Private schools to use Ford center

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

Students from two parochial schools will be using the Ford Vocational/Technical Center this fall.

The Wayne-Westland school board Monday approved pilot agreements to accept tuition students from Lutheran High School in Westland and Cabrini High School in Allen Park at the center on Marquette, east of Newburgh. The board also renewed similar contracts with the Allen Park and Northville public school districts.

The new agreements mark the first time the center will be used by private school students.

Edwin Ferguson, vocational/technical center principal, said Friday he expects a total of 12-15 students from the two private schools will be enrolled at the center for the fall semester.

"I think what's important is we're showing that we're a member of the community at large," Ferguson said. "The center can benefit from those outside the Wayne-Westland Community School District as well as inside, and that includes private schools."

"BESIDES, a number of students who attend Lutheran High actually live in the district," he said.

The center also attracts students from the Crestwood and North Allen Park-Melvindale school districts. The majority of its estimated 1,800 students this fall will come from the Wayne-Westland district.

Some 166 students from outside districts were enrolled at the center in 1988-89, according to fourth Friday attendance figures turned in to the state.

Tom Svitkovich, associate superintendent for communications and finance, told the board Monday that declining enrollment at the high school level opens up more spaces at the center for other students.

"I don't see where you're going to have a problem with our students getting bumped to make room for outsiders," he said. The contracts with other schools also stipulate that the intent isn't to displace Wayne-Westland students to make room for students from outside the district.

THE JOHN GLENN high school football stadium will move up a notch this fall, matching the first-class performance of the team that plays in it.

The Wayne-Westland school board last week approved construction of a new press box at Irma Kionka Stadium.

The press box will be built with $53,610 in bond issue money. (A $12.9 million bond issue for building repairs and equipment purchases was approved by district voters in January, 1988.) Completion of the project is expected by Sept. 1 and in case of delays, the current press box won't be demolished until the new one is finished.

The new press box will feature an improved public address system, school officials said Monday.

The current PA setup, with two small speakers on top of the press box, often isn't heard by fans on the far side of the field.

HALFTIME SHOWS at Glenn, Wayne Memorial and the four junior high schools are going to be new and improved as well. The board also approved the purchase of $37,952 in band instruments to be divided among the six schools.

New instruments will include a baritone saxophone, a tenor saxophone, a violin, viola and several percussion instruments and accessories. The schools are also getting 180 music chairs and 80 orchestra music stands.

THE LIONS are racing ducks.

Got that? Well, let us explain. The Westland Host Lions Club will join the Garden City Lions in a fund raising "duck race" to benefit the children's services department at William Beaumont Hospital.

The event is scheduled for 1 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 6 at Ellizabeth Park in Trenton. Pre-race festivities for children begin at 11 a.m.

For more information call Bill Acton of the Westland Host Lions, 326-2607.

Wedding to feature swimwear

By Leonard Poger
editor

Karen Starr and Kerry Byrd will get into the swim of things — figuratively — when they plan to marry Saturday morning on the banks of the Rifle River near Standish with a "color guard" of canoes.

They will wear specially designed wedding/bathing suit outfits for the ceremony.

The groom's outfit will consist of white talls and a top hat along with his white bathing suit.

His bride-to-be will walk down the banks of the Rifle River dressed in a white bathing suit, bustle and carrying flowers.

Their wedding party will also be dressed in swim wear, flanked by three decorated canoes and 18 other canoes on the banks of the river.

The swim wear is meant to symbolize Byrd's activities in the Canoe Club, of which he has been the only president in its 12-year history.

They talked about the upcoming wedding in their Calumet Court home in the Norwayne neighborhood of Westland.

"IT WAS Kerry's idea to get married with a canoe theme," said Karen, 37, "I went along with it," adding the type of wedding ceremony didn't matter to her.

Byrd, 38, said his club has a canoeing trip the first weekend of August every year and he wanted to combine the event and the wedding into one.

Ready to paddle down the aisle are Karen Starr and Kerry Byrd who show off their swimsuit/wedding outfits. They will be married Saturday morning on the banks of the Rifle River.

It is the second marriage for both.

Byrd, a 1 1/2 year employee at the Chevrolet-Pontiac-Cadillac engine plant in Romulus, has two children from his first marriage.

Starr, personnel coordinator for Temporary Resources, has five children from her previous marriage.

The cost of the bride's outfit is $240 while the groom's is $100.

Lions make life easier for asthmatic 6-month-old

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

A 6-month-old girl — and her mother — are breathing easier thanks to the Westland Host Lions Club.

Megan Schilling, who has suffered from acute asthma, bronchitis and other respiratory problems since shortly after her birth last winter, was the recipient of a 12,000-BTU air conditioner donated by the Lions recently.

The air conditioner removes humidity and dust from Megan's room, making each breath the infant takes less of a chore.

"The difference is unbelievable," said Robin Schilling, Megan's mother. "I don't think we're going to be going back to the hospital quite so much."

MEGAN HAS been in and out of Westland Medical Center since she was 5 weeks old. An air-conditioned environment is so vital that when the power to the Schilling's Norwayne home in the Palmer-Merriman area was temporarily knocked out in an electrical storm Wednesday, it was back to the hospital for the night. Schilling, 33, is divorced and unemployed. Caring for Megan and her two other children takes up most of her time, she said.

And she's familiar with the infant's dilemma.

Her son Erik, 9, also has asthma, although not as severe as Megan. "They (doctors) keep telling me he'll grow out of it, but so far he hasn't," she said.

Her 12-year-old daughter is normal, Schilling said.

Shop owner continues fight for legislation

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

Joe Gagnon, self-dubbed "The Appliance Doctor," slept poorly last week in anticipation of state hearings to regulate the appliance repair industry, which Gagnon maintains is "bilking" consumers of some $50 million annually.

The hearings, held Tuesday in Lansing by the House Consumer Committee, are the latest and most significant round in a fight started four years ago by Gagnon, owner of Carmack Maytag Appliance Center on Ford near Venoy.

Gagnon, a Westland resident who appears on a cable television show to discuss appliance services, said the hearings were successful, "in that the committee had a chance to listen to the pros and cons of the issue."

Under consideration are House Bills 4947 and 4948, introduced by state Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, requiring the licensing of all service dealers and repairmen, and establishing registration fees.

HB 4947 lists seven conditions under which the state Department of Licensing and Regulation might impose penalties on dealers or servicemen, including making false or misleading statements, performing incompetent or negligent work and "willfully departing from or disregarding accepted trade standards."

Gagnon is confident both proposals will be enacted into law.

RALPH PARRY, owner of Sands Appliance in Farmington Hills, is equally certain there "isn't a chance" of enactment because such legislation "is not needed."

"Michigan has one of the toughest consumer protection laws in the country," he said.

Joe Gagnon wants regulation

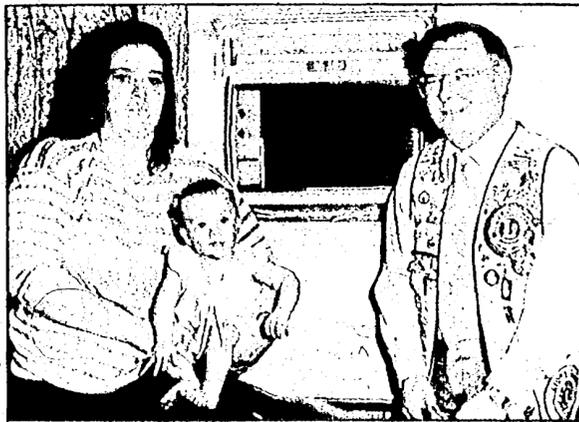

"Small claims court works very well. There is the Better Business Bureau and the Attorney General's office" as ways consumers can get help.

And, he added, "87 percent of all consumers are satisfied with the service they receive," quoting a recent survey conducted by Wayne State University and the Detroit News.

"The only fraud (in the repair industry) I've ever read about was engineered by one man and he's the only reason this legislation has been suggested in the first place," Parry said of Gagnon's campaign.

State Rep. Nick Ciaramitaro, D-Detroit, who chairs the House Committee on Consumers, said "our purpose is to figure out answers, see if there is a need and what is the most effective approach."

Couple honored for 33 years of volunteer work

Greger and Margaret Gregeron of Westland aren't doctors. But with the uncounted hours they have donated to volunteer hospitals for 33 years, they should have been doctors.

The Gregerons, Westland residents for 20 years, were recently honored by Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard, who named them as the Outstanding Seniors of the Year for Westland.

Beard's 12th district includes Westland,

Garden City and Inkster.

The program was implemented by Beard in 1987, after she noted that there are many active volunteers in the area who deserve special recognition for their dedicated service to their communities.

Gregeron, 81, and his wife, 71, have been volunteers at veterans hospitals and other medical facilities for 33 years. Combined, the couple has contributed more than 18,000 hours of volunteer work at the Ann Arbor Veteran's Administration Hospital.

Greger served as the director of the VA's volunteer service program for several years before retiring recently. He has received many citations from the VA and other veterans groups for his volunteer efforts.

Margaret spends most of her time working in the psychiatric ward of the Ann Arbor VA hospital, bringing cheer to patients.

Doctors in the department have commented on how much the patients of the ward look forward to seeing Margaret come in to stay with them, and how they hate to see her leave.

Like her husband, Margaret has also received various citations for her dedicated volunteer work.

The Gregerons received a wooden plaque for their latest honor.

Woman charged in fatal accident

A Westland woman has been charged with manslaughter in connection with a July 23 head-on collision that resulted in the death of 26-year-old woman, also from Westland.

Police issued a warrant Friday against Michelle Gabbard, 22. No arraignment date has been set, said officer Thomas Hissong of the Westland police traffic bureau.

If convicted on the manslaughter charge, Gabbard faces a maximum 15-year prison sentence.

Killed in the two-car accident on Wayne Road near Glen was Annette Perry.

Police said a 1978 Ford Granada driven southbound on Wayne Road by Perry was struck head on by Gabbard's 1978 Ford pickup truck at 3:02 a.m. The pickup truck had crossed the center line, police said.

Police believe the driver of the truck had been drinking. Results from blood alcohol tests hadn't been returned by state police as of Friday, Hissong said.

Gabbard's driver's license was suspended at the time of the accident, Hissong said.

Neither driver was wearing a seat belt at the time of the crash, police said.

A HOMEOWNER on the 36600 block of Joy told police burglars broke into her house for the second time in less than a week Tuesday.

In the latest incident, the thieves made off with a videocassette recorder, stereo amplifier, cassette deck and cable television box. The stolen merchandise had a total value of $600, the woman said.

The woman said the most recent break-in occurred between 7 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. while nobody was home.

The culprits forced open a front door than was still being repaired after the first break-in, police said.

A RESIDENT of the Hawthorne Club Apartments, Merriman and Ann Arbor Trail, reported that someone stole her 1985 Chevrolet Monte Carlo from the complex parking lot late Monday or early Tuesday.

The locked car, valued at $7,000 by its owner, was stolen between 10 p.m. and 8:30 a.m.

It was recovered by Detroit police at 10:31 p.m. Tuesday on the 14800 block of Littlefield.

Police said the car's ignition and dash were heavily damaged.

THREE MEN stole two 12-packs of beer from the Dairy Mart store, 35035 Cherry Hill, Tuesday night. The stolen merchandise was valued at $18.

A store employee told police the men entered the store at 9:50 p.m.

One of the men went to the cooler and took the beer while the other two waited by the door, the employee said.

The employee said she tried to block the thieves' path as they left the store, but one of the men grabbed her by the arm and shoved her aside.

The employee described the man who took the beer from the cooler as black, 6 feet tall and 285-300 pounds. The man who grabbed her arm was white, 6 feet tall and 230 pounds and the other man was white, about 5 feet 7 and 200 pounds, she said.

All three men were wearing shorts and T-shirts or tank tops, she said.

A WESTLAND youth told police he was assaulted by two other boys Wednesday afternoon as he rode his bicycle on the grounds of P.D. Graham Elementary School, 1255 S. John Hix.

The youth wasn't seriously injured, police said.

The boy said his assailants began following him in a 1974 Chevrolet Nova at about 3 p.m. Eventually, the assailants got out of the car and chased him, the boy told police.

The two assailants caught up to him and threw him on the hood of the car, the boy said. Then one attacker punched him in the cheek using a plastic cigarette lighter inside his fist and tried to kick him in the foot.

"We want to make sure consumers have all the tools possible to assure they get what they pay for," he said. "This is a legitimate area to look into. There is clearly a need for legislation, not because all appliance dealers are dishonest but because some are."

BULLARD, WHO AUTHORED similar legislation last year, said he envisions a regulatory system similar to the Bureau of Electronic and Appliance Repair (BEAR) in California that since 1972 has licensed all repair centers.

"In the absence of a regulatory or similar system here, many repair operations have no fixed address. Under existing Michigan laws, consumers are easily defrauded," Bullard said.

The California law guards against both fraud and incompetence, and has dramatically reduced the incidence of both, according to John Hayes of BEAR, who said the agency is empowered to revoke licensing.

Newly elected state Rep. Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills, who serves on the House Consumer Committee, is not convinced Michigan needs new regulatory laws.

"I am not yet satisfied there is not already something out there. We have quite a Consumer Protection Act in place. Sometimes legislation is in place but consumers don't take advantage of it. Maybe consumer education is needed," she said.

Dolan did not attend Tuesday's hearings. Nor did state Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, also a consumer committee member who declined comment on the subject "until I know more about it."

IN JANUARY 1988, similar legislation authored by Bullard died in the House Committee on State Affairs.

The new proposals require service numbers for all repair technicians. Such numbers must accompany all advertisement, estimates and billings. Each repair job must first be estimated in writing. Licensing fees are set at $100, with annual renewal fees of $50.

Jim Hallan of the Michigan Retailers Association, a group that opposes both proposals, said the bill is poorly drafted.

"The licensing provision contains no certification procedure," he said.

"It's just going to create additional cost but provide no additional safety," adding the number of service repair complaints is small and adequate consumer protections are already in place. The Michigan Merchants Council also opposes the proposed legislation.

Esther Shapiro, director of consumer affairs in Detroit, said to date this year, her office has received 79 complaints amounting to $9,959 in paybacks to wronged consumers.

"Ninety percent of operations in Michigan are very small industries," little mom-and-pop operations," Parry of Sands Appliance said, adding the majority are honest operators that require little regulating.

In Tuesday's testimony, however, Gagnon said it is "the scams and fly-by-night operations" that need regulating. It is time, he added, "to help ourselves improve our tainted image."

Board approves contracts

Many communities don't have vocational/technical training programs equal to those in Wayne-Westland, Ferguson said. The Ford Center, a 100,000-square-foot facility built in the late 1970s, provides training in 22 skill areas for high school students and adults.

THE AGREEMENTS call for the schools or districts involved to pay

Wayne-Westland $1 per student in tuition and a $26 per student administrative services fee. The $27 total is refundable should the student drop out of the program before the fourth Friday count.

Students may schedule a maximum of 50 percent of their class time at the center, the agreement states.

Each student is counted as a half-time full-time equivalent for purposes of receiving state aid.

Wayne-Westland has no obligation to provide transportation to the center for outside students.

But Svltkovich said a district bus which passes Lutheran High on its scheduled route may be used for students from that school. Cabrini High School students coming to the center will use either a Cabrini bus or a bus from Allen Park Public Schools, he said.

Lions Club helps girl

Schilling said insurance covers some, but not all, of Megan's medical expenses.

"Not working, and having three kids, money gets kind of tight around here," she said.

THE LIONS made the emergency donation July 6 after receiving a call from Bill Hiney of the American Lung Association, who has worked with the Schillings. The club purchased it from ABC Warehouse, which dropped the $349 price by $150.

Bill Acton, Host Lions president, said the club makes emergency donations when the situation is "desperate."

"It's one more example of what the Lions do for the community," Acton said.

Schilling was surprised by the donation and grateful that somebody was thinking about her.

"We just came home one day from the hospital and there it was," she said. "In today's society, with everybody out for themselves, it's nice to know that somebody cared enough to try and help out."

IMAGINE DYING FROM A DISEASE YOU NEVER KNEW YOU HAD.

Eleven million people in the U.S. have diabetes. But almost half of them don't know it.

Untreated, diabetes can lead to heart disease, kidney disease, blindness and gangrene.

And for 150,000 people each year, it leads to death.

That's why you should be aware of the symptoms of diabetes: blurred vision, excessive thirst and frequent urination are just some of the warning signs. Because the sooner you find out if you have diabetes, the more likely you are to get it under control, before complications set in.

Finding out you have diabetes can be scary. But not finding out can be fatal.

Outreach office serves blind in a variety of ways

By Leonard Poger
staff writer

The Ford Road office display includes a Monopoly board and cards, a Scrabble game, a Frisbee, and playing cards.

But those games help blind persons enjoy the same quality of life as sighted persons.

The games, along with a set of records containing the King James version of the Bible and other materials, contain the raised dots which are "read" by sightless persons.

The table articles are the first thing visitors see when they enter the National Federation of the Blind/Michigan chapter's community outreach office on Ford, 1 1/2 blocks east of Merriman.

It is only the second office of the private, non-profit organization which provides a variety of services and programs to blind persons. The other office is in Lansing.

Besides the games and records, the chapter's outreach staffers are also working to help blind persons fight society's stereotypes and prejudices toward the sightless.

Daniel Harman, executive director of community outreach, said that the average blind persons — given proper training and opportunity — can compete with the average sighted person in the job market.

"AN ENLIGHTENED and informed society should understand that the measurement of a person's eyesight shouldn't be the measurement of the person's abilities," Harman said.

He cited numerous examples of blind persons who are independent and achieved things on their own:

- Allen Harris, the Michigan chapter president who has been blind since birth, is head of the social studies department at Edsel Ford High School in Dearborn, head of the wrestling department and a wrestling coach.

- Steve Zielinski, who takes two buses from his Lincoln Park home to reach the Garden City community outreach office.

- The chiropractor for Harman's father in Iowa.

- The top newspaper carrier in Nebraska who won a scholarship a year ago from the national federation.

Harman, aided by assistant director Diana Mahon, said the Michigan federation has three objectives — look for blind persons to make them aware of the free services and programs offered by the organization; provide information to sighted society, and to raise money to support the group and its outreach programs.

HARMAN SAID the problem of blindness is growing, mainly among elderly persons although youngsters are also affected.

"One recent call was from a mother whose 18-year-old son was blinded after an auto accident," Harman said.

The director said the biggest obstacle to the blind isn't their lack of sight but their own sense of helplessness and society's perceptions toward the blind.

The Michigan Commission for the Blind (a state agency) estimates that there are an estimated 89,000 visually impaired persons in the state who are 65 or older," Harman said.

"That number is expected to double in the next 20 years."

Harman said that 90 percent of sightless persons have some vision while the remaining 10 percent are totally blind.

"Many people are fearful of losing their sight," Harman said, with blindness being the second most feared disease — next to cancer.

For blind youngsters, the federation offers a variety of services and programs, including how to read Braille, how to use white canes and enrollment in a summer day camp.

"Braille (with the familiar raised dots) are to the blind what the printed word is to sighted person," Harman said. "A blind person who can't read Braille is as illiterate as a sighted person who can't read print."

THE TRAINING on how to read Braille and the use of the white cane — is important to all ages of sightless persons, Harman said.

"What isolates blind persons isn't the blindness," Harman pointed out.

"It is the inability to travel. Sightless persons can grow up and gain understanding, dignity and self-respect."

He said the federation "helps people help themselves and doesn't do things for them."

Harman said the national federation, formed in 1940, is the country's largest and oldest private organization dedicated to helping the blind.

To contact the community outreach office, write to P.O. Box 15, Garden City, 48135 or call 427-0209, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays.

Many services available

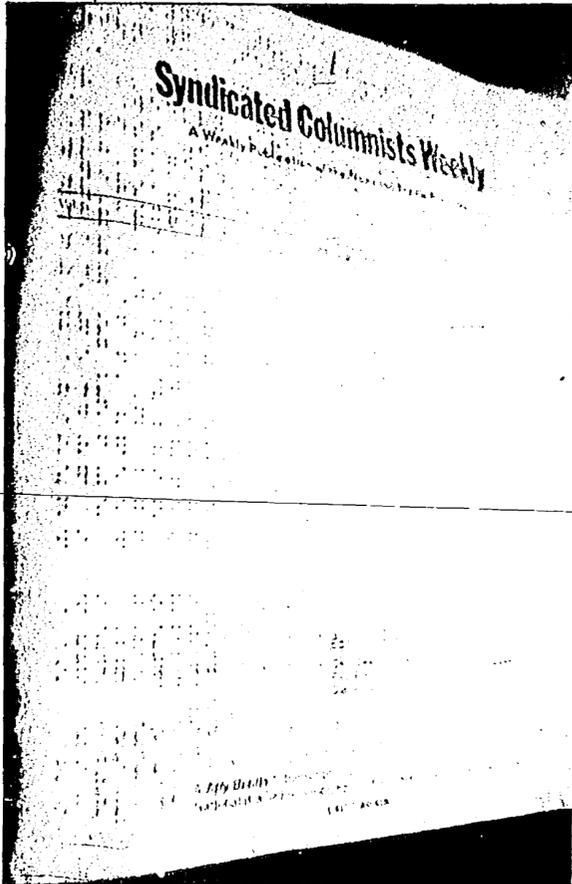

Here are some of the free services or programs offered by the National Federation of the Blind/Michigan chapter community outreach office on Ford east of Merriman:

- Books and magazines in Braille or cassettes and records through the Wayne County Library for the Blind.

- Variety of sources to obtain Braille transcription service.

- Equipment for use by blind persons.

Blind people can "read" syndicated columns through the use of Braille dots.

Subdivision seeks rezoning to W-W due to bus ride

Residents of a partially-completed Wayne subdivision are seeking a change in schools for their children.

Wayne-Westland school officials said last week they would look into their request.

A half-dozen residents of the Legacy Estates subdivision appeared before the school board Monday claiming that busing the children two miles to Roosevelt Elementary School in Wayne would be inconvenient and prevent their children from developing traditional friendships.

The residents requested instead that the subdivision, west of John Hix and south of Glenwood (the Wayne/Westland border), be rezoned by the district so that children would attend either P.D. Graham or Schweitzer Elementary Schools, both in Westland. Graham is about a mile from the subdivision and Schweitzer is about 1 1/2 miles away.

"The children are apprehensive about being bused and when they get to junior high school they might lose out on after-school activities like clubs and sports," said Bonnie Worthington, a subdivision resident.

"WITH OTHER kids going to their school living almost three miles away, they aren't able to hop on a bike and go visiting," another resident said.

One parent, who said his son needed to come home during lunch hour for asthma treatments, wondered whether he would have enough time to take the medication.

There are 18 homes already completed in the subdivision, with 12 currently occupied. There will be 54 homes when it is finished, according to the city of Wayne planning department.

Although the children are in the Roosevelt attendance area, the district's open enrollment policy allows them to enroll at any school in the district where there is available space.

But the district doesn't provide transportation for those students and the parents said they want to make sure they don't get "bumped" back to Roosevelt if their chosen school is full.

The district provides bus transportation for elementary students who live at least a mile from the school they are assigned.

Fund-raiser head named

St. Mary Hospital in Livonia has appointed Todd A. Riedel as its first director of fund development.

Riedel will implement a fund-raising program for the hospital.

The Plymouth resident earned a bachelor's degree from the School of the Ozarks in Point Lookout, Mo., where he worked on the school's fund development team for two years.

He also spent five months at Southwest Missouri State University as assistant director of development.

Kids' luncheon set

A luncheon for handicapped children will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Aug. 16, in the American Legion Post in Livonia.

Handicapped children from Livonia, Redford, Northville and Garden City will be there for the luncheon, which is open to the public, along with their teachers and aides, and professional clowns.

Model's career driving ahead

Jamie Lynn Kolodziej, who graduated John Glenn High School just over a year ago, is in the driver's seat where her career is concerned.

The Westland woman was recently picked as a Honda auto spokeswoman and model for the 1989-90 international auto show circuit, reported her father, Jim Kolodziej.

She will travel extensively this fall and next spring, her father said.

After graduating John Glenn High, Kolodziej attended Henry Ford Community College, Dearborn, majoring in mass media communications. At the same time, she enrolled at the John Robert Powers Modeling Agency and pursued modeling as a career.

In June, she finished in the top 25 of the 134 contestants in the annual Miss Michigan United Pageant. Shortly afterwards, Kolodziej was named a video jockey for Entertainment Spotlight, a local cable-TV program, and hostess for Metro Spotlight, also on cable.

HER VIDEO appearances weren't limited to Westland audiences. She was seen in a commercial to be aired on the east coast, Florida and the Caribbean, her father said.

As a youngster, she was active in Brownies, gymnastics, dance and the Westland Youth Athletic Association, playing softball and basketball.

She moved up to Girl Scouts and after entering Stevenson Junior High School, she got involved in dramatic productions and student government. She was president of the student council and the female lead in five plays.

She also found time to join the Spanish Club and be a cheerleader for the football and basketball teams.

At John Glenn, Kolodziej was the lead in nine plays, voted Thespians Club vice president, elected Miss Junior Class, was a participant in many student leadership seminars, basketball cheerleader, state finalist in a national homecoming queen competition, and class president for her three years in the high school.

What's wrong when cash not credit, raises distrust

I DID IT again. Created a commotion. Threw a public fit. Embarrassed my family. And it's all my mother-in-law's fault.

Jack Gladden

The check-cashing policies of modern businesses have often been a topic of discussion in our family and a major irritant to me.

Over the years, as I have paid for assorted purchases with personal checks, I have been photographed, thumb-printed, asked for the name and telephone number of my employer and in whose name our family telephone is listed.

All this, of course, in addition to the obligatory presentation of a driver's license and two major credit cards.

I understand the problems that businesses — particularly large operations — have with rubber checks. But the presumption is that we are all crooks unless we can prove otherwise.

IT WAS MY mother-in-law, however, who was subjected to the ultimate hassle in attempting to pay a bill.

She and my father-in-law had stopped for the night at a motel on their way to Florida. When the clerk asked how they were going to pay for the room, she said, "Cash."

"Then I'll need to see some identification," he said.

Thinking he had misunderstood, the m-i-l attempted to clarify things. "I'm not writing a check," she said. "I'm paying cash. You know bills, greenbacks."

"Yes, ma'am," he said. "I understand. I'll need to see some identification."

The reason, he told the m-i-l politely in response to her less-than-polite demand for an explanation, was as simple as it was cynical. If she paid with a credit card, the motel would have a record of her name and address. But if she paid cash, well...

The implication was clear. She was not to be trusted. What the motel management expected her to do was uncertain, but whatever it was, they wanted to be able to find her after she did it.

She was not pleased, and she let the young man behind the counter know it.

THAT'S WHAT was going through my mind as my family and I checked in to a motel a couple of weeks ago for a one-night mini-vacation.

"Cash," I said, in response to the clerk's question. I handed him some bills and braced myself, ready to go into a tirade about not being a crook and getting fed up with being treated like one.

But instead, he smiled, shoved a key across the desk and said, "You're in Room 36." That was it. No hassle. No request for ID. Nothing.

"So," I thought to myself, "I must look more trustworthy than the m-i-l." I'd suspected that for a long time.

When we got to the room, however, my wife suggested that the real reason I was not asked for identification was that she had used a credit card when she made the motel reservation. Even though we paid cash, the management already had an official record of who we were.

Maybe, I still liked the notion that I had an honest face.

AT DINNER in the motel dining room that evening, I asked the waiter if I could sign the check and settle up at the desk the next day. No problem.

lem, he said, as long as I showed him my room key to prove that I was actually a guest. I did, thinking that he was not as good a judge of character as the desk clerk.

Back in the room a few minutes later, my wife answered the telephone.

"You have to go to the desk right now and pay for the dinner," she said as she hung up. "Something about using cash."

"What?" I demanded in a rather loud voice.

"We only allow one method of payment, sir," the clerk said. "If you had used a credit card for the room, you could sign your dinner check. But since you paid cash up front for the room, you have to pay cash for everything."

That's when I threw my public fit. I railed on and on about business people treating customers like criminals, about the stupidity of check-cashing policies being exceeded only by the mindless distrust of people who paid cash, about such policies serving to drive customers away, etc. It was a good, if unsuccessful, tantrum.

And all the while I had in my head an image of the m-i-l, standing fuming and snarling in another motel lobby and fumbling for her driver's license in order to be allowed to pay a bill with U.S. currency.

I knew exactly how she felt. But I still think I look more trustworthy.

Women rights being ignored

To the editor: Soon after the Webster Decision on July 3 the Observer & Eccentric came out with a general statement that they support a woman's right to "choose" abortion. But does the Observer & Eccentric support women having informed consent? (The dangers of the surgery explained prior to the abortion and the truth told about the developing baby inside her womb?)

Does the Observer & Eccentric support a knowledgeable decision on the subject, or do they only support the decision to terminate unborn life? If the Observer & Eccentric was truly in favor of women's rights, they would be in favor of them receiving all the facts, the ability to make a truly knowledgeable choice.

The Observer & Eccentric wouldn't stop at a fair article of the above mentioned and pictures of a developing baby in utero; it would investigate the many tragedies at the Livonia abortion mills.

Why did late last fall an ambulance take away a patient? When called and asked, this mill was more concerned about if I was a lawyer or if I was working for one. When asked about why the abortionist had no malpractice insurance for his last two medical malpractice lawsuits, the mill worker refused to answer. All of this abortionist's assets are in his wife's name. This sure would make it hard for an injured victim to get one cent out of him.

What is the city of Livonia's role in this industry? Are there city ordinances that govern these abortionaries? If not, why not?

Mayor Robert Bennett and City Council, don't fool yourselves. Just because it's the law of the land doesn't mean your hands are tied. Just because it's legal, doesn't mean it's safe.

The mills in Livonia have no license to practice by the state. If the state doesn't check on them, Livonia, you have to.

The Observer & Eccentric owes women the truth and the city of Livonia government must protect women. Even the staunchest, most left-wing radical feminist must agree with me that a male abortionist with 15-plus, medical related malpractice lawsuits and no malpractice insurance is just a continuance of males exploiting women for profit, like the Observer & Eccentric and this city and state government by its lack of action.

Opposed to Domino trip

To the editor: (An open letter to the Livonia Board of Education):

I am writing to voice my objection over the choice of Domino Farms as a field trip experience for the school-age child care program this summer. My two sons, Geoffrey and Alexander, are part of this group who are currently at Bentley High School.

The reasons for my strong opposition to this trip are:

1. Tom Monaghan has revoked a permit to the Ann Arbor NOW Chapter to use the "Farms" because Mr. Monaghan says "they support abortion." Americans have the right to their views. Mr. Monaghan has rented this facility to area groups as a fund-raising event. He has let Right to Life, the Boy Scouts, and other groups use this "community" facility. Facilities should not ban those who hold opposing views.

2. Tom Monaghan donated more than $500,000 to the Catholic Church in Rome while doing little for the Catholics of Detroit who support his businesses. He has done nothing for those Detroit parishioners who are trying desperately to keep their churches open after their closings by Szoka.

3. During 1988, drivers for Domino's Pizza were involved in accidents which resulted in 30 deaths as a result of trying to meet a 30-minute delivery schedule. As a member of Mothers Against Drunk Driving who devotes time and energy to keeping streets safe for our children, I cannot condone giving money to a pizza king who cares more about 30-minute deliveries than saving lives on our streets.

4. Using public school transportation and funding to visit Domino Farms is not in our children's best interest. I have tried to teach our children that their consumer power is reflected in the businesses they patronize. For this reason, many of the "treats" in the grocery aisles are "off limits" because the corporation has environmentally harmful policies or manufactures cigarettes.

I hope you can find field trip alternatives for Aug. 23, 1989. The fact that my own children will not be attending this trip does not resolve the issue that Livonia Public Schools should not be giving Mr. Monaghan funds.

View given on lost toddler

To the editor: Thursday, July 17, at 7:30 in the morning, I went to get in my car to go to work. In the street in front of my house I found a toddler about 1 1/2 years old, dressed in his pyjamas, with no one else around.

Running up and down the street, I took him to a couple of houses down where it looked like he may have walked away from. There, a nice woman answered the door, dressed in her robe and slippers. She, too, had never seen the baby before. She called the police while I went to work.

The officer was there in about 10 minutes. He sat in the car and had the woman dressed in her robe and slippers go house to house. The baby belonged to no one on the street. The woman had to hand the baby through the car door window. The officer didn't even open the door to take the baby. She had to partially fold the baby in half. Then the policeman drove off with the baby standing up, not even buckled in the seat.

1. How in the heck does a baby walk off that way without someone noticing he's gone?

2. How can a policeman be so inconsiderate?

3. On the other hand, there are very nice people, like the lady in the robe!

I thank you, Eileen. Mary Ginotie, Livonia

UPDATE ON DIET & ARTHRITIS. In a column in May 1985, I discussed the question of diet, nutrition, and arthritis. Medical opinion at that time concluded that a good diet was a good arthritis diet. Since then, two questions have arisen on diet and arthritis. One is: can arthritis be caused by a food allergy? Several studies looked into this possibility. One involved 20 patients who thought that their arthritis was caused by specific foods. Another investigation followed 33 patients with arthritis using elimination diets - withholding dairy products and milk. No patients in either study showed a relationship between their arthritis and their diet. The second question is: can the use of fish oils prevent or treat arthritis. The theory is that the fish oils would substitute in the body for a chemical, prostaglandin, which causes inflammation. However, studies to date show that fish oil, even when taken at the highest tolerable amount, has little effect on flares, activity, or remissions of joint pain and swelling. Nor has any information come forth that would give credence to assertions that taking extra vitamins, using selenium, avoiding meat, or eating only fish will treat arthritis. Thus, the original point remains: a sensible diet is a sensible arthritis diet.

Mayor Young urges Detroit, suburbs unity

By Keith Postler
staff writer

Detroit Mayor Coleman A. Young's message last Thursday to the 200 persons who heard him speak at the Mayflower Meeting House was simple but powerful.

The big city and its suburbs are dependent on one another and need to emphasize the commonalities between each, not the differences.

During his opening remarks, Young said of Detroit and the suburbs, "There is a mutual dependence between us that far outweighs any differences we have."

Reaction among those in the audience after the mayor's speech was generally positive.

"Impressive," said Plymouth fire chief Al Matthews. "It was the first time I've heard him speak, and I was very impressed. I think he has some very good ideas."

Said Kay Arnold of Plymouth, "I felt it was very positive. It made us aware that we do connect with the city. I felt he gave us all a lot to think about regarding education being the responsibility not of each city, but for all of us as parents and taxpayers."

YOUNG TOUCHED on a variety of subjects, including the impact of technology on the demise of the auto industry and Detroit, and its part in the growth of the suburbs.

Young called on suburban and Detroit leaders to work together to ensure the future of the auto industry in metro Detroit and to help lure industry back to Michigan.

By doing that, he said, Detroit and its suburbs would benefit and be able to better compete with the onslaught of foreign corporations that have entered auto and other hi-tech industries.

The suburban stretch between Detroit and Ann Arbor, he said, also has the potential to be the next great hi-tech corridor in America. Detroit and its suburbs should work together toward this goal, first by setting up a mass transportation system along that route and then developing outlying areas.

Young offered two solutions to crime — education and jobs.

BY PROVIDING a stronger educational system and luring jobs back to the city, the crime rate would slowly decline. He also said that providing education for future generations should be a state-wide responsibility, not the burden of individual school districts.

Mary Roehr, executive director of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, said, "I think that he's a master at speaking and sizing up his audience and he came across as very genuine."

"I think there were some good questions that focused on the issues, and I think having him come to the surrounding communities furthers all our goals," she said. "And I do agree with him, that what affects Detroit affects us and vice versa."

"He was very smooth," said John Stewart, a lawyer and Plymouth Township trustee. "He presented a thorough picture of what condition he thought Detroit is in. I'm very impressed that the guy gave an 18-minute speech with no notes. I was a little surprised at his emphasis on economics being the answer to many problems."

Not everyone was taken by Young's visit.

"I think the mayor needs to spend more time building a sense of commitment in his own city," said William Joyner, a public relations executive.

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

Detroit Mayor Coleman A. Young, speaking in Plymouth last Thursday at a Kiwanis Club meeting, said suburban leaders should emphasize commonalities their communities have with Detroit, not the differences.

What kind of a kid do you suppose Thomas Edison was?

Bet he looked at problems and saw solutions. Like Maurice Scales who invented Baby No-Mash to prevent doors from closing on little fingers.

Bet he saw how things were done, and imagined better ways to do them. Like Lillian Lukas who invented the Puddle Detecting Cane for the blind.

Bet he watched how things work and thought of ways to avoid wasting time or effort. Like Caitilin McCracken who invented the Orphan Kitten Feeder for Three.

Maurice, Lillian and Caitilin were three of the thousands of winners in the Invent America! education program.

And you know that small genius can grow up to become big genius—with the capacity to make America number one again.

To participate, just write Invent America!, 510 King Street, Suite 420, Alexandria, VA 22314, or call 703/684-1836.

If you're wondering if it's all worthwhile, just imagine what Edison would have said.

Herb lady tells how she began

Occasionally in this business, I cross paths with other foodies who, like myself, enjoy playing in the kitchen. We swap recipes, stories and techniques over the phone, standing in line at the supermarket and in the strangest of places.

I met Diane Steinhauer of Westland one afternoon while she was volunteering as a room mother in her daughter's kindergarten class. Seems that in addition to helping out at school, she also makes time for a family of five while helping out as volunteer for the herb study group at Matthaei Gardens in Ann Arbor. She also has a 10-by-50-foot herb and vegetable garden at home and is involved in countless other activities.

An active member of the American Herb Society, Steinhauer tends to more than 150 assorted herbs in her own backyard. She can also be seen tending to the herb and botanical gardens at Matthaei. This summer, she will attend the national conference for the American Herb Society, which is hosting noted cookbook author and herbologist Sol Gilbertie.

Anyone who has more than 150 herbs in a garden is, in my book, a self-appointed herbologist. Steinhauer's garden runs the gamut of her Westland backyard, creeping down the sides of the house toward the street. She claims her garden is more experimental than functional.

THE PLOTS ARE laid out in Chinese fashion, using raised beds. The herbs are used mainly for culinary purposes, with a few of the more fragrant varieties being raised for craft purposes.

Steinhauer claims she became hooked on herbs when she first sampled fresh tomatoes laced with a basil vinaigrette. In addition, many of her herbs end up in favorite soups and stews, salads and homemade vinegars and oils.

The herb lady says she began expanding her herb garden because, "It provokes all of the senses." She likes the texture of the leaves, the smell of the flowers, the assorted tastes, and the sounds of the birds and insects that flock to the garden during the summer growing season.

She has observed wild finches, hummingbird moths and swallowtail butterfly caterpillars, in addition to thousands of butterflies and birds who partake of her herbal delights.

The wildlife is not the only thing to benefit from Steinhauer's green thumb. She and her husband, Curt, spent their honeymoon canning tomatoes for the cellar. The Steinhauer kids, Geoffrey, 13; Maren, 9; and Alexis, 6, notice that Mom has become almost a permanent fixture around Hayes School.

For daughter Alexis' sixth birthday, Mom brought in a Peter Rabbit book and went through all the herbs. Peter enjoyed while hopping through the enchanted forest. The class then feasted on parsley dip, fresh vegetables and chamomile tea, just as Peter Rabbit did in the book.

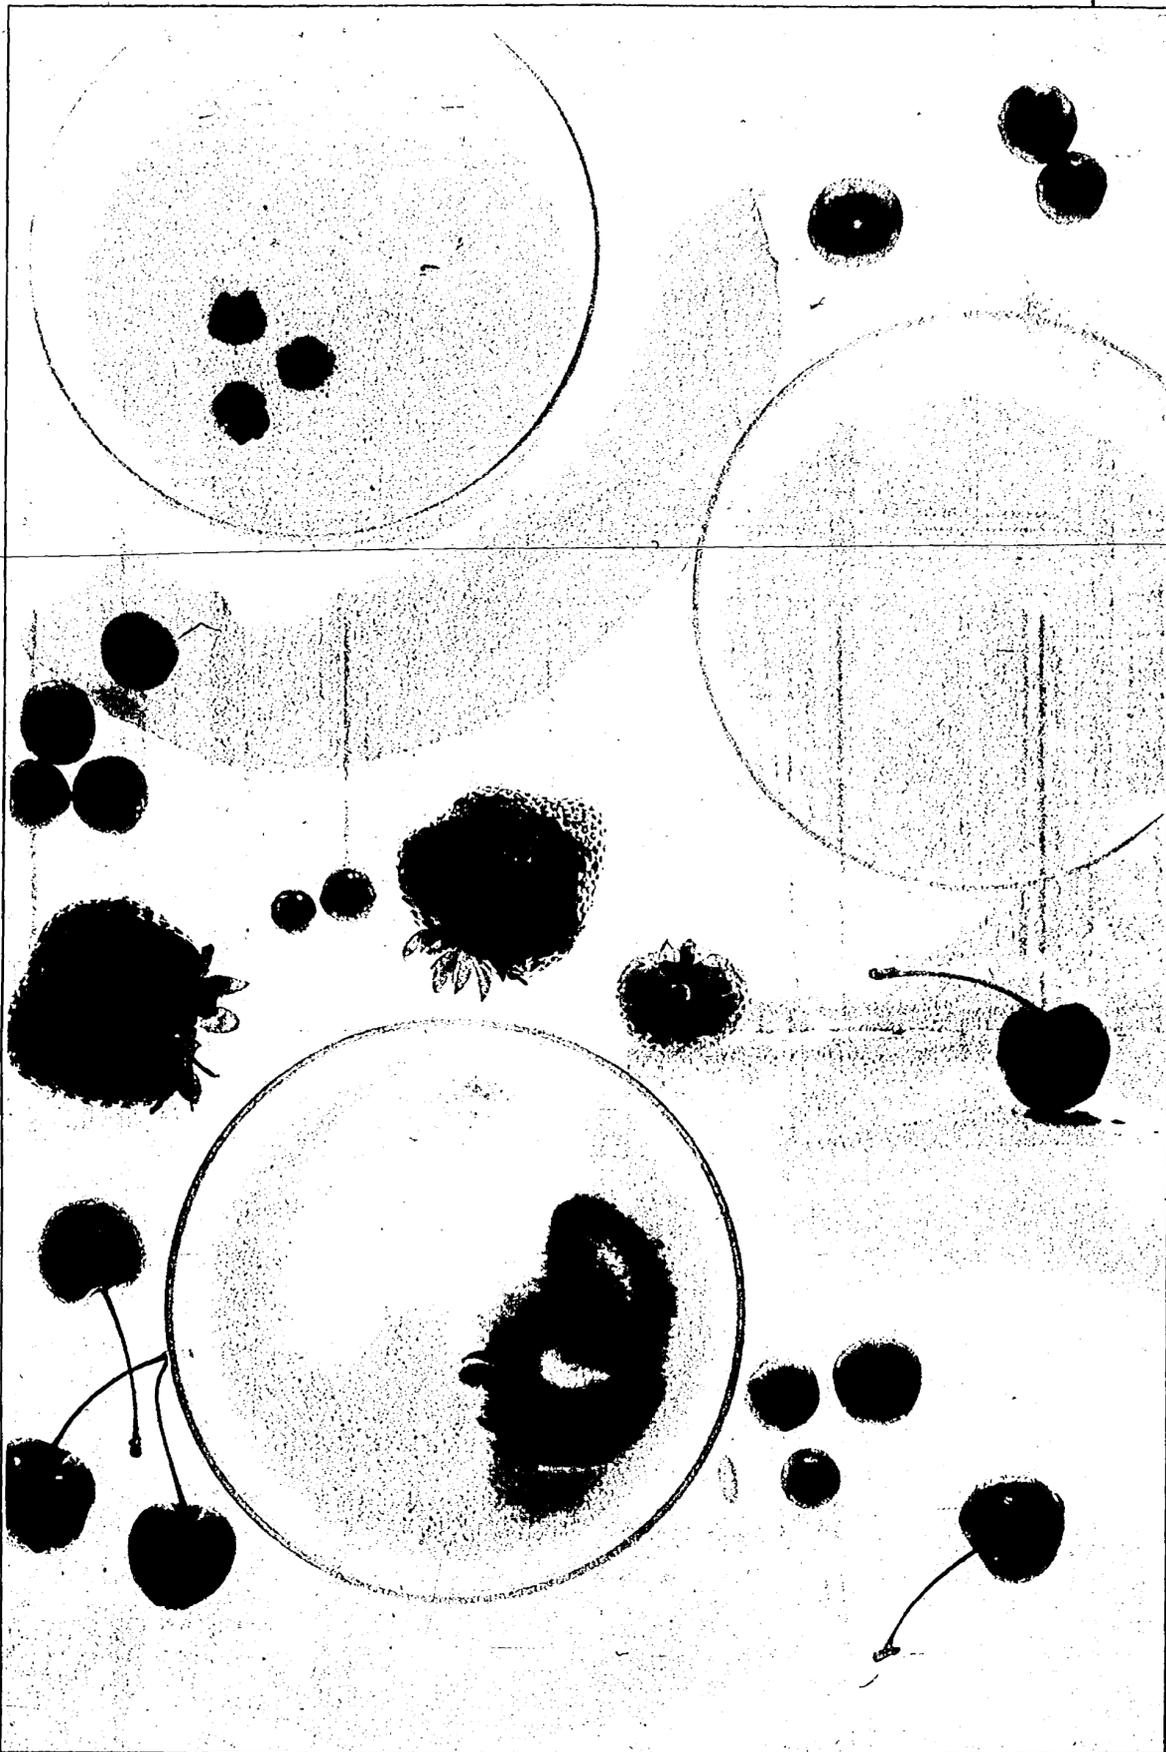

IN ADDITION, the Steinhauer family has successfully planted a pizza and salad garden at Hayes School, consisting of tomatoes, basil, peppers and assorted salad fixings. In all, when harvest time approaches, Steinhauer will find herself tossing pizza, stirring sauce and assembling salads for hungry 4th and 6th graders who, unknowingly, will get a lesson on herbs and vegetables while enjoying the bounty.

Talk about being wrapped up in her hobby, Steinhauer also volunteers and maintains the formal herb gardens at the beautiful Matthaei Gardens. She assigns study topics to the various coordinators and helps with tours. She is very active in the fall herb and bulb sale and fundraiser at Matthaei.

Steinhauer is quick to point out that this year's sale will feature an amateur flower and plant show, in addition to a kitchen cupboard sale of homemade vinegars, oils and dried wreaths.

Summer soups a cool choice

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

Fruit soups are among the cold summer soups, including strawberry soup (clockwise from bottom), blueberry, and chilled cantaloupe and honeydew soup.

Easy to do ahead

By Gerl Rinschler
special writer

WHETHER YOU'RE picnicking on the patio or cruising down the St. Clair River, chilled summer soups can soothe any appetite.

If you've never attempted to make one, keep this in mind: they're versatile, digestible and so easy to make. Most of them can be made in advance, require little or no cooking and travel well. What more could a good cook ask for?

From its beginning as a mixture of stones and water, soup has evolved into many different forms, from France's gorgeous pot-au-feu, a broth enriched with daily leftovers, to an elegant chilled consommé.

It's difficult to document when the first chilled soup appeared since few European cultures embraced the idea. Tracing back through American food history, chilled soups didn't appear in cookbooks until the early 1920s.

Today, cold soups such as the Spanish gazpacho, French chilled cucumber or Hungarian sour cherry have become standard summer fare. But, if you've tried these and you're yearning for some inspiring new ideas, read on.

Not all hot soups transform nicely into chilled soups. Vegetable purees and fruit-puree-based soups work best. Avoid those made from beef bases or those made with a high butterfat content since the fat will harden when chilled and become very unappetizing.

MOST FRUIT SOUPS are a blend of pureed fresh fruit such as blueberry, melon, strawberry or a combination of them mixed with white wine. Generally, a sparkling white grape juice can be substituted for the wine if you wish to make them non-alcoholic. When selecting fruit, choose only ones that are ripe and have a fruity fragrance.

Other than gazpacho, most vegetable puree soups need to be cooked either in water, vegetable stock or a light chicken stock. Usually, a chicken broth or vegetable broth cube by Knorr-Swiss works well because the fat content is very low. For most purees a blender does the best job in rendering a smooth base. Take extra care when pureeing potatoes in a blender. Because of the high gluten content, they will become gooey.

When tasting any pureed or cream soup after chilling, you will notice the flavor becomes diminished. Spices such as curry, cloves and ginger often become muted when chilled. Other seasonings such as pepper, allspice and coriander intensify when exposed to heat for a long time. It's best to season these soups cautiously, tasting when hot and then tasting again after they have been refrigerated for a few hours.

Use berries, melons, carrots or avocados

COLD BLUEBERRY SUPREME

Serves 4

3 cups blueberries, washed, trimmed
1 tablespoon orange or lemon zest
1 cup cranberry juice cocktail
1 cup fresh apple cider
2 tablespoons creme de cassis liqueur or Chambord
Garnish: 1 cup lemon-flavored yogurt

Puree the berries in a blender until smooth. Add fruit juices, liqueur and zest. If necessary add sugar to taste. Chill for four hours. Serve icy cold with a dollop of the yogurt.

ICY CARROT CREAM SOUP

Serves 4

2 tablespoons unsalted butter or margarine
1 cup carrots, peeled and sliced
3 cups medium, russet potatoes, peeled, sliced
1/4 cup diced leeks, white part only

3 cups light chicken or vegetable stock
2 tablespoons whipping or coffee cream
1/4 cup fresh orange juice
1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
salt and pepper to taste
1/2 teaspoon dried basil leaves

In a large heavy saucepan, melt butter or margarine. When hot add leeks and cook, tossing until soft and transparent. Add carrots and toss 5 minutes. Add potatoes and warm stock and basil. Cover and simmer until vegetables are fork tender. Remove from heat. Strain vegetables from soup, reserving the stock, and puree in food processor or blender. Slowly add cream and enough stock to make a smooth creamy soup. Cool. Season and add orange juice. Refrigerate 2-4 hours. Taste and correct seasonings before serving. Garnish with large Italian parsley leaves or orange slices.

AVOCADO CREAM

Serves 6

3 ripe avocados — 1 1/2 cups diced
1/4 cup whipping cream
1/4 cup dry white wine
1 cup lightly seasoned chicken stock (fat free)
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon fresh lime juice pinch freshly ground nutmeg salt and white pepper to taste
Garnish: 6 small cooked, chilled, peeled shrimp and 6 sprigs of fresh dill.

Puree avocado using a wire mesh strainer or tamis strainer and wooden spoon. Bring chicken stock to a boil. Add wine and simmer for 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add cream and spices, then lime juice. Cool completely, refrigerate 2-4 hours. Taste just before serving. Add more seasonings if needed. Garnish each individual bowl with a shrimp and a sprig of dill.

This soup is best when made the same day because it will darken when stored longer.

CHILLED CANTALOUPE SOUP

Serves 6

one 3-pound ripe cantaloupe, seeded, peeled and cut into chunks
1 cup fruity white wine or 1 cup sparkling white grape juice
1 tablespoon fresh lime juice
Garnish: 6 thin lime slices and 6 tablespoons sour cream

Puree the cantaloupe chunks with the wine or grape juice in a blender. Blend on high speed until smooth. Flavor with lime juice. Refrigerate covered two hours. Serve very cold. At serving time you may need to whisk or re-blend for a few seconds. Garnish each bowl with a dollop of sour cream topped with a slice of lime.

STRAWBERRY ROMANOFF SOUP

Serves 3-4

1 pint fresh strawberries, washed, hulled, cut in slices
1/2 cup apple cider or apple juice
1/2 cup sparkling apple cider
1/2 cup low-fat strawberry yogurt
2 tablespoons cassis liqueur about 1 tablespoon sugar

Garnish: 9-12 small-to-medium-size fresh strawberries; 12 medium, fresh mint leaves, sliced

In a blender or food processor, puree strawberries, cider, sparkling cider, yogurt and cassis. Taste, add sugar if needed.

Refrigerate 3-4 hours. Serve in bowls, adding 3-4 sliced strawberries per bowl and 3-4 sliced mint leaves. Serve chilled.

Health facts vs. fiction

Since the ancient days, people have wanted to believe that certain foods hold special curative properties and powers. At one time, it was believed that garlic would give you added strength and that eating chocolate would prolong life.

Wouldn't it be great if that were the truth? No more steroids for athletes, and we'd all live forever.

More and more scientific studies show there is a relationship between the diet people consume and the incidence of the leading diseases.

Take care about products, with health claims when choosing a particular breakfast cereal to avoid cancer, or eating a certain oat bran to lower cholesterol, or fish-oil capsules to protect you against heart disease and on and on.

BE WISE enough to distinguish between popular, current hype and reality.

Oat bran therapy just may be a low-cost way of lowering cholesterol levels. If you add oats to your daily diet but continue to follow a high fat, high cholesterol diet, your cholesterol level will probably increase.

To the degree that low-fat oat products replace fatty items in a healthy diet, the value increases. Oat bran is only as good as your entire dietary pattern.

Eating quantities of oat muffins will add to the fiber in your diet; however it also will add lots of unwanted calories.

Having a "fiber fest" everyday by eating a high-fiber breakfast cereal will prevent cancer. If it were only that simple.

Increase consumption of breads, cereals, fruits, vegetables and legumes, these complex carbohydrates

Lois Thieleke

home economist, Cooperative Extension Service

tend to decrease consumption of foods that contain lots of fat. Also eating complex carbohydrates automatically increases your intake of fiber.

Look for the words, whole wheat or whole grain on ingredient lists for breads, and cereals.

FIBER IS BENEFICIAL for diabetics. The maintenance of normal blood glucose levels is of primary concern to diabetics.

Recent research attention has been placed on the role of fiber in this process. Soluble fiber absorbs water and forms gels in the stomach. This gel formation slows the rate at which food is emptied from the stomach.

In the small intestine, gel formation leads to slower digestion and absorption rate.

Preliminary research has shown that eating two carrots a day will also lower cholesterol levels significantly. Just as with the oat products, it's the soluble fiber in carrots that is believed to be responsible for the benefits.

Here again, two carrots a day is not helpful if you have eggs and croissants for breakfast, a fatty luncheon meat sandwich for lunch and fried chicken for dinner.

CHANCES ARE that by increasing fiber you'll also increase consumption of beta-carotene. Broccoli, carrots, apricots, cantaloupe, pumpkin, squash (butternut especially), sweet potatoes and spinach are all excellent sources of beta-carotene.

The best way to ensure you're getting beta-carotene daily is to eat an orange- or yellow-colored fruit or vegetable or a dark green vegetable.

Adding fish to the diet can also be beneficial to one's health. Fish are lower in fat than foods that come from animals, and they contain a wide variety of nutrients.

Inexpensive fish that contain the now famous Omega-3 fatty acids include canned mackerel, sardines and herring. Canned salmon and white meat albacore tuna are also good sources.

Some studies have suggested that two fish meals a week may decrease the risk of developing heart disease. However, don't binge on fish to the exclusion of other healthful foods.

WHILE NOT ALL the answers are available on which foods may truly protect us against, or contribute to, the development of various kinds of diseases, there is sufficient evidence to make some personal food habit changes. Make sure you "glean" fact from fiction in balancing nutrients to maintain good health.

We keep our cars in good running order but sometimes neglect the preventive maintenance that can keep our bodies running smoothly.

Microwave chicken dijon

AP — Yes, you can enjoy microwave oven-fried chicken and still get a crisp coating. It's not quite as crispy as pan-fried but much lower in fat and more healthful.

The secret? Coat only the meaty side of each piece and cook meaty side up. That way there's no coating on the bottom to absorb juices and become soggy. Cover with paper towels — not a cover, plastic wrap or waxed paper — so moisture can escape.

MICROWAVE CHICKEN DIJON
1 tablespoon margarine or butter
¼ cup fine dry seasoned bread crumbs
1 tablespoon dried parsley flakes
½ teaspoon paprika
2 whole medium chicken breasts (12 ounces each), skinned and halved lengthwise
1 tablespoon Dijon-style mustard

For coating, in a 1-cup measure cook margarine, uncovered, on 100 percent power (high) for 30 to 40 seconds or until melted. In a small mixing bowl combine bread crumbs, parsley flakes and paprika. Toss with melted butter.

Rinse chicken pieces and pat dry. On waxed paper brush pieces with mustard. Dip each piece into crumb mixture, coating the meatier side and leaving the other side uncoated. In a microwave-safe 8-by-8-by-2-inch baking dish arrange pieces, coated side up, on a rack, with meaty portions toward edges of the dish.

Cover with paper towels. Cook on high for 8-10 minutes or until no pink remains, giving the dish a half-turn every 3 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Nutrition information per serving: 187 cal., 21 g. pro., 5 g. carb., 6 g. fat, 54 mg. chol., 379 mg. sodium. U.S. RDA: 62 percent niacin, 19 percent phosphorus.

For more information on how to get in on this, she may be reached at Matthaai Gardens, 1800 N. Dixboro Road, Ann Arbor. Folks interested in entering the amateur horticultural sale may contact her directly at 763-7061.

And if all of that isn't enough, the Steinbauers are also active environmentalists. She abhors the use of pesticides and says that the best pesticide of all is "your own two hands." She composts clippings and garbage and uses the natural fertilizer to keep her garden healthy.

IN THE FALL, she sows annual rye grass to help keep the garden from eroding and to add valued nutrients, not to mention that the grass "looks great in the late fall when everything has been turned under for a winter's sleep."

If you are into herbs and gardening as much as Steinhauer, you will want to stop by Matthaai Gardens. Maybe you will be lucky and she will have a pot of chamomile tea brewing on the portable stove.

Here are a couple of herb lady Diane Steinhauer's tried-and-true recipes.

HERBAL CAMOMILE TEA
10 tablespoons flower heads of chamomile
4 cups fresh water, brought to rolling boil

First, bring fresh cool water to a rolling boil. Then rinse a china, pottery or nonmetallic teapot with some of the water. Toss in the herbs (2 tablespoons fresh or 1 tablespoon dry). Add the water and allow the tea to "steep" for about 5 minutes. Strain the herbs as soon as the tea reaches desired strength. Serve with honey, lemon, orange slices or fresh herb sprigs. To make iced tea, follow the same procedure, using 3 tablespoons of fresh herbs per one cup of water. The extra allows for melting ice.

CREAM OF SORREL SOUP
1 cup fresh sorrel leaves
1 tablespoon butter or oil

Strain the herbs as soon as the tea reaches desired strength. Serve with honey, lemon, orange slices or fresh herb sprigs.

1 small clove garlic, minced fine
4 cups good chicken stock
1 cup heavy or whipping cream
salt and pepper to taste

Wash and pat dry sorrel leaves. Chop fine. In a heated saucepan, add butter or oil and saute chopped herbs with the garlic for 1 minute. Stir in chicken stock and simmer for 10 minutes. Place soup in a blender or processor and process until pureed. Raise the temperature of the cream with a little hot soup, stirring constantly, making sure not to boil. Correct taste with salt and pepper, if desired.

East and West together, with easygoing dishes

Madhur Jaffrey's Cookbook: Easy East/West Menus for Family and Friends." Madhur Jaffrey, Harper & Row, 1989, $22.50.

The one and only time I met Madhur Jaffrey was in the summer of 1985. We were both enrolled in a cooking class taught by James Beard entitled "Tasting." Along with other notable cooks in the class, Jaffrey was introduced as the author of the cookbook "An Invitation to Indian Cooking," as well as an actress and friend of Beard's.

During one of the lectures on "seasonings," Beard remarked that Jaffrey taught him to grind all cooking spices such as fennel seeds, allspice and cinnamon just before using them. Later that summer I took her advice and ground some cinnamon pieces in an old electric coffee grinder. Jaffrey was right. The difference was phenomenal.

Jaffrey's latest book is "Madhur Jaffrey's Cookbook: Easy East/West Menus for Family and Friends." And it's just what the title implies, a personal collection of her favorite recipes. Although she is regarded to be the cooking authority of Indian food, most of what she prepares are dishes from Mexico, Korea, Japan and the United States.

The editors of Jaffrey's book sum up her cooking style beautifully in the introduction: "When a woman from India who has lived in Europe marries a man from America whose father comes from Kentucky — exotic things are bound to happen."

Recipes throughout the book are intriguing, appetizing and healthy. Most of them are simple to prepare and use ingredients which can easily be found in the grocery store or health food markets. Reading through recipes such as Spicy Chicken Stewed with Chickpeas or Stir-Fried Gingery Eggplant will tell you that you've got to like spices to enjoy most of the dishes in her collection.

cook's books

The majority of the recipes are written to serve four-six people. The menus are grouped into chapters based on the ingredients of the main dish such as fish, chicken or meat. There are few dessert recipes — among them are cookies and a devil's food cake — most of them contain fruit.

This is a refreshing, innovative cookbook with tasty dishes for summer cooking as well as hearty ones for the winter.

After all this, if you're still yearning to try some Indian food, "A Taste of India, Madhur Jaffrey's Far East Cookery" will be arriving in bookstores in September.

Following is a recipe from "Madhur Jaffrey's Cookbook: Easy East/West Menus for Family and Friends."

GOLDEN SESAME CORN BREAD
 1 tablespoon peanut or corn oil
 1 tablespoon whole yellow mustard seeds
 1 tablespoon whole sesame seeds
 1 cup cornmeal
 1 cup all-purpose flour
 3 tablespoons sugar
 4 teaspoons baking powder
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 cup plain yogurt lightly beaten
 1/4 cup milk
 1 egg, lightly beaten

1 fresh jalapeno pepper or 5-6 fresh hot green chilies, very finely chopped (with seeds)
 2 teaspoons very finely grated, peeled, fresh ginger
 2 tablespoons chopped, fresh green coriander (Chinese parsley)

Preheat the oven to 400 degrees. Pour 1 tablespoon oil into an 8-inch-square metal cake pan and heat over a medium-low flame. When very hot, put in the mustard seeds. As soon as they begin to pop, put in the sesame seeds. Stir them about for 10 seconds. Remove the pan from the fire. Spoon out the seeds and put them in a saucer. Some will remain clinging to the pan. This is as it should be; leave them there. Just push what remains toward the bottom.

Combine the cornmeal, flour, sugar, baking powder and salt in a bowl. Mix slightly. Add yogurt, milk, egg, jalapeno or chilies, ginger, green coriander (Chinese parsley) and 4 tablespoons oil. Stir gently and mix thoroughly.

Spoon the corn bread batter into the cake pan. Scatter the seed mixture from the saucer over the top as evenly as you can. Bake for 25-30 minutes or until golden brown.

This bread is best served straight from the oven. I cut it into squares or thick slices and put them in a bread basket lined and covered with a single large napkin. However, it can be made ahead of time, wrapped in foil and reheated in a 400-degree oven for 10-12 minutes.

when garnishing or serving chilled soups. Sprigs of thyme or a few long pieces of chives will dress up cold cucumber, cauliflower, potato or squash soup. Sprigs of apple mint or tiny edible flowers such as Johnny jump-ups add a bit of glamour to avocado, cantaloupe, blueberry or other cold fruit soups.

A TRADITIONAL rim soup dish or cream soup dish is always appropriate for serving cold soups. But don't be afraid to use a glass dessert or berry bowl for individual servings.

Other than gazpacho, most vegetable puree soups need to be cooked either in water, vegetable stock or a light chicken stock.

Most of the time, pureed soups can be stored in the glass blender. Sometimes fruit soups will separate during refrigeration and may need to be re-blended just for a few seconds.

All chilled soups can be served as an appetizer. Just add a mixed green side salad, some crunchy French bread and a slice of cheese or pate and you will have the makings for a delightful luncheon or light supper. For a summer dinner menu, either the cold vegetable or fruit soups can be followed by a simple seafood or fish fillet, poultry or lamb entree.

Hospitals sue over Medicaid funding

Michigan hospitals are suing the state for what they term inadequate payment on behalf of needy patients. The Michigan Hospital Association filed suit in U.S. District Court last week, charging state and federal Medicaid payments fall short of costs involved in providing care for Medicaid patients. The MHA and its member hospitals allege the state violates federal requirements for adequate reimbursement. Twelve hospitals are direct parties to the suit. Botsford General Hospital, Farmington Hills, is the only Wayne or Oakland county hospital so involved, though the Southfield-based MHA said another metropolitan area hospital may be added to the suit.

"HOSPITALS WERE chosen because they represented the average hospital in terms of Medicaid payments — not too high above the average, nor too low," MHA spokesman Steven Simmons said.

Calling it a matter of economic survival for many hospitals, the MHA claims a statewide Medicaid shortfall of more than $75 million.

A recent MHA-commissioned study found hospitals received less than 80 cents Medicaid payment for every $1 of care provided to needy patients.

Other hospitals that are party to the suit include: Bay Medical Center, Bay City; Berrien General, Berrien Center; Carson City Hospital, Edward W. Sparrow, Lansing; Ionia County Memorial, Ionia; Lansing General; Macomb Hospital Center, Warren; Mercy Memorial Medical Center, St. Joseph; Saint John, Detroit; St. Luke, Saginaw and Schoolcraft Memorial, Manistiquette.

Simmons declined to name the other metropolitan area hospital that was considering joining the suit. "They're board hasn't voted on it yet and we wouldn't comment until they had," he said.

State park fees to increase through 1995

By Tim Richard
staff writer

State park fees will go up by half next year and keep going up through 1995 under a bill on its way to Gov. James Blanchard's desk.

The Michigan Senate last week had to vote twice on the controversial bill before giving it 24-8 approval.

"It's amazing the increase we've had in the state budget in the '80s," said Sen. Doug Cruce, R-Troy, one of the no votes.

"For us to increase fees while the tax base is expanding so rapidly is unthinkable. There should be enough tax revenue to operate the parks," Cruce said in an interview.

THE VEHICLE admissions provide $2.8 million a year for park operations and maintenance, about 20 percent of the operating budget.

Here's how fees would rise under House Bill 4681:

The annual vehicle permit, which has been at $10 since 1980, would go to $15 next year, $18 in 1993 and $20 in 1995.

- The annual vehicle permit, which has been at $10 since 1980, would go to $15 next year, $18 in 1993 and $20 in 1995.

- Daily permits would go from the current $2 to $4 for Michigan residents.

- Senior citizen fees would go from $1 a year to half the general admission price.

- Non-resident fee would go from $3 to $6.

- Commercial buses and vans holding more than 12 passengers no longer would be able to buy annual sticker. They would be charged daily fees of up to $15 to be set by the Natural Resources Commission.

- A bigger chunk of the annual permit money would go for park operation and maintenance, a smaller proportion into capital outlay and special maintenance. This is due to voter passage of a $140 million recreational bond issue last year that is to be used solely for capital outlay.

- The Department of Natural Resources could raise fees for camping reservations and camping fees, which are paid on a daily basis over and above vehicle entry fees.

SUPPORTING the bill were Sens. William Faust, D-Westland, Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, and Robert Geake, R-Northville.

Opposed were Cruce, George Hart, D-Deerborn, and Rudy Nichols, R-Waterford.

Richard Fessler, R-Commerce, had an excused absence.

Current fees are "ridiculously low," according to a staff analysis. Meanwhile, staffing is down, toilet facilities are sometimes in disrepair, and stairways are deteriorating.

"The money goes into a special, restricted fund," said Sen. Phil Arthurs, R-Whitehall. "It is used for day-to-day operations — rangers, trucks. Fees have not been increased in a number of years. This does not meet inflation."

"The DNR budget is based on this fee increase," said Arthurs.

Debate was brief as senators waded through a stack of budget conference reports in the cramped quarters of a committee room. The Senate chamber has been torn apart during extensive renovations of the State Capitol Building.

Lindsey is a 5-year-old diabetic. Her daily insulin shots, diet restrictions and constant blood monitoring only provide day-to-day control over the disease. They do not cure it. So Lindsey, along with 11 million other Americans, still faces the long-term risks of diabetes — like heart disease, blindness, stroke, amputation and kidney disease. The complications of diabetes will account for an estimated 150,000 deaths this year alone.

But thanks to your contributions to the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, Lindsey and millions like her have something more to look forward to. In the past decade, JDF research has made great strides in isolating the causes and conditions of diabetes, bringing us closer to a cure. At the same time, diabetes increases by 6% every year. And in ten years the number of diabetics will have doubled.

So you see, your help is needed more desperately than ever before. For more information on the warning signs of diabetes and its treatment, and what you can do to help, call JDF at (313) 569-6171.

The ruffed grouse is among fowl that enjoy dust bathing. The function of dust bathing is not known, but it is thought to remove excess lipids from the feathers that are fed upon by feather mites. It may also help fluff the feathers and aid in their alignment.

Sun bathing — It's for the birds

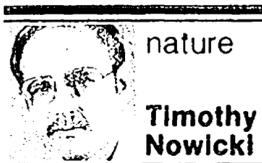

Summer is indeed the time for bathing. On hot sticky days, or after one has been sun bathing, it feels great to cool off in the shower.

Well, man is not the only animal that bathes. In fact birds do not always use water to bathe with either. We are all familiar with birds splashing in a shallow puddle formed by the sprinkler. Wetting feathers with water can help control their body heat and help align their feathers.

Birds also sun bathe. On hot sunny days one may see a robin, or cardinal in the yard resting on the ground with its wings outstretched and head arched downward. It may appear that the bird is suffering from heat exhaustion, but it is actually sun bathing.

Sun bathing is believed to force ectoparasites to regions of the body where the bird can easily remove them. Exposing the skin to sunlight may stimulate the production of vitamin D. There is also a strong correlation between molting and sun bathing. Sunlight may help to soothe the skin when it is irritated by the replacement of new feathers.

SEVERAL species of birds have been reported bathing in the rain and in the dew on leaves. But dust bathing is not as common. Fowl like birds, such as, quail, pheasants, and grouse are those most commonly observed dust bathing.

Timothy Nowicki

Not long ago I had the opportunity to watch a ruffed grouse dust bathing. Like most birds that dust bath, this individual rocked back and forth to form a slight depression in an old ant mound. It was very deliberate in its movements and would lie on one side with the upper wing extended. This allowed dust to get into the underwing area. There were times when it rolled onto its back while rocking and rolling to and fro insuring dust landed everywhere. In between bouts of rocking it would remain still for long periods as if soaking in pleasure. Though this behavior made the bird more vulnerable to predation, it stayed in its "tub" for about 40 minutes.

The exact function of dust bathing is not known, but it is thought to remove excess lipids from the feathers which are fed upon by feather mites. It may also help fluff the feathers and aid in their alignment.

Ficano mulls options after jail loss

By Wayne Poal
staff writer

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano said Friday he was mulling his options after last week's Michigan Court of Appeals decision that cost him control of the county jail.

Ficano said he was meeting with his attorneys to determine whether to continue his case before the state Supreme Court in the wake of Thursday's appeals court ruling favoring county Executive Edward McNamara.

"We're weighing our options," Ficano said. "We feel there are constitutional issues involved and we feel this sets a bad precedent. But there has been cooperation lately between our office and the executive."

The state appeals court upheld chief Wayne County Circuit Judge Richard Kaufman's Feb. 16 ruling awarding the jail to McNamara under terms of a 1971 prisoner lawsuit.

In March, the state Supreme Court temporarily overruled Kaufman, returning the jail to Ficano pending the appeals court ruling.

IN THAT ruling, Kaufman said the sheriff wasn't doing enough to bring the jail into compliance and had hampered improvements through "mismanagement".

Ficano, steadfastly denying Kaufman's findings, said he's never received his day in court to properly argue them.

"There's never been a full hearing in open court," Ficano said. "We never had the ability for cross-examination."

A spokesman for the executive's office said McNamara would "move promptly" to assume jail control.

"We're going to move in promptly to clean up the jail and bring the budget into balance," said deputy county executive Michael Duggan.

Former county youth home director Pete Wilson had been administering the jail under an informal agreement between both branches.

While Ficano said he assumed the informal agreement would continue, Duggan said the agreement, "was in effect until the (appeals court) opinion came out."

"We're going to do this in cooperation with the sheriff, but Ed McNamara is the jail administrator," Duggan said. "He's the one who will be reporting to Judge Kaufman."

The jail would return to the sheriff, Duggan said, once terms of Kaufman's ruling were met.

More state students need aid to complete college education

Eighty percent more state college students are using financial aid programs to complete their studies compared with those enrolled in college during the mid-1970s.

Increased aid levels occurred among all types of colleges and universities, but was most pronounced among community and independent colleges, according to a just-released Michigan Department of Education study.

The study compared the years 1986 and 1974.

While state higher education enrollment increased by 14 percent over that period, 80 percent more students had qualified for state, federal or private aid.

Michigan's public and independent colleges reported nearly 170,500 students were eligible for financial aid in 1986. The figure represents more than one-third of the state's undergraduates.

The increase can be attributed to rising tuition and changes in enrollment patterns, the economy and the financial aid system, said state Superintendent of Schools Donald Bemis.

Students at public universities received the most aid, $235 million. Students at independent colleges received $158 million in aid. Community college students received $62 million in aid.

The federal government provided

34 percent of state students' financial aid, private sources 33 percent, the state 18 percent. Colleges and universities themselves provided 15 percent of all financial aid.

Walter's booking trip to Johnstown

By Brad Emons
staff writer

"Wallyball" isn't just a cute slogan anymore.

Walter's Appliance capped an impressive three-game sweep of the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League playoffs Friday night at Ford Field with a 7-2 victory over Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury.

Pitcher Randy Buchler made his 45-minute ride to the ballpark from his home in Grass Lake a memorable one, winning his second playoff game on a two-hitter. The right-hander went the distance, striking out 12 in nine innings, while allowing just two hits and five walks.

But probably the happiest member of the Walter's brigade was manager Mike Keller, who after 10 years in the league will be making his first trip to the prestigious All-American Amateur Baseball Association Tournament, beginning Friday, Aug. 11, in Johnstown, Pa.

"This is great, and I'm still shaking inside," said the Livonia manager. "I felt it was 'meant to be' after our last (regular) season game when we beat Little Caesars 1-0. That's the point where we wanted to be. It made us believers."

BUCHLER also made believers out of Hines Park, mixing a variety of off-speed pitches with a lively sidearm fastball to handcuff the opposition.

Buchler is no stranger when it comes to winning the big one.

In 1987 he and Walter's catcher Tim Crabtree led Grass Lake High to the Class D state crown. As a freshman this past season at Hillsdale College, he was voted the Great Lakes Conference's most valuable pitcher.

"He was on the money all night long," Keller said. "But we also played real good defense."

"We made some excellent plays. It was a team effort. That's the way it's been all season long."

Shortstop Ken Dropiewski, a Wayne Memorial High graduate and a member of the Henry Ford Community College team this past spring, made three sparkling defensive plays on the night to propel Walter's to victory.

And as the Walter's players like to refer to, they hit "plenty of seeds."

The first outburst came in the second inning when Walter's produced five runs.

JOE STURTZ, the left fielder from North Farmington High headed for Indiana University, started the surge with a double and scored on Crabtree's single.

Dropiewski then reached base on an infield hit and advanced on a Hines Park infield error.

With the bases loaded, Jeff Pendell walked to make it 2-0. Marty Wolfe followed by sending a hard smash past Hines Park first baseman Derek Humphries, scoring two more runs. John Gotts then earned credit for an RBI on a ground out.

Walter's made it 6-0 in the fifth when Dave Houghtby and Sturtz pulled off a double steal with runners at first and third.

Damian Hull then scored Walter's seventh run when Pendell, a Livonia Churchill grad, singled.

That was more than enough cushion for Buchler, who said he was "pumped up" for the finale.

"Their pitcher (starter Brett Loomis of Siena Heights) gave me my only loss in college, and the last time out he beat me on a no-hitter," Buchler said. "It gave me added incentive. I felt great out there tonight, although the last inning I got a little tired."

BUT HINES PARK failed to take advantage. The bats were silent all night long.

Hines Park snapped Buchler's shutout bid, however, in the seventh when Chris Sisler singled and later scored on a wild pitch. They added one in the ninth, but it was too little, too late.

"It would have been nice to have gone (to Johnstown)," said Hines Park manager Dave Racer of the LCBL's regular season champions. "Sisler and Loomis had their hearts set on going."

"Our game is pitching and defense. Our pitching really didn't let us down. We haven't been playing defense the way we're capable of during the past week, and Walter's (the third-place team) got hot at the right time.

"I expected it to be us and Caesars at the end, but they got hot and that's what it takes."

On Wednesday, Walter's handed Hines Park its first loss of the four-team, double-elimination playoffs, 9-3.

But in the first game of the doubleheader Friday at Ford Field, Hines Park bounced back for an 8-4 win over Duffy's Plumbing, earning a second shot at Walter's.

Sisler, the ex-Canton High standout now at Kansas City Community College, hit a homer and double to send fourth-place Duffy's packing.

SHORTSTOP STEVE Michelz and Mike Siwajek each had two hits for the losers.

Both teams have qualified for the National Amateur Baseball Federation regional tournament, which begins this weekend at Ford Field.

But the night and the LCBL season belongs to Keller and his Walter's crew, who dedicated the 1989 campaign to the late Bob Foust, a former player and Westland firefighter who drowned last spring.

Grazulis learning new game at Olympic Festival

By Brad Emons
staff writer

PERHAPS LAURA Grazulis has upstaged the great Bo Jackson.

The 22-year-old athlete from Westland can do a little bit of everything and more, as the popular Nike shoe commercial dubs Jackson, the pro baseball and football star who has become the man for all seasons.

At John Glenn High (class of 1985), Grazulis ran cross country and track, played a year of tennis, and stood out in volleyball.

At Tulane (La.) University, Grazulis performed four years on the women's volleyball team and held the javelin record for a month in track (during her senior year).

And now Grazulis has entered a new arena — team handball — where last week she played for the South team at the Olympic Sports Festival in Oklahoma City, Okla. (The South competed Sunday for the bronze medal.)

"It's a little bit of basketball, volleyball and some soccer, although you can't actually kick the ball," Grazulis explained. "It's a lot like water polo, only it's on land. It's a lot bigger over in Europe and right now they're trying to create interest over here."

TEAM HANDBALL is played by two sides of seven players (including a goalie) and five substitutes. The object is to score most the goals with attackers passing or dribbling the ball with their hands until a shooting opportunity is created. When a team loses possession it immediately forms a defensive formation around the goal, which is three meters wide by two meters high.

(The indoor playing surface is 44 yards long by 22 yards wide.)

"There's quite a bit of contact," said Grazulis. "You can strike a person from throwing the (leather) ball, but there are also two-minute penalties for being too rough. There are also penalty shots taken for flagrant fouls."

At 6 feet, 3 inches, Grazulis uses height to her advantage.

But she remains a relative novice, having tried three different positions including goalie, circle runner and left back during her stint at the Olympic Festival.

"I'm not sure I'm good at any," chuckled Grazulis.

The volleyball coach at Tulane, Dorothy Franco, was instrumental in providing Grazulis a tryout for the Olympic Festival.

"MY COACH was an Olympian in 1984 and because of her I was able to get an invitation," said Grazulis. "Because of my background, she felt I was worth a look."

Considering her athletic history, it's not surprising that Grazulis earned a berth on the team. She comes from an athletic family.

Three of her brothers were college basketball players including 6-9 Paul, who played at Eastern Michigan University; 6-5 Mario, who just finished at Kalamazoo College; and 6-6 Andy, a reserve forward for NCAA Division I tourney qualifier Siena (N.Y.) College.

All three brothers also played tennis at Glenn.

"Everybody thought that I would play basketball in high school," said Laura. "But I ran cross country. It coincided with the basketball season so I couldn't do both. I wanted to run cross country because of track, so I never got into it (basketball) even though everybody thought I should have."

During her senior year at Glenn, Grazulis was one of the area's top distance runners. In the winter she was standout in volleyball.

"It was a fluke that I even got into volleyball," she said.

AFTER GRADUATING, Grazulis was set to run track at Miami of Ohio before a couple of college volleyball coaches intervened during a summer AAU tournament in Chicago.

Convinced her future was in volleyball, coaches from Miami of Florida and Tulane each offered scholarships. Grazulis suddenly changed her mind, enrolling at the New Orleans campus.

But in four years of volleyball at Tulane, she played in relative anonymity.

Because of a national scandal involving the men's basketball program, which was censured by the NCAA, all Tulane athletic teams lost their membership to the Metro Conference. The volleyball team played as an independent ("We didn't have much of a schedule," Grazulis said) and despite two sparkling seasons (28-9 and 32-7), the Green Wave never earned an invitation to the NCAA tournament.

And to make matters worse, the coach who recruited Grazulis, Kathy Trostelair, died of cancer just before her senior year.

"We lost quite a few girls and the competition got a lot tougher," said Grazulis, who was voted team MVP as a senior. "We did pretty well considering that we only had seven players. We finished 18-11."

WITH A VOLLEYBALL career at an end, Grazulis turned her attention back to track where she dabbled in the javelin throw.

"I needed to get into something to keep in shape because I knew I was going to be trying out in team handball," Grazulis said.

If all goes according to plan, Grazulis will graduate from Tulane in December with a degree in sociology. She would like to work for Covenant House, an agency which deals with runaway children.

Headquartered in New York, Covenant House has numerous locations throughout the western hemisphere. Grazulis realizes she has plenty of options.

"I'd like to go to Alaska, but there are a lot of other places — South America, Cleveland. . . they even have a branch in New Orleans, but I'll go wherever I'm assigned."

Meanwhile, Grazulis is unsure about her newly-found team handball career. (The top players from the Olympic Festival will be selected to play for the U.S. National Team.)

"I'D LIKE to stick with it because it's fun," she said. "It's a more of an aggressive game than I'm used to, so it's different in that respect."

"It depends how much time I put into it. It isn't easy to get a group together and start playing."

Knowing the multi-talented Grazulis, it appears she can adapt to just about any sport.

But can Bo play team handball?

Pitcher a pain in neck for Ohio tourney foes

The tournament might have been over before it got started for the Pat Boyle Chevrolet men's modified fast-pitch softball team.

But it wasn't, and the team rebounded to win the Fostoria Metro League Tournament with a 4-0 record (July 23).

The team and ace pitcher Curtis Richards were nearly dealt an insurmountable blow in the first inning of the first game when Richards was felled by a batted ball.

On the fourth pitch to the leadoff batter, Richards was hit on the right side of the neck with a line drive.

After being knocked down and dazed by what could have been a dreadful injury, Richards regained his feet and composure, pitched to the next batter and led Boyle Chevrolet to the title.

"IF I DIDN'T get right back up, I don't know if I ever would have pitched again," said Richards, fearing he would have been gun shy if he bothered to dwell on it.

"I've pitched all my life and never had a ball hit back at me like that. 'It puts the fear of God in you.'"

Pat Boyle defeated Port Huron-based Little Caesars, the defending outstate champion, twice to win the tournament. In the winner's bracket final, Boyle Chevrolet eked out a 7-5 victory and whipped Caesars 9-1 in the rematch.

And it so happens Richards also plays for Little Caesars when he's not pitching for Pat Boyle. The latter is considered his team, and that's the one he chose to play for in the tournament.

"They wanted me bad," said Richards, who survived a 13-hit assault in the first Caesars game and tossed a five-hitter in the second. "They wanted to hit me all over the park."

Richards' teammates did some serious hitting themselves, combining for a .339 team average. Don Dreher finished with a tournament average of .600, Keith McManaway and Rick Dreher .417, Mike Kesson .385 and Dan Pierce .357.

softball

MCMANAWAY ALSO hit three home runs and led Boyle Chevrolet with nine RBI, and the Dreherers had five RBI apiece.

In the second Caesars game, Jeff Campbell was 3-for-4, and Don Dreher, Dave Brubaker, Curt White and Steve Dawson had two hits each as Pat Boyle supported Richards with 14 hits and an 8-0 lead. McManaway belted a solo homer.

In the first meeting, Boyle Chevrolet needed 12 innings to hand Caesars its first loss. Rick Dreher's solo homer and Campbell's RBI single pushed Pat Boyle over the edge.

But the winners also needed a two-run seventh to stay in the game. Don Dreher's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded and Brubaker's RBI single gave Pat Boyle a 5-4 lead, but Caesars scored a run in the bottom of the seventh and forced the game into extra innings.

In the opening game Saturday, Richards, after recovering from being hit, tossed a four-hitter to beat Express Oil of Port Huron 7-1. Richards allowed only two hits after the first inning and walked only one for the game.

McManaway's grand slam highlighted a five-run seventh inning, which Pat Boyle entered with a 2-1 lead. Kesson had two hits, Dan Pierce had an RBI single and Don Dreher an RBI sacrifice fly.

IN A LATER game Saturday, Pat Boyle whipped the Fostoria All-Stars 12-2 as Richards threw another four-hitter, walked one and struck out five.

McManaway blasted a three-run homer in the first inning, and Rick Dreher keyed a six-run third with a two-run triple. Pierce added an RBI single in the big inning. Rick Dreher was 3-for-4 with three RBI, McManaway and Don Dreher 2-for-2.

Tie gives Boyle modified crown

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

The game was men's modified fast-pitch softball, but football came to mind Monday night (July 24) at Ford Field.

The regular-season finale between first-place Pat Boyle Chevrolet and John Rogin Buick was supposed to decide the championship of the Livonia circuit.

It did, but not quite the way everyone expected as Pat Boyle needed only a 3-3 tie — the result of a time limit imposed by the parks and recreation department — to win its second straight title.

Pat Boyle players invoked the memory of Duffy Daugherty afterward, but the outcome meant they also could relate to Ara Parseghian, the man who purposely played it safe and still won it all.

"This is like kissing your sister," said Pat Boyle catcher Dave Brubaker. "You hate to win it like this. Nobody comes out here to play for a tie."

PAT BOYLE, 10-1-1, went into the contest with a one-game lead over Total Foods, which finished with a 10-2 record. Rogin Buick ended up 8-3-1.

Playing in the late game that didn't get under way until nearly 10 p.m., the teams were tied after seven innings at approximately 11:15 p.m.

They already had surpassed the 11 p.m. lights-out curfew and the one-hour, 10-minute time limit when the umpires called a halt to the game, which drew a negative response from a handful of Total Foods players who stayed around to see the Boyle-Rogin game.

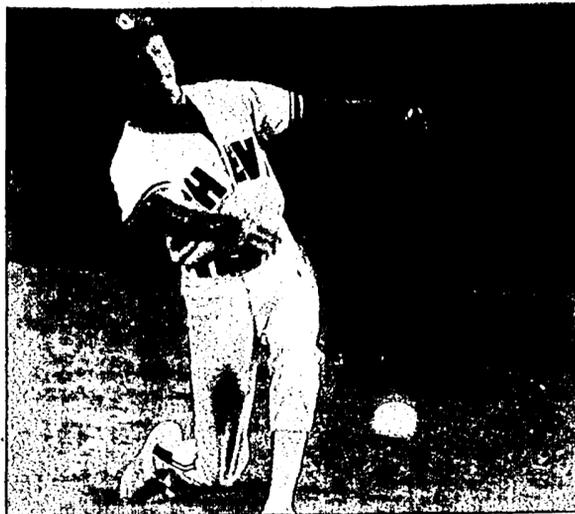

If Rogin Buick had beaten Boyle Chevrolet, Total Foods and Pat Boyle would have met in a playoff game at some future date to determine the Division A winner.

"It doesn't matter how you win it," Pat Boyle manager Rick Dreher said. "It's whether you win it or not."

"I can think of seven other teams out here that would like to kiss their sister tonight."

"WE KNEW what we had to do," he added. "We just didn't do it quite right, but we'll take it."

Pat Boyle, formerly known as FGS Radiator, has now won the

CHUCK HEINEY/staff photographer

Curtis Richards is Boyle Chevrolet's ace on the mound. He bounced back from a line shot to the neck to lead Boyle to victory. (See related story.)

Livonia title five of the last eight years. It has won the Plymouth league eight consecutive years, but that streak is in jeopardy since Boyle Chevrolet is two games out of first with four remaining.

Furthermore, the team was coming off a weekend loss, having won the Fostoria Metro League Tournament by beating the defending outstate champion, Little Caesars of Port Huron.

"I ended up losing about six pounds over the weekend," said winning pitcher Curtis Richards, alluding to the hot, humid weather. "It has a little effect. You have to go to work in the morning, and it's a long day."

"The good thing about this (Monday game) is it was a night game. I was able to lie down for an hour."

Richards also gave credit to the Rogin Buick team for its aggressiveness at the plate. The opponent outhit Boyle Chevrolet 8-6 but never had the lead. Don Dreher, the only player with more than one hit for the winners, went 3-for-3 and scored two runs, and Tim McCrohan, Mike Neville and Tom See were 2-for-3 for Rogin.

"I'VE PITCHED against this team a lot of times, and they were hitting the ball tonight," Richards said. "They were swinging a nice bat."

"The ball just wasn't popping as well as it does. Sometimes it comes in flat, and good hitters will hit a flat pitch."

The teams played cat-and-mouse for five innings, with Boyle Chevrolet taking the lead and Rogin Buick always producing the tying run a short time later.

Scott Collins' RBI groundout made it 1-0, but McCrohan tripled and continued home in the second when the relay throw went high into the screen behind home plate. The teams exchanged runs again on Don Dreher's RBI single and Bob See's sacrifice fly.

In the Boyle fourth, Dreher hit safely, stole second and scored when Brubaker's grounder rolled through the second baseman's legs for an error. Pat Malzone scored the tying run for Rogin Buick on See's fifth-inning single.

"THAT ONE inning was a big inning," said Rick Dreher, referring to the third when Pat Boyle loaded the bases with no outs and failed to score. "The shortstop made a great play. If he doesn't get that, it turns the whole ballgame around."

After a single, error and fielder's choice that didn't get anybody out loaded the bags, power-hitting Keith McManaway, who hit three home runs in the weekend tournament, smashed a line drive that was caught by Chuck Robbins. Successive fielder's choices ended the inning and the threat.

Boyle got a runner to second in the sixth and seventh innings but left him there each time. Rogin had only one baserunner in the last two innings.

Local pros return to Satellite Bowl

THE LADIES ARE COMING to town! Lady bowlers, that is. The Ladies Pro Bowlers Tour will stop at Satellite Bowl on Michigan Avenue west of Telegraph Road, Aug. 6-10. The finals will be nationally televised.

For those bowling enthusiasts who are interested, they can enter the pro-am competition. This is a chance for amateur bowlers to bowl with the professionals.

Cheryl Daniels local favorite

The prize fund in the pro-am is $6,000, with $1,000 guaranteed for first place. A nine-pin, no-lap format will be used.

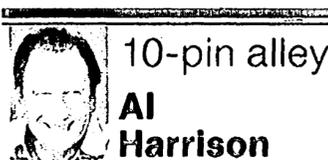

The amateur participants also will receive a souvenir sweater and other gifts in addition to the opportunity to bowl with three top professional lady bowlers.

The tournament features the world's best professional women bowlers. Among the participants will be Westland's Aleta Sill (two-time Bowler of the Year), Dede Davidson (1985 Rookie of the Year), Detroit's Cheryl Daniels (winner of three tournaments in 1989) and Carol Gianotti (1989 WIBC Queens champion).

Also competing will be past champions Dana Miller, Jeannie Maiden and Lorrie Nichols and the winners of the last four U.S. Open tournaments — Wendy MacPherson, Carol Norman, Lisa Wagner and Robin Romeo.

The pro-am part of the tournament takes place Sunday, Aug. 6, with the youth competition at 11 a.m. and the adult squads to follow at 1 p.m. The pro portion of the tournament begins on Monday, Aug. 7, with qualifying rounds and continues through match play, which begins Tuesday evening and concludes with the nationally televised stepladder finals at 7 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 10.

Pro-am entries and tickets to view the tournament sessions are available at the Satellite Bowl. Ticket sale proceeds will benefit Special Olympics. For further information call Mark or Diane Voight at 278-7400.

• The Good Old Days are here again. This annual promotion by the Bowling Centers Association will take place Aug. 4-6. The participating centers will offer open bowling throughout the weekend for 50 cents per lane, and hungry appetites can be taken care of with 50-cent hot dogs.

The participating bowling centers in the O&E area are Bel Aire Lanes in Farmington, Bowl One in Troy, Country Lanes, Drakeshire and Langan's North-West Lanes in Farmington Hills, Merri-Bowl, Wonderland Lanes and Woodland Lanes in Livonia; Garden Lanes and Silver Lanes in Garden City; Redford Bowl, Redford Lanes and Mayflower Lanes in Redford; Oak Lanes, Westland Bowl and Town & Country Lanes in Westland; Plaza Lanes and Plymouth Bowl in Plymouth; Plum Hollow Lanes in Southfield; Super Bowl in Canton Township and West Bloomfield Lanes.

These lanes will be open throughout daytime and evening hours for everyone to come out and bowl at the Good Old Days bargain rates and have a lot of fun.

If you are not a bowler but would like to give it a try, balls and shoes are always available.

• The recent hot weather hasn't affected the scoring at Bel Aire Lanes as the Un-Mixed Mixed League last Wednesday night had Dan Schumacher with a 670 series on games of 243, 175 and 253. Max Lynch was right up there, too, with a 603 series including a 243 game.

In the Family Twosome, Gary Burgess Jr. had a 364 series. That was 127 pins over his average, which surely will go up. In the Tuesday Trio League, the high game was rolled by Howie Generalch with a 264 and Ted Middleton had the high set with 628. King of the Hill competition was won by Steve Herman as he beat out Pro Shop owner John Fallows for the prize money.

At Country Lanes, Dave Mahaz of Westland came through with a 299 game in the Monday Men's Trio League. Country Lanes has completed the lane finishing work and is ready for those high-scoring league bowlers this fall.

• The action at Drakeshire Lanes involved a 300 game by Kenny Kosick of Canton Township while competing in the Men's Classic Trio League. Mike Brown hit an 802 series for three games while Dick Beattie scored 1,040 in a four-game block.

A noteworthy event is the selection of Drakeshire and Novi lanes as the sites for the Michigan State Youth Tournament next March and April. The tournament will cover all Saturdays and Sundays in those months.

The State Youth Jamboree will also take place at Drakeshire on Oct. 28-29. This will be an opportunity for any and all interested parties to become informed about all levels of youth bowling from the Bumpers all the way up to the collegiate level.

• Town & Country Lanes in Westland had some outstanding scores in its Wednesday Nite Trio League as Harry Fill registered a 722 series and Dan Altizer came up with a 750 total.

At Woodland Lanes in Livonia, the Family Foursome League featured Ron Spicer with a 268 game. In the Men's Doubles, Gary DeMea hit a 718 series on a block of 267, 247 and 204. The Men's Trio League, with a four-game format, saw Chuck Dobrick at 889, Pat Burger 876 and Ken Kubit 874. In the Tuesday Trio League, Jim Gagnon rolled a 278 game in a foursome of 911.

• The kids instruction series is well under way, and the youngsters are learning quickly under the instructional skills of Laura Poduszny. These kids may turn out to be tomorrow's superstars, like 9-year-old Billy McMillan who is learning the basic steps along with 11-year-old Kevin Green, who can deliver the ball much better than he could two weeks ago. He says he can really get the ball "down the lane." These kids will have completed a six-week course which will get them off to a good start if they wish to continue bowling and perhaps join a fall team.

SKYLINE ADVANCES

Winning four of its final five games, Livonia Skyline of the Little Caesars Mickey Mantle League (15-16-year-olds) has advanced to the district playoffs.

OUTSTANDING CAGER

Jay Laura, 9, who will be a student this fall at Webster Elementary School, was recently named the outstanding player for his age group at the Benny White/Magic Johnson Basketball Camp held at Detroit Country Day School.

Laura, who was runner-up in the free throw and outside shooting contests, competed against 100 other players.

RACQUETBALL TOURNNEY

The 1989 Racquetball Health Club Invitational will be held Friday through Sunday, Aug. 25-27 at the Livonia club.

The entry fee is $20 per person. AARA rules apply. Men's, women's and junior divisions are open. Call tournament directors Jim Earley and Madonna McPharlin at 591-1212 for more information.

SENIOR SOFTBALL

• The Suburban Senior Softball League will hold its annual picnic and all-star game between the American and National divisions, beginning at 10 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 10, at Livonia's Rotary Park.

• An open invitation is extended to all seniors interested in participating in softball for the 1990 season. Players are urged to come out and play at 10 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 3, and Tuesday, Aug. 8, at Livonia's Ford Field (diamond No. 2). The field is located off Farmington Road between Lyndon and I-96.

For more information, call Mike Palizzi at 595-8833.

SOFTBALL TRYOUTS

Tryouts for the Mid-America Mustangs, a girls youth USSSA/ASA sanctioned 15 and under slow-pitch softball team (1990 summer season) will be Aug. 12-13.

For more information, call Ray Knickerbocker at 455-5893.

UMPIRES NEEDED

Umpires are needed for the Michigan Special Olympics Softball Tournament, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 4-5, at the Canton Softball Center.

The Wayne Civitan Club is hosting the tournament with Friday games beginning at 6 p.m. and Saturday's action starting at 9 a.m. If you are a sanctioned umpire, contact Ron Swan at 722-3771 or 491-4550.

GLENN GOLF MEETING

A meeting regarding tryouts for the Westland John Glenn High boys golf team will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 16, in Room 188.

For more information, call coach Dan Burtka at 595-2357 or 981-1752.

CARDS 1ST ACE

Reid Scott, 65, of Livonia, scored his first hole-in-one Wednesday on the 123-yard, No. 14 hole at Idyl Wyld.

He used a 5-iron and scored 57 for nine holes.

HOCKEY CLINIC

The Westland Hockey Association will hold skating clinics from 6 to 7 p.m. each Wednesday (throughout August) and from noon to 1 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 19 and 26 at the Westland Sports Arena, 6210 N. Wildwood.

The fee is $3 and full hockey gear is required.

HOCKEY TRYOUT

The Wayne-Westland Over-30 Hockey Association will host tryouts at 6 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 20, at 8 p.m. and Sunday at Wayne Ice Arena. A $5 fee for each ice session is required for those trying out.

For more information, call Mike Troup (728-0292) or Gerry Skocen (522-4166).

LHA NEEDS HELP

The Livonia Hockey Association is seeking Bantam House Division (ages 14-15) coaches for the upcoming season. Those interested should call the LHA office 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. (Monday, Wednesday, Friday) or call Bantam director Bob Kozar after 5 p.m. at 464-8047.

JUNIOR C TRYOUTS

After a one-year hiatus, the Livonia Hockey Association will again be featuring the Junior C Knights, a travel hockey team for players 19 and under.

Tryouts will be in late August at locations to be announced. Conditioning scrimmages, however, are being held each Saturday night at Beech-Woods Arena in Southfield.

For more information, call head coach Keith Outinen at 471-5717 (evenings) or 425-7300 (days).

WOLVES '76 TRIUMPH

The Livonia Wolves '76 soccer team won the Penns Forest International Challenge Cup tournament held July 22-24 near Pittsburgh, Pa.

• Tryouts for the Livonia Y Premier Soccer Club's '73 Titan boys (under-17) soccer team (1990 season), coached by Frantz Lamarre, will be at 6:30 p.m. Aug. 9 at Jaycee Park. (All players should bring water and a soccer ball with identification.) For more information, call John Courtney at 464-1753.

• Tryouts for the '74 Wolves Little Caesars Ilitch Division boys soccer team (coach Rocco Mitkov) will be held Tuesday, Aug. 1, and Wednesday, Aug. 2, at 6:30 p.m. at Livonia's Jaycee Park. Call Kathy Coyne at 427-3336 for more information.

• Tryouts for the '75 Wolves (B team) will be at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 1, at Livonia's Jaycee Park. For more information, call Kathy Coyne at 427-3336.

BEAVER ISLAND

'America's Emerald Isle'

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Tranquility, natural beauty, solitude, simplicity and old-fashioned friendliness — these are some of the things Beaver Islanders like best about their Lake Michigan home.

They're also the reasons vacationers, looking to get away from it all, fall in love with the place. If you can't relax here, there's just no hope for you.

Twenty miles northwest of Charlevoix, Beaver Island is 13 miles long and six miles wide — the largest island in Lake Michigan.

Largely forested, Beaver boasts seven inland lakes, 41 miles of beaches, 100 miles of scenic roads and numerous hiking trails. Fishermen and hunters will tell you the island is blessed with a rich variety of animal and plant life.

There are wonderful restaurants; fascinating museums; a biological station; marinas; lakeside campgrounds that operate on the honor system; delightful shops with hardwood floors and wooden screen doors; even an antique toy store where a note invites you to leave the money on the counter if Mary isn't around.

Islanders are proud of their quality schools, and their newest asset — a library funded chiefly by Land's End retailer Gary Comber.

Sunsets on Beaver Island are something to behold.

Star-gazers are in heaven here.

Beaver is the largest of an 11-island archipelago that from the air "looks like a scattering of emeralds strewn by the hand of a playful giant against the deep blue of Lake Michigan," suggested one travel writer. Those en route to one of Beaver's two small airports are free to judge for themselves.

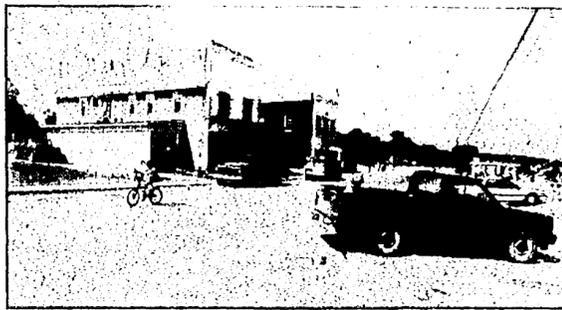

VISITORS opting for the 2½-hour ferry ride ($21 round trip) from Charlevoix are treated to eye-pleasing sights as well. The boat docks in the heart of St. James, a harbor town nestled in a bay lush with evergreens and sandy beaches.

A sign reading "Cead Mile Fáilte" (100,000 welcomes in Irish) gives visitors their first clue that beaver dams notwithstanding, Beaver Island is a friendly, Irish place.

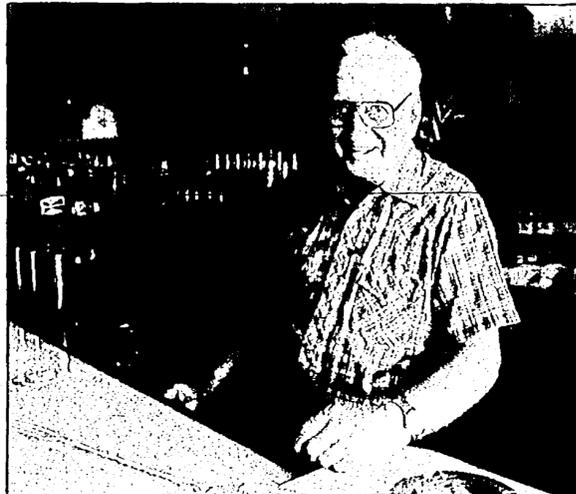

It's not unusual for newly-arrived city slickers to be offered a ride to their motel or cottage by a passer-by. If they accept, travelers may learn how rare it is for an islander to remove the keys from the ignition. Local wisdom has it that that's a good way to lose them.

One of the nicest customs on Beaver is the wave, and not the kind you do at Tiger Stadium. You can bet that whether you're on foot or on wheels, an islander will never pass you on the road without waving hello.

An afternoon rush hour on Beaver Island's main street, the King's Highway consisted of a pickup truck and a child on a bicycle.

Archie La Freniere, Beaver's "unofficial governor-general," swatted plenty of flies while presiding over the Shamrock Bar for 37 years.

Island has a colorful beginning

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

When it comes to colorful Michigan island history, Beaver Island has a lock on bragging rights.

Need convincing? Visit the island museum, better known as the Old Mormon Print Shop. On the National Register of historic places, the museum is staffed by Beaver Island Historical Society volunteers who'll confirm it in a minute. (They'll also invite you to help yourself to a paperback or two from a shelf on the front porch, as long as you bring it back, trade it for a book of your own, or make a small donation.)

Beaver was formed nearly 10,000 years ago when a stubborn limestone lip scraped rocks and sediment from the belly of a passing glacier.

Little is known about Beaver's first Indian inhabitants, but it's said Ojibways were around when the first white trappers and traders arrived.

Christianity may have come to Beaver Island as early as the 1600s. Bishop Frederic Baraga built the island's first church in 1832.

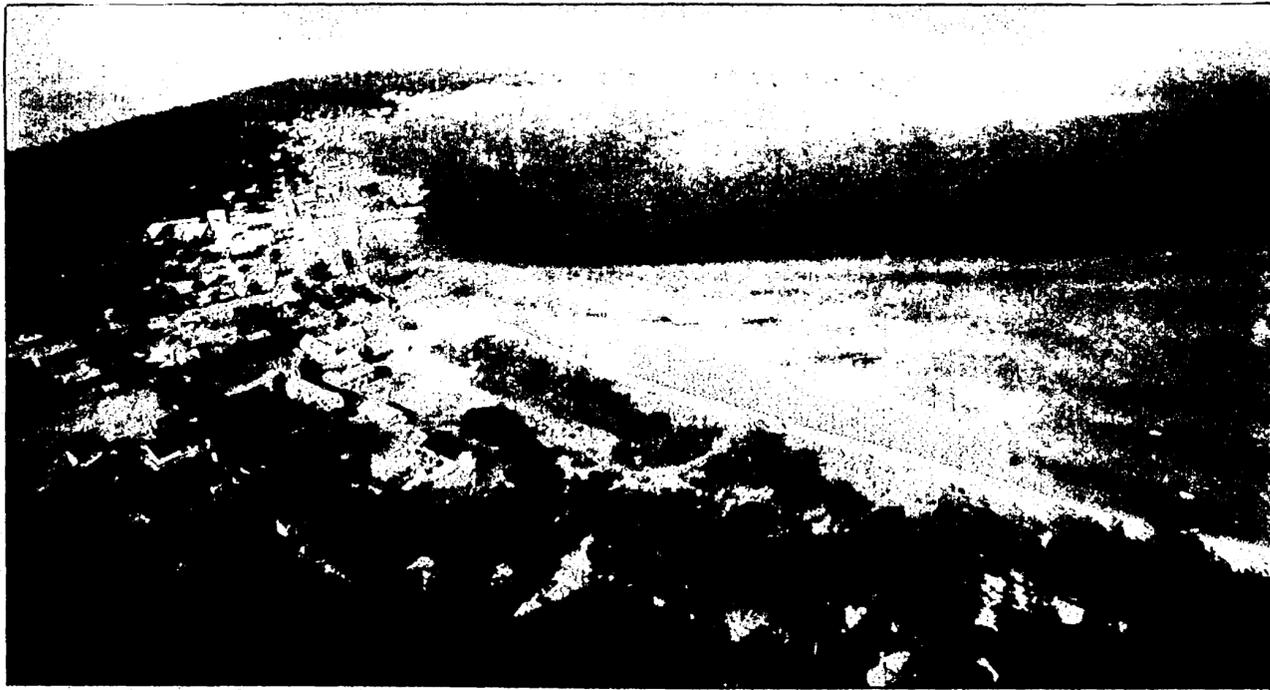

The only kingdom ever in existence in the United States was founded in 1847 by self-coronated James Jesse Strang, leader of a Mormon colony on Beaver.

By 1850, Mormons outnumbered the "gentiles," mainly Irish, and by 1852, non-Mormons were crowded off the island.

In the Old Mormon Print Shop, the red-headed Strang started the first daily newspaper north of Grand Rapids — the Daily Northern Islander.

A flamboyant lawyer, Strang also served in the state legislature. He appropriated land on the island, contended he received divine commands and practiced polygamy.

Once upon a time in Sveti Stefan

By Iris Sanderson Jones
contributing travel editor

Q: Four of us are going to Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia, on a one-week tour, then staying another week on our own. We plan to spend a few days sailing and a few days land touring. The literature keeps referring to a hotel, or an island, called Sveti Stefan. What's the story on Sveti Stefan?

A: If you like sea tales, you will love the story of Sveti Stefan on the Adriatic coast of what is now southern Yugoslavia. The story begins in the 15th century.

The walled city of Dubrovnik sat in its jeweled setting beside the sea 85 miles to the north. The walled city of Budva sat above the sea six miles north. The Turks controlled the Adriatic coast 40 miles south of the island in what is now Albania and made regular forays into the area.

It was a dangerous place to live, so the people who lived on the rocky mountainsides of Montenegro decided to build a wall around a tiny rock island as someplace to go when the fighting started. The island was just offshore, so they could walk across at low tide. Today, that entire walled island village is the Hotel Sveti Stefan.

Before I tell you more, let me tell you how to get there by the scenic route. You will have toured the beautiful seaside city of Dubrovnik. Drive south along the scenic coast, with a stop for water sports, history and browsing in Cavtat.

mains off ancient history, enjoy the sunshine and sun on the beautiful beaches. You can pick your beach style — rock, spa-quality mud, sand, pebble, nude, whatever.

There is a huge double bay called the Gulf of Kotor between Dubrovnik and Sveti Stefan. Spend at least a day driving around it, stopping at Herceg-Novi and other towns.

DRIVE TO the top of the mountain for a spectacular view and tour the ancient city of Kotor, wrapped in a wall from sea to mountain top and back again. Drive across the mountains to the walled city of Budva and six miles on to Sveti Stefan. You can take a ferry across the gulf, but you would miss all that wonderful touring.

You first see Sveti Stefan from a hill above the Adriatic, an island of red roofs, trimmed around the edges by a stone wall. When you turn down off the Adriatic Highway and pass the summer homes (now hotels) of the former Yugoslav royal

'Hooch' is dumb, 'drooly' d-u-m-b

Welcome to the Wonderful World of Saliva — and if you think a big, ugly dog that drools in all directions is funny, well then, you're gonna love "Turner & Hooch" (D, PG, 95 minutes).

Hooch is portrayed by an unpleasant looking animal, Beasley, and his double Igor, both De Bourdeaux, a French breed of mastiff. About half way through the film, while sitting on an all-night stakeout, Detective Scott Turner (Tom Hanks) turns to the dog and says, "I'm boring you."

I can't speak for the dog, but for myself, I couldn't agree more. "Turner & Hooch" is filled with infantile humor — the dog's heavy spittle flung in all directions and deposited everywhere, particular in the fastidious Turner's clothing and home. Hooch also enjoys chewing furniture, car upholstery and leaving a mess wherever he goes, including the immediate atmosphere which he fills with flatulence — much to almost everyone's amusement.

The film's real problem, however, is not childish bathroom jokes but its own schizophrenia as it fluctuates from serious murder-mystery to a conventional Disney comedy all about men and animals bonding. The comedy element wins out but in the final analysis, "Turner & Hooch" tears itself apart figuring out what it wants to be.

For the most part, the investigation is subordinated to the alleged comedy of sloppy dog destroying meticulous home, car and office of Mr. Clean, Detective Scott Turner. The complicated murder investigation gets lost in the background of these immature jokes and, at several points, is incomprehensible.

The simple-minded silliness is carried to the nth degree with the love-interest, veterinarian Dr. Emily Carson (Mare Winningham), who it should be no surprise, has a lady dog so that Hooch can do it in the streets while Turner and Carson are doing it inside.

Yes, friends, they do it, even in Touchstone Pictures — Disney's arm for mature entertainment. But don't worry, parents, they don't show anything, just talk about it, so you needn't worry. This film is so childish that kids young enough to enjoy it won't understand what they're talking about.

THE DELIGHTFUL Babar stories created over 50 years ago by Cecilie de Brunhoff and illustrated by her husband, Jean, now are on the screen in an animated version which should amuse children of all ages.

Produced in part by the Nelvana Company, whose 1985 success, "The Care Bears Movie" holds the box-office record for a non-Disney animation, "Babar: The Movie" is set for a major co-merchandising campaign so look for Babar dolls everywhere.

Interested in trivia? They've got that, too. How many artists were required to create the Babar film? Answer: 281 and they used 37.5 gallons of paint on 150,000 animation cels. Great fun.

So, what did you expect? Jason is still a corpse with an attitude. At 110 minutes "Friday the 13th: Part VII" (F, R) is 100 minutes too long.

"Jason Takes Manhattan" isn't quite accurate either. It's more like Jason takes an extremely slow boat to the Big Apple while killing off everyone in sight in a litany of uninspired gore. This movie has the look and feel of a junior high school film project.

Production values are nil and suspense is non-existent. Nothing here is fun or enjoyable. What is disturbing, particularly since this movie is aimed at a young audience, is the tacit approval of promiscuity and the frequent use of cocaine and heroin. This is unforgivable and a wholly unnecessary breach of the supposedly socially responsible consciousness in Hollywood these days.

There isn't a single redeeming aspect in this movie to make it worthwhile. Save your money and your time. Trust me, you've got better things to do. Reviewed by Susan Fincham.

STILL PLAYING:

"Batman" (C+) (PG-13) 120 minutes. Michael Keaton is a dud in the title role but Jack Nicholson's Joker is terrific.

"Dead Poets Society" (A+) (PG) 124 minutes. Robin Williams' sensitive portrait of a fine teacher is complimented by excellent young actors as his students.

"Do the Right Thing" (B+) (R) 120 minutes. Sharp, incisive and entertaining commentary on today's urban America.

"Field of Dreams" (B+) (PG) 111 minutes. Fanciful baseball story as Iowa farmer builds diamond so Shoeless Joe Jackson can play again.

"Ghostbusters II" (C-) (PG) 102 minutes. It's less funny the second time.

"Great Balls of Fire" (C) (PG-13) 105 minutes.

"Honey, I Shrunk the Kids" (B+) (PG) 105 minutes.

It's fun but it ain't easy to be small. "Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade" (B+) (PG-13) 120 minutes.

"Karate Kid III" (D-) (PG) 105 minutes. Boring, cliched sequel.

"Lethal Weapon II" (B+) (R) 115 minutes.

Glover and Gibson do it again in high, albeit violent, style.

Stewart shines in series

By John Monaghan
special writer

A director once said that Jimmy Stewart's success came from his ability to be so "unusually unusual." It was a feature that proved irresistible in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" (1939) and "It's a Wonderful Life" (1946), where he played common men in an uphill battle for dignity.

The Livonia Mall plays tribute to Jimmy Stewart in a continuing series of free films. Screening Tuesday mornings at 10 a.m. (Squeezed in before the mall's matinees), previous films have attracted word-of-mouth audiences up to 300.

More than the previous series, which saluted Judy Garland, Clark Gable and Debbie Reynolds, the choices in the Stewart festival are testimony to the actor's greatness. Though passing over his famous films with director Frank Capra, four out of the five films scheduled rank among his finest work.

Hitchcock's "Rear Window" (1945) kicks off the month-long series on Aug. 1. In a bizarre twist on the term "neighborhood watch," Stewart plays a bed-ridden photo-journalist who suspects murder in the apartment across the courtyard.

WHAT MAKES "Rear Window" so incredible is that the audience never strays from the photographer's

Fortunately, the rest of the titles hail from the previous two decades — three from the busy year of 1940. "Born to Dance" (1936), playing Aug.

22, provided Stewart with his first big break. Though a clumsy hoofler, he and Eleanor Powell introduced a slew of Cole Porter musical numbers, including "Easy to Love" and "I've Got You Under My Skin."

He teamed up with Katherine Hepburn, Cary Grant and director George Cukor for "The Philadelphia Story" (1940), the stagey but breezy film version of the Broadway play. It screens Aug. 8.

Stewart plays a reporter covering a society wedding only to fall in love with the bride (a beguiling Hepburn). Ex-husband Grant, meanwhile, has his own plans for getting her back. Stewart won his first Academy Award for this.

MY PERSONAL favorite among Stewart films is "The Shop Around the Corner" (1940), screening Aug. 29. Ernst Lubitsch directed, with Stewart and Margaret Sullivan as employees in a Budapest notib's shop. For close to a year, they despise each other without knowing that they share a common bond — they are each other's lonely hearts pen pals.

And while the Aug. 15 offering "No Time for Comedy" (1940), is true to its title, think of this as your only chance to see it on the big screen. Even in his lesser films, Stewart exhibited a sincerity and warmth that no actor has since equaled.

VIDEO VIEWING

By Dan Greenberg
special writer

There's nothing like vintage Bogie, and "The Desperate Hours" (B, 112 minutes, unrated) is just that. While there's an appealing, competent supporting cast, including Arthur Kennedy, Martha Scott, Dewey Martin, Gig Young and Mary Murphy, this one is all Bogart and his nemesis, Fredric March.

This 1955 black and white Paramount release — just two years before Bogart's untimely death — was produced and directed by William Wyler. Joseph Hayes adapted his novel and play for the screen and Paramount is releasing the video cassette on Aug. 2.

The story is pretty simple and straight forward, almost cliched in these days of widespread hostage-taking. Bogart, his brother, and a semi-moronic agent, Cobish, escape from jail and turn up at Fredric March's nice, polite, proper house, which they take over, holding March and his family hostage. They're waiting for Bogie's girlfriend to show up with the loot.

MARCH IS faced with the classic dilemma of every lawful and orderly person: Does duty lie with loved ones or with society? March opts to protect, as well as trying to save, his family from these desperate men.

"The Desperate Hours" starts rather slowly but builds effectively to a tense, exciting conclusion which should raise everybody's blood pressure.

The opening, however moderately paced, does set the scene of the '50s extremely well. The cars, the hairdos, the suits and dresses, everything including the ladies' figures are remarkably similar. Even after watching the entire film carefully, it is difficult to recall distinguishing features of the mother, daughter or kid brother's school teacher.

But then the '50s was a time of conformity. No doubt in another few decades, commentators will say the same thing about the '80s. Nonetheless, "The Desperate Hours" is worth

It's also worth screening as a psychological face-off between Bogart and March because that's what the film is all about. No doubt some will complain that this is haggard Bogart reprising his '30s style in a '50s movie — and there's something to be said for that point of view — but it is enjoyable and entertaining anyway.

THE FILM develops well on the psychologically level as internal pressures work on the three gang members as well as on the family held hostage.

The police forces — city, county and FBI — come in for some pretty modern criticism insofar as their political interests outweigh their concern for the family's safety. In desperation Fredric March's wife says, "Nobody knows what's going on in here."

That helplessness characterizes so much of modern life and the film is successful in dealing with that fear and with the terror of being held hostage.

Folk comes in from the street

IN CONCERT

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

From the street comes Roger Manning.

The New York City folk artist has stepped straight from the pavement and into the alternative music charts with his spiky acoustic sound. Before signing with SST Records, Manning was a street musician in New York City. He'd perform bluegrass numbers in the subways, mostly to a large black and Hispanic audience. They seem to dig it.

So do several people on the alternative college music trail. Manning recently wrapped up a summer-long tour, which included a stop at The Thing in Ann Arbor in support of his new title debut album on SST.

Manning music is folk, but not too folksy. He's been lumped into emerging group, the anti-folkies, along with artists like Cindy Lee Berryhill. Part of the movement is in response to what Manning says is a "comfortable, folk scene."

There's nothing soothing on "Roger Manning," which was recorded on a four-track tape machine in his New York apartment. Every song title has the word "blues" in it and he even takes a swing at fellow folkies in "Lefty Rhetoric Blues."

Sings Manning, "Listen to the lefties talkin' on the radio/they're putting down the government, what the fuck do they know. They gotta sing that make me sick, they gotta simplify everything."

So much for being vague. Manning also direct offstage, discussing his favorite author Jack Kerouac, the folk scene, busking and the influence work has in his music.

The author Jack Kerouac have an influence your songwriting?

Kerouac would write musically. You read Kerouac, you should read them fast because they sort of bop along. I never seen any Kerouac stuff until four years ago. Just the 'go-man-go attitude about life, besides the fact he drank himself to death in real life.

"The first song on the whole album, 'No 14 Blues,' has a line in it: 'The sad bird chirping church steeple down.' I didn't lift it from him, but that might have been the way he would've written it."

What's the state of the folk scene?

"The folk scene has been too relaxed and too comfortable in my opinion. That's where you have the anti-folk scene. It wasn't so much being anti-folk music, but more anti-boring and comfortable scene. Today, you have people who are willing to go onstage and rock n' roll. I'd rather play in a rock club than a folk club, but I'll play both."

How do you compare with the likes of Tracy Chapman and Michelle Shocked?

"Did you read that review in Rolling Stone? The guy who did the writing said I was confused, self-absorbed self-righteous and uncertain. The last line was something like 'Uncertainty is the theme of this album.' In this respect, Manning has more in common with most rock bands than Chapman or Shocked. For a month I tried to figure out what the hell he was talking about."

He may have a point there. Chapman writes in a more loftier terms and Michelle Shocked is writing in this cutesy country way... whereas maybe I'm just up there being confused self-absorbed and self-righteous. I don't know."

Why is there a lack of song titles on the album?

"That's just to screw with your head there. It's a sort of anti-title thing. You get these guys, they get onstage, they sit on a stool, start picking and say, 'This song is East Chicago Ballad' or something like that and I'm supposed to be impressed. It's already been done. I thought it would funny to have the word 'blues' in every title."

What's it like making a living as a street musician in New York City?

"It's difficult. When you start out in the street or subway, you never seem to make any money no matter how good you are. It's like you have to collect some street dust before it begins to work."

"I chose to play less and less in the street because people just walk by and it's a distraction."

"It's nice to play on the platforms (in the subway) because people are standing around waiting for a train. I talk to people and say, 'This song is about this and that.' First they look at you kind of weird, but New York people are really cool. It doesn't matter what you do so long as it's really good, they're open to it."

How does your punk influences set you apart from the rest of the folk crowd?

"A lot of the folk scene, quote and unquote, don't even think about that music. It's important music in this day and age, even it was 10 years ago. One of my favorite anecdotes is that I was at one more established folk clubs and one of hobbies was to cover Top-40 songs. I did a song by Simple Minds, 'Don't You Forget About Me,' that was in the movie 'The Breakfast Club.'"

"I did the song and the head of booking of the club comes up to me afterward and congratulates me on the new song I had just written. Talk about out of touch!"

MUSIC VIEWS

Some local gigs that left their mark

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

The band: Bootsey X and the Love-Jones. The place: Paycheck's Lounge in Hamtramck.

Many tunes have since past through these ears (which perhaps explains why I have to say, "Could you repeat that?" a lot).

Nonetheless, it's time to sit back, cogitate, calculate and articulate just what the hell we've been listening to for nearly two years. As a result, yours truly has come up with a list of local gigs that have had a profound impact on his life, the ones that made him stay out late and endure the frying pan upside the head from his wife.

Gangster Fun, July 1987, at The Hamtramck Pub: Ska never sounded so good on this night. John Bunkley possessed all the qualities of a frontman: amiability, enthusiasm and polish. The band was called back for two encores, further enhancing a great night of music and everyone sang "Happy Birthday" to one of the band members.

Hippodrome, December 1987, at The Ritz: Having heard Chris Richards interviewed on Scott Campbell's "Detroit Music Scene," we decided to check them out. Only about five people showed up to listen, but that didn't affect this energized outfit. In fact, Richards seemed to thrive on it and left all five members of the hard rock audience applauding.

Ann Be Davis, April 1989, at The Blind Pig: The lead singer flopped around like perch on the Cleveland shore. The stage antics blended well with some scorching guitar work and a crack rhythm section.

Frank Allison & The Odd Sox, March 1988, Nectarine Ballroom: Frank and the rest of crew opened for Adrian Belew and The Bears. The sparse acoustic quality of the songs mixed with Allison's intensity onstage were an unbeatable combination.

Volebeats, June 1988, at Paycheck's Lounge: The Voles were performing as part of a Tremor Revue, so the set was short. Yet the tumbleweeds were blowing down Caniff Avenue after this countrified group took the stage providing a very intriguing sound.

Orange Roughies, July 1987, at The Blind Pig: The purpose of the visit was to check out The Hysteric Narcotics, but the opening act caught our eye. The lead singer was bouncing off the walls while the guitarist continually drove home some excellent guitar lines.

3-D Invisibles, January 1989, at Saint Andrew's Hall: A friend told me this band was hot. I didn't believe him. Then when Creeping Rick started to crank out some serious monster boogie, we were hooked.

Strange Bedfellows, January 1989, at Hamtramck Pub: The striking thing about this show was the lead singer, Missy Gibson, who sang about such obscure things as doughnuts. The nice harmonies with back-up vocalist Beth Yates made for some delightful music.

Scott Morgan and his band performs Saturday at Alvin's in Detroit.

REVIEWS

ANDERSON, BRUFORD, WAKEMAN AND HOWE

Over the past two decades, the art rock ensemble Yes went through quite a few personnel changes. And the game of "musical chairs" continues, with bassist Chris Squire and guitarist Trevor Rabin now holding on to the Yes name while vocalist Jon Anderson has reunited with the band's early '70s core players.

You would guess that a reunion of such capable players — charismatic keyboardist Rick Wakeman, versatile drummer Bill Bruford and stalwart guitarist Steve Howe — might produce some memorable music. Unfortunately, the best playing this group will provide is likely to come during their concert tour, playing songs from the old days. The album comes off sounding like an excuse to tour and resurrect a bygone era.

The individual brilliance of each of the players actually seems to deter from this album's success. In the first track, "Themes," the sound being covered is familiar; it's another of the multi-themed compositions that made Yes so artsy in its heyday. However, each player is featured at the expense of the others, creating a disjointed piece of art.

The only song that comes close to remembering the glory days is the track now receiving album-rock airplay — "Brother of Mine." Rick Wakeman and Howe temporarily revert back to their prime form, and Bruford proves that he's never lost it. In the final movement of the piece, ex-Yesman Geoff Downes (who also played with Steve Howe in Asia and produced part of Howe's ill-fated GTR collaboration with Steve Hackett) steps in for added support.

The rest of the album explores some different musical planes, like the totally ill-advised "Teabols" — which features a Calypso melody. But the word for this album is excess — too much virtuosity and not enough thought in writing and arranging an album worthy of the cast of characters.

It could be said that these old masters of art rock run a musical gamut here — headlong into an artistic wall.

GOOD EVENING — Marshall Crenshaw

Verse, chorus, verse, chorus, guitar break, chorus, chorus, "Aaah, aaaaah" backing vocals, clean guitar sound, broken hearts, misguided love. This is pop, yeah, yeah.

Marshall Crenshaw, Berkley's own and the closest person that modern pop has come to recreating Buddy Holly, releases his fourth LP for Warner Bros. and his first since 1987. It is definitely one of his strongest.

On this LP, he forgoes having all his own songs showcased in favor of strong songs which showcase his ability to pick winners.

Amongst the songwriters featured are Richard Thompson ("Valerie"), John Hiatt ("Someplace Where Love Can't Find Me"), The Isley Brothers ("Live It Up"), Diane Warren ("Some Hearts") and he co-writes with Bo-Deans and Leroy Preston.

Not bad company.

Despite the diversity of the people involved, the songs all gel really smoothly. From Thompson's "Valerie" ("Well, I'm soft in the head and I give her hard cash, She spends all my money on junk and trash.") through John Hiatt's "Someplace..." ("Surely there's somewhere in this great nation, Where no one comes together just to fall apart.") and Warren's "Some Hearts" ("Some hearts seem to have it so easy, some hearts have the stars on their sides.") back to Crenshaw's own "Whatever Way the Wind Blows" ("Whatever wind of change goes tearing across the world, I'm always going to be close to you, girls.") things flow well.

With some fabulously passionate slide playing from Sonny Landreth, solid and imaginative bass playing from ex-Joe Jackson Band member Graham Maby and topped off by Crenshaw's vocals (and impressive guitar work), this album deserves, and more than rewards, repeated listenings.

Crenshaw is forging way ahead for a band that enjoys a song and hopefully it may open a few unplugged ears.

IN THE NEW HITSVILLE — The Gear

The Gear is on the edge of something big or nothing at all. "In the New Hitsville" EP (Chocolate Mustache Records), there is a group at the crossroads.

At times, the threesome has all the hooks and lyrics to wreak havoc on the music scene. Then there are those signs that The Gear is following down the same path worn by many other sparse guitar punk groups.

Oh please, let us believe that songs like "Get Twisted" and "In the New Hitsville" are an indication of where The Gear is headed. If so, this band has hope of breaking out.

Undoubtedly, "Get Twisted" is the song of the year in these circles. An engaging melody is wrapped delicately around some rather cynical but well-written lyrics.

Unlike some of the other selections, there is no strain by either guitarist and vocalist here. This group knows it's on to something and squeezes it until the last delicious musical drop.

"In the New Hitsville," the title track off the four-song EP, is a bit more aggressive but still carves its own niche with some spirited guitar playing and forceful vocals.

Again, The Gear seems to hit the right groove and rides it. The same, however, cannot be said for the other numbers, "The Real You" and "Loud Hard and Fast." They are not bad. In fact, they're quite expressive guitar numbers.

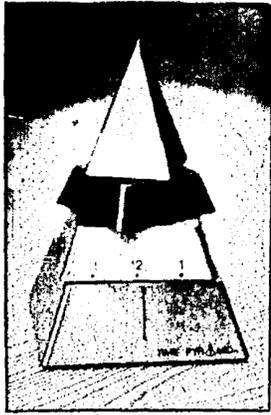

But those are not the kind of songs that will make people take notice. In fact, they make The Gear sound like a handful of other Detroit bands. One gets the feeling that there is a need to conform to the model of guitar crashing heroes, such as The Replacements or Soul Asylum.

What The Gear will do remains to be seen. But after listening to this EP, we definitely know they can do.

STREET SENSE

'To thine own self be true'

Dear Barbara,

I really enjoy your column and respect the way you speak to those who write you for advice. I hope you'll be able to help me out a little bit with my dilemma.

I've been going with a wonderful, loving, faithful man for 1 1/2 years now. We have a good relationship and others enjoy and admire it. I love and care about him deeply, but sad to say, I don't think I've ever been in love with him. I've never thought about him in a dreamy, happy way. I've never really desired him in a passionate, romantic, sexual way, even though he is very good looking and is an excellent lover. This has made me feel gully and dishonest throughout the entire relationship. I have cared for him and treated him well, but I've always felt bad that my whole heart and soul wasn't with him. He really deserves that much of me since he's given wholeheartedly of himself.

He asked me to live with him and marry him many times, but I just could never do it. I have always voiced my hesitations, have told him I am not ready to "settle down" or commit myself entirely like that, yet still he hangs on and loves me as strongly and devotedly as ever. I almost wish he would treat me bad so I could have a reason to break up with him. The last thing in the world I want to do is hurt this man. We've been through a lot together and I know how very sensitive he is. He'll be devastated, if I leave him, probably wonder what he did wrong when he's done nothing wrong. How can I tell him, after all of this time, that he just doesn't "turn me on?" What a thing to say!! It would make him feel like he's ugly or something, and that's just not true.

I know this letter is very long already, but I must add one more important aspect of this dilemma. About three months ago, I met a guy who just makes me crazy, and I want to go out with him. I have been totally faithful to my boyfriend and I do not want to "sneak around" with this new man. He hasn't asked me out yet, but I know he likes me and is attracted to me in return. I have "held myself back" out of loyalty to my boyfriend, but if I'm honest with myself, I know that that really makes me angry. I'm staying with a man I do love and care about, but it's mainly because I don't want to hurt him, not because of blinding passion or a real want. And I'm not talking of just a physical thing; it's not sex that I yearn for, it's something much more all-consuming than that. I've been in love before and I know this isn't "it" for me with my boyfriend. And that makes me very sad because it obviously is "it" for him. I wish I could say I feel the same, but in my heart of hearts, I know I don't.

Please, Barbara, help me decide what to do about this situation in my life. This new man interests and attracts me enormously in a way that my boyfriend never has. But my boyfriend is the kindest, sweetest, most generous and thoughtful man I've ever met. Girls tell me to "hold on to him" and I know I'm a lucky lady. For my birthday last month, he bought me a diamond and emerald ring, though I told him I never wanted a ring. I feel trapped and gully and I cry myself to sleep many nights. I desperately seek your advice.

Janie

Barbara Schiff

Dear Janie,

I enjoyed reading your letter very much and I'm going to take this opportunity to thank all my readers who have sent letters and given me such pleasure.

If I understand your letter, you are not doing what is best for you or you would not be so unhappy. In continuing with this man who you say you love, you are not being true to yourself. Also, for the sake of your security, you are being unfair to him and leading him on only to let him down painfully when the time comes.

My following statement is a vast generalization and can easily be criticized. I will make the statement anyway in the hope of gaining clarity and decisiveness. If a woman is capable of experiencing the excitement you describe in yourself and is capable of generating the same in the man she wants, she would be better going for that rather than settling for dullness and security. However, moving away from decisiveness and clarity, a woman's age would have a large weight in which mate to choose. The younger you are, the more my statement is true.

Many women face this dilemma. Whatever choice you and others like you make, it is important to be able to live happily with the compromise.

False-front buildings, many dating to the 1800s, give St. James the feel of a frontier town. Anchoring St. James is the Shamrock Bar, kitty-corner from the dock in the heart of town. The Shamrock stays open year-round for breakfast, lunch, dinner and evening diversion.

During the 37 years native islander Archie LaFreniere ran the Shamrock, he was known as Beaver's "unofficial Governor-General."

Now retired, the harmonica-playing LaFreniere has no intention of leaving Beaver, even if he does have to travel a ways to see Notre Dame's Fighting Irish play football. Mrs. LaFreniere, the former Frances Connaghan, also wants to stay put. Like their parents and grandparents and great-grandparents before them, several of LaFreniere's children have settled on Beaver.

"I ENJOY IT here. It's a closer knit community; it's just a peaceful place," said Mrs. LaFreniere, during a time out from preparing dinner.

"My paternal grandfather came here in winter. He walked across from Goodhart near Cross Village," recalled the Governor-General. "My grandmother ran a boarding house near the lumber mill where she served luncheons and dinners."

LaFreniere, now 76, was the third eldest of eight children. His mother died at 38 giving birth in the family home in town, now the LaFreniere gift shop.

"It was her death that got a doctor on the island," he said.

Tourism has replaced fishing and logging as Beaver's primary industry — something that gives rise to mixed emotions. LaFreniere welcomes the boost to the economy "as long as the building doesn't get out of hand. We're not about to let anyone make a mess of our nice atmosphere, the water and all that."

So-called "off-islanders," several from the metropolitan Detroit area, are making a go of it in tourism, and enjoying themselves.

Bob and Lil McGlocklin moved to Beaver 20 years ago from Garden City. In what was once a rectory, they run the Circle M Supper Club, home of the Circle M Famous Big Burger with steamed onions, cheese and sauteed mushrooms, billed by the Wall Street Journal as one of the top 10 burgers in the U.S.

The Circle M is a few miles out of town. It sits all alone on a pastoral meadow laden with flowers and trees. The McGlocklins offer free transportation to the restaurant, and Bob often shuttles patrons in his own van.

ARLENE AND Richard Bailey of Rochester began vacationing on Beaver 17 years ago. In 1978, they bought and renovated the Beaver Island Lodge, a restaurant with rentable condominiums perched on a bluff overlooking Lake Michigan.

They became full-time residents in April. Their son Mike, a Schoolcraft College culinary arts product, is chef at the lodge, a great place to catch sunset. Mike's wife Jayne manages the dining room, and Bailey's daughter, Lisabeth, is an artist.

Lisabeth has an in-house gift shop and helps manage the condo association.

Why do they love Beaver?

"The simplicity of things and the beauty of the island. Life is simpler here. You get away from the traffic and the people," said Arlene Bailey, whose husband is retiring this year from Ford Motor's comptrollers' office.

For more information, write or call the Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce, Box 5, St. James, Beaver Island, Mich. 49782 or call (616) 448-2505.

Beaver Island has a 'colorful' history

IN 1856, HIS colony of 2,000 torn with strife, Strang was fatally shot by two disgruntled Mormons.

Leaderless, the Mormons left, making way for former islanders and fishermen to return to Beaver from neighboring islands. Many were Irishmen who'd left their country on "coffin ships" during the potato famine.

"Sociologically, Beaver Island is just fascinating," said Shirley Gladish of Beaver's Historical Society. "Not every small town has experienced such dramatic eras. And anything that happens on Beaver Island is highlighted by its isolation."

"In the mid 1800s, Beaver was open for homesteading. That attracted many people whose roots were in northwest Ireland. They could have farms and they could fish, so to come to Beaver Island from eastern U.S. cities, where Irish were told they need not apply, was a logical pathway.

"In Ireland, they weren't permitted to own land. Here they could, so it was just like heaven. The fishing was fabulous."

The Irish christened Beaver "America's Emerald Isle," a name

One of the most treasured chapters of Beaver Island history began in 1893 with the arrival of Feodor Protar, who came from a family of eminent professors from the Russian Baltic province of Livonia.

The white-bearded Protar was said to be a haunted, desperate man who kept his troubled past to himself. Before moving to Beaver and taking up housekeeping in a small cabin on Sloptown Road, Protar had led successful careers in theater and newspaper publishing.

UNTIL HIS death in 1925, he lived on the fruits of the land and dispensed free medical help to islanders, who gave him the title of doctor.

When Protar sensed his death was approaching, he wrote these instructions:

"One strong bag and a heavy stone will cover all requirements... and four friends. Let me slip into the water is all what is necessary."

It wasn't to be. In accordance with state law, Protar was buried on land near his home. Islanders took up a collection and erected a tombstone. The spot is entered in the National Register.

STEVE CANTRELL/staff photographer

Restaurateurs Lil and Bob McGlocklin left Garden City for Beaver Island not to get rich, "but for a way of life. There's a nice slow pace here," they say.

STREET CRACKS

Bill Scheft is a guy who's not only established himself as a top-notch comedic performer and writer, but also as an accomplished free-lance sports writer.

Humor with dash of sports

By Bob Sadler
special writer

In the opportunistic world of stand-up comedy, there are performers and there are those who specialize in writing material.

Bill Scheft is a guy who's not only established himself as a top-notch comedic performer and writer, he's also an accomplished free-lance sportswriter, with articles published in The New York Times, Sports Illustrated and Sport magazine.

Naturally, with those credits, a significant portion of his humor originates out of a passion for sports. That's why Scheft loves to come to Detroit.

"New York (where he resides) is a great sports town," Scheft said, "but the people who go to comedy clubs aren't necessarily sports fans. In Detroit, it's the same people."

Scheft had thoughts about each of the major franchises in Detroit, except the recent NBA champion Pistons.

"A losing team is much more interesting than a winning team. There's a lot more to poke fun at."

quipped, "I love coming to town with a losing football team. That really hurts."

On the Tigers, who possess the worst record in the majors, "The Tigers have a new season ticket plan. Buy one, get one free. Buy two, you can pitch."

SCHIFT PROVIDED more sobering thoughts about the current state of the Red Wings.

"I think it's really tough when people are celebrating before they win a Stanley Cup. But Betty Ford's going to have a heck of a team this year."

Originally from Boston, Scheft grew up with the Celtics, Bruins, Patriots and Red Sox. He graduated with honors from Harvard and said he doesn't understand why many are intimidated by the Ivy League mystique.

"They say going to Harvard opens a lot of doors for you," Scheft said. "They don't tell you that those doors have to have your father's name on them."

After graduation, Scheft took a job as a sportswriter in Albany, N.Y., which he found to be a very lonely place.

"I used to go to the batting cages and bring a glove," he confessed.

After a couple of years in Albany, Scheft moved to The Big Apple and tried to make it as a free-lancer, a rather tough proposition. When that wasn't putting enough food on the table, he looked to find something else.

"I just didn't want to eat bologna the rest of my life," Scheft said.

He auditioned at New York's "Catch a Rising Star" and began the long climb up the comedy ladder.

"That was back in the days when it used to take two years to make a living in stand-up," he said. "Now it takes about a week — because there's so many clubs."

IN THE eight plus years, he's been in comedy, Scheft has done a lot of television. As he puts it, "I've done everything but the shows that can help you." He's appeared on Fox's "The Late Show" and "The Wilton North Report," CBS "Morning Program" and "The NFL Today," NBC "Sportsworld Looks at Sports Humor" special and Cinemax's Richard Belzer special.

Eventually, Scheft would like to give up live performance in favor of writing. He's already written a few scripts for television pilots and dreams of one day writing something to run on Broadway.

"I like performing, but I feel I'll always be 10 times the writer," he said. "I'm satisfied with my act, though."

And he says that his stints at The Comedy Castle in Detroit are his most enjoyable ones on the road.

"It's my favorite club," he said. "I really mean that. If I ever get a (cable TV) special, I'll do it in Detroit."

Bill Scheft returns to Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle, 2595 Woodward, Berkley, Tuesday through Saturday. For showtimes and reservations, call 542-9000.

Taking to the road for fun and fitness

By Lynn Waldamith
special writer

Summer's here and the bikin' is easy.

Whether you're an avid cycling enthusiast or just a beginner, biking is the perfect summertime activity. It's fun, it's simple and it's an excellent form of aerobic exercise.

Riding a bicycle allows you to stay in shape while you enjoy the outdoors. One of the best ways to discover new bike routes and meet new people is to participate in a ride, sponsored by a local biking club or organization.

American Youth Hostels Inc. in Berkeley is one of the largest and best known biking groups in the tri-county area. The organization sponsors rides every day of the week except Fridays.

"We offer a diverse group of rides that match different abilities and styles of riding," said Jim DeBaker, president of the AYH Bike Club. "And most of our rides tend to be on low traffic routes."

AYH grades its rides according to typical riding speeds. Although the average speeds will be lower because of stops, the grades are "D" for slow (7 to 10 mph) rides, recommended for the beginner or for those preparing for the more advanced rides, "C" for moderate (10 to 13 mph) rides, "B" for moderately fast (13 to 16 mph) rides, "A" for fast (16 to 19 mph) rides, and "AA" for very fast (20 plus mph), recommended only for the very advanced bicyclist.

IF YOU aren't sure of your ability, DeBaker recommends that you start at a low grade ride and move up when you feel comfortable doing so. By the way, don't let the name American Youth Hostel fool you. People of all different ages participate in AYH rides, including teenagers and senior citizens.

Riders are assessed $2 for each AYH-sponsored ride. Most of the group rides are have a leader, but on some of the simpler routes, riders are simply given a map and directions.

The number of people who participate in an AYH ride varies anywhere from one to 50, but special event rides, such as the Firecracker 100, can draw as many as 1,000 riders.

Biking is especially popular on weekends and so are the AYH weekend rides.

Every Saturday, AYH sponsors a ride, known as the Clarkston-Orion Express, which gives bikers the opportunity to pedal through Clarkston and Lake Orion. Special Saturday rides are also available each month.

The first Saturday of the month features a ride that begins in Hartland in Livingston County, north of Brighton. Riders are provided with maps and have the option of biking anywhere from 25 to 75 miles.

The third Saturday of the month highlights a ride from Dearborn to Northville — approximately 50 miles round trip, although riders have the option of going fewer miles. Much of the route consists of Edward Hines Drive, which is largely closed off from vehicular traffic on Saturdays.

BICYCLING can certainly cause you to work up an appetite. Perhaps that's one of the reasons why the Sunday Morning Brunch Ride, held every Sunday, is AYH's most popular biking event.

The brunch ride offers a variety of different routes, some of the destinations include Birmingham, Northville and Plymouth. After meeting at Nine Mile and Evergreen roads in Southfield, riders begin their workout, which is approximately 25 miles with a brunch stop halfway.

AYH also offers a regular series of rides during the week. On Mondays, the Lakeshore Spin features a scenic 20- to 25-mile ride through the Grosse Pointes and along the shore of Lake St. Clair.

The Ego-Opto Ride on Tuesdays is a 20- to 25-mile ride through the country and suburban areas in Plymouth and Northville. Wednesday is the Cranbrook Ramble. The 20- to 25-mile route goes through Cranbrook and the Birmingham-Bloomfield area.

On Thursdays, the M&M Ride takes bikers through Berkley, Lathrup, Southfield and Birmingham at a very easy pace with a stop for ice cream.

All AYH weekday rides begin at 6 p.m. Another popular ride is the Firecracker 100. Held on the fourth of July, the Firecracker 100 is AYH's annual fund-raising ride. The starting point is Milford, and bikers have a choice of completing a 25-, 50- or 100-mile route.

For more information about the Firecracker 100 ride or any of the regular AYH rides, call the AYH office at 545-0511.

To enjoy bicycling, all you really need is a bike that's in good running order and comfortable clothing that won't get caught in the bike chain or spokes.

A WATER bottle is a good idea, as well as a bag of some sort to carry a jacket or sweater, a spare tube and patch kit, or any other items you might need.

But the best piece of advice is to wear a safety helmet when riding.

"If you break an arm or leg, you can fix that," DeBaker said. "But if you crack open your head, you may not be so lucky. We don't require riders to wear a helmet, but we strongly encourage it."

"I consider the $25 to $50 that you spend on a helmet the best insurance policy that you can have."

If you're interested in biking through scenic northern Michigan, Michigan Bicycle Touring at (616) 263-5885 and Bicycle Cruises at (800) 222-0072 offer a variety of weekend and week-long bike tours.

Information about other biking groups and tours are available at local bike shops.

In addition, bike maps that show road surface type and recreation facilities are available through the Michigan Department of Transportation. The maps highlight designated bike facilities, roads with paved shoulders and roads with low traffic volumes.

Kinsey Report: A new 'blues'

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Once Donald Kinsey saw the future in the face of a great bluesman, the brightness faded.

"We did a show with (Albert King) in Pittsburgh not long ago," said Donald Kinsey, guitar player with The Kinsey Report. "It's almost like the years of the ups and downs and being used has taken its toll on him. It hurts me to see him like that because I know him so well. I heard him say, 'Donald, I don't give a damn about playing any more.'"

The story of the blues artists has often been a tale of woe. Bad management and exploited by promoters have left some greats broke, alcoholics or drug addicts and, worse, dead.

The sight of a burned-out musician who once set the stage on fire with his high energized style guitar playing was not only painful, but somewhat frightening, especially to a member of a group that has been touted to be the blues band of the 1990s.

The Kinsey Report has just released what is undoubtedly the blues album of the year, "Midnight Drive" (Alligator). Several cuts are outstanding. Several cuts are deserving of commercial radio play.

Yet, there are no guarantees that will happen.

"We just played New York City a couple of weeks back and this guy came up to me and said, 'Wow you guys were great. When's the new album coming out?'" said Donald Kinsey, perhaps best illustrating what The Kinsey Report is up against.

THE KINSEYS remain strong. They are family, both on and off stage.

Their father, blues legend Lester "Big Daddy" Kinsey introduced his sons Donald, Ralph and Kenneth to the music at an early age. They toured from the late '60s until 1972. Then Donald Kinsey went on a 12-

The Kinsey brothers — Ralph, Donald and Kenneth — have been inspired by their father, blues legend Lester "Big Daddy" Kinsey, who introduced his sons to the blues at an early age.

'I think it's very important (to bring in new audiences). College radio has been a great help in allowing us to do that. I wish (commercial) radio would. They are playing more of our music.'

— Donald Kinsey

year musical odyssey that saw him perform with King, and later, reggae greats Bob Marley and Peter Tosh.

When Donald Kinsey returned to his hometown of Gary, Ind., and was back together with his father and brothers, a new sound had been created. Their brand of music would be a volatile blend of funk, reggae and rock'n'roll while still rooted in blues.

"I think it's very important (to bring in new audiences)," Kinsey said. "College radio has been a great help in allowing us to do that. I wish (commercial) radio would. They are playing more of our music."

"My thing on that is that it should be a combination of both old and new because it's a learning process and history thing going on, too. I think that people are digging on the Kinsey Report's album should also have the chance to experience a person like my father — who is more traditional and Delta like — because you get a chance to see how it came to be, the now and the then."

"BIG DADDY" Kinsey still tours with his sons. He will appear (this week at the Motor City Blues Festival at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

"Big Daddy" provides the stabilizing influence for The Kinsey Report.

"My dad and I just had breakfast together this morning," said Donald Kinsey, in a phone conversation from Ottawa, Ont., where the group was performing that night. "He helped open our eyes, not just to music but to things that are going on around us, which, to me, is more important than music sometimes."

But there have been others who have made Kinsey's eyelids expand. Three years spent touring with Albert King proved beneficial. He appeared on two of King's albums "I Wanna Get Funky" and "Montreux Festival."

Kinsey later met reggae greats Marley and Tosh at an Island Records press party in New York. He took up an invitation to record with Marley, only to find himself present when six gunmen made an attempt on Marley's life.

Kinsey was in the kitchen with Marley when the shooting occurred. He escaped injury, but Marley was wounded. Shakened, Kinsey returned home.

He reunited with his brother, Ralph (who had spent time in the Air Force) and Ron Prince (longtime Kinsey Report member) and formed the rock and reggae outfit The Chosen Ones.

DURING THAT time, Kinsey also toured and recorded with Tosh who was killed in 1987 by a gunman. The group opened for the Rolling Stones on their 1978 U.S. Tour, helping bring reggae to a wider audience.

"Reggae music was new to me," Kinsey said. "So much of it reminded me of growing up in Gary, Ind. There are spots you can go to Gary, Ind., now and places in Kingston, Jamaica, where you could hardly tell the difference."

"I really felt I was somewhere where I was supposed to be. I got deep into it. I wanted to see it grow. We started looking at it like, 'Wow, why can't a reggae tune by Bob Marley be in the Top 100 of Billboard?'"

Marley eventually hit the Top 100 Billboard with "Rastaman Vibration," on which Kinsey performed. Now, The Kinsey Report is striving for chart action.

The group released "Edge of the City" in 1987 and was well-received by critics but never rose above blues circles. "Midnight Drive" (Alligator) could be the ticket.

"When we put the album out, everyone felt really good about it," he said. "So you never know how or what's going to happen."

"The important thing is that we establish ourselves and our identity."

The Kinsey Report will perform on Sunday as part of the Motor City Blues Festival this weekend at the Michigan State Fairgrounds. For ticket information, call 681-6020.

family, Sveti Stefan appears before you like a fairy tale.

The turrets and their sentries have gone, but otherwise the island looks much as it did centuries ago, buildings climbing step by step up the rocky hill above the wall.

Ancient Montenegro was a tribal society and each clan had 12 families. The Pastrovic clan built the wall, each family built a house inside the wall and whenever enemy ships came into view the people would flee to the island.

The clan did that for about 200 years. They moved into the walled island permanently during the 17th century and built stone houses.

By the end of World War II, there were only five families left on the island. Artists had discovered the place by then, and one of them had a great idea of turning the whole island into a hotel. It took a few years for the bureaucratic wheels to turn, and the five families didn't move willingly to larger modern houses on the mainland, but in the 1960s, Hotel Sveti Stefan opened to the public.

THERE ARE 116 rooms set in the old houses and shops. The government built a causeway and a sand beach and spent millions of public and private money restoring the village.

When you walk across the causeway and through the wall to the reception desk, you might be assigned a room in one of the old houses or you might get a whole stone house to yourself.

The alternative is to visit the hotel for lunch, or dinner, about $20 for a large meal, or pay about $3 just to tour the island, and use the receipt for a cake and coffee at the bakery.

Rent a car in Dubrovnik. People who fly in and take the airport limousine to Sveti Stefan pay $75 for the whole car, full or empty. Or take a bus to Budva.

Handling disliked tasks

Q. I travel on my job and must turn in expense reports. When I get back though, I always find 10 other things that need doing and several days often go by before getting it filled out. Does everyone have an aversion to expense reports?

A. You seem to be suffering from the "Working Hard To Get Out of Work" syndrome. This is a skilled procrastinator's ploy which is amazingly effective. Here's the rule: When a disliked task needs doing, any other work ranks a higher priority.

One woman hates ironing, but dislikes sending Christmas cards even more, so the only time her ironing is caught up is — yep, you guessed it — right before Christmas. When it's time to clean closets another woman can think of a million telephone calls she just has to make.

A friend of mine loves giving speeches. Although she knows the material inside out, putting talks together is somehow excruciating and she avoids it as long as possible. That's when her desk is cleanest because her weaknesses overtake her and she will do any "To Do" in sight rather than sticking to outlining her speeches.

Disliked tasks vary for different people. One person may mow the lawn as a means of getting out of paying bills while another may pay bills to avoid lawn mowing. "Having" to run errands is a great excuse for not cleaning out the garage. At the office, telephone calls, coffee breaks and "having to discuss an issue" with someone else are effective avoidance factors. All too many parents feign being "busy" to avoid spending quality time with their children. A pity.

To overcome the problem: 1) Identify distasteful tasks which aren't getting done 2) Acknowledge to yourself the excuses you are using to avoid them and 3) Using self discipline, do them first. Doing hated tasks first is well worth the effort because it's such a relief to have them done. You can then regard yourself with more pleasurable activities the rest of the day while enjoying a feeling of freedom. Also, you can think more clearly without the burden of dreaded work hanging over you.

On your next trip, take an expense report with you, fill it out first daily and it will effectively be complete when you return.

You can obtain a booklet of Dorothy Lehmkuhl's first 52 weekly columns by sending a long self addressed envelope with 65 cents postage and a $5 check to Organizing Techniques, 6165 Worthington, Birmingham 48010.

condo queries
Robert M. Melsner

Q. Our condo association has asked to inspect our unit for electrical problems. They claim there is a safety hazard, and there is some talk about them placing certain fixtures in the units. Do they have the right to gain access to the unit for such inspection?

A. It depends on your condominium documents, but most documents allow the association reasonable access in order to inspect the common elements and to avoid safety problems to the extent that a condition in your unit may cause a safety problem for other units and/or the common areas. The association has a good argument. On the other hand, the association should be prudent in regard to the extent of the repairs to your unit to insure that it is not encroaching upon individual rights and/or responsibilities of co-owners. Also, the contractor retained by the association should be monitored to insure that there are no abuses. You may also wish to consult the electrical inspector for the municipality in order to confirm that the actions taken by the contractor for the association are proper.

Q. Can you please describe what one purchases in buying a cooperative unit. I am thinking of buying one in Detroit, and I am wondering how it differs from a condo.

A. When you buy a cooperative, you are in effect buying a share of stock in a cooperative association. Also, you sign a proprietary lease with cooperative leasing out a particular unit in the cooperative project. If you default in the payment to the cooperative of the monthly service charge, the cooperative has the right to seek your eviction and to repossess your stock certificate. Cooperatives generally are more difficult to finance as banks in this locale have not been receptive to providing cooperative financing. It is also sometimes more difficult to ascertain the true market value of a cooperative unit. Caution is always the better part of valor as in any purchase of real estate.

style brings a fresh, clean look to this new community.

AS GOLF grows rapidly as a popular leisure time activity, builders and developers have picked up on the theme. Vacation condos and year-around homes ring lush green fairways and offer stunning views of the tees and the manicured, bunkered greens.

One of the most recent to capitalize on the public's interest in golf is the Holtzman & Silverman/The Fisher Group who are developing The Fairways, a condominium community at the southeast corner Square Lake and Rochester Road in Troy.

Sylvan Glen golf course is on the southwest corner of the same intersection. So, while the course isn't connected to The Fairways, it is directly across the road — about two good wood shots away.

The two- and three-bedroom units, ranging in size from 1,400-2,000 square feet, are priced from $130,000. There will eventually be 98 townhouse and ranch-style residences, four or six to a building. The building sites are attractively arranged on a well-landscaped site with a large, picturesque man-made pond in the center with tennis courts at one end and clubhouse and large outdoor pool at another.

SEVERAL MORE small ponds, fountains, extensive landscaping, lots of plantings and trees, brick detailing along the walkways and the gently curving streets give the development a pleasant country look. The exterior, "eastern seaboard,"

That is accomplished through the use of brick, limestone and siding in combination with multipaned windows and skylights, columns and long, vertical rooflines with gable ends.

The interiors of the models, done by Sara Olesker Ltd. of Chicago, carry on the bright, fresh, traditional/country look. Olesker, as in her past work here, has a nice touch for the sophisticated/country look — warm, inviting and quite chic.

This is particularly the case in the three-bedroom, 2½ bath Baytree model where she has used lots of polished chintz, bright lemon carpeting, Queen Anne and Chippendale pieces, deep green accents and English ivy wall covering in the kitchen.

IN ANOTHER model, the two bedroom, 2½ bath Augusta, she went for a jewel-toned, California look and in the two-bedroom, 2½ bath ranch, the Carmel, she created an elegant interior using peach, celadon and ivory.

These different approaches give the visitor a good idea of how the many choices of flooring, carpeting and cabinetry will look. All residences have full lower levels with full-size windows, large enough and with plenty of natural light, to be completed as a pleasant guest suite and/or a family activity area. Each residence has a separate courtyard entrance and attached garage (one and two car).

Models are open noon to 6 p.m. daily. For information, call 879-0900.

WHAT'S NEW ON THE MARKET

THE PRODUCT — A tape rule with adhesive backing.

Manufacturer's claim — That this metal rule has blades that incorporate a peel-away adhesive backing that enables them to be affixed to most work surfaces for effortless measuring . . . that there are two models, one 8-foot long, the other 12-foot long . . . that the measuring blades are ideal for workbench edges, layout and drawing tables, counter top and any work surface where speed and reliability are required . . . and that both blades are protected with a plastic film for added durability and corrosion resistance.

THE PRODUCT — A 100 percent fabric blind.

Manufacturer's claim — That this product combines the soft, elegant look of textured fabric and a translucent quality with the convenience of a conventional horizontal blind . . . that the fabric construction permits a gentle level of light to fill the room when the blind is closed and a stream of sunlight when it is open . . . that there are two types of fabrics available, one richly textured open weave, the other a more tailored design . . . that the blinds have a custom-crafted fabric valance and a fabric-covered bottom roll . . . that the blinds are treated with a fabric protector and an anti-static guard to repel dust and dirt . . . and that the same fabric is available by the yard for special top treatments of the blinds.

THE PRODUCT — A loud alarm to guard against the movement of objects inside the house.

Manufacturer's claim — That this alarm protects against unwanted opening of doors, windows and drawers of any type, as well as against the taking of objects and items from their desired locations . . . that it is battery operated with no wires, no installation and cannot be turned off except by somebody who knows the security code . . . that it works with hotel doors, mobile homes, car doors, storage facilities, computers, audio-video equipment, safes, copiers, file cabinets and art work . . . and that the 9-volt power supply unit is easy to hide from intruders.

THE PRODUCT — A new line of programmable electronic thermostats.

Manufacturer's claim — That these thermostats are powered by batteries to allow greater compatibility and reliability with heating and air conditioning systems . . . that they allow the user to program each day of the week individually to meet the needs of the most demanding lifestyles . . . that there are four temperature set points per day to provide automatic climate control . . . that soft-touch keypads are similar to those found on microwave ovens to assure proper registration of programming . . . that there is a quick-touch temperature override to allow consumers to accommodate changes in heating or cooling requirements . . . and that the climate control information center features large, easy-to-read liquid crystal displays.

(The tape rule is manufactured by Stanley Works, New Britain, Conn. 06050; the fabric blind by Window Covering Division, Hunter Douglas, Upper Saddle River, New Jersey 07058; the alarm by Hart Technological Inc., 6520 14th Ave., Brooklyn, NY 11219; and the thermostats by Jameson Home Products, 2820 Thatcher Rd., Downers Grove, Ill. 60515.)

Homearama set to go

In this seventh annual showcase of "new idea" houses by the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM), 10 showcase houses built especially for Homearama in the $375,000-$675,000 price range will be shown at Hills of Oakland Subdivision, developed by Mocerri Development, Grand Blanc, on Adams Road, just north of Dutton Road, in Oakland Township, north of Rochester. Homearama opens Aug. 31 and runs through Sept. 24.

Homearama hours have been expanded again this year.

"Homearama's major focus continues to be to offer the finest homes at the most convenient times for the general public," said James S. Bona-deo, president of BASM and of Bona-deo Builders in Plymouth.

New hours this year will be: 3-11 p.m. Monday through Friday, and noon to 11 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

EACH HOUSE is the creation of its own team of a BASM builder, an architect, an interior designer and a landscaper, incorporating their latest and best ideas in design, lifestyle, construction techniques and materials, interior decoration and energy conservation.

"This year's Homearama homes will exhibit the very latest in housing trends," said Dennis P. Dickstein of Ralph Mann Associates — Realtors, chairman of the 1989 Homearama.

Admission is $5 per person, which includes a plan book covering all Homearama homes.

The Green Hill difference:

Do you come home to an apartment or a 75-acre estate?

Most apartment living measures 600+ sq. ft. Ours measures over 3,000,000 sq. ft. Green Hill residents enjoy a gorgeous 75-acre estate setting of park and woodland, peace and tranquility. You're right next door to the I-75 corridor, Michigan's multi-billion dollar explosive growth area and just minutes away from I-96, a direct route to downtown Detroit. See our 1- and 2-bedroom luxury apartments, terrace residences and country townhouses on 9 Mile, 1 1/2 miles west of Farmington Road in Farmington Hills.

Sale

Now is the time to clear out those closets, attics, basements and garages and make some quick cash in the process.

How do you plan a garage sale?

It's easy!

Just follow these simple guidelines:

1. Gather together the items you have for sale. Sort them into appropriate categories and price them fairly.
2. Place a classified advertisement in The Observer & Eccentric by calling one of the numbers below.
3. Hang signs throughout your neighborhood alerting residents to the upcoming sale.
4. Decide what to do with all the money you'll have after your sale!

Or, if you love to bargain-hunt and would rather shop than sell, be sure to look for our special garage sale listings every Monday and Thursday in your hometown newspaper. Observer & Eccentric classifieds make it easy to earn money and save money. Discover for yourself, today!
