Thomas surprise nominee; will face Griffin

A prospective voter (center) outside the Holliday Park townhouse complex Tuesday finds himself on the receiving end of campaign literature from mayoral candidate Charles Pickering (right front) and relatives of mayoral candidate Robert Thomas and council candidates Ken Mehl and Ethel Bollinger.

If history repeats itself — and in Westland politics it usually does — Mayor Charles Griffin could be in for a tough re-election battle this fall.

Griffin, seeking a second four-year term, topped a field of four candidates in the city's mayoral primary election Tuesday. But the mayor's total of 2,397 votes, or 34 percent, was far less than the nearly 50 percent received by his two closest challengers.

Robert Thomas, a city public services employee and self-declared long shot, edged out city council member and former mayor Charles Pickering for the other spot on the Nov. 7 general election ballot.

Thomas received 1,760 votes, or 25 percent. Pickering's 1,701 votes gave him 24 percent.

City Councilman Thomas Artlely finished a distant fourth with 1,144 votes, or 16 percent.

A TOTAL OF 7,039 people, or 15.6 percent of the 45,254 registered voters, cast ballots in the primary. Turnout four years ago was 18.4 percent.

Tuesday's numbers were nearly identical to the 1985 mayoral primary, which was won by then incumbent Pickering. Griffin, who was Westland City Council president, used his strong second-place finish as a springboard to a 53-47

Women challengers finish in top three spots

By Leonard Poger
editor

Three women challengers who topped the Westland city council primary election ballot Tuesday agreed on one thing — they were all surprised.

And the three male council members who finished in the next three spots admitted that they will have to work harder if they are to be re-elected Nov. 7.

Overwhelming the 12-candidate field was Sandra Cicirelli, an attorney and former teacher, with 3,517 votes, or half of the 7,039 votes cast.

Following her were Terri Reighard Johnson, 2,752, and Ethel Bollinger, 2,738.

Council president Kenneth Mehl, with 2,447 votes, led the slate of three incumbents who campaigned together with Mayor Charles Griffin, renominated for a second term in a four-person mayoral primary.

Also renominated were Council members Ben DeHart, 2,292, and William Ziemba, 2,257, and challengers Dorothy Smith, 1,948, and Michael Bradley, 1,800.

Finishing out of the running for one of the eight nominations were Richard Ringer, 1,394; Helene Raupp, 1,147; Debbie Carman, 909; Lewis Beaver, 614; and Yousef Eadeh, 421.

Despite the strong primary showings by Cicirelli, Johnson and Bollinger, a council member who is giving up his seat this fall warned that a high finish in a primary isn't a guarantee that the candidate will repeat that showing in the general election.

COUNCIL MEMBER Kent Herbert, who has endorsed Bollinger to fill his seat, recalled at one of several election parties Tuesday that he finished eighth in the 1981 primary, barely winning a nomination, while an incumbent finished second.

But in that fall's general election, the incumbent was defeated while Herbert won the council seat.

In Tuesday night interviews, the top three finishers admitted that they were surprised, but insisted that they will continue to campaign hard in the next seven weeks to gain a council seat.

Cicirelli admitted that she hoped to finish fourth or fifth, or third at the most.

She credited her strong primary showing to hard work and door-to-door campaigning with excellent support from her supporters, led by a nucleus of 10 people.

Jury hears testimony in shooting death trial

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

Did a Westland man fired from his job as manager of a Ford Road Ziebart rustproofing business last April avenge his dismissal with the planned murder of Michael LaDuc, his former supervisor — hunting LaDuc down with a 12-gauge shotgun as he tried to run to safety?

Or did Robert Michael Zellin — burdened by a history of mental instability and distressed by his 16-year-old daughter's relationship with an older man and her involvement with drugs — just finally snap when informed of his dismissal?

A 14-member Detroit Recorder's Court jury Monday began hearing testimony supporting both scenarios. A verdict could be reached by Friday, attorneys suggested.

Zellin is charged with one count of first-degree murder and one count of possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony in connection with the April 23 shooting.

If convicted of those charges he faces a maximum life prison sentence with no possibility of parole. Zellin's defense attorney, Robert Plumpe, told the court that his 45-year-old client was under tremendous pressure because of family matters and was "like a time bomb waiting to go off. . . and he did."

BY WEEK'S END, Plumpe was expected to call several expert witnesses, including well-known psychologist Dr. Emanuel Tanay, to testify about Zellin's state of mind at the time of the shooting.

On Monday and Tuesday, prosecuting attorney Michael Reynolds presented witnesses who said they saw and heard Zellin as he chased LaDuc through the Ziebart parking lot and across Vevo.

Two other witnesses, a co-worker and a Ziebart executive, told the court Zellin learned about the firing in advance.

Richard Lauraine, a rustproofing who has since transferred to another Ziebart franchise, testified about a conversation he had with Zellin shortly after the two reported for work on the Saturday of the shooting.

"He said he had heard through the grapevine that he was going to be fired," Lauraine said.

Lauraine said Zellin called LaDuc at his Harrison Township home and asked the supervisor, who was responsible for operations at franchises in Detroit, Chicago and Kansas City, to come to the Westland store so they could discuss the matter.

AFTER THE meeting with LaDuc, Zellin told Lauraine he wasn't going to be fired, according to Lauraine's testimony. But Lauraine testified that he told Zellin the dismissal probably wouldn't occur until after the store closed for the day.

According to Lauraine, Zellin responded: "If that's the case, I'll be the last person (LaDuc) will ever fire."

James Bender, Ziebart vice president for branch operations, testified that he and LaDuc originally decided to dismiss Zellin Monday, April 24. A number of customers had complained about the quality of work done at the franchise and lengthy waits for service, Bender said.

The complaints surfaced last January, about a month after Zellin

Tests ordered for stabbing suspect

By Tom Henderson
staff writer

Jackie Daniel Ambriez, the Westland man accused of stabbing his wife more than 30 times and slashing her throat Sept. 1, was ordered to undergo testing to determine his competency after a dramatic pre-trial hearing in Westland's 18th District Court Monday afternoon.

Ambriez' wife, Cynthia, insisted, despite objections from court personnel, on sitting in Judge, Gall McKnight's courtroom to watch the pre-trial hearing. When he saw his wife, Ambriez began sobbing.

Ambriez' court-appointed attorney, Eric Handy, suggested that two powerful drugs Ambriez was taking to control his epilepsy — Dilantin and phenobarbital — may have left him, at least temporarily, unable to understand the charge against him or to assist in a defense, and may have reduced his responsibility for the attack.

Ambriez is charged with attempted murder and is in custody, unable to post a cash bond of $250,000. McKnight rescheduled his pre-trial hearing to Monday, Nov. 13, following examination at the Michigan Forensic Center in Ypsilanti.

A pre-trial hearing is held to determine that a crime was committed and that there is a reason to believe the accused committed it. If McKnight determines Nov. 13 that a crime was committed and that there is reason to believe Ambriez committed it, he will be bound over for trial in Wayne County Circuit Court.

MONDAY'S HEARING was highly dramatic.

First, McKnight refused to allow Ambriez to be brought into the courtroom until three court officers were in the room to protect other court officials, witnesses and spectators. One court officer stood in the aisle near the door through which defendants enter the court, blocking access to another door in case of an attempted escape.

But Ambriez, dressed in dark blue mechanics' overalls, was subdued.

When he spoke, it was in a quiet tone, his voice breaking with emotion. Twice he looked toward his wife at the back of the courtroom and broke into sobs. Court officials handed him a box of tissues. And when he was led from the court at the end of the hearing, he broke into loud sobs as the door was closed behind him.

His wife's appearance provided mute but poignant testimony to the savagery of the attack. Large bandages covered both arms from her fingers to her elbows. There was another bandage over part of her neck. Visible on the unbandaged portion of her neck were scars in the process of peeling off. Her left eye was black, 10 days after the attack.

HANDY ASKED for the forensic exam, saying that he thought his client understood the proceedings but wasn't sure. Judge McKnight then asked a series of questions. "Who am I?" she asked. "A judge."

Who was the man (Handy) next to him? "A lawyer." And the man in the tan suit? "A prosecuting attorney." And what was the prosecutor's role?

"To protect my wife," said Ambriez.

A few seconds later, Ambriez, who was standing in front of the court, looked back at his wife for the first time and began sobbing quietly.

After another request by Handy for the forensic exam, which prosecutor Andrew Telek said he couldn't object to, the exam was ordered and Ambriez was led from the courtroom.

AMBRIEZ'S SISTER, June Willey, had sat in the first row for nearly four hours, first waiting for the hearing and then listening to it.

Outside the courtroom, she asked Handy if he could help her visit her brother.

"They won't let me in to see him," she told a reporter. "He doesn't have a mother or a father, they're both dead, and his grandmother is too sick to visit. So no-body's been in to see him.

"What I heard is he doesn't remember what happened. You saw him in there. That's not him. He's sick. When they were taking him away I heard him say, 'I love you.' And he was crying."

"I don't know what it is. They said he wasn't on (illegal) drugs or alcohol when he did it. The devil got into him."

Cynthia Ambriez walked by and stopped to smile and nod at Willey. "Call me, OK?" asked Willey.

Mrs. Ambriez nodded approval. "Call me later today. I don't have your number, so call," said Willey.

Mrs. Ambriez nodded again.

WHEN ASKED for an interview, Mrs. Ambriez said quietly, sinking onto a bench in the hallway: "I don't want to get into it. But I am feeling pretty good."

The attack reportedly happened in the driveway of the Ambriez' home on Webster in Westland. It was witnessed by neighbors and the Ambriez' three sons, 12, 3 and 2.

Neighbors reportedly came to her aid and held Ambriez until police arrived and arrested him.

The 12-year-old first pleaded with his father to stop the attack, then ran to the neighbors and pleaded with them to help "because he is going to kill her," according to witnesses in the neighborhood south of Warren Road and west of Wayne Road.

Man rescues woman from burning Yugo

By Todd Schneider
staff writer

Margaret Dugas isn't sure she'd be alive this week if it weren't for Gary Paris.

Paris pulled her from her burning Yugo last Wednesday morning after she lost control of the car on Wayne Road. The 26-year-old Westland woman, apparently in shock, sat helplessly in the driver's seat after the car struck a utility pole and flipped over onto its side.

"I wasn't really hurt, but I wasn't sure what was happening," said Paris. "I guess I was in shock."

"If he hadn't been there yelling and screaming and helping me out, I could have died."

Paris, 37, owns a local plumbing business. Paris said he's no hero, "just someone glad he could help out."

"Leave the heroic stuff up to the police and firefighters," he said.

Paris said he was driving his plumbing truck to a job at a local house. He was driving north on Wayne near Hunter just before 9 a.m. when Dugas' car passed him, he said.

A MOMENT later, the car hit the curb and a mall box and then burst into flames, Paris said.

"I pulled over into the bank parking lot and ran over to try and help out. It seemed like she couldn't work her way out of the seat belt, so I reached in and helped her."

According to a police report, Paris pulled Dugas out through the front windshield, which had popped out during the accident.

"Together, we did it," he said. Paris said he has seen a few accidents, but this was the first time he was able to help out. Leaking gasoline from the car's filler cap apparently triggered the explosion and fire, officer Don Haigh said. Flames engulfed the car and rose 20 feet high, Haigh said.

Although the seat belt momentarily prevented Dugas from getting out, it probably kept her from being killed or seriously injured by the impact, Haigh said. Had Dugas been unconscious in the car, she might not have gotten out, even with help, Haigh said.

Witnesses said Dugas was driving 10-20 miles over the speed limit at the time of the accident. She was ticketed for speeding.

Thomas will face Griffin in general

But, the nominee apparently gained some confidence during the summer primary campaign.

"I GUESS THE more we got out into the community the better I thought my chances were," he said Tuesday. "But I didn't want to admit that because I thought I might let down a little if I did."

Pickering drew cheers from Thomas' supporters when he appeared at the VFW hall about 9:40 p.m. to concede second place and encourage his followers to vote for Thomas in November.

Thomas offered Pickering a black and green "Thomas for Mayor" button, which Pickering pinned to his lapel.

"I ought to be sad, but I'm not," Pickering said. "Between your candidate's count, mine and Tom Artley's, we have enough votes to win this thing."

"They're (Griffin and his backers) definitely in trouble."

Both Thomas and Griffin said Tuesday they expect to run campaigns centered on issues rather than personalities.

"Now I think we'll have a chance to really discuss the issues," Griffin said. "I think some of my views were misrepresented during the primary campaign."

GRIFFIN, 49, has focused his reelection effort on the continued economie development of the city and his efforts to make Westland financially stable during the last 3 1/2 years. His goals for a second term include controlled growth and improved public safety and other services.

Thomas, 39, said potential overdevelopment of the city is the biggest issue facing residents.

"I've seen the mayor quoted as saying he wants to make Westland the shopping center of western Wayne County," Thomas said Tuesday. "Well I don't think that should be one of our goals."

The challenger said city officials have a responsibility to fill new strip malls that have current vacancies before approving additional construction.

Jury hears testimony completed a training course at the company's Troy headquarters and became manager of the Westland franchise.

Bender said LaDuc called him on April 22, after he had apparently gone to the store to meet with Zelin, and the two decided to move the dismissal up to the close of business that day.

Witnesses to the shooting told police shortly after 2 p.m. a man matching Zelin's description pulled a white Dodge Colt up in front of the store, got out of the car and pulled a shotgun from its trunk.

THE MAN FIRED once at LaDuc as he walked hurriedly across Venoy, apparently trying to flee, they said.

People in passing cars on Ford and Venoy testified this week that they saw LaDuc, blood spreading rapidly on the front of his blue sweater, stumble and then plead for help as a man they identified as Zelin continued to chase him across the street.

"I heard (LaDuc) hollering for help," said Marilyn Mills, an employee at the Sunoco station across the street from the Ziebart business.

Wounded Westland man charged in holdup

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

District Court Judge John MacDonald steps off the elevator after presiding over the arraignment of a Westland man in Wayne County Hospital on charges of robbing a Canton store. The suspect was in the hospital recovering from injuries suffered when he was shot by Canton police when arrested.

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

A 31-year-old Westland man charged with one count of armed robbery was arraigned Tuesday in the Westland Medical Center where he is recovering from three bullet wounds fired by Canton police.

Jeffery A. Bushbacher, whose condition is listed as stable, is charged with robbing the Dairy Mart in Canton Township Sunday evening, threatening a clerk with an unidentified weapon and escaping with an estimated $350 in cash and lottery tickets.

Bushbacher, attended by wife Susie, was arraigned bedside by Judge John MacDonald, of 35th District Court in Plymouth. Bail was set at $500,000 cash and a preliminary hearing is set for Oct. 13.

Defense attorney Mary Jane Bevelhimer of Westland waived Bushbacher's right to a hearing in 12 days because of his medical condition.

"He is obviously a sick man. He appeared to be in pain and uncomfortable" during arraignment, Bevelhimer said. "But his wife told me she expects him to recover."

BUSHBACHER WAS SHOT by officers Joseph Bippus and David Boljesic who, acting on tips supplied by two paper boys standing outside Dairy Mart during the incident, stopped Bushbacher at Joy and Haggerty roads shortly after the robbery.

Police charge that Bushbacher got out of his Ford Mustang and charged officers, brandishing a knife. A knife with a blade 5- or 6-inches long was found at the scene, according to officer Patrick Nemecek.

Canton police investigated the shooting and found no cause for action against the officers.

"Our findings show the officers followed full department policy. They exercised extremely good judgment and extreme restraint. As the defendant rushed them, they ordered him to halt twice before firing. We have five witnesses to the incident," said John Santomauro, Canton director of public safety.

Boljesic, former public information officer for Canton police, is a four year veteran of the force and Bippus has been an officer for one year.

A second investigation currently underway by Michigan State Police will likely be completed by weeks end, according to Santomauro, who said additional charges against Bushbacher may be pending.

The weapon used during the commission of the robbery, described as possibly an ice pick or a long screw driver, has not been recovered.

NEMECEK, IN ATTENDANCE during Tuesday's arraignment, said Bushbacher "appeared fully able to understand the proceedings."

Recovery quick for robbery victim

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

A Canton Township grocery clerk who was threatened and robbed on the job by an armed bandit said she was able to return to work immediately following the incident because of the professionalism displayed by Canton police.

"If it was not for the police, I would not have gone back. I know that if I need them, they'll be here," Carol Alterman said following the Sunday evening robbery of Dairy Mart where she is employed.

Alterman, 49, was working alone Sunday evening when a man entered the store, threatened her with a weapon resembling a screw driver or an ice pick and took more than $350 from the cash register. The man fled in a car.

The incident occurred at 7:15 p.m. Alterman said the entire situation was done and over, including an arrest of the suspect, within an hour. She then returned briefly to work before being relieved by another employee.

The first officers arrived at the scene of the robbery "while I was calling them to report the crime." The suspect was apprehended "while I was writing out my report" at the police station.

"THE WAY THE police handled me is the only reason I'm not in the hospital right this minute," Alterman said the day after the robbery. "They treated me like family. They calmed me down."

Alterman, who has been working daily since the incident, also said she is not frightened. "I can't tell you how safe I feel and it's because of how quick the police reacted" to the Sunday, Sept. 10, incident.

Based on Alterman's account, a man entered the store about 7 p.m. and asked to buy meat. As Alterman walked to the counter, the man grabbed her from behind and forced her to lock the front door of the small grocery store. He then made her stand in the store's walk-in cooler, threatening to kill her if she moved.

After taking the money, he returned to the cooler twice, once demanding keys to the safe and a second time for keys to the back door of the store. Alterman said she had neither key.

The man left by the front door. Two youths, boys Alterman said are regular customers at the store, followed the man to his car, noting the vehicle's license number, which they supplied to police.

The man was apprehended a short time later and arraigned Tuesday on robbery charges. (See related story.)

Alterman, a Canton resident for 16 years, has worked at Dairy Mart on Warren Road at Morton Taylor Road for two years.

Probe continues into man's shooting death

By Bill Casper
staff writer

Redford Township police still haven't ruled on the nature of the Sept. 7 shooting death of a 19-year-old Westland man.

But a man and his daughter, who live in the house where the shooting occurred, have told investigators that the victim shot himself.

"We won't make a concrete determination until we get the official medical examiner's report and the reports from the Michigan State Police crime laboratory," Redford police Detective Lt. Wilson Bailey said Tuesday.

"We expect the reports in a couple of weeks. We don't have all the answers yet and we're not discounting anything at this point."

NO ONE has been charged or arrested pending completion of the police investigation, Bailey said.

Bascorb Bailey (not related to Lt. Bailey) and his daughter, Patricia Ball, told investigators that the victim shot himself with Bailey's .22 caliber rifle after he apparently broke into the house in the 9900 block of Farley.

The victim, Jeffrey Stratz of Westland, who police say was Ball's former boyfriend, threatened to kill both Bailey and his daughter, before he apparently shot himself, they said.

Stratz, who would have turned 20 years old Monday, suffered a fatal gunshot wound in his mouth after he apparently wrestled the rifle from Bailey, police said.

Bailey, 61, was slightly injured during a scuffle just prior to the shooting, police said.

Ball, 24, told police that she found Stratz, who was armed with a knife, hiding behind her bedroom door as she entered the room shortly before 2:30 p.m.

After he threatened to kill her father, she ran out of the bedroom and into her father's converted workshop in the next room, where she told Bailey that Stratz was in the house, police said.

BAILEY TOLD police that he loaded his .22 caliber rifle and went to his daughter's bedroom, where he pushed open the door and found Stratz hiding behind the door.

He ordered Stratz to leave the house and Stratz charged toward him, he said. Bailey said he broke down the door leading into another bedroom and fell over a bed in an attempt to retreat from Stratz, who took his gun from him.

Stratz threatened to kill Bailey but then left the bedroom and walked through a hall to the living room, where he pointed the gun at Ball before turning the weapon on himself and fired one shot, Bailey said. Before he fired the shot, Stratz asked how to release the weapon's safety device but Bailey said he wouldn't tell him.

Stratz's body was found lying on the living room floor, police said.

BALL TOLD police that the house doors were locked and that Bailey must have gotten inside through the window of her front bedroom.

Lt. Bailey said there is an indication that Ball's bedroom window had been forced open.

Bailey told police that he received a telephone call from Stratz, who threatened to kill him the day before the shooting incident.

BALL AND her 3-year-old daughter, Rebecca, who was playing in the basement of the home, were not injured during the incident, but Bailey suffered minor cuts and bruises to his forehead and cheek, Lt. Bailey said.

Bailey told police that he wasn't sure how he got injured and Lt. Bailey said he is unsure whether the man's cuts were inflicted by Stratz's knife, which police recovered along with the rifle in the house.

Bailey sought his own medical attention at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn, where he was treated and released, Lt. Bailey said.

"I'll know more about (Bailey's) injuries after I get a medical report from the hospital," Lt. Bailey said.

PATRICK D. STRATZ of Taylor, the dead man's brother, told Redford Police last Thursday that he last saw Stratz when he left his Taylor home at approximately noon the day before the shooting.

Women challengers win top three council spots

Cicirelli's main message during the primary is that she would be an independent council woman, if elected.

She also emphasized her background as a zoning board of appeals member and that of an attorney and former teacher and membership on the alumni board of governors of the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

That background, she felt, would help make her an effective and independent council member.

JOHNSON, currently a Wayne-Westland school board member, said she only hoped to finish in the top eight and gain a nomination and that she was surprised to be in the top three.

In order to win in the fall, Johnson said she will need a "whole of organization, more hard work, and that I will depend on the people who got me here."

Bollinger, who was supported by Herbert for the open council seat, admitted Tuesday she was "shocked and surprised."

And she was "absolutely" shocked to have women candidates grab the top three nominations.

Bollinger, who came within 75 votes of winning a council seat two years ago, said that voters took at the candidates' literature and decided who to vote for.

Looking ahead to the Nov. 7 general election at which four council members will be elected, Bollinger said she intends to work harder, knock on a lot of doors, and listen to what people are saying.

Mehl told the Observer that he predicted there would be some surprises in the primary.

The top three candidates "went out and worked."

Looking ahead to the fall election, Mehl said he and the other incumbents intend to see as many people personally as possible and that they would run a positive campaign.

SPEAKING BEFORE a large crowd at Leright's banquet hall, Mehl said that the council members "obviously have some work to do in the next 58 days" and hopes that the numbers will be different in the general election.

Ziemba commented that while he was surprised at the incumbents' finishes, there was some "misinformation" put out during the primary, referring to challengers saying that the city closed one of four fire halls.

He said a fire station was closed only on a rotating basis.

Now with the field known for the general election, there will be debates and "a different outcome" in the fall.

Mayor Griffin, seeking a second term, added that "it looks like we may have at least one woman on the council. I have always advocated a woman on the council."

In the Nov. 7 vote, the top three vote-getters will win four-year terms while the fourth highest candidate will receive a two-year term.

Man convicted in 2 deaths

By Todd Schneider
staff writer

A Recorder's Court Judge took only 25 minutes Monday to convict a Westland man in the March shooting deaths of his stepbrother and a Garden City woman. Judge Dalton Roberson remained at the bench while reviewing the case.

Gary Joseph Galindo, 44, was convicted on two counts of first-degree murder and one count of possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony during a three-day trial that began in August and continued this week.

Defense attorney Charles Campbell argued unsuccessfully for a reduction of the charges to second-degree murder. Campbell said the killings occurred during a heated moment and didn't involve the premeditation necessary for first-degree murder.

Galindo will be sentenced 9 a.m. next Thursday by Roberson. He faces a maximum sentence of life in prison without parole.

Police said Galindo shot and killed his stepbrother, Arthur Andrew Novack, 45, and Sharon June Sahaydak, 44, of Garden City late March 10 or early March 11 in a house on the 37100 block of Norene. The house was shared by Galindo, his mother and Novack, according to court testimony.

GALINDO FLED to Port Huron in his stepbrother's 1988 Ford Taurus and was arrested there March 11 by St. Clair County Sheriff's deputies, according to court records.

The murder weapon, a .22-caliber, single-shot rifle that Galindo borrowed from a neighbor on Norene, was also recovered by sheriff's deputies and police found .22-caliber shell casings in the car. The neighbor testified that Galindo asked to borrow the rifle in order to kill "a stray dog."

Galindo, apparently upset over a romantic relationship between Novack and Sahaydak, shot them both one time in the chest after surprising them at home, police said.

A family acquaintance testified that Galindo telephoned her early March 11 and admitted killing the couple.

Rita Cruse said she asked Galindo why and he replied: "It doesn't matter. It's done."

Cruse testified that Galindo told her she could call the police, but not to tell his mother (who was staying with another relative) about the shootings.

Resident to 'star' on lottery show

A Westland woman, Elaine Maldonado, is one of six contestants who will "star" on Saturday's telecast of the Michigan Lottery's weekly "Fame and Fortune" game show.

One of six contestants will win the top prize of $50,000 but all will end up as winners. The show also awards additional cash prizes of up to $5,000 as well as new cars and other merchandise.

All contestants receive full "star" treatment including an overnight stay at the Omni International Hotel, VIP Limousine Service for travels around Detroit and a special luncheon at the Whitney Restaurant.

Taped Friday at WDIV-TV, Channel 4, "Fame and Fortune" will be aired at 7:30 p.m. Saturday with live drawings of the Daily Three, Zinger and Super Lotto games inserted.

Training called key in chemical rail fires

By M.S. Dillon
staff writer

Fire officials and concerned citizens from around the state converged at a legislative hearing on rail transportation in Wayne on Monday, sounding a plea for stricter safety regulations and more training and financing for firefighters.

"We have a serious hazardous materials problem in this state. We tried to address it and failed," said Jim Carr, coordinator of the Hazardous Materials Response Team serving western Wayne County.

"We don't have the funds to train people in this area. We've done it, but it's a great financial burden."

STATE REP. James Kosteva, D-Canton, who chairs the house Rail Safety Subcommittee, scheduled the hearing after the derailment in July of a CSX freight train.

The train derailed in the rural Saginaw County town of Freeland en route to the Dow Chemical complex in Midland.

Three tanker cars caught fire, emitting toxic fumes and causing the weeklong evacuation of 3,000 residents from a 25-square-mile area. The train, which travels every week from Dow's Texas facility to Midland, passes through the Plymouth-Canton and Westland area.

Since February 1989, three derailments have occurred in Michigan.

Kosteva, whose district is crisscrossed by railroads, conducted the hearing along with State Rep. Curtis Hertel, D-Detroit, chairman of the House Transportation Committee.

In attendance were representatives of organizations including the Federal Railroad Administration; State Police; Firefighters Training Council of Michigan; Citizens Against Toxic Trains and the Michigan State Firefighters Union.

HAD THE CSX train derailed in western Wayne County, "could we have evacuated 28 square miles for all that time? Could we have lived with that situation? I don't think so," said Carr, deputy chief of the Dearborn Heights Fire Department.

"This is the most populated area that chemical train goes through."

While coordination is good among Michigan agencies, "we haven't come close to achieving a coordinated response plan," said Charles Griffith, research director with the Michigan State Firefighters Union. "The metropolitan area is as far behind as anyone."

"Unless the whole community is aware of the dangers and has some confidence in local agencies, the public has little trust in the process. When you lose public confidence, you also lose public safety, because people don't react in an organized manner."

"MICHIGAN RANKS third in the nation in the incidence of hazardous materials accidents with 5.63 per 1,000 miles of track," Frank Lieder of Citizens Against Toxic Trains told the legislators.

"The people of Michigan feel they can no longer entrust our lives to the Federal Railroad Administration.

"We beseech the state to lower speed limits and adopt stricter guidelines," Lieder said.

The CSX Dow train "stops right in front of my house in Highland," he said.

"IT'S CLEAR we can put an emphasis on training, but in other areas, it's difficult to know where and how we could have the most effectiveness," Kosteva said.

"We don't have accurate enough data yet. Hopefully, we can get some data from the National Transportation Safety Board as to the specific causes of accidents."

"Hopefully this will result in concrete proposals we can take to the Legislature that show here is where money is needed, and here's what the funding can do."

A representative of the NTSB was unable to attend the hearing.

"MR. KOSTEVA has a tough task," said Richard Powell, executive secretary of the Firefighters Training Council. "Statewide, 85 percent of our fire departments are staffed by volunteers. There's no response team in the Upper Peninsula and nothing near Bay City.

"In Michigan, we've had pretty good relationships with industry. But we're finding it's not enough. Dow Chemical creates 60,000 to 70,000 chemicals. Fire departments don't have chemists. The expectation that fire departments can handle everything just isn't there."

Officials outline costs

The cost of training firefighters to deal with hazardous materials is staggering, an area fire chief said.

"Just for two people to be trained to be on the response team cost us $13,500 in manpower, equipment costs and the city's share of response team expenses," Westland fire Chief Larry Lane said, speaking at a legislative hearing on rail transportation in Wayne on Monday. "And it has to be ongoing training."

State Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, who chairs the house Rail Safety Subcommittee, scheduled the hearing after the derailment in July of a CSX freight train.

It's hoped that setting up more response teams and establishing a state-run training center in Lansing will help lessen the burden on local communities. But financing is an obstacle, said Lt. Arthur Nash Jr. of the State Police fire marshal division.

"THE GOAL is to ensure that well-trained response teams can respond within an hour anywhere in Michigan. We have 16 response teams now, but all are in the southern part of the state," he said at Monday's hearing.

"Just to establish the response teams there'll be an initial cost of $1.5 million, with continuing costs of $340,000 a year to train those response teams."

"If we can't come up with the funding, the Legislature is going to have to look at this and say, 'Is this something we want to fund?' That's the only way those who need training will receive it," Nash said.

KOSTEVA ASKED fire officials to forward documentation of costs to the subcommittee.

"One of the consternations I'm having is that money is needed at a number of levels. If we expect to go advocate for additional funding, having exact figures and what they'd buy would be a great help," Kosteva said.

Francis Ray of the United Transportation Union in Lansing proposed defraying costs by imposing "a ton mileage tax on shippers and haulers of hazardous materials."

Charles Griffith, research director with the Michigan State Firefighters Union, supported the idea.

"Ohio has passed one of the nation's best pieces of transportation legislation," Griffith said. "So far, CSX has been successful in holding it up as it pertains to rail, but its primary provisions include registration of hazardous material carriers in the state and route assessments."

The state "may assess penalties to the carriers, and fees to carriers to finance training," he said.

What kind of a kid do you suppose Thomas Edison was?

Bet he looked at problems and saw solutions. Like Maurice Scales who invented Baby No-Mash to prevent doors from closing on little fingers.

Bet he saw how things were done, and imagined better ways to do them. Like Lillian Lukas who invented the Puddle Detecting Cane for the blind.

Bet he watched how things work and thought of ways to avoid wasting time or effort. Like Caitilin McCracken who invented the Orphan Kitten Feeder for Three.

Maurice, Lillian and Caitilin were three of the thousands of winners in the Invent America! education program.

Geoff Gladden, 16, of Canton likes the computer games he can call up through computer bulletin boards. Other users conduct business functions, solve problems or just shoot the electronic breeze.

Now see this Computer boards grow

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Wade Hampton saw the future once. In his days as a U.S. Navy electronics specialist, the 54-year-old Canton man gained an advance look at a number of technological breakthroughs. "I remember the first time I saw color radar," he said. "It was top secret stuff back then, they didn't want us to tell anyone about it even after we left the Navy." These days, Hampton believes he's seeing the future again — every time he calls a computer bulletin board to his video screen. The new frontier of mass communications, computer bulletin boards allow users to share information without regard to international boundaries or government regulation. Someday, enthusiasts say, it will be commonplace to shop, bank and pay taxes, all through an electronic blip. "THIS IS really Jetsons stuff," Hampton said. Computer bulletin boards have fast become a staple of business and government. President George Bush and Soviet Premier Mikhail Gorbachev can share information on global warming trends through a U.S.-U.S.S.R. link-up. But the growing personal use market may prove even more intriguing. Bulletin boards provide access to business programs and computer games, allowing users to check spelling or organize mailing lists while providing inexpensive entertainment for their children. "There's just tons of things out there for people to use," said Russ Delaney of Great Lakes Computer Systems Inc., an area dealer. "Many of the programs that people buy, they can load into their systems free of charge." Yet bulletin boards aren't called the "electronic back fence" for nothing. They allow like-minded computer operators to borrow each other's programs or just shoot the electronic breeze. "I'D SAY, yes, you could borrow a computer program the way you'd borrow a pair of hedge clippers," Hampton said. "It's also a good way to get in touch with folks." Bulletin boards also allow professionals to share sophisticated information on a wide-ranging variety of topics. One enterprising news reporter recently told a national computer magazine how he scooped his competitors on a secretive space shuttle launch by reading information astro-

Program divides AIDS fact, fiction

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

Fact or fiction:
• You can become infected with the AIDS virus by giving blood.
• You can contract AIDS by caring for someone with the disease, sharing their bathroom facilities, bathing them or assisting in feedings and medication.
• Being very selective in your choice of sexual partners is the best protection against contracting AIDS.

Each of these statements are false but such myths are unfortunately believed by many, according to Jan Thaxton, a registered nurse from Westland. Thaxton hopes to help set the record straight in a lecture "AIDS: Fact, Fiction and Fear," Oct. 4 at Schoolcraft College.

As a result of new drugs, AIDS is becoming a chronic disease. More and more people (infected with the virus) are living longer and leading productive lives. Both quality and quantity of life have been extended," Thaxton said. A graduate of Schoolcraft's nursing program, Thaxton now directs AIDS public education for the American Red Cross, Southeastern Michigan Chapter.

"AIDS may not personally affect most of us, but it indirectly affects all of us," reads a description of the lecture in Schoolcraft College's fall brochure announcing Continuing Education Services.

In addition to dispelling myths, Thaxton has other goals as well, including public education about a disease that conjures up visions of horror for most.

Some news is even heartening. PATIENTS NOW diagnosed with Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) that accounts for AIDS, can expect to live longer than those diagnosed previously because of such new drugs as Zidovudine (AZT).

"If treatment is begun before the final stages of illness, these new medications help the immune system fight off deadly infections. People live longer," Thaxton said. Of the 1,257 Michiganans who have developed full blown cases of AIDS, 59 percent have died, figures that reflect national trends. Of 100,000 cases nationwide, 57 percent have died.

The majority of Michigan patients live in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, nearly half are between the ages of 30 and 39 years and 80 percent have contracted the disease through high risk behavior, 59 percent through male to male sex and 21 percent through intravenous drug use.

"Most people are aware of how transmission occurs but not many are able to change their behavior, like using condoms or clean needles. Behavior modification is a very difficult thing to do. Anyone who has ever tried to lose weight or quit smoking knows that," Thaxton said.

The remainder of AIDS cases in Michigan were contracted through blood transfusions (5 percent), heterosexual sex (3 percent) and at birth (2 percent). The origins of 4 percent are unknown, according to Thaxton.

Nationally, an estimated 1.5 million persons are believed to be infected with the virus and may or may not be displaying symptoms at this time.

Thaxton's lecture is 6-10 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 4, at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty Road. Cost is $10. To register or for more information, call 462-4448.

Parks land sale off

Wayne County won't be selling park land to a Westland golf course, County Executive Edward McNamara announced.

McNamara said the sale "is not in the best interest of the county" in a letter to golf course owners.

County parks director Hurlley Coleman had recommended against the sale, county officials said.

The county was considering whether to sell 40 acres of parkland to owners of Hawthorne Valley, a public course on Merriman. Golf course owners sought the property to add nine additional holes.

Though a survey found support among some nearby residents, others vehemently opposed the sale to the point of picketing in the park.

Walk-a-thon is set

Wayne County is joining communities throughout the nation in sponsoring the first annual "Walk America" walkathon to raise money for local meals-on-wheels programs.

The walk will be held 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, Nov. 11, at the University of Michigan-Dearborn fieldhouse.

Proceeds will be used to provide meals to seniors in western Wayne County and Downriver. The Detroit Area Agency on Aging is also participating and will raise money for programs in the city and eastern suburbs.

Walkers can designate where they want their contributions to go. They can also choose whether to complete the 3.1 mile walk inside or outside the fieldhouse.

Additional information is available by calling Judith Pozan, 453-2808.

Teachers talk technology

Teachers, administrators and school board members from throughout the area are expected to participate in the third annual State Of Educational Technology conference, Sept. 18-19 at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

The conference will describe the use of laser discs, microcomputers and microwave and satellite technology in the classroom.

Among items to be demonstrated is Channel One, a student television channel currently being tested at Mumford High School, Detroit.

Flu shot clinics set for senior citizens

Senior citizens in western Wayne County can obtain influenza shots this fall at five area locations.

- They are:
- Westland Health Center, Merriam Road, north of Michigan. Inoculations are given weekdays from 8-11:30 a.m. and 12:30-3:30 p.m. and from 3:30-7 p.m. Wednesday evening (by appointment only, 467-3319).
 - Redford Township Senior-Citizens Center, 12121 Hemingway. Shots will be given Thursday, Oct. 12 from 1-3:30 p.m. and Friday, Oct. 13 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Appointments must be made in person clinic days.
 - Livonia Senior Citizens Center, 10800 Farmington. Clinic will be held Thursday, Oct. 26, from 1-3:30 p.m. and Friday, Oct. 27, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Call 422-5010 for an appointment.

- Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer. Clinic will be held from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 10. Call 455-6627 for an appointment.
- Canton Recreation Center, 44237 Michigan Ave. at Sheldon Road. Call 397-1000, Ext. 278 for an appointment Monday, Oct. 16. Clinic hours will be 1-3:30 p.m.

A $2 donation is requested but indigent residents may receive a waiver. "Absolutely no one will be turned away due to inability to pay," said Wayne County Executive Edward H. McNamara. "The donations will permit us to purchase additional vaccine to provide protection for that many more people."

Donald Lawrenchuk, medical director for the Wayne County Health Department, urges that senior citizens with chronic conditions of the cardiovascular, pulmonary and/or renal systems as well as those with diabetes, severe anemia or impaired immune functions be inoculated after consulting with their physician.

The county health department will offer a trivalent split virus vaccine for individuals with chronic conditions and to all residents aged 65 or older. "The typical influenza season runs from November to April, but the maximum protection provided by the vaccine occurs when it is given early before the influenza season starts," Lawrenchuk said.

The 1989-90 vaccine has been developed to protect against strain of A/Taiwan/1/86-like (H1N1), A/Shanghai/11/87-like (H3N2) and B/Yamagata/16/88-like viruses.

For more information, call the county health department disease control division office 467-3325.

SC center wins federal grant

Schoolcraft College has received a $70,000 federal grant on behalf of its Business Development Center, it was announced recently.

The center is part of the Livonia-based community college's Business and Industrial Services Department.

The grant, made through the federal Defense Logistics Agency, was secured through the assistance of U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth.

Abortion rights rally planned

The Western Wayne County Chapter of NOW (The National Organization for Women) will join more than 30 other statewide groups in a Rally for Reproductive Rights Sunday, Sept. 24, on the lawn of the state capitol in Lansing.

Organizers said the purpose of the rally is to demonstrate wide-ranging support for safe and legal birth control and abortion rights.

Among the sponsoring organizations are the League of Women Voters, Planned Parenthood of Michigan, the American Civil Liberties Union, Michigan Democratic Women's Caucus, Michigan Republican Women's Task Force and the American Association of University Women.

The 1-3 p.m. rally will feature several speakers. Buses will leave from a central western Wayne County location. Cost is $15 and reservations are needed. For more information, call the NOW office at 591-9344 or call Kathie Gladden at 981-6665.

BRAINWASHING WEIGHT REDUCTION AND SMOKING SEMINARS use classic brainwashing techniques to plant a new belief system in your mind. Your cravings can disappear. You can stop smoking.

"I went through Brainwashing and I lost over 60 pounds. The program gave me more will power than I had and changed my ideas about eating." - Mary O'Quinn.

You can stop bingeing and compulsive eating. The program was created by William Nagler M.D. and Anne Androff M.A. for people who have never been able to stay on a diet, or kick the habit.

"I attended the seminar last September, and lost over 50 pounds. My self-assurance, and outlook on life improved. I would recommend Brainwashing to anyone who is trying to lose weight. I am very pleased." - John Madden BRAINWASHING TAPES allow you to experience our seminar in the privacy of your home. If you can't attend this month's seminar, and you want to lose weight or quit today, call us.

"I lost 45 pounds in 3 months and kept it off for a year. I didn't follow any diet. This is the first time I've been successful in 16 years." - Jan DuBois

William Nagler M.D. and Anne Androff M.A. have been featured on Larry King Live, Sally Jesse Raphael, Morton Downey Junior, Straight Talk, and on hundreds of programs across the country.

"I lost 34 lbs. I hadn't lost in 5 years. Brainwashing made it easy." - Pam Neessen

Now It's Twice As Easy To Save On Fine Clothing In Detroit.

J.S. A. Bank Introduces Its Second Store In The Detroit Area. Now Open In Livonia.

Quality clothing does not come cheap. The question is, just how expensive should it be? Allow us to answer that. We're J.S. A. Bank Clothiers. For over 75 years, discriminating men and women have relied on us for impeccably crafted career and leisure apparel at prices that offer incomparable value.

We Make It, So You Save.
Since we make our own clothing in our own workrooms and sell it directly through our own stores and catalogs, we can price it at $75 - $150 less than comparable clothing at other fine stores.

We Want It Done Right. So We Do It Ourselves.
We insist on making our own clothing not only so we can offer you superior value but superior quality as well. Our own craftsmen use the finest materials available and complete 148 separate manufacturing steps. This is your assurance that every J.S. A. Bank garment is correct in its classic styling, meticulous in its detailing and uncompromising in its construction.

Value Beyond Compare.
Some of our competitors are the most respected names in the clothing business. Compare J.S. A. Bank to any of them. You'll find that stitch for stitch our clothing offers the same, or even superior, quality. But at unbeatable prices.

The Alterations Alternative.
Most stores promise you "free" alterations. Actually, the cost of these alterations is included in the prices they charge - whether you need them or not. But at J.S. A. Bank, the only alterations you pay for are the ones you need. Yet another edge we offer that works in your favor.

Come see for yourself at our brand new store. And start getting used to the idea that what you can afford to spend for fine clothing isn't necessarily what you need to spend.

Our Newly Remodeled Store In Birmingham. Opens Today 6pm.

nomers had placed into one nationwide computer service.

Delaney, who maintains a bulletin board at his company's Canton store, estimates there are more than 450 bulletin boards in the 313 area code alone.

Hampton, a trucker by trade, was well acquainted with the last communications craze, CB radios, but predicts computer bulletin boards won't fade from general use like 1970s CBs.

"The difference from CB and ham radio is that, there, you're sending out a signal to whoever will listen," he said. "Here, you can target your audience."

A list of area bulletin boards is available at computer stores, including Great Lakes outlets in Canton and Farmington Hills.

Though you couldn't tell by reading a list of names, area bulletin board topics range from word processing programs to dating services. Targeted interest groups range from homosexuals to born-again Christians.

"MOST SERVICES are geared to computer enthusiasts themselves, allowing them to share tips and work out problems."

Users see computer bulletin boards as an inexpensive, fun way to get in touch with like-minded individuals.

"I'd say 98-99 percent of all bulletin boards are free," Hampton said.

"And I'd say most of us eventually meet face-to-face."

Computer services that charge for information include Prodigy, the heavily promoted marriage of computer giant IBM and retail giant Sears.

With shop-at-home, bank-at-home and news service features, Prodigy and its rivals represent the next wave, Delaney said.

One rival, CompuServe, a 10-year veteran in the field, offers more than 160 different bulletin boards, which the company calls "forums."

The Columbus, Ohio-based firm bills itself as the largest information system of its kind.

"We're more than just a bulletin board, we're a full service organization," said company spokeswoman Kitty Thomas. "We have over a half million subscribers and it's growing all the time."

The key to the home use market, Thomas said, is that people are only now becoming aware of what computers can do.

"PEOPLE WHO may have bought computers to balance their check books now want to get something more out from their investment," she said.

Despite the presence of Prodigy, CompuServe and other giants like Dow Jones, enthusiasts said the bulk of the action is generated by the do-it-yourself home bulletin boards.

What programs users choose often depends upon their age.

"I don't use the news services. I'm mostly interested in the computer games," said 16-year-old Geoff Gladden of Canton.

Creating a bulletin board isn't complex, according to Delaney.

"Once you have a personal computer, it isn't too expensive to start one," he said. "Though you have to add another telephone line."

Some lines have short lifespans, however, because operators find it tough to pay their new telephone bills. That is why some operators ask for voluntary payment.

"It's really an honor system type of thing," Hampton said.

For now, the do-it-yourself bulletin boards are jammed.

"Bulletin boards come and go," Delaney said. "But what we're finding is that there are far more interested users than there are bulletin boards to handle them."

Nearly 700 people access his company bulletin board, Delaney said.

There is, however, a less-than-positive side to the craze.

Computer bulletin boards are supposed to reside in the public domain, using material that carries no company's copyright.

While the Federal Communications Commission isn't interested in regulating their content, enthusiasts said law enforcement officials keep an eye out for copyright infringements and hackers.

"Computer hackers are a problem" Hampton said. "There's also the risk of someone putting in a computer virus, though it hasn't happened to me." Computer outlaws face even stiffer penalties from foreign governments.

Exchanging information on computers or any other topic is a key element of computer bulletin boards. Boards allow users to link on a national or international level.

"I had one hacker access my system from Australia," Hampton said. "I just heard he was arrested for what he was doing over there and could face up to 100 years in jail."

That means the unlucky Australian, if he lives long enough, could be released back into a world where computer bulletin boards are as common as telephones.

After all, Hampton said, the future is on its way.

Lindsey is a 5-year-old diabetic. Her daily insulin shots, diet restrictions and constant blood monitoring only provide day-to-day control over the disease. They do not cure it. So Lindsey, along with 11 million other Americans, still faces the long-term risks of diabetes — like heart disease, blindness, stroke, amputation and kidney disease. The complications of diabetes will account for an estimated 150,000 deaths this year alone.

But thanks to your contributions to the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, Lindsey and millions like her have something more to look forward to. In the past decade, JDF research has made great strides in isolating the causes and conditions of diabetes, bringing us closer to a cure. At the same time, diabetes increases by 6% every year. And in ten years the number of diabetics will have doubled.

So you see, your help is needed more desperately than ever before. For more information on the warning signs of diabetes and its treatment, and what you can do to help, call JDF at (313) 569-6171.

Families help Irish kids spend peaceful holiday

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

One minute, Paul Casey, an 8-year-old from Belfast, Northern Ireland, was clowning around with his friends, posing for a photographer on the front lawn of his American host family's home.

The next minute, Paul, long lashes framing his large green eyes, was in a more serious mood. He was sitting by the driveway, talking about what he likes and dislikes about the United States and Northern Ireland.

"The food here is kind of different. It's good," said Paul, a few hours before he and his brother Kevin, 6, ended their recent six-week stay in the United States.

"The only thing I like about living in Ireland is when my mom takes us to the beach.

"The thing I don't like is when the Brits are around," Paul said, folded arms resting on his blue jeans, eyes focused straight ahead.

"They break into the houses. They shot Daddy. It happened in my house."

Paul and his brother, a chaperone and three other children were sponsored by families from Wayne, Oakland and Livingston counties through a program called Irish Political Prisoners' Children's Holidays.

Among those who donated airfare and expenses were Daniel and Gertie O'Kennedy of Livonia and Michael and Barbara Sullivan of Farmington Hills. This marked the first time Michigan participated in the program.

Like Kevin and Paul, the other youngsters have parents who've been involved in the ongoing struggle in Northern Ireland.

Kelly Skolarus, 16, and her parents Ed and Polly of Livingston County, hosted Kathleen Murray, 13, of West Belfast. Murray's father has been in prison for 11 years.

Said Kelly Skolarus, "We went out a lot with my friends — they really liked Kathleen. They called her 'Miss Ireland.'"

"We took her out to eat, and to Bahama Mamas in Taylor. We had a great time dancing."

Relly said what Kathy told her about Northern Ireland "sounds like the Russian government. There are soldiers on the streets. Some are nice, but some can be really mean. They yell and swear at people. I don't believe things till I'm right there. But now I understand better."

KATHY, WHO has blue eyes and long, wavy strawberry blonde hair, said she's going to miss her new friends and "going to the beach." She's looking forward to Irish food, and "playing soccer and hurling with my brothers and friends."

What she dreads about going home is "just all the British soldiers shooting and fighting all the time, and just the feeling of people dying."

Ever since I was little, two or three times every year, the soldiers have raided our house. It's scary. They come really early, at 1 or 3 in the morning. They kick the door. If no one answers, they try and kick it in.

They have guns and dogs and they get everyone downstairs, and search the house. They look under the carpet, and look in the attic. They wreck the house looking for guns and bombs. They've never found any.

"If all the British soldiers were put out of Ireland, there would be no more trouble over there," she said. "If the British don't leave, there will just be sadness. It will always be the same."

HOST FAMILIES and folks ranging from the manager at Meijer to Detroit Tigers owner Tom Monaghan did what they could to help the children forget about their war-torn country for a while.

"The manager at Meijer's gave toys to Kevin and Paul," said Pat Ranger of Brighton, who with her husband Ray organized the trip and hosted three of the young visitors.

"People said Tom Monaghan would never do anything, but he sent the kids Tigers yearbooks and key chains. We had a lot of neighbors and friends donate clothing, toys and money."

The children are all going home with new shoes, jeans, shirts and toys," she added.

The Matthews family of Howell hosted Rossa Quigley, who celebrated his 12th birthday during his visit.

"Rossa had never had a birthday party, and Anne (Matthews) gave him one," said Ranger. "They hired a magician, and had balloons, favors and crepe paper decorations, and served dinner to 25 kids. The kids wore birthday hats. Rossa may have thought that was kind of dorky, but he's going home with a birthday party under his belt."

Chaperone Rosie Murray, whose husband and brothers have been political prisoners, enjoyed a welcome respite as well. The top of Rangers' garage served as her sun deck, and Meijer as her second home. Just hours before the Irish entourage was about to leave, she was still shopping for clothes for family and friends.

Ranger hopes that next year more children and wives of political prisoners can visit the United States. Anyone interested in information, or in contributing to next year's exchange trip, can write P.O. Box 24744, Detroit, 48224.

WE'D LIKE YOU TO RESERVE THE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 17th FOR A MIRACLE.

George Washington said its creation was "little short of a miracle." James Madison said, "It is impossible for the man of pious reflection not to perceive in it a finger of that Almighty hand," when describing the process that created it.

Washington and Madison were commenting on nothing less than the document that created our government: The Constitution of the United States. The Constitution is the foundation of our country and the means by which we achieve the rule of law and protect our freedom.

The week of September 17th is Constitution Week. Many libraries will have displays and information on this incredible document.

Why not take a look at it. After all, it isn't often you can hold a miracle in your hands.

To get your copy, send your name and address to: Bicentennial Commission, 808 17th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006-3999.

SC offers classes for horse owners

Six courses for horse owners are being offered this fall at Schoolcraft College.

Courses range from taxes to health care.

- They include:
- Business management for horse owners — the course includes tax problems, expenses, government registration and ownership syndication. The course meets Monday evenings. Fee is $40.
 - Harness racing — The course teaches basic skills used in breeding, training and driving harness racehorses. Hands-on experience is provided. The course meets Saturday afternoons. Fee is $40.

- Safe foal handling — The workshop provides step-by-step methods of training a horse, including leading, standing for the blacksmith and loading in a trailer. The one-day workshop meets Sunday, Sept. 24. Fee is $20.
- Mental techniques to improve your horsemanship — The course teaches techniques of mental rehearsal, motivational training and skill in developing better seat, hands, cues, reining and leads. The course meets Thursday evenings. Fee is $31.

- Genetics and horse breeding — The course reviews basic genetics related to horse breeding. Topics include breeding systems, heredity and environment, developmental abnormalities and color inheritance. The course meets Tuesday evenings. Fee is $30.

- Hoof care — The course provides information about the anatomy and physiology of the equine foot, including proper care and shoeing. The emphasis is upon developing an eye for quality work. The course meets Saturday mornings. Fee is $40.

Additional information is available by calling 462-4448. Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile roads, Livonia.

Expo targets new breed of retirees

From cosmetic surgery to the myths of aging, from traveling alone to protecting yourself in your house and on the street, adults looking to add some sparkle to their retirement years might want to attend Michigan's first Retirement LifeStyle Expo this Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Cobo Hall.

The Expo will offer the over-50 population an opportunity to learn about services, community programs and lifestyle options that can enhance the quality of their retirement years.

- Some highlights include:
- Special guest appearances by Willard Scott of NBC's Today show and Alex Haley, author of Roots. More than 40 seminars and 200 exhibitors covering areas such as retirement and financial planning, health and fitness,

- Health screenings — including checks of blood pressure, body fat, cholesterol, vision, hearing and lung functions.

Tickets for the Expo are $3 each, but complimentary tickets are available at Henry Ford Hospital centers, Comerica branches, Great Scott! supermarkets and Little Caesars Pizza.

Many local senior centers are providing transportation. For more information, call 882-3860.

Eastern streamlines class registration

Beginning with the 1990 winter semester, Eastern Michigan University will implement a new course registration system designed to simplify the process and cut down on long lines.

The main feature of the new system will be early registration, in which students will mail or drop-off completed course request forms at the registration office between Oct. 10 and Nov. 1. No tuition payment will be required with that initial registration, but will be billed to the students with 50 percent of tuition and all fees due by Dec. 1.

Students who fail to make a payment by Dec. 1 will be dropped from their classes and will have to re-register.

The course request forms will be processed by class level to ensure that upperclass students are registered on a priority basis to get the courses they need to meet graduation requirements.

In addition to cutting down on long registration lines, the earlier mail/drop-off registration will allow academic departments time to add new course sections if enrollments exceed the number of sections offered.

Students who participate in the mail/drop-off registration, as well as newly admitted students, will be permitted to participate in a drop/add phase Nov. 29-Dec. 15 to make necessary changes in their schedules. Students who do not register early will have to wait until Jan. 2, 1990, to register for the winter semester, and will be required to pay 50 percent of their tuition and all fees at the time.

Data needed Police, fire study is a must

A COMPREHENSIVE study of the city's police and fire departments, including organization, staffing and technology, should put to rest any wrangling about how many officers and firefighters the city should have.

The study, recently approved by the Westland City Council, will provide valuable information and directions for the city council and administration in trying to sort out the priorities on how to spend local tax dollars.

The issue, particularly in the police department, has been at the center of an ongoing dispute.

Residents tired of speeders and break-ins are demanding more patrol officers to respond quickly to their calls. Homeowners also are upset about closing one of four fire stations periodically to meet minimum staffing requirements.

The two departments and administration have consistently said they don't have the money to hire enough officers to satisfy the community's demands.

The study, which should be done by an outside organization, will certainly provide valuable information for the city's policy makers.

JUST AS important, it will provide the council and administration with numbers of officers and firefighters and dollar figures needed to bring the two departments up to what they should be.

We hope the results of the study will be used by the council and administration as a tool for making short- and long-range budgeting goals for the two departments.

The last thing the community needs is to have the study completed then let it sit on a shelf and collect dust.

An important advantage of the proposed study is that it will give both sides of the ongoing debate — the taxpayers and the tax spenders — the same base of information for discussion.

A study will be valuable in helping the city and community decide together how many officers and firefighters should be hired.

In past years, there was no consensus of what the ratio of officers or firefighters to population should be.

Hopefully, the study will give the council and community the same set of numbers to deal with so there would be no argument on what the goals should be.

At a recent council meeting, the administration cited statistics showing a national average of municipal departments of 1.9 firefighters and 1.6 police officers per 1,000 population.

WITH A population of 81,190, based on a mid-decade U.S. Census Bureau count, the city has fewer firefighters and police officers than the national average.

Westland has 63 firefighters and 89 police officers. Six of those officers will be freed of dispatching duties in a few months when six new dispatchers will be trained and be on the job by early next year.

But the council will have to balance the numbers recommended by the consultant with the number of available dollars.

Westland doesn't have the advantage of having a lot of industrial and commercial developments such as Livonia and Dearborn, but that doesn't prevent our city officials from planning more effectively to make the best use of their available dollars, such as combining similar duties in each department.

Fighting drugs More local action needed now

PRESIDENT GEORGE Bush's message is clear. If we want to rid our nation of illegal drugs, it's up to us.

If it's war we want, we'll have to be the ones who wage it — in our home towns and in our homes.

Though far-reaching, the president's proposal is woefully short of money. Consider this: the federal government will spend just $32 for each man, woman and child in its new war on drugs. And that is with a $2.2 billion increase.

The president's speech set a moral tone. For now, however, it's up to us to put it into action. Whatever our disagreements with the president's proposal, now is no time to be sitting on our hands.

WHAT CAN be done to combat drugs? Plenty. First, let's not kid ourselves into believing illegal drugs are solely an urban problem.

If our suburban communities are free from crack houses — and that point is debatable — law enforcement officials agree that dealers live here — even in the nicest of neighborhoods.

Government officials need to understand that. Western Wayne County, for example, has a multi-department police task force dedicated to knocking down suburban drug kingpins. Unfortunately, not every community contributes officers.

THIS ISN'T any time to slack off on community pressure, either. Parents need to continue spreading the word about the dangers of drug abuse.

We know of one large suburban community whose parental drug abuse task force has lapsed into obscurity.

But if it's an anti-drug abuse message we are sending, that message should be clear.

We know of another parental task force that financed anti-drug abuse programs through a cocktail party fund-raiser — without seeing the irony in its action.

Our proposed solutions are these:

We call on area police to redouble cooperative efforts. And we call on local elected officials to come forth with the money and manpower to make those efforts a success.

Also we call on all of us to re-examine our own behavior. Are we, like that parents group, sending mixed messages?

But if we shouldn't kid ourselves about suburban drug abuse, then neither should we kid ourselves that these steps, alone will be successful.

They, and the initial level of federal spending, establish a beachhead, not a war.

We call on area police to redouble cooperative efforts. And we call on local elected officials to come forth with the money and manpower to make those efforts a success.

WHILE LOCAL police can be wonderfully effective in bringing down local pushers, they can't be expected to wage war against sophisticated South American cartels.

While parental guidance can help a child choose not to use illegal drugs, it is no substitute for the professional guidance needed for those children who have already made that choice.

And while clear, unambiguous anti-drug messages may work for suburban youths, it might not prove enough for urban youths trapped in poverty with no jobs or any on the horizon.

Make no mistake, we believe President Bush's program should be ratified by Congress. But it's only a start. We challenge Congress to come up with more money — without cheating programs designed to benefit poor Americans, as has been charged of the president's plan.

FINDING THE $1.8 billion necessary to pay for last year's Anti-Drug Abuse Act is a start. Just $1 billion has been appropriated of the $2.8 billion authorized.

But more money will be needed not only to punish the pusher but also to treat the victim.

The president has called drug users, even casual ones, a major part of the problem. Dealers wouldn't deal, he argues, if users didn't buy.

But health care professionals believe there must be more money to get users off drugs.

There is a national cry for a balanced approach: one part law enforcement, another part education and yet another part treatment.

We spend billions on weapons to protect us from outside attack, yet we're bleeding internally. What enemy ever devastated as many lives as illegal drugs? What enemy ever wasted so much human potential?

President Bush has given all of us our marching orders. And we should follow them.

But the president and Congress must realize that while it's war we want, we can't win it without their support.

Excitement on the field, not in bottle this season

OUR SUBURBS will be pretty empty Saturday.

A good percentage of local residents will be hightailing it for East Lansing or Ann Arbor, as Michigan State and the University of Michigan launch their football seasons.

And this year, the excitement at the games (at least by the second half) will be generated from what's going on in the field and not from what's coming out of a bottle.

The University of Michigan, exhibiting one more facet of the leadership that should come from a world-class university, last month banned bringing containers into the stadium — anything that could hold food or drink.

Last week, MSU followed suit.

As U-M season ticket holders, who like many fans have been relegated to the same seats in the same row and section for the past five years, we've become accustomed to the people and tone of our section. It doesn't matter that from row 16, section 20, we can't see the far side of the field at all — we've got a great view when it's on our goal line.

SINCE RUMOR has it you have to be willed tickets or pay the hefty price to join The Victors Club to change season-ticket seats, we expect to be seeing these same folks for quite a while.

But I wonder what the funny guy in front of us will be like — without a drink in his hand. He usually starts

I wonder what the funny guy in front of us will be like — without a drink in his hand? . . . It would be a shame if it turned out that without spirits he is spiritless.

Judith Doner Berne

out quiet, but by the half he's getting into it — no matter what's happening on the field — and his high fives are extended to a broader and broader audience as the game goes on.

And, as a member of one of the few sections with its own cheerleader, I wonder if he will still have the courage to stand up on the divider between the field and the seats and lead us in the M-I-C-H-I-G-A-N chant after a score — then gesture pointedly to the end-zone section reserved for fans of the opposing team.

I sure hope so. He is an institution. It would be a shame if it turned out that without spirits he is spiritless.

ON A LIGHTER note, lost in all the press given the crackdown on alcohol consumption is U-M's crackdown on umbrellas.

That's really sticking it to us. We'll certainly be able to tell who's a fair-weather fan now.

As the seasons change, half the fun is waking up to that gray Saturday morning, contemplating whether it will or it won't, then tossing that blue and yellow umbrella into the car and hoping that the old adage holds — if you're prepared for rain, it won't.

And what's going to happen to all those blue and yellow umbrellas? They'll have to be left at the tailgate, taken to the golf course or — in the worst possible scenario — given to your neighbor and season ticket holder for Michigan State, where they stopped short of the umbrella ban.

"If you can cram anything into it, go ahead and try," laughed an MSU spokeswoman.

You could say that MSU fans are more fragile, less staunch. Officials were afraid that, threatened with wet weather, fans wouldn't show up if they couldn't be protected by an umbrella.

You could. But I won't. Happy football season.

Parkland sale fought

To the editor:
I read with interest in the Aug. 31 Westland Observer a story regarding the Hawthorne expansion. But I find your survey results very confusing. When the extent of the expansion came to light in July, I covered a three-block area on August around my home and found no one person in favor of the park being sold to Hawthorne Valley.

I would like to know who conducted the survey. Some of my neighbors on August saw the surveyors, but were not asked their opinion. These surveyors were going to a street that does not border the park.

I wonder also why you didn't quote anyone against the park sale. Wouldn't that have been objective reporting? Please be fair. The land purchase extends from Merriman to Middlebell Road and that is a large section of the parkway.

However, the golf course isn't the main issue here. The real issue is the sale of public parkland to a private developer, depriving families access to the park. We don't need golf courses as much as we need parks which can be used by many as opposed to the few who can afford the golf fees.

If this piece of the park is sold, we can probably expect more parkland to be sold and we can end up with no place for picnics, baseball and other free summer and winter recreation activities.

Residents who oppose this sale of parkland have not been able to get the publicity that a rich restaurant owner has. We did hold a protest in the park on Aug. 6. The Observer was notified but evidently did not find our efforts worth covering.

We did get on the Channel 4 news on that date and also in the Detroit News. We have circulated petitions throughout the area and have many signatures of county residents who object to the sale of county parkland, especially to a private developer.

We plan to continue to object to the sale until we have exhausted all possible avenues open to us.

But please do us the courtesy of listening to us, we are your neighbors, and we read your newspaper too. We know there is a large number of the people bordering the park who do not want it sold.

The people you quoted in your paper are people who already live on the golf course that now exists. Talk to those who do not live on the edge of the course too. They purchased land on the parkway and would like to see it stay that way.

Emma Schaening,
Westland

Golf course plan backed

To the editor:

I have been a Wayne County resident all of my life and a Hines Park neighbor for the past 16 years. I am happy to support Hawthorne Valley's proposed expansion.

This expansion will enhance that particular area of the parkway, and the profit realized by Wayne County from the sale of this property can be used to either buy new parkland in other areas of the county not so fortunate to have the Hines Parkway expansion or it can be used to upgrade existing facilities in Hines Park.

Please act favorably on the Hawthorne Valley project.

Enjoyment of 'my lake'

MY LITTLE lake is one that thousands of other folks know about. On Labor Day weekend, nearly all 200 campsites are awash with trailers, motor homes, RVs and tents.

The water is of pristine clarity, the way you imagine water was when Nicolet and Joliet canoed into Michigan. It takes two solid days of boats powered by 150 horse power engines towing water skiers to stir up even a little sediment.

The air is abuzz with engines — four-wheel drives, inboards, outboards, chain saws, all-terrain vehicles, the truck of a guy who sells campers firewood at $1.50 a bundle, even though the forest is full of dead-fall pine and oak branches.

One chap with a guitar played about 15 minutes. The rest of the time, you hear rock music on radios.

Families mostly take over the place, nice folks from the metro Detroit suburbs, Midland, Bay City, Monroe. Much of the sound is made by children at play. This little lake doesn't attract partying, foul-mouthed drunks.

The park manager, a career-DNR type, takes pride in its maintenance and regrets only that he can't make improvements faster.

MY LITTLE LAKE reveals another side when the weekend hordes evaporate.

Last year, the Tuesday following Labor Day, an adult bald eagle visited the dead tree next to the picnic beach. I was able to glide the boat within 100 feet of our national bird, who looked past me as if I were a worthless worm.

This year, one cool morning before the water skiers were out, an osprey did a diving act.

The lake level is down, given the dry summers of recent years, so the beach is wide. The woods are dry and free of mosquitoes. You can take a leisurely stroll a few hundred yards from the campground. If you can sit there with a book, or maybe read about the Posen Potato Festival in the Alpena paper, all sorts of birds reappear.

Did you know there was such a thing as a hairy woodpecker? Did you realize that despite a "snipe hunt" being a game, there really is such a long-beaked bird as a snipe?

Tim Richard

And if you drive at a leisurely pace down a county road instead of the maniacal pace of I-696, you can see big flocks of wild turkeys, families of deer and grouse.

WHEN IT'S QUIET after the hordes depart, you can hear the high-pitched bugling of the elk as he stakes out his territory and serenades for mates.

You must listen carefully. Any transistor radio will obscure his 'O-o-o-o-E-e-e-e.' I doubt many water skiers ever hear it.

Across the two-lane highway from my little lake is a gravel pit. The pit and the neighboring woods are used only by ATV drivers, as near as I can tell from the sandy ruts that carve the hills, and guys who shoot holes in Busch beer cans.

Too bad, because the flatter rocks contain tiny fossils of sea creatures from millions of years ago. The glaciers that covered the North American continent to the Ohio River picked them up and laid them down again.

I had the place pretty much to myself. Maybe fossils of ancient creatures aren't as much fun as running gasoline toys. Or maybe the people are all fundamentalists who insist the world was created in six days in 4004 B.C. and that fossils are tricks of the devil. Or maybe people just don't know.

Other prizes are nearby. One lake has a loon, with its wobbling, plaintive cry. That lake is small and shallow, not much good for water skiing, so just a few quiet boaters get to enjoy it.

That lake connects to a flooding with a million zillion ducks, herons and geese. One can't run a 140-hp engine in that swamp, so quiet people can savor it at will.

"My lake" isn't private property at all. But if you proceed quietly, you soon possess an immense amount of wealth.

Wage war on whom?

By Jack Gladden
staff writer

WHEN GEORGE BUSH announced his plans for cracking down on drugs last week, he said twice that he wanted to send the message to drug traffickers that "the rules have changed."

The phrase was intended to show that the kind and gentle president was getting tough . . . on drugs at least. And since politicians are always changing the rules in the middle of the game, that idea didn't seem to bother anyone. Except maybe me.

What bothered me about the phrase was not the words but the concept. We are in the middle of an era when changing the rules has become all too common and all too easy.

Rules are changed by government bodies, public officials and private organizations to meet what are perceived to be the needs of the moment without any regard to the long-term effects.

All too often individual liberties are eroded in the process.

The rule-changers are acting with the kind of panic mentality that exists in wartime. And that, I suspect, is at the heart of the matter.

"War" has become the buzzword of the current era. We don't try to solve the problems of crime or racism or drugs or hunger. We declare war on them.

Thus, we have the "War on Racism," the "War on Drugs," the "War on Crime." But in any war, some liberties are lost.

THAT'S THE reason the American Civil Liberties Union attacked parts of the president's drug program, which includes, among other things, more drug testing of workers, more penalties for first-time users and more pre-trial forfeiture of vehicles and other assets.

The ACLU issued a statement calling some of the measures "attacks on basic values like the presumption of innocence, the right to be free from unreasonable searches and seizures and the right to due process of the law."

Yet we seem to be forfeiting bits and pieces of these rights every time some official or organization "changes the rules."

Consider just one minor skirmish in this series of Social Wars — the "War on Smoking." Smokers, in the eyes of the warmongers, have forfeited all rights just by lighting up.

A classic example of this showed up in a small help-wanted ad that appeared in this newspaper a few months ago. The last line in the ad read: "EOE — Non-smokers only."

How any company could proclaim itself to be an "equal opportunity employer" that discriminates only against smokers is beyond me. But that's the kind of logic that even the most liberal among us accept as perfectly reasonable today.

IN ITS FERVOR to join the "War on Racism," the University of Michigan — one of the hotbeds of liberalism — recently adopted a policy that was so strident in its attack that a federal judge ruled that parts of the document were in clear violation of the First Amendment.

That ruling has caused Birmingham schools to delay adopting a similar policy for their system.

Troy Schools, joining the crusaders against gambling, drugs and tobacco, recently added a catch-all phrase to the student rule book that could play absolute havoc with individual rights. In listing things that students are not allowed to possess, the term "etc." was added after the words "drug paraphernalia."

At least one board member worried about that small addition, saying that police liaison officers could be "exceedingly zealous" in enforcing the rules.

And in Southfield, when the question of drug testing of school employees was raised, one teacher said it didn't bother him. "It may be a violation of my rights," he added, "but the kids have rights, too."

Yes, they do. We all have rights. But little by little they are being chipped away in the panic of waging war on societal problems. And we're giving them up without a protest.

We need to find solutions to the problems of drugs and crime and poverty. But we dare not give up our individual liberties in the process.

Our best teachers usually get the 'splits'

Q: I just found out my fourth-grade daughter is going to be mixed in a class with fifth-grade students. I think fourth-grade students should be in a class with other fourth graders and fifth-grade students with other fifth graders. Is this going to be a problem for my daughter? What is the real reason for mixing fourth and fifth graders?

A: What you are referring to is called a "split" class. Although not always popular, "splits" are not unusual, especially in communities such as yours, which is experiencing a surge of student growth.

We need to understand there is no such thing as a fourth-grade student. For instance, a reading level for a fourth- or fifth-grade student can range from the third to the ninth grade. Furthermore, students for a "split" are selected based on their academic and intellectual ability and may indeed be closer in their range of skills than students in a regular fourth- or fifth-grade classroom.

Doc Doyle

Students selected for "splits" usually have comparable test scores, similar reading abilities, interests and work habits.

Indeed, a greater "split" can occur in a 12th-grade government class (a required course for graduation) in which students can range in reading skills from a second-year college level to a ninth-grade high school level.

If we grouped only by chronological age for all education experiences, your school band and football team may have to disband. Musicians and athletes range in ability. A freshman may blow the trumpet while a sophomore may be the best halfback.

All this withstanding, the "split" issue always raises its head at the start of the school year.

You asked for the real reasons for "splits." There are many, but the most common is the sudden increase in enrollment at a specific grade level.

Let us assume there are two fourth-grade and two fifth-grade classes, both filled with students according to the teacher contract or by district philosophy.

Assume that in August, nine fourth graders and seven fifth graders move into an elementary attendance area. There is only one classroom available. Two classrooms simply don't exist to have separate fourth and fifth grades.

If two classrooms are available, the school board must hire two teachers to avoid a "split." If there are 10 potential "splits" in a school district (with moderate funds) and the administration decides not to use "split" sections, the cost is 10 extra teachers or $350,000 (with benefits). The question then becomes, "Is the district being fiscally responsible?"

Principals generally place one of their most experienced and competent teachers in a "split" to grant a quality experience for children and to reduce parental anxiety.

Therefore, the most critical variable for a positive experience is the teacher who you have indicated — in your case — is a well-respected, quality educator.

Brenda Moore of Westland each morning drops off her three sons — Chris, 6, Matthew, 5, and Nicholas, 2 — at the babysitter on her way to work.

Day care: Who has my baby?

By Shirlee Rose Iden
staff writer

Who will care for my child?
Grandma works as a grocery checker or may be off on a cruise. Relatives are in far away cities. Dad walked out when the kids were tiny babies, so mommy has to work. Who will care for her child?
With the sun's light at morning, more than half of American mothers are off to the job, facing the challenges of the work place only after having deposited their preschool children in some type of day care.
According to agencies involved in child care services, as many as two-thirds of preschool children in the country will have working mothers by 1995.
Doctors, lawyers, educators, engineers, clerks, waitresses and office cleaners all ponder the child care question. They are mothers and fathers who ask: "How can we insure the care, cuddling, feeding, socialization of the children we must work to support?"
For many mothers, child care choices boil down to bringing a relative or helper into the home or seeking a care center or family day care elsewhere.

RESEARCH ON the social development of young children in non-maternal care is just beginning. Moreover, even the early researchers don't always agree.

One study, by psychologist Deborah Phillips of Yale University and colleagues, indicates that the kind of day care received is of key importance to children's social growth, perhaps as important as family background.

Another study, flashing caution signs for parents, suggests that daily separation from mother during the first year of life, even with the child at home, is a risk factor which could lead to a disturbed mother-infant relationship.

Rosalind Gilson, preschool educator, is an educational observer for Head Start and the Merrill-Palmer Institute and was director of the Beth Haysfield Nursery of Congregation Shaarey Zedek in Southfield.

On home day care, she commented: "There are two types of child care in homes, first, group care for up to 12 children requiring a license; and secondly, family care, for up to six children requiring registration."

"The advantage of family care for the child is that the staff won't pick up and leave. Frequent changes in staff is a big problem in day care."

Gilson, and others involved, indicate that the only discernable difference between children in day care and kids at home with mother is that the day care kids are "more outgoing and adjustable."

Dr. Berry T. Brazelton, a nationally known child expert, is alarmed because he sees a society of families and parents "not seeming to care about kids."

"Teens are acting out all over the country and no one relates them to the parenting of little kids," he said recently. "A working parent coming home has to save some energy, stride in and grab all the kids in a warm hug, then maybe move to a rocking chair and just rock and rock."

"There are too many children in overcrowded rooms with a TV as the teacher," he said. "Money spent on child care does pay off, if its quality child care."

LINDA BOLTON, a Birmingham pediatrician on the staff of Providence Hospital in Southfield, has many tools to ply her trade. But beside the stethoscope and blood pressure machine, she stocks booklets such as "Breast-feeding Guide for Working Mothers" circulated by a company involved in infant nutrition.

"It has instruction for breast-feeding mothers whose babies are in day care while they work," Dr. Bolton said. "Mothers don't have to wean because they are returning to work."

Bolton, a social worker before going to medical school, is well versed in the problems of child care. "I know every permutation of the child raising situation," she said.

"Some women need to be home with their babies. Other can't. I know bankers, doctors and a pediatrician who stayed home and others who couldn't cope with being at home."

"Some have the luxury of choice, others don't. People who have the most stress are those who don't have to work but have a good job. The major question in this country today is career vs. child raising."

"Remember, almost no pregnancies are accidents now."

BOLTON SAID studies about child care do not confirm parental guilt. "The 2-, 3- and 4-year-olds love day care centers and many in this area have excellent equipment, even music facilities."

"But, checking out day care is just plain tough. Mothers should talk to other parents, check licensing, look the place over, and make sure it's clean, neat, and flexible where you're always welcome."

Married to attorney Michael Bolton, she decided to go to medical school at Michigan State University partly because she was unable to get pregnant herself. "I thought medicine would fulfill me, but I got pregnant in med school. As a social worker, I thought I should stay home and care for my child, but there were pressures on me to stay in medicine."

"It was very hard to work out satisfactory child care for Jordan, my first son, and then I got pregnant

Child care for her is a family affair

By Janice Brunson

Except for one extended maternity leave in 1986, Brenda Moore has been employed almost continuously by the city of Westland since graduating from John Glenn High School in 1975.

"I've worked nearly all the time. I always thought I'd get bored staying at home," said Moore, a Westland resident who now works in the records department for the city's police department.

But since spending 10 months at home during her final pregnancy nearly four years ago, Moore found she was not bored at all. "There was always something to do."

Now, she feels as though "I'm missing a lot with the kids. I'd rather stay at home," caring for Christopher, 6, Matthew, 5, and Nicholas, 2.

But given the choice of staying home, Moore said, "I wouldn't quit my job at this point. It wouldn't be worth it. I have good benefits and in just a few more years, all three will be in school," substantially reducing child care costs.

child care

Moore estimates she spends a third of her salary on child care expenses. "The expense is one of the biggest things about working."

STILL, MOORE IS luckier than most. Relatives have provided the majority of care.

Except for a single year when she relied on a licensed center, Moore's mother-in-law and sister-in-law cared for the youngsters in their own home.

More recently, Moore has a unique arrangement with a cousin in Livonia who has two young sons ages 1 and 5 years. An aunt cares for all five boys, alternating between homes every other month or so.

"Coming and going from each home saves on wear and tear in any one house," Moore said.

When the children are at Moore's home, she resumes a longstanding practice of returning home for lunch and eating with the children.

"It's a little more time each day with them, so it doesn't seem like I'm gone for the entire day. I guess it makes me feel better too," she said.

To compensate for time away from the boys, Moore and husband Tom, a tool and dye apprentice, plan frequent family outings, camping and fishing trips in northern Michigan. The family also takes evening bike rides together and spend extended time around the family swimming pool. The two older boys play T-ball and Chris is a Cub Scout.

'Maternal instinct' keeps her home

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

Little in life provides Robin Guagardo of Westland with more satisfaction and pleasure than caring for her four children.

"It's like I have too much maternal instinct. But the thought of putting the crib away forever is very disheartening," said Guagardo, mother of Jonathan, 1, Ashley, 3, Anthony, 5, and Michelle, 7.

"Everything I do is with them. They're not a bother to me. In fact, I usually have three or four others around," she said, referring to four nieces and nephews between the ages of 3 to 8 years who live nearby.

During summer months, the brood goes swimming three times weekly. "When I traipse in with nine kids under 8 years of age, the life guard isn't exactly thrilled," she said with a laugh.

Guagardo and the children also regularly visit the park and take nature hikes. She recently organized a picnic for Anthony and other 5-year-olds who started kindergarten this month. During the school year, Guagardo is a room mother and member of the Parent's Club at St. Valentine's Catholic School in Redford Township where the children attend school.

"When I'm home, I'm with them. We do so many things together."

THE DECISION on "putting the crib away for good" is the source of Guagardo's greatest indecision.

Raising four children is expensive, she said, referring to such incidentals as "a continuous round of play shoes, dress shoes and winter boots." To augment husband Anthony's income as manager of the Franklin Hills Racquet Club, she works part time for United Parcel Service.

"If you don't get out at all, things can become very boring." But, whenever she sees a newborn, she wants another baby of her own.

Though Guagardo does not perceive a family of four children as unusually large, others, she said, do.

"There's a great stigma attached to it. You walk into a restaurant with the entire family, and nobody wants to sit next to you.

"People are always asking, 'Are they all yours?'"
"There are only four," she responds.

A Westland native, Guagardo has one sister. She joined the Catholic church at the time of her marriage and the children are being reared as Catholics.

Religion, however, does not account for the number of children or her desire to have more.

"That's not the reason why. It's maternal instinct," she explains.

Aspiring teacher finds day care an education

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

A miniature child's table and chair set sits in the corner of the playroom. Without hesitation, Chris Kelly plops down on one of the chairs.

"I'm used to sitting in small chairs," said Kelly, 22, with a laugh.

That's one of the skills that comes with taking care of other people's children. She's been working at Kiddie Junction in Wayne for 2½ years.

The 3-year-olds are her territory at Kiddie Junction with 10 in a group. Her day starts at 7:30 a.m. and ends at 2 p.m. in the summer. In the fall, she works full-time.

She's there when they come in the morning, groggy-eyed and sometimes cranky. She's there when they cry for their mothers. She's there when they might fall and scrape their knees.

A person must have an affinity to children to be in day care, Kelly does.

She's an education major at Eastern Michigan University, hoping to teach early elementary students when she graduates.

"It's more than just liking kids," said Kelly, a 1985 graduate of Westland-John Glenn High School. "I feel good when I get them to write their name without any help, to see the kids learning."

Those are the rewards. Those in day care work for relatively small pay. Many start out at minimum wage.

THE TURNOVER can be high. Many who take day care jobs think it is simply a babysitting job. Kelly said they soon find out otherwise.

Marcie Walker

"We have a good group here," Kelly said. "We've been together for a year now."

Stability helps, especially since it usually takes time for parents to build trust in day care workers.

"You have to handle each one differently," she said. "Some of them you can joke with. Some of them are very straight-forward. They want to know exactly what their child did during the day."

"It takes quite awhile (to build trust). They ask you questions like, 'What kind of training do you have for this?' When their kids are first starting, they call and check up if their child was crying before they left in the morning."

At Kiddie Junction, children are put into groups according to age and ability. The center is designed for kids age 2½-8. Included is a separate playroom and a computer room.

Kelly said the day begins with school activities at 7:30 a.m., followed by school activities. Children read stories, do artwork and learn their ABCs. "The theme this week is fruits and vegetables," Kelly said.

JIM JADGFELD/staff photographer

Chris Kelly of Westland works with 3½-year-old Sherrell Davis during a coloring session at Kiddie Junction in Wayne.

The experience at the center is valuable, especially for someone who wants to become a teacher. But the seeds of day care work were planted long ago. Kelly has two younger sisters.

"I was the bull in babysitter," she said.

Child care she provides hits home

By Mary Rodrigue
staff writer

Like other in home child care providers, Janaan Gronau of Westland first saw the job as an opportunity to spend more time with her own children.

That was 18 months ago. Today she cares for six children from infancy to age 6, in addition to her own four children, who are now 11 to 16.

Gronau, who is licensed to care for six children, said her program isn't rigidly structured.

"We don't all color at 10 a.m.," she said. "Most of them are young. Their attention span is too short. They like the buddy system. They like to play. And they like to know that I'm around."

Gronau notices a difference among children who were formerly in institutional day care centers.

"I don't know what goes on there (in the centers), but when I get the kids they are usually hysterical for about the first week," she said. "I think they need the home atmosphere. They calm right down."

Gronau's philosophy is to meet children half way — not catering to every whim the way a parent might be inclined to do, but also not acting as unbending dictator.

"THERE ARE times when you have a bad day or they have a bad day," she said. "But that's natural. The kids have to adjust. They have to get their security with me and know that I'm not going to hurt them."

There is a class orientation sponsored by the Department of Social Services.

"They let you know what to expect but you are more or less on your own," she said.

"It is rewarding when you find you have a love connection," she said. "They do come around. They do appreciate you. Three- and four-year-olds say things hon-

Child care for her is the only option

By Mary Rodrigue
staff writer

Roberta Curry is part of the legion of single working mothers for whom day care is not an option, but a fact of life.

Widowed seven years ago at a time when she was already working outside the home and nurturing two young sons, her new status only served to make her daily routine that much more difficult.

"After my husband died, there was no one else there to help," she said. "If one of the kids was sick, it was my responsibility to be there."

Curry's first delve into the world of hired caregivers led her to a woman who came into her home to watch her boys, a solution that ultimately didn't work out.

"Unless it's family, I found that you just can't rely on other people," she said. "To me, it's worth it to pay more money and know the service will be there. If a staffer is sick in the day care center, that's their problem to find a replacement, not mine."

For the past several years, Curry has relied on Livonia Little Tots, a 25-year-old day care operation that cares for children ages 3 months to 8 years. Brian and Michael Curry, now 9 and 8 respectively, were enrolled in Little Tots at age 3.

Both began gradually, first going twice then three times a week. In the interim, Curry's sister-in-law cared for them while she went to work at CNA Insurance in Birmingham, where she is currently a group claims supervisor with 19 years seniority.

BOTH BOYS went to Little Tots full day kindergarten program and have spent the past few summers in the day camp program for 5- to 8-year-olds. During the school year, they are enrolled in the latch key program at Cass Elementary School, which allows Curry to drop them off on her way to work and pick them up on her drive home.

"The boys have done well in day care," she said. "They enjoyed it, particularly the summer day camp. Even if I took off the whole summer, we would never do as much as they do with the camp. They go on at least one field trip a week."

Curry said both her sons have adjusted well to their routine and — luckily — have not been sick very often. One bout with the chicken pox, a contagious disease with a three-week incubation period, was managed by a relative who stayed home with the convalescing boys.

"They're used to getting up early," she said. "And they really don't complain much."

Her advice to parents seeking a competent caregiver: "Investigate the center or someone coming into your home. Know their qualifications."

Day care is expensive, she admits, but "I'm not sure any of the other centers would be cheaper and at least it's very reliable. I can count on them. I'd rather pay the money and know I'm going to be at my job daily."

THE ONE worry Curry currently harbors is what she is going to do with her sons over the next few summers, when they are too old for summer day camp, but too young to be left alone for eight hours a day.

"I think they still need supervision," she said. "I don't know what I'm going to do next summer. That worries me."

Curry said she usually takes a couple of weeks vacation in the summer to spend with the boys and then reserves another four or five days to use in the case of illness or emergencies. The family's schedule is looser in the summertime, but once the school year resumes, the boys are busy in after school and evening activities.

"In the fall, there's swimming lessons and tennis. We have a lot of activity after work, too."

Weekends tend to be less structured.

"Saturday and Sunday we just kind of relax or get something done around the house."

Arranging your own care plan

By Marcie Walker
special writer

One of the most difficult decisions that working parents of an infant or preschooler must face is in whose care to place their child during the work day. There are several child-care options to consider:

- A professional nanny
- A full-time baby sitter
- A family or group home
- Day-care center
- Nursery school (in cases where a parent works part time)

After deciding upon the type of care desired, the next problem is the selection process. Public, non-profit and commercial agencies are available to help in the process. These include:

• The Department of Social Services. For Oakland County, call 858-1612. For Wayne County, call 258-3814. Specify the type of care (family home, group home, day-care center or nursery school) and the communities in which you are looking, and they will send you a computer printout of licensed caregivers at no cost.

• The Wayne or Oakland County Child Care Coordinating (4C) Council. For Oakland County, call 858-5140; for Wayne, call 579-2777. The 4C's referral services are also free of charge.

• Nanny Agencies. The Nanny Network and Nanny of America are two commercial agencies that will match you with a nanny. Delta College, in Bay City, has a free matching service, but they also have a long waiting list.

• Baby-sitting Agencies. Check the Yellow Pages. There are several agencies that will arrange short or long-term baby sitters.

• Want-ads. Those operating family or group homes often advertise in the newspaper. If responding to an ad, make sure that they are licensed by the DSS. Baby sitters who will come to your home also advertise. The DSS does not require licensing for these caregivers.

Preparing Your Child for Day Care

The first day of leaving your infant with a caregiver is usually harder on the parent than the child. But an older infant or toddler will need more comfort and reassurance. While it will always be difficult on the parent and child in the beginning, there are some steps that parents can take to make the transition a little less stressful:

• If using a family or group home, visit with your child beforehand to make sure that the caregiver is familiar with his routine. Show him around, so that he becomes used to the toys, other children, the yard, bathrooms, etc.

• A sitter or nanny should come to your home before you return to work, so that your infant or toddler will be come used to her and she will learn your child's routine.

• If using a day-care center or nursery school, talk to the teacher and director beforehand. If possible, arrange to visit the center once or twice with your child for an hour or two before you return to work.

Most children will adjust to their new routine within a few days. Perhaps the most important factor for any child-care situation is to make sure that your child will be in a loving environment. During that first week, he will probably need extra comfort — if the center or home cannot give your child the extra attention he needs, you may want to consider a different option.

Sick Child Care

When your child becomes ill, a parent will inevitably have to take occasional days off from work. A new type of child care, called sick-child care, is gradually emerging in the metro area. These are options to consider if your child is only mildly ill or has to stay in bed for one or two more days before returning to school. Or, perhaps you absolutely have to be at work for one reason or another.

Pontiac General Hospital and Botsford General Hospital, in Farmington Hills, have both set up sick-child care centers for the children of their employees.

Two options are available in the metro area for the general public:

• Oakland General Hospital, in Madison Heights, has opened their Kids' Clinic. For a $20 fee, sick children can be cared for during the work day. Parents must call (967-7594) before bringing in their children.

• Rent-a-Mom. This program, run by Health Care Professionals of Southfield, provides nurses aides on an hourly basis to care for sick children in your home.

You might also consider contacting a babysitting or nanny agency, if your child just has the sniffles. Many of these agencies have short-term, hourly fees.

Marcie Walker, mother of two, writes a column on child care for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. Walker appears each Thursday in the suburban life section.

Day care kids adjust to life

again. Ian was born right after graduation. I thought I would just have to delay my internship, but my mom came to the rescue.

"She never once got up for us when I was little, but she came every day at 7 a.m. to care for the kids so I could do the internship and be licensed. Shortly after, we found a housekeeper who stayed five years."

JANET PONT, director of the Beth Hayedel Nursery School, says that Congregation Shaarey Zedek has parenting classes for parents who are "juggling the physical and emotional needs of their kids."

A recent recipient of her master's in preschool and parent education, Pont will shortly begin work on her doctorate at Wayne State University.

"There is a trend right now for all day kindergartens, but this is for need rather than education," she said. "The needs of parents have changed drastically, but the needs of children are to be children. Play is a child's learning. Overall, children need to develop self-esteem."

Today's working parents shop for day care even before conception. Finding just the right place to have a child nurtured is tedious and demanding, but vital.

Speaking in Southfield in 1972, Mary Dublin Key-sterling, an economist from Washington, D.C. labeled her talk on day care for preschoolers "the number one item of unfinished business of the American people."

As we approach the new decade of the 1990s, American parents are still asking: "Who will care for my child?"

State lawmakers prefer volunteer child care plans

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Republicans and Democrats agree: State government shouldn't mandate child care benefits, but it's wonderful if businesses provide benefits voluntarily.

"We did not want government-mandated benefits," said state Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, chair of a GOP task force that is producing how-to booklets for business and giving non-cash awards to employers that run a good program. "We need to stroke companies for new ideas."

"We're not handling it as a woman's issue. It's not a women's issue," said Jeanette Hercik, a high-ranking official in Gov. James Blanchard's state Commerce Department.

"I'm not a child development person. I'm a working mother," added Hercik, who is putting together a 21-member, business-dominated task force on child care this fall.

THERE ARE virtually no bills in Michigan's legislative hopper on child care, although in time there may be cautious advances in licensing.

There are federal income tax benefits to setting up child care programs, and both parties are scurrying to make the 1986 tax law better known.

House Republicans have a free booklet called "The Michigan Employers' Guide to Child Care" that covers taxes and other ideas.

The Blanchard administration is setting up tax-free accounts for state employees. And his Treasury Department is working on a plan to do the bookkeeping for small businesses unable to do it themselves.

It works like this: The employee has up to $5,000 of pre-tax earnings deducted and set up in a special "child/dependent care account." A couple earning $36,000 can save $1,244 on federal income taxes, $230 on state income taxes and $375 on social security taxes for a total of $1,849.

There's a short-run disadvantage: Social security taxes and benefits are also reduced, lawmakers point out.

The worker draws on this account to pay for child care.

Blanchard announced in his State of the State address that Treasury will do "care accounts plus" bookkeeping for small businesses. Beier said it's "not up and running yet" but will be ready about Jan. 1.

Under that, employers will withhold employees' care account money as well as taxes and submit them to Treasury, which will do the accounting. Employees would submit reimbursement requests to the state, which would make payments from individual "care accounts plus."

If 30,000 Michigan families set up child care accounts, the state Treasury estimates it would lose only about $7 million in revenue — 1/10th of 1 percent of the budget.

JEANETTE Hercik of the Commerce Department said Blanchard will announce the 21 members of the child care task force sometime this month.

"Fifteen will come from the private sector. The private sector should have a majority," she said.

"It will have a business perspective — the economic climate — not a social service perspective. We want to maintain Michigan's competitive advantage."

Hercik said Blanchard himself will chair the group's few meetings in its 90 days of life.

Her view is that many businesses want to do the right thing but don't know how. "Companies are calling me on how to do child care because they're not in the kid business," she said.

WHAT KINDS of changes could a task force recommend?

- A child care ombudsman in the Commerce Department.

- Training of day care providers. At present, a provider-working at home with fewer than six children need only register with the state Department of Social Services. Larger establishments must be licensed.

- A study of capital needs of providers.

- Mechanisms to help groups of employers provide joint programs.

- A statewide how-to conference for employers. (The Michigan Small Business Forum, held in Novi in May, had a seminar on the topic.)

MEANWHILE, the state and federal governments continue to provide $863,000 to the "Four C's" — Child Care Coordinating Council.

"It has 13 regional offices in the state," said Sue Allen, who manages that account for the state in the Office of Children and Youth.

Senate child care measure broadens role of government

Senate Bill S5, (ABC) the Act for Better Child Care, was passed on June 23, 1989, authorizing subsidies and tax credits for child care.

Final version of the the Senate bill authorized $1.75 billion in grants to the states for subsidies to child care providers and payments to parents. States would be required to set standards for child care providers.

In the House, the bill is now being moved along by the Ways and Means Committee.

IT APPEARS both parties in the House and Senate are trying to provide some measure of federal relief for working parents.

HB3, sponsored by California Democrat Augustus Hawkins, would carry out a three-pronged delivery of child care.

Approximately 25 percent would finance full day/full year programs for Head Start, and more children, some from families with somewhat higher incomes, would be served.

Another quarter chunk would flow directly to preschools to establish or expand early childhood programs and before and after school "latchkey" programs.

Approximately 35 percent would be made available to child care providers to pay for day care programs for infants, toddlers and children under 13 years old.

The remainder would finance grants to help states coordinate child care activities, improve standards, provide training and enforce regulations at the local level.

THE BILL would allow the poorest families to get services for free, but moderate-income families would have to pay based on a sliding scale.

A presidential veto is possible, according to Labor Secretary Elizabeth Dole and Health and Human Services Secretary Louis Sullivan.

Dole said in a letter to the committee that the range of choices available to parents would be restricted due to the bias in favor of center based care and against informal arrangements favored by many parents.

Child care: 'Benefit of the '90s'

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

Child care benefits, long overlooked by corporate America, are receiving renewed attention by employers scrambling to fill jobs from a shrinking labor pool.

"The benefit of the '90s," predicts Georgiana Jasnowski of the 4-C Child Care Coordinating Council in Wayne County. "Employers have to do something," she said, in view of "a decreasing work force and more jobs."

Jasnowski's 4-C counterpart in Oakland County, Paulette Chaplin, agrees.

"Severe labor shortages at entry level positions already exist. While big employers aren't feeling the crunch yet, they very soon will. And I think they're going to be forced into providing child care services," Chaplin said.

To date, few firms offer such benefits. Of an estimated 6 million companies nationwide, a mere 4,150 have programs, based on figures maintained by the National Commission on Working Women.

In Michigan, an estimated 200 firms, 30 percent located in metropolitan Detroit, offer various programs, but most are limited because "the whole concept is new to corporate America," according to one corporate official whose firm launched benefits this summer.

"A CAFETERIA-STYLE benefit program" offering a variety of options is the ideal, according to John Szutarski of Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance in Farmington Hills. Last May, the firm offered a flexible payment account, today's benefit of choice by most corporations.

Under such a plan, untaxed salary is earmarked for child care costs, saving the employee and the corporation taxes on withheld sums. While actual benefits are small, the program is considered by many to be at least a beginning.

Fidelity Bank, a community bank with branches in Birmingham, Bloomfield Township, Southfield and Troy, and Olin Industries in Livonia maintain such accounts.

Alexander Hamilton also implemented flexible work schedules this summer. From May to September, work hours were extended Mondays through Thursdays. Each Friday, the workday ended at noon.

Flexible working hours "provide extended opportunity for families to be together, increased R and R time on the weekend," Szutarski said. The firm is now considering flexible work schedules on a permanent basis.

Six years ago, employees of the city of Southfield decided an on-site day care would be an asset for them. With the passage of years, all of those parents' children are now in school, but the idea didn't fade.

Within a month the Southfield Employees Day Care Center will open in the old Tennis and Arts Center of the Civic Center. It will be the first municipal child care center in Oakland County.

Other possibilities for consideration include child care subsidies in lieu of health, vacation or other benefits now earned by employees and resource and referral systems that assist in tailored child care, rather than settling for what is readily available.

Presently, Burger King of Michigan subsidizes wages of employees at 19 outlets in Kent, Ottawa and Montcalm counties, paying an additional $1.50 hourly to those with young children. The big three auto firms, GM, Ford and Chrysler, each offer resource and referral services.

"MORE WOMEN THAN ever before are majoring in accounting, some 50 percent of all students," said Barbara Fornasiero of Plante & Moran, an accounting firm with offices in Southfield and Rochester.

"We looked at our demographics, who we are hiring, and decided it's necessary to do these kinds of things for the viability of the company," Fornasiero said of child care benefits offered by that firm.

In addition to extended parental leave (18 weeks beyond accrued paid leave) and flexible funding, the firm offers free on-site child care each Saturday in the Southfield office during tax season, from January to mid-April. Up to 20 children ages 18 months to 12 years are cared for in a specially outfitted conference room that is converted into a day care center.

Quality on-site child care is costly and almost always requires some corporate funding, especially when starting up and if infants and toddlers are included, according to Janet Munson.

"It's expensive bringing child care onto your campus," said Munson, an early childhood specialist whose firm, on-site Child Care Services, has assisted in establishing many of the 17 on-site corporate centers now in Michigan, including those at Pontiac Osteopathic and St. Joseph hospitals in Pontiac, St. Mary in Livonia and William Beaumont in Troy.

Hospitals, responding to critical nursing shortages (many of whom are child-bearing age females) and the expense in training new employees, are setting trends in on-site care, aimed at stabilizing employee pools.

BOTSFORD HOSPITAL in Farmington Hills operates a state-of-the-art facility, featuring furnishings scaled in size to fit small children and felt-covered walls.

Launched three years ago by Munson and partner Kathleen Boylan, the center has an open door policy that permits unscheduled parental visits throughout the day, creating a "fish bowl" effect that Munson and Boylan said results in quality care.

Still, in spite of recent expansion that now accommodates 80 children, admission waits are lengthy and hours of operation, 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., do not accommodate employees on night shifts. Costs range from $105 weekly or $3 hourly for infants and toddlers to $80 weekly or $2.50 hourly for children ages 2 to 5 years.

The Botsford center is a corporate model, according to Munson and Boylan.

The wave of the future, Boylan added, are centers catering to both the young and the old, "combined care for sandwiched families" responsible for the care of children and aging parents.

Employers, Munson said, "need to realize how important the entire family picture is to the health of the employee and then be responsive to those needs. If not, everyone — the employer and taxpayers like — is going to be paying costs four or five times over down the road when the children who aren't getting quality care today are grown."

Complex to offer on-site day care

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

When Birmingham-based developer Peter Burton married Sandi Burton in 1980, she had a son, Christopher, then 9.

Her tales about the difficulty in finding adequate child care as a working single parent before the marriage impressed Burton, seeding an idea he has translated into an innovative touch in an enormous commercial project under way by Burton and partners Robert Katzman and Ronald Hughes.

The Arboretum Office Park Complex in Farmington Hills, a six-stage development containing a million square feet of office space, will contain an on-site child care center for tenants of the six massive buildings in the project.

"It's a commitment to society at large, a way of making the world a better place to live," said Burton, 35, describing himself as "sensitive to social issues" as a result of the 1980s.

The center will be located in the fifth building, slated for construction next year when space in the recently completed fourth building is fully let.

Mercy Health Services, Delta Dental and TRW, a credit bureau, now occupy space in the complex. They and another 30 or so tenants were polled about interest in a child care center.

OF THOSE WHO responded, "100 percent were very supportive of the idea," according to Joanne Fletcher of Arboretum Properties, the firm developing the project. Fletcher recently completed an exhaustive search for a child care operator.

"We wanted to use a local vendor, someone able to adapt to the interest of the development. We didn't feel the (national) chains were flexible enough for us," Fletcher said.

A decision will be made later this month from an array of possible providers, including existing child care centers seeking expanded facilities, area consultants and national firms specializing in the development of child care centers.

Such firms are relatively new on the horizon, in the forefront of a promising industry now that corporate child care is emerging as "the employee benefit of the '90s."

Gerber Children's Centers, a division of Gerber Products in Fremont, offers a franchised turnkey operation such as that now in operation at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. Children's World and Kinder-care offer similar franchises.

Some 20 firms in metropolitan Detroit provide more individualized services, including Americare, noted for expertise in establishing resource and referral systems, and the Merrill-Palmer Institute at Wayne State University that offers a host of services.

Sandi Burton's tales about the difficulty in finding adequate child care prompted her husband, Birmingham-based developer Peter Burton, to include on-site child care at the new Arboretum Office Complex in Farmington Hills.

Labor Act outlines wages, standards for in-home sitters

Child care workers who receive at least $50 in cash wages in a calendar quarter or work a total of more than eight hours a week are entitled to a minimum wage of $3.35 an hour, according to the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Operators of preschool or day care centers who have fewer than two employees or whose only employees are members of their immediate family are not subject to the act.

The U.S. Department of Labor also distinguishes between casual and full-time baby sitters.

A casual baby sitter, generally one whose employment is irregular or intermittent, need not be paid the minimum wage.

Full-time baby sitters must be paid the required minimum wage and overtime.

Under the act, baby-sitting means care and protection of infants or children in or about the children's own homes. Individuals who take children into their own homes for care and protection are not domestic service employees.

Handwriting reveals a high level of creativity

Dear Ms. Green,
I really enjoy reading your column every week. I always look to see if my writing "matches" to one displayed in the paper, but after reading your column over the months, I've realized that handwriting is like a snowflake, no two styles are alike. So I decided to write to you myself and I would really appreciate your analysis. I am currently making some decisions in my career and any additional insights would be most helpful.
Thank you very much.

S.S., Livonia

Dear S.S.,
Comparing handwriting to a snowflake is a great analogy. No two are alike and no two personalities are alike either. Each of us is unique and special!

graphology
Lorene Green

The high level of creativity in your handwriting sets you apart from the masses. This degree of originality is rare and valuable.

You are not a stranger to some of the finer things in life. I see your artistic concern with appearances. Aptitude for art, music, speaking and math are all suggested in your handwriting.

Your intellect is well above average and your thinking pattern is original and creative, not bound by tradition.

There is a definite inclination toward beauty and system. And you are unafraid of hard work. You like to formulate and plan your routine. Then with determination you proceed to implement the planning. You are a doer, not a sitter. However, the flexibility here may have you doing whatever moves you at the time.

Intuition can also be found in your handwriting. This has your knowing things without realizing just how it is that you are in possession of the information. It can also be an asset in reading people and their motives.

In most respects you are an autonomous young woman. There is a readiness to stand alone and rely on self. You are not overly concerned with what others think except when criticism of your personal being is heard. You are social and need recognition and acceptance, but do not require a great deal of personal involvement on the emotional level.

Certain signs suggest you may be a career changer or one who jumps from one activity to another. Fulfillment seems to be eluding you.

In some areas, you seem resigned to the way things are. This may cause you to feel a little depressed and resort to a sharp tongue at times.

Maternal instincts can be seen in this handwriting.

I feel you will find your opportunity among artistic and inspirational people. However, you also have the ability to make money with money. This could be in real estate, investments or something of this nature.

If you would like your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Date of birth, full signature and handedness are all helpful. And objective feedback is always welcome.

Seniors' health and safety included in Expo lineup

By Mary Rodrigue
staff writer

Senior citizens can be sitting ducks when it comes to crime.

"Although they are the least likely segment of the population to be victimized, they are often the target of con games, home break-ins and purse snatchings," said John Dzwonkowski, spokesman for Citizens against Crime.

Dzwonkowski will speak to older adults about ways to protect themselves against crime at Michigan's first Retirement Lifestyle Expo at Cobo Hall Sept. 15-17.

Dzwonkowski offers these common con games now making the rounds.

"Many senior citizens have lots of cash in a bank somewhere. One con game is the bank examiner's scheme," he said. "The victim gets a call from the con telling him what a great bank customer he is. He keeps talking, saying he's a federal bank examiner and is looking for one trusted customer to help him nab a teller suspected of pilfering.

"He asks the victim to withdraw a large amount of money. He says a police officer will come to (victim's) house later that day to take the money into the police station, mark the serial numbers, and then return the cash a few days later to be re-deposited to the questionable teller.

"So he withdraws the money, a police officer shows up — you can get those costumes anywhere — and picks up the cash. After two or three days, the victim calls the police station to inquire about his money and, of course, they don't know a thing about it."

One senior citizen was swindled out of $15,000 in this manner, according to Dzwonkowski — all in the name of being a good citizen.

"THE KEY words are if someone says they need your money now and don't tell anyone about this — that should warn you it's a scam," he said.

Another scam involved a con man selling television sets to members of a prestigious community at half price. The con actually bought six TV sets and sold them at deep discount to prominent community members. Then he hired two teenagers to solicit other members of the community, telling them to check with the prominent community members to see if they were satisfied customers — they were.

Bottom line: The con walked away with $17,000. The teens weren't paid and each person who sent their check was out the cash as well.

"There are clever tips people can try to avoid crime," Dzwonkowski said.

He recalled meeting a 92-year-old woman who lived in a tough Chicago neighborhood.

"All her neighbors had been victimized, but not her," he said. "We asked her why. She explained that every night she went down to the garden to get some fresh dirt, then she brought it upstairs to her apartment kitchen sink where she made fresh mud. Then she took a size 15 triple E mens work boot out of her closet and made fresh prints near her front door."

Apparently it worked. "MOST CRIME occurs between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m.," Dzwonkowski said. "I advise seniors to get their shopping done in the morning when they are much less likely to be victimized.

"Also women shoppers should consider carrying a dummy purse while they carry their money in their pocket," he said. "A purse snatcher is going to run some distance with the purse before he opens it to check its contents."

If seniors don't choose direct deposit of their Social Security check, they should consider going to the bank with one or two other people.

Dzwonkowski told the story of one senior couple victimized by criminals so brazen they walked into the house while the seniors were at home and stole the couple's video cassette recorder and television set. "We don't advocate firearms, we look at the alternatives," Dzwonkowski said.

Citizens against Crime sells canisters of tear gas.

"One lady in Tuscon found that helpful when a guy broke into her home. She sprayed the canister of tear gas, he fled. It empowered her not to be afraid. She is living in a high-crime neighborhood and feels better now."

Dzwonkowski will offer more tips at the seminar.

THE EXPO will offer the over 50 population an opportunity to learn about services, community programs and lifestyle options. Highlights include special guest appearances by Willard Scott of NBC's Today show and Alex Haley, author of "Roots."

There will be more than 40 seminars and 200 exhibitors covering a variety of subjects including retirement and financial planning, health and fitness, nutrition and travel. There will be dancing to the Big Band sounds of Johnny Trudell's Orchestra on Saturday, Sept. 16, and health screenings — including checks of blood pressure, body fat, cholesterol, vision, hearing and lung function.

Tickets for the Expo will be $3, however, advance complimentary tickets will be available at a number of Henry Ford Health Care Centers, Comerica Bank branches, Great Scott supermarkets and Little Caesar's Pizza in the Detroit metropolitan Detroit area.

For more information, call 882-3860.

Desire to serve motivates new associate pastor

By Julie Brown
staff writer

UNTIL RECENTLY, the Rev. Lee Seese hadn't spent much time in Michigan.

Seese, the new associate pastor at the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, started work Aug. 23.

Before that, Seese had served as interim pastor at a Presbyterian church in Seattle. He'd been to Michigan to visit pastor friends periodically, while he was passing through the state to other destinations.

"The basic response we got when we said we were moving was 'Where?'"

Seese and his wife, Lisa Konick, recently moved to Plymouth. They have a son, Jeremy, 2½. Lisa Konick, a journalist, has worked for The Spittle Times and done freelance work for The New York Times.

Some people he spoke with before moving thought Michigan was just Detroit and that Detroit was just crime. Seese, however, found the people he met here to be warm and genuine.

"So my first impression was good. I'm more of a people person than a place person."

SEESE SPENT about nine months as interim pastor at the church in Seattle. He grew up in Seattle, leaving to attend the Princeton Theological Seminary in New Jersey.

"Princeton was the first place away from Seattle for me." He received his master of divinity degree from Princeton in June 1988.

Seese, 30, attended the University of Washington as an undergraduate. He was an English major and combined the creative writing and literature sequences, earning a bachelor's degree.

'I would have pursued a Ph.D. in Russian literature, except somewhere along the line God got me.'

— the Rev. Lee Seese

"I would have pursued a Ph.D. in Russian literature, except somewhere along the line God got me," he said with a smile.

He did some graduate work at the University of Washington after college graduation.

"Something was missing. I just realized that felt need to be of service was stronger than anything else. As long as I could remember, I've had a strong desire to serve."

Seese was raised going to church, and at age 14 went through the confirmation program but didn't join the church.

"It just seemed like an overwhelming commitment." For 11 years, he wasn't active in the church.

HIS PARENTS divorced when he was 18, a world-shattering experience for Seese.

"I felt like a real foundation was removed."

He read the works of German philosopher Friedrich Nietzsche and others, searching for answers. Over time, he came to realize that trust in God wouldn't be shaken.

"I think the church is a place that was created for acceptance." The church provides a link between people's basic beauty and the way that's affirmed by Christ's message.

Seese's work at the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth is primarily in pastoral care. He visits people in the hospital, senior citizens, and people considering joining the church.

He preached on Sunday, Aug. 27, for the first time at the church in Plymouth.

"That will be something I'll do about once a month." His first sermon was "Can We Really Stand Peace?"

Seese talked about people's unquenchable thirst for peace, and the fact that peace is nevertheless hard to find. That burden doesn't have to be borne alone, however. The Scriptures remind people that God helps bear that burden.

Seese is enjoying working with the Rev. Phillip Rodgers Magee, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. Magee is both a mentor and a colleague for Seese.

"I can't think of a better person for that," Seese said.

He'll be installed as associate pastor during a special service Sunday, Oct. 15, at the church. For now, Seese is getting settled into his new job.

In his free time, he enjoys movies, including foreign films and comedies. Seese also enjoys reading, opera — and baseball. He played some baseball in his student days, and continues to play softball.

Before coming to the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth last month, the Rev. Lee Seese served as interim pastor at a Presbyterian church in Seattle.

church bulletin

The church bulletin is published every Thursday in the Observer. Information must be received in the Livonia office by noon the Monday prior to publication.

BOOK OF JOHN

Bartlett Hess, senior pastor of Ward Presbyterian Church, will continue his expository study of the Book of John during the month of September. The following messages are offered at each of the three Sunday morning worship services at 8:30, 10 and 11:30 a.m.: Sept. 17, John 8:42-51, "The Devil and His Children"; and Sept. 24, John 8:52-59, "Abraham Saw Christ." Ward Church is at Farmington Road and Six Mile, Livonia.

FIRST SABBATH

At 8:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 15, at Temple Beth Jacob will have its first Sabbath evening service of the fall season. Instead of a sermon, after the service, Rabbi Richard Weiss will lead a discussion on "Preparing for Rosh Ha Shannah," the Jewish New Year. Temple Beth Jacob is at 79 Elizabeth Lake Road, Pontiac. For information, call 332-3212.

The Campus Ministry Association of Schoolcraft College sponsors a giant 50-family tent sale 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 16, at the center on Haggerty Road north of Six Mile. Items include home furnishings, clothing and tools. The sale is an annual fund-raiser for the center, which provides spiritual guidance as well as counseling services to the Schoolcraft community.

SPAGHETTI DINNER

Livonia Assembly of God, 33015 W. Seven Mile, will have a home mission spaghetti dinner 1-3 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 16. The purpose of the event is to raise money for Home Mission Churches in Michigan. Cost is $5 for adults; $2.50 for children. For information, call 471-5282.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

St. David-Episcopal Church Sunday school will start at 9:45 a.m. Sept. 17. The church is at 27500 Marquette.

MEMBERSHIP CLASS

Christ Our Savior Lutheran Church, 14175 Farmington Road, Livonia, will be conducting adult instruction classes for church membership at 9:45 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 17. These sessions, led by the Rev. Luther Werth, will meet for 15 weeks in the pastor's study. The course of study will focus on the Christian faith in general and the Lutheran Church in particular. For information, call 522-6830.

ILLUSTRATING THE FAITH

The First Baptist Church of Canton hosts a series of meetings Sunday-Wednesday, Sept. 17-20. Times are 10:45 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday, 7 p.m. Monday-Wednesday at the church, 44500 Cherry Hill Road at Sheldon, Canton. The Rev. "Ding" Teuling, a former commercial artist, illustrates his talks with large chalk drawings illuminated with colored lights. For details, call 941-6460.

SOCIAL

St. Genevieve Holy Family Guild is sponsoring an ice cream social noon to 3 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 17, in the Activities Center, 28933 Jamison. There will be a cake walk, game, 50/50 raffle, free wine raffle and barbershop quartet. The event is open to the public.

HANDBELL ARTIST

Christine D. Anderson, nationally known handbell expert, will provide special music at three worship services Sunday, Sept. 17, at Ward Presbyterian Church, 17000 Farmington Road, Livonia. Anderson will present a handbell solo prelude and offertory at 8:30, 10 and 11:30 a.m. services. She will also conduct a special training workshop for the Ward Handbell Ensemble.

RELATIONSHIP

Single Point Ministries of Ward Presbyterian Church will present a fall relationship seminar Thursday-Saturday, Sept. 14-16, at the church, Six Mile at Farmington Road, Livonia.

Andy Morgan, pastor of single adults at Ward, will discuss personal growth, relationships and dating in the three sessions — 7-10 p.m. Thursday-Friday and 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Price is $15 for the seminar, including a continental breakfast and lunch on Saturday. Pre-registration is required and can be completed by calling 422-1854.

RUMMAGE SALE

The annual rummage sale of the Garden City Presbyterian Church will be 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 16, in the church fellowship hall. Furniture, toys, housewares and clothing will be featured. The church is at 1841 Middlebelt, one block south of Ford.

BIBLE STUDY

Study of the Book of Revelation will take place at 7 p.m. Tuesdays and 10 a.m. Saturdays at Seventh-day Adventist Church, 31133 Hively, near Merriman and Cherry Hill, Westland. The study is open to people of all faiths. For information, call 441-3405.

ICE CREAM

Christ Community Church, 45701 Ford Road, Canton, will have an ice cream sundae gathering 3-7 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 16. The public may attend. This is the third year for this event, which features free ice cream sundaes. For information, call 981-0499.

MARITAL GROWTH

Ald Association of Lutherans, Local Branch 3418, presents "ENCORE: Shared Growth in Marriage" at Antioch Lutheran Church, 33360 W. 13 Mile, Farmington Hills. Encore is a marriage growth opportunity for couples who are pleased with their marriage. It offers an opportunity to renew a belief in marriage by building on strengths. Price is $10 per couple. Two-day seminar begins at 6 p.m. Friday, Sept. 15, and ends at 5:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 16. To register or for more information, call 628-7908.

CHRISTIAN HOLIDAYS

Christian Holidays is owned and operated by Sue Biggs of Allen Park. The organization provides the Christian public with opportunities to travel in groups without sacrificing Christian principles. The Christian Holidays Travel Club offers one-day trips to destinations within 200 miles. The group will enjoy a scenic cruise on the Au Sable River Saturday, Sept. 16, and on Thursday, Sept. 21, will tour the Ella Sharp Park and Museum in Jackson. On Sept. 21, group members will also go to Marshall for dinner and a production of "The Grandma Moses American Songbook." Extended tours to Hawaii, Nashville, the Canadian Rockies and other sites are planned for 1990. For reservations or information, call 388-0448.

CATCH THE SPIRIT

Joseph A. Kordick, formerly of Plymouth, will be featured the week of Sept. 17 on "Catch the Spirit," the national television series of the United Methodist Church. Kordick chose to retire early as a Ford Motor Co. vice president. He now works as a volunteer at Hospice of Martin Inc., in Stuart, Fla. Kordick was an active member of the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth for many years. He and his wife, Phyllis, are members of Aldersgate United Methodist Church in Palm City. The program featuring Kordick originally aired in April. "Catch the Spirit" programs tell how United Methodists live out their Christian faith.

CONCERT IN THE HILLS

A "Concert in the Hills," sponsored by the Universalist Unitarian Church of Farmington, will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 17, at the church, 25301 Halsted, Farmington Hills. Classical pianists Barbara Carbery and Barbara Robinson will perform in a program of solo and duet pieces. Upcoming recitals in the series include the Cassini Ensemble, the Langford Singers and folk-blue grass artist Nell Woodward. Ticket prices are $7, $5 for students and senior citizens. Tickets are available at the door or at the church office. Group rates and season tickets are available. For information, call 478-7272.

around 10:30 p.m. after visiting All Saints Russian, St. John-St. Luke, St. Joseph and St. Mary churches. Price is $18 for DHS members, $20 for non-members, and includes a church supper. Advance reservations are required. For information, call 833-7934 during office hours Monday through Friday.

SINGERS NEEDED

Village Presbyterian Church will host the second annual "Messiah" performance at 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 26. Singers are needed to comprise the Village Festival Chorus, the resident chorus at the church. Rehearsals have already started. The church will provide the score, but a $5 deposit will be required and refunded after the performance. For information, call 534-7730. The church is on Six Mile, between Beech Daly and Telegraph.

BAHAIFAITH

Curtis Russell will speak on "Achieving Racial Unity" at 3 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 23, at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer. Russell is a social/industrial psychologist who directs the graduate studies program at Mercy College of Detroit. He is also an associate professor of psychology. The program is sponsored by the Bahals of Canton Township. Russell, in his capacity as a Bahai, has frequently spoken of the subject of racial harmony.

DIVORCE RECOVERY

Christ Our Savior Lutheran Church, 14175 Farmington Road, Livonia, will be conducting a divorce recovery workshop 7-9:30 p.m. Thursdays, starting Sept. 28. The workshop will offer practical guidance to help each individual achieve a healthy recovery from their divorce experience. For information, call 522-6830.

CONCERT

St. John Neumann's parish hosts an evening of song and celebration with music by Destiny. "Come Celebrate God's Call" is set for 7 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 1, at St. John Neumann's parish, Warren Road west of Sheldon in Canton. Public may attend. Refreshments served after the concert. Baby-sitting available. For details, call 451-2088.

War on drugs begins at home moral perspectives

Rev. Lloyd Buss

The enemy has been located. War has been declared and forces mobilized to destroy the enemy. The war on drugs has turned its course to a war on the drug lords of Colombia.

The drug lords of Colombia are easy to hate. I can't think of a single redeeming feature in any of their actions that bring drugs to the users in any country. Everything they do to produce and provide drugs for street use is among the most reprehensible of all human activity.

The drug lords of Colombia surely need to be brought to justice. Whatever our country can do to assist Colombia in bringing these destroyers of life to the public tribunals of justice and order we must do as surely as we joined with our Allies in defeating the enemies of World War II.

Colombia's decision to reinstate the suspended extradition treaty between the United States and Colombia has been regarded as a key element in our efforts to reduce the sale and use of drugs. At long last, the United States can deal directly with those who have brought undiminished anguish and grief to countless numbers in our land. We can bring them to our land and lock them in our jails. Many are convinced that our war on drugs has taken a turn to victory.

THE COLOMBIAN DECREE to extradite drug traffickers to the United States has been acclaimed as a "courageous move" by President Bush, who was our chief drug czar for eight years as vice president under Ronald Reagan. The treaty providing for the extradition of drug traffickers to the United States was struck down by the Colombian Supreme Court on a technicality in 1987. Colombian drug lords under indictment in the United States are regarded responsible for 80 percent of the cocaine smuggled into the United States. Should one ask if these indictments were instituted since 1967?

The murder of Senator Luis Carlos Galan, an early favorite in Colombia's 1990 presidential election and the declaration of terror by drug lords in Colombia, have crossed the scapegoats so useful in our war on drugs. At long last, we can sharply focus our efforts on specific people committing specific criminal acts. We have found the enemy.

If only that could be true — that the drug lords of Colombia are the ones responsible for the use and abuse of drugs in the United States. Misperceived judgments are equally false with wrong ones.

There will be no victory in our war on drugs until every land that passes the drugs in the marketplace and every domestic retailer who freely used to re-sell them is brought to that. That is a matter of will and choice, yours and mine.

YW Travel Days takes in Chitown

If you're interested in some medieval merrymaking, or a weekend in the Windy City, the YWCA of Western Wayne County's Fall Travel Days may be just your cup of tea.

The travel days kick off Saturday, Sept. 16, with a trip to the Michigan Renaissance Festival in Holly. Amid 200 costumed revelers performing on four stages, travelers will relive the sights and sounds of life during the days of knights in shining armor.

The tour bus will leave the YWCA, 26279 Michigan Ave., Inkster, at 8:30 a.m. and return at 4:30 p.m. Lunch will be "Dutch treat," and there will be a side trip to the Davisburg Candle Factory.

The trip costs $25 per person and includes transportation and admission to the festival and factory.

THE YWCA's second annual Chicago weekend will be Oct. 6-8. Travelers will take an early train Friday from Dearborn to the Windy City and return late Sunday night.

Accommodations for the self-directed weekend will be at the Hyatt Regency Chicago at the foot of the "Magnificent Mile" and close to the city's theater district and cultural centers.

Cost of the trip and two nights lodging is $162. A $50 deposit is due when reservations are made.

The YWCA Fall Travel Days are open to Y members, their spouses and friends. Basic YWCA membership is $10. For more information or to make reservations, call the YWCA at 561-4110.

Laurel Park Place opening

Jos. A. Banks Clothiers has become the first store since Jacobson's to open at Laurel Park Place at Six Mile and Newburgh in Livonia. It will mark its opening with an appearance by University of Michigan basketball coach Steve Fisher from 6 to 9 p.m. tonight. The rest of the mall will open Thursday, Sept. 28, with staggered openings of stores as construction is completed through early November. The Baltimore-based manufacturer and retailer of business and professional wear for men and women also will celebrate the remodeling of its Birmingham store at 300 Pierce from 6 to 9 p.m. tonight.

Caponigro named president at Casey

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Jeffrey R. Caponigro, whose first exposure to the media was as a high-school sports stringer in the mid 1970s, has been appointed president of Casey Communications Management.

The 32-year-old Troy resident will be second in command of Michigan's largest public relations firm, where he had most recently been executive vice president.

Caponigro succeeds Jack Casey, who will remain as chairman and chief executive officer of the Southfield-based firm.

"It will be a continuation of my on-going role — helping to manage the firm, strategic planning with the firm and working on obtaining the best client services we can," Caponigro said.

He also will continue to counsel on crisis communications and planning, and serve on the board of directors of Casey Communications.

Caponigro has supervised several major accounts including Traffic Safety Now, the American Coalition for Traffic Safety and Audi of America since coming to Casey in 1984.

He previously worked at Anthony M. Franco Inc. and at Kolon Bittker & Desmond Inc.

CAPONIGRO SAID his sports background at the Observer & Eccentric, plus later stints at the Midland Daily News and Mount Pleasant Morning Sun, provided a solid foundation for a career in public relations.

"I had a lot of experience dealing with people, and my writing ability probably gave me a jump," he said. "I really do feel that has helped me to develop a work ethic, a willingness to work hard, be a good team player, try to motivate people like coaches have to."

Jeffrey Caponigro: 'I had a lot of experience dealing with people, and my writing ability probably gave me a jump. I really do feel that has helped me to develop a work ethic, a willingness to work hard, be a good team player, try to motivate people like coaches have to.'

Caponigro attributed his meteoric rise in the PR business to experience gained from all of his employers — Casey, Franco and John Kolon.

"I was given a lot of opportunities," Caponigro said. "I was fortunate to work with a lot of good people."

Ten years of experience in the pressure cooker of PR and advertising work can translate to 20 years in other fields, he said.

Caponigro envisions changes in the public relations profession as more and more companies recognize that they have all kinds of "publics" with which to deal.

"YOU HAVE employees, the community, clients, legislators, media people," he said. Two-way communication — from the different publics up as well as from the client down — will be emphasized, Caponigro said.

Caponigro was described as "one of the top public relations professionals in the nation," by Casey.

"Jeff Caponigro's skill and dedication have been critical to the growth and success of Casey Communications," the chairman said. "As president, he will be able to play an even more important role guiding the firm into the '90s."

Casey has grown from a four-person public relations firm to Michigan's largest (with 45 employees and public relations revenue of $3.6 million in 1988).

THE FIRM was acquired by Shandwick Ltd. of London, England, the largest independent PR firm in the world, in 1987.

Caponigro is a graduate of Central Michigan University, where he majored in Journalism and English.

He and his wife, Ellen, are parents of two small sons, Nicholas and Michael.

"I really enjoy playing with the two boys. That's great," Caponigro said. He also admitted to enjoying golf, tennis and working out with weights.

Non-fiction books and magazines also are attractive when he can find the time to read.

Caponigro is a graduate of Leadership Detroit, the program conducted annually by the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce for those considered the Detroit-area's top business and community leaders.

He is a member of the Public Relations Society of America and is a member of its national accreditation board.

Caponigro is a sought-after speaker on professional development, crisis communications and public relations counseling.

Budgeting college expenses

It doesn't take person with a perfect SAT score to determine that the costs of a college education go far beyond tuition, room and board.

The Farmington Hills-based Michigan Association of CPAs advises that college students develop a budget for those miscellaneous expenses that can rapidly empty your wallet.

The easy part is calculating the amount of money you have available to spend. Most students have four possible sources of money: a part-time job, a savings account, a monthly allowance supplied by parents and scholarship or loan money (or what's left after paying for tuition, room and board).

Now comes the hard part: planning for expenses. Some colleges will provide you with an estimate of how much you may need for personal expenses, but these figures can be way off the mark. After all, the college's calculations probably miss important personal expenses, such as those marathon telephone calls to your best friend on the other side of the country.

To simplify the budgeting process, break down your expenses into categories such as books, supplies and lab fees; meals; transportation; toiletries; utilities; and entertainment.

START WITH books and supplies. You may hate to spend $45 on that computer textbook, but if your heart is set on a career as a systems analyst, you better be ready to foot the bill.

Go to the local book store and scan the prices of books you may have to buy over the next year. Some courses will land you in the texts costing top dollar. Find out now when you can anticipate the expenses rather than next term, when you may have practically speaking already exhausted your budget. Don't forget to include lab fees and the cost of such supplies as notebooks, typewriter ribbons and computer disks.

Even if you are on a meal plan, reserve some money for those mid-night snacks. If you can't resist Friday night pizza outings, make sure you include the cost in your budget.

WHETHER YOU are commuting or living in a dorm, you will have to contend with transportation expenses. Calculate how much a visit home costs and how many visits you plan to make. Talk to your parents and find out if they are willing to pay for any trips home. If you own a car, estimate how much gasoline you may use each week. It is likely the car will need repairs or a tune-up during the year?

If you are living away from home, remember that you will now have to pay for such basic necessities as toothpaste, shampoo and laundry. Although these items seem insignificant, they can add up to a sizeable sum by year's end.

Other expenses to consider are utility bills. If these are not included in your room and board fees, ask other students to estimate how much you can expect to spend. And, of course, no budget is complete until it includes entertainment expenses. If you are a movie buff, don't forget to reserve a few dollars for an occasional night out at the movies.

TRY TO ESTIMATE expenses

realistically, and as a safeguard against unexpected costs, increase your total by 10 percent. You won't be sure your estimate is on target until you've tested it a few months. So try your budget out and see how it fits. During the first month or two, jot down every dime you spend so you know where your money is going and whether your budget figures are accurate. If the same patterns continue the next month, adjust your budget accordingly.

But what if you can't make ends meet? The solution is easy, even if achieving it isn't. You have to increase your income or decrease your expenses.

Chances are you've already exhausted all the normal options for producing income. If so, maybe it's time for you to try a more creative approach. Some schools offer venture-capital money to help launch student entrepreneurs. Students have successfully initiated businesses to fill obvious needs, such as typing term papers, running a wake-up call service or house sitting.

ALTHOUGH YOU may think you are living on a bare-bones budget, you will be surprised at how much you can still cut back. Often your college ID can be the key to discounts on food, entertainment, haircuts and school supplies. Don't hesitate to ask when paying for goods and services.

Shop for food and personal items wisely, taking advantage of sales and coupons. To save on transportation costs, plan ahead to buy discounted airline tickets. Find out if buses and trains in your area offer discounts to student travelers. To trim your telephone bill, shop around for the best long-distance rates and make your calls at non-peak times when rates tend to be lower.

To ease the burden of buying books, buy used texts from other students or book stores. But plan on shopping early because supplies of used books are generally limited.

Shop around for the bank that best meets your needs. In comparing, consider such convenience factors as location, hours and automated teller machines, as well as savings rates and checking charges. Find out if the bank offers special student accounts such as no-fee checking.

With a little bit of planning, you can have your education and an occasional night out, too.

ONE SLICE AT A TIME

To develop a realistic budget, evaluate each of your expenses individually.

Convenient Payroll Deduction

At Dearborn Federal Credit Union, we know you have a lot on your mind. And making loan payments on time is just one more thing for you to remember. That's why we offer the worry-free convenience of payroll deduction.

With a personal loan from Dearborn Federal Credit Union, you can have your payments automatically deducted from your paycheck. You'll save time and you won't have to worry about due dates.

What's more, the interest rates you pay on our loans are lower than at most financial institutions. Which means you can borrow more money for less.

Thousands of members already use payroll deduction as a convenient way to repay a loan — whether it's a home equity line of credit, a new or used car or boat loan, or any other personal loan we offer.

Of course, you can change or discontinue payroll deduction at any time. It's that easy. For more information about our low-cost loans or membership eligibility, contact one of our Member Service Representatives at (313) 336-2700.

Fancy ad campaign doesn't mean you've arrived

Micro marketing strategies have been used to promote small businesses for years. But these techniques never seemed to command the level of recognition they have deserved.

For some reason, smaller companies were not perceived as having made it until they began sponsoring full-blown ad campaigns that appealed to the masses.

But the good news is that micro marketing works and will continue to as long as customer markets remain fractured.

RECENT EXAMPLES of micro marketing techniques reflect the creativity and imagination of the companies that have developed them.

Wallboards now appear in high schools, dentist offices and other locations to promote various products and services.

At a Kentucky high school, a giant poster of basketball's Michael Jordan has been used to promote mouthwash and shampoo.

Mobile units have been seen at state fairs and other outdoor events

to provide free services for attendees. These services range from providing a diaper-changing facility to conducting seminars on diet and nutrition to performing color analysis. ONE OF the newest micro marketing techniques has local video store owners renting space at the beginning of videotapes for local advertisements. The completed spots can be spliced in and run up to a minute in length.

"Anyone who rents 'The Wizard of Oz' will see a spot for a nationally distributed fabric softener," said a local video shop owner, "so why not see one for the local restaurant or car dealership as well?"

Non-media sources have also been used to help firms micro market local customer groups. Sponsors of charity functions, summer festivals and sporting events have discovered how business can be successfully mixed with pleasure.

"INFOMERCIALS" represent another means available to promote a company's products and services. Community-based cooking shows that feature local restaurateurs and hair and makeup demonstrations sponsored by local salon owners are among those that serve both as a teaching and promotional tool.

For a list of micro marketing alternatives for small business, call MarkeTrends at 474-1149.

Reformulating gas beats switching to methanol

On a clear day you can barely see Los Angeles, which is why the latest California clean air initiative runs roughshod over political sensibilities and bans barbecues, charcoal lighter fluid and even some house paint, all of which are blamed in some small part for their contribution to the choking clouds of smog that Californians seem to thrive on.

As California goes, so goes the nation, as anyone who has filled in the holes in an abandoned trampoline center can tell you. This is one reason why President Bush is encouraging the use of methanol as an alternate fuel for automobiles.

METHANOL is a type of alcohol that burns with fewer hydrocarbons than gasoline. It's generally accepted that smog is mainly the result of unburned hydrocarbons that float up into the atmosphere and react in the presence of sunlight to turn into Johnny Carson jokes.

Since gasoline is mainly hydrocarbons, and auto engines burn the stuff, gasoline is a primary culprit in urban air pollution.

But while methanol does burn cleaner than gasoline, it generates fumes that act like peeling onions on your eyes. It also takes twice the amount as gasoline for equivalent mileage, and is so toxic a small amount ingested causes blindness.

Also, there isn't enough produced today to propel more than a handful of cars, and developing a production capacity large enough to supply the stuff would mean building up a whole new industry.

A RECENT copyrighted story in Automotive News suggests that there is a hidden pact between the auto companies and oil refiners to kill the use of methanol as an alternative fuel out of vested self-interest auto talk

Dan McCosh

— an accusation the powers that be vehemently deny.

Still, the suggestion that alternate fuels might work has shaken the industry out of its doldrums.

By now, we are nearing the end of two decades of legislation and engineering work aimed at controlling so-called auto emissions. Early efforts at making cars burn cleaner involved twiddling with the engine tuning and had the side effect of cutting mileage roughly in half just as the Arabs cut off the supplies of crude oil.

able and ultimately ended up on all the cars on the road, immensely improving air quality.

BUT LIKE they say, there's no free lunch. Catalytic converters don't work with lead additives used to boost octane. The butane-based additives used in unleaded gasoline tend to evaporate easily — creating pollution on their own.

Also, the life of a catalytic converter originally was planned to be only half of the life of the car, which means the guy buying the transportation special gets stuck with replacing it. Of course, he doesn't anyway — killing the effect of the whole system.

Both are reasons why auto companies are interested in reformulating gasoline so that it doesn't evaporate so easily and helps catalysis to live longer. Changing gasoline isn't as simple as it seems, since we consume such huge quantities of the stuff that altering the refining process is a multi-billion dollar change.

REGARDLESS, THE auto companies and oil refiners are starting to see that as preferable to developing a new system to make and distribute something as alien as methanol.

So now the Big Three and major oil refiners are forming a joint research effort to study major fuel alternatives aimed at improving air quality.

Clearly, the spectre of having to develop a separate production and distribution system such as methanol, as proposed both by California and the new clean air legislation, has roused interest in seeking a more viable alternative, and the first priority is an improved gasoline formula.

Dan McCosh is the automotive editor of Popular Science.

Kiddie tax can't prevent deflection

Fourth of five parts

By Sid Mittra
special writer

The fourth tax reduction strategy is deflection, which involves the shifting of taxable income to someone in the lower tax bracket. There are several ways of accomplishing this objective.

Kiddie tax

The kiddie tax is based on a parent's top rate if (1) the child is under 14, and (2) has net investment income after reducing gross investment income by $1,000. This tax is not levied on earned income. Investment income may consist of interest, dividends, royalties, rents and profits on the sale of property.

Only net investment income is subject to tax at the parent's top rate. For purposes of this rule, net investment income equals gross investment income minus $1,000 if the child does not itemize deductions. If itemized deductions is used, net investment income equals gross investment income reduced by the larger of (1) $1,000, or (2) $500 plus itemized deductions that are directly connected with the generation of investment income.

Notwithstanding the new kiddie tax rules, a number of strategies can be used to beat the kiddie tax. For instance, a taxpayer can take advantage of the fact that the first $1,000 of an under-age-14 child's unearned income is tax-favored. This is done by transferring assets that produce up to $1,000 of annual unearned income for the child. Another strategy is to switch the child's savings into investments that pay little or no current taxable income. These investments include U.S. Series EE bonds, municipal bonds and zero coupon bonds. Also, minor's trusts, under which assets and earnings do not have to be turned over to the child until age 21, probably are taxed at a lower trust rate even though the child is under 14 and has income of over $1,000. However, eventually this strategy does result in double taxation.

Gifts

An attractive way to shift income is for an individual with a high marginal tax bracket to give gift to a child in a low tax bracket. A gift of cash benefits the taxpayer to the extent that the after-tax return received by the child would presumably be higher than the after-tax return received by the taxpayer. A gift of appreciated property, such as common stock or income-producing property, can bring even higher tax benefits. For instance, the appreciated stock could be liquidated and reinvested to generate a greater after-tax return for the child than it would be for the taxpayer.

An example can demonstrate the use of gifts as a way of reducing the tax liability. Assume John Smith wishes to create a college fund for his son Mike and has $5,000 in a money market earning 7 percent interest. Assuming a 28 percent tax bracket, John currently pays a tax of $98 (28 percent of $350). If he gives the money to Mike who has no other resources of income, Mike immediately gains $98 because he would not owe this tax to the government.

'Cattle call' gets actor in as a dancer

By Victor E. Swanson
special writer

Actor Todd Heughens, a former Troy resident, couldn't get an audition for a role in "Fiddler on the Roof" but with ingenuity, he managed to become a dancer in the show.

"Fiddler," which opens Tuesday at the Fox Theatre in Detroit, stars Topol, who played the lead role in the movie version of "Fiddler on the Roof," released by United Artists Pictures in November 1972.

"The producers (of the stage production) were worried that everyone who was interested in seeing 'Fiddler' had already seen it," Heughens said during recent telephone interview from Cincinnati, where the production was playing.

"But they want to see it again — done right. They've all seen the dinner theater and community theater productions, and now they want to see the guy (Topol) from the movie."

"FIDDLER" RUNS through Sunday, Sept. 24, at the Fox. Besides being one of the dancers, Heughens also understudies the part of Mendel, the Rabbi's son. As Heughens said, "I was hired as a dancer — slash — understudy."

He was nearly not hired at all for the production.

"I was out of town working in Cincinnati, which is where I am right now, when they (the producers) were holding principal calls, auditions for the leading roles, and I had my agent submit me anyway, and I was thinking I could always fly in." Flatly he said, "They didn't want to see me for any of the roles."

Determined to get a part, Heughens attended a cattle call for the show when he returned to New York.

"There were about 250 guys auditioning as dancers, and by the end of the day, there were maybe 80 left. They called us back for another day, and throughout the day — the six-hour audition — they weeded it down to eight. It's a pretty grueling process."

What's surprising is that Heughens got a part without really knowing much about "Fiddler on the Roof." "I hadn't even seen 'Fiddler' — the movie or the play — before I auditioned for it," he said.

Heughens explained, as simply as he could, what "Fiddler on the Roof" is about. "The storyline has to do with this man, Tevye (played by Topol) and his relationship with his three daughters, and through the show each of them ends up falling in love, and Tevye has to deal with them wanting to spend the rest of their lives with these three men, when the tradition is that they would be set up with men chosen by a matchmaker. . . . The third daughter falls in love with a Russian — a non-Jew . . . and he just can't deal with that. He (Tevye) says, 'I can only bend so far before I break!'"

Heughens described the production as "almost a perfect musical." He added, "It really gets to the heart. It's very funny and very moving. And, certainly, Topol does a wonderful job with it."

ALSO IN THE CAST is Ruth Jaroslow, who plays — as she has for many stage productions over the last 20 years — Yente, Roz Harris, who joined the cast in Cincinnati, is Tevye's wife. In the 1971 movie, she was one of the daughters, Zeitel.

So far, the production has been on the road for about 12 weeks. It's scheduled for a 40-week tour of the country, which has already taken it to audiences in such cities as San Francisco, where it opened; Seattle,

"Les Miserables," the most successful musical of all time, held its opening night Wednesday at Detroit's Fisher Theatre. It is expected to run at least through the end of the year. The show has five casts in North America and 17 casts around the world.

'Les Miserables' Will it be a smash hit here, too?

By Mary Jane Doerr
special writer

SITTING BACK in a comfortable lounge chair in the lobby of the St. Regis, a casually dressed, long-haired Richard Jay-Alexander declared, "Detroit makes me nervous."

"There are no guarantees in this business. I don't come in here cocky, sure of myself, thinking that we can't lose. I have been told that this is a great theater town but I am not ready to cash in my chips."

Jay-Alexander was still jet-lagged from his flight from Las Vegas the night before. The associate director and executive producer of what has become the most successful musical of all time, "Les Miserables," he was exuberant as he talked about his show. Next door, the sets had been hung at the Fisher Theatre, ready for the first rehearsal of the Chicago cast.

"Les Miz" played for nine months in Boston, six months in Philadelphia and six months in Chicago. There are five casts now playing North America and 17 casts around the world. The Broadway production costs $4-1/2 million but recouped the investment in only 23 weeks. It now records weekly profits of hundreds of thousands of dollars for the show's English producer Cameron Mackintosh. As mastermind of "Cats," "Les Miz," and "Phantom of the Opera," Mackintosh is the most powerful producer anywhere.

"MACKINTOSH WOULD have been here if he could have," added Jay-Alexander. "I talk with him every day. He is really quite simple and basic. He loves his work and is very accessible."

Jay-Alexander arrived in town for 10 days, to rehearse the cast before going to London for the open-

Vancouver (Canada); Los Angeles, and Kansas City.

"We're supposed to end up on Broadway. That's what they keep saying," he said.

However, Heughens did say he was in an off-off Broadway show, "Big River," a Huckleberry Finn musical, that was expected — by the cast — to go to Broadway a few years ago. It did not.

He also appeared in a well-received production at Ford's Theatre in Washington, D.C., called "The Hot Mikado," which looked as if it would go to Broadway.

"They had Broadway in mind and it (The Hot Mikado) was a huge hit in Washington, and we were given Broadway opening dates (and) rehearsal dates and everything. I wasn't living in New York at the time, and they said, 'Well, you better find an apartment!' And I did, and I never heard anything about it (the show going to Broadway)."

HEUGHENS LIVES in New York, and he even has his own apartment, now, which he got this year. Most of the last six years or so, while he was in New York, he was subletting because apartments are hard to find in New York.

Someday, Heughens would like to live in Seattle. Of course, he loves to travel and that could change.

When he comes to Michigan with "Fiddler on the Roof," he will visit Howell, for that's where his parents now live. His mother has arranged a special party for him, which will include friends and family. He has three brothers, two of whom live in Alabama.

Heughens attended Berkley High School as a sophomore and spent his junior and senior years at Troy Athens High School. "In high school (Berkley), I just saw a poster one day for auditions for 'The Paljama Game,' he said. "I auditioned and I got the show. And that was it, and I was hooked. I knew as soon as I was at the audition — even before I knew I had been cast in the show — I knew that was what I wanted to do."

He spent a year at Oakland University in Rochester Hills. During the summers of 1979 and 1980, he toured — mostly in Michigan — with the Meadow Brook Estate singing group.

FROM 1980 TO 1984, Heughens attended the Conservatory of Music at the University of Cincinnati. During the last year there and before going to New York, he took a short time off from school to work with the Cincinnati Playhouse. In the Park, where he obtained an Equity Card.

"I actually moved to New York with my Equity Card, which was a huge blessing. It's so hard to do anything without it," he said.

Now, Heughens is coming back home. "It's my first time performing in Michigan since school," he said with delight.

Will it be a smash hit here, too?

ing of Mackintosh's newest musical "Miss Saigon."

"When I went to London to interview for this job, I thought I blew the interview. I did not speak French. I hadn't seen the show. That night I went to the Palace and cried my eyes out," he said.

Jay-Alexander does the casting for the American productions. Last week he cast 47 parts. He has worked with at least 20 Fantines, the character who sings one of the show's most popular numbers, "I Dreamed a Dream."

"You can't play the part unless you belt," said Jay-Alexander, who went on to explain how much of the color and finesse of Patti LuPone's voice in the English recording was produced in the recording studio.

"SHE DID NOT play it that way on stage," he said, obviously agitated about insinuations that the London cast is more refined than the American. "Look, I know what it takes to play that part. That role is about a woman who has lost her job. She is screaming about the miserable condition of her life."

"Les Miz" is taken from Victor Hugo's 19th century melodrama about the wretched living conditions of the poor in early 19th century France, a time when the average life expectancy of poor children was 2 years, when incurable diseases plagued the poor, when unemployment meant starvation.

The leading character Jean Valjean spends 19 years in prison for stealing a loaf of bread and his life exalting for his sin while fleeing his policeman pursuer Javert.

"Sure I was handed this job on a platter," Jay-Alexander said. "I haven't had to gamble on this show like Cameron. But I have a lot of blood and guts in it. I have seen it perhaps more times than anyone else — maybe as many as 1,000 times — but it still moves me when I hear the music or see it again."

What makes this "pop opera" different from a traditional opera is the acting demands on the cast. The actress who plays Eponine appears in a variety of roles in the show. She is a pea picker, a drinker, a pedestrian, an unemployed factory worker and a whore before she stars as Marius' rejected lover. After Fantine dies, she is cast as one of the boys at the barricade during the 1832 Paris uprising.

"THE WORD 'OPERA' scares me," Jay-Alexander said. "I think, though, the show will go into the opera house repertoire when the tours finish."

The show highlights the historical struggle between the French Revolutionaries and the Empire, paralleling freedom struggles today in places such as China, one possible reason for the unwaning public appeal.

"Mackintosh was interested in the show long before Tianemen Square," said Jay-Alexander. "I think he picks his shows because of something that happens inside himself. China is expressing an interest in the show and so is the Soviet Union."

"Les Miz" opened in Paris in 1980 as a series of tableaux. The French audience was familiar with the story so no explanation was needed between the scenes. When Mackintosh decided to take the show to London, he had it rewritten, shortening it to three hours and adding many of the famous songs — "Stars," "Empty Chair and Empty Tables" and "Bring Him Home." In New York, the show was again reworked into what is now the "Bible" version.

"When we auditioned the roles for Broadway, it was difficult because no one had seen the show and knew what we wanted. Now everyone is familiar with the parts so when we audition they come out of the woodwork to play the parts," Jay-Alexander said.

"LES MIZ" got mixed reviews when it opened in London and was "tried" in Washington before it was mounted on Broadway.

"Cameron did not know if he wanted to risk it in New York, but he took a look at his ticket lines and decided it was worth it. I get mad when reporters take cheap shots at the show. We have not hyped it. The public loves it and has made it a success."

The 37-year-old actor-turned-director is himself a trained singer who graduated from State University of New York at Oswego. The last time he played the Fisher was as the stage manager of "Amadeus."

Locals appear in 'Les Mis'

Several area residents are appearing in the cast of "Les Miserables" at the Fisher Theatre.

Traveling with the show are Jennifer Naimo, originally of Farmington, who plays Eponine, and Dan Cooney, originally of Westland, who is in the chorus.

During the Detroit run, Joe DeNawetz, 11, of West Bloomfield alternates in the role of the street urchin Gavroche, and Laura Bouno of Sterling Heights, whose family is moving to Rochester Hills, alternates with two other girls in the roles of young Cosette and young Eponine.

WE'D LIKE YOU TO RESERVE THE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 17th FOR A MIRACLE.

George Washington said its creation was "little short of a miracle." James Madison said, "It is impossible for the man of pious reflection not to perceive in it a finger of that Almighty hand," when describing the process that created it.

Washington and Madison were commenting on nothing less than the document that created our government: The Constitution of the United States. The Constitution is the foundation of our country and the means by which we achieve the rule of law and protect our freedom.

The week of September 17th is Constitution Week. Many libraries will have displays and information on this incredible document.

Why not take a look at it. After all, it isn't often you can hold a miracle in your hands.

Chili prizes

For the very first time, one team of chili cooks took first prize for best chili, as well as an award for showmanship, on Sunday at the 11th annual Michigan Chili Cookoff at the Lark restaurant in West Bloomfield.

Frank Klancnik of Walled Lake was awarded first prize for his Smoke in the Hole Chili. He will represent Michigan at the World Cookoff on Sunday, Oct. 22, at the abandoned Tropic Gold Mine in California's Mojave Desert.

Second prize went to Kathleen Cummins of Birmingham, who said she had entered the contest for the last six years but was a winner this year for the first time.

Third-prize winner was Joe Swiderski of Wyandotte. Other winners were Lou Filippi of Blissfield and Alan Fabian of Woodhaven, who tied for fourth place.

The Smoke in the Hole group got first prize for showmanship, with its entertainment that included rap singing and a band. Award for best booth went to Fabian of Woodhaven, whose booth had a smoking volcano serving up chili. Klancnik's Smoke in the Hole came in second for best booth.

The judges — myself included — agreed that this year's chili contestants made the finest chilis that had ever been offered at Mary and Jim Lark's competition.

Proceeds go for 10 $1,000 scholarships, awarded to culinary arts students. Among area recipients are Howard Farris of Rochester Hills, Culinary Institute of America; Donald Harwood of Plymouth, Schoolcraft College; Jeffrey LaBine of Canton, Schoolcraft College; Jerry Painter of Westland, Oakland Community College, and Brian Tamm of Livonia, Schoolcraft College.

A welcome change of place.

Looking for a great little French-Canadian restaurant that you can go back to time and again? Try Chez Gylane, 5 minutes from downtown, at 1880 Wyandotte East. Shrimp, scallops and crab with creamy wine sauce, rack of lamb sauce madeira and Mousse au chocolat are specialties you'll enjoy at Chez Gylane.

Welcome to Windsor's newest hotel, the Compro. It's right on the waterfront, two doors down from Cleary Auditorium. It features luxurious guest rooms, central location and the exclusive Compro Club lounge area for hotel guests.

Don't buy any fur before you shop and compare at Constantini Furs, 531 Ouellette downtown... where you get high-fashion styling, quality workmanship and the most competitive prices. Constantini Furs: where fur fashion in Windsor begins.

It's an old-fashioned country fair and it's called the International Plowing Match, 600 exhibitors on 100 acres, from September 19 through 23. You'll like the folk dancing, the big draft horses, the sounds of steam tractors and a hearty farm dinner. Or shop for pottery and glass, wooden rocking horses, wildlife carvings and handmade quilts. 8 miles east of Windsor on County road 42. Information available at the Ontario Travel Information Center.

Windsor
& ESSEX COUNTY

Windsor and surrounding Essex County: the perfect place for shopping, dining and special events.

If your shopping plans include hockey equipment, be sure to see National Sports Centre at Devonshire Mall on Howard Avenue... with great prices, Guaranteed Fit Policy and Windsor's largest selection: everything you need to play the game, sold and serviced by people who are hockey players too.

On the way home, don't forget to stop at the Duty Free Shop, on the Canadian side of the Windsor-Detroit tunnel, for savings up to fifty percent on Lladro figurines... plus fashionable Fendi Swiss watches, exclusive perfumes like Shalimar, Lancome skin care products, gifts, souvenirs and your favorite Canadian beer!

The best thing to do after any visit to Windsor is plan the next one. It's easy. Just say, "Let's go to Windsor."

Let's go to Windsor

Tight quarters

league basketball battle. For a complete roundup of area girls basketball, turn to page 5D.

Beaune's back, but result same

THE LOOK SAID all that need be said. But the question was asked anyway, needlessly; how did Tony Beaune feel after his first football game in nearly two years? The huge (6-foot-4, 270 pounds) defensive lineman from Livonia Stevenson slumped against the wall with a sigh of exhaustion. "Kind of tired," he answered.

Beaune's reply was only partially in reference to his physical condition. Yes, he was tired. "I'm not used to going 70 plays," he explained. "Even in practice, we only go about 30 or 35. So it's something I have to get adjusted to."

Beaune is heavier than he was two years ago, too, and carrying the extra weight through a game played in 80-degree weather is draining.

BUT BEAUNE was also tired of the outcome: his Wayne State team getting rounced 24-6 by Saginaw Valley State. It was the same old story for the Tartars. The last time Beaune played, in 1987, they were 4-6. WSU has an 8-21-1 record in the three seasons Beaune has played, with only one win in 15 Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference games.

Such dismal results are demoralizing, and Beaune's face after Saturday's loss reflected it. So much had gone wrong for him in the last year, he must have hoped — prayed — that both his and his team's fortunes would finally reverse.

His already have. Pro scouts have been asking for film on Beaune. His size and strength are only part of the attraction. Beaune has run a 4.75 40-yard dash.

C.J. Risak

AGAINST SVSU, Beaune's performance mirrored his team's: He started slow and gradually improved. His final stats — 12 tackles, one for a loss — were impressive, particularly considering SVSU had two and, at times, three blockers taking shots at him.

"I think I could have played better," he said. "I could have played the pass better. I didn't get any sacks. I guess I did OK against the run."

Beaune might have been getting a pro tryout this summer. But prior to the '88 season, he was told he did not have the required amount of academic credits for eligibility.

"I came in three days before the first game and found out," he said. His academic ineligibility (Beaune has a 2.7 grade-point average) was a difficult burden to bear. He couldn't even stand to watch the team he had played for, the team he led in tackles the previous year.

"I went to our last game at Ferris State," Beaune recalled. "Just watching that was hard to take."

But that's all behind him now. Which is why he was hoping for a better start to his final season at WSU. He would have made a difference in last year's 2-8 campaign. Was he missed? His teammates answered that by electing him co-captain. Now Beaune is focused on making a difference this year.

"I ALWAYS WANTED to play pro," he said. "I've been dreaming of it since I was a kid. I figure if it happens, I'll try it. I'll do my best."

"But I'm not even looking at that right now." He has established his goals, both for himself ("I'd like to get 100 tackles this season, and I'd like to break the career sack record") and his team.

He's got a good start toward his: 100-tackle season, and he needs just a half-dozen sacks to set the WSU mark. As for making a winner out of WSU, that may prove too big a task, even for him.

The loss to SVSU didn't seem a true reflection on each team's ability. Luck played a definite role, in passes dropped (the Tartars bobbed three in the first half) and caught. The Cardinals' second touchdown, on a pass from Vince Sawicki to Jim Miron, came after the ball was knocked out of Miron's hands by a WSU defender. Miron caught it on the rebound, right on the end line.

"It was a bad break, just like the last four years I've been here," said Beaune. "Bad breaks. Nothing's gone our way."

Its got to change. Its got to. Doesn't it?

Aggie coach takes big victory plunge

By Brad Emons
staff writer

It took five years, but Redford St. Agatha football coach John Goddard finally took a victory dip in the Grand Traverse Bay.

After being kidded and goaded by a couple of local prep prognosticators, Goddard gladly jumped in for a late Saturday night swim after his Aggies defeated host Traverse City St. Francis, 14-0.

"It was great," said Goddard, who removed his shoes before taking the plunge. "It wasn't even 10 seconds after the game had ended when the kids were already yelling: 'Coach is going swimming, Coach is going swimming.'"

"It was a big win for us and it definitely felt good because we've taken our lumps there in the past. We had about 100 people follow us out to the Bay. It wasn't bad. I'd go swimming every week if it meant a win."

The Aggies played stingy defense and error-free football.

Both scores came as the result of turnovers. St. Francis (0-2) committed six on the night.

In the first quarter, defensive end John DiPonio caused a fumble and teammate Joe Boards, the other defensive end, scooped it up and ram-

football

bled in 12 yards for a touchdown. (Agatha added the two-point conversion when holder Ken Kroll hit Kevin Smith with a pass in the end zone.)

In the second quarter, defensive back Fred Schlick picked off a pass and ran 51 yards for a touchdown. (He missed the extra point.)

The defense then took over as Brian Kutch added a pair of interceptions and DiPonio recovered two more fumbles.

Spearheaded by the play of Krol, a senior linebacker, the Aggies held St. Francis to 160 yards in total offense.

"We felt we could beat them last year and we wound up getting thumped 46-12, but we said this time we've got to get up early and then see how they would react," Goddard said. "We did just that."

Goddard may have to go swimming again this week.

His Aggies (1-1) travel Friday (4 p.m. start) to Grosse Pointe University-Liggett.

"Lake St. Clair?" quizzed the reporter.

"There are a lot of carp in there," Goddard said, "but I'd guess I'd do it every time if it meant a win for us."

REDFORD CC 7, LANSING EASTERN 0: State-ranked Redford Catholic Central (2-0) beat the elements (thundershowers) and the Quakers (0-2) in a non-leaguer Saturday at Livonia Clarenceville High.

The Shamrocks were outgained in total yardage, 190-45, but scored the game's only touchdown with 38 seconds left to play in the first quarter when junior quarterback Jason Carr hit Leo Kowalyk with a 5-yard pass. (Kerry Zavagnin kicked the extra point.)

CC's defense, meanwhile, got a boost from Mike Mathis, who thwarted an Eastern drive when he picked off a pass at the goal line and returned it 20 yards in the second period.

Defensive end Tim Jackson was the Shamrocks' top tackler with one sack, four solos and five assists. Linebacker Richard Walsh was in on nine tackles, recording a sack, three assists and five solos.

Dave Owens, CC's leading ball carrier with 124 yards in a season-opening 31-0 win over Detroit Osborn, was held in check. The senior tailback had 49 yards in 16 carries, but had a 30-yard TD run wiped out in the fourth quarter because of a holding call. (Junior fullback Jon Barbara led CC with 54 yards in 13 carries.)

CC had 102 yards rushing and only 38 passing (Carr was three of 11). Eastern quarterback Tom Boyd had 75 yards passing, hitting five of 16.

CC travels Friday to take on nemesis Ann Arbor Pioneer in a battle of top 10 teams.

PECK 6, LUTHERAN WESTLAND 0: On Saturday, the host Pirates slipped by the Warriors as Mike Carson tallied the game-winning touchdown on a 2-yard run in the second quarter.

Both teams are 1-1 on the season. David Gielow rushed for 69 yards in 15 carries in a losing cause. Jason Zielinski added 46 yards in 10 attempts.

Mike Hardies and Matt Grams each intercepted passes for the Warriors. (Hardies also blocked an extra point.)

The Warriors had trouble going airborne, completing just two of 13 passes. Quarterback Steve Aumann was intercepted three times.

"It was a big win for us, and it definitely felt good because we've taken our lumps there in the past."

EAGLE SWIMMERS 2-0

Redford Thurston won 10 of 11 events Tuesday en route to a 110-55 girls swim victory at Garden City.

Garden City's only first was recorded by diver Tawnia Korhoen (130 points).

Thurston's Diane Tuccini won both the 100- and 200-yard freestyles with times of 1:07 and 2:32.3, respectively. She also was a member of the victorious 400 freestyle relay (5:01.2), which also included Julie Majestic, Jessica Sanford and Cherise Gable.

Sisters Jackie and Jeanie Gregory each captured two titles for the Eagles. Jackie won the 200 individual medley (2:42.9) and 100 breaststroke (1:24.2).

Jeanie took the 50 and 500 freestyles with times of 29.3 and 6:28.0, respectively. The Gregory sisters also teamed up with Jenny Miller and Janice Moffett for a first in the 200 medley relay (2:11.6).

Other individual winners for Thurston included Moffett in the 100 butterfly (1:17.8) and Miller in the 100 backstroke (1:11.4).

Last week Thurston beat RU, 99-68.

Thurston is 2-0, while GC slipped to 0-2.

FAMILY SOCCER DAY

The Livonia Y Premier Soccer Club, affiliated with the Little Caesars Premier League, will feature its top-rated teams, the Wolves (boys) and the Hawks (girls) during its third annual Family Day on Saturday, Sept. 16, at Bicentennial Park.

Concession sales will benefit Premier Club players.

The public is invited to watch teams display their skills in match play, including the under-19 Hawks, girls national champions.

Featured at Bicentennial Park (field No. 9) will be: under-14 Wolves (Division I), 10 a.m.; under-12 Hawks, noon; under-14 Wolves (Division II), 2 p.m.; and under-13 Wolves, 4 p.m.

Scheduled to play at Bicentennial Park (field No. 7) will be: under-16 Hawks, 10 a.m.; under-19 Cosmos (Division I), noon; under-19 Hawks (Division I), 2 p.m.; and under-19 Hawks (Division II), 4 p.m.

For more information, call Kathy Coyne, registrar, at 427-3336.

Goalie Frank Corrieri earned the shutout.

Other members of the Vardar '76 squad, coached by former Yugoslavian national team player Vince Dusevic and assisted by Gary Howard, include: David Beardsley, Brian Collier, Nick Downarowicz, Chris Grodzicki, Jason Howard, Ryan Molien, Craig Provenzano, David Vig, Jim Weber and Randy Woodward. The team is managed by Gregory Wright.

FOX CREEK ACE

Mike Conflitti of Conway scored a hole-in-one last week on the 130-yard, No. 17 at Fox Creek Golf Course in Livonia. Conflitti, who shot 102 for 18 holes, scored his first ace using a 5-wood.

NACE FACES OFF

Three-time defending North American Junior Hockey League champion Compuware, featuring standout goal-scorer Eric Lindros, will take on NACE in an exhibition season finale, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Redford Arena.

"This is a rare opportunity to see a Mario Lemieux or Wayne Gretzky-type player in the early stages of his career," said NACE general manager Rudy Ciofellelli. "Lindros brings credibility to the NAJHL."

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students and senior citizens. Children under 6 will be admitted free. (NACE will open its regular season Saturday, Sept. 23, against Chicago at the Redford Arena in the first of a two-game weekend series.)

NACE coach Kyle Krug has trimmed his roster to 23 players with four players being assigned to the team's Junior B affiliate. He recently signed free agent left winger Jim Aldridge, who has returned home after a stint at Miami of Ohio University.

Marc Chiappelli, a returning center, has been named assistant captain.

CUP CHAMPS FALL

The Vardar '76 boys soccer team opened its Little Caesars Premier Division fall season with a 1-0 victory over Sport Club 24, the reigning Michigan state cup champions, in a match played Sunday at Whitman Field in Livonia.

Michael Tomas tallied the game-winning point on a penalty shot late in the first half.

Registration is on for the Plymouth Masters (over 40) Hockey League (full-time and substitute players).

League play will be held September through March at the Plymouth Cultural Center and Inkster Ice Arena.

For more information, call John Wilson at 471-0658.

Eagles 5th in Best Ball

Seniors Scott Delano and Rich Sherwood combined for a best-ball score of 73, leading Redford Thurston to a tie for fifth place Tuesday in the 19th annual John F. Sandman Best-Ball tournament at par-68 Brae Burn Golf Course.

Plymouth Canton won the 23-team boys tournament with a score of 138. Others in the top five: Ann Arbor Pioneer (142), Walled Lake Western (145), Plymouth Salem (146), Trenton (148) and Thurston (148).

Each of the schools in the tournament entered a pair of two-man squads, with the total of both pairings representing the team's final score.

The other Eagle grouping included sophomores Adam Stern and John Walsh, who combined to shoot a 75.

Thurston coach Emil Majeski was happy with his team's performance.

"I felt pretty pleased because they were mostly Class A teams and we're Class B, and we ended up fifth."

In a dual meet match played last week, the Eagles defeated Dearborn-Edsel Ford, 208-221, at Riverview Highlands.

Other top scores were carded by Stern (41), Ron Barry (43), Walsh (43) and Sherwood (43).

Ann Arbor Pioneer led the 18 teams at the meet, totalling 316 strokes. Jackson Lumen Christi (323) finished second, followed by Adrian (325) and CC (335).

CC, the ninth-ranked Class A team in the recent Michigan High School Golf Coaches Association poll, was led by Jeff Brown's 79. Brown's score placed him tied for seventh place in the individual standings.

Mike Brady (82), Scott Krueger (86), and Joe Sullivan (88) were the other top Shamrock finishers.

LIVONIA STEVENSON stayed unbeaten Friday with a narrow 209-210 victory over Redford Union at Glenhurst Golf Course.

Brian Ransom (42), Paul Anderson (42), Joe Atwell (43) and Dan Lavole (44) were the other top finishers for the Spartans.

The Panthers' Lee Fegert also shot a 38 to share medallist honors.

Jim Edwards (43), Joe O'Dell (43) and Clint Berryman (45).

REDFORD UNION bounced back impressively from the narrow defeat, topping Dearborn 217-236, in a Northwest Suburban League encounter Monday at Dearborn Country Club.

Fegert and Sennett, tied for medallist honors, each shooting 41s.

Edwards (44), O'Dell (44) and Berryman (45) also contributed to the victory in a major way.

The victory improved the defending NSL champion Panthers' dual-meet record to 1-1.

RU coach Ken Vollick has high hopes for this year's club.

"We have a pretty balanced team this year," he said. "We have a good shot at winning it (the NSL championship) again."

REDFORD BISHOP BORGESS remained winless for the season on Monday, dropping a match to Bishop Gallagher 183-197 at Chandler Park Golf Course.

The top four Borgess scores were carded by Artie Brown (44), Ed Danzy (49), Brian Triplett (50) and Terence Robinson (54).

Borgess coach Don Mullett was pleased with his team's effort.

"It was by far our best match of the season," he said. "It is the first time we have broken 200 all season, so we're making progress."

Borgess dropped to 0-3 for the season with the defeat.

Mark Payment of Redford Union keeps the ball ahead of Southfield's Jeremy Paplor during Monday's non-league tussle. RU won the game, 3-1.

Favorable verdicts

Churchill, RU, CC all stay undefeated

Brady Ericson rifled in a shot from 20 yards out on an assist from John Gentile to give unbeaten and state-ranked Livonia Churchill a 1-0 victory Monday at Plymouth Canton.

Churchill is 4-0 overall, while Canton slipped to 3-2-1.

The game-winning goal came only 10 minutes into the match.

"They caught us napping," said Canton coach Don Smith. "That kick came with our backs turned. They slipped down past us when we weren't ready. They jumped on a mistake, which was good on their part."

"But it was a pretty good game. It went back-and-forth quite a bit."

Goalie Jeff Cassar, who turned away 13 Canton shots, posted the shutout for Churchill, now 2-0 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association. (Canton goalie Andy Collins made 18 saves.)

The Chargers overcame the loss of two injured starters, Phil Todino (knee) and Tim Riley (stress fracture).

"The field was virtually unplayable, just ridiculous," said Churchill coach John Neff. "It was a mud bowl, literally ankle deep. It sure distracted us from the game."

REDFORD CC 6, GALLAGHER 0: Kerry Zavgain and Bill Tarnacki each scored twice as state-ranked Redford Catholic Central (5-0) won its Central Division match Tuesday at Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher.

Zavgain also collected a pair of assists. Jim Bernthal added one goal and two assists, while Dominic Sceluna contributed one goal and one assist.

On Saturday, CC won at Toledo (Ohio) St. John, 4-1, as Bernthal and Zavgain each recorded a goal and an assist.

Joe Nora collected two assists, while Mickey Hynes and Dana Orsucci each notched their first goals of the season.

SOCCER

On Monday, the Panthers captured their second straight win without a loss, dumping the visiting Blue Jays in a game played at Pearson Junior High.

RU jumped out to a 3-0 halftime lead and coasted home.

Two of the Panthers' three goals came on penalty kicks.

Steve Nowak scored at 9:30 and captain Gary Luyben added another at 39:00. Mark Payment tallied RU's other goal on a scramble in front of the net at 11:30.

Southfield's Kob Yan broke senior goalie Derek Shuk's shutout bid with a goal with 10 minutes to play.

But the victory meant more than the shutout to coach Al Burnham.

"I thought we played well, but we had a bit of a letdown at the beginning of the second half," said the RU coach. "Then we kind of regrouped and became more aggressive and started going to the ball."

Burnham also praised the defensive efforts of senior captain Todd Hughes and sophomore Chris Roesler.

NOVI 3, GARDEN CITY 0: Dan Sitts broke a scoreless halftime deadlock, scoring twice in the second half to lead the host Wildcats to a non-league win over the Cougars (0-1-1).

GC goalie Greg Dahn held Novi pretty much in check.

It was a 1-0 game until 10 minutes to play when Sitts and Jeff Grabowski broke the game open with goals.

SALEM 7, FRANKLIN 0: State-ranked Plymouth Salem (5-0) got a pair of goals from Chris Olson and Greg Christensen to beat host Livonia Franklin (1-2) in a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover.

It was goalie Matt Tudor's fourth shutout in five games.

Billy Joker added a pair of assists.

Southfield goalie Steve Shoemaker snares the ball ahead of Jason Gadsby (No. 5) of Redford Union.

Canton to defend WLAA Relays crown

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Hooker Wellman, coach of the Plymouth Canton girls swim team, became a father for the second time late Monday night.

Sean Marcus Wellman was born at 11:19 p.m., and his arrival could mean good news for more than just the Wellman family.

"Whenever we have a baby around here, something good seems to happen," said Hooker Wellman, referring to Saturday's Western Lakes Activities Association Relays in which the Chiefs are the defending champs.

Plymouth Salem will serve as host of the meet, which begins with diving at 11 a.m. and follows with the swimming portion at 1:30 p.m.

"The last time (when Charlie Wellman was born) Andy Fowler won the state (title in diving)," Wellman said. "Maybe it's an omen. Maybe something good will happen on Saturday."

CANTON HAS the talent to repeat, but a number of other schools, including North Farmington, Livonia Stevenson and Churchill, Plymouth Salem and Northville are strong possibilities, too.

"We definitely have a shot at it, but the league has changed considerably," Wellman said. "North Farmington has a lot of people back, Northville won the conference meet by over 100 points and Churchill and Salem are real strong."

year, coaches had only to name the events they will participate in and give seed times.

Wellman hasn't seen any of that information, but he said Bill Faunce, the meet director, told him the Chiefs will have to swim faster than last year if they hope to win again.

Canton's only competition thus far was a scrimmage meet with Novi, so the Chiefs have no time to waste getting their feet wet.

"I think we've got a balanced lineup and as strong as we can put together," Wellman said, "but it depends where other teams put their kids.

"WE HAVE A good 400 medley, but if North Farmington, Churchill, Northville and Salem decide they want to go for it, too, we could end up fourth or fifth."

North coach Pat Duthie, whose Raiders won the meet two years ago, agrees with Wellman's assessment of the unpredictability of such a meet.

"A couple of teams could load up in one event, and you could have a couple of pretty good swimmers finishing down the road in that event," he said.

"We like to approach it like a fun situation. We don't attach an awful lot of importance to the meet, but we're certainly going to try and do the best we can."

Duthie had not made out his final lineup at midweek, but he was probably no different from the other 11 coaches.

"I have no idea where we'll put our kids or how we'll do," he said. "A number of our kids are pretty versatile, so it's hard to make up your mind. We have the same problem everybody else does."

Burgess an impact player

By C.J. Rieck
staff writer

It didn't make any sense. Wayne State was attacking a team with one of the worst pass defenses around in 1988; opponents averaged nearly 200 aerial yards a game against Saginaw Valley State's porous defenders last season.

And the Tartars' battle plans were formulated around the suddenly popular run-and-shoot offense, a scheme that replaces the tight end and fullback with two additional wide receivers. The passing formation is supposed to result in a wide-open, high-scoring affair.

It's true that what happened last year hardly matters this year. But consider that two of the Cardinals' four defensive backfield starters against WSU had never started previously.

Add it all together, and it would seem to spell trouble — BIG trouble — for SVSU.

SO WHAT happened?

The Tartars' veteran quarterback, Mike Grennier, was a paltry seven-of-18 passing for 54 yards. WSU had just eight completions in 19 attempts for 63 yards in the game.

Which explains why SVSU won easily, 24-6, Saturday.

Experience, it seems, isn't everything. Chad Burgess is a perfect example. A Farmington Harrison graduate, Burgess has been in college about two weeks. In an era when most football players are redshirted as freshmen and don't step onto the playing field until their third year in school, Burgess is starting at free safety in his first season at SVSU.

"I didn't expect to start at first," he said after a game in which his open-field tackling was as impressive as his pass defense (he made six tackles, one for a loss).

"EVERYTHING IS going pretty well, but they're a lot faster (in college) than they were in high school."

A year ago, Burgess was lighting up defenders as a pass receiver for Harrison's Class B state champions. He teamed with Bryan Wauldron to give the Hawks a superb offensive-defensive combination; both were receivers and defensive backs (Wauldron is now a wide receiver at Eastern Michigan).

Burgess has no illusions about his status. He realizes, opposing quarterbacks are going to test a freshman.

"I know they're going to come at me," he said. "But the team's there, and that helps. I'm already starting to feel more comfortable. "I guess I'm going to have to work a lot harder, though."

FOR ONE of his defensive backfield mates, the struggle to reach the starting lineup has been longer but no less impressive. Brian Tiller, a third-year sophomore, earned his starting spot at the short-side cornerback by beating out senior Larry Washington — a second-team all-Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference selection in '88.

Tiller had to learn to play defense. At Plymouth Salem, he was a tailback and quarterback.

"They converted me to defense when I came up here," he said. He worked his way into a part-time starter's role last season, but entering the '89 campaign nothing was assured for him.

"I didn't have (a starting position) coming into camp," Tiller said. "I just took it day by day."

He also knows there's no guarantee he will keep his spot. "I'm just going to have to keep working hard."

THEIR HARD work apparently paid off against WSU. The run-and-shoot offense is supposed to confuse defenders, who aren't used to seeing four fleet wide receivers zipping across the field. Also, the Tartars tried to keep their adoption of the run-and-shoot a secret, to surprise SVSU.

The last play didn't work. "We heard about it through the grapevine," said Tiller. Burgess added, "We worked on it during camp."

Still, last season the SVSU pass defenders were well-briefed on opposing offenses, and they were still victimized for 197 yards a game. This year, the pressure is on the Cardinal defense. The offense is solid with the backfield tandem of Kevin Mitchell and Rob Cook, both of whom gained more than 1,000 yards rushing in '88, returning.

But the defense must improve after surrendering an average of 340 yards and 28 points a game last season, a major reason the Cardinals finished 4-5.

"We knew coming into the season we were going to have to work as a unit," said Tiller. How well that unit meshes the rest of the season could make a difference in the GLIAC race.

Stumped again

Prognosticators try to make amends

By Dan O'Meara
and Brad Emons
staff writers

You win some, and you lose some. As for the Observer prognosticating duo of Emons and O'Meara, there was a little too much of the latter a week ago.

Not only were many of last Friday's games delayed and/or postponed until Saturday because of severe thunderstorms, but the fearless forecasters also took a bath with some erroneous predictions.

O'Meara was 8-5 last week and Emons 7-6. Both were wrong on the Taylor Center-Thurston, Borgess-Redford Union, Wyandotte-Wayrie, Clarenceville-Lutheran East and St. Agatha-Traverse City St. Francis games.

After two weeks of making predictions, the lone separator has been the Lutheran Westland-Peek game, because it's the only game the two have disagreed on. O'Meara is 20-7 overall, Emons 19-8.

Oh, well, enough about last week's disasters and poor percentages. It's upward and onward. There's some redeeming to be done.

The prep seers are eager to turn those blues into yellow rays of sunshine. They are heartened by the prospects of removing crow from a sports writer's diet.

In a pair of games pitting unbeaten teams, Redford Catholic Central plays at Ann Arbor Pioneer on Friday night and Westland John Glenn visits North Farmington on Saturday afternoon.

So let's give it another try. The envelope, please:

FRIDAY'S GAMES

(All games 7:30 p.m. unless noted)

Farmington at Ply. Salem: The visiting Falcons are 0-2 while the unbeaten Rocks (2-0) are off to a rolling start and building up steam. Can Farmington handle Ryan Johnson and the wishbone offense? Pick: Salem's momentum has a steamroller effect on Farmington.

W.L. Central at Liv. Stevenson: Central (1-1) was manhandled last week by Farmington Hills Harrison, the No. 1-rated team in Class B, and coach Gary Tuz is right when he says the Vikings won't face many better the rest of the year. Stevenson has had two close games but is 0-2 nonetheless. Pick: Central rebounds from that 56-0 shellacking. Emons believes Stevenson will win this one.

grid predictions

W.L. Western at Northville: One team comes away a winner for the first time. Both are 0-2 but have faced four opponents in each of their first two games. The Warriors played a pair of 1988 playoff teams in Novi and Westland John Glenn, and the Mustangs played South Lyon and Plymouth Salem. Pick: We have to pick a winner, so the edge goes to Northville.

Harper Woods at Clarenceville: Clarenceville has always been trouble for O'Meara, who picks the Trojans to lose when they win and vice versa. But he thinks he has things figured out this week. First-year coach Vic Balaj's team is 2-0, Harper Woods 0-2. Pick: The Trojans take a third victory.

Garden City at Ypsilanti Lincoln: The Raisplitters have been a hard-luck team in the early going, losing twice in overtime to Willow Run and Tecumseh. Garden City also is 0-2 but has been outscored 70-7. Pick: Abe Lincoln would be proud of the 'Splitters' ability to persevere setbacks.

Redford Union at Dearborn, 4 p.m.: Both teams (1-1) have been up and down, and that makes this Northwest Suburban League opener a hard game to predict. RU beat Stevenson and lost to Bishop Borgess. Dearborn lost to Thurston and beat Allen Park Cabrini. Pick: Toss a coin and take the host Pioneers. Emons is sticking with RU.

Red. Thurston at Annapolis, 4 p.m.: The euphoria surrounding Thurston's opening win turned sour last week when the Eagles lost to Taylor Center, but Annapolis is 0-2. If Jesse Walker has a good day, Thurston should do OK. Pick: It's another potential coin-tosser, but give the edge to the Eagles.

Wayne Memorial at Monroe: Monroe has been beaten handsily twice, and the 39-0 loss to Fordson indicates the Trojans aren't nearly the team they were last year when they went to the Class A playoffs, Wayne, however, was slung by Wyandotte in one of those games the supposedly omniscient Observer men failed to call correctly. Pick: Wayne wiggles its way into the win column.

Redford CC at A.A. Pioneer: The Shamrocks rallied from an 18-0 halftime deficit last year to beat the defending Class A champs 22-18. That win avenged a 3-0 loss to the Pioneers in the 1987 state final. This should be another classic in what has become an annual rivalry. CC edged Lansing Eastern 7-0 last Saturday to go 2-0, while Pioneer has beaten East Lansing and Pontiac Northern. Pick: This time it's Pioneer's turn to win. Emons says CC can do it.

Red. St. Agatha at Univ. Liggett, 4 p.m.: Liggett boasts a 2-0 record while the Aggies are 1-1, but that doesn't mean anything in this game. The Knights beat Kinde North Huron and Harper Woods, but St. Agatha has played a pair of traditional Class C powers, losing to the likes of Country Day and beating Traverse City St. Francis. Pick: The Aggies harvest another victory.

Lutheran Westland at Tekonsha: Where is Tekonsha, you ask? Well, we checked, and it's in the south-central part of the state between Albion and Battle Creek. The Indians (1-1) are coming off a 20-8 loss to Attendale, but Attendale, as well as first-game opponent Wyoming Lee, is a formidable foe. Lutheran Westland (1-1) must also contend with a lengthy bus ride. Pick: Tekonsha, scores a TKO.

SATURDAY'S GAMES

(all games at 1 p.m. unless noted)

Liv. Churchill at Farm. Harrison: The Chargers are still a decent 0-2 team, losing to powerful Sterling Heights and, in the mud, to North Farmington. But, there's no comparison with Harrison. If Mill Coleman doesn't get you, Steve Hill, Joe George, Roy Granger, Matt Conley, Mike Saputo, Jon Schaeffer, etc. will. Pick: Maybe Churchill's season will parallel WWII when 'Ol' Winnie led the British to eventual victory, but that means the Chargers must undergo the blitz this week.

Westland John Glenn at N. Farmington: Glenn has held the upper hand in this Lakes Division rivalry, winning key games in 1987 and '88 that helped put the Rockets in the WLA final. After a shaky start, Glenn rolled last week. In a close game, North kicker Mike Cowen could be the difference. Pick: The Rockets stay on track for a possible rematch with Harrison for the league title.

Ply. Canton at Liv. Franklin: A victory in the Western Division opener would give Canton (2-0) its finest start in school history. On a dry field, the Chiefs have the skill players to make things happen, but Franklin (1-1) has some mean linemen who might decide differently. Pick: Canton rates the edge.

Divine Child at Red. Bishop Borgess, 7:30 p.m. at Garden City Junior High: Divine Child (1-1) was blanked 22-0 by DePorres while the Spartans (1-1) are coming off a victory over Redford Union. There's no doubt DC, a 7-0 winner over a highly rated Bishop Gallagher team in the opener, has faced the tougher competition. Pick: The Falcons are no fly-by-night operation.

Michele Tyree (No. 54) of Garden City snares a rebound away from Dearborn Fordson's Maggie Parada during the Cougars' 38-37 upset victory.

Tough defense

Garden City stalls Tractors in surprise

Garden City made a stirring comeback in the final quarter Tuesday to pull out a 38-37 girls basketball upset against visiting Dearborn Fordson.

Doreen Malone, a senior forward making her first start, scored seven of her eight points during a 17-8 surge in the decisive final eight minutes of play.

Malone's basket and Michele Tyree's two free throws down the stretch sealed the victory for the Cougars, now 2-2 overall.

"All the pieces of the puzzle came together," said an elated Garden City coach Marshall Henry. "This is one of our biggest wins ever. This is the way we like to play defense."

Malone, subbing for the injured Tracy Thompson (foot), also had eight steals.

"Doreen was all over the floor, anticipating passes," Henry said. "She was just unconscious. I never saw her play like that."

Senior guard-forward Lynn Gowen led the victors with 13 points, hitting seven of 13 free throws. She took over the point-guard spot when junior Carolyn Shanks (nine points and three steals) went down with a minor injury.

GC also got a boost defensively from senior Cindy White, who came off the bench to help limit the Tractors to 37 points.

Junior forward Wanda Baydoun scored 12 for Fordson, which slipped to 2-1 overall.

WAYNE 42, YPSILANTI 39: On Tuesday, Wayne Memorial evened its record at 2-2 by cooling off the Braves' red-hot guard Betsy Brown, who came in averaging 46 points per game.

Brown, who notched 41 in her last outing against Westland John Glenn and 51 in her season debut, was held to just 20 points as the Zebras won for the second straight time.

Wayne rallied in the final period, outscoring Ypsi 11-4.

"It was a real big win because they (Ypsi) are a talented team," said Wayne first-year coach Jack Furlong. "We were conscious as to where she (Brown) was on the floor at all times."

Senior center Dorris Bathwell led Wayne and all girls basketball scorers with 23 points, while senior guard Maya Lewis contributed 11.

"Maya did a good job of running the point," Furlong said. "She set a nice pace, a good tempo."

In Saturday's consolation final of the Taylor Center Tournament, Wayne leveled Romulus, 45-30, as Bathwell poured in 17 points and Lewis added 15.

Sue Molena tallied 11 in a losing cause. Taylor Center beat Grosse Ile, 57-51, in the championship final.

STEVENSON 43, CHURCHILL 41: Center Teresa Sarno netted 18 points, including the game-winning basket on a six-foot jumper with three seconds to go Tuesday, giving Livonia Stevenson (3-0) a hard-fought win over upset-minded Livonia Churchill (0-3).

Sarno also grabbed 14 rebounds, while teammate Jessann Martin contributed 12 points and 20 rebounds. Jenny Audet added nine points.

Freshman guard Chrissy Daly continued to impress, scoring a game-high 24 points, including 14 in the final period as Churchill outscored the Spartans, 18-8. (Daly hit a pair of three-pointers during the surge.)

With 14 seconds left to play, Daly made a pair of free throws to knot the count at 41-all.

"We called three straight timeouts, but we couldn't ice her (Daly)," said Stevenson coach Chuck Hebesreit. Fran Priebe also played well in defeat, scoring 10 points.

"She (Priebe) played a heck of a defensive game," said Churchill coach Don Albertson. "She guarded Audet, but her 10 points was a bonus."

"And offensively, Daly is doing a pretty good job for us."

SOUTH LYON 51, JOHN GLENN 42: Westland John Glenn (1-3) lost for the third straight time Tuesday in a non-leaguer to the host Lions.

Jenny Shanks and Carol Pietila each netted 14 points for the winners.

Shuwarren Lee and Jenny Massey each tallied 13 for the Rockets, who were outscored 18-9 in the decisive third quarter. (Lee also grabbed 12 rebounds.)

"We're young and were up against some teams who are playing tough defense on us," said Glenn coach Pat Bennett. "We're getting frustrated."

BORGESS 35, REDFORD UNION 33: Senior forward Tanya Tounsel scored 18 points and added nine rebounds Tuesday, giving Redford Bishop Borgess a two-point victory at RU.

Both teams are 1-2 overall. Chinetta Austin, who had only four points, tallied the go-ahead basket (34-33) with 20 seconds to play. Austin also had four steals, while teammate Sandy Crenshaw contributed six assists.

Three players netted eight points apiece for the Panthers — Danielle Sorel, Ann Kolar and Shannod Morris. Sorel also had eight assists, while Kolar snared nine rebounds.

RU coach Terri Anthony was not happy with what happened in the final four seconds when Tounsel led the game with a free throw.

Anthony contended the call, which sent Tounsel to the line, should have been a jump ball (giving RU possession) or a rebounding foul against Borgess.

"But the game was not decided in the final four seconds," Anthony said. "We played horrid, it should not have come down to that."

WILLOW RUN 66, CLARENCEVILLE 24: Junior forward Danielle Rose scored 15 points and grabbed 12 rebounds, but it wasn't enough Tuesday as host Livonia Clarenceville (1-3) was blitzed by the visiting Flyers (1-2).

Willow Run led 24-10 after one quarter, 34-17 at the half and 44-17 after three quarters before coasting home.

Kellie Castle of the Flyers paced all scorers with 20. Rhonda Saunders added six for the Trojans.

NOVI CHRISTIAN 34, GC UNITED 21: Garden City United Christian lost its season opener Tuesday to visiting Novi Christian (1-0).

Elaine Lefevre, a freshman forward, scored all 12 of her points in the second half, but it was too late as GC United couldn't overcome a 10-0 first-quarter deficit.

SC shows national champion form

After a shaky start, Schoolcraft College's volleyball team returned to a familiar role — as champions.

The Lady Ocelots lost their first two matches at the Michigan Tech Tournament last weekend, but rallied to win their next two and capture the tournament title. Their 12-15, 15-7, 12-15, 15-6, 15-12 defeat of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in the final clinched the title.

"The key to our success, being we were outsize, was our fast defense and consistent play," said SC coach Tom Teeters.

Sisters Alicia and Angelle Love and JoAnn Kolnity sparked the defense; Angelle Love also had 21 kills and Kolnity collected 16. Elena Oparka added nine more. Christy Clark had four aces in 15 serves, without an error.

volleyball

SC ADVANCED to the final after defeating Indiana-Purdue at Fort Wayne 15-11, 15-4. Angelle Love's 12 kills paced the attack; Oparka had 11. Kolnity contributed two solo blocks, four block assists and three digs, while Alicia Love had seven service aces. Setter Jenny Sproul had 24 assists-to-kills without an error and three block assists.

Teeters was tinkering with his lineup in the first two matches, one reason the Lady Ocelots lost 15-4, 4-15, 15-13, 7-15, 15-9 to Wisconsin-Milwaukee and 3-15, 3-15, 15-13, 15-9 to Michigan Tech.

Sproul is both a newcomer to the lineup at setter, replacing Chris Paciono, and a newcomer to the position. At Livonia Churchill, Sproul was an outside hitter.

Against Wisconsin-Milwaukee in the final, Teeters said Sproul "had an excellent-match setting. We're turning her into a setter, and the experience she had at Churchill has helped her tremendously. She's handling it very well."

There was one sour note: The Lady Ocelots lost Anjanette Lankford with an injured ankle on the first day of the tournament. Lankford will be out approximately two weeks.

SC plays in the Lake Michigan College Tournament this weekend.

OU kickers win tourney

When the season started, Oakland University soccer coach Gary Parsons voiced concern over the number of newcomers he would have to insert into the starting lineup, particularly on defense.

Those rookies were expected to face a major test at last weekend's Lock Haven (Pa.) University Invitational. But they didn't. Or at least it wasn't much of a test.

The Pioneers steamrolled to a pair of weekend wins, flattening Keene State (N.H.) College 4-0 Saturday, then crushing host-team Lock Haven 4-1 Sunday. The victories ran OU's record to 4-0; the Pioneers have outscored their opponents by a 17-4 margin.

Midfielder Simon Mayo was named the tournament's most valuable player. He scored a goal and had one assist, and was dominating in the midfield.

IN SUNDAY'S victory, forward Paul Phillips opened the scoring early with a goal 3:22 into the match. Alan Stewart, who collected two goals and two assists over the weekend, and Erik Enyedy (from Southfield) assisted.

Forward Earl Parris made it 2-0 at the 18:21 mark, converting a pass from Enyedy, but Lock Haven struck back with a goal by Lance DiFabio at 21:02. The Pioneers regained their two-goal advantage at 35:09. John Brennan punching the ball into the net after a scramble in front. Stewart and Derek Willford (Livonia Stevenson) earned assists.

Mayo capped the scoring with a goal at 41:13; Dan Weinert (Rochester Adams) and Enyedy assisted. It was Enyedy's third assist of the match, and fourth of the weekend.

In the shutout against Keene State, Phillips and Stewart each had first-half goals. Stewart and Enyedy assisted on Phillips' goal, while Mayo got the assist on Stewart's. Stewart converted a pass from Parris in the second half to make it 3-0, and Parris finished the scoring, with Lang and Brian Drury assisting.

Ralph Torre started in goal in both games; Vince Aliberti played the last 26 minutes against Keene State. OU outshot the Owls 20-4 and Lock Haven 17-4.

Shamrocks best at WB invite Mike Sheridan finished first overall Saturday to pace Redford Catholic Central to the West Bloomfield Invitational cross country crown.

The Shamrocks captured their division, topping 19 other schools with an even 100. Monroe took second with 118 followed by Traverse City (139), Warren DeLaSalle (147), Troy (156) and Brighton (162).

Sheridan, an All-Area pick a year ago, covered the 5,000-meter course in 16:48. Teammates Chris Antczak and Jay Schemanske gained seventh and ninth overall, recording times of 17:29 and 17:31, respectively.

CC's Dave McDonagh and Mike Krasko took 40th and 43rd, respectively, with times of 18:31 and 18:38.

In Monday's 15-50 Catholic League Central Division win-over Redford Bishop Borgess, the Shamrocks garnered the first nine places at Cass Benton Park.

Sheridan was first overall in 17:15 followed by Schemanske (17:44), Krasko (18:11), Jack Marsarello (18:20) and McDonagh (18:39).

Dan Dooley of Borgess took 10th in 19:32.

cross country

Keri MacKay (23:54), Stacy Hewitt added an 11th for the Patriots in 24:41.

Rounding out the top 10: Gail Grewe, Stevenson (23:54); Maia de la Merced, Churchill, 24:00; Lisa Christensen, Stevenson (24:18); Jeanne Godard, Stevenson, 24:35; and Shannon Wilkinson, Stevenson (24:41).

LIVONIA STEVENSON repeated as boys champions with 32 points followed by Franklin (43) and Churchill (55).

Scott Freeborn of Stevenson was first to cross the finish line in 17:18. Churchill's Scott Westover and Don Kulka finished second and third, respectively, in 17:36 and 18:24.

Rounding out the top 10: Eric Oszwandall, Stevenson (18:28); Paul White, Franklin (18:31); Eric Curnow, Franklin (18:42); Scott Goddell, Franklin (18:50); Rodney Westlake, Stevenson (18:56); George Bracken, Stevenson (19:04); and Keith Klasa, Stevenson (19:14).

LIVONIA CHURCHILL won its girls dual meet Tuesday against Walled Lake Central, 21-38. The Lady Chargers are 2-0.

Jennie Godsell and de la Merced finished one-two in 23:40 and 23:50, respectively. (Central's Shannon Capstick was third in 24:02.)

Other Churchill girls in the top 10 included Rachel LeBlanc, fifth, 24:38; Stacey Rokicsak, sixth, 24:45; Janice Kanclerz, ninth, 25:35; and Pam Campbell, 10th, 25:38.

The Churchill boys, meanwhile, suffered a 24-33 defeat as Mark Kwiatkowski led the Vikings with a first-place clocking of 17:24.

Chargers in the top 10 included: Westover, seventh, 18:00; Kulka, fifth, 19:05; Steve Townsend, sixth, 19:13; and Chad Gilles, eighth, 19:49.

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN, led by Matt Maybauer's first place time of 17:01, defeated Livonia Franklin, 20-35, in a dual meet Tuesday at Hines Park.

The Rockets (2-0) also got strong performances from: Jason Nowicki, third, 18:08; Carl Lowe, fourth, 18:30; Joe Rajewski, fifth, 17:42; and Ryan Wilson, seventh, 18:57.

The Patriots (0-1) were led by Curnow, who was second in 17:49. He was followed by White, sixth, 17:43; Dave Barinal, eighth, 19:14; Aaron Boylan, ninth, 19:38; and Luan Le, 10th, 19:58.

Franklin, now 4-0 overall, won the girls meet, 26-30, as Harrison (22:07) edged the Rockets' Yvonne Waddell (22:16).

Rounding out the top 10 for Franklin was MacKay, fourth, 22:34; Kelly Gustafson, fifth, 23:15; Hewitt, seventh, 23:54; Becky Latham, ninth, 24:44; and Nicole Canham, 10th, 24:47.

Other Glenn finishers included Dana Nowicki, third, 22:17; Darlene Rousseau, sixth, 23:33; Cathy Bachand, eighth, 23:88; and Jennifer Ciplewski, 11th, 25:44.

Spot sandbaggers in fall season start

NOW THAT MOST of the bowling leagues are in full swing and the good scores are coming in, the question of sandbagging also comes up at the start of the new season.

For the benefit of those not familiar with the term, sandbagging refers to bowlers intentionally keeping their scores down at the beginning of the season to begin with a lower average, thus gaining an advantage for a team in a handicapped league.

Fortunately, most bowlers are out to do their best all the time, for this is the right way to bowl in competition. It would be difficult and almost impossible to determine if someone is actually "laying down" because at the beginning of the season a lot of people are simply out of shape after the summer layoff. The point is you should always play your best. The scores and averages will even out over the season, and a game lost at the beginning of the season is as important as a win near the end.

Al Harrison
10-pin alley

Kruczk 236/650, Larty DeFelleo 235/631 and Jeff Lovelace 235/677. In the Starlights League, Linda Gossett shot a 203 game in a 564 series.

Merri Bowl on Five Mile in Livonia saw Fred Young register a 290 game in the Men's Senior House League, while Jim McPhail rolled a block of 224-234-277 for a 735 series. Mickey Przytulski came through with a 199-224-289 for a 712, and John Watkins rolled up a 717 series.

The Lost Week Enders is a Sunday morning men's trio league which had some nice openers, with Clarence Bishop Sr. rolling 649 series and Daryl Thibault a 636 set. In Y.A.B.A. action the 5- to 9-year-old Bantams saw John Bentlett at 69 pins over average (series), prep bowler Emily Mitchell 92 over, Junior/Majors member Kelly Mitchell 193 pins over average. Melissa Cairns was 93 pins over average and Shelley Ellerholz 192 over for the series with a 210 game.

In the Coca Cola Classic Majors, Chris Machnik led with a 217 game. Merri Bowl has some openings in the King Louie/Right Approach Scratch Trio League bowling Thursdays at 10 p.m. with any combination of men or women bowlers with 180 averages and up.

The first reported 300 game of the season took place at Westland Bowl by Steve Fletcher in the Sunday Sleepers League. Steve averaged 177 last year, and it looks like that average will escalate this season.

In the Sunday night King & Queen League, the husband and wife team of Tom and Colleen Johnston combined for a 794 and 697 dual series as Tom had a block of 279-267-248 and Colleen 234-219-244. Needless to say, they took all the Jackpots; I guess they never heard of sandbagging either.

There are openings at Westland Bowl in some short season fun leagues: the Just For Fun Sunday Nite League at 9:15 p.m. beginning Sept. 24 and a league at 8:30 p.m. on Monday nights with a combination of men and women bowlers. For details call Westland Bowl at 722-7570.

Schoolcraft Invitational Saturday

Some of the area's top cross country teams will converge Saturday on Schoolcraft College for the 24th running of the annual high school invitational meet for boys and girls.

The first race begins at 9 a.m. with Plymouth Canton gunning for its third consecutive girls championship under coach George Przygodski.

Returning as favorites for the girls individual crown will be Farmington's Jennifer Kiel, who finished second behind Walled Lake Central's Colleen Yuhn last year. Another challenge should come from Redford Union's Liza Mockeridge, who was fifth in 1988.

Farmington, which defeated Plymouth Canton in a tiebreaker last season, will be gunning for an unprecedented sixth straight boys crown.

Coach Jerry Young's team, however, will be getting a severe challenge from Plymouth Canton, led by Brian Beach, who was fifth a year ago. Walled Lake Central's Mark Kwiatkowski, second a year ago, will also challenge for the individual title vacated by All-American runner Brian Grosso of Walled Lake Western, who has gone on to the University of Arizona.

ROUNDING OUT the field of competing schools from Observerland will be Plymouth Salem, North Farmington, Farmington Harrison, Livonia Stevenson, Livonia Churchill, Livonia Franklin, Redford Thurston, Wayne Memorial, Garden City, Redford Bishop Borgess and Livonia Ladywood.

Northville, Novi and Trenton will also be in attendance.

The boys race is slated for approximately 10 a.m. with the JV boys and girls race following.

The 22 teams will then head for the auxiliary gym for an awards banquet at approximately 11:30 a.m.

A recent study of male letter carriers showed that their low cholesterol levels placed them at reduced risk for heart disease.

Walking can lower your cholesterol

Did you know that...

- Anorexia nervosa is an eating disorder that is characterized by constant dieting, rapid weight loss and the feeling of being too fat in spite of being markedly underweight. Most anorexics are girls or women who are literally starving themselves to death. Unfortunately, this was the case with singer Karen Carpenter, who died of anorexia nervosa in 1983.
- The need for sleep seems to decrease with age. Although an infant may sleep as much as 16 to 20 hours a day, the child's grandparents may need only 5 to 6 hours of sleep a night.

- A recent study of male letter carriers showed that their low cholesterol levels placed them at reduced risk for heart disease. These men, who averaged 25 miles of walking a week, also had extremely high HDL cholesterol levels, which are apparently protective against heart disease. The researchers speculated that their excellent blood fat profiles were a direct result of their long duration, low intensity exercise.
- On the other hand, regular vigorous exercise does not guarantee "immunity from heart disease." According to pooled autopsy studies of 72 conditioned middle-aged subjects who died suddenly during or immediately after exercise, coronary artery blockage was the cause of death in 69 of the individuals.

• The U.S. Department of Agriculture recently announced that an average large egg contains about 213 milligrams (mg) of cholesterol, not 274 mg, the accepted figure for many years. This means that the amount of cholesterol in one egg (the yolk contains all the cholesterol) is comfortably below the daily 300 mg limit recommended by the American Heart Association. But beware — many baked goods and prepared foods also contain egg yoiks.

- Continuous passive motion tables, originally developed as therapeutic devices for polio victims, are now appearing in many health clubs across the United States. Such machines move isolated muscle groups through their range of motions without requiring any effort by the user.

Biological clock helps nature cope

AS WE LOOK at our clocks to see what time darkness sets in, we notice that it is much earlier than just a few weeks ago.

In a few days the length of day and night will be equal. During the winter months, days reach their shortest point. We gradually return to days and nights of equal duration again in spring.

This seasonal change, coupled with the daily alternation of day and night resulting from the Earth rotating on its axis, has been occurring for eons. Because these phenomena are so dependable, many animals have come to rely on them to serve as clues for what is most likely to happen next.

BIRDS, FOR instance, are flocking in preparation for their migration south for the winter months. Large groups of starlings, blackbirds, and robins can be seen flying around neighborhoods. What makes them form flocks now and not form flocks several weeks ago?

One factor very influential in stimulating this change of behavior is the length of daylight or photoperiod. When the photoperiod begins to change during the summer months, it serves as a stimulus for animals like woodchucks to begin eating voraciously in order to put on enough fat to sustain them through winter.

Flying squirrels normally collect hickory nuts when they can at the rate of about 20 per night during the summer. When the photoperiod stimulates food storing behavior, flying squirrels can collect as many as 300 nuts per night. If a squirrel did not take advantage of this urge to cache food it might not survive. So through the years, those squirrels that did cache food survived.

Once the flocks of birds decide to move south on migration, they use the sun to help guide them in a southerly direction. At night, when many birds migrate, they use the north star and surrounding constellations as a guide. On cloudy days they can use the Earth's magnetic field.

Using the sun and stars requires the birds to compensate for their movement across the horizon. Birds and many animals have a biological clock that keeps running and tells them what time of the day it is so they can adjust their directional orientation accordingly. Even if placed in a laboratory under constant light conditions, they will maintain their regular daily activities.

The actual source of this biological clock is not known, but given a minimal stimulus it keeps on ticking, enabling animals to know when and how to prepare for life's events.

Artistic partners

By Kevin Lawrence

AS THE champagne and Perrier flowed, a financial planner, a lawyer, a doctor of radiology, a Ford executive, a former art gallery manager and retired U of M fund-raiser talked together. A typical cross section of people at an art gallery opening, you might think.

Unusual though, is that these same six area professionals — making up three husband/wife teams — also are business partners hosting the opening of their new contemporary art gallery on Main Street in downtown Plymouth — the Chameleon Gallery.

"And the funny thing is, we didn't even really know any of these folks two months ago," said Joe Hanish, a Farmington resident, and a financial planner with Merrill Lynch. "It came together fast and now we're like family."

Hanish and his wife, Pat, who recently retired as a fund-raiser for the University of Michigan, served as the catalyst for the project. "Pat and I originally were looking into buying a business here on Main Street. Plymouth just attracts all kinds of consumers throughout the year. And we wanted to aim at an opening for the Fall Festival, but we couldn't come to terms with the current owners. Then space became available here at 370 Main Street, absolutely an ideal location with plenty of space (1,800 square feet)."

"THROUGH A MUTUAL friend," said Pat Hanish, "we were introduced to Denni (Englehart) and her husband Jim. Denni used to manage a very successful art gallery in Australia, which was fantastic because we didn't want to manage a place full time."

And through Jim Englehart, a Ford executive, the Hanishes met another couple interested in investing in a new business venture, Walt and Karen Borda. Karen is a radiologist at Henry Ford Hospital and Walt is a lawyer in private practice.

Aside from traveling all over the Orient — China, Japan, Singapore, Hong Kong and Thailand, the Engleharts lived in Australia before resettling in Plymouth. While Jim worked with Ford Motor, Denni went into business, opening what turned out to be the very successful Artist Proof Galleries, in Melbourne. She brings to the Chameleon Galleries her expertise and commitment to contemporary art.

"What's nice is that we immediately fill a retail niche so far unaddressed here in downtown Plymouth," said Denni Englehart. "The country/colonial market is well taken care of. But in Plymouth alone, for example, there are new homes going up that are more contemporary in style. And those homes need furnishing. We're bringing in pieces from around the world and across the U.S."

"And as close to home as Ann Arbor, Flint and Saugatuck," added Denni's husband, Jim, who is executive director of truck operations and light truck product development for Ford Motor Company.

Stone cutter to sculptor—a fine line

By Corinne Abalt
staff writer

Francesco Acitelli of Detroit is frequently described as a stone cutter and carver. That's an extremely modest description for a outstanding sculptor who works in stone, metal and wood.

His work is on display at the Americ Centers building, 7 West Square Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills. It will be on display through Nov. 17.

The building, completed in March 1988, is an attractive setting for these 18 works of art. Several handsome outdoor pieces are in the ground level garden patio, opening off the lobby. Others are in the lobby and in two rooms, specially set aside, down the hall.

ACITELLI, SON of Italian immigrant parents, learned stonecutting from his father.

"I worked summers when I was a kid," he said. "I grew up with the tools."

But, this self-taught artist has taken his work far beyond that traditionally associated with skilled stonecutters, although he still does that on commission for residences and commercial buildings.

HE DOES functional and non-functional pieces, but he disagreed on the term non-functional.

"It all functions," he said, "it fills an emotional need."

Then, with a kind of half-smile, he said, "The making of art is about as arrogant a job as a person can have. You can't eat it, you can't make a garden with it, but, it fills a very deep need."

As he spoke of how he laminates marble, in particular the carefully cut and stepped, curved red marble base of a glass-topped table, he said, "One of the things I try to do in designing is to design stuff no one else can do."

The red marble spiral base is hollow, he said, otherwise it would be too heavy to deal with. As it is, it weighs approximately 85 pounds.

HIS PARTICULAR satisfaction or challenge, he said, "is to defy the limits of the materials." He can make marble look as light and pliable as putty. He can stretch and pull metal so it has the same almost weightless look (until lifted).

Many of the handsome marble pedestal pieces in the exhibit arise from his interest in the helix form that he sees in nature. Two examples he cited were chromosomes and the inside of a conch shell.

"Sometimes the simplest things in nature are the most beautiful."

ONE THAT looks different from the mobius and helix forms in the same room is "Equal Volumes." Acitelli referred to it as "a little intellectual exercise." It is a pedestal piece in black marble with a tilted tetrahedron (a solid figure with four triangular faces) beside a sphere.

"It is the juxtaposition of the two that makes it interesting," he said. "The sphere has the least surface for the mass; the tetrahedron has the most, yet they weigh the same."

Acitelli is a master craftsman, but he is also a philosopher, a keen observer of nature and people and a fine artist. He was selected by the Smithsonian Institution of Washington, D.C., to demonstrate the art of stone carving at the Festival of Michigan Folk Life in East Lansing this August.

His furniture pieces have been shown at Bill Born Ltd., Michigan Design Center of Troy. His sculpture is in galleries in Florida and Chicago. He is represented locally by Agnes Derbin.

AmericCenters is open during regular business hours.

'Meet the artist' series lends a hand

By Kevin Lawrence
Special writer

They say "you gotta have art." One area businesswoman, Laura Hardy, takes this advertising slogan for the arts seriously enough to give those that will eventually provide the art — young artists, a break by exposing them to the public at her poster and frame shop in Livonia.

Hardy, co-owner of Nelson's Framing on Middlebelt Road, recently hosted the first of her planned series of "meet the artist" open houses.

"It's so hard for artists to get the feedback they need to develop," said Hardy. "I meet so many talented young people here at the shop. They bring their work in and we talk. I want to help them as much as I can."

FEATURED ARTISTS at the first open house included: Kit Gentry, a Livonia Stevenson High School graduate and sophomore art student at the University of Michigan who works in watercolors; and Patricia Galea, an '89 Stevenson grad who works in pottery and oil paintings.

Janel Nowak, the artist in residence, displayed pen and ink sketches, cartooning and examples of glass etching. A young 72-year-old Laura Bird presented paintings in oils and acrylics. Joe Wisniewski, an engineer at Ford Motor Co., exhibited pencil sketches.

Nelson's frame shop is recognizable by a large neon flamingo in the front window and is located at 1637 Middlebelt Road. For information regarding the next artist's open house, call 427-0325.

CANCER NOT KNOWING THE RISKS IS YOUR GREATEST RISK.

A lot of people think cancer is unbeat-able. That simply isn't true. In fact, over two million people have had cancer and survived to lead happy, normal lives. And not only can cancer be beaten, it can also be prevented. There are definite precautions that have been proven to decrease your risk of getting certain cancers. Ask your local American Cancer Society to send you a free booklet about cancer risks. Learn the facts about cancer. And make not knowing the risks, one less risk.

WALT AND KAREN Borda of Northville round out the partnership. "We had these kitchen cabinet planning meetings," laughed Walt Borda. "All of us sitting around the table. We decided to bring something unique to Plymouth and western Wayne county that at the same time expresses our interests and experiences. Our philosophy is satisfy the customer."

The partners decided on the name

Chameleon Galleries explained manager Denni Englehart, "because like the chameleon changes its color, what we sell will change as the tastes of our customers change."

Chameleon Galleries LTD. features watercolors, bronze, glass and stained glass works, porcelain and pottery, Korean chests, pewter and silver jewelry. Prices range from $5 to just over $1,000. Hours are: 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday and Saturday; 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday. Closed Sundays.

briefly speaking

VICTORIAN FESTIVAL

Three days of old-fashioned fun await area residents who attend Northville's Victorian Festival, which opens at noon Friday and continues through Sunday afternoon. Highlights include a festival parade at 6 p.m. Friday, romantic Victorian costume ball Saturday night, and an old-fashioned town picnic Sunday. Visitors will enjoy free parking and transportation around the entire festival courtesy of horse and carriage and old-fashioned trolley. Business hours and restaurants will have extended hours during the weekend. Walking tours will be offered of the city's historic district.

FALL FLEECE FAIR

The Spinners' Flock, a Washtenaw County based handspinning gUILD, will have its annual Fleece Fair at Matthaei Botanical Gardens, 1800 N. Dixboro Road, Ann Arbor from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 24.

The event will feature Michigan wool, mohair and angora as well as blends and exotic fibers. In addition to fleeces, rovings and batts for spinners, quilters and other fiberartists, there will be handspun yarns in natural and dyed colors. Finished goods including sweaters, mittens, hats and woven pieces will also be offered.

Demonstrations will take place throughout the day and individuals wanting to try their hands at spinning will be encouraged to do so. Experienced knitters will be available to give advice and recommendations for adapting handspun yarn to commercial knitting patterns. There is no admission charge for the event.

SPEAKING OUT FOR FRIENDS

An informational exchange day, "Speaking Out for Friends," will from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Friday in the Livonia Civic Center Library. Guest speaker will be Sandy Dolnick, executive director of the Friends of the Library, USA. Topics to be discussed include: membership, care and nurturing friends' boards, common problems, common goals. The event is open to the public.

MILFORD HOME TOUR

Ten sites will be featured in the Milford Historical Society's historical home tour this weekend. Four of the five private homes on the tour are more than 100 years old and have been restored. The fifth home is contemporary but has a collection of nautical antiques, with an unusual display of more than 100 butter churns. In addition, a fine arts/craft festival will be in the park. The tours will take place between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Saturday, and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Easing airbrush goofs

YOU MAY know by now there are a multitude of opportunities to goof with an airbrush.

At the top of the long list most common to man (better make that persons) is the "catch-your-foot-in-hose" complaint. This is the most common reason for breaking an airbrush. The six-to-10-foot hose is usually looped on the floor or over your knee. In the throes of creative expression, it is easy to forget about the airbrush. So when you move, nudge or twist, bump or however it happens — and it is always unexpected and unwanted — your airbrush somehow gets knocked to the floor.

To prevent this from happening you can buy an airbrush hanger which costs about 75 cents. Actually a hanger is only a precautionary measure. I'm sure many readers have managed to nudge their airbrush right out of the hanger.

Next on the list is the "too-much-paint-in-too-little-space" syndrome or the "centipede city" painter. With a single-action airbrush, it is important to stay the right distance away from the paper or board.

For example, if you are too close, too much paint will collect on the board and the air will blow little rivers of paint out of the excess, thus looking much like a centipede. This is an even greater problem with those owning a dual action airbrush.

HERE IS THE cure for "centipede city." Place your second digit on the button rather than your finger tip. It takes a much greater effort to pull your finger back, which seems to give you more "play" with the button. The finger tip is too flexible and gives you too much pull on demand. I guarantee it will feel awkward at first, but I also guarantee it will help.

Third on the list of goofs would have to be the "staccato scribble stroke." This mistake I often hear before I can see.

In my airbrush class, I hear everyone making long continuous sprays, sometimes I will hear a rapid pss . . . pss . . . pss . . . this is often accompanied by a nervous scribble-patterned stroke. Remember, depress the button and spray in slow and artifacts

Of course, there are too many goofs to list, but some noteworthy mistakes are "chief spray in the face," "splatter on the pants," "dirty tip blues" and "clean-it-later complainer."

I feel that ink is the best medium to use with an airbrush while you are learning. It is thin and gives you no trouble becoming atomized. It is rich in coverage, which is important so you can see what pattern you are spraying. Ink cleans easily out of the airbrush and usually a quick rinse with water will do.

Most inks are transparent, but with airbrush, transparency is of little use. Only because of the nature of the spray, even opaque colors take on a form of transparency. Higgins came out with a line of opaque pigmented inks which are my favorite for teaching. As you increase your ability, it is nice to turn to gouache and/or dyes. With gouache, you will encounter the "dirty tip blues" if you fail to thoroughly clean your airbrush, after each session.

I AM A REALISTIC person and I know that if your painting turns out great, you snap it off the easel and go show your critics, leaving a loaded airbrush behind. Likewise, if your painting goes into the circular file or in the bottom of the bird cage, you walk away head drooped, again leaving behind a loaded airbrush.

Dave Messing is an area art teacher who also owns the Art Store & More on Middlebelt Road in Livonia.

A popular Informational half-day seminar geared for artists is back by request.

Sponsored by the Livonia Arts Commission, the workshop, "The Business of Being An Artist," will be held 1:30-5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 23, in the Livonia Civic Center Library on Five Mile. It is open to all area residents.

Speaker will be well-known area artist Nancy Thayer, who will open her talk on "Record Keeping." Later in the afternoon, Thayer will discuss "Framing," focusing on appropriate choices and the necessity of proper framing.

Cost of the workshop is $3. Registration may be made by sending a check payable to the Livonia Arts Commission, 33000 Civic Center Drive, Livonia 48154-3097, or by registering with the Community Resources Department on the fourth floor of the Livonia City Hall.

PLYMOUTH HOMESTED ESTATES
The area's most prestigious. With prices starting in the low $300's, these spectacular homes offer unbelievable standard features: Extensive use of berbered and leaded glass; outdoor Jenn-Air for steak cookouts; handmade oak cabinetry, vanities, and wet bar; concrete walk-in vaulted for secure storage; all woodwork stained and varnished. This will be a gated community, 20 ft. tall great walls, accentuated by large expanses of glass. We may be a well kept secret but only 7 of 21 units remain; some with immediate occupancy. Located 1/2 mile W. of Sheldon Rd. off of Ann Arbor Trail. Open 7 days.

The Green Hill difference:
 Do you come home to an apartment or a 75-acre estate?
 Most apartment living measures 600+ sq. ft. Ours measures over 3,000,000 sq. ft. Green Hill residents enjoy a gorgeous 75-acre estate setting of park and woodland, peace and tranquility. You're right next door to the I-275 corridor, Michigan's multi-billion dollar explosive growth area and just minutes away from I-96, a direct route to downtown Detroit. See our 1- and 2-bedroom luxury apartments, terrace residences and country townhouses on 9 Mile, 1 1/2 miles west of Farmington Road in Farmington Hills.

“All that we were told is true!”

We were told that Muirwood was the best and now we know that it is!

It's obvious why Muirwood is everyone's first choice. It's centrally located in Farmington Hills and features a 24-hour secured gatehouse that always has a reassuring welcome for you each time you come home. Plus, there's a wide variety of very private and spacious one and two bedroom apartments, each with its own private terrace or balcony. Muirwood also features attached covered parking, full-size washers and dryers, window coverings, magnificently-landscaped, rolling terrain that includes an 18-acre nature trail and private lagoon, swimming pools, tennis and volleyball courts, picnic area and an exquisite clubhouse.

Everyone's talking about Muirwood, and why not? Last year alone, more than half of our new residents were referred to us by people who live or used to live at Muirwood. Talk about satisfaction!

Muirwood is everyone's first choice. Call today and let us tell you why it should be yours, too! And then tell your friend!

Now is the time to clear out those closets, attics, basements and garages and make some quick cash in the process.

How do you plan a garage sale?
It's easy!

Just follow these simple guidelines:

1. Gather together the items you have for sale. Sort them into appropriate categories and price them fairly.
2. Place a classified advertisement in The Observer & Eccentric by calling one of the numbers below.
3. Hang signs throughout your neighborhood alerting residents to the upcoming sale.
4. Decide what to do with all the money you'll have after your sale!

Or, if you love to bargain-hunt and would rather shop than sell, be sure to look for our special garage sale listings every Monday and Thursday in your hometown newspaper. Observer & Eccentric classifieds make it easy to earn money and save money. Discover for yourself, today!
