams to beat in the NSL.

REDFORD UNION'S 1983 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Sept. — 9, Livonia Stevenson; 16, Redford Bishop Borgess; 24, vs. Westland John Glenn at Pontiac Silverdome (1 p.m.); 30, North Farmington.
Oct. — 7, at Garden City; 14, Livonia Franklin; 21, at Redford Thurston (2 p.m.); 28, at Waterford Mott.
Nov. — 4, at Plymouth Salem.
— All games start at 7:30 p.m. unless otherwise noted.

The RU backfield will be busy this season, especially junior Don Angel (right), who started last season as a sophomore.

S'craft lists special dates

The September sports calendar at Schoolcraft College is already crowded with events, not all concerned with the college's own sports teams.

The non-Schoolcraft College portion of the sports agenda starts Sept. 10, when the school hosts the 21st Annual Michigan Swim Officials Association workshop for the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

The session begins at 9 a.m., ending at 3:30 p.m. Rules interpretations, review of the 1983-84 swimming examinations and a question and answer period will be included, as well as a buffet lunch. Cost is $10.

Other events include the Great Lakes Women's Soccer Tournament Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 10-11; 18th Annual High School Cross Country Invitational Saturday, Sept. 17; the Schoolcraft College/Livonia Public High Schools' Girls' Tennis Tournament Saturday, Sept. 24; and the Over 30 Men's Soccer Tournament Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 24-25.

For further information concerning these events, contact the Schoolcraft College athletic office at 591-6400.

Churchill strives for grid turnabout

"We'll be much improved," promised Livonia Churchill football coach Ken Kaestner, "but we can't get hurt or we're going to be in trouble."

Kaestner, now in his 16th season, is carrying 29 players. The Chargers are coming off a 1-8 season.

The quarterback situation is in good shape as senior John Fraser (6-foot-2, 175 pounds) and junior John Stoitsiadis (5-9, 162) both return.

"Both quarterbacks are good players," said the Churchill coach.

Senior co-captains Bob Foust (5-9, 175), a tailback, and Rob Tracy (5-8, 158), a fullback, lead a host of backfield candidates.

Kaestner, however, gets excited when you mention junior Dave Mize, a tackle on offense and a defensive end. Mize has been a regular since his freshman year.

"He's 6-1, 246 without an ounce of fat on him," said Kaestner. "He benches 300 pounds."

"Both Foust and Tracy are good athletes and Mize has great potential."

OTHER OFFENSIVE returnees include Steve Brooks, a junior center; Rich Jolly (6-1, 221), senior tackle; and Chris Phifer, junior split end.

Dan Foster (6-0, 195) and Mize are set at the tackles. John Oltman, meanwhile, looks good in the secondary, according to Kaestner.

"Our defense has good speed," said the Churchill coach. "It must be improved if we are improved. We have to prevent the big play — eliminate the long pass."

Kaestner also believes his kicking game is solid as Fraser and Stoitsiadis handle the punting chores with Matt Wiljanen and Tracy handling kickoffs and placekicking.

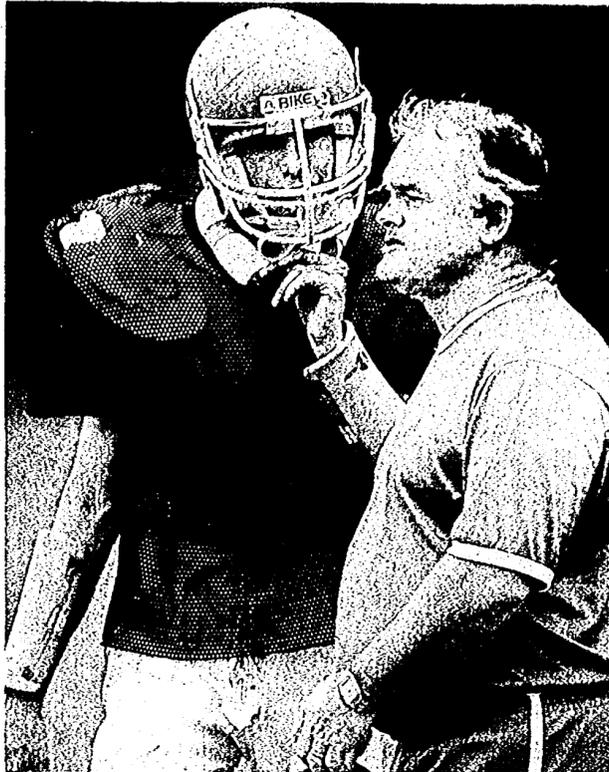

The Chargers, a member of the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA), open with a non-league game Friday, Sept. 10 at Livonia Franklin.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL'S 1983 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Sept. — 10, at Livonia Franklin (2 p.m.); 16, Ann Arbor Huron; 23, Plymouth Canton; 30, Plymouth Salem.

Oct. — 7, at Walled Lake Western; 14, Northville; 21, at Farmington Harrison (2 p.m.); 28, Western Lakes crossover (time and site to be announced).

Nov. — 4, at Livonia Stevenson.
— All games start at 7:30 p.m. unless otherwise noted.

DAN DEAN/staff photographer

Churchill coach Ken Kaestner (right) is looking ahead to a better season in 1983. He hopes the Chargers will be "much improved" after a 1-8 campaign.

Labor Day exhibition benefits Jerry's Kids

A challenge such as this cannot be avoided.

In fact, the local boxers fighting Monday look forward to their bouts, knowing full well that the fight will be a long and difficult one. Indeed, it has lasted for decades already and still the battle rages on.

If ever there was a team boxing event, this is it. Among the local fighters who will appear at the parking lot of the Charisma Beauty Salon on Five Mile and Newburgh are Craig Payne, the No. 2 rated super-heavyweight in the nation, featherweight Mike Dardini and middleweight Steve Darnell, all of the Livonia Boxing Club.

Joining them will be members of the Westland/Garden City Boxing Club, the Eighth Street Gym, the Crowell Boxing Club and the Detroit Street Services Club.

The opponent for each fighter is a common one: Muscular Dystrophy.

THE BOXING EVENT will provide more than funds for the fight against MD. For Payne, the exhibition will serve as a valuable tune-up for the North American Boxing Championships Sept. 15-17 in Houston. Payne will face the top fighters from the U.S., Canada, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic and Mexico, as well as other Caribbean nations.

boxing

Dardini and Darnell will use the bouts to prepare for the upcoming Michigan Amateur Boxing Federation Championships in Lansing. Dardini is returning from the Ohio State Fair Boxing Championships, where he won his first bout, then had to withdraw because of a badly cut lip. Darnell will be trying to come back from knee surgery performed earlier this summer.

THE FUND-RAISING EXHIBITION will run from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Boxing is only one of the scheduled events. Twenty-five of metro Detroit's top hairstyling salons will have representatives at the benefit cutting hair for $5 and $10. Entertainment will be provided by live bands, dancing girls, clowns and magicians.

It will be an event worth attending. And all proceeds go toward knocking out MD.

For more information, contact Richard Asztalos at the Charisma Beauty Salon (464-8686); Paul Soucy (525-1387); or the Livonia Boxing Club (477-6959).

Runner keeps hectic pace

The pace just gets faster and faster for Dr. Ken Carman of Garden City.

Not just at Annapolis Hospital, where his work pace is certainly trying enough, but on the track, where the 55-year-old athlete continues to break and/or improve records in his Masters' age division.

Heck, the pace Carman sets just getting to all the different events he competes in is difficult to handle.

His summer schedule started:

• In early June in New Orleans, where he won three regional Masters' 55-and-over titles: the 800-meters (2:19), the 1,500 (4:51) and the 5,000 (18:22). "The heat in New Orleans in the summer is unbelievable," Carman said.

• After New Orleans, it was on to Atlanta June 11, where he won his age group's mile run in 5:05.

• Then came a meet in Cleveland June 18, where he ran the mile in 5:03, just .9 off the U.S. record, and the two-mile, which he captured in 11:02.

• Next was the Hayward Classic June 25 at the University of Oregon in Eugene. Carman set an American 55-and-over record in the 3,000-meter steeplechase, travelling the distance in 11:12.

• A month later, at the Midwest Masters Regional Championships July 30 in Chicago, Carman lowered his steeplechase record to 11:06 despite 90-degree, 85-percent humidity conditions.

• Which took Carman back to Cleveland Aug. 6, where he suffered through "an off-day — I have no excuses, but every runner has them," clocking a 5:08 mile.

• And, finally, last weekend at the Southern California Masters Championships in San Diego, Carman finished the 1,500-meter in 4:42, good for another victory.

THE SCHEDULE DOESN'T end there, of course. Carman is off to Randall's Island in New York for the North American Masters Championships Sept. 11, a race he calls a tune-up for two very important events coming up later this month.

The first is the National Masters Track and Field Championships Sept. 16-18 at Rice University in Houston, followed by the World Masters Games Sept. 23-30 in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

"Basically, I'm just zeroing in on the steeplechase," the confident and tireless Carman said. "I've lowered the U.S. mark 12 seconds this year, and I think I can peel another 10 to 15 seconds off of it on a good day."

The former steeplechase mark of 11:17.8, set by Californian Avery Bryant, stood since 1979 — until Carman's dizzying surge, which appears to have no end.

Flames ink Livonia skater

The budding young star then added, "I'd be crazy not to listen to him."

Rich Kromm started playing hockey at 7 and has competed in leagues throughout Canada and the U.S., "wherever my dad was." He caught the eye of the Portland scout when playing in Winnipeg, where his father coached the World Hockey Association Jets team. He was only 14 at the time.

"They keep in contact with you, put you on a list," Kromm explained. Although he moved outside the Western Junior Hockey League's scouting boundaries — which stretch from British Columbia to Manitoba — his name remained on that list.

After graduating from Redford Catholic Central in the summer of 1981, he played for the Windsor Royals Junior B team. After one season he headed west to play for Portland, the team with the highest NHL draft rate.

SEVERAL OPTIONS remain open for Kromm. Should he not make the rather long leap to the NHL with Calgary, he would return to Portland for another year at the amateur level. After this season, he would play somewhere in the Calgary system — at Peoria or Colorado or for the NHL team.

His choice is obvious. And he knows what he needs to do to make it to the NHL.

"Forechecking and backchecking are what I do best," he analyzed. "That's the way I play. There's nothing fancy in what I do, I just dig into the corners. That's what comes easiest for me."

"What I have to work on is my finesse."

Changing guard

Western Lakes has new basketball look

By Chris McCosky and Brad Emons staff writers

KIM ARCHER is gone. So are Sue Ferguson and Alice Short. Jacque Merrifield is gone and so is her coach Bob Blohm. Things will be a little different on the Western Lakes girls basketball scene this season. Walled Lake Western, spurred by the emergence of 6-foot-3 junior center Val Hall seem ready to take their place atop the Lakes Western Division, while Farmington Harrison, stung by the losses of Short and Ferguson, may find themselves rebuilding this year.

Not everything will change in 1983. The Lakes Division title will again be contested by Plymouth Salem, despite the loss of Merrifield, and Bentley, minus Archer.

Other teams apparently on the upswing are Livonia Stevenson and Walled Lake Central.

Though the Western Lakes Conference lost some of its top talent last year, players like Hall, Pam McBride, Dawn Johnson, and Laurie Day, are ready to step into the limelight in 1983.

PLYMOUTH SALEM

Bob Blohm, who won more than 100 games in five seasons as Salem's girls basketball coach, has left his job in the very capable hands of Fred Thomann, who has been the head coach of the Rocks' boys hoop program for 12 seasons.

With a trio of returning starters the caliber of Pam McBride, Dawn Johnson, and Fran Whittaker, Thomann has a sound base to build his team.

McBride, a 5-foot-8 guard, is an excellent ball handler and perimeter player. The All-Observer pick shoots well and plays aggressive defense.

Johnson, who will swing between guard and forward, will be counted on heavily for both scoring and rebounding.

"Dawn is just a super athlete," Thomann said. "Her vertical jump is as good as any girl I've seen. And she is a true jump shot shooter."

Whittaker, used mainly in a supporting role last year, will play forward-guard and be a key rebounder.

Senior Kelly Bemis, who is currently injured, and Mary Beth Weast, a junior, are fighting for the off-guard spot.

Three seniors, Michelle Dawson, Cathy Schinker and Terri Lesniak, are doing battle for the other forward spot.

"We have three fine players to build the team around," said Thomann. "We have good quickness and this team will be a good defensive team. They are getting better daily and they are going to continue to get better."

The only possible weakness, Thomann said, will be rebounding. "We don't really have the one dominant rebounder," he said.

FARMINGTON HARRISON

"What a difference a year makes." The saying is much more than a tired cliché for Farmington coach Gary Sine. It's a harsh reality.

After losing two All-Stars from last year's 18-5, Western Division championship team, the aforementioned Ferguson and Short, as well as two other starters, Sine enters 1983 hoping at best for a .500 season.

"We will have to slow down the offense this year and be more patient. Last year, we could do anything we wanted to. We will have to play good defense," Sine said.

On the bright side, Karen Sklar, who was a starter last year until she got hurt, is healthy and looking sharp. She is a 5-foot-9, senior forward with a good outside shot and good quickness.

Junior Darla Payne, at 5-foot-9, will be the center. At the guard spots will be sophomores Michelle Wise and Jennifer Hughes.

But, the key to the team could be the development of freshman forward Jenine Whittimore. "She is a very strong player who can go to her right and to her left. She is going to be a good one," Sine said.

Junior guard Jodi Bennett and sophomore forward Dana Dinkins will see a good deal of playing time this year also.

"We have some quickness and more depth than we had last year. We will be able to press more. But, we are very young. If we play .500 ball, I'll be very happy," Sine said.

PLYMOUTH CANTON

Canton coach Phyllis Cunningham-Mulroy is trying to mold her small, young players into an aggressive, scrappy team. It's the only way her team will succeed in the unrelenting Western Lakes Conference.

"We have been working really hard. We will be playing at a height disadvantage most of the time. We will have to become a more scrappy, hard-fighting team," said Mulroy.

The team will also have to rely heavily on the outside shot for their offense. Luckily, senior Lou Ann Hamblin, junior Lisa Russell, and sophomore Diana Knickerbocker all possess deadly outside shots.

Mulroy has five seniors coming back from last season, but they saw only limited playing time. Three sophomores will also see action.

Nancy Gray is likely to share time at the guard spot with Hamblin, Marie Krashovetz and sophomore Beth Frigge. Knickerbocker, Tammy Budlong, Kathy Ross and Lisa Russell will play at forward. Senior Sue Opatry, at 5-foot-10, will play at center.

"We don't really have a post player. We will be hurting on the boards. The key for us will be defense. We have really focused on playing a tough man-to-man defense," Mulroy said.

FARMINGTON

Bruce Brown may not have the best basketball team in the league, but he certainly has the most worldly.

Farmington, coming off a dismal 1-20 showing last year, has picked up transfer students from Indonesia (Jill Taylor) and Finland (Tulja Pirttila) this season. The transfer students may add to the team's culture, but it's not likely that they will improve their win-loss record.

"We will be a lot better team," said Brown. "Unfortunately, everybody in the conference will be better, too."

Rhonda Lancaster, a junior guard, is probably the most talented player on the team. Joining her at guard will be Julie Dunn. Kris Rogers, currently injured, will also see some time at guard. Laura Ramberg and Alyse Fortune, a transfer student from Massachusetts, will start at forward and Jill Waterman will play center.

"We have a lot of kids back, but we still are very inexperienced. We are far behind in the mental aspects of the game. They just haven't played enough," Brown said.

Farmington got beat by as many as 70 points in games last year. That won't happen this year. The team should be more competitive, but still a ways away from being a contender.

LIVONIA BENTLEY

"Laurie Day will be the key to our season," said coach Tom Lang. "As captain, we have to look to her for leadership. She has an awful lot on her shoulders."

Day, a 5-8 senior, was an All-Observer pick last season. She is one of three starters back and is moving from guard to forward.

Juniors Lonnie Payne, who will be the point guard, and Sheri Wolfe, a forward, are back for their second varsity seasons.

Replacing All-American Archer, bound for Michigan State, is the biggest headache for Lang.

"It's nice to have three back, but nothing will ease Kim's loss," admitted Lang. "We won't be able to dominate the boards. We're short, but you just don't know according to the other teams. I know that we won't have any easy games."

Theresa Aragona, a 5-10 senior, moves into the center slot after playing back-up last year. Bridget Nicole, a 5-6 senior, will probably be the fifth starter.

"Theresa is good defensively — excellent in the man-to-man," Lang said. "And Bridget is good on defense and is an outside shooter."

Lang can also expect help from sophomores Kelly Kowalski and Amy Weber (slowed of late by an ankle injury).

LIVONIA CHURCHILL

The Chargers return four starters under new coach Roger Springsteen. Churchill is coming off a 5-16 season.

Guards Amy Brow and Patty Schmidt return along with forward Gail Mundie and 5-10 center LaDonna Sevaks.

Springsteen, who spent five years at Churchill as an assistant, said, "We'll be more of a transition (running) team instead of a pattern team."

Newcomers expected to help include last year's leading scorer on the JV, sophomore Sherri MacIntyre, 5-10 sophomore Jacki Wozniak, and freshman Tracy Greenwald.

"Tracy was very impressive this summer," said Springsteen. "She's very aggressive and will fit right in with the kind of basketball we want to play."

"We have a good mix of players and we have some talent to be a decent basketball team. I think we can be competitive in the Western Division."

LIVONIA STEVENSON

First-year coach Wayne Henry probably has the youngest team in the WLAA, but he's not fretting.

"I don't want to say it's a rebuilding year," said Henry, who was the JV coach last season. "We hope to come on as the season goes along and maybe do something in the Western Lakes playoffs."

"We have only two back from last year's team, but I'm not writing this season off."

The returnees are both forwards — Sandy Wain, a senior, and Amy Rozman, a junior.

Up from last year's 15-5 JV squad are 6-0 Lisa Bokovoy, 5-9 Mary Kay Hussey, point-guard Cindy Schmidt, Chris Schemanske, Julie Niemiec, Pam Griffin and Shannon Snyder. Junior forward-center Joan Frysinger, a transfer from Oscoda, and senior guard Liz Gargaro round out the 11-member unit.

"We don't have a big center, but we have nice size with our forwards," said Henry. "I think we'll have a strong bench. Anybody will be able to come off and contribute. We have some athletes and we'll have a good attitude."

Blazers unveil new '5' tonight

Livonia Ladywood kicks off the prep girls' basketball season at 7:30 tonight against Dearborn St. Alphonsus in its home opener.

The Blazers are coming off a 22-1 season under coach Ed Kavanaugh. Ladywood reached the Class B quarterfinals last season before being ousted by St. Joseph's.

Other area teams will swing into action Tuesday night.

Festival celebrates fruit of the vine

Niagara blossoms as a wine-producing region

When you think of wine, do you think about the Canadian side of the Niagara River? If not, you may be surprised to know that wine is being taken very seriously here in the Niagara area.

The Niagara Grape and Wine Festival will take place Friday, Sept. 23, to Sunday, Oct. 2, in and around St. Catharines, a city on Lake Ontario within 10 minutes drive of both Niagara-on-the-Lake and Niagara Falls.

If you haven't seen the Falls lately, or if you are still planning your first visit to the Shaw Festival in Niagara-on-the-Lake, you might want to combine these well-known attractions with a winery tour and some grape-stomping festival activities.

Fruit farms have flourished on the Niagara Peninsula ever since the United Empire Loyalists crossed the Niagara River to stay with the British crown after the American Revolution. Wine has been made here for many years, but it was considered undrinkable by continental or world standards until recent years.

The native labrusca grapes make excellent table grapes and grape juice but have never suited the tastes of wine lovers accustomed to the vinifera grapes of California and Europe. This was also true of the grapes grown in the northern United States. Grapes that would survive the winter were considered to have a "foxy" taste.

ALL OF these areas have blossomed in the last 10 years because they have grafted European vines onto local roots, creating a hybrid wine grape that is closer to that popular vinifera taste. During the last few years, they have also grown "pure vinifera" grapes like Riesling and Chardonnay, defying the old wisdom that said "they'll never survive the winter."

They don't survive winter easily, so Niagara wines with familiar vinifera names are more expensive than those made in California. You might not want to spend the money necessary to drink them on a regular basis, but the vineyard and wine-tasting experience available in the Niagara area greatly enriches the travel experience there.

The Niagara Grape and Wine Festival features 200 events, including a Grande Parade, grape-stomping contests, lots of wine-garden experiences and wine-tasting tours.

Saturday, Sept. 10, launches almost two weeks of warm-up before the festival officially begins: wine history displays at St. Catharines Historical Museum, a variety of wine-and-cheese parties, dances, sports events, and open-air wine gardens.

On Friday, Sept. 23, they'll crown the Grape King, the grape grower chosen by a panel of experts as operator of the finest vineyard in Canada. The Grande Parade is at the other end of the calendar, on Saturday, Oct. 1. Winery tours are available throughout the two-week festival. Your $3.50 ticket will take you on a driving tour through the area, on a tour of both a vineyard and a winery, and includes sample tastings of local wines.

DURING THE Festival you can tour wineries such as Chateau des Charmes, Barnes, Bright's, Andres, Inniskillin, Jordan and Ste-Michelle, Montravin Cellars and Hillebrand Wineries, all in the St. Catharines-Niagara Falls area.

Inniskillin has the reputation for making the finest wines. I was served them during an elegant dinner at the Harbour Castle Hilton Hotel in Toronto last spring and was impressed. Frank Baldock, Canadian wine writer and assistant manager editor of the Canadian TV Guide, alerted me to Chateau des

MICKY JONES

Fruit farms and vineyards such as this one have flourished on the Niagara Peninsula ever since the United Empire Loyalists crossed the Niagara River to stay with the British crown after the American Revolution. Wine has been made here for many years, but it was

The most interesting tasting room is a Bright's, where you can try several popular wines in a room lined with the wood of old wine casks. Bright's started planting hybrids in the 1930s. They are one of the largest producers of popular wines in Canada. If you tend to order a wine spritzer (wine and soda water) from the bar, try their spritz wines, a combination of sparkling red or white wines and spring water. If you like dry white, try the new L'Entre-Cote.

The Niagara Peninsula was planted with 24,000 acres of grapes in 1982, producing 64,815 tons. Half the vines are still the native labrusca, which is considered undrinkable by continental or world standards until recent years. The area has blossomed in the last 10 years with the grafting of European vines onto local roots, creating a hybrid wine grape that is closer to that popular vinifera taste.

YOU CAN buy wine, of course, at any of the vineyards. The vast majority of the wines are hybrids, still or sparkling, and cost from $3 to $6. The viniferas cost more and are in much shorter supply.

Bridge picked as theme for St. Lawrence cruise

Theme cruises aboard cruise ships are becoming more and more popular every year.

An example is a contract bridge cruise which will start aboard the Canadian Empress lake cruiser Sunday, Sept. 25.

The three-day, two-night cruise will be launched from Kingston, Ontario (located on the northeastern tip of Lake Ontario), at the height of the fall color season. The Empress cruises the historic waters of the St. Lawrence River and the Thousand Islands.

D.H. "Doug" Clark, a life master and certified bridge director, will host the cruise, which is sanctioned by the American Contract Bridge League.

This all-inclusive cruise costs $240 per person, double occupancy, in U.S. funds.

For more information, phone (613) 549-8091 (collect) or write R.W. "Bob" Clark, Rideau St. Lawrence Cruise Ships, Inc., 253 Ontario St., Kingston, Ontario K7L 2Z4.

Filmmaker completing his newest project

Hingle and scriptwriter Dick Joy go over a scene, in parlor of the Henry Ford Birthplace, one of the sites used in the orientation film.

Lawson enjoys all phases of motion-picture work but especially editing the film.

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

THE EDITING PROCESS is the part of filmmaking he enjoys most, said Will Lawson, head of film production at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in Dearborn.

Since the beginning of August, Lawson has been editing a 15-minute orientation film that will be shown to museum visitors beginning in October. The village's first orientation film was shot earlier this summer with character actor Pat Hingle as host-narrator.

Lawson, who selects cast and crew for the village's film projects, said of Hingle, "I had him in the back of my mind all along."

Hingle has worked for General Electric, doing TV spots as Tom Edison. He also did a one-man show as Edison. The veteran performer seemed a natural to interpret Greenfield Village to the public.

"WE HAD ONLY two days to work. He had 10 minutes of screen time. It was quite a bit of work. He really did a superb job," Lawson said.

Lawson, a Birmingham resident, has been with Greenfield Village since 1975. Although he has worked on many films in his career, he is proudest of "La Grande Vitesse," which he wrote and produced back in 1972.

"I think it's the best thing I've done," he said of the 16-minute film story about Alexander Calder's stable sculpture at Vandenberg Plaza in Grand Rapids.

Lawson received the opportunity to do the motion picture when he was working as in-house filmmaker for the college's public relations office.

He compared the Calder film — which was done "for people to experience the making of the sculpture" — to the orientation film shot at Greenfield Village. In both, he tried "to create a little bit of mystery. We don't want to lay things out for people."

Lawson said the orientation film takes a philosophical approach, creating a frame of reference for the museum's collection.

THE 240-ACRE museum covers 150 years of industrial history. Emphasizing the Industrial Revolution, it shows the change from farm to industrial culture.

The orientation film begins with someone growing up in the 1930s, then goes back to preindustrial times. The village is used as a stage and buildings as artifacts to tell the story.

The film is trying to clarify something about Henry Ford as a person growing up in this age of transformation.

Visitors will see the film in a new theater being built at the museum. A permanent part of the setting will be a Ford personal-history museum, an exhibit area dedicated to Henry Ford.

Lawson said that during shooting of the orientation film with actor Hingle, "We really put him to the test and worked long hours. I found him to be the most professional person I've ever worked with."

The only time Hingle became impatient was with unnecessary delays. "He's really a stage actor at heart. When he's ready, he expects us to be ready."

HINGLE IS a familiar face to TV viewers and has appeared on such shows as "M*A*S*H" and "St. Elsewhere." He also makes about a half-dozen movies a year. Recent stage roles include Big Daddy in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" at the Los Angeles Civic Theater.

Other noted actors who have worked at Greenfield Village include E.G. Marshall, James Whitmore and Burgess Meredith.

Lawson is executive director of the museum's orientation film. He hired the writer, photographer and crew of 18 people.

"My love in filmmaking is in post-production," he said. "When I'm editing, I forget about lunch hour."

Lawson has been a resident of Birmingham since 1954. He went to Birmingham schools, graduating from Groves High School. He attended Grand Valley State College in Allendale for five years, studying psychology and fine art.

"Ever since age 14 I've been working in film. I worked summers for a Detroit motion picture producer," Lawson said. He did industrial films for the automotive market and worked for the tourist council. He was a production assistant and editing assistant. "I spent a lot of years at Ross Roy," he said.

At Greenfield Village, he does color photography for publications and has a routine production schedule for TV news clips including public service spots.

A ONE-MAN department, Lawson hires the people necessary to make each film. Usually, he will be the cameraman and hire one or to production assistants and a sound man.

Lawson said a library of films about the village is provided free for group presentations, service clubs, classrooms and travel agents.

Many film projects require a lot of research by Lawson. "You need research necessary to develop the visual story," he said. When the Harvey Firestone Estate was moved from Ohio to the village and an 18th century Saltbox House was moved from Connecticut, he did careful research before filming.

'The only time (Pat) Hingle became impatient was with unnecessary delays. He's really a stage actor at heart. When he's ready, he expects us to be ready.'

Jazz stars to perform

There's something for everyone at the Montreux-Detroit Kool Jazz Festival, which runs through Monday. For fans who like to tap their toes to the big-band sound, or get out on the dance floor while the music plays, the J.C. Heard Orchestra is featured from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. Saturday at the Book Cadillac Hotel. The orchestra will appear with special guests Jukka Linkola Octet with Opus 5. The J.C. Heard Trio, along with Clark Terry, will perform at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Friday at the Detroit Institute of Arts Recital Hall. The Montreux Festival, which opened Wednesday, offers a Tribute to Count Basie with the Count Basie Orchestra at 9 tonight at Ford Auditorium. Special guests are Jay McShann and Clark Terry.

State fair wine judge faces many temptations at tasting

"When some gustatory duty's to be done, To be done, A judge's lot is not a happy one, Happy one."

With due respect to the noble adversaries of the "Pirates of Penzance," it is indeed tough to be an evaluator of others' efforts, whether in the form of piracy or winemaking. Consider:

- A wine judge must begin at 9 a.m., with the prospect of continuous drinking over six-eight hours.
- He faces 50-70 wines in a stretch, making decisions about each.
- A judge must reconcile his judgments with other judges to arrive at some kind of consensus. These differences can get turbulent at times.
- He must not make ugly faces when the wine is bad. That's considered bad form, a sign of moral weakness.

• Above all, a judge should not get smashed. The temptation is there as the day drags on for some, but again, good form must hold.

ARMED WITH all these admonitions and anticipations, I recently (Aug. 23) again joined a group of 19 others at the Michigan State Fair to assault the 107 entries that Michigan winemakers considered worthy of peer competition.

The group included national dignitaries such as Leon Adams, Craig Goldwyn and Ruth Ellen Church and local talent like Jeremy Iggers, Dick Sheer, Torkild Nielsen, Bill George and Ray and Eleanor Heald, all under the squiring of Chief Stan Howell.

The good news is that 1983 saw the awarding of 10 gold medals, up considerably from the two issued in 1982. This was, in all likelihood, attributable to a more benevolent mood by the judge-es this year, with a lingering sense of guilt having carried over from last year. The wines were probably no better, no worse, than they have been over the past few years.

That means that the industry is holding its own, at least. The chardonnays were again all rejected (no awards), but the Rieslings fared well, as did the Vignole entries. The reds continue to fare poorly, only Foch showing some competitive quality.

The 1983 winner? Easy, Chateau

Grand Traverse captured four of the 10 golds. And this from a winery often rumored to be going out of business, a troubled enterprise over the years.

The 1983 loser? Easy, Tabor Hill, often a winner, this year barely showed in the lesser medal categories.

BEST OF SHOW went to Fenn Valley for their 1982 Select Late Harvest Vignoles. They also had a gold winner for their 1982 Reserve Vidal Blanc.

Grand Traverse Awards were for their 1981 and 1982 Late Harvest Rieslings, their 1982 Botrytised Berry Special Selection (whew!) Riesling and their 1981 Ice Wine. (Suspicion is very strong that the panel this year had a remarkable preference for sweet wines.)

Individual Gold Award winning varieties were L. Mawby (Vignoles), Good Harbor (Vignoles), Bronte (Baco Noir) and St. Julian (May wine), May Wine!

Well, it was quite a day. At least, there were no garlic or onion wines submitted this year, but the panel that tasted the peppermint wine (Pfefferminz Dreh from Frontenac) was a long time regaining their palates.

My favorite wine? It only got a silver, due wholly to the stubborn position of a couple of tasteless fellow judges, but it was a grand one that deserved gold.

It was the St. Julian Frankenmuth Champagne, the first tasted during the day, long before palate burn-out set in. A remarkable entry, wine fermented in "this" bottle.

Maybe a judge's lot is not so bad after all.

Free lunchtime concerts due

A series of free lunchtime concerts, sponsored by Manufacturers Bank, will be held during September at Hart Plaza and the Washington Boulevard Mall in downtown Detroit.

The concerts, in honor of the bank's 50th anniversary, will feature local musical groups performing during lunchtime Monday, Sept. 12, through Thursday, Sept. 15.

The Detroit Police Department's Blue Pigs Band will start the series at Hart Plaza, offering a variety of songs and comedy routines on Sept. 12. The Pastiche Wind Quintet will be the featured group Sept. 13 at the Washington Boulevard Mall.

Bird - Trane - Sco - Now, a group that started as an after-school activity for local music students, will perform Sept. 14, also at the Washington Boulevard Mall.

The Borderline Express, a bluegrass and soft country group, will play Sept. 14 at Hart Plaza.

'Light Up the Sky'

Mel Kramer of Livonia (left), Charles McGraw and Greg Bowman appear in a scene from Moss Hart's "Light Up the Sky," through Thursday, Sept. 15, at the State Fair Theatre at the Michigan State Fairgrounds in Detroit. The comedy is being presented by MMB Productions. Tickets are $7.50. For reservations, call 388-1000 or 981-7908.

Palms to screen vintage films

The 2,955-seat Palms Theatre in Detroit will reopen Wednesday, Sept. 14, beginning with a nostalgic seven-week review of vintage films highlighting Columbia Pictures 50th anniversary.

Joseph Papp's Public Theatre launched the same program earlier this summer in New York.

"Salome" and "Loves of Carmen," in new Technicolor prints, are the opening double-bill offering. Hollywood classics such as "Lawrence of Arabia," "Bride on the River Kwai" and "From Here to Eternity" will be shown. The Frank Capra films "Lost Horizon" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" will be the closing attractions of the film retrospective.

The theater will operate seven days a week (Wednesdays-Thursdays, Fridays-Saturdays and Sundays-Tuesdays) during the Columbia retrospective, featuring three different double bills every week.

A "Mr. Magoo" cartoon, plus the original trailers for the coming attractions, round out each program. In addition to evening shows, there will be daily matinees.

"Psycho" (1960), 11:40 tonight on Ch. 9. Originally 109 minutes.

What separates "Psycho" from a run-of-the-mill hatchet/horror story? For starters there's Alfred Hitchcock's variations on the theme: He starts the story with a subplot, thereby confusing the audience and shrewdly establishing groundwork for the shockingly lurid shower scene. He also takes clean-cut Anthony Perkins, fresh from the role of an innocent, All-American in "Tall Story," and transforms him into the maniacal villain. Perkins, too, enhances his role with some unscripted bits of acting menace. Then there's Bernard Herrmann's brilliant musical score, which rattles the nerves while remaining true to the film's constant bird imagery. Put it all together and here's one of the best horror films ever made. Janet Leigh, Vera Miles, Martin Balsam and John Gavin co-star.

Rating: $3.75.

Good . . . . .	$3
Excellent . . . . .	$4

"Sands of Iwo Jima" (1949), 4:30 a.m. Saturday on Ch. 2. Originally 110 minutes.

The best film about World War II, not surprisingly, was made four years after the war. Most war films made during the good fight were consumed with overtly patriotic themes and overly romanticized plots and characters. Pictures like "Destination Tokyo" and "God Is My Co-Pilot" were no truer to life than most TV sitcoms are today. That's not to say "Sands of Iwo Jima" isn't packed with stock characters — the tough sergeant, the G.I. with a chip on his shoulder, a dogface for every ethnic group — but "Sands" is simply better made than all those other films, and its use of genuine war footage is unparalleled. Allan Dwan directs John Wayne, John Agar, Forrest Tucker and Richard Jaeckel in a must-see film, so stay up late, get up early or program the VCR.

Rating: $3.70.

"Dial M for Murder" (1954), 1 p.m. Saturday on Ch. 50. Originally 105 minutes.

Alfred Hitchcock's "Dial M" is his stagiest film because it was shot in 3-D. He chose not to exploit the technique like most schlock-horror pictures of the day did. Instead, the director, in effect, filmed a stage play. Unfortunately, when seen on the two-dimensional TV, the film comes across rather dull and one-dimensional. Still, it's a pleasure just to look at the beautiful Grace Kelly and a joy to watch John Williams unravel the murder scheme of miscreant Ray Milland, even if the plot is too complicated for its own good. Robert Cummings also stars.

Rating: $3.

"Charade" (1963), noon Wednesday on Ch. 9. Originally 114 minutes.

Talk about complicated plots, "Charade" offers a terribly implausible script and plot twists. Once again, though, it's gratifying to view the performances of Cary Grant, who, at 59, appears most dignified; Audrey Hepburn, who, at 34, was never more graceful, and the fine supporting work of Walter Matthau, George Kennedy, James Coburn and Ned Glass.

Rating: $2.95.

- AUDITIONS SLATED
 Auditions for the Schoolcraft College production of "Lovers and Other Strangers" will be held 7:30-10 p.m. Tuesday-Thursday, Sept. 13-15, at the Liberal Arts Theater in Room B-500 in the Liberal Arts Building on the campus of Schoolcraft College in Livonia. The cast includes six male and six female characters, ranging in age from 18 to 50. Auditions are open to all students currently registered at Schoolcraft. The play will be performed as a dinner-theater production Friday and Saturday, Nov. 11-12 and 18-19, in Schoolcraft's Waterman Campus Center. For further information, call the Fine Arts Department at 591-6400, Ext. 510.
- ORGAN CONCERT
 The Michigan Theatre Organ Society will present Charlie Balogh in concert at the Barton Theatre Pipe Organ at 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 10, at the Michigan Theatre in Ann Arbor. Balogh will feature the "Big Band Sound" of music. Accompanying him will be Tim Froncek, drummer, who has just finished a tour with Woody Herman's Band. Tickets at $5 are available at the Redford Theatre, 17360 Lahser, Detroit; Masters Candies, 17340 Lahser, Detroit, or at the box office of the Michigan Theatre, 603 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor.
- GOOD TIMES
 Willie D. Warren and His Brush Street Blues Band will play Friday, Sept. 2, at the Good Time Bar, 35085 Plymouth, Livonia. Juanita McCray and Her Motor City Beat is featured Saturday, Sept. 3. Admission each night is $2.
- TRYOUTS OPEN
 Auditions for a new musical revue will be held from 7:30-9 p.m. Wednesday, Friday, Sept. 7-9, at the Marquis Theatre of Northville. The auditions offered by the theater and the Andrew Henderson Chorus and Orchestra are for a revue that will open the theater's fifth season of live stage shows, films and concerts since its restoration in 1978. Actor-singer-dancers are being invited to audition for "Broadway Melodies." An audition for children, 7-14 years of age, will be held from 2:30-4 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 11.
- LASER SHOW
 The biggest laser light show in Meadow Brook Music Festival history will be shown in time to music from "Star Wars," marches and show tunes at 8 p.m. Saturday-Sunday, Sept. 3-4, at Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus near Rochester. Fireworks displays follow both concerts, bringing the festival's season to a close. A musical re-enactment of "Wellington's Victory" will feature live cannons and muskets. The laser light show in full color will have beams overhead, plus cartoon-type animations and three-dimensional crystalline patterns projected on a rear screen. Leonard B. Smith directs the Detroit Concert Band. Ticket information is available at the festival box office, phone 377-2010.
- OPEN AUDITIONS
 The Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College will hold open auditions for its first production of the 1983-84 season at 7:30 tonight in the Performing Arts Theatre on the Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Hills. Three females and six males are needed for Phillip King's 1940s-style situation comedy "See How They Run." For more information phone 471-7700.
- AT TRAXX
 An Evening of Music for Piano and Drums, with Patrick Moraz and Bill Bruford, will be presented Friday, Sept. 2, at Traxx, rock 'n' roll dance club at 14050 Gratiot south of Seven Mile Road, Detroit. Moraz was formerly with Yes and the Moody Blues. For more information, call 968-8788.
- FREE EVENTS
 Free attractions at the Michigan State Fair at the State Fairgrounds in Detroit will include the Budweiser Championship Pro Rodeo in the new Budweiser Coliseum at 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 1, and 2 and 7 p.m. Friday, Sept. 2; an Elias Brothers International Circus, daily through Friday, Sept. 2; Joeie Chitwood's Thrill Show at 2 and 7 p.m. Thursday-Saturday, Sept. 1-3; and Arbor Drug/Coca-Cola Demolition Derby on Sunday-Monday, Sept. 4-5. Also free are the Firemen's Field Day in the Grandstand at 2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 4; six days of performance horse shows in the Coliseum, and televised coverage of Channel 2's "Stars of Tomorrow" talent show, daily through Monday, Sept. 5.
- HAMTRAMCK FESTIVAL
 The Hamtramck Festival, one of the largest festivals in Michigan, is getting ready for a half-million people to crowd the streets of Hamtramck over the Labor Day weekend. More than 100 booths operated by community and church organizations will line a half-mile of the city's major thoroughfare, Joseph Campau, for the three-and-a-half-day event. Now in its fourth year, the Hamtramck Festival offers free admission and parking, plus continuous ethnic music from three bandstands and a wide selection of food, beverages and amusement rides. Hours will be 6-11 p.m. Friday, Sept. 2, and 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday-Monday, Sept. 3-5. The annual Polish Day Parade on Labor Day will start this year at noon from Holbrook and move north on Joseph Campau to the reviewing stand in the festival area. Marching groups participating in the two-hour parade are the Plymouth Five and Drum Corps, Hamtramck High School Band, Utica High School Band, Windsor Police Pipe Band and the 1st Marine Band from Howell.
- MOVIE SERIES
 The new fall series of Movies at the Redford continues with "Hardly Working" and "Hollywood or Bust" at a special fund-raiser for the Muscular Dystrophy Association at 8 p.m. Friday and 1:30 and 8 p.m. Saturday at the Redford Theatre, 17360 Lahser at Grand River Avenue, in northwest Detroit. The series is sponsored by the Motor City Theatre Organ Society. Organ overtures and intermissions are played by area organists on the theater's vintage 1926 Barton Theatre Pipe Organ. For the MD benefit, the organ overture will be one-half hour before the show. Tickets are $2 each.
- CHILDREN'S WEEKEND
 Children's Weekend will focus on activities designed for youngsters under 12 years old, this weekend at the Michigan Renaissance Festival in Clarkston. Representatives from the Detroit Story League will tell tales twice a day, with performances in the morning and afternoon. Celia Goodman of Southfield will spin yarns Saturday, Sept. 3; Jane Prevo of Livonia will be featured Sunday, Sept. 4, and Bruce Smith of Clarkston will be storyteller Monday, Sept. 5.

A SWISS Foods Festival continues through Tuesday, Sept. 6, at the Summit restaurant at the Westin Hotel in Renaissance Center in downtown Detroit.

Special menus, to celebrate the Montreux-Detroit Kool Jazz Festival, are available at lunch and dinner. Entrees chosen are popular Swiss ones, said the hotel's executive chef, Beat Richel, who was born in Switzerland.

Pike dipped in beer batter and deep-fried, marinated and grilled venison cutlet, and broiled tenderloin of beef with calf kidney slices are the offerings, each accompanied by special touches and sauces.

Visitors from Switzerland for the jazz festival, as well as other diners, also may order a Swiss cocktail called the omnibus, or any of three Swiss wines.

Archibald's, at 555 S. Woodward, opened in 1975.

WAITERS AND waitresses recently tested their skills in a Walking Foot Race on Belle Isle. For one-quarter mile, they carried a tray of four champagne glasses full of bubbly.

The 22-ounce glasses needed to contain at least 18 ounces of champagne by the end of the race, in order for the waiter or waitress to be judged a winner.

The contest was sponsored by Local 24 Hotel, Motel, Restaurant Employees, Cooks and Bartenders Union. The winners were:

Waiters — Ever Roy Bailey of the Westin Hotel, time 2 minutes, 3.2 seconds; Michael McHale, Knollwood Country Club, 2 minutes, 9.5 seconds; Kevin Culler, Detroit Race Course, 2 minutes, 9.6 seconds, and Mark Bismarck, Mario's (Detroit), 2 minutes, 6 seconds.

Waitresses — Rosalie Rose, Carl's Chop House, 2 minutes, 16.8 seconds; Kim Neubacher, Knollwood, 2 minutes, 31.9 seconds; Vanessa Johnson, Westin Hotel, 2 minutes, 32 seconds; and Susan Everlove, Northfield Hilton, 2 minutes, 33 seconds.

The two first-place winners will compete at the Myra K. Wolfgang Memorial International Waiters and Waitresses Race on Sept. 11 in Atlantic City.

THE 1983 Michigan Championship Chili Cookoff will be held from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 11, at the Lark Restaurant, Farmington and Maple roads, West Bloomfield.

Tickets at $20 per person include admission, food and beverages. Tickets are on sale at the Lark.

The event, a benefit for Father Tom's Day House and Soup Kitchen, will feature the music of Mariachi Zapopan of Mexico and the Threepeny Opry Bluegrass Band.

Prize to be awarded is a first-place trophy, plus a trip for the winner to the world championship chili cookoff Oct. 24 in California, where finalists will compete for a $25,000 first place.

Celebrity judges at the Lark will include Mary Lou Callaway, representing the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

RIP'S Restaurant in Pontiac has been chosen by viewers of WXYZ-TV's "Good Afternoon Detroit" as serving the best spare ribs in town.

Three Detroit-area eating spots received the top number of votes from viewers, who had been requested to send in the names of their favorite places for ribs. Three judges then visited the three restaurants to determine the first-place winner.

Rip's chef is 22-year-old Steven Townes, who is studying at Oakland Community College's School of Culinary Arts.

This etching is an example of the unusual work of Brian Watkins. The artist chooses scenes from different photographs and combines them in one etching.

Images combine in unusual etchings

Artist has worked 3 years on process

Chances are that you would never recognize the scenes depicted in Brian Watkins' zinc-plate etchings. The often surreal images exist only in his mind's eye — until he combines scenes from different photographs to produce a tantalizing new picture.

Watkins, a Plymouth native, combines elements of scenes as diverse as VFW members planting flags in a local cemetery to street scenes in Amsterdam's red-light district.

IN THE print "Dating is for the Birds" he utilizes an archway photographed in Sweden, a house photographed in Detroit, an embracing couple from Hamburg, West Germany, and bats from Plymouth to produce one haunting and memorable scene.

Watkins' etchings are produced differently from the more traditional styles of etching.

He works with a 35mm camera and high-speed black and white film and produces grainy negatives.

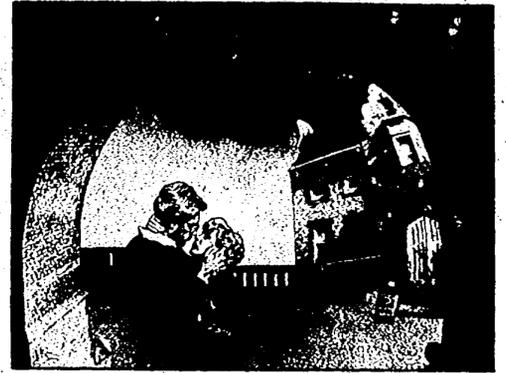

These are enlarged to the size of the finished etching on a high-contrast graphic arts film. Traditionally an artist would use a halftone screen to produce the intermediate tones in the final print.

The plate is deposited in proportion to the depth of the etched image.

Thus, shadow areas will hold more ink and print darker, while midtones and highlights will hold less, printing lighter.

The inked plate is placed on damp etching paper, then placed on the bed of the etching press. Watkins spins the large spoked wheel and the plate and paper pass between the heavy rollers of the press.

Carefully separating the paper from the inked plate, Watkins inspects a proof of "Dating is for the Birds." That work, which combines several elements, is shown above. The press which Watkins uses for his work is in Schoolcraft College's art department.

The etching paper is then carefully removed from the plate. After the etching dries Watkins signs and numbers each finished print.

BECAUSE the plate wears each time a print is pulled, Watkins limits each edition. He is careful to retire and destroy worn plates.

Watkins' work has grown in complexity in the three years he has worked with this process. He began with single image etchings then learned to add and combine images.

The artist has exhibited at the Blixt Gallery in Ann Arbor and the Atelier de Photographie in Plymouth.

Some of his recent works will be on display at an informal open house during Plymouth Fall Festival, Thursday through Sunday, Sept. 8-11, at the Atelier, located at 281 Union Street in Plymouth.

Story and photos by Bill Bresler

Because of the coarse grain of the original negatives and their high degree of enlargement, Watkins is able to bypass this screen and hold much more detail in the final print.

Watkins cuts apart the enlarged graphic arts film and assembles the pieces to form a new image. Using this technique he is able to create any scene that his considerable imagination can invent.

The final assembly is rephotographed. The large film positive transparency that results is placed in firm contact with a zinc plate that has been coated with a light-sensitive emulsion. The film and zinc plate package is then exposed to ultraviolet light.

THE LIGHT hardens portions of the plate in relation to how much passes through the film. Watkins places the zinc plate in an acid bath that etches away the unhardened portions of the plate.

The image that results on this plate is a relief image.

Watkins inks this plate each time he produces an etching. The ink that he carefully wipes on

Good portfolio is key to an artist's job

This is another in a series of lessons on art and drawing by special columnist David Messing. He has taught for eight years and operates an art store, Art Store and More, 18774 Middlebelt, Livonia. Messing encourages questions and comments from readers. You may write him at his store or c/o Observer Newspapers, 23352 Farmington Road, Farmington MI 48024.

By David P. Messing
staff writer

With my hair greased back and my best (only) suit on I snapped my portfolio together and marched straight from a college campus to my first job interview.

My degree in fine arts is one half advertising design and one half sculpture. That means I can wear a suit and look like a commercial artist, or wear a flannel shirt and bluejeans and look like a sculptor.

But this interview was for an illustrator so I suited up for the occasion.

With a shiny face and a head full of confidence, I sat before the man who was to interview me. Even though he was a thin little fellow, who nervously bit his nails, he completely disarmed me with his first question. He asked: "What do you have in the way of product illustration?"

The room got hot and my tie seemed awfully tight. I had nothing in my portfolio that could be considered product illustration. So I figured I would dazzle him with the quantity of "A" marks I received. I rapidly pulled pieces of artwork out of my portfolio and began laying them all over this poor fellow's desk, lap and office.

SAVING the best for last, I slowly pulled out my detailed drawing of the human body, everything in proportion, every bone muscle, cartilage and tendon properly labeled. I even forgot to erase the big red "A" on the cover sheet.

Then with a stoic monotone voice he asked, "But can you draw a toaster?" ... So there we were he was thinking "I don't care what you got an 'A' on. Can you do commercial art?" and I was thinking "Hey man, what planet are you from! If I can do all these lessons and get good grades of course I can draw toasters?"

Artifacts

We were both right. He was right in wanting to see something showing my ability to fill his specific need. I was right in knowing that I could do that type of artwork. But I presented a very weak portfolio and sadly enough was totally unaware of its deficiencies.

A degree is certainly important, but your portfolio is what will get you the job! Looking back at many freelance interviews I had, I do not recall anyone ever asking if I had a degree in art. But I certainly remember at most interviews, the statement, "Let's see what your portfolio looks like."

Unusual shots win oohs, aahs

All photographers like to have their egos stroked with the "oohs" and "aahs" of appreciation by those who see their pictures.

Positive feedback serves as an incentive to make you want to go out and shoot more photos.

How can you improve your pictures to get such positive acclaim? One way is to always be on the lookout for the unusual, which, most often, is right there in front of you.

As you look through the viewfinder of your camera, really begin to "see." For example, a shadow cast by an early morning or late afternoon sun can add that extra touch to your shot.

BACK LIGHT can transform your subject into an unusual, dramatic silhouette. How about an unusual cloud formation or perhaps an approaching thunderstorm?

A keen photographer's eye can isolate a small detail or pattern that will produce a photograph of unusual quality. Even using backgrounds effectively will add important impact to your shot.

And keeping your eyes open for an exciting splash of color may be the final ingredient for that special shot.

Don't overlook reflections either and pay close attention to careful framing and composition, all of which will generate those "oohs" and "aahs."

USING your camera's controls creatively can add the unusual to your pictures, too. Slow shutter speeds can blur the action and give a misty, dreamlike appearance to subjects such as flowing water.

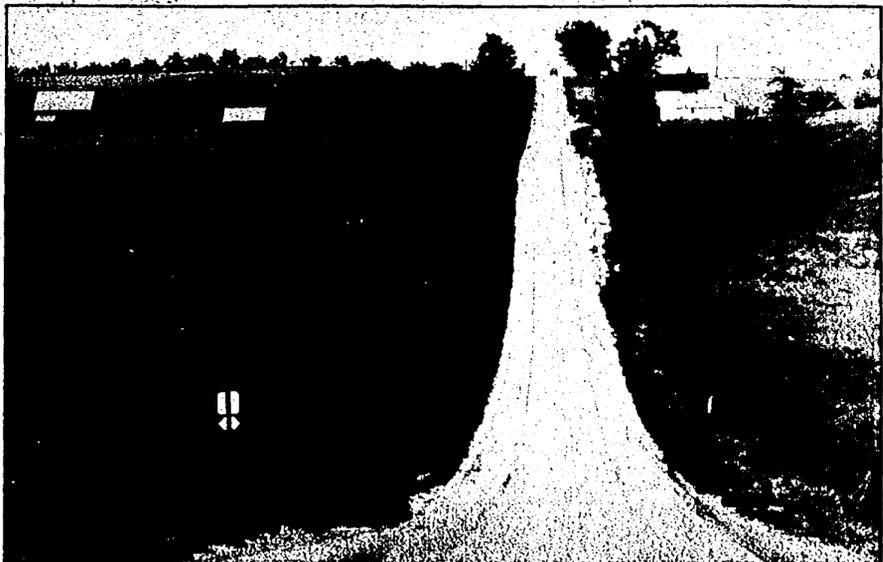

Fast shutter speeds will freeze the action at its peak. Remember that your aperture control regulates depth-of-field that in turn can be used to get an unusual look to your pictures.

Even candid shots will capture that unusual expression that is so elusive in posed portraits.

For you vacationers, put your traveler's vision in gear and be on the lookout for the unusual. An obscure street scene or other out-of-the-way image will add impact and interest to your travel photographs.

In summary, it's okay to deviate from the norm in your photography. Being a little "unusual" in your thinking will reward you with pictures of which you'll be proud.

With care in composition, Monte Nagler was able to transform an ordinary road scene into an unusual image. Note that he waited until the car was exactly at the top of the hill before he tripped the shutter.

Kidd, will be on display at the Kidd Gallery, 107 Townsend, Birmingham, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 3. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday.

Items for the exhibitions listing should arrive a week before the publication date. Please include brief information about the art event, time, place, opening and closing dates and hours. Send to Exhibitions, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Box 503, Birmingham 48012.

Los Angeles 1984 Olympic Games

Art and Olympics

The 36-by-24 poster by David Hockney is one of the 1984 Olympic Fine Arts Posters which will be on display at Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum through Sept. 14. The project, sponsored by Buick Motor Division, drew upon the talents of many well-known contemporary American artists. It is one of many Olympic events which Buick is sponsoring. The museum, 550 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills, is open 1-5 p.m. daily except Mondays and major holidays.

Cranbrook Gardens open through fall

Except for Cranbrook Gardens, Cranbrook Educational Community will be closed Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 5. The gardens will be open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. that day.

Following Labor Day, the public is invited to visit the world-renowned gardens 1-5 p.m. every day throughout September and 1-5 p.m. weekends during October.

Featured are trees, shrubs and late blooming flowers — giant mums, marigolds, salvia and zinnias among others — at their peak of early fall color.

In addition, visitors will enjoy European fountains and statuary, an Oriental garden complete with miniature rock island, ponds, cascades, a Greek amphitheatre, a lake, a newly renovated boat house and rolling hills.

Cranbrook's 40 acres of gardens are part of the estate of Cranbrook founders, the late George and Ellen Scripps Booth. They are maintained by Cranbrook House and Garden Auxiliary members.

Admission to the gardens is $2 for adults, $1.50 for students and senior citizens. Entrance is at 380 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills. For information, call 645-3149.

Portfolio is the key to a job

JUST THINK, perhaps one of your pieces might be the one that sways a decision for you, or against you. Frightening? Not really. Imagine what an actor or an actress must endure at an audition. They, regardless of how talented they may be, are only considered for moments at a time.

Their total ability could not rightfully be presented in the stress of a live audition. But as an artist you can pour hours of drawing, and redrawing if necessary, to make your portfolio the very best representation of your ability in art.

So what is a good portfolio? In the field of commercial art, I feel you must have a small representation of some of the basic media. That is to say, your best pencil drawing, pen and ink watercolor and or oil painting, etc. But most certainly you must have commercial looking pieces of artwork.

For example camera-ready artwork, like pen and ink drawing of some product. One nice way to do this is to decide on a product, like an electric drill or hair dryer etc. and render it in pencil, pen and ink with half-tone screens, black pencil on coquille board, gray wash, watercolor and airbrush.

OF COURSE, drawing six pictures of dad's electric drill won't go down as your life's most exciting moments, but there is just a chance that this insert into your portfolio may be the one to earn you a job. You should also have one logo and letterhead design, a fashion design, one technical illustration, one automotive drawing and a good cartoon.

Then insert whatever falls in line with the job you are applying for. For example: medical illustrations for an application to be a medical illustrator.

A logo and letterhead design shows your ability to express a feeling with type and your ability to line up this type on a letterhead in a visually attractive manner. Fashion design shows your ability to render textiles and how you position the human body to emphasize the fashion and not the body.

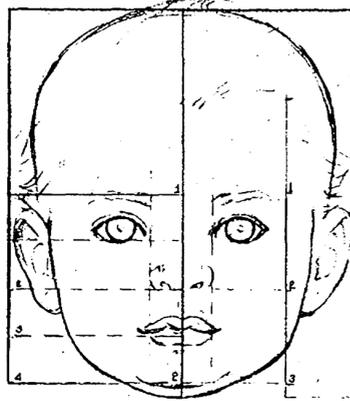

Fashion design is also a good place to produce a convincing logo. Technical illustration can be anything from an exploded drawing of a tool or piece of machinery to architectural drawing. Here show your ability to be technical and precise yet artistic enough to make an attractive presentation.

IN AN automotive drawing strive to show accuracy and cleanliness of line without sacrificing artistic style and looseness. Don't forget a good cartoon. This shows your full range of ability, and cartoons are a very good money-maker, especially if your cartoons have a particular style.

Style in cartooning is a visual expression of your own particular manner of lines and shapes. Though it is good to be influenced by the style of other cartoonists, it is a definite "no-no" to copy the style of another artist.

ARTFUL HINT: Often something as unexpected as your own fingernail can mar a mat in your portfolio. To fix this, you lightly mist some water onto a folded piece of paper towel. Then scrub the entire mat. This will rework the tooth of the mat and when dry, restore uniform color to the mat.

Q. I am having fits trying to draw my baby grandchild. How do you draw babies?

A. Babies are very difficult to draw especially if you try to draw them in lines only. Always draw them in shades rather than lines. As far as proportions go the eyebrows are at the half way line of the head.

The bottom half is the hard part because all those cute little features are located there. So divide the bottom half into fourths. The bottom of the eyelid touches the one-fourth line. The bottom of the nose touches the half-line.

The lips are just up from the three-quarter line and the chin is at the bottom. Don't forget the usual double chin. Be sure to make the lips and the nose about the same width and remember to keep the eyes wide apart.

Drawings are from "Walter Foster Book # 197," "Drawing the Head" by Andrew Loomis.
