3 suspended for gun in school

By C. L. Rugenstein
staff writer

Wayne-Westland school officials have suspended three Adams Junior High School boys involved in a gun-selling incident March 9.

The students, two 15-year-olds and one 14-year-old, are Inkster residents.

Police have charged the two 15-year-olds with carrying a concealed weapon. Police have petitioned juvenile court to schedule a hearing on the charge.

The youths were released to their parents.

Adams Principal Ronald K. Stratton told police he received information March 9 about the purchase of a gun that was stored in the locker of a 14-year-old student.

Stratton and the 14-year-old student retrieved the gun, a .38-caliber Smith & Wesson revolver and two bullets, from a gray duffel bag inside the locker.

The principal called police, who confiscated the gun.

According to police, the two 15-year-olds were involved with the gun purchase when one teen took his grandfather's gun and sold it to the other for $100. The grandfather had inherited the gun from another family member, and had not registered it in his name, according to police.

The 14-year-old told police he didn't know the gun was in the duffel bag but he heard rumors around school that the other boy was buying the gun.

The 14-year-old said he was asked by the buyer of the gun to keep his bag in the locker, said police.

The boy who sold the gun said he stole it from his grandfather's house March 4, according to police. He told police he met the other boy inside the school. After the transaction the boy who bought the gun put it in his waistband to conceal it and went through the school, the report said.

THE BOY who bought the gun said he went to another part of the school after the transaction and put it in his bookbag, police said.

A hearing on the suspensions is scheduled this week, according to Dennis O'Neill, Wayne-Westland school superintendent.

"We've got to make sure, we're taking our time and getting all the facts in the situation," O'Neill said.

"To my knowledge, this is the first incident (involving a gun) at Adams," though there have been other incidents involving guns in schools, said Thomas Svitkovich, associate superintendent for communication and finance.

He said the three students involved in the incident could be expelled, reinstated, or suspended for a certain amount of time. The parents can also request that the upcoming hearing be an open or closed meeting.

Part of the investigation by the district's department of student services is to "determine motivation, circumstances, all the pertinent details" about the incident and why it happened, Svitkovich said.

When contacted by the Observer, the father of one of the 15-year-olds said he agreed with the suspension.

"At this point in time it's probably the best thing," he said.

THE SUSPENSIONS mark the second time in 11 months that a Wayne-Westland junior high student had brought a gun to school.

Last April, a Franklin Junior High boy brought an unloaded gun to school to "scare" classmates who were bullying him, he said at the time.

The boy and another youngster who hid the gun in his locker were suspended and later expelled from the school district by the board of education.

Movie theater breaks ground

Local moviegoers should have eight new screens to choose from in time for Hollywood's blockbuster Christmas releases.

Construction of the Showcase movie complex on Wayne Road, between Warren Road and Hunter, should be complete "sometime between Thanksgiving and Christmas," said Robert Schwick, district manager for National Amusements Inc., the Boston-based operator of Showcase Cinemas.

The complex will be built on a 9.88-acre site immediately south of the Comerica Bank branch.

Company officials joined Mayor Charles Griffin and city officials and employees Thursday at the ground-breaking ceremony.

The movie house, announced last summer, will be the city's second. National Amusements owns the Major crime drops; sex assaults increase

By Todd Schneider
staff writer

Major crimes in Westland decreased 12 percent in 1988, the first time the crime rate has dropped since the early 1980s.

Westland police executive Lt. Michael Frayer called the news "a good sign" and said some of the department's newer prevention and enforcement programs appeared to be paying dividends.

The 1988 figures, compiled by the Michigan State Police and released by Westland police last week, showed a decrease in the number of major crimes from 5,124 in 1987 to 4,576 last year. That follows annual increases of 2.9 percent for 1987 and

In 1988, city police investigated 40 rapes, up 74 percent from the 23 in 1987 and more than triple the 1986 figure of 13.

Crime categories showing decreases in 1988 were robbery, down 7 percent; larceny, 17 percent; vehicle theft, 6 percent; and arson, 21 percent.

Frayer said fewer vehicle thefts were due in part to the department's increased attention in that area.

"WE'VE ASSIGNED more people to auto theft and we've also hooked up with the western Wayne (County) consortium," he said. The consortium is a special investigative unit that includes officers from several western Wayne County departments.

Other tactics cited by Frayer included the department's mobile command center, which he credited with lowering the number of larcenies.

A glass act Craftsman has the 'light' touch

By Lynn Waldsmith
special writer

If President George Bush wants to see "a thousand points of light," he should pay a visit to George Sinkovitch of Westland.

Sinkovitch, 74, spends much of his time making stained glass, Tiffany style lamps. Dozens of them hang from the ceiling or adorn table tops in his living room, kitchen, bedroom and basement.

Most are for sale, but when one lamp is sold it doesn't take long for Sinkovitch to replace it with another one that he's just completed. The World War II veteran began his stained glass hobby shortly after he retired and met his wife, Doloris, 11 years ago. The two met at a singles' dance, and they've been ballroom dancing together ever since as husband and wife.

"You can do what you want to do." One day Doloris came home from the beauty salon where she had purchased some small stained glass ornaments that looked like birds. Sinkovitch was hooked.

"Life begins after 60," Sinkovitch

"I thought to myself, 'I can do that,'" he said. "And so I decided to take some lessons."

AFTER taking a few classes, Sinkovich started out making little things on his back porch like ornaments and terrariums, and eventually he graduated to mirrors, clocks, Tiffany lamps, and windows.

As the amount of wire, tools, glass, lamp sockets, and other supplies began to pile up, he moved his workbench into the basement where he began making original Louis Tiffany patterns — the most difficult and detailed kind of Tiffany lamp with 200-500 pieces of glass.

Friends soon began placing orders, and since then, Sinkovich's work has appeared in numerous art shows.

Recently he donated a 24-inch, hanging Tiffany lamp to the Friendship House in Westland because he enjoys the services it offers to senior citizens.

Working with stained glass is not an easy hobby. The process involves cutting the glass, grinding it, wrapping it in copper foil, assembling and gluing the pieces together, and sometimes painting the pieces.

The hobby is also a time-consuming one. Sinkovich says it takes him one to two months to make a lamp, but he usually works on a stained glass project for one-four hours a day.

Learning how to work with stained glass can be difficult and frustrating. For a beginner, cutting the glass is the hardest part of the process.

IT HAS to be cut with absolute precision or else the glass will break or crack. Cutting small pieces or curved, intricate pieces can bring on an anxiety attack to even the most skilled artisan.

"You have to have a lot of patience," Sinkovich advises. "Because if you break a piece of glass or something like that, why it hits you in the pocketbook. And sometimes you cut your finger and stuff like that. But that's how you learn. You learn by doing it."

Accuracy, precision, a knack for detail, and patience are the qualifications that are needed to enjoy the art of stained glass. Doloris says her husband is also a perfectionist. She recalls one time when George discovered that a lamp he had nearly completed wasn't quite right.

"It was so gorgeous, but it didn't meet to suit him," she said. "And when I walked out there (on the porch) he had taken everything apart. Everything. And he started all over again with about 200 pieces."

Sinkovich says he's since learned his lesson. The best advice he has for those who want to take up the hobby is to never rush but do the work slowly and carefully. He also advised people to buy 25 percent more glass than they need because of breakage and because it's often not easy to match the glass later.

Although the hobby can be trying at times, Sinkovich says working with stained glass gives him great personal satisfaction.

"WHEN YOU'RE doing something like this, when you're creating something, you can hardly wait until you get to the end of it to see how it's going to look," he said. "And I try to make something different every time."

Sinkovich has been asked to teach some stained glass classes, but he says he doesn't really have the time. Between golf, bowling, ballroom dancing, and his stained glass hobby, he manages to keep pretty busy.

city's only current theater complex, the six-screen Quo Vadis on Wayne Road, north of Warren Road.

The company, which bought the Quo Vadis in 1986 from the Shafer family, is also planning a "major renovation" of that complex following the completion of the new theaters, Schwick said.

ALTHOUGH THE two theaters will be about a half-mile apart, the company believes a city the size of Westland (population 81,190, according to 1985 census figures) should be able to support 14 screens.

Theaters in the new complex will feature 70mm projection systems and stereo sound. First-run films will be shown in eight theaters with 200-300 seats each.

The lobby will include a contemporary art gallery and on-site parking will be available for 908 cars.

Griffin Thursday praised the company and city officials for working with homeowners from an adjacent subdivision who had expressed doubts about the project.

"When residents in the area voiced concern the city and National Amusements sat down with them and discussed ways in which their needs could be met," Griffin said.

Developers agreed to install parking lot lighting so that it faces away from the residential area.

In addition to the new theater and the Quo Vadis, National Amusements operates the Dearborn, Quo Vadis, Beacon East in Harper Woods, Summit Place Cinemas in Pontiac and Showcase Cinemas in Pontiac, Sterling Heights, Ann Arbor, Flint, Grand Rapids and Auburn Hills (under construction).

plifters and others charged with criminal offenses — was put into service during the holiday shopping season last December.

The unit was stationed in the parking lot of the WestRidge plaza and helped police "dramatically reduce" the number of seasonal crimes, Frayer said.

Although the overall crime rate is down, there are still problem areas.

For the second consecutive year, there was a large increase in the number of sexual assault cases handled by the department. In 1988, Westland police investigated 40 rapes, up 74 percent from the 23 investigated in 1987 and more than triple the 1986 figure of 13.

Frayer though, said rape statistics are misleading because far more people are reporting rapes than several years ago.

THERE WERE three homicides in 1988, down from five in 1987. The city had one murder in 1986 and four in 1985.

A 37-year-old Inkster man was shot to death Jan. 3 during an argument in the home of a Westland acquaintance.

A 40-year-old woman and her 25-year-old son were stabbed May 13 by a Detroit man during an argument in a field in the city's southeast section. The woman died that night and her son died several weeks later.

Frayer said the department's crime prevention bureau, established in April 1987, was beginning to show positive results. "(The bureau) contacted between 10,000 and 15,000 people last year and that's got to have some affect on crime," he said.

He also noted fewer juvenile offenses reported to the department and said that could mean fewer juveniles committing major crimes in future years.

Vandals hit Westland cars

Vandals smashed windows on 10-20 cars in Westland's north end late Friday or early Saturday, police said.

Some car stereos and other items inside the cars were stolen during the apparent spree. Damaged cars were on streets north of Ann Arbor Trail on both sides of Merriman.

An investigation is continuing, and police have identified a vehicle driven by possible suspects.

A Sandra Street resident said at least five cars parked on her street were vandalized, including a late model Ford Mustang and a Nissan owned by members of her family.

"My daughter found the damage when she went out to her car about 6:30 a.m. to go to work," the woman said. "We didn't hear anything earlier, but the thunder from the storm may have covered it up."

IMAGINE DYING FROM A DISEASE YOU NEVER KNEW YOU HAD.

Eleven million people in the U.S. have diabetes. But almost half of them don't know it.

Untreated, diabetes can lead to heart disease, kidney disease, blindness and gangrene.

And for 150,000 people each year, it leads to death.

That's why you should be aware of the symptoms of diabetes: blurred vision, excessive thirst and frequent urination are just some of the warning signs. Because the sooner you find out if you have diabetes, the more likely you are to get it under control, before complications set in.

Finding out you have diabetes can be scary. But not finding out can be fatal.

John Glenn High School students got the dramatic message that alcohol and drugs are harmful and they should avoid the myth that substance abuse is fun.

By C. L. Rugestein
staff writer

Drugs not answer, show tells students

Basically, the plays were about the search for the perfect "high" — whether it came from drugs or alcohol. But there was no snickering or whispering back and forth in the audience of approximately 200 teenagers as the players on Westland's John Glenn High School stage dramatized the tyranny of substance abuse.

Then, when the five playlets of the program "Running on High" by Crossroads Productions Inc., ended and the cast invited them to ask questions, the students were quiet.

But gradually they started talking — questioning and sharing their experiences with the actors and Joe Musial, a substance abuse specialist at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

That was the purpose of the event — to help young people understand how substance abuse hurts their lives. The program also provided students with answers as to where to find help to "avoid becoming lured into one of the most serious problems facing our youths today," according to a Crossroads brochure.

"We're here to let you know you have choices," said Miriam Yezbick, a troupe member.

"A true friend will respect your beliefs and not ridicule you if you don't drink or do drugs with them," Yezbick said in a scenario about peer pressure.

And, "No one likes to be left out, but when it comes to your own well-fare you have to draw the line." The intent expressions of the student audience showed the dramas hit home.

IN THE subsequent discussion, several students told about friends involved in drugs, and wanted to know how to help them.

Musial also met with and counseled about seven students in the library about their problems and where to find help.

He recommended support groups like Al-Anon for families of alcoholics and substance abusers, and the Wayne/Westland Schools Substance Abuse Task Force.

The Substance Abuse Task Force is a school-based program that has been in existence for three years, Musial said.

The purpose is to coordinate and implement substance abuse programs for students. It's staffed by volunteers, like chairman Jim Couillard at Adams junior high in Westland, Musial said, so there's no cost to the school district.

BUT, SAID Musial, "It's hard for teens or children to go to groups, they have a problem getting to the first meeting. They need a family member — an aunt, uncle, godparent or adult neighbor to take them."

If the parents are users, it's doubtful they would take the student to the first meeting, because that would be admitting there's a problem, Musial said.

"It's also important for teachers or concerned adults to validate the student's problem," Musial said, "that what the child is going through is real, and that they're not alone."

He also recommended Annapolis Hospital's assessment program.

"For any parent/teacher/physician who suspects or is certain an adolescent is experiencing any type of substance abuse problem," Musial said, "we pride ourselves on good assessments."

THEY DO make referrals to long-term programs if the person is not eligible for out-patient care, Musial added.

Though a couple of the Crossroads actors told of their substance abuse problems, the troupe members (Yezbick, Mary Nigohosian, Mitch Troska and Rick Fredericks) were not chosen because they had problems, artistic director John Puchalski said.

"The thing is, it's rare to find an actor who hasn't been affected by the problem in some way," Puchalski said.

Puchalski and his partner Don Calamia started Crossroads about 10 years ago specifically to address the problems of young people.

At the time they both worked with the now-defunct Southfield Repertory Theater doing children's theater.

"WE WERE sitting in a restaurant one day — and I said 'There's a need for this; why isn't anyone doing it?'" Puchalski noted. "So we did it."

Added Calamia: "Social drama was always something I wanted to get into."

They do programs that address other problems as well, like one on AIDS that Calamia is writing now. Calamia has written most of the material for the company.

"We have a program on divorce, 'My Family — Divorced?'" he said. They generally do mass mailings of fliers to schools to get the word out about their service. Many of their bookings have been by word of mouth.

THAT'S HOW Armando Delicato, John Glenn's media specialist who was responsible for bringing the troupe in as a special presentation, heard of the troupe.

"It was a stab in the dark, I hadn't seen them before," said Delicato, who works with programs for the school's honor society and gifted students.

He wanted to bring in something with a more general appeal for all students this time, he said. The honor society and the school's Student's Against Drunk Driving chapter had a fund-raiser to bring in the Crossroads troupe.

USUALLY, there's a fee for the Crossroads performances, but Don Calamia said they have a dozen free performances available (from grant funds) of the divorce program. Interested persons may contact Calamia at 537-4860.

Musial can be reached at Annapolis Hospital, 467-4167.

The Northwest Alanon Club, at 33344 Ann Arbor Trail, Westland, has several social functions throughout the week as well as support groups for all ages, Musial said. For information call 527-4610.

"We're a society that's into drinking," Yezbick said at the end of the program. "Advertisers tell us we can't have fun without drinking and we believe them."

Judging by the reaction of the John Glenn students, it's time to buy out of the myth.

Troupe members gave the performance at a John Glenn High assembly.

Wayne Memorial plans honor

Wayne Memorial High School will renew a tradition in awarding the annual "Distinguished Alumni" medal at this spring's commencement to a former graduate of the school.

"We have had many outstanding people graduate from Wayne Memorial," said principal Francis Winter.

"Many have contributed significantly to the betterment of society on a local, state, national or international level.

"The award is our way of honoring an outstanding graduate on an annual basis."

Each winner is awarded a gold medal inscribed with the Wayne Memorial official seal.

"This is an opportunity for our most recent alumni, those involved in the commencement, to hear first hand from a former alumnus who has made his/her mark on society," said Winter.

PERHAPS THE hardest part of the award is to locate the many alumni who have distinguished themselves since their graduation, Winter said.

For that reason, Wayne Memorial is asking the community to help in its search.

"If anyone wishes to nominate a Wayne Memorial graduate, they can fill out the nominating form and return this form to Wayne Memorial," Winter said.

A committee has been established at the school to select the 1989 winner. The name of the award winner will be announced in mid-May with the winner to be honored at the school's June 10 commencement.

Those interested in nominating graduates may contact Joyce Condra, Winter's secretary.

Public aid totals down in area

State Sen. George Hart, D-Dearborn, said 6.7 percent of the residents in his senate district received public assistance as of January, one-third less than the state figure, according to a Michigan Department of Social Services report.

Hart's district includes Garden City and other western Wayne County communities.

"Although the overall state totals for public assistance recipients have dropped significantly from the record highs of March 1983, there are still many people, especially children, who depend upon the safety net provided by the various public assistance programs," Hart said.

According to DSS officials, a record 1.2 million people, or about 13.5 percent of the state's population, received either Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), General Assistance (GA) or food stamps in March of 1983.

As of January, about 10 percent of the state's population received assistance through those programs.

In Hart's district, DSS reported that there were 9,700 recipients of "regular" AFDC as of January in a program that provides assistance to one-parent families and is based on a parent being absent or unable to work.

The senator said there were 3,000 residents in the district getting AFDC funds under an unemployed parent program, which provides help to two-parent families in which the primary wage earner is unemployed.

The AFDC programs are funded with approximately 54 percent federal funds and 46 percent state funds.

HART SAID that 2,300 district residents received help through the General Assistance program in January, which is funded entirely with state dollars to both jobless single persons and married persons who do not have children.

Blanchard applauds 'core curriculum' bill

By Tim Richard, staff writer

Gov. James J. Blanchard, emphasizing higher school quality over finance reform, applauded the state Senate's passage of three improvement bills.

"They should do quality before they ask voters for support (for new money). Money itself will not do the job," the governor said during a Troy interview. "Those are good. We applaud them."

The Senate recently gave 28-5 approval to bills to require a state-approved core curriculum and an annual report to the public in every school district on self-improvement efforts. A third bill, requiring a five-year improvement plan in every district, was passed 25-9.

They go now to the House.

SEN. R. ROBERT Geake, R-Northville, was the only area lawmaker to oppose them.

"They all moved away from local control and give authority to the state and the state Board of Education," Geake said. "The state board is not a very visible body. I've always been a local control advocate."

Because Michigan is so diverse, with districts ranging from inner city to farming to the remote Upper Peninsula, Geake said, districts should set their own standards.

Sen. Ed Fredricks, R-Holland, had a different complaint — that the core curriculum bill was "reduced to the point that it doesn't do anything at all." Fredricks said the bill fails to list values and set goals.

Absent from the session was Sen. Richard Pessler, R-Commerce.

SUPPORTERS of the three bills pointed to the 1987 Michigan School Finance Commission call for a core curriculum. But they admitted there was no guarantee that all 560 school districts would adopt it.

The core curriculum, to be developed by the state board, is expected to include math, science, social studies, communications skills, health and physical education.

Lawmakers expect minimal costs for developing a core curriculum.

But they foresee the cost of annual improvement plans at about $5,000 a building — millions statewide.

BLANCHARD TOLD the Troy Chamber of Commerce, hosting 120 high school juniors and seniors, that the state is working on an "employability test" for graduates.

"Many kids who graduate have a piece of paper, but they don't even qualify for a basic training program," he said, making an exception for his audience.

"We brought together 140 different employers in Michigan — everything from banks to retail outlets to computers, both manufacturing and non-manufacturing. We asked their personnel directors to establish a profile of what a young person should have to be ready to be hired for a first-time job or be ready to be trained.

"We're going to see how we can measure it (the profile) so that schools can use that measure some time in the middle of high school."

'They (lawmakers) should do quality before they ask voters for support (for new money). Money itself will not do the job.'

—Gov. James J. Blanchard

Speaking fees fatten reps' pay

The amount area congressmen received in speaking fees ranged from more than $100,000 to as little as nothing, according to a recently released report covering the years 1983-87.

U.S. Rep. William Ford, D-Taylor, received $105,490 in honoraria, third highest among Michigan's 18 congressmen for the period, according to a recently published survey by Common Cause, a Washington-based consumer lobbying organization.

Ford, chairman of the House Post Office Committee, represents southern Livonia, Westland, Garden City and Canton Township. The report showed the veteran congressman's 1987 income from speech fees nearly doubled the amount he received five years earlier.

IN CONTRAST, Rep. Sander

Levin, D-Southfield, ranked at the bottom of the list. Levin, who represents Redford Township, was one of two members of the Michigan House delegation who accepted no speaking fees for the period.

Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, accepted $24,300 in speech fees over the period, ninth among the 15 congressmen who served for the full five-year period. Pursell's district includes northern Livonia, Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Speech fees, also known as honoraria, were heavily discussed during the recent debate on congressional pay increases. One motion, later rejected, would have allowed Congress a pay raise in return for abandoning the fees.

Reps. John Dingell, D-Trenton, and Guy Vander Jagt, R-Luther, accepted the most in speaking fees among the Michigan delegation, Common Cause reported.

3 school quality bills

Here is what three Senate-passed bills aimed at improving school quality would do:

• SB 39 — The state would develop a core curriculum, along with general objectives and topics for each course, and transmit it to all districts.

The local school board would determine the courses for the district and at what grade level they would be offered. A subject could be offered by a district, the intermediate district or a consortium of districts.

Sponsor: Dan L. DeGow, R-Port Huron.

• SB 40 — Local districts would have to publish an annual report to the public revealing: accreditation status of each school, a copy of the core curriculum, a report of aggregate student achievement and competency tests, the number and percentage of dropouts by grade level.

Other parts must show public participation: the percentage of households that take advantage of parent-teacher conferences, and the numbers of people who serve as volunteers in school classrooms, libraries, lunchrooms and playgrounds.

Sponsor: John Schwartz, R-Battle Creek.

• SB 43 — Using state criteria, each district must adopt a 3-5-year school improvement plan and report its progress each year (SB 40).

THE FOOT IN RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

When you think of rheumatoid arthritis you may imagine someone with swollen knuckles, whose fingers stand out at odd angles. But a person with the arthritis may tell you that the cause of the condition is in the feet.

Rheumatoid arthritis attacks the heads of the metatarsal bones (the ball of the foot). This site takes the brunt of the push-off force that initiates walking and is vulnerable to inflammation.

Initially, a callus develops at the ball of the rheumatoid foot, then the toes deviate laterally. Finally, the bones that make up the ball of the foot drop. As each of these changes occur, walking becomes more painful, limited and slow.

Medication rarely suffices. Arch supports and more elaborate devices, called orthotics, to shore up the foot are of limited value as distortions of the foot are ongoing. Molded forms don't keep up with these changes and tend to rub where bracing was the intent. Shoes that include a thick sole, flat heel, and roomy interior for the toes, provide better assistance. The last resort is surgery which generally consists of realignment of the toes along with remodeling of the metatarsal heads.

Suburbs key to school tax plan — governor

By Tim Richard
staff writer

The people who must sell school tax reform to voters should be involved in designing the package, Gov. James J. Blanchard said.

Blanchard added that suburban senators were the key to defeat of last week's proposal and deserve more attention because "they represent the ticket splitters, the undecided voters."

"I'm proposing we gather together the leaders of major organizations to talk about what we can get going right away," he said. He pinpointed the Michigan Municipal League, Michigan Association of Counties, Michigan Manufacturers Association, Michigan Townships Association, League of Women Voters, the state Chamber of Commerce and his office.

"This current plan was a product of education organizations and legislators. We'd be better off to re-work something that has more broad-based support," Blanchard said in a Troy interview Thursday.

THE LEGISLATURE is on a two-week break following Wednesday's third Senate rejection of the so-called Nye-Oxender House Joint Resolution B. It offered voters $1.1 billion in school property tax cuts in exchange for a $1.6 billion increase in the sales tax and more money for every school district, particularly poor ones.

The vote was 24-14, with 26 votes, or two-thirds, needed to place the constitutional amendment on the May 16 ballot. That was the last date the amendment could have been approved to take effect in the next school fiscal year.

"Ten of the 12 suburban senators voted no," Blanchard noted. "The common thread is not their party, not whether they liked me or liked the MEA, or are conservatives or liberals. The story is they're suburban senators."

— Gov. James Blanchard

All seven Observer & Eccentric area senators voted no.

"The Legislature obviously doesn't like my plan," said Blanchard, referring to votes last December. But he added it was simpler than the 17-page Nye-Oxender plan, named for two rural Republican representatives who pushed it. The governor said everyone should get "a straight property tax cut for schools — not some more, some less."

THE NYE-OXENDER plan was based on a report by the 1987 Michigan School Finance Commission. Both had provisions to pump new money into poorer school districts, both inner city and rural.

That report, Blanchard said, "came up with a lot of good ideas, but no one ever was asked if they'd be willing to finance the campaign." Meanwhile, 250 school superintendents are raising $500,000 to file suit against the state April 1 in Wayne County Circuit Court to end funding disparities between districts.

They are known as the "In Formula Caucus" of the Michigan Association of School Administrators.

"In Formula" means they get state aid — but not enough, in their view. Many have budgets of $2,000 to $3,000 per pupil, while suburban districts with higher property tax bases get no aid but can spend more than $6,000 per pupil.

AFTER DEFEATING the Nye-Oxender plan, senators late Wednesday took a look at a new Republican school plan.

But Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, said it received little support in either caucus. The Senate adjourned Thursday afternoon without acting on it.

The GOP plan would have cut property taxes by reducing the base — cutting assessments on residential and farm property to 27.5 percent of market value and business taxes to 40 percent. The constitution requires assessments be at 50 percent.

Lost revenue would be made up by raising the sales tax from 4 percent to 6 — just as in the Nye-Oxender and the School Finance Commission plans.

Every district would be guaranteed at least $3,300 per pupil. K-12 schools would be guaranteed 10 percent of the state general fund budget versus the current 7.4 percent.

Sen. Richard Fessler, R-Commerce, said the key to voter approval in his Oakland County district is stopping huge increases in property assessments.

Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, said Michigan has too many tiny school districts that aren't economically viable. "We need to force some consolidation. Some of you shudder at it. Why should you put Band-Aids on the dead?"

Sheriff files with high court on jail

By Wayne Pool
staff writer

A new man took charge of the Wayne County Jail on Thursday, after Sheriff Robert Ficano lost his initial bid to halt the action.

The sheriff, however, filed another bid with the state supreme court.

Former county youth home director Pete Wilson is now overseeing jail operations.

Wilson was hand-picked for the job by county Executive Edward McNamara. McNamara's office assumed control of the jail under terms of a February ruling by chief Wayne County Circuit Judge Richard Kaufman.

"Pete Wilson went in, met with the people and got everything in motion," said McNamara spokeswoman Irma Clark.

THE JUDGE appointed McNamara jail receiver for one year and ordered him to improve jail conditions under terms of a 1971 inmate lawsuit.

Thursday's takeover marked the first time in county history someone other than the sheriff held responsibility for the jail.

Ficano sought a stay order from the Michigan Court of Appeals, delaying the takeover. Appeals judges rejected the motion Thursday, clearing the way for Wilson.

Ficano, however, filed another request for a stay order with the Michigan Supreme court.

As of the close of business Friday, the high court hadn't acted upon his request.

"It's really their timetable," Ficano said.

Ficano will also receive the opportunity to appeal the ruling before an appeals court panel, but the panel's ruling could be a long time coming.

"THE APPEALS court will issue a decision, but that decision could be some time in the distant future," court spokesman Norbert Jaworski said.

The sheriff said he will comply with the terms of Kaufman's ruling until a stay is issued or his appeal is upheld.

Kaufman, in his Feb. 16 ruling, said Ficano failed to bring the jail into compliance with terms of the 18-year-old lawsuit. McNamara was appointed jail receiver because of his familiarity with the jail and because he already held review powers over the jail budget, said Kaufman in a 92-page ruling.

The sheriff said he will comply with the terms of Kaufman's ruling until a stay is issued or his appeal is upheld.

Business seminar set

A free workshop in how to start and operate a small business will be held 7 p.m. Wednesday, March 29, at the Plymouth Hilton, 14707 Northville Road. The workshop is sponsored by the Wayne State University School of Business.

Topics to be discussed include: the 10 hottest businesses for 1989; the 20 biggest pitfalls to starting a business, how to slash hundreds of dollars off small business taxes and how to start a businesses with limited cash.

Though the two-hour workshop is free, seating is limited. Those who wish to attend are advised to arrive early to be sure they have a seat. Additional information is available by calling 577-4354.

Let criminals know they're not welcome

MANY SUBURBAN police chiefs report crime has declined overall last year in their communities, which is good news.

The only concern now is how to keep it out.

Do we build a "Great Anti-Crime Wall" with barbed wire? Line our forces up at the border? Take a cue from the riot patrols in Miami and keep a line of patrol cars driving round and round the border?

Just as government belongs to the people, so should our houses, streets and neighborhoods. The best way to help avoid crime is to get involved, know what's happening in your neighborhood and your city, and let the criminal element know they're not welcome.

Police officers in Redford and Farmington attribute part of the reason for the crime decline to the active Neighborhood Watch program.

Police like the program because it activates citizen awareness and stimulates communication between police departments and the residents they serve.

IN SMALL, communities police are able to work closely with everyone. Each suspicious circumstance can be followed up by a visit from an officer and an investigation, if necessary.

In the suburbs, the system has worked well having residents be the eyes and ears for the police who do not encourage residents to patrol by car or on foot. And residents are told not to investigate.

But what about larger, urban and suburban settings where the police can't get to the scene as quickly? Or the larger, rural settings where residents rely on a county sheriff's department or one state police post to handle the calls?

One citizens group in the Los Angeles area has taken its cause to the street. Called the Beat Keepers, the group comes out of their homes — sometimes in groups of 20 — to put out a presence and let the crack kingpins that roam their streets know they don't own them.

They refuse to play the traditional role of being victims and witnesses, and are more than eyes and ears for police.

Casey Hans

SOME DISMISS them as vigilantes, and liken them to New York's Guardian Angels.

But the Beat Keepers do more than deal with crime. They have neighborhood subcommittees to paint over graffiti, work on gardens, find jobs and other things relevant to their daily lives.

What they've done is taken charge of their lives — and their neighborhoods.

Maybe it's just an idea to encourage people to be neighborly — before any trouble has a chance to start. Knowing your neighborhood and how it works might just discourage crime from increasing.

Opposes shelf liquor sales

To the editor:

The Livonia City Council will discuss a request from a major food retailer to be authorized to merchandise liquor on open shelves in a new store that is proposed for construction in Livonia.

I am opposed to any changes in the city regulations that would allow any retail outlet to stock liquor on open shelves.

Liquor that is retailed in the licensed Livonia party and beverage stores, as we know, is all stocked on shelves located behind the counter.

An individual wishing to purchase must indicate a preference to a clerk who has a first-hand opportunity to control the dispensing of the liquor the customer wishes to purchase.

Liquor obtained from open shelves, and mixed in with a variety of other purchases, compromises the control of the sale of liquor. The confusion and rush to expedite the checking out of groceries invites the potential for underaged individuals and perhaps individuals who have already been drinking to purchase hard liquor.

Even though some of the liquor and party stores are sometimes guilty of violating liquor control laws, nevertheless it is a full-time business with them. If they show any pattern of being lax the liquor commission eventually revokes their license to sell liquor.

If changes were made to stock liquor on open shelves the opportunity to engage in the illegal act of shoplifting for this commodity would increase.

I realize that, although the State of Michigan attempts to carefully control the distribution and sales of liquor, there are still instances where underaged and intoxicated individuals are able to obtain it, contrary to the state laws and regulations. Nev-

Looking only at taxes comes up shortsighted

IF POLITICIANS often view taxpayers as suckers, there's good reason. Taxpayers can be pretty gullible.

Remember the taxpayers' revolution of the late 1970s? California had Proposition 13. Michigan passed the 1978 Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment. Other states had their own versions.

Well, this newspaper tried to tell you it wouldn't work. We were right, and those who bought into the taxpayer revolt got suckered.

THE REBELS couldn't get it through their heads that not all governmental revenues are taxes. There are also fees.

The rebels sought to limit taxes and failed to limit fees. Now we're suffering for it.

I steal the following numbers from the current issue of Governing, a magazine you won't find at the supermarket checkout counter, but which local governmental officials know well:

- In 1976 nationwide, localities raised 45 cents in user fees for every $1 in taxes.
- In 1987 they were collecting 61 cents in user fees for every $1 in taxes.

"They're no longer a trend; they're an institution," wrote Penelope Lemov. "Since the mid-1970s, revenues from user fees imposed by local governments nationwide have more than tripled; growing from $30 billion in 1976 to $98 billion in 1987."

Now will you tax rebels listen?

USER FEES have been replacing tax increases because they're notoriously easy to impose — divide and conquer.

A tax increase affects everyone, and sometimes you have to ask voter approval or win permission of the state Legislature.

But fees for garbage collection? A zoo? Using youth athletic fields? A fee for emergency hospital services? Fee after fee for building permits, inspection permits, electrical permits, plumbing permits?

At the state level, we have seen single-digit inflation and double-digit increases in college tuitions, which are fees. Students have seen registration fees, enrollment fees, computer fees, lab fees and two dozen others. The Michigan Legislature has hiked trailer registration fees, drivers license fees, chauffeur's license fees, park entrance fees.

And so on.

THE ALIBI given by our leaders is that, well, golly, they're paid by the people who use the service.

The logic is glib but shallow. If user fees are justified, why is government involved in this activity in the first place? One thinks of Lincoln's words — government should do for the people that which they cannot do for themselves, or not as well.

No, if government is going to do something, the admission price ought to be low.

Governing magazine has some happy news: There's now a revolt against user fees. Omaha's city council rejected higher ambulance fees; for fear they would discourage use of emergency services. Baton Rouge repealed a charge for fire inspections of business premises when business people became incensed — they said the general public benefited, not just business, and the general public should pay.

In Michigan last year, Gov. James J. Blanchard bludgeoned the university boards for double-digit tuition hikes. He saw a threat to his Michigan Education Trust, whose interest earnings were considerably less than the tuition hikes.

But this year he put only 3-4 percent more in university budgets, and one wonders if the fight will be repeated. And of course, Blanchard won't be governor forever. What will happen when a governor takes office who lacks Blanchard's political incentive to protect the MET program?

One would discourse indefinitely about fees. My purpose is to demonstrate to my beloved friend Dick Headlee and his followers that people can be shafted if we look only at taxes, taxes, taxes and not at revenues, revenues, revenues.

Tim Richard, political writer and columnist, is the Oakland County editor of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

ertheless, stocking liquor on open shelves would increase the potential for abuse of our liquor control laws.

I sincerely hope the members of the council will deny this request for a variance in our city regulations.

Specialists on pap smear

To the editor:

The recent Observer newspaper feature article titled "Med Tech work loses its appeal" erroneously implied that Pap smear slides are screened by medical technologists.

This is incorrect.

Pap smear tests and slides prepared from specimens from other body sites are screened for cancer detection by cytotechnologists, a separate medical laboratory specialist.

While the American Society of Clinical Pathology (ASCP) found a job vacancy of 9.3 percent for medical technologists, and there exists a 11.5 percent vacancy for nurses, the same study found a 14 percent vacancy for cytotechnologists.

Many of the reasons for this shortage are the same as for nursing and medical technologists. Cytotechnologists are currently required to obtain a bachelor's degree and additional training to be qualified to work at an often tedious, unrewarding and unrecognized job. Yet these professionals are working for wages lower than the average auto assembly line worker or plumber.

While medical professionals are all suffering from Medicare/Medicaid cuts and DRGs we each would appreciate that we be recognized for our specialties and individual contributions to the health-care industry.

When is the Best Time to look for a Physician?

No matter how healthy you are, anyone can fall victim to an unexpected accident or sudden illness. When that happens, it's nice to have a personal physician you can turn to. Someone who knows your medical history and can promptly respond to your medical needs.

Finding the right physician isn't easy. That's why St. Mary Hospital established a no cost, no obligation, physician referral service. Our representatives can help you find the right physician specialist near your home or work, who has convenient office hours and accepts your insurance plan. If you desire, you can even be connected to the physician's office.

for an appointment. Best of all, the physician is affiliated with St. Mary Hospital of Livonia. St. Mary has been providing quality care to area residents for over a quarter-of-a-century.

So, before you look for a physician in the yellow pages, or compile a confusing list of names and telephone numbers from friends, call

ST. MARY HOSPITAL PHYSICIAN REFERRAL SERVICE 464-WELL

Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. At other times you may leave a message and the representative will call you back the next business day. Remember, the best time to look for a physician is before you need one!

Area's tax assessments rise

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Communities posting average property tax assessment increases of 13 percent or more are marked in yellow on county assessor George McEachran's office map.

And western Wayne County is drowning in a sea of yellow. Property tax assessments are on the rise throughout the county. The farther west one travels, the greater the increase.

Preliminary estimates show Plymouth/Canton area homeowners face average increases of 15 percent and higher.

"Northville and Plymouth are the hottest and they're being tracked closely by Canton," McEachran said. Area real estate professionals bear out that assessment.

"SALES ARE very good in western Wayne County but Northville is the darling," Robert Bake, president of Robert Bake Realtors, Plymouth. "Northville's school district seems on sounder footing (than Plymouth/Canton) plus they seem ahead of the city of Plymouth in developing a charming central business district." Average increases near 13 percent were recorded in Livonia.

Even though Westland, Garden City and Redford Township are experiencing slower growth, average assessment increases in those communities are also on the rise. In Redford, average assessment increases doubled from one year ago. (See related chart for total from each community.)

ASSESSMENT INCREASES are a double-edged sword for area homeowners.

On one hand, they mean their most prized investments — their homes — are far outstripping the rate of inflation and most other investment options.

The downside is that assessment increases may mean higher taxes.

Homeowners in many area communities jammed last week's board of review sessions, trying to bring their assessments down.

"It's been hectic," Redford Township representative Linda Gafford said. "Our people have worked well into the night."

Review boards met throughout the area last week to hear homeowners' arguments as to why their individual assessments should be lowered.

FIGURES ARE communitywide averages. Individual homeowners may see assessments well above or below the average.

"I have people who work here who live in Canton (where the average is 13.5 percent) and they've said their assessments rose 17 percent," McEachran said. "But what can you do? If your assessment went up 17 percent, that means somebody else's went up 13 percent. It averages out."

None of Wayne County's 13 communities experienced declining assessments. Average assessments in some communities, however, fell below the year's 4.1 percent increase in the consumer price index. The CPI figure is considered the national inflation rate.

"If you had an increase of 4 percent or less, it means you lost money on your home," McEachran said.

Average assessment increases in Detroit, River Rouge and Inkster fell below the CPI inflation rate, he said. Average increases in Ecorse, Melvindale and Highland Park barely topped the rate of inflation.

Tax assessment increases

community	last year	this year
Canton	12.9	18.5
Garden City	8.15	8.2
Livonia	12.85	12.8
Plymouth	10.50	16.3
Ply. Twp.	10.50	17.4
Redford	3.65	7.0
Westland	7.05	12.8

DAVID FRANK/graphics editor

The chart compares this year's estimated average property tax assessment increases with those recorded one year ago. Plymouth Township's 1989 estimate is based upon Northville-area estimates. Final averages may decrease pending outcome of area board of review hearings.

Marshmallow drop set for Hines Park

A blizzard of marshmallows will greet participants during Wayne County Parks' annual "Great Marshmallow Drop," Friday.

A county tradition since 1978, the annual Good Friday event will be held 11 a.m. in Hines Park. Children will gather at the Nankin Mills Picnic Area, Hines Drive and Farmington Road, Westland. Marshmallows will be dropped from a helicopter hovering over the park at an altitude of 200 feet.

Children are encouraged to gather marshmallows and exchange them for a prize-filled Easter egg. Children will be divided into age groups to give each child a fair chance at marshmallow gathering.

The event will also be held 9 a.m. in Elizabeth Park, Trenton. The rain date is Saturday, March 25.

The marshmallow drop is the kick-off for spring activities in the parks.

Other spring activities include the "Saturday in the Park" series, which closes a stretch of Hines Drive to motor traffic for 6 1/2 hours each Saturday from May 6-Sept. 23. "Mud Day" offers good, less-than-clean fun for youngsters at Nankin Mills on Saturday, May 18. The Nursery School Olympics offer fun and games for children age 3-4 on Friday, May 19 at Elizabeth Park and Saturday, May 20 at Nankin Mills.

Additional information on spring parks activities is available by calling recreation and special events manager Vic Chlason at 801-1980.

EASTER FEAST

Cracking problem of eggs

Isn't it enough that egg prices mysteriously rise 15-20 percent this time of year?

Add to that the cost of Peter Rabbit's trendy Easter Egg dye and coloring kit.

Then consider the grocery store bagger, wearing headphones and a "Party Naked" sweatshirt, who "inadvertently" placed the four dozen delicate ovals underneath the six-pound pork roast. Now you're faced with the monumental task of having to incorporate 40-or-so of the hard-boiled creatures into the next three days' worth of family menus.

You could start by making enough egg salad to serve the 5th Battalion of the Air National Guard.

You could make a surprise meatloaf and insert the hard-boiled devils in the center, then call it a pate and invite all the holy-toity folks you know for "hors d'oeuvres."

IF WORST COMES to worst, toss them in the food processor, shells and all, and make a $6 per pound garden fertilizer.

Or, you can read on...

First off, rest assured there are many recipes that can be made with leftover Easter eggs. The secret is creativity.

They can be mashed and stirred into cream sauces. Swedish meatballs and stroganoff can pick up a subtle richness by stirring in 1/4 cup of mashed hard-boiled eggs just before serving.

Hard-boiled eggs can be easily adapted into salads and salad dressings. The classic Cobb salad is a perfect example. Wake up the flavor of a basic ranch-style dressing with 1/2 cup of mashed hard-boiled eggs.

Even those folks concerned about cholesterol can utilize just the whites in these recipes, placing the hard-cooked yolks outside for the birds and squirrels to enjoy.

Now, for a little disheartening news.

To be on the safe side, I made a call to Lois Thieleke, Oakland County Extension home economist and columnist for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. I needed some information on just how long you and I can tolerate the colorful creations before turning them into garden fodder or risk food poisoning.

THIELEKE QUOTED the most recent press release from the Food Service folks at Michigan State University which states: "Decorated hard-cooked eggs should be consumed within two-three days after cooking, when refrigerated. When used for coloring, decorating, hunting and displaying, total time out of refrigeration should not exceed two hours."

...and when I think of all those years the eggs sat in the baskets, grabbing an occasional bite, doused with an ample supply of high-blood pressurized salt, it's a wonder I'm still sitting here writing this.

(By the way, if you have questions regarding food safety, you can call Oakland County's Food Hotline at 858-0904.)

HOMEMADE EGGY THOUSAND ISLAND DRESSING

- 1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish
- 2 tablespoons chili sauce or catsup
- 1 teaspoon finely chopped onion
- dash paprika
- 2 hard-boiled eggs, chopped fine

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Cover and refrigerate. Makes almost 1 1/2 cups.

Michael Russell, executive chef at the Kingsley Inn in an alternative to the usual ham on Easter Sunday. This is Bloomfield Hills, suggests an eye-and-taste-appealing one of the menu items at the Kingsley's dining room that chicken dish, Herb-Roasted Chicken, Michigan Bounty, as day.

Chefs offer old, new specialties for holiday

By Michele MacWilliams special writer

EASTER IS TRADITIONALLY a time when families and friends unite for a large feast.

To many people this means a ham dinner with Easter eggs for the kids. But if you yearn to try something new, come with us now on a tour of some of the area's noted restaurants as their chefs prepare for Sunday's holiday feast.

First stop is the Kingsley Inn on Woodward Avenue in Bloomfield Hills. There Executive Chef Michael Russell is busy supervising the preparation of items for Easter meals.

Chef Russell suggests making an easy, elegant poultry dinner in lieu of the tried-and-true ham. "The key to this meal is in its presentation," says the chef.

For his Herb-Roasted Chicken, Midwest Bounty, Russell takes regular frying chickens and creates a beautiful presentation by fanning the meat on a plate and accompanying it with asparagus, shiitake mushrooms, carrots, and rice with almonds.

HERB-ROASTED CHICKEN, Midwest Bounty is one of the special entrees he will feature in the dining room, which will have a limited menu. Some 400 diners are expected to be served from noon to 3 p.m.

"We'll also have poached salmon with sour cream and dill sauce, fresh Dover sole, swordfish, whitefish, fried shrimp and prime rib," he says.

A buffet will be offered in the ballroom, for 1,400-1,500 people. The chefs say there will be salads, pastas, ham, leg of lamb and a "humungous" dessert table. Hours are 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Next stop is Birmingham, and a visit with Executive Chef Randy Wagner of Machus Sly Fox.

Although Wagner and his team are working hard to make their restaurant's brunch a memorable one, the chef insists that home cooks can create an equally elegant meal with much less fuss.

WAGNER SUGGESTS serving a roasted leg of lamb accompanied by red skin potatoes and summer squash vegetable boats. The meal is easy enough to cook at home, and makes a very colorful presentation.

Chef Wagner uses a vegetable peeler to cut a stripe around the middle of each red skin potato, exposing the white flesh underneath. While the lamb is roasting, or a day earlier, he boils the potatoes. Then, 30 minutes before the roast is done, he places the potatoes in a casserole with butter and herbs and sets the dish in the oven with the lamb.

For a vegetable, bright squash boats are made by slicing summer squash lengthwise, hollowing out the center and filling them with peas and pearl onions.

"With this menu you have a very colorful plate," says Wagner. "Green peas with white onions, yellow squash, red potatoes and, of course the brown meat."

Final stop is the historic Botaford Inn in Farmington Hills. Chef Alan Galanty is expected to serve Easter Sunday brunch to approximately 600 people and then finish the day with an a la carte Easter dinner from 2-8 p.m.

French pastries from a Lebanese baker

By Ariene Funke special writer

Sinfully rich and utterly luxurious.

That's the only way to describe the mouth-watering, cream-laced French pastries and cakes served up at the LaGondole Bakery in Livonia.

The sweets are worthy of any holiday dinner, party or special occasion.

"We go the French way because it has to be tops," said 28-year-old Abo Saab, the Lebanese-born manager of LaGondole.

LaGondole is on Middlebelt just north of Schoolcraft (I-96 service drive). The shop employs a baker who learned the art of baking French-style pastries in Beirut, Lebanon.

THAT ISN'T as unusual as it may sound. Lebanon once was under French jurisdiction. Beirut, the capital city, became highly influenced by sophisticated French food and fashion.

The baker, 40-year-old All Hachem, is well-versed in the rich French pastries characterized by layers of cake or pastry, filled with whipped cream or fruit and garnished with heaps of chocolate or nuts.

"He tells us we haven't seen everything," Saab said. Hachem, who began learning his skills at the age of 12, came to the United States in 1984.

LaGondole, which opened last summer, is owned by Abo Jaafar of Livonia and managed by Saab, who lives in Dearborn. They are members of the same extended family and both were born in Lebanon.

The shop also sells Middle Eastern pastries. Another baker handles that responsibility.

Hachem works from a thick instruction book filled with recipes for such traditional French desserts as savarin, a yeast-baked cake flavored with liqueur and topped with fruit, and genoise, a rich, versatile cake covered with cream or mounds of thick chocolate frosting.

ONE OF HACHEM'S favorite cakes is called tranche coquin. The batter is covered with apricot jam, chopped walnuts and drizzled chocolate.

"I change (the lineup) every six months," said Hachem, a Detroit resident.

The current selection is a feast for the eyes as well as the palate.

Display cases bulge with a variety of custard-filled, chocolate eclairs and several wedges of cake swirled with frosting, whipped cream or glistening fruits such as cherry or apricot. Others are layered with coconut, slivered almonds, chunks of pistachio and shaved chocolate.

A fruit tart pairs bright-green kiwi with strawberries or raspberries.

Some concessions have been made to the Americans' preference for soft, airy cakes, according to Saab.

"Some people aren't used to the French way," Saab said. "The French cake is made to be a little firmer. It has more ingredients. If people haven't had it before, they think it's old."

Cakes, which may be purchased whole, are generally sold by the piece. Generous servings are priced at either 75 cents or $1.50 a piece, depending on size. Party dessert trays also are available.

HACHEM ENJOYS making up fancy or theme cakes featuring whimsical characters such as Garfield the Cat or elaborate replicas of people and buildings.

For those who prefer traditional Middle Eastern desserts, there is baklava — filo dough filled with chopped nuts and doused with honey — and zalabia — a deep-fried pastry shaped like a giant pretzel and covered with sugar, coconut or pistachios.

The shop, which is open seven days a week, is done in cheerful shades of pink and lavender. Although the bakery caters to mainly carry-out business, several tables are available for patrons who wish to enjoy dessert with a cup of coffee.

HE GAVE HIS recipe for Cumberland sauce, which he plans to serve Easter day with baked Virginia ham.

John Anhut, owner of the Botsford Inn, says the Cumberland sauce in this recipe is not easy to make but is worth the effort. "You can prepare the sauce ahead of time. It keeps well in the refrigerator," he says. Anhut points out that Cumberland sauce also is excellent on Cornish hens, other poultry, pork or venison.

"The key to this sauce is to use real currants. Some people try to substitute cranberries, but that doesn't work." Anhut suggests making enough so there is some left over for future meals. He says it will keep for a few months in the refrigerator.

In addition to the special meals at the Kingsley Inn, Botsford Inn and Machus Sly Fox, numerous restaurants around town will serve holiday feasts. Because some restaurants close in observance of Easter and those that stay open may be busier than normal, it's best to call ahead.

1 can Eagle Brand milk
1 tablespoon clarified butter
2 egg whites
1/2 sugar
1 teaspoon grated lime rind
1/2 teaspoon pure vanilla
1/2 cup heavy cream

Prepare pie shell. Sprinkle gelatin in cold lime juice. Heat in oven until the gelatin is well dissolved. Cool the mixture in an ice bath while whipping vigorously. Place egg yolks in mixing bowl. Add Eagle Brand milk, butter and cooled gelatin-lime juice mixture. Beat until smooth and thick at high speed.

In another bowl beat egg whites until foamy. Add 1/4 of sugar, grated lime rind and vanilla, then beat meringue until stiff and glossy. In another mixing bowl beat whipping cream and 1/2 of sugar until it peaks. Fold whipping cream and meringue into green mixture. Pour into baked pie shell and refrigerate until firm.

Top with whipped cream and garnish with lime slice.

BRAISED SHOULDER OF LAMB WITH REDSKIN POTATOES AND PEA BOATS

From Randy Wagner, Executive Chef, Machus Sly Fox

SHOULDER OF LAMB

8-10 shoulder of lamb
4 ounces salad oil
1/4 pound diced onion
1/4 pound diced celery
1/4 pound diced carrots
3 quarts beef stock
4 ounces tomato puree
2 teaspoons rosemary leaves
5 ounces flour
to taste, salt and pepper

Purchase your lamb shoulder rolled and tied. Preheat oven to 325 degrees. On the stove top, brown tied meat on all sides in salad oil and then place meat in roast pan with a cover. Add onions, celery, carrots, beef stock, tomato puree and rosemary leaves. Cover and place in oven for two hours or until tender.

Remove meat, untie roast and skim off excess fat, leaving stock in pan. Strain stock and place back in pan. Put on stove top on medium to high heat. Add flour and whisk briskly to make sauce. Strain, add salt and pepper to taste. Slice and serve with sauce.

WAGNER'S RED SKIN POTATOES

3-4 pounds red skin potatoes
1/4 stick butter or margarine
1/2 chopped parsley
to taste, salt and pepper
1/2 cup chicken stock

While the roast is cooking, with a vegetable peeler cut one complete stripe around each potato. Boil potatoes in salted water until tender. Drain. (This can be done a day ahead of time and potatoes kept in refrigerator until it is time to heat and serve.)

About 1/4 hour before the lamb is ready to serve, place potatoes in a casserole and add the remaining ingredients. Cover casserole and set in the 325-degree oven with the lamb roast. Bake until hot and steamy, about 30 minutes. When ready to serve, remove potatoes from casserole and arrange on plate with sliced lamb roast and a pea boat. Makes 12-15 servings of three to four potatoes each.

PEA BOATS

6 medium summer squash
4 cups frozen peas and pearl onions
4 tablespoons butter
to taste, salt and pepper

Cut summer squash in half, lengthwise and scoop out seeds and pulp until you have a boat with 1/4-inch to 1/2-inch walls. In a pot of salted water, boil boats until slightly tender. Do not overcook. In a separate pan, saute frozen peas and pearl onions in the butter. Add salt and pepper to taste. When ready to serve, drain boats, and put about 1/2 cup of the peas and onions in each. Serve on plate with red skin potatoes and lamb roast. Makes 12 servings.

CUMBERLAND SAUCE FOR HAM OR OTHER MEATS

From Alan Galanty, Executive Chef, Botsford Inn

Cumberland sauce is a partly sweet sauce, although a slight tartness can be detected. It compliments such items as baked ham, roast venison and roast Cornish hen.

1 lemon
5 ounces currants
1/2 gallon water
2 ounces cornstarch
1/2 cup water
5 ounces dark brown sugar
1 1/2 ounces red currant jelly
2 ounces red port wine

Peel very thin layers of skin from the oranges and lemons (zest) using a vegetable peeler. The skin should be free of all membrane. Cut these layers of skin julienne using a French knife. Cover with water and poach for 10 minutes. Drain and discard water.

Squeeze the juice from the oranges and lemons, reserve juice. Have all equipment and ingredients handy.

Place the currants and 1/2 gallon of water in a sauce pot. Simmer slowly until the currants are slightly soft.

Dissolve the cornstarch in 1/2 cup of water in a small bowl. Pour it slowly into the boiling currant mixture, stirring constantly with a kitchen spoon until slightly thickened and clear.

Add the brown sugar, orange and lemon juice and blend into the simmering sauce. Blend in the jelly, wine and poached julienne peel. Check seasoning and remove from the range. Pour into a stainless steel container.

Serve 2-2 1/2 ounces per portion, using ladle. Recipe makes approximately 1 1/2 gallon sauce.

Precautions and Safety Measures: Do not overcook the currants. Stir constantly when adding the cornstarch.

HERB ROASTED CHICKEN, MIDWEST BOUNTY

From Michael D. Russell, CMC Executive Chef, Kingsley Inn

2 frying chickens — 2 1/2 pounds average
1/4 cup butter or oil
2 tablespoons fresh tarragon and thyme, chopped as needed, salt as needed, fresh ground black pepper
2 cups rice, cooked, hot
1/2 cup almonds, sliced, sauteed golden brown
1 1/2 cups asparagus, cut in 1 1/2 inch pieces, cooked
1/2 cup shitake or other mushrooms, sliced, sauteed
32 slices carrots, cooked
1 1/2 cups natural pan gravy from the chicken

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Wash the chickens and dry with paper towels. Mix the herbs and butter or oil; coat the chicken inside and out. Sprinkle with salt and fresh ground pepper. Place chickens on a wire rack with the breast side up and roast until done but not dry; approximately 1 1/4 hours.

Check by twisting the leg bone —

If it twists freely the chicken is done; also check the thigh joint — it's underdone if it is pink and done if the meat is white.

Remove from the oven and turn the chicken so it is breast side down and the juices drain from the back area to the breast; this gives you nice, moist white meat. Allow to "relax" for about 10 minutes in a warm spot.

In the meantime, heat your vegetables and season. Mix the asparagus and mushrooms; mix the rice and almonds. Season everything to taste. Make the pan gravy or use the natural drippings by first removing the fat and then seasoning the broth.

To serve, remove the dark meat and place on the plate. Slice the breast and lay the slices in a "fan" shape over the dark meat. Place your vegetables neatly on the plate; the asparagus/mushrooms in a nice mound and the carrots in a fan shape. Pour the gravy over the chicken and serve hot. Makes four servings.

1 9-inch baked pie shell
1 package unflavored gelatin
1/2 lime juice
2 egg yolks

Coffee-Cake Muffins can be baked fresh daily

AP — Keep the batter and streusel topping in the refrigerator for up to seven days for freshly baked muffins any day of the week.

COFFEE-CAKE MUFFINS

1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice

1/4 teaspoon salt
1 slightly beaten egg
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cooking oil
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
Streusel Topping (recipe follows) non-stick spray coating

In a medium mixing bowl stir together flour, rolled oats, brown sugar, baking powder, pie spice and salt. Make a well in the center. Combine egg, milk and oil. Add all at once to flour mixture. Stir just until moistened (batter should be lumpy). Fold in 1/2 cup chopped walnuts. Transfer to an airtight container. Cover and store in refrigerator for up to seven days.

Streusel Topping: Mix 2 tablespoons chopped walnuts, 2 tablespoons flour and 1 tablespoon brown sugar. Cut in 1 tablespoon margarine. Place in airtight container and store in refrigerator.

To bake: Spray muffin cups with non-stick coating. Without stirring batter, fill muffin cups 3/4 full. Sprinkle 1 teaspoon nut mixture over each muffin. Bake in a 400-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes or until brown. Remove from muffin pan. Serve warm. Makes 12.

Come as you are.

Unfortunately, many people stay away from church because they smoke. Or drink. Or because they're divorced. At Faith Church we think matters like these are nobody's business but yours. We welcome everyone. Our people are friendly. Our worship service is informal. You'll hear positive, uplifting messages that will help you face the real world on Monday morning. We provide quality nursery care and quality Christian education for you and/or your children. And you can leave your wallet at home. Try us. We don't throw stones.

WELCOME!
Infant care & children's church provided for both services

Visit our Easter Sunday Grand Opening.

A guilt trip you won't get.

Before we started Maple Hill Church we surveyed the area to find out why people don't go to church. Here's what they said:

"The sermons are dull and make you feel guilty."
"Church people are cold and judgemental."
"Churches aren't interested in me, all they want is my money."
"If you share these feelings, we've got good news for you."

At Maple Hill our Pastor delivers uplifting sermons (even the flat ones) that help you face Monday with a smile. Our people are friendly. Our service is informal and contemporary. And you can leave your wallet at home. We're interested in you.

We're a new church and we're Christians. Try us Easter Sunday. And you will be the judge. Nursery provided.

EGGSACTLY SEAFOOD STROGANOFF
 3 tablespoons margarine or butter
 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard dash salt and pepper
 2 1/2 cups milk
 1 cup flaked crabmeat or shrimp or lobster
 4 hard boiled eggs, cut into fourths
 Heat margarine or butter in a 2-quart saucepan over low heat until melted. Stir in flour, mustard, salt and pepper. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until smooth and bubbly. (Congratulations, you just made a "roux.") Slowly stir in milk, whisking constantly to avoid lumps. Heat to almost a boil and cook for 1 minute. Gently stir in seafood and eggs. Can be spooned over English muffins for a great brunch or dinner.

Clarification

The recipe for Rock Buns by Theresa Hannon of Livonia that appeared in the Monday, March 13, Taste pages calls for baking powder, as listed in the ingredients, and baking powder instead of baking soda, as listed in the directions on mixing ingredients.

Remember eating oatmeal as a child?

Mother and Grandmother always knew best.
 I remember my mother forcing me to eat a hearty bowl of oatmeal, telling me how important it was. I hated oatmeal. I thought, How could this stuff be good for me? It was lumpy, there weren't any prizes in the bottom of the box and it wasn't frosted.

But I ate it.
 By now most of us have heard that oat bran and oatmeal are good for us. They actually help reduce the amount of cholesterol in our blood. They are widely available in cereals, breads and muffins.

But eating oatmeal doesn't guarantee your cholesterol level will reduce to normal rates. Oats are effective only when they are a part of a low-fat, low-cholesterol, high-fiber diet.

The magic of oat bran is that it is a water-soluble fiber. Black-eyed peas, kidney, navy, lima and pinto beans; carrots, green peas, corn, and prunes are also water-soluble fibers. Each of these is not only good for your digestive system but will help reduce cholesterol levels.

BANANAS, APPLES, pears and oranges also have some soluble fiber, as do sweet potatoes, zucchini and broccoli.

It is not known exactly how much soluble fiber is needed on a daily basis to lower your blood cholesterol. But if you enjoy oat bran or oatmeal in your daily diet and regularly eat the vegetables and fruits mentioned above, you are heading in the right direction and making a difference.

Lite success

 So now, here I am several years later telling my grandchildren to "eat your oatmeal."

I think they are more cooperative than I was, because they don't seem to make the same funny faces and sounds I did. I even believe they enjoy it. And I know why. It does taste good (especially with a bit of honey) and it's good for you.

DOUBLE CHERRY BARS
 Makes 8 servings
 3/4 cup all-purpose flour
 3 ounces oat bran
 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup granulated brown sugar (12 calories per teaspoon)
 2 large eggs, lightly beaten
 2 teaspoons margarine
 20 dried cherries
 8 maraschino cherries, chopped
 1 tablespoon confectioners sugar

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Line an 8-inch-square baking pan with foil to extend above the sides; spray with non-stick cooking spray; set aside. In medium bowl, combine first six ingredients. In large bowl, whisk sugar and eggs until combined; beat in margarine and vanilla extract with 1/4 cup hot water. Gradually add egg mixture to dry ingredients; fold in cherries and mix until combined. Pour into prepared pan; bake 25 minutes, or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.

Cool in pan on rack 10 minutes; invert onto wire rack; peel off foil; invert again and let cool completely. In cup, combine confectioners sugar with 1/4 teaspoon water. Drizzle top with sugar mixture; cut into eight bars. Store in covered container in refrigerator.

Each serving provides: 1/4 protein exchange, 1/4 fat exchange, 1/4 fruit exchange, 55 calories optional exchange.

Per serving: 169 cal, 5 g pro, 4 g fat, 29 g car, 151 mg sod, 69 mg chol.

HIGH-FIBER APPLE MUFFINS
 Makes 12 servings
 1 1/2 cups buttermilk
 3 ounces ready-to-eat natural high-fiber bran cereal
 1 egg, lightly beaten

2 teaspoons each margarine, melted, and honey
 1 pound apples, cored, pared, and diced
 16 large pitted prunes, diced
 3/4 cup each whole wheat flour and all-purpose flour
 2 tablespoons firmly packed dark brown sugar
 1 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
 1/4 teaspoon each baking soda and ground nutmeg
 1/2 teaspoon salt

In large mixing bowl combine buttermilk, cereal, egg, margarine and honey; stir to combine and let stand until cereal softens, three to four minutes.

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. In medium mixing bowl combine remaining ingredients, stirring to combine; add to cereal mixture and stir just until combined. Spray twelve 2 1/2-inch-diameter muffin-pan cups with non-stick cooking spray; fill each cup with an equal amount of batter (each will be about 3/4 full). Bake for 30 minutes (until muffins are browned and toothpick, inserted in center, comes out dry). Remove muffins to wire rack and let cool for 5 minutes; invert muffins onto wire rack and let cool completely.

Each serving provides: 1 bread exchange, 1/2 fat exchange, 1 fruit exchange, 40 calories optional exchange.

Per serving: 177 cal, 6 g pro, 3 g fat, 37 g car, 87 mg cal, 235 mg sod, 24 mg sod, 6 g dietary fiber.

Yogurt — from plain to fancy

The Earl of Sandwich invented sandwiches in the 1780s so that he did not have to leave the gaming table to eat. Little did he know that sandwiches would catch on and be served at home, in brown bags, in restaurants for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

The earl should go down in history for being the inventor of the first fast food. Where the earl just put meat between two pieces of bread, we have now elevated the art of sandwich making to a higher form due to health advisories.

Health, diet, weight and nutrition-conscious consumers have taken the traditional sandwich and turned it into a healthy meal to be eaten anytime, anywhere.

Since whole-grain breads provide the body with more minerals and fiber than white breads or buns, start with a good choice for the sandwich wrapper. If you're looking for whole-wheat bread, make sure that whole-wheat flour is first in the ingredient list and is the only flour listed. Breads labeled whole wheat must be made from 100 percent whole-wheat flour. Those labeled wheat or cracked wheat usually contain processed white flour, too.

Lois Thieleke

home economist, Cooperative Extension Service

MOST BAGELS and pita bread are lower in sodium as well as fat. Pocket breads can hold more filling and more liquid fillings, so what can go into a pita is limitless. For an out-of-the-ordinary pita sandwich, consider some of these. Chill, with or without the meat; leftover casserole; hash; sauteed vegetables; cottage cheese; curried lentils, and sprouts.

Peanut butter mixed with chopped apples and cinnamon, or sliced bananas served on whole-wheat bread or toast, a bagel or English muffins makes an old favorite stand out.

Processed meats are generally high in saturated fat and cholesterol, besides containing large amounts of sodium. Roast your own chicken or turkey breast (with the skin removed) for sandwiches. It is worth the effort if you are trying to reduce fat, calories and sodium in your diet. Discard all the visible fat from leftover roast beef, ham or pork and cut down on the amount used for the sandwich. Water-packed tuna or sardines, drained and mixed with low-fat cottage cheese, onion and green pepper, can add a new dimension to a sandwich.

A tasty low-fat sandwich dressing can be made with plain low-fat yogurt, or blend equal parts of low-fat cottage cheese and buttermilk. Flavor this with herbs and spices, or mustard powder, horseradish, lemon juice, minced garlic or ground ginger.

This dressing is sure to take the dullness out of plain mayo or a plain sandwich. This mixture has only nine calories per tablespoon and only a trace of fat. Regular mayonnaise has about 57 calories per tablespoon and the low-calorie type has about 19 calories per tablespoon.

CATSUP AND prepared mustard are low-calorie, low-fat flavor boosters, about 15 calories per tablespoon, but both are high in sodium. Make a sodium-free mustard by mixing mustard powder with water. Prepared horseradish has half the calories and only one-tenth the sodium of mustard and catsup.

Try the old favorite egg salad sandwich using only the whites mixed with chopped celery and parsley and low-fat yogurt with mixed spices of curry, mustard, garlic or dill. To make this an open-face sandwich, scramble two egg whites and top with sauteed green peppers and onions.

Open-face sandwiches are a good way to economize on calories since you use only one slice of bread. A tuna melt or a low-fat cottage cheese mixed with low-fat American cheese, warmed and served on whole-wheat English muffins topped with tomatoes and sprouts can add a flair for the hungry.

A ham-and-cheese croissant or a club sandwich of turkey and ham can contain as many as 750 calories. Even a cream-cheese-and-jelly sandwich contains 368 calories. Cream cheese (one ounce) or two tablespoons contains about 100 calories. To weight-conscious people, cream cheese can be deadly. Make good choices in sandwich makings. Choose those with the most nutrition possible, low in fat, calories and sodium.

Expand your notion of sandwiches. Try some variations of the old sandwich theme and make these nutrition-packed meals or snacks out of the ordinary.

Produce takes on exotic appearance

AP — Supermarket produce counters are taking on a special look these days, with bean sprouts, bok choy, guava and other exotic items catching the eye of food shoppers, says a United States Agriculture Department economist.

"Specialty fruit and vegetable displays form a fundamental part of the new up-scale image of many produce sections," says Catherine Greene of the department's Economic Research Service.

Rising demand for specialty produce is in line with a general increase in fruit and vegetable consumption, she says. On the average, Americans consumed 427 pounds of fruits and vegetables last year, up 12 percent since 1972. That is a farm weight equivalent before trimming, processing and after-harvest losses, she says.

Greene, writing in the agency's National Food Review, said there are a number of reasons.

"AMERICANS HAVE become more health conscious, eating lots of fruits and vegetables as part of a well-balanced diet," she said. "Consequently, we want a huge selection of produce."

Further, Americans travel more frequently than they used to, and many want "foreign" foods when they return home.

"Unusual fruits and vegetables are appearing on restaurant menus," Greene said. "Also influencing our diets are recent immigrants from the Caribbean, Central America and Southeast Asia who have brought their native foods with them."

A survey conducted for a trade journal, The Packer, showed the most frequently tried specialty fresh vegetables were alfalfa and bean sprouts, followed by snow peas, pearl onions, parsnips, leeks, baby vegetables, Chinese cabbage and shallots.

Moreover, about a third of those surveyed also had seen or heard of less widely known specialty vegetables such as Belgian endive, bok choy, celeriac, dalkon, kohlrabi, parsley root and Jerusalem artichoke.

THE MOST FREQUENTLY tried specialty fresh fruits, in order, were pomegranates, persimmons, kumquats, quince and guavas.

Additionally, at least a third of those surveyed had seen or heard of breadfruit, passion fruit, plantains, prickly pear and red bananas. But some fruits were nearly unknown: Asian pears, carambolas, cherimoyas, sapotes, rabioco and rappin.

Men, if you're about to turn 18, it's time to register with Selective Service at any U.S. Post Office. It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.

How to cut down fat without losing flavor

AP — You've heard a lot lately about the importance of reducing the amount of fat you eat. Fortunately, you don't have to sacrifice flavor when you cut fat. This tasty pasta entree contains just three grams of fat and fewer than 300 calories. We trimmed fat by cooking the vegetables in water and using only parmesan cheese, lower in fat than most cheese varieties.

Meanwhile, in a medium saucepan combine onion, pepper, bouillon granules, thyme, garlic and water.

BAKED PASTA SHELLS
12 jumbo pasta shells (4 ounces)
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup thin green pepper strips
1 teaspoon instant chicken bouillon granules
½ teaspoon dried thyme, crushed
1 clove garlic, minced
3 tablespoons water one 16-ounce can tomatoes, cut up ½ of a 6-ounce can tomato paste

Chicken Filling
2 tablespoons grated parmesan cheese

Cook pasta according to package directions; rinse and drain well.

Meanwhile, in a medium saucepan combine onion, pepper, bouillon granules, thyme, garlic and water. Bring to boiling; reduce heat. Cover; simmer 5 minutes or until onion is tender. Stir in undrained tomatoes and tomato paste. Remove from heat. Set aside ½ cup tomato mixture for filling.

Spray a 12-by-7½-by-2-inch baking dish with non-stick spray coating. Stuff pasta with Chicken Filling, using about 2½ tablespoons filling per shell. Place filled pasta in dish. Pour remaining tomato mixture on top. Bake, covered, in a 350-degree oven 20-25 minutes or until heated through. Sprinkle parmesan cheese on top. Bake 5 minutes more. Makes 4 servings.

Chicken Filling: In a mixing bowl combine 1½ cups diced cooked chicken; one 4-ounce can mushroom stems and pieces, drained; ¼ teaspoon paprika, and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Stir in reserved ½ cup tomato sauce.

Apricot sauce adds color to baked dish

AP — As easy to make as a simple baked custard, this scrumptious dessert has a built-in golden apricot sauce. For prettiest servings, cut the custard in wedges just as you would a pie.

Like any baked custard, this one must be baked in a hot-water bath. Otherwise, the edges will overcook before the center is done. Test for doneness about halfway between the center and the edge. A knife inserted there will come out clean when the custard is done. At this point, the very center may not be set, but it will set as the custard cools.

APRICOT CUSTARD
½ cup apricot preserves
2 tablespoons apricot nectar or orange juice
4 eggs
2 cups milk
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon vanilla boiling water
¼ cup toasted slivered almonds
¼ cup chopped macadamia nuts

In a saucepan combine preserves and nectar. Cook and stir over low heat until preserves are melted. Spread in bottom of an 8-inch round baking dish. Set aside.

For custard, in a large mixing bowl lightly beat eggs. Stir in milk, sugar and vanilla. Place baking dish containing preserves mixture in a larger baking pan, set in center of an oven rack. To prevent preserves from spattering, hold a large spoon upside down just above the preserves mixture. Pour egg mixture into baking dish over back of spoon.

Test for doneness about halfway between the center and the edge.

Carefully pour boiling water into larger pan around baking dish to depth of 1 inch. Bake in 325-degree oven about 35 minutes or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean. Cool. Chill for several hours.

About 1 hour before serving, loosen sides of custard with knife. Invert onto serving plate. Chill in the refrigerator until serving time. Arrange almonds and macadamia nuts on top. Cut into wedges to serve, or spoon into dessert cups. Makes 8 servings.

Nutrition information per serving: 202 cal., 6 g pro., 26 g carb., 9 g fat, 141 mg chol., 68 mg sodium. U.S. RDA: 12 percent riboflavin, 10 percent calcium.

Recent questions mailed in asked about possible changes in the Lottery game line-up. In response, this column covers a new feature called "Zinger," introduced to Super Lotto play in mid-March.

Q. How do you play "Zinger"?
A. Lottery terminals now automatically print random six-digit "Zinger" number on the bottom of every Super Lotto ticket. To play "Zinger," mark the designated box on the Super Lotto bet slip. YES will appear next to that number on your ticket. If you don't play, NO will appear.

Q. How much does it cost?
A. Each "Zinger" wager costs $1.

Q. What determines winners?
A. Special "Zinger" drawing equipment selects a winning six-digit number each Wednesday and Saturday night. Matching the first two-six numbers in exact order from left to right makes you a winner.

Q. How much can I win?
A. A match of the first two numbers pays $20; the first three, $100; the first four, $500; the first five, $5,000; and all six, $100,000.

Q. What are the odds in "Zinger"?
A. Overall odds of winning a "Zinger" prize are 1 in 100.

Q. Can I play "Zinger" if I don't play Super Lotto?

A. No. "Zinger" can only be played as an added feature of the Super Lotto game.

Q. If I have two or more Super Lotto wagers on a single ticket, will the same number of "Zinger" plays be shown?

A. No. Only one "Zinger" wager will appear on a single ticket no matter how many Super Lotto wagers are on that ticket. If more "Zinger" wagers are desired, use the appropriate number of bet slips when placing your Super Lotto wagers.

Q. Will a "Zinger" number be printed on multi-draw tickets covering more than one Super Lotto drawing?

A. Yes. If you mark the "Zinger" YES box, the assigned number will remain in play for the two-20 drawings you wager in advance.

Q. Will "Zinger" drawings be televised?

A. Live "Zinger" drawings will be shown on the "Fame & Fortune" game show each Saturday night. On Wednesday nights, the winning number will be announced during the Super Lotto drawing on the Lottery's television and radio networks.

For submitting the first question leading to this column, John Dedo of Redford is receiving 50 "Fame & Fortune" instant game tickets.

Ladywood powers to a 2nd state title

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Surprise, surprise, surprise. The new Class A state volleyball championship is (drum roll, please):

Livonia Ladywood!

OK, in some respects maybe it isn't so surprising that the Blazers thumped Harper Woods Regina 15-1, 15-10 in Saturday's final at Kalamazoo Central High School. After all, the Blazers were the defending state champs.

And they are under the guidance of the hottest coach around — Tom Teeters, who now has won three championships in the last year (two with Ladywood and a National Junior College Athletic Association title with Schoolcraft College).

But there was serious reason for doubt. For starters, four starters and six seniors from last year's championship squad graduated, leaving Teeters with a major rebuilding job.

SECOND, LADYWOOD'S record against the other three finalists — Regina, Portage Northern (which the Blazers defeated 15-13, 15-5 in the semifinals) and Rochester Adams — was lousy. Both Northern and Adams had beaten the Blazers in tournaments, and Regina split with them in Catholic League.

And then there was Teeters' own estimate of his team's semifinal performance: "We weren't playing that well, but neither were they. (Northern) made a few more errors than we did, and they didn't take advantage of their opportunities."

"We're going to have to play a lot better."

They did. Regina — which surprised Adams 15-11, 15-13, in the other semifinal to set up an all-Catholic League showdown — never got in gear in the first game. Karl Domanski served nine consecutive points, including four aces, as the Blazers jumped out to a 13-0 lead.

"THE MOMENTUM took hold so quickly," said Regina coach Ann Hutchins. "It took no time at all for them to build a big lead. Our serve reception was good all year until today." Teeters' strategy was "to serve tough to their weaker passers to keep their bigger people off the net." That, and his team's precision attack from the left side, worked perfectly.

"We wanted to set fast enough so their middle blocker couldn't get over there to help," was how he explained the left-side attack. "And we wanted to try and take advantage of their weakest blocker. But I have to admit, that's the best we've done at it. We played a great first game — flawless."

Hutchins agreed. "That's the hardest I've seen Ladywood hit. They really hit and took advantage of our weaknesses on defense."

Sarah Adzima, the Blazers middle hitter, set the tone for the match with several successful kills right down the middle of Regina's defense. Peggy Knittel and Stacey Girard also got in on the left-handed attack.

"I WAS GLAD they were single-blocking me," said Adzima, a senior who will play next year at Western Michigan University. "And (Regina middle blocker Polly Williams) was really late on her blocks."

The second game was much tougher, although the Blazers never trailed. They had leads of 6-1 and 10-5, but the Saddlelites made some defensive adjustments and rallied to pull to within 11-10. "We tried moving our blocking over (to cover the left side), and brought our back-row defense in (toward the middle)," said Hutchins.

It helped, but Ladywood adjusted offensively, going to more dinks over the net instead of power hits down the middle. It wasn't as effective, but the day belonged to the Blazers. That was evident when Kell Haeger served the final three points, two of which were unreturned serves.

"She is not our best server," said Teeters. Indeed, he had substituted Katie Farkas whenever Haeger's turn to serve came up, but he had used up his allotment of substitutions and had to stick with Haeger. "She came through at the end."

In the semifinal, Ladywood withstood a first-game Northern rally, and that proved to be the turning point. The Blazers led 13-8, but the Huskies scored five points in a row to tie it. Mistakes, however, doomed Northern; three mishits resulted in a side out to Ladywood and the game-winning points.

The second game was easier, as the Blazers continued to take advantage of Huskie miscues. Ladywood finished its season with a 48-5 record — and a second state championship.

A second-straight state championship is something worth shouting about — and the Blazers did.

Glenn takes 8th; Minch wins title

By Jim Toth

A year ago the 139.90 team score posted by the Troy Athens girls gymnastics team would have been good enough to win a state championship.

Friday night it was only good enough to take second place.

Rockford, which finished third in team competition last year, earned its first state gymnastics championship by compiling a 140.50 score at the annual Lower Peninsula Girls Gymnastics Championships at Troy High. The Red Hawks were next in line, and Midland-Dow was third at 138.30. Holland finished fourth at 136.20, and North Farmington rounded out the top five with 133.70.

The Rams, who came into the competition on the heels of a 140.95 performance in regionals, were led by sophomore Jill Stuart. Stuart finished second in all-around competition with a 36.55 total. Included in Stuart's efforts was 9.25 to win the floor exercise.

ADDING SUPPORT was senior Tracy Tatebe, who finished fourth all-around with a 36.30 total. Tatebe's high was a 9.50 to win the vault.

"You have to hand it to Rockford," said Athens coach Frank DiVito. "They deserved it. They came through in the clutch."

"But I have to be elated with second place. We have had a great year. We broke a state record (142.95); we went undefeated in the league, and now we finished second for the second straight time after finishing first in 1987."

The runner-up finish was led by senior Natalie Leich. Leich posted a 36.50 all-around total to finish behind Stuart and the 36.85 turned in by all-around champion Wendy Minch of Westland John Glenn.

Leich's score was the result of a 9.20 on the uneven parallel bars (third), 9.00 on balance beam (tie for fourth) a 9.30 on vault (tie for sixth) and 9.00 on floor (tie for eighth).

Junior Melissa Miller helped the Red Hawks by tying Kim Heller of North Farmington for third place on floor with a 9.20. Miller also tied Heller for third place on vault, both competitors scoring a 9.40, scored an 8.60 on bars to finish tied for 17th and turned in a 7.35 to finish well back on beam.

FRESHMAN AMY KREBS, who earlier in the week suffered a separated shoulder, returned to win third on beam with a 9.05. Teammate Tiffany Kinaia finished eighth in the same event with an 8.85.

"Tiffany Kinaia and Natalie Leich really came through for us," DiVito said. "You have to give those two seniors a lot of credit."

"The big difference came on beam. Rockford had a lot of pressure on them when they went on beam."

"They knew the score they had to get and then went out and got it. They've been there before, though. It's nothing new to them."

North Farmington, which finished behind the Red Hawks in regional competition, got a 35.40 score from Heather Kahn and 35.25 total from Heller, good for seventh and a tie for eighth place, respectively.

Kahn's finest effort was a 9.10 showing on bars. She finished 12th on both floor (8.85) and beam (8.60) and scored an 8.85 (27th) on vault. In addition to matching Miller on vault and floor, Heller scored an 8.80 on bars and 7.85 on beam.

The premier performance of the meet, however, came from Minch. The Rockets sophomore managed only a 9.40 win on bars but finished in the top 11 in each of the other three events.

Her 9.15 claimed second place on beam, a 9.10 tied Kristi Kelley of Freeland for fourth on floor and 9.20 earned 11th place on vault. Her efforts helped the Rockets place eighth overall with a 130.25.

PLYMOUTH CANTON finished 12th overall at 121.55, led by Johanna Anderson's 32.00. Heather Murphy, Shannon Connel, Dawn Clifford and Anais Yoon also turned in strong showings.

In addition to Minch, the Rockets total included solid performances from Christine Prongh, Debbie Williams, Buffy Seuchand, Nichelle Coombs.

Troy's Jenny Wilen scored a 9.00 on vault and 8.45 on floor. Teammate Wendy Zwemer scored 8.80 on vault and 8.40 on floor. Kris Cole scored an 8.70 on vault.

Rochester Adams' Julie Barnes scored a 7.90 to finish in a tie for 34th on beam and a 7.75 to finish in a tie for 44th on bars.

"Saturday should be a lot easier on the girls," DiVito said in anticipation of the individual finals. "It's more for the girls because there is no pressure."

Minch, Miller win crowns

By Mike Rosenbaum
staff writer

Westland John Glenn gymnast Wendy Minch did her floor exercises routine to the music of "Wild, Wild West," by the Escape Club, during Saturday's individual gymnastics state meet at Troy High School. During the meet, Minch, a sophomore, out-gunned her competition and escaped with three titles.

Minch won the all-around competition on Friday, then wrapped up victories on the balance beam and the uneven parallel bars on Saturday.

Minch, in her first high school season, said she felt "great," about the titles. "I don't know how to explain it. It doesn't seem like it's real."

Glenn coach Pam Yockey was expecting the all-around title, "because she's so consistent." The beam victory, however, was a "pleasant surprise" to Yockey. Minch placed fourth in the floor exercises but did not qualify for Saturday's finals in the vault.

Troy Athens, which finished second in team competition Friday, was the only school with four individuals in Saturday's final, which featured the top eight gymnasts in each event.

Junior Michelle Miller tied for first in floor exercises, winning the event for the second time, and tied for third in vault. Natalie Leich, a senior, was one of two individuals to compete in all four final events. She was third on the bars and floor exercises, fourth on the beam and seventh in vault.

Freshman Amy Krebs was seventh on beam and senior Tiffany Kinaia was eighth as the Red Hawks placed three individuals in the top eight on beam.

North Farmington's Kim Heller, a junior, tied for third in vault and placed sixth on the floor. Ralder sophomore Heather Kahn tied for fifth on the bars.

Minch scored a 9.4 on bars Friday, leading Bethany Freeman of Midland Dow by .05. She trailed Amy Walberer of Grand Rapids West Catholic by .05 after scoring a 9.15 on beam Friday. Minch did not think about those close margins between the two days of competition. "I don't usually look at anyone else's scores. I just try to beat myself."

Minch bettered her bar score Saturday, posting a 9.45 to win by .35, the largest margin of victory on the day. Despite Friday's success, she changed her bar routine Saturday, putting in a more difficult dismount.

"She stuck it," said Yockey, who also liked Minch's "good big swings." The idea of doing a different dismount on Saturday "made me a little bit more tense," Minch said. "But I knew I could do it."

Minch, the second gymnast on the beam Saturday, impressed Yockey with a one-footed layout and thrilled the crowd with a reverse summersault. Minch posted a 9.45. Walberer, seventh in line, managed a 9.1, giving Minch a win by .3.

Miller trailed Jill Stuart of Rockford after Friday's floor exercises, 9.25 to 9.2. But the gymnasts reversed their scores Saturday. Leich, who opened with a 9.0, had the highest one-day floor score with a 9.4 Saturday.

Athens coach Frank DiVito called Miller a "great dancer. She has very strong tumbling. . . She just did a great job like she did Friday night. She had a carbon copy routine."

Of Leich's floor show on Saturday, DiVito said, "she's just so dynamic. She mixes great dancing with powerful tumbling. And she does a great job showing it off on the floor. Her routine fits her personality to a 'T'."

Leich, second in the vault last season, felt she was better this year in "all-around consistency," although "I was hoping for a first in one event."

Leich will represent Michigan in a national high school meet in Chicago on May 18-20. The top four seniors in the all-around competition earned spots on the team.

Charger reaches Class A finals

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

The Class A swim championships were a bittersweet experience for Plymouth Salem standout Ron Orris.

At the state finals Saturday in East Lansing, Orris left no doubt he is one of the best high school swimmers in Michigan.

But the painful other side is he can't claim to be the best. At least not yet.

Orris barely missed winning a state championship in Michigan State University's McCaffree Natatorium. He was denied that honor by the smallest of margins in not one, but two events.

"Getting touched out twice is not a good feeling," Orris said. "There are always things you could have done to go faster. Nobody is perfect."

"It doesn't do any good to talk about it. I just know what I have to do next year."

IF BEING No. 2 in the state in two events was the bad news, the good news is Orris will get another shot at being No. 1. He's only a junior. That goal will be high on the priority list. "Oh, yeah," Orris said. "I'm ready for next year, I want it now."

Orris taking second in two events and the 400-yard freestyle relay team of Mike Hill, Fred Seidelman, Rick Steshetz and Orris finishing third helped propel the Rocks to seventh place in the 48-team field.

Livonia Churchill, led by senior Mark Papierski, was 20th in the team standings, and Redford Catholic Central, paced by sophomore Troy Shumate, 21st. Papierski made the championship heat in two events, and Shumate won a pair of consolation races.

Orris was runner-up to double-winner Alec Mull of Lansing Eastern in the 200 freestyle, getting nosed out by .12 seconds. Mull swam 1:40.32 and Orris 1:40.44. Mull later defeated Novi star Jon Cohen by .19 seconds in the 500 freestyle.

In the butterfly, East Lansing's David Klaviter edged Orris by an even closer margin. Klaviter went 51.20, Orris 51.27.

In the freestyle relay, the Rocks had the best seed time and improved that by more than two seconds in the prelims on Friday.

In an ironic finish, Salem dropped another second off that time in the final, swimming 3:14.32, but the Rocks still ended up third behind state champion East Kentwood and Bloomfield Hills Andover.

IN THE INDIVIDUAL medley, Papierski, who finished fifth, was among the leaders in the backstroke portion — his best of the four strokes — but Cohen pulled away from the rest of the field over the final two.

While the Novi swimmer streaked to a 1:51.95 time, Papierski, who had a career best 1:56.88, was within 1.30 of second-place Jon Moore of Okemos and .54 behind fourth-place Klaviter.

Amazingly, Papierski was fifth in that event in the Western Lakes Activities Association meet and finished the same at state.

"We didn't taper him for that meet," Churchill coach Lawrence Hein said. "We geared everything for this meet. Mark is the kind of person who gets keyed up with all the competition that's here."

"The indicator of performance is not your place. He was fourth (in the state) last year and fifth this year, but his time was faster."

Papierski later capped his career at Churchill with a sixth-place finish in the backstroke. His time was 55.24.

"HE WAS IN the top six in both events," Hein said. "You can't ask for any more than that. All in all, (the IM) was a good race, considering the people who were in that race with him and he lowered his time."

Shumate won the 200 and 500 freestyle consolation heats with relative ease. In fact, his final times would have placed in the championship race, but it doesn't work that way. Swimmers have to qualify for either heat during prelims.

In the 200, Shumate swam 1:43.71, giving him about a 1½-second advantage over Paul Murray of Ann Arbor Pioneer. In the 500, it was much more lopsided as Shumate cruised to a 4:40.95 time, finishing far ahead of Andover's Mark D'Errico (4:46.03).

"I just felt a lot better than I did in the prelims," he said, adding he was feeling ill on Friday. "I had a kick today. That was basically my race."

Shumate, who made the junior national cut in the 500, has two more chances to be in the championship heat and maybe win a state title, but that was little consolation Saturday.

"I was hoping to be in there this year," he said. "I was seeded fifth in the 500 and third in the 200."

"I get a little more pumped up for the finals than the consolations. I know I could have gone under 4:40, because I always swim better against competition."

In addition, Plymouth Canton's medley relay team of Scott Swartzwelder, Jeff Homan, Bryce Anderson and Mitch Timberlake scored with a 12th-place finish (1:43.10), and Catholic Central's freestyle quartet of Shumate, Mike Hoeflein, Jim Kovach and Alan Afsari netted 11th place (3:19.38).

History of bowling dates back to ancient Egyptian game

In this column two weeks ago I asked if anyone knew how and where bowling originated.

Thank you, Jim Lutkenhoff, for finding the answer in the context of the book, "Brunswick — Story of an American Company." I read the book and found it to be quite interesting, especially the chapter regarding the history of bowling. A version of the game is thought to have been played in ancient Egypt as early as 3200 B.C.

A nine-pin game was introduced later in colonial America, but it was suppressed by Puritans who believed it promoted gambling and laziness. Later on, settlers in Connecticut added a pin and argued with authorities that this was a new game, 10-pin bowling, and that it fell outside the prohibitory ordinance.

The first-recorded indoor match was played at the Knickerbocker Alleys in New York City on New Year's Day in 1840. A group of 27 men, representing nine bowling clubs in New York, met in 1875 to revise the rules of the sport and set some standards for the ruling National Bowling Association. Brunswick visualized the potential for bowling and had a significant influence on its growth and development. Moses Benninger, president of Brunswick, helped form the American Bowling Congress on Sept. 9, 1895.

The bowling concept hasn't changed much over the years, with one exception being the advent of "Bumper Bowling." Woodland Lanes in Livonia is starting up a new program for 10 weeks of bumper bowling for children 3 through 8 with sessions beginning Tuesday, March 21 at 12:30 p.m. and Friday, March 31, at 9:30 a.m.

If you are not familiar with bumpers, the idea originated about five years ago in Dallas and it spread quickly. At first, they used carpet rolls in the gutters, but they were heavy and hard to store.

An Ann Arbor inventor, Alex Wortman came up with an inflatable tube made of PVC plastic. They are expensive, but they work well and store easily. No more "gutter balls" for the children as they can enjoy this learning experience.

In the Woodland Parks & Recreation League, Jamie Steel, a 9-year-old student at St. Edith, beat his 88 average with a 160 game. Heather Steele, a 13-year-old at Frost Junior High, scored a 192, 102 over average. Brent Robertson rolled a 184, 109 over average, and 6-year-old Cory Marshall had a 173 game. At Garden Lanes in Garden City, Donna McQuade bowled a 687 series in the Friday Ladies Classic League. Action in the St. Linus Men's League was paced by David Baznec with a 275 game in a 693 series.

Oak Lanes in Westland was the site of a 648 series by Paula Cyril of the Wednesday Morning Glories. Her games were 256-193-199. In the Sunday morning Classic, Rusty Reed bowled a 257 game, Dan Kunnert, 234, and Chuck Szura a 725 series. The Monday Night Men's League saw John Plaza with a 224 and Arley Downer scored 244. The Friday night Men's League featured Fred Wroblecki with a 269 game and 699, while Jim Griffin shot a 263 game. In the Friday Ladies, Rita Anderson led with a 223 and Yvonne Allen put together a "hat trick" with three straight 205 games. In the Sunday Mixers, Tom Myers rolled a 224, and in the Saturday Youth Majors, Sherry Weiss registered a 225 game.

Redford Lanes on Grand River is the site of the West Side Lutheran League where Mark Raitz put together 230-254-264 for a 748 series, the second-highest series ever shot in the league's 40-year history. The record is held by Jim Koepke Sr., of Livonia, who recorded a 754 in the 1974-75 season. Other scores last week: Craig Tillman, 234/626; Ron Breuhan, 625; Don Johnson, 811; Clark Stone, 609; Kevin Chambers, 609; Dick Meissner, 608; Ken Ingram, 247/606; Larry Davis, 603; and Will Gruke, 248/600.

The ABC National Tournament is currently being held in Wichita, Kan., and RJP Mechanical of Livonia has taken over fourth place. The team is comprised of Gary Nagle, Garrett Nagle, D.J. Archer, Greg Cohen and Hal Swales. Their scores were 1,027, 1,157, 1,091, respectively, for a 3,275 team total. Speaking of Merri Bowl, a 300 game was the highlight last week, as Mike Tinkham of the "Lost Weekenders" League put together 12 strikes and a 759 series. His teammate, Chuck Rasin, almost matched the feat with a 297 game and 723 series. Steve Herman shot 226-237-256 for a 719 total, Jim Moss, 257/695, and Tim Cushitis, a 682 series. In the Men's Senior House, Pat Frasier and John Watkins each had a 721 series, Greg Cohen, 702; Doug Nikkila, 697; Jim Jessop, 721. In the Ladies Classics, Sue Marsella led the way with a 267 game and 745 series. The "Golden Eagles" saw Richard Dinsmore with a 264 game and Allan Davis a 688 series. The Sav More Men's League had Larry Haag with a 722 series on games of 242, 246 and 234.

In the Woodland Lanes Senior House League, the "Livonia Trophy and Silkscreening" team shot a team series of 3,376, breaking a long-standing record. The scores were by Larry Mislavy (710); Bud LeBlanc (703); Chuck Myers (696); Dave Myers (692) and John Panzo (573). Other senior house scores: Tim Bennett, 700; Dave Wisniewski, 692; Bob Adamczyk, 686; Steve Macik, 683; Jeff Morris, 658; John Romney, 658; Dick Shoupe, 654; Ralph Zadrozny, 653; and George Bird, 651. Moonlighters League — Craig Demeo, 265/730. Allstate Ladies — Nancy Flummerfelt, 618. Ford LTP — Bob Spears, 300/709; Mel Al-birte, 279/694. Wednesday Trio — Brad Wolter, 278/740; Joe Gumbis, 684. Parks and Recreation — Zak Fowler, 321. Ford parts — Bill Weed, 682 and Don Mitrin, 675. Bators Bar — Marv Gadge, 705; Jeep Newton, 278/666; Jim Gaglearo, 258/653; Dale Hicks, 648; Paul Pelachyk, 648; Mark Thompson, 641. Merri Mates league saw George Little with a 269/671. Sandy Hardesty rolled a 216/552 in the Ladies Wednesday afternoon "Spare makers" League. In the Friday Youth League, Junior Division, Andy Barthel rolled a 183, and Dana Groczewski bowled a 151 game.

Plymouth Bowl was the scene of a 300 game by James T. Moore in the Streamliners League. James is a 185 bowler and his series was 746.

Super Bowl on Ford Road in Canton will be open all day on Easter Sunday for "open bowling."

State champs make this team tops

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

OBSERVERLAND COULD hold its own against any all-star wrestling team with the quality talent that is assembled here.

The 1989 area team includes three state champions, and seven of the 11 state qualifiers on the 13-man unit placed in the Class A finals.

No one can question the ability of Redford Catholic Central's two-time state winner Lee Krueger and teammates Matt and Jay Helm, both of whom won individual titles, also.

Observerland's finest will look very familiar to area wrestling fans. Seven — Mike Gentile, the Helm brothers, Rob Matigian, Chris Rodriguez, Steve Burlison and Krueger — are first-team repeaters. Dereck Tharp was a second-team pick last year.

In addition, area coaches made Dick Cook of North Farmington their choice for coach of the year honors.

ALL-AREA FIRST TEAM

Jed Kramer (103), sophomore, Thurston; Kramer compiled a 40-10 record in only his second year of high school wrestling. He finished third in district and regional tournaments and qualified for the Class B finals.

Kramer, 65-25 over two seasons, won the Tri-River League championship and was second in the Big Red and Rocket Invationals at Westland John Glenn and the Dearborn Fordson meet.

"He never quits for six minutes," coach Pete Newton said. "He keeps coming back when he's down."

Craig Richardson (112), senior, Salem; Richardson was 40-7 while winning Western Lakes Activities Association and district championships. The team captain recorded 26 falls and scored 259 points for the WLAA champion Rockets.

"Craig did an outstanding job for us," coach Ron Krueger said. "I don't think Craig has reached his potential yet. I think he will do very well in college."

Mike Gentile (119), senior, Redford CC; Gentile missed the individual regional and state tournaments because of an injury, but he was a district and Catholic League champion.

He had a 46-5 record and also won tournaments at Flint Kearsley, Lansing Sexton and Mount Clemens. Gentile, who finished his career with a 175-26-2 record, was a two-time district and regional champ and three-time league winner. As a freshman, he was second in the state.

"It has been a pleasure to have worked with Mike the past four years," CC coach Mike Rodriguez said. "He is ferocious on the mat and a gentleman and a good Christian off the mat."

Casey Krause (125), junior, Churchill; Krause was 38-11 and captured a district championship. He also finished in first place at the Canton Invitational.

Krause, who had the most pins on the Churchill team, was runner-up in the WLAA and qualified for state with a fourth-place regional finish. He has an 84-34 career record.

"Both on and off the mat, Casey is smart, dedicated and hard working," coach Anwar Yaffal said. "He will no doubt be one of the leading contenders at any weight he chooses for the state meet next year."

Matt Helm (130), senior, Redford CC; After being the Class A runner-up last year, Helm went all the way in his final season, capturing the state championship and finishing the year 51-3.

Helm was champion of the Lansing Eastern, Medina (Ohio), Lansing Sexton and Catholic League meets. During his career in which he had a 193-22-1 mark, Helm won four league, three district and two regional titles. He was sixth in the state as a sophomore.

"Matt was strong in his determination to be a winner," Rodriguez said. "He is very elusive and has good technique, which helped make him a champion."

Rob Matigian (135), senior, John Glenn; Matigian, who was 44-0 going into the state finals, is the all-time leader in career wins (128-20) by a Rocket wrestler. He ended up 47-2 and fifth in the state after losing one-point and overtime decisions.

In addition to being the WLAA champion, Matigian won the Big Red, Rocket, Plymouth Salem, district and regional tournaments. He scored 298 points and had 26 falls. Matigian also has career school records for takedowns (211) and points (757½).

"Rob has been a great competitor for three years and a team leader by example as well," Glenn coach Tom Buckalew said. "This year he acted more like an assistant coach than just another wrestler. He has been unselfish and dedicated to team goals."

Jay Helm (140), junior, Redford CC; Helm won four decisions in the Class A finals at Battle Creek to capture his first state championship. He ended the year with a 52-2 record.

Helm also won tournaments at Kearsley, Eastern, Catholic Central and Sexton. He was a league, district and regional winner, too. Helm, who has a 149-25 career record, has won two regional and three league and district titles.

"Jay is cunning and has become ferocious in the past year," Rodriguez said. "That is why he became a state champion."

Jason Kopcak (145), senior, Wayne; Kopcak qualified for the state finals for the first time this year and nearly went all the way. He got to the championship round before losing a decision to unbeaten Jamie Boyd of Mount Pleasant.

Along the way to the state meet, Kopcak won district and regional titles and compiled a final record of 38-3-1.

Chris Rodriguez (152), senior, Redford CC; Rodriguez finished third in the state and posted a 52-4-1 record. He was the 152-pound champ at the Shamrock Invitational and Mount Clemens, Eastern, league, district and regional meets.

The four-time Catholic League champion has won two district and regional titles, was fourth in the state at 145 last year and finished third in the Medina Invitational last December.

Rodriguez had a 169-37-2 career record. He also had 22 pins in his senior year and 75 during his career.

He has a "great attitude and is very

DAN DEAN/staff photographer

Jay Helm of Redford Catholic Central captured the state crown at 140 pounds, piling up 52 wins in 54 matches. In his career at CC, he has a 149-25 record — and he's just a junior.

tendentious toward his opponents on the mat and always a good Christian off the mat," coach Rodriguez said.

Steve Burlison (160), junior, Salem; Burlison was the WLAA and district champion and placed second in the regional meet. While recording 32 falls in a 44-6 season, he also captured tournament honors at Salem and RiverView.

Burlison has qualified twice for state and has an 89-30 career mark with a year remaining.

"I hope Steve works hard in the off-season," Krueger said. "If he does, he could have a very good senior year."

Brian Burlison (171), junior, Salem; Burlison was the most dominating wrestler in the area at his weight. He fashioned a 45-7 record and won league, Salem Invitational and district titles. He was third in the regional.

Burlison pinned 24 opponents and scored 270½ team points. He has 77 career victories.

"Brian is working hard, and I think he will do very well in the state meet next year," Krueger said. "This year he won two matches. Next year we hope for four."

Dereck Tharp (189), senior, John Glenn; Tharp capped a 39-6 year by taking fifth place in the Class A meet. He finished his career with an 88-26 record.

Tharp was the 189-pound champ at the Big Red, league and district tournaments. He was runner-up in regional action.

Sean McDermott won three events at the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association championship swim meet, and that performance earned the Kalamazoo College junior from Redford MIAA mens swimmer of the year honors.

The Catholic Central graduate was a winner in the 200-yard butterfly (1:59.44) and 500-yard (4:40.77) and 1,650-yard (16:31.14) freestyle. His times in the freestyle events qualified him for the NCAA Division III championships, held last weekend at Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Maine.

JULIE PUCCI, a senior forward at University of Michigan-Dearborn from Westland (John Glenn), finished her basketball career in style, establishing a new school record for points scored in a game with 42 in her collegiate finale. Performances like that earned Pucci a spot on the NAIA District 23 womens basketball team.

Pucci was the second-best scorer in the district, averaging 18.5 points for UM-D, which finished 4-25 for the season.

Also honored in district balloting was Northwood junior Cathy Schram of Livonia, who was all-academic after posting a 3.63 grade point average in business.

college sports

SUE NISSEN, a sophomore forward at Central Michigan from Redford (Dearborn Divine Child), reaped accolades both on and off the court for the season just completed. She led CMU and was third in the Mid-American Conference in scoring (17.0), was fifth in the MAC in rebounding (8.2) and finished sixth in free-throw percentage (81.0). Nissen was also an academic all-MAC selection, posting a 3.57 grade point with a major in health fitness.

Another MAC basketball standout: senior guard Joe Gregory, who led Bowling Green State in scoring (13.2 points) and free-throw shooting (79.4 percent), and was second on the team in assists (3.2). Gregory was ninth in the MAC in scoring, 11th in free-throw shooting and 12th in assists.

BILL PYE, Northern Michigan

University's sophomore goalie from Canton who earned Western Collegiate Hockey Association tournament MVP honors, entered the NCAA playoffs with a 25-13-2 record, a 3.11 goals-against average and a .907 save percentage.

He was assisted by another Canton native, junior defenseman Pete Podrasky, who had a goal and an assist in the 9-4 win over Denver in the championship game. Podrasky has five goals and 31 assists this season.

WENDY GILLES, a senior at Wisconsin from Plymouth (Salem), has rolled to a 14-5 record playing No. 1 singles for the Badgers' tennis team. Gilles is 5-2 against Big Ten competition, and has a 12-5 mark in No. 1 doubles with partner Elaine Demetroulis (8-1 in the Big Ten).

TIM DOWD, a sophomore outfielder at Central Michigan from Plymouth (Salem), returned from the Chippewas 12-game baseball trip to Texas with a .391 batting average, tops on the team. Sophomore pitcher Tom Cotter, from North Farmington, made two relief appearances and did not allow an earned run while picking up one save. CMU was 4-8 on the trip.

"Diet Center helped me look

Susan Saint James
Susan Saint James, actress, mother and Diet Center success story

If millions of people watched you on TV every week, wouldn't you want to lose weight fast? I did! Here's why I went to Diet Center:

■ Lose fat, not muscle. Research shows 92% of the weight lost on the Diet Center program is excess fat, not water or lean body mass. ■ Eat real food. No expensive pre-packaged meals required, just wholesome foods from the grocery store. ■ Lose weight fast. Energize your body while pounds and inches melt away. ■ Get the star treatment. Diet Center treats every-one special, with one-to-one professional counseling. ■ No contracts. You stick with the program because it works.

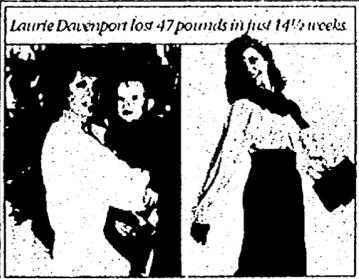

You'll feel the difference.

Tune-up for spring

By Charlene Mitchell
special writer

The cold weather typical of Michigan winters has a habit of making us feel a little down and out. The wind dries out our skin, the freezing temperatures make our nails brittle, and the hassles of the ice and snow tend to give us the blahs.

Just as our cars require reconditioning and tune-ups, our bodies can benefit from a dose of late winter tuning-up as well. Body massages, facials, manicures and pedicures are all part of the cosmetics of looking good and feeling better during the off-season, when bright days are few and far between.

In fact, more and more women — and, yes, men, too — are spoiling themselves with extra special beauty treatments that help them get through the fit all.

At Bloomie's Face and Body in Farmington Hills, owner Sharon Reed is convinced that the comfort and luxury of an hourlong massage or facial can do wonders in making a person go from down and out to totally rejuvenated.

"When clients come in here with boots covered with snow and their cheeks red from the blustery cold, we give them just what they need to make them forget about the bad weather," Reed said. "When they lie down on our heated massage tables and feel the hot oils on their skin, it's like heaven."

"Right down to the heated mittens and booties that help melt moisture cream into the feet and hands, it's a real treat."

IN NORTHERN Oakland County where facial and nail salons are in abundance, it's estimated that the number of men and women paying up to $100 for a morning or afternoon of pampering on a monthly basis has more than tripled in the past two years.

Tamara Friedman, owner of Tamara Institute de Beaute in Farmington Hills, feels people are realizing that health and beauty are tied together.

"People tend to feel better when they look good," said Tamara, whose full-service salon on Northwestern Highway attracts clients ranging from housekeepers to surgeons. "We find a lot of our customers give their husbands or male friends gift certificates at Christmastime and they begin to use them at this time of the year."

"It's an escape to a calm, cozy atmosphere where they can be comforted in private."

One look at Friedman's flawless skin and perfectly kept nails lets you know she practices what she preaches.

Within a three-mile radius, another salon that's seeing a boost in the number of people pampering away their winter blahs is Daniel J Salon. Owner Daniel Soller recently hired two additional technicians to handle the increased volume of clients booking manicures and pedicures.

"It's phenomenal," he said. "We're seeing lots of new clients, people who never before splurged on little self-indulgent things like pedicures or facials."

Dear Boss, wish you were here

By Iris Sanderson Jones contributing travel editor

Dear Boss:

You are always telling me to look for a local angle when I travel to faraway places for travel stories. The Michigan Connection, I think you call it.

You'll be glad to know that I was thinking about you and the Michigan Connection when I checked into the glamorous new Daytona Beach Marriott Hotel in Florida. I was there for the grand opening of that beautiful pile of pink stucco and green roofs. (It's a tough job, but somebody has to do it.)

As I followed the bell captain past the lobby, the lounge bar to the elevator and up to my room overlooking the ocean, I said, "Do you know if anybody from Michigan works in this hotel?"

"I'm from Michigan," John Mays said. "I grew up in Southgate and I helped open the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn."

It was a good omen. John was storeroom manager at the Hyatt, and later followed the bell captain to Dallas for seven years before becoming a bell captain himself at a hotel in Winston-Salem, N.C.

JOHN MOVED to the Ritz-Carlton in Atlanta, when his parents moved from Michigan to a home just up the beach from where they were building the Daytona Beach

Marriott and John came to visit.

"I came to spring break in Daytona Beach when I was in high school," John said, "and when I saw this big hotel going up right over the heart of the beach last year, I applied for a job. Now I'm living at home again!"

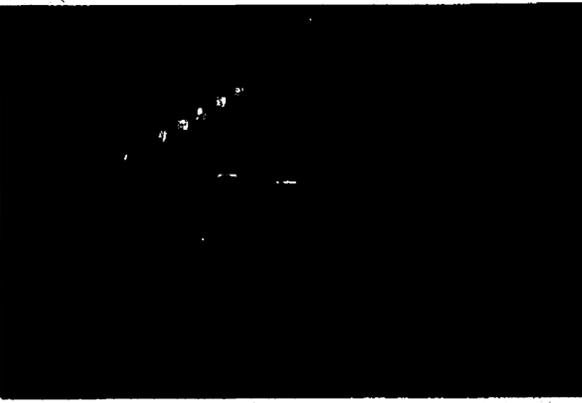

How's that for a Michigan Connection?

I was thinking about that the next day when John accepted the ceremonial "key" from the mayor during the hotel's official opening ceremonies.

There were a lot of speeches. The room was full of balloons. The traditional ribbon-cutting ceremonies were a little more dramatic than usual — a Nissan GTP turbojet racing car roared on to the stage — and broke the ribbon while it was at it — bringing a stunned audience to its collective feet.

I was standing up to my knees in balloons, talking to hotel general manager Michael Murray after the ceremony, when I happened to mention the Michigan Connection.

There's plenty of sand, surf and sunshine, not to mention hotels, along Daytona Beach.

MOVING PICTURES

'Rooftops': Another unbelievable Hollywood dream

It would be a marvelous world indeed.

• If all urban problems were choreographed by Hollywood dream merchants.

• If New York was always warm and sunny.

• If living on abandoned tenement rooftops was paradise.

• If, after a few obligatory beatings, instant mastery of "combat dancing" (patterned after the Afro-Brazilian martial arts discipline, Capoeira) could lead to an easy victory over the bad guys.

The hero, "T" (Jason Gedrick), is run off his rooftop by drug merchants whose leader, Lobo (Eddie Velez), uses abandoned tenements for drug sales. Lobo is cousin (and employer) of Elana (Troy Beyer) with whom T falls in love.

Then there's little Squeak (Alexis Cruz), a smart-aleck friend of T, Elana's friend Amber (Tisha Campbell) and Kadim (Allen Payne) who's also part of this roof-top milieu.

Some of the dancing is OK, the music is properly contemporary and the action sequences aren't too bad, but once they start trying to act and convince us of the totally unbelievable and simpleminded story line, forget it.

The acting is particularly lame and whoever conceived Jason Gedrick's clean-cut, well-groomed persona as an unwashed kid living on a rooftop was way off base.

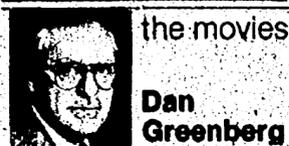

Totally unbelievable. "Rooftops" is screenwriter Terence Brennan's first produced screenplay — and it looks it.

HOWEVER, the most remarkable thing about "Rooftops" is it was directed by Robert Wise.

One would think that a man who directed 38 films which received 67 Oscar nominations and 19 Academy Awards, who received an Oscar nomination for editing "Citizen Kane," and who directed "West Side Story" and "The Sound of Music," would have better film sense and artistic judgment than "Rooftops."

Wrong! It is indeed sad to see Robert Wise's brilliant career wind down with the poorly conceived and badly executed "Rooftops."

Walt Disney's 1977 "The Rescuers" (A, G, 77 minutes) has been re-released. It's another charming Disney animation, this time about two brave mice who rescue a kidnapped orphan girl. The audio track has an all-star vocal cast including "The Adventure of Baron Munchausen" was re-scheduled and won't open until Friday, March 24. The news reached us after deadline for last week's column, but that review still stands. It's a marvelous fantasy that will entertain all ages.

"Leviathan" (R, B+, 95 minutes) — Are you ready for soggy aliens? Well, that's what you'll get 16,000 feet under seas as a scientific mining expedition led by geologist Beck (Peter Weller) stumbles on sunken Russian ship. Only too late they discover the Russians sank it on purpose. It was an experiment with mutant germs that went awry.

Naturally, the miners bring the germs aboard their station and little germs grow into a big mutant. They radio for help, but the company decides to cut their losses, leaving our undersea heroes on their own.

Peter Weller, even without his "Robocop" suit, is decisive, making quick decisions in a watery nightmare. Richard Crenna and Amanda Pays also perform well, so if you like scary movies, "Leviathan"

"Working Girl" (B) (R) 115 minutes.

VIDEO VIEWING

By Dan Greenberg
staff writer

CBS/Fox Video has done its homework for your home VCR and they have just released enough Charlie Chaplin and Shirley Temple to keep you laughing, chortling, chuckling, giggling and even smiling thoughtfully about human behavior for a long time. There's also a few serious moments when Chaplin turns your laughter to a careful consideration of how people act.

The Chaplin collection includes his famous and infamous, feature films. Not only are "Modern Times," "The Kid," "The Idle Class" and other features available, but so are his three, seldom-seen post World War II works — "Monsieur Verdoux" (1947), "Limelight" (1952) and "A King in New York" (1957).

his feature films have not been widely available on celluloid in recent years.

"Monsieur Verdoux" features Martha Raye and, of course, Chaplin in the title role as an unemployed banker who marries rich widows and murders them for their money with which he supports his wife. This acerbic comment on violence ("after Auschwitz, what's six wives?") may be fashionable contemporary black humor, but it didn't sit well in 1947.

"LIMELIGHT" features Buster Keaton and Chaplin as old, broken down, silent film comics. This movie started Keaton's comeback after a quarter-century of problems. It also introduced Claire Bloom and is a wonderful, romantic piece with plenty of familiar Chaplin routines.

"A King in New York" was Chaplin's bitter comment on the America of Joe McCarthy and is the least successful of his later films.

Still, Chaplin is Chaplin, the very best in my book, and now at your VCR fingertips.

On a simpler note, CBS/Fox released nine Shirley Temple films earlier this month to complete their Shirley Temple collection which already included many early favorites — "Heidi" (1937), "The Little Colonel" (1935), "Little Miss Broadway" (1938) and "The Littlest Rebel" (1935), among others.

The nine new releases are three 1934 films — "Baby Take a Bow," "Bright Eyes" and "Stand Up and Cheer" — "Our Little Girl" (1935), "Captain January" (1936), "Susannah of the Mounties" (1938), "The Little Princess" (1939), "Wee Willie Winkie" directed by John Ford, and "The Blue Bird" (1940).

The last is the one I looked at and, of course, it's G rated by today's standards — or any others for that matter. It runs 84 minutes, most of which are Technicolor and I'll give it a B+.

While it is a pleasant, entertaining and moral tale, it doesn't have the sparkle and enthusiasm of "The Wizard of Oz" with which it seems to be competing. Nor does the 12-year-old Shirley Temple have the same appeal that the 6-year old Miss Temple did in 1934 when her precocious personality, curls and all, burst on the scene.

THAT WAS her first year as a star and her charm so brightened those dark Depression days that she was awarded a special Oscar "in recognition of her outstanding contribution to screen entertainment during 1934."

Based on Maurice Maeterlinck's play, "The Blue Bird" begins, as did "Oz," with a black and white pro-

But no matter how Mummy and Daddy Tyl (Spring Byington and Russell Hicks) explain that satisfaction in life is found in contentment with one's portion, Shirley keeps complaining.

The black and white prologue ends as she and her brother awake to Fairy Berylune's (Jessie Ralph) injunction to find the Blue Bird of Happiness. Help is at hand from Light (Helen Ericson) — a good fairy type with long blonde hair — and the faithful family pets who assume human form. Eddie Collins is Tyl the dog and Gale Sondergaard is the cat, Tyllette.

Collins is never as charming or fanciful as the Cowardly Lion and his buddies, but Sondergaard plays Tyllette pretty slinky and is a fairly engaging villainess.

These pets accompany the children to the Past, to the Land of Luxury, through the forest, where the trees attack in the famous and frightening firestorm, to the Future, and finally back home. That's where happiness is found. Who are happy? Those content with their portion.

THIS ISN'T Shirley Temple at her best, and the story's overly obvious, almost saccharine moral hardly appeals to contemporary sophistication.

The mild anti-war sentiment seems strangely weak just as World War II was getting under way, but no one much cared about war in this country prior to Pearl Harbor.

Oh, goody, goody — It's Ann Arbor film fest time

By Anne Sharp
staff writer

One of the fondest memories of my youth involves jumping up and down on a floor full of balloons in the foyer of the Michigan Theatre on opening night of the Ann Arbor Film Festival.

Of course, that sort of thing is all over for me now. I'm a professional film critic and have to behave myself. But lucky you, the 27th annual Ann Arbor Film Festival is this week and you can run right in and do whatever the ushers will let you get away with.

There has always been a sort of Mardi Gras atmosphere about the festival. Part of it has to do with its wild, racy origins in the avant-garde art culture of the 1960s.

Legendary local figures, such as filmmaker/professor George Manupelli and performance artist Pat Oleszko helped to shape it into a world-class showcase of the latest in experimental 16mm films.

The publicity generated by a notorious, nude-bedecked advertising poster and by some of the festival's coordinators being thrown in jail one year by would-be censors certainly didn't hurt either.

After succumbing to the general art-scene malaise of the Reagan years — sagging attendance, lack of funds for both filmmakers and the festival itself — the yearly event seems to be gathering back some of its old glamor.

PROGRAM coordinator Vicki Honeyman expects the 1989 festival to receive, in total, more than 250 entries from filmmakers all over the country and from various parts of the globe.

Only about four or five will actually be from Ann Arbor. These will be the candidates for the $100 Marvin Felheim Award for best local film.

Festival prize money will total $5,000 this year. A recent addition is a $250 endowment set up by former U-M student Lawrence "Big Chill" Kasdan.

So what will this year's festival be like?

"Maybe this is going to be the year of the angst," said Honeyman, noting the inordinate amount of blood and cemeteries featured in the entries she's screened.

Well, angst, perhaps — and a great deal of charm, too, if the short subjects available for preview were any indication. Festival works from earlier years typically had a rough, student film look to them, but this year's model tends to be polished and very professional looking.

Animated films of all types and techniques predominate. Tom Young's "Out," Cindy Canejo's "The Blue Room" and Karl Staven's outrageous display of womb envy, "Making a Baby," are standouts. So is Christopher Schambaugh's "Unfitted," which combines animation and live action in a most amusingly stylish, yet effective, anti-smoking statement.

The Michigan Theatre, home of the festival since 1980, is at 603 E.

Liberty in downtown Ann Arbor. Call 995-5556 for information. An opening night reception, free to the public, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The first night's screening (not free) will follow at 8:30 p.m.

THE SHOW will continue Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Each show will feature different films — about 90 will be exhibited in all. Prize-winning films will be screened on East-er Sunday at 5, 7 and 9 p.m.

Tickets are $4 per show, $7 per evening and $25 for the entire series. There's also a free show of selected festival shorts at 1 p.m. Saturday, a free exhibition of avant-garde Dutch films at 3 p.m. Wednesday and a special show by festival judge Jack Wright (also free) at 3 p.m. Friday.

Enjoy yourself . . . and jump on a balloon for me.

The not so betwixed Go-Betweens

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Lee Remick, you don't say. Heck they even wrote a song about the actress. The number, "Lee Remick," set the Australian outfit, The Go-Betweens, afloat back in 1978 during the height of punk explosion. The single turned a few heads and garnered the band an instant cult following.

"It was an adolescent yearning, really," said Grant McLennan, guitarist and co-songwriter of The Go-Betweens. "She has lovely eyes. I actually thought she carried herself quite well. She's one of the great walkers in American film."

The Go-Betweens have gained a reputation of walking on the wild side with their music. The five-member group has released six albums, all of the surreal lovescape variety.

Yet "16 Lovers Lane" is said to be the group's most contemporary album to date. Good thing, too. The Go-Betweens were recently signed by Capitol records and are ready to embark on a massive tour of the United States.

So "16 Lovers Lane" serves as a tidy introduction to a band's music that has covered the mass scope of musical experience. In other words, the latest effort is not as weird.

THIS ALBUM took thought. It took planning. It took the songwriting tandem of Robert Forster and McLennan to seclude themselves for two months in quest of some first rate songs.

"The first month, he came to my house. The second month I went over to his house," said McLennan, who through bleary eyes could be mistaken for Phil "Michelob" Collins. "Then we went and did a demo of the songs for the rest of the band. Normally, we would all do it together. I think it helped focus our ideas of what the record was going to be like. It was frustrating in some instances."

Frustration could await for the band. Making it in America is a big order, despite the fact The Go-Betweens are quite a well-known entity in Australia and the United Kingdom.

Nonetheless, McLennan rattles off a list of pluses The Go-Betweens have going for them. Let's see. There's a nice album, there's shock value and humor.

Then McLennan settles on an analogy that America and Australia are very much alike.

"We both have car cultures," he said. "We both have surfing. We both have drive-in theaters. As people we're naive and optimistic, which is quite unusual these days."

THOSE ARE necessary tools for the hopeless romantic, which The Go-Betweens appeared to be on "16 Lovers Lane."

Song titles such "Love Goes On," "Love Is a Sign" and "Quiet Heart" offer a give clue to the group's romantic inclination. The lyrics, such as those featured in the number "Clouds," make it an open and shut case.

"The Clouds are here they aren't up in the sky/I cup them with my hands and reached up high/I said to these Clouds, 'No more am I blind I have to see straight that will make me unkind.'"

Songs feature lush acoustic melodies along with violins and an oboe. The sound is something that has evolved through years of touring and recording.

Once The Go-Betweens struck pay dirt with "Lee Remick," they scooted to Great Britain. Recently, however, they've moved back to Australia. As a band from the Land Down Under, The Go-Betweens find they have more in common than just a passport with groups such as INXS, The Church and Hunters and Collectors. They're not one-hit wonders, but groups who have been around for awhile.

"I think the rest of the world is beginning to pay attention," McLennan said. "These bands have been around for 10 years. It's not like its their first album."

CDs revive jazz's bop and cool era

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

These are hot times, if you're a fan of 1950s jazz.

Thanks mainly to the advent of CDs, there's an explosion of re-issues from the period. Critics say it was a golden era for this music.

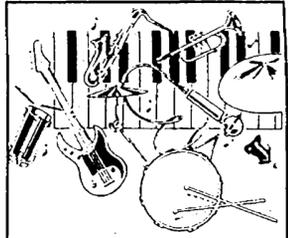

Two strains of jazz were popular in the '50s. One was "bop," a hard-driving music loaded with rapid-fire chord changes and hot solos.

The other was "cool" jazz. This form was marked by restraint, the use of well-placed notes backed by loping bass lines and brush strokes circling a drum head.

When the original albums — on Prestige, Contemporary, Riverside and other labels — went out of print in the late '60s, some of the material resurfaced in double album sets.

While there is an advantage to such collections — you get lots of good stuff in one package — the music isn't presented as originally conceived. The flavor of the original record is diluted, or lost.

But in the last two years, MCA records, which bought the catalogues of most of these jazz labels, has been digitally remastering the recordings. They're re-issuing the music faithful to the original releases, even reviving the old album covers and liner notes in their "Original Jazz Classics" series.

The clarity on these re-releases is surprising; the stuff sounds like it was recorded yesterday. And in some cases, session out-takes are included with the re-releases, to take advantage of the CD's longer format.

FOR EXAMPLE, guitarist Wes Montgomery's great 1962 album for Riverside, "Full House — Live at Tsubo's," has three extra tracks added, bringing the total length to over an hour. And some stores are selling it and other jazz re-issues for as low as $11.95.

If you're not a jazz fan but open to suggestion, know that much '50s jazz is more traditional, more bluesy, easier to grasp than the free-form jazz and fusion music that followed.

Sure, there's a feeling out there that jazz is... well... weird music. But to like jazz, to be moved enough by it that you want to pick up a few albums, you have to see the music as not arbitrary and witty, but logical.

Those oddball notes the musicians are playing are used to creatively expand on the song's harmonic structure.

But while the fan who digs jazz can make sense of the weirdness, he also revels in it. Those odd notes and syncopations create a flavor that satisfies when vanilla won't do.

The music fan curious about '50s jazz might check out some albums by these artists. All are digitally remastered and new sounding on CD.

● Miles Davis — His mid-'50s albums on Prestige are classics, including "Walkin'," "Bags Groove" and "Cookin'" with the Miles Davis Quintet. The quintet, which included John Coltrane on saxophone, was the most revered band of its day.

MANY TRACKS are bluesy, but there are great versions of ballads, too, including "My Funny Valentine" on "Cookin'." Davis' 1959 release on Columbia, "Kind of Blue," is a great example of cool jazz and easy to understand, if you're new to this music.

● John Coltrane — Besides recording with Davis, Coltrane released his first solo albums in the '50s. "Blue Trane" on the Blue Note label is the best of his '50s music, bluesy and more understandable than his free-form jazz experiments in the '60s.

● Wes Montgomery — He helped set the classic jazz guitar style by using a clean tone and frequent use of two-string octave patterns. Montgomery covered jazz standards ranging from Theolonius Monk's "Round Midnight," to Sonny Rollins' "Airegin" (Nigeria spelled backward).

He also wrote some great originals, including "West Coast Blues." His best work was on Riverside in the late '50s and early '60s. Check out any of these albums, especially "The Wes Montgomery Trio," "The Incredible Jazz Guitar of Wes Montgomery," and the earlier mentioned "Full House."

● Charlie Parker — Just about any recording by the great bop saxophonist will do. "Bebop and Bird, Volume 1" on Hitville-Rhino is a good collection of some of Parker's studio and live recordings.

BAMBI SLAM — Bambi Slam

This self-titled LP is the first U.S. release from the Slam, which like "The," is the product of one individual.

He gets help from others on various instruments like cello, saxophone and congas. Don't be misled by these instruments. This is not a band likely to be asked to play "Brunch with Bach" at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The overwhelming sound is that of crunching guitar, loud one-fingered guitar leads and hissed, gutlet vocals.

Actually, on first listen, one could compare them (not too favorably I might add) to the Jesus and the Mary Chain, only because of the aforementioned guitar and vocals. But where the Mary Chain use guitars, feedback and reverbed vocals to make you feel that a subtle undercurrent of evil exists in their music, the Bambi Slam is more blatant and sledgehammer obvious.

The lyrics follow along in that vein of simplicity and directness, like from "Take me with you/We should be having fun, while we're kinda young/We gotta try, before we say goodbye."

Mr. Slam seems to have a liking for abbreviations such as "kinda" and "gotta" and he loves to drop g's from words. How about this for a song title, "Thinkin' Bout Chu."

Sounds more like something Tiffany might think up. Oh, sorry, I made the assumption that Tiffany could think.

I expect to hear a couple of tracks from this LP played at the Majestic because it has the prerequisite loud, thundering drums and aggressive guitar. Bambi Slam's sound will probably suit that environment, but otherwise it's not worth more than a cursory listen.

VAMPIRES A GO GO — 3-D Invisibles

Ohhhhhh. That's scary. But, hey, hey, the 3-D Invisibles are still a gas to listen to.

This band has attained cult status on the local front. Judging by the merits of "Vampires A Go Go" (Neurotic Bop), it's easy to see why that's not a fluke.

There's a snakelike quality to the guitar play of Creepy Rick and he's supported by a crack rhythm section of Monster Matt on drums and Chris Jude on bass. The music is stripped down, raw and yet quite powerful.

On "Vampire A Go Go," the 3-Ds churn out the songs in zest. No less than 17 snappy numbers are on this disc. Besides, if you don't like a tune, wait six seconds and a new one will replace it.

This is a band that has apparently spent many a moon in front of the tube watching horror movies on "The Ghoul." Song titles read like film titles with "The Island of Zombie Women," "Swamp Thing" and "I Wanna Dig Up Bela Lugosi." Thankfully, the 3-Ds include a lyric sheet with this disc. This group not only possesses a wry sense of humor, but can write as well.

Sample this little twist on love from a vampire's point of view in the number "Stake In My Heart."

"You drive a stake into my heart/When you make us stay apart/I want you for my only one/But you drag me out in the sun."

Sting couldn't have said it better.

With a band such as this, the novelty usually wears off quick. But the 3-D Invisibles have both the musical ability and the lyrical sense to sustain their brand of monster mash.

WATERMARK — Enya

Enya, once a member of the celebrated Irish folk band Clannad, is the latest songbird from the Emerald Isle. But she's not just of interest to the Irish.

This is what they're calling world music — rich, divergent music united only in that it shatters the last vestiges of the Brill Building/Liverpool school of pop music.

Enya's approach blends New Age, classical and Gaelic folk into a striking mix.

Europeans have warmed up to her sound. The album's first single, "Orinoco Flow (Sail Away)," is topping charts across the continent, where her work is already known.

On this, her American debut, Enya shows she's a woman willing to take risks.

We don't even get to hear her voice until the album's second track. The opener, "Watermark" is a soothing piano piece that sets the tone for much of what follows.

Enya's high, clear voice is beautiful. At its best, the album showcases her voice. Over the course of a full album, however, the approach becomes a little too formal, the tempos a little too much the same.

Still, this is still ear-opening material. This is music that should be heard by anyone bored by the currently dreary pop scene.

Whether it will find a permanent stateside audience remains to be seen.

From its title track on down, Enya is awash with water imagery. Other song titles include "On Your Shore," "River" and "The Long Ships."

Even the sleeve art shows her strolling through the mist.

Keeping that in mind, one could predict that, one year from now, Enya will find herself out to sea.

Yet, there's the undeniable feeling that she could just be riding the crest of the next wave.

Cleaning up your own mess

Dear Barbara,

I have been going out with a man for some time now who has been separated from his wife for almost 2 1/2 years.

The problem is he won't pursue divorce. He has purchased another home, continued to work hard at his business and supported his "wife" since that time.

The wife feels fine with this situation because she doesn't have to work and enjoys the comforts of a very nice lifestyle. She has no interest in pursuing other men at this time for she is hopeful that he will come back.

I have since moved in with him, with promises of divorce soon to follow, but as yet, nothing. Is this hopeless?

Unsure

Dear Unsure,

The medical statement is that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Instead of preventing the situation you are in, you moved in with him and now have to cure it. Sometimes there is no cure for a disease and if you don't prevent, there is no answer.

Your letter sounds as if his wife is being unfair to you because she doesn't want a divorce. She made no contract with you. Your contract is with her husband and it seems that either he doesn't recognize such a contract or he's not living up to it.

Now that you've made a mess for yourself, how are you going to clean it up?

Barbara

Dear Barbara,

My mother is very difficult lady who has had a chronic female problem for over a year. She lives in Nevada and complains constantly. I had no patience dealing with this, but now that one of her doctors has notified me that steps must be taken as my Mom is mentally unstable and his office cannot be disrupted by her.

He wants me to bring her home where she has family, but we all feel that in the long run, the problem should be handled in her familiar surroundings and then, after recovery, we want to look into bringing her home. Mom is in her late 70s and difficult. Please advise.

Tammy in Westland

Dear Tammy,

I am putting your letter in the paper because it deals with an ever increasing problem of an aging society. Many other readers may run into a similar problem with elderly parents. However, I don't feel I will be able to give you an adequate answer because of the many missing facts not furnished in your letter and the complications that could arise because of unknown details.

How did your mother get to Nevada and is anyone there responsible for her? Is she living alone? What are the financial considerations? Could she afford a private institution or could only a public one be considered? If she needs hospitalization, could she then be admitted as a ward of the court?

Is she a Nevada or Michigan resident? If she is "difficult" in the doctor's office, can it be assumed that she is difficult outside of it as well? What is her diagnosis?

The doctor that she sees could commit her in Nevada, then she would be in familiar surroundings and possibly return when she was more stable. Has the doctor refused to sign papers committing her? Have you asked him? I wonder, has he tried to take more responsibility and you have balked, or does he refuse to get more involved?

There is also the possibility that we are dealing with your personal problem of guilt rather than what your mother wants for herself. You wouldn't want to "railroad" your mother for your own convenience? She may not be sick enough to need commitment or to need to return to Michigan.

As you can see, I've asked more questions than answered. If you send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope with those answers, I'll try to be of further assistance. If you prefer to write me anonymously again, I will answer in the paper. Please let me know what happens.

Dear Boss . . .

Daytona is a 'beach'!

"I'm from Michigan," he said. "I went to Northville High School and graduated in hotel management from Michigan State University."

MURRAY HAS also been in management at the Long Beach Airport Marriott, Orlando Airport Marriott and the Orlando Marriott. He was general manager for the Holiday Inn Fort Lauderdale North and the Holiday Inn Ft. Lauderdale Beach.

But, boss, his most important job may have been as a student journalist at the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

I knew you would be jumping up and down at that one, so I wrote down the details and then wandered onto the beach for lunch. We both know how much lunch is covered by my expense account, so I leaned through the opening of a mobile hot dog stand on the beach and asked for one "with the works."

I started talking to the owner/cook and guess what? Vern Gillard retired from Ford Motor Co. in Michigan in 1978 and moved his family to Florida. He and his son Kenny spend their days selling hot dogs and cold drinks on Daytona Beach.

"What's going on here?" I asked. "How come all you guys from Michigan are down here?"

"What's the temperature in Michigan today?" Kenny asked.

"It was 20 degrees when I left," I said.

"It's 83 here," he said.

I'D NOTICED that, in fact, the beach scene is so remarkable that I am forced to stay another week to finish my research. I need to check out the fishing pier, the kids playing the video machines and riding the bump cars. And, of course, I must drive my car up and down the world's most famous beach.

The beach is a little busy. The spring breakers are here. The University of Michigan students have gone home, but Michigan Staters are in full swing.

Don't worry. I'll be back. I'll do a great story on all the new and fascinating things that are happening in Daytona Beach. Maybe next week. No, make it the week after.

And for the first time since he opened the salon three years ago, Soller said the volume of men as return clients has become consistent.

"IT USED to be when a man would come in for a facial or nail service just out of curiosity," he said. "Now he makes it a routine part of his overall grooming."

Taking time out for self-indulgence is a kind of a perk that many busy executives don't get to do as often as they'd like. Bruce Goldman, owner of L'Uomo Vogue men's store in Southfield has booked a series of body massages and facials after using a gift certificate for the service.

"I never knew how wonderful it would be," he said. "At first, all I could think about was that here I was being treated to all of this and I was missing work, but then I finally calmed down and enjoyed it. It really relieved the stress."

He added that working 60 hours a week in his store makes it difficult to pamper himself, but he has vowed to do more of it.

It's much the same story for Melanie Davidson. As president and founder of a modelling agency, she knows the importance of always looking good, but must do a lot of juggling in order to take time for salon appointments.

"I know I deserve some special time for myself, and working with models and fashion experts every day, I can't afford for my skin, nails and hair not to be perfect all the time, but just taking time out is hard," said Davidson, whose naturally good looks are enhanced by the time she manages to devote to maintenance.

Although the Bloomfield/Birmingham area has more full service salons that some other suburban communities, the trend is growing with skin care salons opening in remote areas as well.

A GLANCE at the Yellow Pages should help you find a reputable salon, but word-of-mouth is probably the best reference. Always ask about whether the salon offers discounts for first-time clients. Most do.

Also ask the salon receptionist to describe the various treatments, if you're not accustomed to getting facials or pedicures. Salon services do vary as well as prices.

Sledge offers comedy with a twist

By Bob Sadler
special writer

"It's pretty much the same old story," he said. "You walk into a joint like this and see a guy named Sledge."

But somehow this guy is different — not just your any day, rug-of-the-mill, down-on-his-luck, two-bit private eye.

Tommy Sledge is his name, and he'll make sure that you don't forget it. He packs a powerful weapon called laughter and a moniker that'll make your head turn and the rest of you take notice.

He is The Stand-Up Detective. Sledge plies his craft in dark, smoky clubs where the bright lights don't lie and the crowd can be as unforgiving as the "dames" he left behind. Like the one who sloped him a Mickey Finn in '45 that brought on a four-decade stupor. Talk about the hair of the dog that bit you.

Well, Sledge emerged in 1985 and found that more had changed than the amount of stubble that now shrouded his scowling mug. So he grabbed his hat and set out to look around — peddling his observations to all who would listen.

The people so far have been all ears, sweetheart. Now wait a minute. That's Bogart.

"I SHY away from anyone who mentions Bogart," Sledge stammered. "I don't do Bogart and have never done Bogart."

"I'm just another B detective." Of course, you're not just born a B detective. You have to earn a degree from the School of Hard Knocks.

Sledge was born an army kid, which means he did more hopping around than a hare on a hot day. He went to college in Colorado, where the mountains have the thankless job of holding up the sky.

After college, Sledge was one of a bunch of characters fighting for air in an improvisational group called The Wing back in Frisco a few years back. Some guy named Robin Williams had been there awhile before, going for his piece of the pie, leaving Sledge and the others with some empty shoes to fill.

Eventually, The Stand-Up Detective went solo, like all good gumshoes should. So Sledge gathered no moss in the next few years, perfecting his purple prose in a series of one-night stands and waiting for a stopy kiss from destiny.

Destiny, like most of the dames

he's known, has led him on for quite a long time. His lips are still puckered in anticipation.

"Nothing's ever happened to me in blinding revelations or breakthroughs," he said. "That's the problem when you're a second rate detective. Clues don't jump right out at you."

ONE PARTICULARLY interesting set of clues led him to the stage of the Merv Griffin Show, where the detective finally went coast-to-coast. Sledge then found his way to the silver screen in a movie called "Million Dollar Mystery." Things were finally starting to go his way.

Smelling a break in the case of burgeoning superstardom, Sledge is now going for the jugular. Two films, featuring our hero, are set for release this year. The first, "Lobster Man from Mars," stars Tony Curtis. Sledge calls it "a spoof of the early '50s monsters from outer space movies."

The other is destined for glory simply because of its name — "Movie in Your Face." Sledge pulled out his best hard-boiled detective look for this one.

"It's a dubbed Hong Kong film, and the only American actor shot in the film is me," he said. "I'm the narrator of the story.

"It's really hysterical humor, if you're 12 years old."

Sledge rolls into Detroit this week like a cyclone. Usually, he just gets up on stage and talks about his life. The normal stuff — shaken, not stirred.

"I talk about things that are happening now and wonder how it all got twisted around," he said. "I interact with the audience a lot. Sometimes, we write a detective story together."

Those stories probably turn out much like Sledge's own book, called "Eat Lead, Clown." He sells it at his shows and will soon be touting the sequel, "Kiss It Or Die."

The Stand-Up Detective then grabs his trademark hat and trusty pack of cigarettes and moves on to the next town. The next case.

But as sure as the sun rises in the east and crime doesn't pay, he'll probably be back.

Tommy Sledge will appear Tuesday through Saturday, March 21-25, at Chaplin's West, 16890 Telegraph Road, Detroit. Showtimes are 8:30 p.m. with an additional 10:30 p.m. show on Friday and Saturday. For reservations, call 533-8866.

Stand-ups: Step up for a chance at fame

Aspiring local stand-up comics, who dream of making it big, will have that opportunity with the second annual Johnnie Walker National Comedy Search.

Produced in conjunction with Budd Friedman of Los Angeles Improvisation, this 16-city Comedy Search was developed to discover the cream of the comedy crop.

"The Johnnie Walker National Comedy Search is a change for all those funny people out there to compete and have a good time," said

Budd Friedman of The Improvisation. "This is the Olympics of comedy — every serious aspiring comic should come down and participate in what will certainly be a major comedy competition in the U.S."

Thursday, March 30, Detroit's funniest will be lining up outside Chaplin's East in Fraser for a chance at stardom. Beginning at 1 p.m., two-minute open call auditions will take place; eight winners will be chosen to compete in six-minute routines that same evening.

Sign-up for auditions will begin at 10 a.m. and will be limited to the first 100 comedians 21 years and older. All amateur stand-ups are encouraged to try out.

During the semifinals, which will take place that evening, local celebrity judges will select a single winner who will receive $1,000 and a trip for two to the final competition at The Improvisation in Los Angeles April 12.

Crack of the bats boom 'under the dome'

By Steve Kowaleki
staff writer

Joe Paglino remembers placing a newspaper ad in 1982 regarding his latest adventure, an indoor softball league.

Not long after the advertisement ran, Paglino's office phone lines were flooded for days by interested callers. They wanted to know the whereabouts of this spacious, dry, indoor softball facility.

Funny. Some of the callers already had been it — on their way to work. Others had hit golf balls there.

Welcome to the Madison Heights Golf Dome, site of the Golf Dome Indoor Softball League, now in its seventh year of existence.

"When I first placed the ad, I was on the phone all day, seven days a week, explaining the game," said Paglino, owner of Indoor Sports Enterprises. "People thought I was talking about the Houston Astro-dome or something."

"They all got excited. I had to tell them, 'No, we play at an indoor driving range.' The guys would come down (to the range) and shake their heads. People thought I was nuts. They'd say 'Joe, you can't play indoors. There's no room.'"

Paglino found enough room inside the Madison Heights facility, which is only about 80 yards deep and 80 feet high.

Paglino, who played professional baseball from 1982-84 in the Chicago White Sox organization, is the founder of the league. He came up with the idea during the winter of 1982, when his cousins (Vince and John Paglino, owners of the Golf Dome) allowed him to work out in the Golf Dome in preparation for his rookie year with the White Sox.

"I asked the owners if I could lease the dome and run some sort of softball league," Paglino recalls. "I envisioned it as more of a fast-paced game. There's a market here for the softball junkies."

"You can bowl or play racquetball in the winter for $8 an hour, now why not be able to play softball indoors? There's no better feeling than when it's 20 degrees and there's two feet of snow out there to come in and smell baseball."

If it's 20 degrees outside the Madison Heights Dome, inside it's 30 degrees warmer, said Paglino, who adjusts the thermostat to make sure the players don't freeze.

"There's no wind and if it's 20-25 degrees outside, you keep warm and in shape," Paglino said. "If it's five degrees outside you need a sweatshirt and sweat pants inside, but by springtime, these teams are ready to take (win) tournaments because they've been swinging three or four months."

The Madison Heights Golf Dome is the only indoor driving range in Wayne or Oakland County hosting an indoor softball league this winter. Oasis Golf Center in Plymouth and the Sterling Sports Center in Sterling Heights have had softball leagues in the past, but both in recent years have decided to open their facilities only to golfers.

Teams all over Greater Detroit and some even from Canada signed up for the 1988-89 Golf Dome season which began in November and ends next month (March). The entry fee to join the 10-game league costs $355 per team and it costs an additional $60 per team for each game.

The driving range at the Madison Heights Golf Dome is open from 8 a.m. until 9 p.m., seven days a week. Monday through Friday, the golf balls are cleared and bases are placed so three softball games can be played, beginning at 9:30 p.m. with the evening's first game.

A different league plays each night, 30 teams in all. The last game sometimes doesn't end until after 1 a.m.

"They do realize it's a golf facility so they've got to take what they give you," said Bill Polovich, an employee at the Golf Dome. "When they complain about late games, we have to tell them 'Hey this is put up for golfers.' It's kind of icing on the cake that they can play softball in here."

"To these guys, softball is big time in the summer and they can stay in shape over the winter. They just go from one season to another."

Aside from some obvious differences between indoor softball and the great summer pastime, there are other rules the players must adjust to. Like a three-ball, two-strike count (instead of the four-three rule).

"You can't be up there wasting time," said Warren resident Kevin Freeman, a veteran of the indoor league. "It's a faster game and there are higher scores."

The players also must be able to react to balls hit off the dome, which are outs if caught before the ball hits the ground.

The softball, though it weighs the same, also is different. They call it a flight-restricted ball because it has a cork center instead of a polyurethane center.

The lighting also isn't the greatest, but remember, golf domes were invented to keep golfers, not softball enthusiasts, in shape.

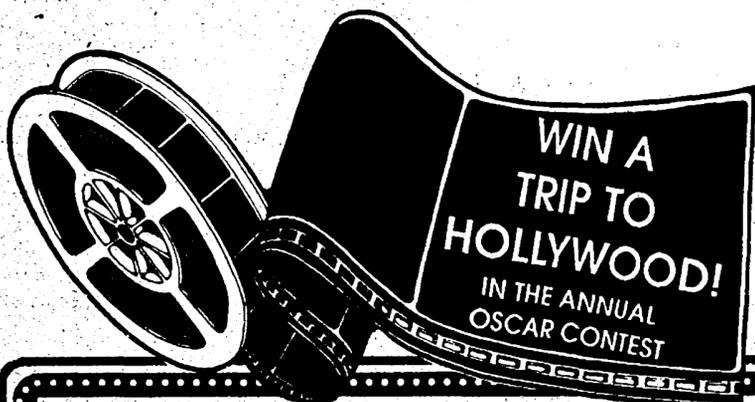

"As soon as you look up, the ball is there, so you need quick reflexes," said Ron Pullis of Troy, a first-year player for a Mount Clemens-based team. "This is better than going bowling or drinking beer. I used to bowl once a week last year and I used to go there and drink, too. It wasn't worth it."

Also, it might be a good idea for a guy who normally plays second base to play the same position in the indoor game. Royal Oak native Dan Redmond, 22, who plays for Jabl Circuit Co. in Madison Heights found that out in a hurry.

"I normally play second base, but I played outfield once and it was a nightmare," Redmond said. "That wasn't for me. It's hard to judge what the ball will do off the wall. Guys who do it every week get the hang of it. I didn't."

Cast of skaters may change due to injury or other unforeseen circumstances.

Barry Levinson appears to be the most likely to win the Oscar for best director for his work with Tom Cruise and Dustin Hoffman in "Rain Man."

'Best' bet: Got to be Levinson

By Dan Greenberg
staff writer

Oscars for best director and best picture are closely associated, since audiences tend to assess a motion picture's total impact — "Boy was that a good movie."

Seldom do viewers say, "Ah, that was the costume department's work, the editor, the cinematographer, the choreographer and the director blended it all together."

But what does a director do? Just tell the actors where to move and how to say their lines? How much of "Rain Man's" appeal was Barry Levinson's doing and how much was Dustin Hoffman's magnificent performance? What about photography, music, makeup, costuming and other departments?

The final product, the impact of the film we screen depends not only on what we see, but in what order the shots are arranged. Perhaps film editors — the people who cut and arrange the shots — deserve more credit than they get.

Of course, the director controls the footage an editor has to work with. Hitchcock shot so tightly that there was no way to edit other than according to his plan. Some overshoot to such an extent that an editor can create a half-dozen different products with varying appeals and impact.

Traditionally, directors were considered artistic leaders in motion picture production, while administrative duties were handled by producers.

MOST DIRECTORS (and producers) in Hollywood's golden studio age were constrained by corporate directives and their individuality was severely limited. Although there were always larger than life directors who "did it all" — Chaplin, D.W. Griffith, Sergei Eisenstein, Ingmar Bergman, Fellini — in the past several decades, the idea of "director" has been replaced by the concept of "filmmaker."

Of course today's filmmakers — Scorsese, Coppola, Woody Allen, Spielberg, Lucas, among others — don't "do it all." They have large staffs who provide invaluable and very extensive services. But the basic concept of films, their style, theme, mood and atmosphere no longer evolve as corporate decisions. The filmmaker tells the staff how things should look, sound and feel. Since today's filmmaker usually works from the director's chair, we now praise (or blame) the director/filmmaker for the final product.

That makes it difficult to discuss best picture and best director separately. Often, many films are nominated in both categories. In about 75 percent of the academy's 61 years, these two awards have gone to the same picture. This year it's three out of five, including the two top contenders — "Mississippi Burning" and "Rain Man" — with "Working Girl" being the third to nab best director and picture nominations.

Interestingly enough, all three films also earned prestigious best director nominations from the Director's Guild of America. The fourth best director Oscar nomination went to "A Fish Named Wanda," also a DGA nominee.

THE DIRECTOR'S Guild and the Academy differed on one selection. The academy's fifth selection for best direction was Martin Scorsese's controversial "Last Temptation of Christ," while the DGA wound up its list by tapping Roger Zemeckis for "Who's Afraid of Roger Rabbit."

Martin Scorsese has one earlier nomination to his credit, for "Raging Bull," and "Last Temptation" was an unexpected nomination, hardly a mainstream selection.

While the film was interesting and "looked" good, to my mind it was too controversial, received more publicity than exhibition and Scorsese probably will be passed over for those reasons.

British film and television director Charles Crichton is another long shot for "A Fish Named Wanda," his first Oscar nomination. He's hardly a household name in this country despite the fact that he directed Alec Guinness to his first nomination for "Lavendar Hill Mob" in 1952.

Besides Crichton's lack of major status, "Wanda," no matter how funny and how successful, is a comedy in a competition that favors drama.

Mike Nichols is the king of nominations in this crowd, having three previous nominations — "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf," "Silkwood" — and "The Graduate," for which he won. Coincidentally, that movie was Dustin Hoffman's first nomination.

THAT BRINGS us to the two main contenders, Alan Parker for "Mississippi Burning" and Barry Levinson for "Rain Man." Neither have won before although Parker was nominated for "Midnight Express" and Levinson garnered two nominations as screenwriter for "And Justice for All..." and "Diner."

"Mississippi Burning" is either a perfect political statement or a questionable one, depending upon your politics. So that seems to go against Parker, despite the fact that he has made a powerful statement about Klan oppression of blacks, a statement whose effect depends on a lot of good performances tied tightly together.

While the argument may rage forever, it seems to me that film in general is a collective art, and Dustin Hoffman's superb performance in "Rain Man" is to his credit and also reflects well on Levinson for directing that performance.

"Rain Man" is a film that avoids politically sensitive issues and, most important of all, was the best effort of the year. So let's give Levinson the statuette he deserves. He was the best director.

Q: I know about goal setting but have trouble prioritizing. There's so much to do and it all seems important. Can you give me further help in deciding which things to do?

A: Have you heard of Pareto's Principle? It says, "If all items are arranged in order of value, 80 percent of the value would come from only 20 percent of the items, while the remaining 20 percent of the value would come from 80 percent of the items." While not exactly accurate, this philosophy has broad applications to life.

The 80-20 Rule (as it has become known) indicates for instance that 80 percent of the wealth is held by 20 percent of the people, 80 percent of sick leave is taken by 20 percent of employees and 80 percent of trouble is caused by 20 percent of people.

When applied to possessions the same standards apply. You wear 20 percent of your clothes and use 20 percent of your dishes, pencils, computer software, cleaning solutions, towels or carpentry tools 80 percent of the time. Eighty percent of file usage is in 20 percent of the files. Eighty percent of dirt is in 20 percent of a building.

In time management, this principle holds significant meaning and can be applied toward achieving our goals: 80 percent of results is achieved by 20 percent of results. For example, 80 percent of sales are made to 20 percent of customers by 20 percent of sales people.

How can you utilize (80 percent of) this knowledge to help you? By focusing on high production results and filtering out 80 percent of our unproductive or low-results busy work, the value of your efforts could be multiplied dramatically.

Take real estate magnate Ralph Roberts of Warren, who averaged selling one house per day last year. Roberts spends every possible minute showing houses and consequently making sales, while he delegates to employees time consuming tasks like making cold calls, doing his office work and handling closings.

Ask yourself, "What is the bottom line?" "Will this task produce high or minimal value?" "Could I delegate this work?" Remember that the difference between an amateur and a professional is that the professional knows which actions produce the best results. The amateur works hard, the professional works smart.

Please note: While daily maintenance seems to have low value, it must be done quickly and regularly. Since the value of time spent looking for things is zero, taking the time to maintain order ultimately has high value.

Robert M. Melsner

Q: Our attorney has written us and told us that we could amend our condominium documents with no more than two-thirds approval in spite of the fact that the master deed requires 100 percent approval. Our condominium was established in 1973 and our attorney says that the legislature has recently passed a statute authorizing this procedure. Several members of the board are suspect about this provision but are, unfortunately, too cheap to get a second opinion. Thus, I am writing your column. What do we do? What are the consequences if we go ahead and amend the documents, perhaps illegally?

A: I am glad you have raised this point because it is of particular distress to me. In 1988 the legislature passed an amendment to section 90 of the 1978 Condominium Act which basically said that any provision in any condominium document requiring more than two-thirds approval of the co-owners to amend the documents was void and superseded by this statutory change. Some lawyers in the community have interpreted that amendment to apply to any condominium document regardless of when it was recorded and under what statute, that is, even under the original Horizontal Property Act of 1963 or the revised Condominium Act which became effective on July 1, 1978.

There is serious question as to whether the recent statutory change applies to condominium projects which were established under the original Condominium Act of 1963, particularly because there is a clause in the 1978 Condominium Statute preserving any rights accruing or which have accrued under the original Condominium Act, which would include the rights established under the master deed to provide for 100 percent approval to change the master deed.

Moreover, there are serious constitutional questions as to whether the legislature can retroactively change the terms and conditions of a contract, that is, the master deed and condominium bylaws, entered into between the members of the association, among themselves, and the developer. In short, I think you may not be getting the full picture. You should look into it more carefully, perhaps with a second legal opinion.

Design winner

Tradition and function unite in a kitchen awarded top honors in a kitchen design contest co-sponsored by Colonial Home magazine. A work island featuring two built-in ovens dominates the center of the kitchen and doubles as an eating area. Roomy double sink, Portuguese tiles and hand chamfered oak post and beam all add to the kitchen's charm and convenience.

Tomato secrets being unearthed

By Earl Aronson
AP Newsfeatures

Last year's drought had a devastating effect on many parts of the country, and there are bound to be more dry spells in the years to come. But there are ways gardeners can overcome the effects of insufficient rainfall and restrictions on water use.

In a 1987-88 survey by the National Gardening Association, America's gardeners cited "not enough water" as one of the major gardening problems. The association, a non-profit organization supported by its 200,000 members, offers some advice on dealing with drought.

Conserve water. Don't waste household water that can be used for landscape gardening — don't let it just go "down the drain."

Find out if "gray water" is legal in your area. Gray water is water from showers, bathtubs, bathroom sinks and laundries that can be recycled for use in gardens and yards. Check with your local building code or appropriate sanitation and water resource departments for specific regulations on the use of gray water.

GRAY WATER can be used on ornamental plants and landscape. Most plants will tolerate gray water, and some might even thrive on it, since the phosphate in detergent acts as a fertilizer. However, for reasons of health and safety, don't use gray water on edible plants.

Bathroom tubs and sinks provide the best quality gray water and the easiest to recycle.

Earl Aronson

Water from the laundry room is next-best. Don't use drain water from the kitchen sink. The oil, fat and grease it contains make it difficult to filter, and it can clog distribution pipes, breed disease and attract pests.

Don't overwater. A rich, loamy soil can absorb up to 1 quart of gray water per square foot a week. Sandy soils can handle more, clay soils much less.

Don't let gray water stand in puddles. They can attract mosquitoes and flies, and possibly rodents, bacteria and viruses.

The safest way to use gray water in the landscape is to distribute it through buried perforated pipe.

IF YOU are planning a new lawn or garden, you might consider installing an efficient watering method, such as an underground sprinkling system or drip watering pipes. These save labor as well as water.

For areas with water shortages and arid soils, the Gardening Association suggests terracing or drip irrigation.

Update 'Ask the Expert' is Builders show feature

Attendants at the 1989 International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show, now under way in Cobo Center, can talk to the experts one-on-one about subjects including gardening, remodeling, utilities, financing and building.

The "Ask the Experts" booth, located at the front of Hall, will feature the following authorities in home improvement for this week:

ASK THE REMODELER:

Tuesday, March 21 — 3-5 p.m. Chris Compo, Compo Inc.; 5-6:30 p.m., Jim Vlazanko, E. V. James Co.; 6:30-8 p.m. Tony Bellomo, Black Forest.

ASK DETROIT EDISON:

Wednesday, March 22 — 3-5:30 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.

ASK THE LENDER:

Thursday, March 23 — 2-3 p.m. Dick Fredericks, Standard Federal; 3-5 p.m. Al Marshall, First Federal; 5:30-6:30 p.m., Susan Bowner, NBD Mortgage Co.; 6:30-8 p.m., Al Marshall, First Federal.

ASK THE BUILDER:

Friday, March 24 — 3-5 p.m., Janet Campo, Janet Campo Inc.;

6:30-8:30 p.m. Robert Jones, Robert Jones Associates.

Show hours are from 1 to 11 p.m. weekdays and from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. General admission for adults is $5 (which includes a 50-cent Cobo Center surcharge); $3 (which includes a 50-cent Cobo Center surcharge) for senior citizens and students; children under six are admitted free; and discount tickets are available at Elias Brothers Big Boy restaurants and reduced price family tickets are at Farmer Jack supermarkets.

For more information on the show, call the 737-4477.

New cabinetry

The first line of cabinetry specifically designed for handicappers will make its debut at the 1989 Builders Show, now under way in Detroit's Cobo Center.

Full Access Cabinets, designed and manufactured in Williamston by Williamston Cabinets, are designed to make storage space fully accessible to wheelchair users. They will be on display in the Trevarrow Inc. booth, No. 465.

The Green Hill difference:

Do you come home to an apartment or a 75-acre estate?

Most apartment living measures 600+ sq. ft. Ours measures over 3,000,000 sq. ft. Green Hill residents enjoy a gorgeous 75-acre estate setting of park and woodland, peace and tranquility. You're right next door to the I-275 corridor, Michigan's multi-billion dollar explosive growth area and just minutes away from I-96, a direct route to downtown Detroit. See our 1- and 2-bedroom luxury apartments, terrace residences and country townhouses on 9 Mile, 1 1/2 miles west of Farmington Road in Farmington Hills.

"I finally found a townhome as large as a home."

"I looked long and hard to find a 2000 sq. ft., cathedral ceiling elegant three bedroom townhome. (Of course, I could have chosen a two or three-bedroom ranch.) With my own two-car attached garage, my own private basement and patio. And-luxury touches like deluxe kitchens and whirlpool tubs plus landscaping that I love. Nothing could get me to move from Covington. Nothing."

MONTHLY ALBUM

Monday, March 20, 1989

Just for brides

The Monthly Album is published the third Monday of each month for the announcements of engagements and weddings.

Engagement announcements will be accepted no later than 45 days prior to the wedding. Wedding announcements must be submitted within 60 days following the wedding. All announcements are run on a space available, first-come, first-served basis.

Photos submitted should be black and white glossies, preferably 5-by-7 inches in size. Color photos can be submitted and will be accepted but they do not reproduce as well.

Due to the volume of photographs handled, the newspaper will not be responsible for any that may get lost or damaged. Photos can be picked up after publication in the office where the information was submitted. Or, if a self-addressed sufficiently stamped envelope is received with the photo it will be returned.

Engagement and wedding announcements pertinent to Livonia, Redford, Garden City and Westland are to be addressed to Sue Mason, Livonia Observer, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

Engagement and wedding announcements pertinent to Farmington and Farmington Hills are to be addressed to Loraine McClish, Farmington Observer, 33203 Grand River, Farmington 48024.

Mason can be reached by calling 591-2300. McClish can be reached by calling 477-5450.

On the cover. . .

Terry Lee Carrel and Bradley Bergman were married Dec. 10 by the Rev. Jim Tuttle in Clarenceville Methodist Church. She is the daughter of Robert and Flora Timte of Westland. He is the son of Gerald and Jeanette Bergman of Plymouth.

The bride graduated from Clarenceville High School. She is employed as a computer operator by EDS. The bridegroom graduated from Wickenburg High School, Ariz. He served in the U.S. Navy. He is an electrician.

"We try to keep the bride and groom in mind when we photograph a wedding. It's their day. We try not to bother them. Instead we try to get a couple of intensive photo sessions," said Allen Brooks, studio owner.

Brooks established his Westland studio 10 years ago. A professional photographer for 36 years, he owned a studio in Chicago before coming to Michigan. Portraits are its speciality but weddings make up an appreciable part of the business.
