HERE'S something that will make your grocery bill pale by comparison.

The Wayne-Westland Community Schools district will spend $21,316 to restock its toilet paper supply.

The school board last week approved two bids for a total of 600 cases, half being supplied by N. Leone and Sons and half coming from Clark Products.

The two bids were necessary because there are two different kinds of dispensers in district bathrooms, according to Tom Svitkovich, associate superintendent for communications and finance.

HOW SPECIAL is your mom?

The Observer Suburban Life section would like to know. In honor of Mother's Day, we will be running a feature on special mothers. But we need your help.

Grab a piece of paper and tell us, in 25 words or less, why your mother is so special to you. There's no age limit and no prize, just the good feeling that everyone will know why your mom is the best.

Be sure to include a photo of the lucky lady. And send it no later than May 5 to Sue Mason, 36241 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Photographs will be returned if you include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The responses will be published in the May 11 edition of The Observer.

Brief: Records fraud started in 1980

By Todd Schneider
staff writer

Did three Wayne-Westland Community Schools officials instruct employees to falsify attendance records in 1980 — two years before the period in question in the current enrollment fraud case?

That allegation was made by Robert Sheiko, Wayne County assistant prosecutor, in an April 3 brief submitted to 18th District Court Judge Gail McKnight, who is presiding over the preliminary examination of the officials.

Attorneys for the defendants said Thursday they would file a response to the brief only if the judge indicated she would consider admitting it as evidence in the case.

McKnight has said she will decide whether to address the prosecutor's motion after hearing further testimony. The exam, postponed Friday while Sheiko prosecuted a case in Detroit Recorder's Court, was scheduled to continue today.

IN THE BRIEF, Sheiko claims that Kathleen (Kay) Lyons, Barbara Blanton and Phyllis (Rode) Roderick asked employees of the district's adult/community education program to meet on a Saturday morning in the fall of 1980 at the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital to "help with attendance records." The hospital was a site for some adult education classes.

The brief said the three "directed the volunteers to a table where stacks of blank teacher attendance books and forms were located."

"Barbara Blanton and Phyllis Rode then instructed the volunteer workers as to how the attendance records were to be made out," according to the brief.

The two supervisors "referred everyone to a prominently displayed example which showed how an 'acceptable' pattern of attendance should look on the attendance records," the brief claims.

In the brief, Sheiko said "none of the volunteers were ever given any teacher attendance information to use when producing these attendance records but at all times made up the attendance information."

Lyons, Blanton and Roderick, along with Holbert (Rick) Hamrick, have been charged in the enrollment dispute, which centers on the 1982-83 and 1983-84 adult/community education program. Attendance records in some adult classes were deliberately falsified in order to receive Clint Eskew, one of 12 Patchin School chess players, shows off the school district plaque won last week in the annual tournament.

Patchin wins chess crown

Patchin Elementary School made it three in a row Wednesday in winning the Wayne-Westland school district's chess championship.

They beat Hamilton School eight games to four to win the title. Local schools started competing informally in chess in the early 1970s. The activity was formalized in 1984 with a travelling plaque presented to the winning school with the champion's name engraved on it.

In the west division of the eight-school league are Patchin, Graham, Madison, and Schweitzer with Jefferson, Kettering, Taft, and Hamilton in the east division.

On the winning Patchin team were sixth-graders Clint Eskew, Gene Thornton, Kelly Stuve, and Michael Kidder, fifth-graders Russ Eskew, Jason Gardner, Kyle Becker, and Rob Wood; and fourth-graders Chet Raisanen, Michael Dittmar, Deepak Dashaiya, and Chris Vihonsky.

The second-place Hamilton squad consisted of Bob Keatts, Douglas Kirkey, Gabe Kitts, and Rich Bridges, all sixth-graders; Tom Engelhardt, Alex Rossetto, Dan Berishaj, and Michael Timmerman, fifth-graders; and Jeff Proudlock, Steve Waller, Aaron McFarland, and Bob Marvin.

When the chess tournament was formalized in 1984, Schweitzer won the first title, followed by Hamilton in 1985, a tie between Graham and Hamilton in 1986; Patchin in 1987, and a Hamilton-Patchin tie last spring.

Accused holdup man charged in shootout

By Todd Schneider
staff writer

The former Westland man charged with the Nov. 7 robbery of Deluca's restaurant on Warren Road at Inkster Road is back in custody.

Michael Alan Weaver, 40, was arraigned before 18th District Court Magistrate Joseph Costanzo on Friday. A plea of not guilty was entered for him to four counts of armed robbery, one count of assault with intent to rob and one count of possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony.

Bond was set at $500,000 cash.

A preliminary examination was scheduled for 9 a.m. Monday, April 24, in front of District Judge Gail McKnight.

Weaver, who escaped from Mt. Carmel Hospital in Detroit April 2 while under Wayne County Sheriff's custody, was arrested by Farmington Hills Police April 9 following a Farmington Hills holdup.

Weaver and another man have been charged in connection with that incident... an armed robbery and shootout with a Farmington Hills coin dealer outside Mercy Center, 11 Mile and Middlebelt.

The FBI is also investigating that incident to see if it is related to the 1987 robbery and shooting of a coin dealer at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

WESTLAND DETECTIVE Sgt. Jerry Wright said Friday he was glad Weaver had been captured.

"We've been working on this case for a long time," he said.

Weaver is also charged in a 1988 Detroit robbery, during which he was shot in the stomach, police said. Wright said he wasn't sure which case would be prosecuted first.

City pioneer Gagnon dies in Florida at 76

By Leonard Poger
editor

Virgil Gagnon, one of Westland's pioneers, died Thursday morning while planning to return to the community after a 15-year absence.

Gagnon, known to friends and supporters simply as "Virg," would have marked his 77th birthday June 11.

He served on the Nankin Township board of trustees for two years before the city was incorporated.

In 1964 he was elected to the city charter commission and was picked to be secretary.

With voters approving the charter and city incorporation April 25, 1966, Gagnon was elected to the city's first council and was picked by his colleagues as its first council president.

After an unsuccessful mayoral candidacy in the fall of 1967, Gagnon continued to serve on the council before stepping down in 1970 to be appointed by the council to be city clerk.

He retired from that post in 1974 to move to Stuart, Fla.

GAGNON and his wife, Harriet, organized the Nankin Township Chamber of Commerce in 1962 and ran it out of his Gulf gas station at the Wayne-Warren corner for several years before moving into the city-owned Dorsey Community Center.

District hosts hearing on job training bill

Vocational and technical education leaders urged a congressional subcommittee to liberalize federal rules to improve the training of high school students and adults.

The educators also supported a proposed Tech-Prep Education Act that, if approved, would develop a program to link the last two years of high school with the first two years of college.

The aim is to include more academics in the traditional vocational/technical curriculum, and to motivate students to continue their education after high school.

The proposal, sponsored by U.S. Rep. William Ford, D-Taylor, was the topic of a hearing Friday morning in the Wayne-Westland school district's vocational/technical center, named in his honor.

Ford, whose district includes Westland, Garden City, Canton, and the south half of Livonia, chaired the hearing.

The hearing was held to obtain testimony from school officials on the reauthorization of the Perkins Vocational Education Act and the tech-prep proposal. In introducing the bill three months ago, Ford hoped Congress would earmark $200 million to finance school agencies to have the four-year program include core classes in math, science, communications and technologies designed to lead an associate's degree in a specific career field.

Under the proposal, the programs could be operated by local school districts and community colleges.

AMONG THOSE testifying at the hearing were Donald Bemis, Michigan superintendent of public instruction; Edwin Ferguson, principal of the Ford vocational/technical center; Mark Greenbury, representing the National Machining and Tooling Association; Jan Danford, educational development director for Olds-Buick-Cadillac and Michigan Council on Vocational Education president.

Like others at the hearing, Bemis urged the subcommittee to provide more flexibility in educational programs.

more state aid than the district was entitled to, the prosecutor claims.

ALL FOUR defendants are facing one count of falsifying school records and one count each of conspiracy to willfully falsify school records.

Each charge is a high misdemeanor, punishable by up to two years in prison and/or a fine of up to $2,500. The trial judge could impose an additional fine of up to $10,000 on any of the four, if found guilty.

If convicted, the officials could also lose teaching certification for a minimum of five years.

All but Roderick are still employed by the district. Roderick moved from Michigan several years ago and now lives in Kirkland, Wash.

Sheiko said Thursday the brief is based on testimony during a year-long Wayne County Citizens grand jury investigation of alleged records tampering by the district. He said he planned on calling several witnesses during the exam who would detail the 1980 events.

Sheiko said the information contained in the brief would substantiate the conspiracy charge and cited previous case law that he believes will pave the way for its acceptance as evidence.

"A key element of the district's defense has been that any improprieties by the district were the result of sloppy record keeping,"

Sheiko said. "I think this clearly shows evidence of a continued effort, not just a few mistakes here and there."

ATTORNEYS RICHARD Clark and Marvin Blake said Thursday they wouldn't file a formal response to the brief unless McKnight was going to issue a ruling regarding its admissibility.

They said the information falls outside the statute of limitations on the charges, an issue which McKnight is also expected to address before deciding whether to send the case to trial.

"The judge has said she isn't going to rule on it (the brief) at this time," Clark said. "When she does decide whether or not to rule on it I will make a decision on how to respond."

Hearing looks at vocational, technical training

"Our (state) board did request some additional local flexibility, but it was based on fine tuning our existing system," Bemis said. "In the final analysis, we are more interested in a system that is driven by results than in a system which has, as its goal, the allocation of dollars."

Bemis also said he thought educators need to forge more cooperation between high schools and schools of higher education.

Ferguson told the congressional leaders that the "restrictive and stringent rules" (tying funding to specific categories of students) posed the largest problem in operating key programs.

These problems are reflected in the services delivered to specific groups, such as single parents, handicapped people and the educationally disadvantaged, he said.

He added that the enrollment restrictions impose "arbitrary and inequitable limits".

WITH MORE flexibility in the enrollment quotas, the "truly needy students would receive support services, such as teaching assistants, counseling, and reading/math remediation."

Ferguson praised Ford's tech-prep proposal, which he called "far-sighted," pointing out that it would allow students to prepare themselves for entering a post-high school institution for technical training by obtaining "the necessary high school requirements in preparation for this transition."

While the hearing was being held, a Michigan Education Department official told the Observer that "there is no question that Congress wants to continue funding the vocational/technical act, but wants to know the best procedures and effectiveness for it."

William Weisgerber, chief of planning, finance, and vocational guidance at the education department, said Congress is looking at the roles of educational agencies and seeking more accountability and performance.

The focus of Ford's legislation, he said, is to provide more academic subjects like math, science, and communications in a setting where they are applicable.

Ford said the "two plus two" concept is important in educating young people to qualify for jobs of the future. Unskilled and uneducated workers are becoming less and less employable, Ford said.

"Now a dropout looks around and sees there are no jobs," Ford said. Even high school graduates are likely to be underemployed in future job markets, he said, noting a Downriver auto factory that requires employees to pass math and English tests.

Virgil Gagnon, one of city's founding fathers, dies at 76

He was the chamber's first president. Later, Mrs. Gagnon served as executive secretary.

The Gagnons returned to Westland frequently to visit their two sons, five grandchildren, three great-grandchildren and numerous friends.

When he stepped down from his city hall position, Gagnon said he wanted to retire when he was still healthy enough to enjoy his retirement years.

On visits to Westland, he and his wife frequently joked about living on "Easy Street," their street address in Stuart. One of their neighbors was Wallace Arrowsmith, retired Wayne city manager.

DOROTHY GAGNON, one of Gagnon's daughters-in-law, told the Observer Thursday that Mr. Gagnon was packing for the return trip to Westland. The Gagnons had rented a truck for the trip.

She added that he had been in good health.

While packing, Wednesday, Gagnon suffered chest pains Wednesday and was taken to a nearby hospital, she said. He died about 3 a.m. Thursday.

Jacklyn Gagnon, also a daughter-in-law, described the former community leader as a "kind person who always stuck up for his daughters-in-law."

"He was very proud of his children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren."

Before retiring, the Gagnons lived in the Holliday Park Townhouses.

A memorial service was held in Stuart Friday morning. Locally, services were to be held this afternoon at Uhl's Funeral Home, on Glenwood west of Wayne Road. A Masonic service was held at the home Sunday night.

Besides his wife, Gagnon is survived by sons, George Michael (Mickey), of Westland, a former city council member, and Raymond, of Wayne, five grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

The Westland Chamber of Commerce announced Friday that a Virgil Gagnon Scholarship Fund has been created with donations to be directed to the fund, in care of the chamber, 36900 Ford. Details on how the scholarships are to be awarded will be announced later, said Joyce Wheeler, chamber executive director.

IMAGINE DYING FROM A DISEASE YOU NEVER KNEW YOU HAD.

Eleven million people in the U.S. have diabetes. But almost half of them don't know it.

Untreated, diabetes can lead to heart disease, kidney disease, blindness and gangrene.

And for 150,000 people each year, it leads to death.

That's why you should be aware of the symptoms of diabetes: blurred vision, excessive thirst and frequent urination are just some of the warning signs. Because the sooner you find out if you have diabetes, the more likely you are to get it under control, before complications set in.

Finding out you have diabetes can be scary. But not finding out can be fatal.

Youngsters and parents launch 230 balloons to observe the Month of the Young Child.

THE MONTH of the Young Child was celebrated by Gerber's Children Center on Ford near Wildwood last week with the launching of 230 balloons by youngsters. Tags were attached to the balloons asking those who find them to write the center. In the past years, cards and letters were received from as far away as Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, said manager Marlene Cooper.

After the balloons were launched, the youngsters, parents and staff enjoyed cake and punch, Cooper said. The center will also take part in a roller skating party Tuesday night to continue observance of the special month, Cooper said. The party will include the two Gerber centers in Westland and one in Canton for the event, planned for Skateland West, on Cherry Hill west of Newburgh.

2 volunteers will be honored by YMCA

State Rep. Justine Barns of Westland and Harry Francis will be honored for their years of volunteer service to the western Wayne County area at the Wayne-Westland YMCA's annual recognition dinner.

The Y also serves Garden City and Westland.

The dinner will be held Thursday at Leright's, 826 S. Wayne Road, with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $15 per person, and reservations can be made by contacting the YMCA at 721-7044.

Gail McKnight, board chairperson, said:

"The Y board is pleased to honor Justine Barns and Harry Francis at our annual dinner.

"BOTH exemplify the commitment to volunteer service, to their community and to those in need. Their contributions represent the goals of the Y in action.

"Many people think of Justine Barns in her roles of state representative and former city council member and past Wayne County and Westland charter commission member. The YMCA, however, wants to recognize her volunteer efforts to all kinds of community projects."

"The long list of projects — PTA, this YMCA, the Westland Summer Festival, the founding of First Step (organization for battered wives), Western Wayne Division of United Community Services, Westland Goodfellows, Wayne Business and Professional Women, Westland Chamber of Commerce and First United Presbyterian Church of Wayne — all are good causes that have benefitted from Justine Barns' support."

Barns was honored in 1975 as Westland's Woman of the Year and Ford Motor Co.'s Citizen of the Year in 1967. Professionally, she has been the Legislator of the Year in 1983 from the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police. Elected to the House in 1982, she has been re-elected three times.

"HARRY FRANCIS, a Y board member since 1981, demonstrates the quiet leadership that has made this YMCA strong," said McKnight.

"Harry is always there to take on the tough projects. He has chaired our Invest in Youth Campaign in 1982-1983. He has continued to give his help to this project, which provides the necessary financial help youngsters; the disabled and others in need benefit from the programs of the YMCA."

"It was Harry I called upon to set up the new area of Christian Emphasis, to work on greater outreach to the churches, as well as to put greater emphasis on Christian values in the branch," McKnight said.

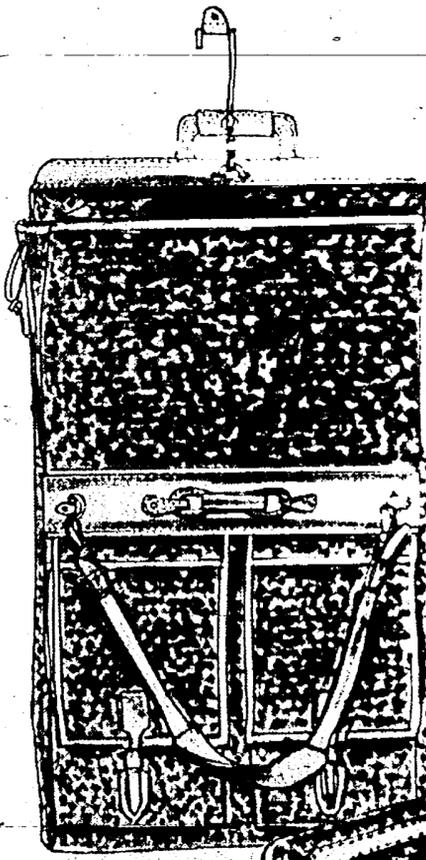

Francis has been a Westland resident for 40 years. He and his wife, Hallie, are the parents of three adult sons and two granddaughters.

Professionally, Francis worked 30 years with the Dearborn Public Schools, retiring in 1979 as an elementary school principal.

Francis is active in the Wayne Lions Club and serves as chair of the sight and blind committee, as well as a member of the scholarship committee.

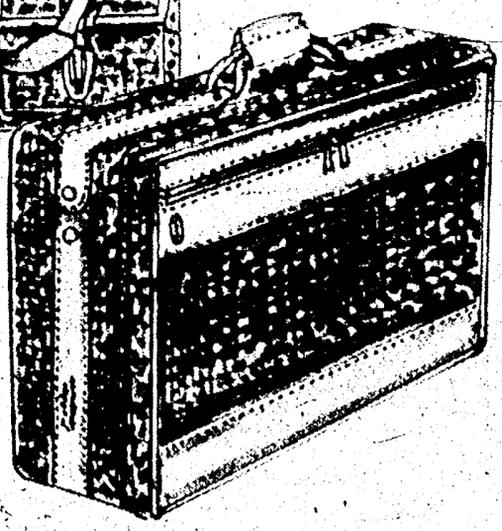

He serves as a trustee of the Wayne-Westland Foundation for the Improvement of Instruction and the First Congregational Church.

A HOMEOWNER on the 6600 block of Wildwood told police someone broke into the house Wednesday morning and stole $205 cash and a blank check.

The break-in occurred between 6:15 and 8:40 a.m. while family members were at Detroit Metropolitan Airport seeing off a son who was leaving for a stint in the Armed Services, police said.

Police said the culprit apparently entered the house through a bathroom window.

A WESTLAND woman reported Thursday that someone has been fraudulently using a department store credit card issued to her late husband.

The woman told police the card has been used at least 10 times for a total of $2,351 in unapproved purchases at area Montgomery Ward stores.

Her husband died in 1979, the woman told police.

A WESTLAND woman told police her car was stolen from a parking lot at 140 S. Merriman Wednesday night.

The 1982 Oldsmobile sedan was locked.

Suspect back in custody

"I'm sure somewhere down the line there will be some consolidation (of the charges)," he said.

IN THE Deluca's robbery, police said a man and a woman, posing as job seekers, escaped with several thousand dollars from the popular Italian restaurant.

Deluca's co-owner, James Deluca, told police he and two other employees were inside the restaurant at approximately 1 p.m. preparing to open when a woman who appeared to be in her 20s knocked on the door and asked to fill out a job application.

Police believe the woman was apparently sent ahead by her partner to check over the restaurant interior.

A short time later, a man knocked at the door and asked to fill out an application as well.

DELUCA TOLD police the man followed him to the office, but before they got to the desk, the man pulled a short-barreled pump shotgun from underneath his coat and announced the holdup.

The thief took money from an office safe and the employees' wallets, police said.

Nobody was injured in the incident, the first robbery since the restaurant opened at that location 32 years ago, Deluca said.

WEAVER LIVED in Westland during the late 1970s and his last known address was Madison Heights, Wright said.

Weaver has previous convictions for armed robbery and manslaughter, police said. He was paroled last September after serving eight years of a 20- to 40-year sentence on the armed robbery charge.

Asked if police would bring charges against Weaver's accomplice in the Deluca's robbery, Wright declined comment.

"All I can say is the case is still under investigation," he said.

Revised county waste plan boosts recycling

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Wayne County's revised solid waste disposal plan supports recycling as a major trash disposal method and allows greater local input in determining landfill sites, according to a county commissioner who helped draft the plan.

The revised plan is due for release this week.

"This is a substantial re-write of our first draft," said Commissioner Milton Mack, D-Wayne, chairman of the county's solid waste implementation committee.

Major changes from the initial trash disposal plan include:

- A slight lessening of the 75 percent waste reduction requirement for communities who have cut waste at least 25 percent by 1992. "This would delay the 75 percent requirement until 2005 for those communities," Mack said. Recycling, he added, is an obvious way to cut waste production quickly enough to meet the 1992 deadline. "We look at this as a major statement in support of recycling," Mack said. Communities failing to meet the 1992 deadline would be forced to cut waste 75 percent by the year 2000 to continue using county landfills.

• Creation of a landfill site selection committee, separate from the solid waste implementation committee. "This was done to accommodate the Conference of Western Mayors," Mack said. The multi-community group long protested the implementation committee's make-up. The CWW includes Livonia, Westland, Garden City, Plymouth and Canton, Plymouth and Redford townships, as well as other communities. Conference members said communities held too few seats on the implementation committee, while landfill operators held too many. The newly created board would only contain county and local representatives, Mack said, landfill operators would be excluded.

Key items continued from the original draft include acknowledgment of the need for incinerators and restrictions on out-state or out-of-state communities that dump trash in Wayne County.

While incinerators' need is acknowledged, the document makes no reference to the disposal of incinerator ash.

Concerns over the potential health threat posed by incinerator ash prompted a recent Michigan Department of Natural Resources ban on burning at the Detroit incinerator.

"There's really nothing in the plan that specifically addresses landfill ash," Mack said. "That issue is before the state legislature and we'd be bound by its ruling."

The plan is bold, however, regarding waste restrictions proposed by Sen. Donald Riegle, D-Mich., and being considered by the U.S. Congress.

It continues a requirement that non-county communities also agree to cut waste by 75 percent and file plans with the county showing what kind of waste is being dumped.

"This restriction isn't constitutionally enforceable," Mack said. "But it takes Senator Riegle's bill into account. It's drafted with the hope the bill passes."

The plan ranks waste reduction as the county's top priority, recycling, composting and re-use of waste materials ranks as the second priority.

'We look at this as a major statement in support of recycling.'

— Milton Mack
county commissioner

Incineration ranks third; landfills rank fourth.

The revised plan was drafted after a series of public hearings to gain community input. A final plan is expected to be adopted May 22 by Mack's committee. It would also need to be adopted by 29 of the county's 43 communities to become binding.

points of view

Enough!

There are limits to insensitivity

HERE, THERE and everywhere. Watching the Oscars it occurred to me, again, that the movie industry is the clearest example of how pervasive racism truly is:

Yes, Eddie Murphy is the most bankable Hollywood star, as long as he plays a jive-talking, hipper-than-you jester for the white audience. But in a truly open Hollywood, James Earl Jones would be employed as often and as visibly as Gene Hackman, an actor with whom he shares comparable talent. Cicely Tyson would be up every year for a variety of different roles like Meryl Streep. Billy Dee Williams would be doing Robert Redford roles instead of malt liquor commercials.

Are black people the only ones who drink malt liquor? Why is that?

Another thing, why do McDonald's commercials always show an all-black or all-white McDonald's? Don't they believe in integration?

AFTER SEEING "The Accused," I am angrier than ever about the advertising run in the dailies for the Windsor table dancing joints. It is easy of course to get a holier-than-thou attitude going here because the O&E does not run those ads, but that is not the point. Nor is the point prudery; nobody ever mistook me for a sexual prude.

But this is clearly sexual exploitation, reducing women to one thing and one thing only. Recent ads for "Mexican" dancers show pictures of painfully young women who appear to have been dragged up from Mexico for the sexual titillation of gringos and who knows what else. They also appear to be quite unhealthy.

Do the publishers of these newspapers ever look at these ads? Do they ever read the copy and what is clearly implied between the lines? How do they justify editorials on the evils of sexism and then run blatantly sexually offensive ads? The bucks brought in by these ads cannot possibly justify running them without some standards imposed.

EVERYONE GETS days like this. You sit and wonder, what the hell am I doing here? At a certain age, you ask the question on a regular basis and they call it a midlife crisis. In the newspaper business you're supposed to become jaded to life's insanities. But it still grinds you down.

Hugh Gallagher

In the newspaper business you're supposed to become jaded to life's insanities. But it still grinds you down.

Fathers kill sons, husbands kill wives, strangers rape women, friends rape women, children are molested by those closest to them. Day after day after day, we deal with these kind of stories. They are the reminders that life in the suburbs is not safe, because the danger lingers somewhere inside us.

We know that all those stupid situation comedies were a gross lie, an insult to the reality we had to face every day and the imperfections that we constantly fight to overcome. What bothers this reporter is that we never come to any clear answers about any of these things. Taxes, drains, school curriculums are a lot easier to understand than the vagaries of the heart.

ON AN upbeat note, spring is surely around the corner now that winter has given us a final blast. The Tigers are back on the field, though yet to show championship form. No, forget it, even the upbeat notes seem to have a downside today.

THAT WAS from one of the songs made popular by a prodigy of the folk culture era — Judy Collins — whose "Judy Blue Eyes" of Steven Stills fame were featured prominently this week in a national magazine.

Those eyes are still bright and that throat still emits golden notes. Bits of gray touch her still softly curled, shoulder-length hair. Collins will turn 50 in less than a month, showing the graceful aging of a generation that sang for human rights and peace.

life and its rollercoaster adventures.

I've sat through Collins concerts at indoor music halls, college auditoriums and outdoor concerts, including one at Meadow Brook Music Theatre.

My father, who plays piano and accordion by ear and pattered with guitar during the 1960s, turned me onto Collins in grade school. That was also an era in our house for the Kingston Trio, the Chad Mitchell Trio, Saturday night musical shows and other fun.

The Judy Collins albums he first bought are now in my collection (sorry dad) and are well-worn from

Judges, prosecutors should listen to MADD

Crashes involving drunken drivers aren't accidents, Steve Keeler said.

Every word was labored. And his point silenced the room, filled with members of Mothers Against Drunk Driving, police officers and journalists.

The group came together in Lansing recently for a daylong seminar, "Bridging the Gap," to open lines of communication.

The main thrust was to educate each other about how the different groups deal with the tragedies caused by drunk drivers. More than anything, though, I was struck by the emotional scarring drunken driving causes.

"I keep hearing the word accident," said Keeler a drunken driver victim. "It's not an accident. A person who causes a drunk driving crash ought to be thinking before he or she takes that drive. So, it's no accident."

Keeler's family was returning from a picnic 26 years ago when they were struck by a drunk driver, Keeler said during a break. His mother was killed and he suffered traumatic brain damage.

THERESE TUSKI McNeil cried intermittently as she explained the heart-wrenching details of losing her father, mother, grandmother and brother in a crash caused by a drunk driver last Christmas. The remaining family members will be affected for the rest of their lives, she said.

The focus for change should be on trying to get help for alcoholic and depressed family members and friends.

Another woman said she joined MADD as therapy and to get involved after her son died 6½ weeks ago.

"He was drunk and died at his own fault," she said. "I'm glad he didn't hurt anyone else."

I ate lunch with Evelylyn Bryant of Erie, Mich., who lost her eldest daughter and a granddaughter to a drunken driver. The driver, she said shaking her head, tried to kill himself three times before the crash. Ironically, he was unhurt.

Other people had to know of this man's troubles, she said. The focus for change should be on trying to get help for alcoholic and depressed family members and friends.

Her biggest beef is with the judicial system that allows repeat offenders to get off with little more than a slap on the hand.

Look at some of the statistics prepared by the Michigan State Police and disseminated by MADD.

DURING 1987 Wayne County convicted 1,709 people for first time drunken driving offenses, with the average sentence of three days in jail. There were 3,784 impaired driving convictions with an average jail time of zero.

There were 48 second time drunken driving convictions and they received sentences that averaged 25 days in jail. The 120 persons convicted of impaired driving received an average of five days in jail.

Sadly only four people were convicted on third time drunken driving offenses and they received an average 250 days in jail. And only one person was convicted for a third time impaired offense and was sentenced to 120 days in jail.

But you can see by the numbers only a handful of people were given that tough sentence. The rest got off.

Since there's a lack of consistent reporting by all police departments, the figures are probably higher, a MADD spokesman said. Still the numbers point to the popularity of plea bargaining. In Wayne County the problem is aggravated by a glut of cases that makes plea bargaining attractive.

Judges and prosecutors should be invited the next time police, journalists and victims meet to talk about drunk driving tragedies. A tougher stand in court will lower the number of times we deal with the effects of drunk driving.

And maybe they'll learn, like Steve Keeler points out, that when drunken drivers kill and maim it isn't an accident.

Narcotics unit seeks money

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Western Wayne County's narcotics enforcement task force is effective, officers say, but badly under-funded.

Task force leader Lt. John Schewell asked the Conference of Western Wayne for more money Friday, but conference members made no promises.

The undercover task force has been responsible for "some 400 arrests" and "over $200,000" in seized assets, Schewell said, with more to come.

"WE HAVEN'T yet bit the mother lode," he said.

One of the task force's problems, Schewell said, is that only three of the conference's 17 communities have pledged financial support to the multi-department task force. Those three, Plymouth, Northville and Belleville, are among the area's smallest communities.

Another problem is that not all area communities have assigned officers to the task force. The task force is currently made up of five state police officers and six officers assigned from local departments, including Canton Township, Garden City and Westland.

Conference members were somewhat skeptical about task force results, noting they received no written proof to back up Schewell's claims.

"Why do we have such great fear about releasing information?" Plymouth Township supervisor Maurice Breen said. "Who are we protecting?"

Canton Township Public Safety Director John Santomauro said statistics were available and would soon be sent to any community requesting them.

The task force was formed to handle drug cases that cross community lines.

Santomauro, the conference's adviser on police issues, said the task force was a "good buy" for participants.

"You get 11 men for the price of one," he said.

IN RELATED news, conference members have gone on record in opposition to a bill that would earmark 10 percent of confiscated drug dealer assets for anti-drug education programs.

Conference members said they oppose the bill because of fears the money would go into the state's general education budget and be diverted from local anti-drug programs.

"The state would probably be taking it and using it for the general fund," Livonia Police chief William Crayk said. "Essentially, this money would be lost to local law enforcement."

Crayk also noted that many area police departments are either conducting or planning educational anti-drug programs of their own.

Livonia Mayor Robert Bennett acknowledged anti-drug programs were popular, but said local communities would be better served if they received the money directly.

"This is not in our best interest in the war on drugs," Bennett said.

The bill, House Bill 4149, would take 10 percent of confiscated money left after law enforcement expenses were paid, and assign it to a public school substance abuse training and prevention fund.

The Conference of Western Wayne includes representatives from Livonia, Westland, Garden City, Plymouth and Canton, Plymouth and Redford townships, among other communities.

'Say No to Drugs' essays are sought

An student essay contest with the theme "Say No to Drugs" is being sponsored by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

There are four separate categories for elementary, junior high and high school students.

The contest is cosponsored by the Livonia, Redford Township and Westland police departments.

Children in kindergarten through third grade are asked to show, through pictures and captions, why it is wrong to take illegal drugs.

Students in grades 4-6 are asked to tell, in 50 words or less, why illegal drug use is dangerous.

Youngsters in grades 7-9 are asked to describe in 200-300 words, why they should say no to drugs. Students in grades 10-12 are asked, in 500-800 words, to tell why they should reject illegal drugs and suggest ways to prevent drug abuse in their schools and communities.

There are also contests for special education students in grades K-6 and 7-12.

Prizes will be awarded in each category. Entries must be received before Monday, May 1. Entries must be submitted to: Essay contest, Wayne County Sheriff's Department, 1231 St. Antoine, Detroit, 48226.

Restaurants to hold arthritis fund-raiser

Participating A & W Restaurants franchises will donate 10 cents to the Arthritis Foundation for every mug of root beer sold in May.

Money will be used to support foundation research and local programs, including the Arthritis Self Help course and Help Line. A & W projects its donations will top $75,000. Facts about arthritis will be available at participating restaurants.

Arthritis, a chronic, debilitating disease for which there is no cure, can strike at any age. It affects 37 million Americans. Over 100 forms have been reported. Osteoarthritis, affecting joints, and rheumatoid arthritis, affecting the whole body, are the most common forms.

Warning signs for arthritis include: swelling in one or more joints, early morning stiffness, recurring pain or tenderness in any joint, inability to move a joint normally, obvious redness and warmth in a joint, unexplained weight loss and fever or weakness combined with joint pain.

S'craft registration set

Schoolcraft College is holding spring registration Tuesday, April 25, through Thursday, April 27. Registration will be conducted 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. each day.

The term begins Monday, May 8. Day and evening classes will be held at the main campus, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia, as well as at the Radcliff Center, 1751 Radcliff, Garden City and in the Plymouth-Canton Schools.

New courses include: introduction to health careers, keyboarding, word perfect micro, introduction to computer art and design, introduction to DOS, college note taking, tool detailing and applied physics.

ARTHRITIS & DEPRESSION
Depression may not cause arthritis, but arthritis definitely contributes to depression.
One reason for despondency is the unpredictable nature of joint impairment and pain. Each morning you realistically experience a moment of concern. Will you be able to move? Will your first step bring on a pain that stops you from rolling over, let alone taking on the activities set out for the day?
—The realization that you are not in control brings on disappointment with yourself and a sense of failure.
In addition you may have no one to whom to turn. People without arthritis find it difficult to understand your problems of walking, eating, and toilet care. Others without arthritis are prone to advise you to "try harder" when already you are exhausted from physical strain.
Thus your uncertainty and isolation make episodes of depression an inevitable accompaniment of arthritis. No magic exists to escape this mood.
Keep in mind that you are not alone in your feelings. Continue to move as your strength permits. These measures will preserve both your muscle tone and your self respect.

Raymond leaves legacy of service

By Susan Rosiek
staff writer

An indomitable spirit with a steadfast commitment to education, women's rights and peace were among the qualities that made Rosina Raymond a Renaissance woman.

That was the message delivered by family, friends and community leaders at a memorial service Friday for Raymond, Schoolcraft College's longest serving trustee and a longtime Livonia community activist.

"A good friend has left us but we take solace in remembering how Rosina's life touched our life," said Livonia Mayor Robert Bennett to the more than 300 people gathered in Livonia's Civic Center Library.

RAYMOND, 77, died Tuesday after suffering a stroke last Saturday.

A major figure in the formation of Schoolcraft College, Raymond was in the final year of her third consecutive six-year term on the college board. She served in every board office during her tenure. She was board secretary at the time of her death.

While paying tribute to her long public service career, friends also took time to recall Raymond's human side — including her well-noted sense of humor. Bennett drew laughs by presenting a coffee cup holder that was his special gift from Raymond one long ago Christmas.

'Rosina's legacy of service has passed, but her impact will be forever felt and remembered.'

— Laura Toy
former Schoolcraft trustee

The mayor noted, though, that the holder has been a fixture in his family's kitchen ever since.

That services were held in the library auditorium was fitting, friends said, remembering Raymond as a staunch supporter of the Livonia library system. A member of Friends of the Livonia Library since its beginning, Raymond played a major role in campaigning for a special millage to fund the city's new main library in the Civic Center at Five Mile and Farmington roads.

"I remember the first time she was in here, she looked around and joked, 'We done good,'" Bennett said.

Laura Toy, a close friend and former Schoolcraft trustee, recalled Raymond's long legacy of service and activism which included the Livonia Historical Society, the Democratic Party, Schoolcraft College Foundation, Women's Resource Center, Soroptimist Club, Greenmead (Livonia's Historical Village) and the Equal Rights Amendment.

"Rosina was the perfect example of 'Don't ask what your community can do for you, but what you can do for your community,'" Toy said.

"ROSINA'S legacy of service has passed, but her impact will be forever felt and remembered," said Toy, who described Raymond as her friend and mentor.

"Rosina set an example for all women and men to get active. She said 'don't just give lip service, do what you can for your world, state, county and city. Don't judge, give a kind word, a pleasant thought, have humor and get out there because there's a lot to be done. Don't look at it as effort, but as opportunity. Be all you can be because there's still so much to be done and not a long time to do it,'" said Toy.

History and genealogy were among Raymond's favorite hobbies. An accomplished poet, her last poem was published and delivered to the family's home on Oak Drive in Livonia the day that she died.

Her granddaughter, Rachel Rosen, composed and read a poem which thanked her grandmother for "teaching me that living is doing your best."

Raymond is remembered for always striving and doing her best.

After raising a family, she returned to college, earning bachelor's and master's degrees from Wayne

State University. She was a former school teacher and taught at Madonna where she served as speech department chairwoman.

RAYMOND is survived by her husband, Jerry, an attorney and former Livonia city councilman; son Eldon of Ann Arbor; daughters, Rhea Hell of Birmingham; Dr. Joyce Rae DuBryn of Rochester, N.Y., and Sharon Rosen of Farmington Hills; and 13 grandchildren.

Eldon Raymond talked about his mother's accomplishments, attributing them in part to his parent's long and loving partnership.

"If she were here today she would be quick to tell us that without my father's patience, tolerance and encouragement, she wouldn't have been able to do many of things she did," said Eldon Raymond.

The Rev. Suzanne Paul of Farmington Universalist Unitarian Church called Raymond a woman who "loved life and made the world a better place."

Memorial contributions may be made to the Rosina Raymond Scholarship Fund, in care of Schoolcraft College Office of Institutional Advancement, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia 48152 or to Friends of the Livonia Library, 9420 Lathers, Livonia 48150 or the Livonia Historical Society, c/o Greenmead, 38125 Eight Mile, Livonia, 48152.

Science center to feature live broadcast of deep sea project

The JASON Project, an exploration of the Mediterranean's deep sea floor, is coming to the Detroit Science Center, May 1-14.

The center is building an interactive video theater to display live satellite broadcasts of undersea volcanoes and the remains of long-sunk ships.

The DSC is one of 13 sites in the U.S. and Canada that will be receiving the broadcasts. Its video theater is underwritten by a $225,000 W.K. Kellogg Foundation grant.

The JASON Project is headed by Dr. Robert Ballard, a marine geologist at the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution. Researchers from Woods Hole discovered the remains of the R.M.S. Titanic in 1985.

The project is named for JASON, the undersea robot that will carry photographic equipment as deep as 20,000 feet below the ocean's surface.

The DSC will feature six live broadcasts daily, five for school groups scheduled in advance and one for the general public.

Repeat broadcasts will begin May 15. In 1990 the theater will broadcast JASON's second project, an exploration of the Great Lakes.

The DSC is at 5020 John R, Detroit.

Get slim eating yogurt

With the tummy tuck-in season right around the corner, now is the time to utilize the little will power we all have.

No need to go on a strenuous dietetic regime. By simply cutting out 150 calories per day, you can easily lose those extra pounds you put on this winter. The best part of all, the swimsuit or shorts you wore last summer will look and fit even better.

I'm a firm believer of "let those without sin cast the first stone," so rather than preach all the things you can do, I'll just refer to everything else in the article in first person singular (for those of you who missed English 101, that simply means "I").

Right off the top, I already know that eating more fish will help. I eat lots of fish, more than I will ever care to admit. In addition, I know that my health club membership was just renewed and, yes, I will return. (Where have they heard that before?)

So what's my secret?

THIS SPRING, I'm going to slide milk, cream, ice cream and real cheese out of my daily diet and replace it with 1/2 percent milk, yogurt, frozen yogurt and the new light cheese varieties. If what the American Dairy Association, my milkman, TCBY and Kraft are saying, if I keep up with these healthy habit replacements, you won't recognize me by the time summer's over.

Take yogurt for instance. Yogurt is fast becoming America's favorite food. Statistics show that in 1980, the average Joe consumed almost 2 1/2 pounds per person, per year. In 1987, that figure dramatically increased to almost five pounds per person, per year. It's no wonder, especially since the average grocery store today stocks yogurt in a frozen variety, as a drink, in lowfat and nonfat forms, in health-conscious-related candies and combined with any number of fruits.

Yours truly goes bonkers over the Dannon low-fat vanilla-flavored yogurt, so much that the Janes gang easily downs two of the large-quart-sized containers weekly. The kids love it stirred with granola, my wife and I crave it with fresh fruit and we frequently use it in place of cream in our soups and salad dressing. Anytime a recipe calls for sour cream, simply stir in an equal amount of plain, unflavored yogurt.

From a professional point of view, the subtle richness disappears but you pick up a tanginess that makes for an interesting taste, especially where most cream soups and salad dressings are concerned.

If cooking with yogurt doesn't help reduce your caloric intake, try substituting some of the new frozen yogurts that are out and about. TCBY is by far the most famous, but right on its heels is the delicate-tasting Columbo. Even the folks at 31 Flavors are getting into the act, with soft-serve frozen yogurt makers popping up in their stores throughout the country.

THE MAIN difference here, is not necessarily in taste and richness but in calories. Granted, the Haagen Daz people are gearing their advertising now to the folks who choose to indulge (neat concept), but when you come a premium ice cream coming in at 349 calories per serving compared to a serving of an equally flavored frozen yogurt coming in at just 225 calories, I'd rather kill two birds with one stone and indulge and lower my calories.

PASSOVER SWEETS

Making desserts is easy

By Nechama Baket
special writer

FROM SUNSET Thursday (April 20) until the first three stars light up the sky Thursday, April 27, all leavened bread will be strictly forbidden in the traditional Jewish household.

With ordinary flour out of the picture come Passover, creating a festive holiday menu is no piece of cake.

So, you might say with good reason, this is not the time to be worrying about fancy desserts.

But surprisingly, despite the restrictions, a wealth of Passover recipes are available to the enterprising Jewish cook, and scores of Jewish women utilize them.

JEWISH WOMEN are not afraid of being "slaves in the kitchen," says Rabbi Elimelech Goldberg of the Young Israel of Southfield, even though Passover is a holiday that celebrates freedom.

According to Rabbi Goldberg, "The only way to appreciate freedom is to work for it."

"I look at it as a challenge to my creativity," says Leah Kohn, wife of Quality Kosher Catering's Paul Kohn and a gracious hostess in her elegant Southfield home.

"People know your ingredients are limited. So when you bring out a pretty dessert, they say, 'Wow, that's pesachdig (kosher for Passover)?"

"You'd be surprised at how much you can do if you put your mind to it," she says.

KOHN, WHO STARTS preparing early in a special pesachdig (Passover) kitchen set up in her basement, bakes and freezes cakes made with potato starch instead of flour.

There are a variety of ways you can "dress up a plain sponge cake," Kohn says.

You might make a strawberry sauce by cooking fresh strawberries with a little potato starch as a thickener. Served with sponge cake, it gives the effect of strawberry shortcake.

"I love spooning my homemade applesauce over plain sponge cake," Kohn says. She makes applesauce by cooking peeled, cut-up apples with a little sugar and a cut-up lemon for about 30 minutes. Then she puts the apples through the blender.

If you don't like the pureed effect, she says, you can cook the apples longer and then chop them with a potato masher.

"PAUL'S MOTHER, who was an outstanding cook, used to make a

A few years ago, this writer unearthed a gem of a restaurant in Western Wayne County.

The food had a spicy bite. The check was entirely painless.

The restaurant made no pretense whatsoever at decoration. It was a hole in the wall in a strip shopping center just across Ford Road from a Meljer's. It was the essence of Canton.

Today, Canton has become somewhat respectable and, alas, so has Sze-Chuan's. There is a pretense at decoration. It's not as cheap. The food, though still superior, is no longer the revelation it was when you thought you had uncovered the best dive in the area. So much for progress.

The restaurant has seating for 110 (up from 44 "close friends") and has beautifully papered walls and peach-colored tablecloths with glass-like covers. The atmosphere is bright and comfortable, and if you are there for lunch or in early evening, the vertical blinds are likely to be open. The view, admittedly, is of the parking lot, but it's still refreshing to enjoy Oriental food in daylight.

THE MENU is extensive, and exclusively Chinese. If one person in your party will only eat American, try somewhere else, or feed them fortune cookies while you enjoy the spicy Szechuan fare.

House specialties range from Happy Family (scallops, shrimp, chicken and ham on top of assorted vegetables) and General Tsou's Chicken (the dark meat in a special sauce) to deluxe stew tofu and pan fry noodles — and, of course, Peking Duck (which must be ordered two days in advance). You can choose from four "spice" ratings: spicy but not hot, slightly hot, medium hot and full strength.

Most first-timers go for "medium," says owner/chef Sonny Wang. On their next visit, they "upgrade or downgrade," depending on their taste, he says. Actually, he recommends starting light and asking for a stronger sauce on the side.

We found the medium hot just the right blend of hot spicy. The Sze Wei Shrimp, served with baby corn, straw mushrooms and broccoli, is out of this world. The chicken with hot pepper and peanuts is equally good.

Whatever your entree, start your meal off with the hot and sour soup. It's delicious and true to its name. Other interesting choices are a seafood soup (for two) or cold noodles with spicy sesame sauce. And now that Sze-Chuan's has a liquor license, customers can temper their meals with something other than tea — preferably beer.

FORGET DESSERT. IT doesn't really mix with this type of meal, and Sze-Chuan's will likely be out of it anyway. The service is good, though a little overly enthusiastic: Our meals arrived shortly after we ordered, but our plates were taken away the moment we finished our last bites.

This restaurant is more polished than a few years ago. It's no longer a jewel in the rough. That's progress.

ly rolls are very versatile and usually freezable. There are a million different ways you can prepare them."

Paul Kohn fills Passover jelly rolls with apricot, raspberry or chocolate mousse.

"You can even coat it with chocolate," Leah Kohn says.

CHAYA SARAH SHILBERBERG, wife of the rabbi of Bais Chabad Torah Center in West Bloomfield, expects to entertain a crowd of 20 at her West Bloomfield home for the entire holiday this year.

Silberberg uses only eggs, sugar, oil, potato starch, nuts, cocoa and maybe a little lemon in her cakes. The amounts vary but the ingredients are the same.

"One recipe calls for one cup walnuts and two tablespoons cocoa, and the other might call for three tablespoons cocoa and one cup oil," she says.

But there's an art to good Passover cake. "The trick to getting sponge cake right is to make sure you really beat the egg whites very stiff and then fold them properly," she explains.

"Actually it's thin air that's holding it up. If you so much as look at it cross-eyed, it'll fall. When we were little we weren't allowed to walk into the kitchen while my mother was baking it."

Silberberg, who also has a pesach-dig kitchen in her basement, serves sponge cake a la mode, with homemade non-dairy ice cream she prepares herself.

"BUT THE TREAT my children love most is my strawberry-rhubarb compote," she says. "I go through it by the gallon. They prefer it to all my elegant desserts, chocolate mousse, ice cream, you name it."

Silberberg cuts up "as much as I have of rhubarb, apples (whatever kind doesn't matter much, she says, you can use the kind that's turning brown on the bottom of your refrigerator) and strawberries in equal proportions, and cooks the mixture with a fair amount of sugar to taste.

Rhubarb, now in season, is very tart, she cautions; and it does require a lot of sugar. "It's not going to be dietetic," she says ruefully.

But because the meals are "heavy on the meat and potatoes, this is a nice light complement. And it freezes beautifully."

Silberberg is never certain exactly how large her guest list will be for each meal, so she keeps her refrigerator well stocked with fresh fruit.

WHEN PASSOVER is late in April, the way it is this year, melons and pineapple are in season and make a nice dessert, she says.

"You're dietetic, you're healthy, it's wonderful."

Kohn says she believes strongly that "presentation of food is very important."

"When I serve a scoop of strawberry ices, I'll top it with a whole fresh strawberry and a piece of kiwi. Kiwi is a nice garnish because it has a pretty color."

Kohn deftly arranges a bowl of fruit as she speaks, looking calm and unperturbed despite the long list of jobs she has mapped out. After all, she says, Passover comes only once a year.

Rhubarb a reminder of spring cleaning

My grandmother believed in spring cleaning.

Not only was this the time for cleaning out wardrobes, closets and cupboards, beating the carpets, washing the windows and opening them wide to air out the whole house, but it was also the time, according to grandma, to clean out the system. It was time to rid the body of impurities and get your blood circulating with new vigor.

This was a popular school of thought in days gone by, and the first warm day of spring set the pots to boiling with all sorts of spring tonics.

We were lucky. While grandma believed we needed purging, she never advocated sulfur and molasses, or any of the other horrible-tasting concoctions that some less fortunate than us were forced to swallow.

She got the same effect by feeding us all wonderful-tasting pies, sauces, and cobblers made of rhubarb.

kitchen witch

Gundella

Raw rhubarb is crisp, crunchy and very sour, and it makes me cringe to think of eating it raw, sprinkled with salt, as some people do. But properly prepared, nothing tastes better than cold rhubarb sauce served with hot buttered toast for breakfast.

OR TRY a rhubarb custard, pie or cobbler, topped with vanilla ice cream or fresh whipped cream.

Only the stems of the rhubarb plant are used. The leaves should never be eaten because they contain large amounts of oxalide acid and can be poisonous.

When cooking rhubarb, use as little water as possible and add sugar when nearly done, for best rhubarb flavor.

Always cut rhubarb with a very sharp knife or kitchen scissors, to avoid stringing.

Eaten in moderation, rhubarb is delicious, as well as good for you. But it tastes so good that you do have to be careful not to eat too much, for it does have a laxative effect.

If you want to wake up your fami-

RHUBARB CUSTARD PIE

- pastry for a single-crust pie
- 4 cups pink rhubarb, chopped
- 4 eggs
- 4 tablespoons milk
- 1 cup raisins (optional)
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/4 cup flour
- juice of one lemon
- 3/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Line a 9-inch deep-dish pie plate with pastry and put in rhubarb and raisins. Beat eggs well, add milk, sugar and flour. Mix together and add nutmeg. Blend ingredients well and pour over the rhubarb. Bake at 425 degrees until lightly browned. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake until rhubarb is tender. Cool before serving.

RHUBARB AND STRAWBERRY PIE

- 1 pint sliced strawberries
- 2 cups rhubarb, chopped
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 double-crust pastry recipe

Combine strawberries, rhubarb and sugar and let stand for one hour. Drain off the juice into a saucepan and add cornstarch and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Stir in strawberries and rhubarb and pour into pie shell. Criss-cross pastry strips over the filling and sprinkle lightly with sugar. Bake at 400 degrees for about 1 hour, until done.

RHUBARB RAISIN CRUNCH

- 1 cup uncooked oatmeal
- 1 cup light brown sugar
- 1 cup flour
- 1/4 cup nuts, chopped
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup white sugar
- 4 cups diced rhubarb
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon

To make the crumblike mixture, combine oatmeal, flour, brown sugar and nuts. Cut in the margarine, and mix well. Combine the white sugar, rhubarb and cinnamon. Place half the crumb mixture in an 8-inch pan. Cover with the rhubarb mixture and top with the remainder of crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Cool, and cut into squares.

SIMPLE RHUBARB SAUCE

Wash, but do not peel, four cups of rhubarb, and cut into 1-inch pieces. Place in a pot with a few spoonfuls of water. Cook over low heat, stirring often, until tender. Then add a cup of sugar and cook until the sugar is dissolved. Cool, and serve as you would applesauce.

For those who can't eat sugar, omit the sugar when cooking, and after rhubarb is done and cooled, add Equal (or other Nutra-sweetener) to taste.

This recipe is delicious with hot buttered toast.

RHUBARB COBBLER

- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 2 cups flour
- 3 cups sugar
- 1 cup milk
- 4 cups chopped rhubarb
- 4 teaspoons baking powder

Melt butter in a 9-by-13-inch baking pan. Combine flour, one cup of sugar, baking powder and milk. Spoon mixture over butter in pan. Top with rhubarb.

Combine water and the two remaining cups of sugar until sugar is dissolved. Pour this over the rhubarb. Bake at 350 degrees about 40 minutes. Serve hot with whipped topping or vanilla ice cream.

Herb-stuffed artichokes tasty

This recipe is from an article entitled "Artichokes — the Thorny Life of the Edible Thistle" in the April issue of Gourmet magazine.

HERB-STUFFED ARTICHOKEs

- 2 cups fresh bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup freshly grated Parmesan
- 1/4 cup finely chopped fresh parsley leaves (preferably flat-leaved)
- 3 tablespoons finely chopped fresh mint leaves

- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice

In a bowl stir together the bread crumbs, the Parmesan, the parsley, the mint, the garlic, three tablespoons of the oil, the lemon juice, and salt and pepper to taste. Spread the leaves of the artichokes gently, stuff each artichoke with some of the stuffing, filling the center and the spaces between the leaves, and arrange the artichokes in a baking dish just large enough to hold them in one layer. Drizzle the tops of the artichokes with the remaining one tablespoon oil, pour 1/2 cup water into the dish, and bake the artichokes in the middle of a preheated 350 degree oven for 20-25 minutes, or until the stuffing is golden. Serves four.

Experts say locals must fund water cleanup projects

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

It's going to take a lot of money to clean up state waterways, experts said Wednesday, with much of it having to come from local governments.

The area's "grandson of super sewer" and Rouge River cleanup projects, each requiring heavy local spending, represent the wave of the future, experts said during a water strategy workshop at Livonia City Hall.

'We must all face up to the fact that federal funding of wastewater treatment is going to be significantly decreased.'

— Frederick Brown
chairman, Water Resources Commission

"We must all face up to the fact that federal funding of wastewater treatment is going to be significantly decreased," said Frederick Brown, chairman of the state Water Resources Commission. "Local partici-palion in funding is going to be a must."

HIS SENTIMENTS were echoed by J.D. Snyder, the newly appointed director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources' office of water resources.

"More is being expected of state and local governments," Snyder said.

The 'good news, according to Brown, is that authority over water projects may also be transferred to locals.

Brown's comments came during a "decision maker's workshop" sponsored by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG). Representatives from Wayne County, individual western Wayne communities and the DNR attended the session.

Much work has already been done in southeastern Michigan, SEMCOG deputy planning director Edward Hustoles said, but much more work needs to be done.

"This region has not been standing still," Hustoles said, citing regional planning efforts dating back as far as 1971.

Storm water, he added, has become an increasing pollution problem over the same period of time and new efforts must be made to handle storm water run off.

The biggest problem, he said, is local politics, with governments often unwillingly embarking upon expensive water treatment programs.

"We do only fair at funding," he said. "It's so bad it sometimes takes court orders to do what needs to be done."

Stevenson's Scott Kosikowski tags out the sliding Plymouth Canton baserunner during Friday's baseball battle. Canton went on to post a 4-3 victory over the Spartans.

Sloppy win

Chiefs overcome errors to beat Stevenson

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

Plymouth Canton had just defeated Livonia Stevenson, 4-3, but baseball coach Fred Crissey wasn't in the mood to celebrate.

The Chiefs tested Crissey's patience during Friday's game, missing several of his signs from third base, stranding six runners on base and missing the cut-off man on more than one occasion. Canton also committed three errors.

Crissey gave his troops an earful after the game. The win left Canton undefeated in two games, but he knows the Chiefs won't extend that streak if they continue their sloppy ways.

Relief pitcher Mike Sulak was the most encouraging sign for Canton, striking out the side in the seventh inning and pitching out of a jam in the sixth. Stevenson is winless in two games.

"I JUST TOLD them we don't play like that here (at Canton)," Crissey said. "Mentally, we didn't get into the ball game until the fifth inning. High school kids are strange, they let the least little things upset them. That wasn't one of our better efforts and I'm at a loss to tell you why."

"I can take a loss as long as they give their best. That's the difference. Talent-wise we're OK. The thing we need is chemistry and togetherness."

Fortunately for Canton, Stevenson suffered similar problems, but first-year coach Richard DeVries was more forgiving. The Spartans are trying to learn a new system under DeVries and he knows it will take time to refine it.

baseball

Three Stevenson runners were picked off base Friday, but one of the most crucial errors by the Spartans came in the sixth when Jim Baumbick failed to tag up from third base on a fly ball.

The Spartans' Dan Piergentilli scored earlier in the inning on a balk by Sulak to cut the margin to one, 4-3.

With one out and Baumbick on third base, Paul Namel hit a fly ball fairly deep to right field that was caught by Jamie Sleser, but Baumbick decided not to test Sleser's arm. Baumbick tagged up and raced halfway down the basepath before returning to third base.

He would have been the tying run.

"I SAID 'GO, go, go, go,' but he thought he heard me say 'No,'" DeVries said. "We've got to get better than that. Base running was a kicker. It hurt us big time. We made more mistakes than I care to make. We're a good physical club. If we play mistake-free ball, we'll be great. We're thinking too much."

Jeff Kugelman, who started and lasted four innings on the mound for Canton, picked up the win. Sulak earned the save. Kugelman surrendered only three hits and struck out two, allowing two Stevenson runs in the fourth inning before leaving.

Mike Dallmonte, one of two Stevenson pitchers, got the Spartans only extra-base hit, leading off the fourth with a triple. He scored later on a single by Baumbick. Scott Kosikowski scored the other run on a ground out.

Sulak was impressive, though he allowed one run in the sixth when he committed a balk with Piergentilli on third base.

"Sulak did exactly what we wanted," Crissey said. "He didn't blow his cool when the balk was called. Sulak throws the hardest of our pitchers. He's our closer so he's going to get it done. We don't want anyone to go seven innings right now."

DOUG WASSERMAN was Stevenson's starting pitcher, throwing three innings before being replaced by Dallmonte, a hard-throwing right-hander.

Wasserman only allowed one hit — a single in the third by Kugelman that drove in Jeff Allen and Mikko Tanaka. Canton took a 3-0 lead in the third when Jason Dembney scored on a wild pitch.

Pat Hughes greeted Dallmonte in the fourth, leading off the inning with a single and scoring the eventual game-winning run on a wild pitch. Dallmonte settled down, retiring eight of the last nine Canton batters in order.

Stevenson's fate this spring will be decided by how well the new players blend in with last year's returnees, Dallmonte said.

"We have a new system and it's going to take time to get used to," Dallmonte said. "DeVries has a lot of knowledge of the game. As soon as the new players come along, we should be a contender in the (Lakes) division and the league (Western Lakes Activities Association)."

Carbo gets 1st win as Clarenceville coach, 14-3

Bernie Carbo, the former Boston Red Sox and Livonia Franklin baseball star, began his high school coaching career on a winning note Friday as Livonia Clarenceville defeated visiting Redford St. Agatha, 14-3.

St. Agatha fell to 1-2 overall.

Dave Petry got the win for Clarenceville in a starting role, lasting 4 1/2 innings before giving way to reliever Rich Roy. The two combined on a three-hitter and Roy struck out four Agatha batters.

Pat Cylkowski suffered the loss on the mound for the Aggies.

Andy Weighill paced Clarenceville's 15-hit attack, hitting a two-run home run and going 4-for-4 with three RBI and two stolen bases.

Dan Gierman added a double and triple and three RBI and Chris Foss also drove in three runs for the Trojans. Wayne Herdell knocked in two runs for Agatha.

CRESTWOOD 6, GARDEN CITY 1: Garden City remained winless in three games, losing 6-1 Friday at Dearborn Heights Crestwood.

The win kept Crestwood undefeated at 2-0. Garden City outhit the home team, 6-4, but committed three errors and starting pitcher Bob Stubbs walked nine batters. George Lang went the distance to earn the win for Crestwood.

Stubbs was pulled after five innings, recording one strikeout.

Darrin Clark and Troy Robinson had two hits apiece for Garden City and Matt Ward drove in the lone Cougar run.

Taylor Truman came away victorious in both ends of a double-header played Thursday at Garden City. Truman won Game No. 1, 10-8 and trimmed Garden City 1-0 in the nightcap.

Joe Gorak and Nate Hines collected two hits each for Garden City in the first game. The Cougars had only two hits in the second game and Hines suffered the loss on the mound.

REDFORD CC 8, BISHOP BORGESS 1: Redford Catholic Central got two strong pitching outings Friday in a double-header sweep over Catholic League rival Redford Bishop Borgess at Capitol Park.

Leo Hutchinson struck out 16 batters and surrendered only two hits in six innings of work as the Shamrocks won Game No. 1, 8-1. The Shamrocks won the second game, 16-0. The nightcap was called after three innings because of the mercy rule.

Hutchinson improved to 2-0, getting strong hitting support from Tom Hill (three hits) and Mark Stanforth (two hits).

Junior Keith Bozyk pitched no-hit ball in Game No. 2, striking out six batters to run his record to 2-0.

Hill's three-run homer highlighted the scoring in Game No. 2.

JOHN GLENN 5, FRANKLIN 4: Brian Stephenson's two-run single in the sixth inning Friday scored Eric Stover and Tom Luxton and gave Westland John Glenn a 5-4 win at Livonia Franklin.

The game was the season-opener for both teams.

Paul Hayes was the other hitting star for Glenn, collecting a double, triple and three RBI. The Rockets received five-hit pitching from starter Mark Johnston, who went 6 1/3 innings and reliever Bobby Lawrence, who picked up the save.

Tad Dennis started the game for Franklin but left with the bases loaded and two outs in the first inning because of a sore elbow. Craig Overallits scattered six hits and allowed five runs in 5 1/3 innings of relief for the Patriots.

Tom Mack had two hits and an RBI for Franklin.

Rockets run past Cougars

Ferlin Whitlow set a school record in the 300-meter hurdles Thursday, leading host Westland John Glenn to a 103-34 non-league boys track victory over Garden City.

Whitlow, who was clocked in 39.8, led the Rockets (3-0) by breaking Derrick Mitchell's mark of 40.7 set in 1988.

Steve Wiseley, meanwhile, figured in four firsts, including individual wins in the long jump (21 feet, 1/4 inch), 400 dash (52.2) and 110 hurdles (15.9). He also teamed up with Whitlow, Carl Lowe and Andrew Dobbins to win the 800 relay in 1:33.1.

Other Glenn individual firsts included: Jason Key, shot put, 41-1; Ed Terwellen, 124-7 1/4; Greg Anderson, high jump, 6-2; Dave Shaver, pole vault, 10-0; Dobbins, 100 dash, 11.2; Lowe, 800 run, 2:02.7; David Ryan, 1,600 run, 4:45.2; and Jason Nowicki, 3,200 run, 10:57.6.

Whitlow, Ryan, Lowe and Randy Seach teamed up to win the 1,600 relay in 3:38.9, while Ryan, Lowe, Joe Zawol and Jim Zurawski added a win in the 3,200 relay (8:42.3).

Brian Rosa was GC's lone winner, taking the 200 dash in 24.0. He also was a member of GC's winning 400 relay (46.8) squad.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL was edged last week by visiting Plymouth Salem, 72-64, in a boys meet.

Jason Belaire figured in three firsts for the Chargers (1-1).

He tied Salem's Roger Parry in the high jump at 6-2, and won both the 110 and 300-meter hurdles in 15.7 and 42.8, respectively.

Jeff Bristow added firsts in the shot put (44-5) and discus (135-1).

Other Churchill firsts were recorded by Max Tressler, pole vault, 9-6; Trent Naumcheff, 200 dash, 24.3; Jeff Zawistak, 400 run, 53.4; and Jeff Grossman, 800 run, 2:08.2.

Churchill lost three of four relays, but took the 1,600 in 3:47.1.

Scott Stryker paced Salem with wins in the 1,600 and 3,200 runs with times of 4:39.4 and 10:13.2, respectively.

REDFORD THURSTON, paced by Kansasha Hughes, defeated Dearborn Heights Annapolis in its girls season opener, 66-56.

Hughes paced the host Eagles with wins in the long jump (13-9), 100-meter dash (13.3) and 200 dash (30.4).

Teammate Carolyn McCarthy added wins in the 1,600 and 3,200 runs with times of 6:49.0 and 15:03.0, respectively.

Other Thurston girls finishing first included Jenny Hughes, 100 hurdles, 19.7; Samantha King, 400 run, 1:15.1; and Kristin Tunison, 800 run, 2:57.1.

McCarthy, Tunison, Judy Wong and Suzie Greca took the 3,200 relay in 12:10.0, while Wong, Greca, King and Tunison added a win in the 1,600 relay (5:10.7).

Meanwhile, the Thurston boys got off to a somewhat disappointing start on Thursday, falling to Annapolis, 82-54.

Despite the loss, Darrell Kellogg scored firsts in the long jump (21-10 1/4) and 400 (51.7).

Other Thurston firsts were recorded by Jerry Malik, 110 hurdles, 19.0; Adryan Lee, 200, 25.3; and Tom Biskner, 3,200, 10:57.0.

Lee also teamed up with Jeremy McKinney, Stacy and Paul Jaremski to win the 400 relay in 50.0.

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN routed Garden City in a girls meet on Thursday, 106-27, as the host Rockets captured 13 of 16 events, including all four relays.

Individually, Amy Finley starred with firsts in the high jump (4-7), 100-meter hurdles (19.3) and 300 hurdles (55.28).

Bianca Smiley added wins in the shot put (31-9 1/4) and discus (75-3 1/4), while Mary Ann Gabany took the 100 dash (12.8) and 200 (28.1).

Other Glenn individual firsts were recorded by Dallas Amburgey in the long GC slipped to 0-2 overall, while Glenn is 2-0.

Messner gets message across to kids

By Casey Hans
staff writer

Success is what has driven the life and career of defensive lineman Mark Messner, who recently graduated from the University of Michigan after an All-American football career and is anxiously awaiting Sunday's NFL draft.

"That was always my main goal — to be successful," Messner told a group of fourth graders at Longacre Elementary in Farmington Hills last week.

The former Redford Catholic Central star visited the class after corresponding with student Garrett Ogilvie for a school assignment. He talked about his college football days, his life, his attitudes and the dangers of drug use.

"The good feelings you have when you succeed and win last longer and feel better than any drug," he said.

Messner, who has played for U-M in two Rose Bowl games and was a member of last season's winning team, said he hopes to play professionally for the Detroit Lions — the hometown team he calls "Numero Uno" — where he could be part of a comeback.

"YOU'RE GOING to ride them on the way to success," he explained. "If I go to the Lions and they start doing very well, I get to ride that emotion."

But Messner would be just as happy playing for three of his favorite teams — Los Angeles, Miami or Seattle.

Messner started his love affair with football as a sixth grader, and it just grew from there. The only football injury he ever sustained was a broken collarbone in high school. He had no special desire to play football for Michigan, but attended college in Ann Arbor so he could be close to home and family.

"Until I got to Michigan, I wasn't a diehard fan," he said. "But once you get to Michigan, your blood turns blue."

His choice was Michigan's gain, as he ended his career leading the Wolverines in tackles and taking with him good memories of his college career and Michigan athletic director and head coach, Bo Schembecher.

"I loved to play for Bo," he said. "If I could, bring Bo with me, I would. He makes you the best player and the best person you can be. That's why Michigan is so good. He demands perfection."

THROUGH HIS four-year career,

Messner said he tried "to talk with young people . . . and lead by example."

"Hard work and setting goals — that's what each and every one of you has to do," he told the students. "Set it very high. That's how you become the best. I set a goal to be an All-American."

Messner encourages youngsters to stay away from all drugs, including steroids, which are popular for muscle building with some athletes. He stressed, however, there "are still more good athletes than bad."

"Drugs in athletics is becoming a terrible problem," he said. "Every drug affects your brain. It kills brain cells. It doesn't heal. It never changes. If you try (drugs), you'll never be the best you can be."

"You'll never reach your goal," he added.

No-tap format gives bowlers alternative

I WENT OUT for no-tap bowling for the first time Saturday night. This has been a popular Saturday night pastime for league bowlers in recent years. The format is the same as regular bowling with one exception: Nine pins downed is scored as a strike.

Some of the bowling centers use a "moonlight, doubles" format. The only difference is bowlers play in very subdued light, or almost none at all. High games are plentiful, and 300 games are not all that unusual, but these are not sanctioned games.

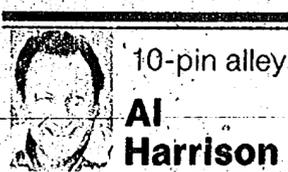

The prize list and entry fees vary from one house to another. Many bowling centers in the area offer this form of Saturday night diversion. The usual handicap is at 80 percent, and you must have a current or yearbook average to compete.

It sounds easy for good bowlers to get at least nine pins on the first roll, but just when you think you have nine, you are somehow looking at two pins still standing. Many of the no-tap bowling leagues are listed in the Bowlers Digest weekly publication available on the counter at your favorite bowling center.

Cliff Cavender was just "pacing" himself Tuesday in the Ford Part Depot League at Woodland Lanes in Livonia. He rolled a 298 game to fit in with a 753 series, but none of it counted in the scoring, nor was it even ABC sanctioned. Pacing means a bowler is filling in for an absent bowler whose absence score goes on the team total. It didn't count, but nice going, anyhow, Cliff.

At Country Lanes, last week's action in the Greenfield Mixed League featured Bill Pietrzyk and Lee Snow each with a 268 game. Phil Szonye shot a 258 with a 668 series; Tom Lehman, 254/611; and Mary Ann and Bob Berndt came in to sub and bowled 188 and 244 games, respectively. Team No. 17, comprised of Marilyn and Jim Taylor, along with Maxine and Billy Franklin, held on to first place.

Bel Aire Lanes on Orchard Lake Road hosts the Wednesday Night Spares & Strikes League, and Dawn Page led everyone with a 603 series, including 210 and 219 games. In the senior house league, Bob Parker topped the scoring with a 727 series including a 277 game, and Neil Beckman rolled a 713 series with a 279 game. Jay Burke rolled a 262 game in his 669 series. Ted Kress collected a 669 series, as did Bob Raf, while Frank Hurlig finished with a 681 series. Mel Parovovich rolled a 653 series. Daryl Rollins had a 287 game and John Robertson a 258.

Al Harrison

At Mayflower Lanes in Redford Township, the Wednesday "Night Owls" featured a 203 game and 562 series from Lynne Walker. The Westland Center Men's League included a 288 game and 649 series from Wayne Wleczorkowski and a 619 series out of Rocky Burns. The Tuesday Men's League was led by Karl Reel with a 705 series. Paul Kurek had a 255 game and Dan Schumaker rolled a 629 series, 146 pins over average. Cindi Kennedy of the Tuesday Coffee shot a 244 game, and the Monday Seniors League featured a 299 game from Al Thompson. His series was 717 as he had a 227 and 191 to go along with.

Oak Lanes in Westland is the site of the Thursday "Morning Glories" where Jeri Toner had the "Hat Trick" on a 643 series. This was the first 600 series for Jeri, and she will have many more as she just came back with a 252 game in the ladies singles bowling league. Barb Sewar also came through, rolling a 196 game.

At Westland Bowl, the Sunday Youth Classic Traveling League was the scene of these fine scores: Janice Curcio, 214; Scott Gordon, 240; Rick Tensley, 215/597; Jill Lhamon, 599; Geoff Cyrbok, 224, 597; Brian Moss, 235; Tony Baladad, 223; Kevin Bachleda, 247; Tanya Harris, 203/588; Billy Moore, 655; Walter Jackson, 626; Clint Berryman, 647; Bill Ladd, 614; Kevin Koslowski, 603; Dennis Berryman, 647; Julie Wright, 612; Jim O'Doherty, 614; Jill Fehrenbach, 201; Ryan Lovelace, 741; Kevin Campau, 623; Kelli Lizewski, 200; Bob Banks, 627; Dan Giraud, 604; Brian Forbes, 656; and Mike Mamrochski, 674.

Merrill Bowl Lanes in Livonia was the site of a 300 game by Roger Stanford in the men's senior house league. His series totaled 684. The Livonia Stevenson High School League had Davis Reid better his 141 average with a 254 game. In the Ladies Classics, Darlene Florenzi came up with a 249 and Joyce Boyd shot 242. Steve Lingertot had a 690 series on April 1 and followed with a 276 game and 733 series a week later April 8.

Jamie Sewruk, a 13-year-old, had a 620 series in the Parks and Recreation League at Woodland Lanes in Livonia. His games were 223, 226 and 171. Randy DesJardin, a 12-year-old student at Livonia's Garfield Elementary, rolled a 194 game. Bantam bowler Jackie Ziem had a 178 game. In Bators Bowling League action at Woodland Lanes: Gary Flummerfelt, 722; Mary Gadde, 671; Dale Hicks, 664; Jeff Wolber, 635; Randy Wolber, 634; Craig Demeo, 631; Gary Harla, 268; Ed Dobrick, 630; Harold Clark, 244; Dave Dieston, 608; Jerry Urban, 230; and Cliff Williamson, 236. In the Sundowners, Ron Wiseman rolled a 270 game and Brenda Radley a 235 with her first 600 series, a 625. The Ford Parts Depot was highlighted by Keith Kuhn, who set the tempo with a 763 series, and Ron Gilbert, who shot a 702 series.

In the "Midnighters," Walt Zielinski rolled a 716 set, including a 267 game, and Craig Demeo scored a 687 series. The Livonia Strikers featured Dave Siebert with a 726 series. In the Sunday West Chicago League, Dan Rose registered a 278 game. The Woodland Men's Trio had Brad Wolter with games of 288, 268 and 206 for a 762 total, Greg Witzgird a 666 set and Paul Gadomski a 692. In the Woodland Senior House, Ken Kubit had a 710 series, Jeff Adamczyk, 699; Larry Mislewy, 697; and George Bird, 697. In the "Easy Rollers" League, Larry Armstrong came through with a 267 game. The "Swinging Seniors" featured Ruth Borg-lin with a 226. The Bowling Belles had Millie Talbot go 87 over her average with a 224 game.

The Western-Wayne Youth Travelling Classic League has finished the '88-89 season with Team No. 9 winning the overall championship. Members of the team are Scott Truskowski, Chris June, Kristin Beeny and Brian Brandon. They beat out the first-half winners, Kevin Trumbull; Lisa Bishop, Julius Malsano and Nelson Kluska in the roll-offs. League high-game (boys) was by Nelson Kluska with a 279 game, and the boys high series went to Kevin Trumbull with a 689. Lisa Bishop led both categories with 235 and a 652 set.

The Wayne-Westland Men's Bowling Association and Red Holman Pontiac will present the 42nd Annual City Championship Tournament, April 22 to May 7. This event will take place at Westland Bowl on Wayne Road, and first prize is $1,000 guaranteed. Prize money is out there for single, doubles and all-events. There will also be a "Special Event" with a special "Touch of Class" prize for high-game handicap in the team event. For further information, call Bob Pniewski at 669-9366.

There's a job opening for an AMF mechanic, needed at Beech Lanes on Beech Daly in Redford. The applicant must be familiar with the AMF 8270 automatic pinspotters.

The Borgess quartet of Hooper, Florence Pugh, Kendrick and McGowan took the mile relay in 4:37.0.

The Spartans also took the 440 relay as Psi Hines, Kendrick, Pugh and Stokes were clocked in 55.8.

Other individual first place finishers for the Spartans included Alena McBee in the shot put (32-1) and discus (100-2); McGowan, long jump (14-5 1/2), and 880 run (2:33.0); Hines, 110 hurdles (18.2); Pugh, 330 hurdles (53.2); and Michelle Gayney, mile (5:52.0) and two mile (12:42.0).

LIVONIA STEVENSON and Plymouth Canton found the competition a little too stiff Thursday, as Ypsilanti rolled to an impressive win.

The Braves scored 89 1/2 points to 50 1/2 for Stevenson and 24 for the host Chiefs.

Jessann Martin stood out for Stevenson, winning the shot put (33-2 1/2) and discus (104-9). Lisa Christensen added a victory in the 100-meter hurdles (16.3).

WINNERS CIRCLE

BY LAURIE KIPP

Readers have asked about the number of Super Lotto winners using "Easy Pick" selections, in which the numbers are randomly selected by the Lottery computer, instead of choosing their own numbers. This column is in answer to these questions.

Q. How do I play an "Easy Pick"?
A. Instead of choosing six numbers for a play on your Super Lotto bet slip, just mark the "Easy Pick" box. This asks the Lottery computer to randomly select six numbers for you. Or you can just tell the sales clerk that you want one or more Super Lotto "Easy Picks."

Q. Can I combine the two types of play on a single ticket?
A. Each Super Lotto bet slip has five panels for playing the game. You can select your own numbers or use "Easy Pick" for as many as you wish. "Easy Pick" wagers will be followed by EP on the ticket.

Q. Is one method better than the other?
A. Any set of Super Lotto numbers, no matter how they are chosen, has exactly the same chance of winning as any other.

Q. How many Super Lotto winners come from "Easy Pick"?
A. In a drawing where the top prize is a minimum $1.5 million jackpot, "Easy Pick" wagers matching four, five or all six of the winning numbers range from 45 to 55% of total winners.

Q. What percent of Super Lotto jackpots have been won with "Easy Pick"?
A. Of the 138 jackpot winning selections since the start of Super Lotto in 1986 through the March 25, 1989 drawing, 71, or just over 51% were "Easy Pick" selections.

Q. Do most other jackpot winners use a particular system for picking numbers?
A. From my conversations with jackpot winners, it is apparent that lucky numbers are chosen in many ways. While some used rather unusual methods, many wagered family ages and birthdates, or numbers selected at random.

Q. How many possible six-number combinations are there in Super Lotto 6/47?
A. There are some seven million possible combinations.

Q. How many of these are wagered in an average Super Lotto drawing?
A. The percentage usually increases as play increases for larger jackpots. When the jackpot was around the $30 million level on two occasions in 1988, about 92% of possible number combinations were wagered.

"Choosing David's doctor was easy. I called Mount Carmel."

"I'd heard about Mount Carmel's excellent reputation in pediatrics. So I wanted the doctor I chose for David to be affiliated with the hospital. But I also wanted someone with an office near my home in Livonia. I called the Mount Carmel referral number and the woman who answered the phone put me in touch with several doctors who offered what I was looking for. The one I selected for David is wonderful. I couldn't have found him without the help I got from the referral service."

—Cheryl C. Livonia

Allen went the distance, striking out seven including the final two batters with the bases loaded.

Jenny Massey took the loss for Glenn, now 1-1. Emily Skura's two-run single in the third inning sparked a five-run Patriot uprising after Glenn had taken a 1-0 lead in the second on a homer by Tracy Witmer.

The Patriots' Linda Kulesza tripled in the fifth and later scored. Glenn gained a run back in the bottom of the inning on an RBI single by Tracy Martin, but it was too little, too late.

Health in the eyes of the beholder

Laurel Wolfe at Healthways in Plymouth takes great pains to adjust the angle of a client's head to look at her iris to find possible inflammations and weaknesses in her organs.

By Diane Gale
staff writer

The next time someone looks deep into your eyes don't assume he's making a pass.

It might be that, like Laurel Wolfe at Healthways in Plymouth, he's trying to learn more about your health.

Wolfe strategically sits you down, takes great pains to adjust the angle of your head and looks intently at your iris. The purpose, she said, is to find inflammations and weaknesses in your organs.

And like most iridologists, she insists she doesn't make diagnoses.

"But I can tell them there's a problem with an organ — go have it looked at," Wolfe said.

Some medical experts call the practice quackery.

DR. STEPHEN Barrett, referred by the American Medical Association as an iridology authority, is adamantly against the study.

"It's (iridology is) looney tunes," Barrett said. "It doesn't make the slightest sense."

A Sept. 28, 1979 Journal of Medical Association article illustrates three iridologists who were shown iris' of 143 patients — some with and some without kidney problems. The iridologists couldn't determine who was ill, the article said.

And a 1988 British Medical Journal article talked about five iridologists who failed a similar test. They were shown pictures of 39 iris' with gallstones and 39 patients without gallstones.

"They were correct half the time, which is what we'd expect by chance and even with that they didn't agree among themselves," Barrett said. "Not only were they basically wrong, but they couldn't agree among themselves."

WOLFE COUNTERS that iridology doesn't deal with illness, it deals with inherited weaknesses and potential health problems.

"Doctors don't believe in iridology, because it doesn't try to do what they do," Wolfe said. "They di-

Getting restless? Take a trip

A: Obviously the natives are getting restless.

If you want a weekend not too far from home and a chance to enjoy the bounty of spring flowers, I suggest you explore some of the state park lodges in states to our south. The closest one is the Potawatomi Inn at Pokagon State

MICKY JONES

Getting away in the spring to places like Vail, Colo., means finding trails surrounded by thousands of wildflowers.

Park just across the border in Angola, Ind. But that may not be far enough south for you.

Explore some of the other Indiana state park lodges by calling toll-free (800) 2-WANDER and asking for their booklet. The further south you go, the warmer it gets.

Not all state parks in Indiana,

Kentucky, Ohio, Illinois, offer lodges and cabins, but you'll find good accommodations at reasonable prices in those parks that do have them.

If you call toll-free (800) 255-PARK, you will get information on the dozen or more such parks in the Kentucky system. The closest is probably General Butler State Resort Park near the Ohio border in Carrollton and the farthest is probably Pine Mountain State Resort Park near the Tennessee border in Pineville.

I can highly recommend either of them. In each case, you will find a resort lodge with hotel rooms and dining rooms, as well as one- and two-bedroom cabins fully equipped with kitchens, telephones, television and good beds.

What's great about state parks is that you can enjoy the outdoors without spending any money. At this time of year, spring has sprung that far south so the wildflowers should be out and the hiking paths wonderful.

MOVING PICTURES

'Disorganized Crime': It's a crime it was produced

Despite last week's winter weather, spring films appeared on neighborhood screens everywhere.

New films include "Say Anything" (PG-13) with John Cusack and Ione Skye. It's a family romance as the heroine learns her father isn't as heroic as she thought. That's a tough lesson for a young girl getting involved in her first romance.

Even if you can overlook the vast array of improbable, nonsensical events, you'll still find that "Disorganized Crime" (F, R, 95 minutes) is just that — disorganized — and it's criminal that Touchstone Pictures spent millions to make such a poor film.

Frank Salazar (Corbin Bernsen) assembles a gang of master thieves — Carlos Barrios (Ruben Blades), Max Green (Fred Gwynne), Ray Forgy (Lou Diamond Phillips) and Nick Barikowski (William Russ) — to rob a bank in a small Montana town. For no reason — explained or otherwise — the bank vault supposedly contains $500,000 in cash. It turns out later to be well over $1 million.

That's "reasonable" for comedy, but pre-adolescent toilet jokes — ants in the pants and manure in the face — just aren't funny and neither is this cast. Presumably, "Disorganized Crime" is a farcical comedy, but no one seems to have told the director or the cast that broad farce needs to be played fast and furious.

The slow, laconic delivery and pacing here is more befitting the dry wit of Noel Coward. Or maybe they were just tired. Certainly, "Disorganized Crime" is tiresome.

Speaking of tiresome and impractical, "She's Out of Control" (F, PG, 90 minutes) is leaden and slow-paced, a farce that starts nowhere and goes downhill. When the basic premise is faulted, there's not much hope.

Daddy's little girl (Amy Dolenz) suddenly blossoms into an attractive young woman, so Daddy (Tony Danza) goes berserk — with his psychiatrist's help — trying to keep the boys away.

The whole project is silly and simple-minded with gags delivered so slowly they die aborning, and when they're repeated, it's even less funny. "She's Out of Control" was written by scenarists that had none.

Imagine a Greek tragedy with a Hollywood ending. Despite that unlikely combination, "Winter People" (B+, PG-13, 110 minutes) works well as an engrossing, sometimes violent, drama about passion, love, devotion, sacrifice, revenge and family feuds in Depression-era Tennessee hills.

That's a pretty big bill, but "Winter People" fills it nicely with densely packed images and rich, evocative performances.

Clockmaker Wayland Jackson (Kurt Russell) and his daughter, Paula (Amelia Burnette), head toward Philadelphia after Mrs. Jackson dies. While it's never clear why they took the route they did, that isn't as bothersome a detail as one might think.

What matters is that their truck gets stuck near Collie Wright's (Kelly McGillis) cabin. She lives a solitary existence with her baby son, Jonathan (Dashiell Coleman). Of course, there's a reason she's segregated from the town. Back-country Tennessee, in the mid-'30s, was neither the time nor the place for an unwed mother.

The darkly colored set decoration, the ponderance of night-time scenes and dimly lit, muted interiors immediately telegraph the story's tragic portent as does the music which, regrettably and periodically, gets heavy-handed in announcing evil riding in the night, usually Jonathan's father, Cole Campbell (Jeffrey Meek), and Collie's sometimes lover, sometimes abuser.

Well, he's a Campbell and she's a Wright. So there you have the basic tragic ingredients: Star-crossed lovers unable to fulfill themselves because of the family feud. It doesn't advance the cause of love that Cole Campbell is a brutal, drunken mountain man and Wayland is a gentleman in every sense of the term.

"Winter People" is well photographed, nicely directed and features excellent acting in an earthy and very basic story about hard times in a rough, natural environment. While I think the ending is effective, it is surprisingly out of kilter with the film's overall tone and atmosphere.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

Nick Zedd's "Cinema of Transgression" is coming to the Majestic Theatre in Detroit Thursday, April 20.

Majestic Theatre shows off 'Cinema of Transgression'

By Anne Sharp
special writer

New York is an ugly place right now. Greed, corruption and misery are the order of the day.

The city's young artists respond to the decadence surrounding them in strange disturbing ways. One displays containers filled with his own urine. Another bites heads off live mice.

And then there's Nick Zedd.

Zedd is a filmmaker, the founder and leading light of an underground movement he calls the "Cinema of Transgression."

Transgression comes to Detroit Thursday, April 20, when Film Threat magazine — that gritty, indispensable local organ of subversive cinema — presents an evening of works by Zedd at the Majestic Theatre.

The show, a multimedia event featuring video, slides and poetry readings as well as film, will be presented at 8 and 11 p.m. The redoubtable Zedd himself will be there to read, answer questions and presumably explain himself.

AND HE has a lot of explaining to do.

Zedd is a self-described anarchist, and his work is deliberately meant to provoke controversy, shatter taboos and appeal to his audience's most antisocial urges.

Describing his "Cinema of Transgression," Zedd said: "It's about breaking rules and violent eroticism. It's about turning our subconscious, most passionate desires into concrete reality and documenting it on film."

A NOTORIOUS example is his 1984 short, "Thrust in Me." It depicts a woman (played by Zedd himself) who commits suicide. Her lover (also played by Zedd) discovers the body and performs what Zedd terms a "transgressive act of necrophilia."

When the film was shown three years ago at the Ann Arbor Film Festival, angry women accused Zedd of promoting sexual violence. Zedd responded by circulating a flier explaining his philosophy of art. It concludes, "I hate women. But I also love them. And you, ladies, are no different than I."

Graphic stagings of mayhem and sexual behavior (much of it illegal) are typical of Zedd's films. Although he says he has no political allegiance, his work also expresses defiance toward the conservative establishment.

ZEDD CHARACTERIZES his "Bogus Man" (1980) as a film "about how all the presidents of the U.S. have been puppets of the military-industrial complex . . . It's about how all these public figures who we're supposed to admire are really clones of dead ideas which should be obliterated."

His "Police State" (1987) is based on actual, all-too-common incidents of police brutality in New York City. Rockets Redglare, a character actor featured in "Stranger Than Paradise" and "Talk Radio," plays a sadistic police officer and Zedd a hapless victim who's threatened with castration.

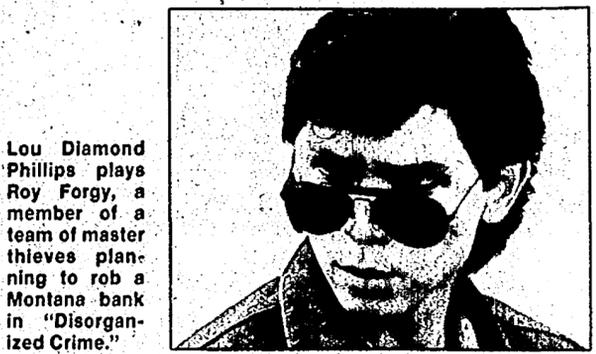

Zedd's rebellious art puts him on the horns of a nasty dilemma. His works reflect his need to show what society insists must not be shown. His films are made liberately to hurt, to frighten and arouse outrage.

BUT IT'S those qualities that make them especially vulnerable to censorship. Last May a shipment of his films, meant to be shown at a film festival in Montreal, was confiscated by Canadian officials at the border. According to Film Threat, "Police State" has been banned in Toronto, New York and Los Angeles.

In a review of Zedd's recent film, "Whoregasm," one critic said, "Zedd seems to have electrified the underground to a degree not seen since the early '60s and I admit, begrudging respect for his almost single-handed ability to shock people in this day and age."

"If this film doesn't land him jail, I don't know what will."

The Majestic Theatre is at 4140 Woodward Ave., Detroit. For more information about the Zedd show, call 833-9700.

Lou Diamond Phillips plays Roy Forgy, a member of a team of master thieves planning to rob a Montana bank in "Disorganized Crime."

VIDEO VIEWING

By Dan Greenberg
special writer

"Hollywood" hits the shelves of your favorite video store Wednesday, April 19.

No, that's not a geographical move, or a new movie, it's a 13-part series about the Hollywood movie industry from earliest times until sound technology radically changed the name of the game.

Narrated by James Mason, the series features recent interviews with old-time film production workers and silent stars as well as lots of excellent footage from the good old days. The 13 shows cover virtually every aspect of silent filmmaking.

Each video runs 52 minutes, so one can pick and choose, perhaps a curtain-raiser for your video movie of the evening. The first video is "The Pioneers," which describes establishment of the industry.

The second video, "In the Beginning," shows the transformation of a small, rural village into the film capital of the world. "Single Beds and Double Standards" recounts the sex and sin scandals that titillated the country in the late teens and early '20s and led to the establishment of the Hays Office and its Production Code Authority.

"Hollywood Goes to War," that's World War I; not II, features early, powerful war films, such as "The Big Parade," "Wings" and "All Quiet on the Western Front."

Fifth in the series is "Hazard of the Game," the story of silent film stuntmen and it's not hard to guess what number six is — "Swanson and Valentino" — is all about.

TWO VERY different, but equally great, Hollywood directors, Cecil B. DeMille and Erich von Stroheim are the subject of "The Autocrats" while "Comedy — A Serious Business" highlights the careers of four major film comics — Harold Lloyd, Buster Keaton, Harry Langdon and Charlie Chaplin.

Right behind silent comedy, rodeo westerns as a major attraction in the silent era, just as they are today. "Out West" stars Tom Mix and William S. Hart, among other early cowboy stars.

"The Man with the Megaphone" was the silent film director and is number 10 in this series, all 13 of which include very excellent and extensive footage from the time before talkies.

Cameramen, of course, are integral to creating images on celluloid and no director worth his view finder can work without a skilled person behind the lens. That's what "Trick of the Light" is all about.

No such collection about movies would be complete without a look at the big names and "Star Treatment" takes a special look at Clara Bow, Lillian Gish and John Gilbert.

Quite appropriately, the last show looks/as the advent of sound. The "End of an Era" commenced as Al Jolson prophetically called out, "You ain't heard nothin' yet." He was right, you ain't.

While those descriptions sound enticing — the silent era footage is terrific — "The Pioneers" which was available for screening was, on the whole, disappointing.

GIVEN THE opportunity, I would gladly watch the entire series. But considering that they were written by Kevin Brownlow, along with David Gill and an impressive list of technical advisors, well, it's rather scattered.

Guy Clark's Texas air and wit doesn't have a peg for country radio, so he carries on as a solo-artist of unreputed excellence.

Guy Clark: A man and his guitar

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

If Guy Clark had to buy lunch for all the guests who appeared on his latest album, his wallet would be in a serious state of hurt.

None other than Emmylou Harris, Rodney Crowell and Roseanne Cash offered their assistance on "Old Friends," Clark's critically-acclaimed release on Sugar Hill Records. Unfortunately, his suitcase isn't big enough for everyone to join him on his current tour.

Onstage, it's just Guy Clark and guitar.

"If you add another person, then you need a road manager," said Clark, who will perform Wednesday, April 19, at the Midtown Cafe in Birmingham. "It becomes a geometric progression. Then you have all that bull--- that comes with it."

"I used to do that stuff when I toured with a band. It's not for me."

The road, though, is for Clark. The stage is where he puts the finishing touches on his acoustically sparse songs, many of which have been covered by the likes of Willie Nelson, Waylon Jennings, George Strait, Tammy Wynette and the Everly Brothers.

His albums have been critically embraced but commercially ignored.

HIS TEXAS air and wit, not to mention his eclectic style, doesn't have a peg for country radio.

Clark accepts his muse and carries on as a solo-artist of unreputed excellence.

"It doesn't appeal to the lowest common denominator," he said. "I don't really make records in order to second guess that type of market."

It's nothing that bothers me, though."

That typifies an easy-going tumbleweed attitude that finds its way into many of Clark's songs. His numbers are known for their detail, their campfire quality.

Much of that can be attributed to his upbringing. Clark was born and raised in west Texas.

"Being born and raised there, you're always trying to get it out of your psyche," he said. "I don't know what it is. It's just the whole attitude—live and let live."

His songs certainly live, especially through the voices of other performers. Clark said he finds it flattering—not to mention financially rewarding—when someone covers one of his songs.

Of all the performers who have performed his songs, an unlikely one stands out—Slim Pickens. The country 'n' western singer did "Desperate Waiting for a Train."

"He spoke it on record, which I thought was stunning," Clark said.

SUCH TERMS have been used to describe "Old Friends," which Rolling Stone and People have raved about along several other music critics. The singer/songwriter's follow-up will be completed as soon as "I write 10 good songs."

And the club circuit will continue to serve as Clark's songwriting workshop.

"The playing is an extension of the writing, really," he said. "They're not finished until I play them for a couple of weeks on the road."

Guy Clark will perform on 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 19, at the Midtown Cafe, 139 S. Woodward, Birmingham. Tickets are $10. For information, call 642-1133.

Stages finds its stage in the studio

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Not to say Stages sounds a tad bitter, but castor oil with a twist of lime might be a sweet drink next to these three guys.

"Have we overstated how much we're disgruntled with the music scene in Detroit?" asked Kevin Shannahan, 18, who is drummer with the Livonia-based band.

Certainly, their gripes have been heard before. You know, clubs that only want them to play covers and no radio play.

So what is a band to do? Well, if you're Stages, you hole up in the studio and release some cassette tapes.

"The Vast Charade" was the band's alternative to playing clubs. The four-song cassette displays a group in the rough stages of development, but with some definite talent in the area of song writing.

Stages is busily working on the follow-up, which is a concept cassette titled "Last Day of the Sunrise." A release date is planned for the fall.

IN THE meantime, Stages is learning some diverse covers designed to open a few club dates for them. Stages has played only a handful of club gigs, but found the experience dreadful. Instead they cite open-air performances at the Ann Arbor Art Fair and Wayne State University as highlights.

The band has been together for two years, but sound like it's been 20.

"Around" here, there's two kind of bands," said Dan Jones, 19, who plays guitar in the band. "There are the manufactured ones that are only interested in making money and picking up women. Then are the ones who are interested in making music."

Stages obviously considered themselves in the latter category. The band formed two years ago in a Livonia Stevenson High School classroom when Andy Birko and Jones realized they shared a common interest.

Jones and Shannahan grew up together in the same neighborhood. Then Jones met Birko.

"It was kind of odd," said Birko, 18, of Livonia. "We were sitting in musical theory class and I mentioned some bands I liked. Here, I was sitting next to this long hair (Jones) and he said, 'Yeh, I like those bands also.'"

Some of the bands Birko mentioned included U2 and Peter Dinklage. Those influences can be heard as well as those of Rush.

In fact, with Jones' high-pitched voice, comparisons to Rush are undeniable.

"It's that three-man phenomenon," Jones said. "You never hear that with five-man bands."

WITH ONLY three members, supporting their musical habit is difficult. Jones and Shannahan both work two jobs. Jones is a cook at a Plymouth bar and is employed at a record store. Shannahan works for an engineer and at a hardware store. Birko is employed at a drug store.

Money earned goes towards the cassette tape in the works. Their first product cost approximately $2,000 to produce.

With little money and fan adulation, there's only one reason to make music.

"Self-satisfaction," Birko said. "That's all you can ask for at this stage."

REVIEWS

LORDS OF LOVE — Tanjent Image

The leather-clad lads from the eastside have come of age. In a relatively short time, Tanjent Image has suddenly emerged as one of the better up-and-coming bands in the area.

And this comes from a person who was not impressed with the band when he saw them open for In Tua Nua at Saint Andrew's Hall. Tanjent Image apparently has its act together in the studio.

The margin of improvement is tremendous from their debut release last year. For one, "Lords of Love" (Rage) is well-produced (Al Sutton and Brad Fairman) and well-recorded. Too many bands in the Detroit scene, perhaps due to budget constraints, are turning out inferior products. Not so here.

More than that, however, Tanjent Image appears to be a group that has matured as songwriters and performers. The band has toned down the thrashy, spiked guitar (dare we say U2) sound and has gone for more of a pop feel.

In fact, some of the brightest moments on the six-song cassette are when soft acoustic guitars are at the forefront, such as in the slow-moving "Marilyn Cries." Or, like in the spirited offering "Promises," when the acoustic sound provides texture to the jabbing electric guitar play.

Another element, the keyboards, has found its way into Tanjent Image's music. And while most keyboard ooze is the death of many a band, Tanjent Image uses it as a strength.

Some weaknesses, though, are evident. Vocalist Reed Richards does a fine job here, but sometimes he tries to go hard. His voice becomes overwrought trying to keep up with the fury.

All in all, a good effort from a band that is on the way up.

— Larry O'Connor

SECOND COMING — The Dickles

"We were hoping that punk rock would become the next middle-class art form, and we could ride that crest all the way to the bank. We want to be the Ray Conniff of punk at the time," said Dickles-vocalist and keyboard player Leonard Graves Phillips.

Yeah, sure. "The Second Coming" (Enigma) marks the return of the Dickles, an anomaly during the Los Angeles punk phase in the late 1970s. Hidden within the outrageous statements is an album that is so-so.

Sure, anyone can poke fun by covering songs like the Coswills' "Hair" and Gene Pitney's "Town Without Pity." But what's left?

Well, in the Dickles' case, it's some sophomoric material by a rather boring-punk band. Try these song titles on for size — "Cross-Eyed Tammy," "Going Homo" and "Monkey See, Monkey Do." Hey, guys, when do the swirls start?

Like the Dead Milkmen, The Dickles specialize in joke music. And compared to the sterilized music of the late '70s, these guys must have been a real hoot. But this is stuff is about as funny as a humor seminar conducted by Bob Hope, Orson Bean and Johnny Carson.

Musically, the Dickles show little spark. A few guitar lines by Stan Lee and Enoch Hain display some inspiration, but overall this six-man outfit really breaks no new ground.

If anything, it reveals a punk band that has been surpassed in the last 10 years by groups such as Black Flag and Circle Jerks. Even the covers of "Hair" and "Town Without Pity" don't offer a new twist on old classics.

"Second Coming" is an unfortunate case of a group past its prime and not realizing it.

TANTILLA House of Freaks

Seldom do four-man bands play with more power and fury than the talented duo of Bryan Harvey and Johnny Hott, better known as the House of Freaks.

Along with Lou Reed's "New York" and Elvis Costello's "Spike," this second album from the House of Freaks certainly can be added to the list. Blistering acoustic guitar lines and impassioned vocals highlight this disc.

House of Freaks is a product of what certainly is becoming one of the American hot beds for new bands, Richmond, Va. Their first album was well-received by critics.

Harvey and Hott prove the first time around was no fluke.

Unlike the first album, though, the House of Freaks sought a little assistance this time. Marty McCavitt provides some organ and piano here.

Sometimes it serves as the perfect foil for Harvey's highly-charged guitar playing and Hott's bare-bones beat, such as on the slow moving "Family Tree."

With keyboards or without, House of Freaks better moments come when Harvey busts loose with a torrent of riveting lyrics. He sings in spasms, but still can take a simple vocal line and wrapped into a tangled ball that still has a bow on top. "When the Hammer Came Down" opens this album and displays House of Freaks at a fever pitch. "Bare Bones" has a starkness about it that is haunting, yet quite alluring.

The sheer energy here is enough to impress. The lengths to which Harvey and Hott can take their two-man act is something to behold.

After awhile, a guitar, a drum and a voice would grow old. Not here. For instance in "Big Houses," Harvey supplies a guitar sound that makes it resemble a Civil War march.

Harvey and Hott combined for some rather well-written songs. When Harvey sings in "Big Houses" about the casket train rolling by, he's painting a vivid picture of history.

New TV won't foster compromise

Dear Barbara,

I'm a single parent with two children — a son, 9, and daughter, 7. We live in a small three-bedroom house with one television. My nine-year-old son wants a TV for his room. I'm not sure what to do. This would alleviate some hassles, but I don't want him to isolate himself from the rest of the family. I don't think this is healthy.

My kids watch about two hours of TV a day and more on weekends. My son usually controls what both kids watch because he's bigger and older. I don't want to promote more television watching.

I can't really afford a new television, but my son will pay for it himself. My son is not tuned in to school, and doesn't read for pleasure. I'm afraid he will be like his dad, who has an acquisitive nature and difficulty relating to others.

A Concerned Mother

Dear Concerned Mother,

You've answered your own question by saying you don't want your son to be like his father. But if you let him buy the TV, you are allowing him to be. Most relationships entail some compromise, and that is a hassle. If you let your son buy his way out of these hassles, he may never learn to compromise or learn the many other complicated demands that are inherent in relationships.

As the parent, you should set the pattern for the house, not the children. Is it that you don't have convictions or that you don't have the courage to act on your convictions?

Often in single-parent homes, children see that the single parent cannot be firm without a lack of support from a spouse. Children seize on this weakness. The vacuum it creates leaves a hole empty enough for even their small strength. In that way, children become the leaders, a frightening situation when their lack of experience and education is considered.

Barbara

Dear Barbara,

I am the mother of two children — a boy, 18, and a daughter, 15. I am already aware that my son is sexually active, but I don't think my daughter is.

Barbara Schiff

I realize standards for sexual activity are different today than they were in my day, and I would like to keep an open mind concerning their sexual activities. How do you recommend I approach the subject so they feel that I'm just keeping an open dialogue with them rather than giving them the third degree.

I want them to feel comfortable talking to me about their concerns and feelings. We're very open about most aspects of their lives and don't want this important area to be a secret.

Teenagers' parent

Dear Parent,

Your instinct to keep an open mind is a good one. That your teenagers trust you enough for them to be "open about most aspects" (of their lives) also says that this is a healthy family environment.

In order to extend the trust your children have in you, you must listen and learn as much as you can while saying as little as possible. This will transmit the message that you are available, but not controlling in this area (sex) as you have been in others.

If your teenagers choose for a while to be secretive, respect their right. An important part of growing toward maturity is being able to have greater strength throughout life.

Barbara

ASK THE Kentucky folks to send you a list of the events going on in their state parks — photo weekends, Boy Scout jamborees, bike tours, civil war re-enactments, storytelling, Scottish bagpipe festivals, etc.

If you would rather go west, the state park lodges of Illinois have all been refurbished for the 1989 season. Like many state park lodges, the original ones in Illinois were built by the Civilian Conservation Corps during the Depression of the 1930s.

I have not stayed in Illinois park lodges, but they sound interesting.

Call — at your own expense — the Illinois Department of Conservation at (217) 782-4080.

That answers the question from a reader in Canton.

The West Bloomfield reader who wants to "go west" has a lot of territory to cover! If you are on a northern route through the Black Hills, you should know that South Dakota is celebrating its 100th birthday in 1989, with bells on.

South Dakotans are being asked to go home for the celebration, just as Michigan folk came home for our sesquicentennial. An amateur sports festival called the South Dakota Centennial Games will be held June 14-18 in and around Sioux Falls. The Centennial Folk Festival will be held June 23-25 in Sioux Falls.

THE BIG attraction will be the Centennial Wagon Train May 10 through Sept. 4. You can ride a horse or a wagon, or just plug in along the route. Call toll-free (800) 843 1930 for information about any of the events or attractions in South Dakota.

Rather ride for an hour and then sit down for a beer? Another toll-free number will get you a brochure from the Colorado Dude and Guest Ranch Association at (800) 441 6060. Or call American Wilderness Experience Inc. toll-free at (800) 444-DEUDE for a listing of Old West dude ranch vacations.

agnose existing problems and diseases. What we're seeing more is the hand you were dealt at birth and potential problems you have.

Some diseases, like appendicitis, however, could likely be identified by an iridologist, Wolfe said.

"We (iridologists) can see if you inherited diabetes, and you can do something before you get it. And doctors wait until you get it."

WOLFE IS an independent distributor of Nature Sunshine herbs and will tell you what herb is good to strengthen specific organs.

"I can tell them where their inherited weaknesses are and the herbs can build it up," she said, sitting on a chair in the cramped health food store in downtown Plymouth.

"They're like super food," said Wolfe, stressing that she doesn't prescribe "medicine" because the herbs aren't drugs.

If your thyroid is acting up, for instance, kelp is good. Red raspberry and cohosh strengthen the uterus and prevent morning sickness; and garlic, similar in effect to penicillin, is good for infections, Wolfe said.

"Herbs are well known in other countries, we're the only backwards country," she added.

Barrett and Wolfe disagree again. No matter how much iridologists deny it, Barrett said; they identify health problems and suggest remedies. And that comprises a diagnosis.

"Doctors are great, but I think they miss the boat on a lot of metabolic diseases," said Wolfe, adding that doctors have seen her for readings.

FOR PATIENTS who have been to hundreds of doctors and can't get to the root of their ailment, Wolfe said, iridology could be the answer.

"I can usually find out what it is," said Wolfe, an iridologist for eight years.

Wolfe sees anywhere between three and 60 people between 4-7 p.m. every other Wednesday at Healthways. There's no charge for readings.

An elderly woman, recently in the health food store to visit Wolfe, said her life has taken a dramatic turn for the better since she started having iridology readings. She asked not to be identified.

About four years ago when Wolfe had a booth at the Gibraltar Trade Center a lot of people looked at iridology as a parlor game, like having your palm read.

She tells of a story about a mother and daughter who stopped to have readings just for fun. Wolfe said she told the daughter she had an ovarian cyst and the mother had a weak heart.

"They just left casually," she said. "Within two weeks the daughter's ovaries burst and the mother had a heart attack."

He finds humor in music

Grossman keeps '60s beat alive

By Bob Sadler
special writer

A man, a guitar and a decade. Hand Gerry Grossman his Ovation acoustic guitar and he looks '60s. Once he begins to play, he feels '60s and beckons his audience to do the same.

And he loves it. Just ask him. "The only difference between the audience's part of the show and my part is that I get paid for it," he said.

Grossman, 38, is a rock'n'roll comedian. His recipe for laughs is simple — a man, a guitar and the music of the decade he loves. He claims that he can play any A-side of any rock'n'roll 45 released before 1970, so he's never at a loss for material. The final ingredient is the audience, which is expected to get involved.

"The show starts off with me getting the audience comfortable with the idea of singing," Grossman said. "This is not like listening to a record or watching a video. With my show, the audience is part of the action."

"The humor does not come from the music itself. The way I look at it, other than a hot dog and beer at Wrigley Field (Grossman is a native of Chicago), there's nothing more enjoyable than listening to music and laughing."

With Grossman, just about anything can be analogous to the '60s rock'n'roll, even his improvisational style of humor.

"I've never liked comics who just go up there and recite their lines," Grossman said. "It's just like going to see a band to hear them play a certain record. On one hand, you want it to sound as good as it sounds on the record, but on the other hand, you want something more."

GROSSMAN grew up in Chicago during the '60s. He had a guitar and played in a band for awhile. In 1968, he decided to go solo. He took his trusty Ovation with him, and in the next 20 years, the rock'n'roll/comedy combo took him all over the country.

"I've played in every possible circumstance," Grossman said. "Arenas, bars, clubs, even tents. Anywhere."

He opened for the likes of Albert Brooks, John Denver, REO Speedwagon and Cheap Trick. He is close friends with John Prine, with whom he's done some recording.

"I've got tons of my own material, straight ahead rock'n'roll," he said. "The only recordings I care to mention are one album and four singles though."

Grossman refers to rock'n'roll and comedy as "the twin sons of different mothers." But when he gets up on stage, sometimes he has some walls to break down because of his appearance.

Gerry Grossman, with his Ovation acoustic guitar, looks like a product of the '60s. By chance, he is, and his style of rock'n'roll/comedy is a reflection of that era.

'This is not like listening to a record or watching a video. With my show, the audience is part of the action.'

"The bulk of middle America may look at me and think 'hippie burnout old rock'n'roller,'" he said. "To those people, I say, 'Listen for a few moments and then make a judgment.'"

"The way I look is not a calculated thing. It's just the way I look, and I've looked that way for 20 years." Once the barriers are broken down, Grossman and his audience can get down to just having fun.

"I can see humor in all kinds of things, but mostly things having to do with our culture — and rock'n'roll is a part of that culture."

"IT'S ABSOLUTELY wonderful knowing that after 20 years of playing 'Johnny B. Goode' you're still playing 'Johnny B. Goode.' What it comes down to is this: If it's good, it stays good."

For that reason, Grossman doesn't look at the upsurge in '60s nostalgia, fueled in part by the whole "Big Chill" generation, as a prime component in the continued popularity of that decade's music.

"I don't look at it as nostalgia," Grossman said, "As long as people want to hear it, I'll play it."

MICKY JONES

One place you don't want to miss when in Nashville is the Grand Ole Opry. It's synonymous with country and western music.

Nashville: The best there is in 'country'

By Carolyn DeMarco
staff writer

The third best thing about Nashville is the air fare, $19 one way from Detroit Metropolitan to Nashville International aboard Southwest Airlines in a promotion that continues until May.

Expect that for $19, however, that you'll get no assigned seating, elbow-to-elbow discomfort and flexible scheduling — you'll leave when they're good and ready. Grin and bear it and remember how much you're saving.

Second best? The friendly people. Apparently, listening to all those sad songs about lost love, illicit love, unrequited love and undeserved love cheers them up. "How're y'all doing?" is a staple, delivered with a sincere smile.

Once they catch your non-native accent, you'll have to explain where y'all are from and that you've never met their Aunt Mabel from Belleville.

Naturally, the best thing about Music City is the music — COUNTRY MUSIC in capital letters.

If you don't like the George Jones-Lefty Frizzell-Hank Snow-Grandpa Jones-Dottie West-Skeeter Davis school of music, stay away. Nashville is not for the borderline country fan, the ones who only listen to Willie Nelson and Kenny Rogers. Nashville is for fanatics.

Wealthier fanatics stay at Opryland Hotel, adjacent to Opryland U.S.A., "the world's only musical showpark" (open March 25 through October). Hotel visitors pay $139 a night plus a whopping 12 percent room tax during the off season.

THE BUDGET-MINDED who have made Opryland park a destination stay across the Music Valley Parkway in sight of Opryland Hotel at Ramada, Shoney's or Fiddler's Inn for considerably less.

Wherever you stay, you'll want to tour the vast Opryland Hotel just to ogle at the sheer size of it — nearly 1,900 rooms. It is not to be believed unless seen. Picture two acres of tropical plants underneath skylights with dancing fountains and restaurants interspersed. Restaurants with names like Sarah's Kitchen, Rhett's and the Jack Daniels Saloon.

Breakfast menus here and in other local restaurants are not for cholesterol-watchers — eggs, biscuits and red-eye gravy, ham and sausage, catfish, fried potatoes and grits.

Getting around Nashville is easy, thanks to a circular freeway system. A tour of downtown Nashville is incomplete without a pass through Music Row. You'll know you've found it when you see the parked tour buses.

Individual museums and gift shops have sprouted specifically for the dedicated fans of Loretta Lynn, George Jones, Conway Twitty, Willie Nelson, Minnie Pearl, Alabama and Elvis Presley. Never mind that Presley lived not in Nashville, but Memphis. It's all one state for the fans of the man from Tennessee.

Western boot stores, wax museums, record stores and clothing with fringes are also on the strip, which has a tacky ambience reminiscent of Niagara Falls. Nearby is the center of the commercial country music publishing industry, street after street of recording studios and related offices.

The vast Opryland Hotel features 1,900 rooms and two acres of tropical plants underneath skylights with dancing fountains and restaurants interspersed.

Not enough reason to go to Nashville? Here are more:

- THE GRAND OLE Opry, the nation's oldest continuous radio show, with 64 years behind it, broadcasts several times during the weekend from a theater on the grounds of Opryland. A half-hour segment is filmed and broadcast on the Nashville Network. Send ahead for tickets and you can be there for the performance, which features musicians such as Hank Snow and Roy Acuff, who have been around since the 1940s.

- Opryland features a number of live shows on the amusement park grounds, and 21 rides. All-day tickets are less than $20 for adults. On the grounds and available for an additional charge is a cruise on the General Jackson paddlewheel showboat.

- The Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum is on Music Row. It features highlights from the Grand Ole Opry and memorabilia from noted country stars. A tour of the RCA recording studio is included in the $6 admission price.

- Nashville Palace is located across from Opryland Hotel and features shows by up-and-coming artists for a reasonable cover charge.

- Ernest Tubb Records has three locations in Nashville. You won't find any Guns 'n' Roses here. You will find all the new releases by country artists and a lot of the out-of-print stuff. At the location on Music Valley, across from the Opryland Hotel, the Midnight Jamboree is held every Saturday with free performances by old standby Opry stars and new talent as well.

If you're only in to the oldies, stop by the Great Escape, a used record store on Broadway. It also features collectible comic books and baseball cards.

- JACK DANIELS Distillery is 70 miles south of Nashville, but it's worth the trip, even if it is in a dry county and you'll never get a sip. A good ol' boy will lead you on an interesting free tour through the nation's oldest registered distillery seven days a week. Our good ol' boy was Randall, great at answering questions:

"How many people work here, Randall?"

"I'd say about half."

There's a souvenir shop of Jack Daniels memorabilia in nearby Lynchburg, but not much else.

There's lots more to Nashville and not all music related — the home of Andrew Jackson, Vanderbilt University, riverboat tours and a tour of Belle Meade Mansion, a former plantation and later a thoroughbred nursery. Or if you haven't had enough country music, several tour companies offer tours of the homes of country stars.

For complete information about Nashville for tourists, contact the Nashville Area Chamber of Commerce, Convention and Visitors Division, 161 Fourth Avenue North, Nashville, Tennessee 37219. Telephone (615) 259-3900.

You'll have a good time.

Rediscovering the out-of-doors this spring

By Debbie Sklar
special writer

According to the calendar, spring has arrived. But don't let Old Man Winter fool you. The Detroit area has been known to have snow as late as May.

If you're a hot weather, outdoor enthusiast who complains about the bad weather, read on. There's more than enough things to do — outside — even if the weather is a bit nippy.

Take a day and visit the Alpena Sportsmen's Island Wildlife Sanctuary. Here you'll find wild fowl feeding areas and roadside parks. There are also quiet nature areas with groomed trails, fishing and viewing platforms. For details, call (517) 356-9021.

For the adventuresome, try the Thunder Bay Underwater Preserve, also in Alpena. Located underwater in Lake Huron's Thunder Bay, you'll find a bottomland preserve, established in 1981, that encompasses 288 square miles.

With approximately 80 shipwrecks, the preserve has one of the highest densities of wrecks, ranging from a 130-foot schooner to a 485-foot steel steamer. For more information, call (517) 354-4181 or 1-800-582-1906.

If you like gardens, wander over to the Matthaei Botanical Gardens in Ann Arbor. There's a conservatory that houses tropical, temperate and desert flora. The grounds include rose, perennial, medicinal, rock and herbal gardens, plus prairie and woodland areas. Call 763-7060 for more information.

OUTDOOR LOVERS also should visit McCalmny Place in Battle Creek. There's a downtown festival marketplace with more than 35 retail shops and express eateries to stroll through. Call (616) 965-7380 for more details.

At Love Creek County Park and Nature Center in Berrien Springs, nature enthusiasts will feel right at home. There are groomed trails, hiking and natural programs. Call (616) 471-2617.

In Bloomfield Hills, you can walk through the grounds of Cranbrook, enough to make anyone's winter blahs fade away fast. Call 645-3212.

Then there's Chelsea and the Chelsea Milling Company tour, which offers a tour of the home of Jiffy baking mixes. A slide show (with refreshments) explains the production process and is followed by a walking tour of the plant and warehouse areas. Call 475-1361 for details.

If you haven't been on Detroit's People Mover, consider taking a ride. You'll enjoy a breathtaking view of the city as you move quickly, quietly and safely on one of the most technologically advanced transport systems in the world.

You may want to get off at the Greektown station, where you can walk around, splurge on some flaming cheese or buy your mate a fresh red rose from one of the street vendors. Call 962-RAIL for more information.

Whether you're looking for fresh fruits, flowers or vegetables, the Eastern Farmer's Market is the place to find it. In operation since 1892, this is the largest market of its kind in the United States.

Inside, visitors can bargain with vendors for the freshest vegetables, fruits, meat, cheeses and flowers. Call 833-1560 for more information.

OR CLIMB aboard the trolley in downtown Detroit for a ride. You can get a unique open-air tour of the city, from the Renaissance Center to Grand Circus Park, on one of the antique red and brass trolley cars. Stops include Hart Plaza, Mariner's Church and Cobo Hall. Call 633-7692 for details.

Feeling like a Spartan? How about a tour of Michigan State University? Tour the nation's first land-grant college. It has a 5,100-acre campus and tours include the gardens, museum, planetarium, stadium, carillon tower, art center, farms and classroom facilities. Call (517) 355-4458 for information.

The Fitzgerald Park ledges in Grand Ledge are wonderful to visit and excellent for beautiful outdoor photography.

Fitzgerald Park is best known for the view of the ledges along the Grand River. The ledges are sedimentary rock outcroppings and a popular recreational and educational area, due to their unique geological formation.

The park has a nature center, fish ladder, three miles of nature trails, three picnic pavilions and various play and picnic areas to accommodate large groups. Call (517) 627-7351 for details.

Take a trip up to Hartwick Pines State Park in Grayling for a fun afternoon. This 49-acre preserve of towering virgin white pines stands as a living reminder of Michigan's once-fabulous northern forests. An interpretive center focuses on lumbering history. Additional attractions include a log memorial building, the Lumberman's Museum and the Chapel in the Pines. Call (517) 349-7048 for more information.

How about a visit to view the exterior architecture of the State Capitol Building in Lansing? This is one of the first state capitols to emulate the dome and wing of the U.S. Capitol in Washington.

THE MICHIGAN State Capitol, completed in 1878, is considered an architectural gem and an outstanding example of Victorian craftsmanship. Call (517) 395-1493 for information.

Animal lovers should put the Detroit Zoological Park in Royal Oak on their agenda. It's the first zoo in the United States to use barrier dwellings to exhibit more than 300 species of animals.

Some of its 1,200 specimens include polar bears, tigers and penguins, which the zoo is noted for, and countless birds, reptiles and mammals found in natural habitat settings and in the park's lakes and flower gardens. Call 398-0903 for details.

If golf is more your speed, the state has enough courses, driving ranges and resorts to keep you busy for a long time. For locations and more information, call the Michigan Travel Bureau toll-free at 1-800-5452-YES.

Windows come squeegee-clean

Q: Despite last week's snow, I'm planning for warmer weather. What's the best way to clean windows?

A: The arrival of warm air this spring can only be the next best thing to winning the NCAA Championship. But does the prospect of mass window-washing dampen your spirits? If so, let's consider some techniques first.

This is no excuse for procrastination, but if you wash windows only once a year, Fall is the best time to do them. Summer dust swirling through open windows gets them grimy quickly, so they stay clean far longer when closed up tight. If they weren't done last fall, however, they still must be washed now — then again in the fall to change your schedule. Twice a year is far better anyway. (Relax! It's going to be much easier this time!)

EQUIPMENT: Invest in a commercial quality squeegee from a janitorial supply company. Good squeegees are made with hollow handles for inserting extensions and channels with replaceable rubber blades. The rubber blade should extend 1/4-inch beyond each channel end to protect from scratching surfaces. Channels of different lengths can be interchanged on a single handle. Also, a spray bottle, mild cleaning solution, towel, and sponge dampened with cleaning solution.

PROCEDURE: Protect window sill from drippings with a towel. Spray one entire window and wait a bit for the solution to saturate and suspend soil. Wipe squeegee blade with damp sponge (to moisten and clean blade). Holding squeegee blade at an angle vertically, wipe a one-inch path across the very top of the window. Wipe blade with sponge. Place full blade horizontally across top right (or left) corner of window, bringing squeegee firmly down all the way to the bottom. Wipe blade. Place squeegee at the top of window next to and slightly overlapping cleaned area, pull to bottom, wipe blade; clean next area, etc., working your way across to the opposite side and wiping blade after each stroke.

Don't worry about the tiny wet edges. They will dry and look fine. If spots remain, do not use sponge or towel. They will leave a blur. Erase the spot with your solution-cleaned finger. If too many spots remain, reclean the whole window. When finished, wipe up drippings with towel and move to next window. This method is particularly valuable with large windows. The smaller the pane, the greater the pain.

NEXT WEEK: The differences in cleaning solutions.

'Gray water' to the rescue?

LAST YEAR'S drought had a devastating effect on many parts of the country, and there are bound to be more dry spells in the years to come. But there are ways gardeners can overcome the effects of insufficient rainfall and restrictions on water use.

In a 1987-88 survey by the National Gardening Association, America's gardeners cited "not enough water" as one of the major gardening problems. The association, a non-profit organization supported by its 200,000 members, offers some advice on dealing with drought.

Conserve water. Don't waste household water that can be used for landscape gardening — don't let it just go "down the drain."

Find out if "gray water" is legal in your area. Gray water is water from showers, bathtubs, bathroom sinks and laundries that can be recycled for use in gardens and yards. Check with your local building code or appropriate sanitation and water resource departments for specific regulations on the use of gray water.

GRAY WATER CAN be used on ornamental plants and landscape. Most plants will tolerate gray water, and some might even thrive on it, since the phosphate in detergent acts as a fertilizer. However, for reasons of health and safety, don't use gray water on edible plants.

Bathroom tubs and sinks provide the best quality gray water and the easiest to recycle. Water from the laundry room is next-best. Don't use drain water from the kitchen sink. The oil, fat and grease it contains make it difficult to filter, and it can clog distribution pipes, breed disease and attract pests.

Don't overwater. A rich, loamy soil can absorb up to 1 quart of gray water per square foot a week. Sandy soils can handle more, clay soils much less.

Don't let gray water stand in puddles. It can attract mosquitoes and flies, and possibly rodents, bacteria and viruses.

The safest way to use gray water in the landscape is to distribute it through buried perforated pipe.

If you are planning a new lawn or garden, you might consider install## weeder's guide

ing an efficient watering method, such as an underground sprinkling system or drip-watering pipes. These save labor as well as water.

FOR AREAS WITH water shortages and arid soils, the Gardening Association suggests terracing or drip irrigation.

Terracing involves creating a flat surface with a lip that follows the natural contours of the land. It provides a gardening surface that allows water to be directed to the crops in basin beds, which are more practical than raised beds in places where soil is friable and water scarce. Mulching holds water in the soil and reduces evaporation.

Drip (or trickle) irrigation uses less water and usually gets greater yield. Instead of dumping a load of water on plants at one time, drip replaces only the amount of water plants use each day. All water goes to the roots, where little is wasted.

What if too much water is a problem? Plants suffering from excess water at the roots due to poor drainage or overwatering may wilt, suffer from chlorosis (yellowing) of foliage, lose vigor or die. (If rainfall is inadequate, a good rule is to water gardens once a week so that the soil is moistened to a depth of 6 inches.)

Recommended for gardens with too much water is raised bed gardening. Creating raised beds works well if the soil is poor, rocky or compacted, if the spring season is cold and wet (as it was in the Northeast last year) or if the garden is too mucky to enter after a rain. Install drains to help alleviate soggy soil problems.

Earl Aronson is the Associated Press garden writer. For a copy of his Guide to House Plants, send $1.50 to House Plants, AP News-features, 50 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, NY 10020. Gardening questions must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Three weekly classes in home decorating will be offered in Jacobson's Livonia Store for the Home, Six Mile and Newburgh roads. All will be held 7-8:30 p.m. on Thursdays.

In the first class, Thursday, May 4, Paul Lovett from Davis and Davis Designs will discuss custom area rugs. Audrey LaCoff of Norman LaCoff and Associates will discuss window treatment and wallpaper.

In the second class, May 11, Bob Lynch of Henredon Furniture will discuss quality and craftsmanship in furniture. Also that evening, Joel Feldmesser of Emerson Leather will cover selection and quality of leather home furnishings.

In the final session, Livonia artist Susan Pickering Rothamel will focus on the care and decision-making process regarding investments in prints, lithographs or originals.

There is no charge for the sessions.

Home-buyers seminar set

A free public seminar for home buyers is the way the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors will observe American Home Week, April 30-May 6.

"Our purpose in holding this seminar is to make potential homebuyers more knowledgeable about what could be the most important purchase of their lives," said board president Eric Hunt. "We are also stressing the fact that there will be no solicitation of any kind — this seminar is strictly for the benefit of the home buyer, especially those people who are considering the purchase of their first home."

The seminar, scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 2, in the Holiday Inn-Livonia West, 17123

N. Laurel Park Drive, at Six Mile and I-275, will feature speakers from various segments of the home-buying process: an appraiser, an attorney, a certified public accountant, a lender and a real estate agent.

Questions such as "How much can I afford?" "What financing options are available?" and "What steps will I need to go through when I decide to buy a home?" will be covered, plus others that will come up during the question-and-answer period that will follow the speakers.

Due to the limited space, reservations should be made by calling 478-1700.

condo queries
Robert M. Melsner

Q: Our board has done it again. They are not even legally constituted because of our screwed-up documents and they fired the attorney and accountant who have helped them through the most difficult times because they thought it could be done cheaper some place else. I am concerned about the marketability of my unit, this board's stupidity and the authority of the board. I am also aghast at the disloyalty that the board would show toward these professionals who have served them in good stead. Your Comments?

A: Unfortunately, this is a common phenomenon in community association operation. Community associations are not known for their loyalty and/or appreciation of employees and/or professionals of the association even when they have performed an excellent job. This, of course, undermines the ability of the association to maintain continuity and to keep good people on staff.

Contractors and professionals are becoming increasingly aware of the difficulties and frustrations of dealing with community association boards and of their lack of loyalty. On many occasions, the experts, professionals, and/or employees which they have retained, and who have served them in good stead, will lose their position merely because somebody else can be found who will do it, perhaps, cheaper.

Write your board and threaten them with a claim of mismanagement if you think that their actions are both irresponsible and ill-advised, resulting in undermining the ability of the association to properly be managed. Perhaps you will get their attention and save your association in the long run, thousands of dollars in expenses and, perhaps, legal costs.

"I finally found a townhome as large as a home."

"I looked long and hard to find a 2000 sq. ft., cathedral ceiling elegant three-bedroom townhome. (Of course, I could have chosen a two or three-bedroom ranch.) With my own two-car attached garage, my own private basement and patio. And - luxury touches like deluxe kitchens and whirlpool tubs plus landscaping that I love. Nothing could get me to move from Covington. Nothing."
