Kozorosky-Wiacek tells of quake terror

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

The aftershocks of the San Francisco earthquake reverberated across the country Tuesday night to a Venoy street house where David Wiacek anxiously awaited a telephone call telling him that family members were alright.

Relief finally came about 11 p.m., when Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek, using a working telephone in the room of another guest at The Marriott-Airport hotel, told her husband they were shaken up but unharmed.

"I was so frightened I really did begin to think my god, this was the end of the world," Kozorosky-Wiacek said from her seventh-floor hotel room Wednesday afternoon. "When I saw the walls start to shake and the plaster falling, I grabbed the baby and hid under the crib."

Kozorosky-Wiacek was in San Francisco with daughter Melanie Sheridan to watch son-in-law Pat Sheridan play for the San Francisco Giants in the World Series. She was baby-sitting the Sheridans' 3-month-old daughter, Paige, when the quake hit at 5:04 p.m. (8:04 p.m. Detroit time).

AT LEAST 270 people were killed and thousands may have been injured in the earthquake, according to news reports Wednesday afternoon. After things had calmed down, Kozorosky-Wiacek said she left her room and took the stairs to the hotel lobby, where a man from Maryland helped her with the baby and let her use his phone to call home.

"I didn't see anyone as I was going down the stairs and really started to worry," Kozorosky-Wiacek said. "But when I got to the lobby there were a lot of people milling around and that made me feel better."

She said the hotel staff "was wonderful to us, even though most of them said they were going through their first major earthquake too." Both Kozorosky-Wiacek and Pat Sheridan said the damage to the hotel was minor, mostly broken lamps and mirrors. Power was out for about 1 1/2 hours, coming back on at 4 a.m. California time, Sheridan said.

Melanie Sheridan, who took an unpaid leave of absence from her job as 18th District Court probation coordinator when Pat was traded by the Tigers to the Giants this summer, had just arrived at Candlestick Park and was in the parking lot when the quake hit, Pat Sheridan said.

"She said she saw the whole thing, the ballpark swaying and everything" from outside, he said.

ONCE THE GAME game was postponed, the Sheridans were reunited in the parking lot and made their way back to the hotel by about 7:30 p.m.

"I heard a voice yelling 'Sylvia, Sylvia' and then someone yelling 'Mom, mom' and I turned around and there they were," Kozorosky-Wiacek said. "I was so happy I started to cry."

Dave Wiacek, 18th District Court administrator, said his wife was largely unaware of the extensive damage caused by the quake because of the widespread power loss to the area. During their brief conversation, he filled her in on the information and pictures television networks were showing Detroit-area viewers some 2,500 miles away.

Wiacek said he tried to remain calm during the three-hour wait for news about his family. "I knew the phone lines were going to be down or tied up and that it might be a long time before I heard anything," he said.

"I just tried to be as relaxed as possible," he said.

He said neither he nor his wife had previous experience in such a situation.

Kozorosky-Wiacek said shortly after moving to Michigan her Pennsylvania hometown experienced a ma-

Griffin leading Thomas in primary race spending

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

If money was the measuring stick, then Mayor Charles Griffin would be a heavy favorite to win re-election next month against challenger Robert Thomas.

Griffin has raised nearly $123,000 in his bid for a second term, or more than 12 times Thomas' $9,600, according to the most recent campaign finance reports filed with the Wayne County elections office. The reports, which cover the period ending Oct. 2, indicate Griffin has outspent Thomas by a 9-1 ratio on the election.

Griffin's campaign chest had a surplus of about $40,000 following the Sept. 12 primary while Thomas had only about $400, the reports show.

A political analyst Tuesday said the difference in funds would be "difficult, but not insurmountable" for Thomas to overcome at the ballot box.

"Money isn't as important in a municipal election as it is to a statewide or a congressional race," said Julie Weeks, vice president for Detroit-based Market Opinion Research.

"BUT WHEN YOU'VE got 10 times the amount your opponent does, that's pretty significant," she said.

Weeks said while suburban officials almost never buy television time on network affiliates, Griffin appears to have enough money to buy advertising time or space on

First Citizen nomination deadline is 6 days away

Six days remain to get in nominations for the First Citizen of Westland community service award.

Judges have been selected for the award, initiated in 1986 through the sponsorship of the Westland Observer and the Westland Chamber of Commerce.

Any group or individual can nominate someone for the award, which will be given at the chamber's membership luncheon Tuesday, Nov. 14.

Nominees must be someone active in a community, civic or service organization that has a direct impact on the community.

Residency is not a requirement for nomination.

Deadline for nominations is Wednesday, Oct. 25.

Judges for the fourth annual award will be Sam Corrado, automatically named to the judging committee for winning last year's award; Janet Lockman, Wayne-Westland Family YMCA executive director; Joyce Wheeler, chamber office manager and Thomas Svitkovich, Wayne-Westland School District—associate superintendent for communication and finance and the Westland Rotary Club president.

Candidates suggest public safety improvements

Endorsements, Page 16A

This is the last of two articles profiling the views of Westland City Council candidates. Voters will fill four council seats in the Tuesday, Nov. 7 election. Incumbents Ben DeHart, Kenneth Mehl and William Ziembra and challengers Ethel Bollinger, Michael Bradley, Sandra Cicirelli, Terri Reighard Johnson and Dorothy Smith spoke about the issues during an Oct. 11 interview at the Observer offices in Livonia. Previous statements made on the record and campaign literature were also used in compiling these stories.

The eight Westland City Council candidates have a wide range of suggestions for improving the city's police and fire departments.

But the three incumbents and five challengers agree on one thing — Westland, with a predicted 1990 population of 90,000, needs to focus more attention on public safety.

OPENING THE city's four fire stations on a full-time, year-round basis was a priority listed by Ethel Bollinger, Michael Bradley, Ben DeHart, and Sandra Cicirelli. Since April 1988, the city has by contract agreement with the firefighters' union closed one fire station on a rotating basis. The agreement is designed to ensure two firefighters on every piece of equipment answering a call.

"Considering the size and shape of the city, our goal has to be to find a way to keep all four fire stations open 365 days a year," said DeHart. "Whether that means more overtime or increased personnel, I don't know. But we have to take a serious look at it."

DeHart also suggested upgraded emergency medical services training for firefighters.

"That way," he said, "they can treat people at the scene rather than having to make transportation to the hospital their immediate priority."

Cicirelli said a careful review of the current budget might yield "a few more" dollars for hiring additional police officers and firefighters.

"Also, I'm convinced that the (1990) census will show growth and lead to more federal money for Westland," she said. "The first place that money ought to go is for increased police and fire protection."

ETHEL BOLLINGER said finding ways to incorporate volunteers into the fire department might create more times when all four stations can remain open. Incumbents Kenneth Mehl and William Ziembra and challenger Terri Reighard Johnson said the current situation was one the city would have to live with for the time being.

"Nobody likes having a closed station, but we have to trust the firefighters' judgment and this was something that they negotiated for," Johnson said.

Ziembra said the suggestion by some candidates that fire stations were being closed permanently was "self-serving."

"What we've done is temporarily re-assign some firefighters and that occasionally leaves a station out of service for a brief period of time," he said.

Dorothy Smith said station closings, even temporary ones, wouldn't be necessary if Mayor Charles Griffin's administration had demonstrated better allocation of money during the last four years.

"Any additional money that's come in (from recent development) hasn't gone for public safety, that's for sure," Smith said.

Mehl said that although there was "no magic cure" for increasing public safety without a major tax increase, he favors improving the technological capabilities of the city's police and fire departments.

LAST JUNE'S startup of "Enhanced 9-1-1" emergency telephone service throughout western Wayne County and the recent purchase of on-board computers for Westland police patrol cars are two examples, Mehl said.

"Also, as new tax revenues come in, public safety should be a primary concern," Mehl said. "But unless we get other departments like parks and recreation, we're not going to be able to hire a huge group of new police officers."

"And I don't think the public wants that (major cuts in parks and recreation)," Mehl said.

Several candidates said they agreed with Griffin's hiring of additional police and fire dispatchers last summer. The dispatchers should "put more people on the street," Bollinger said.

Bollinger said elected officials should also look into the possibility of reducing the time spent by police officers in court and on other administrative matters.

ON OTHER PUBLIC safety issues, DeHart said he supported exploration of joint city-school district programs aimed at stemming drug abuse among children and teenagers. He cited the current council and school board study sessions regarding implementation of a D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program in Westland.

Two candidates, Bradley and Johnson, suggested increasing the amount of time devoted to ordinance enforcement.

Johnson has proposed a summer-time program that would encourage residents and businesses to keep

Farmington Road paving supported

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

Westland officials took the first step Monday to paving a half-mile stretch of Farmington Road that was the subject of complaints from residents in a nearby subdivision last spring.

Residents of the Yorkdale subdivision said the unpaved portion of Farmington, between Warren Road and Hunter, was a health hazard and an inconvenience due to large amounts of dust created by passing traffic during dry spring and summer months.

The Westland City Council unanimously approved an initial paving resolution for the half-mile strip. A series of public hearings will be held and subsequent resolutions approved before road work is started.

"It's a start, anyway," said Terry Davis, who represented Yorkdale residents at Monday's council meeting.

The resolution called for construction of a 37-foot wide road of 4-inch concrete. Although no estimate was given Monday, previous estimates have placed cost for the road at about $650,000, including installation of sewers and sidewalks.

THE CITY will pay for construction of the road out of the drain fund and the major road fund, as well as a special assessment for people with property fronting on Farmington.

Yorkdale residents "will not have to pay any (special assessment) money whatsoever," Mayor Charles Griffin said Monday.

City Council member Kent Herbert said that all Westland residents contribute to the road and drain funds through property taxes.

istration-council study sessions regarding the road.

Davis and a dozen other Yorkdale residents approached the council last June with the paving request. They said dust over on the road plays havoc with school children waiting for buses each morning or playing in the neighborhood in the afternoons.

Adults complained of breathing problems.

Residents said the climate of the neighborhood had changed from rural to suburban, with a lot of commercial traffic.

cable television, local newspapers or even radio if he chooses. "That's also enough for an awful lot of yard signs," she said.

Griffin listed 20 contributors of at least $1,000 each to the Citizens for Griffin committee in his report.

The largest single contributor, at $2,050, was Bud Ruthenberg of Painter-Ruthenberg Sanitation, Rochester. Painter-Ruthenberg handles curbside garbage collection for the city.

Other large contributors included Joe Boyle, owner of the Westland Meadows mobile home park, $1,900; Dennis Fassett of Cable Management Associates (subcontracted to provide cable television and community relations services to the city), $1,550; Tony Marocco, owner of Briarwood Amoco in Ann Arbor, $1,350; Don Mason, owner of Mason Maintenance Co. of Westland, $1,300; and Angelo Plakas of the Westland law firm Bokos and Plakas, $1,200 (Plakas' partner and Westland City Attorney Charles Bokos gave $800).

ALSO, JERRY Jarret, Bill Mills and Robert Schron — partners in the city's engineering consultant firm of Jarret, Mills and Schron — each gave between $1,350 and $1,450 to the campaign.

State law limits campaign contributions to $1,000. Heavy contributors to political campaigns often write out several checks to a chosen candidate over an extended time period.

Several contributors to Griffin's campaign also made contributions to other Westland candidates.

Thomas received most of his donations through two fund-raisers. He netted $3,340 at a party on July 25 and $1,545 at an Oct. 1 function at the Bova VFW Post.

Thomas' largest single contributors were city-employees Edward Gunther and Robert Stark, who each gave $500 to his campaign.

Through Oct. 2, Thomas, a 19-year employee of the city's department of public services, had loaned the Committee to Elect Thomas for Mayor $1,572.

City Councilman Thomas Artley, who finished fourth in the mayoral primary, spent $8,271 on his election bid, with $7,050 coming out of his own pocket. His largest single contributors were Ewald and Irene Ruthenberg, who gave $300.

CITY COUNCILMAN Charles Pickering, who finished third, had not filed his most recent campaign expense report as of Tuesday. He is being fined $10 per day for each day past the Oct. 12 deadline that the report isn't filed.

Among the 13 city council candidates, only Deborah Carman, who didn't make it past the primary, has yet to file her post-primary report. The top eight finishers in the council primary are on the Nov. 7 general election ballot.

Candidates Dorothy Smith and Lewis Beaver received a waiver regarding expense reports from the Wayne County Clerk's office after indicating that she intended to raise and spend less than $1,000 on her council campaign.

COUNCIL INCUMBENTS Ben DeHart, Kenneth Mehl and William Ziemba and challenger Ethel Bollinger received the bulk of their donations in the form of contributions in kind from two political action committees, the Responsive Leadership Committee and the Citizens Choice Committee.

Contributions in kind are donations of supplies or services, rather than money. The committees contributed between $5,000 and $8,500 in printing and postage costs, signs and other expenses to each of the candidates.

Other council candidates and their funds included Sandra Cicirelli, $6,610; Terri Reighard Johnson, $6,495; Richard Ringer, $4,027; Yousef Eadeh, $960; and Helene Raupp, $20.

Michael Bradley reported no donations and financed his campaign through $2,101 in personal loans to his election committee.

Award nomination deadline is Oct. 25

izens were Joseph Benyo, honored in 1986, and Thomas Brown, recognized the next year.

Nominations should include information about the candidate's community service activities and how those activities have affected the community. Nominees will be considered for being involved in a variety of activities or for specializing in just one.

The judging committee will meet in early November to review the nominations and select the 1989 First Citizen, who will be announced the week before the luncheon.

Judges and full-time employees of the chamber and the Observer are not eligible for the award.

Send nominations to the Westland Observer editorial department, First Citizen Award, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150, by Oct. 25.

neighborhoods clean. Under the plan, the city would be divided into four sections and residents of each section would have a specified time period to work on their neighborhood before elections were issued.

"Not only do we have to clean up

(some) neighborhoods, but we have to make residents in those neighborhoods accountable for their actions," Johnson said.

EPCOT ROUNDUP

Disney World's Magic Kingdom, in Orlando, Florida, is still the country's number one tourist attraction, and the addition of Disney's Epcot Center is yet another powerful draw.

Epcot stands for Experimental Prototype Community of Tomorrow. Walt Disney's original idea for the center was a futuristic community in which people would actually live, work and play.

Epcot is 2 1/2 miles from the Magic Kingdom; the two are connected by monorail and highway. Admission tickets can be bought to either, or for both.

There are two sections to Epcot: Future World and World Showcase. The first is a collection of exhibits sponsored by major United States corporations. World Showcase represents nine countries' architecture, food and entertainment. Both are well worth visiting.

Big draw at Disney World is the Disney-MGM studio and theme park. In fact, it's proven so attractive to visitors that Disney recently announced plans to double its size.

Fire destroys school float, not its spirit

JOHN GLENN High School's Rockets had a different type of excitement in their homecoming events last week.

While the football team scored a 7-6 victory over Plymouth Salem in a battle of the undefeated, the senior class was disappointed because a fire destroyed its homecoming parade float Thursday night.

The Westland fire department is investigating the blaze, which took place in a vacant lot next to the home of a senior working on the float.

Because of the fire, the planned competition among class floats was canceled, said Larry Wood, assistant principal.

Wood added that the seniors took a positive attitude after the fire, "blaming no one" and getting help from the junior and sophomore class, parents, and other adults in offering to rebuild the float.

"Instead, the seniors decorated several vans for the annual parade, held Friday night preceding the football game.

Wood said no one was injured in the fire and no one has yet been apprehended.

The seniors' theme Friday was "You can destroy our float, but you can't destroy our spirit," said Wood.

Kristie DeBus was crowned homecoming queen during the game's halftime ceremony and reigned over the homecoming dance Saturday night in the school cafeteria.

Detroit Symphony plans Churchill High concert

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra has scheduled a performance at Churchill High as part of its suburban tour this concert season.

The performance will be in the school auditorium at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 13. Churchill, which serves the northwest section of Westland, is at 8900 Newburgh north of Joy.

Tickets may be obtained by calling the Churchill business office at 523-9200.

"The Detroit Symphony Orchestra realizes that people in the suburbs can't always make it to Concert Hall, due to living so far away and because people may not be able to afford to take the whole family out for a night at the symphony," said Jacque Dutton, president of the Churchill High School Band Boosters Association.

As a result the DSO is performing in the suburbs and making the tickets available at discount rates. Tickets will be $5 each. The suburban tour is being scheduled in conjunction with Hudson's.

The DSO, directed by Dr. Leslie Donner, will be offering a variety of selections, both classical and contemporary, at its Churchill performance.

A portion of the profits will go to the Churchill Instrumental Music Department, directed by Jim Murphy.

Churchill students will be acting as hosts, ushers, and stage crew helpers. The DSO will be doing some promotional interviews to be aired on local cable television channels.

Band Boosters is a support group for Churchill High School Instrumental Group. One of the boosters' functions is to raise funds for the instrumental music department's activities that aren't directly covered by the Livonia Public Schools.

Local Civitan Club member honored at state convention

Ron Falkner of the Westland Civitan Club was named Michigan Civitan of the Year at the service club's annual convention held on Mackinac Island recently.

There are 30 Civitan clubs in the state with a membership of over 1,000.

"The Westland club knew Ron Falkner was a real hard worker for Civitan, and it is great that he was recognized on the state level," said Doris Elmendorf, publicity chairwoman of the local club.

Three Westland members seated on the district board were Marlene Dean, area director; Gerry Falkner, co-chairman of training; Ron Falkner, fruitcake chairman.

Westland Civitans walked away with five club awards. Awards were for growth, fruit cake sales, Special Olympics involvement, Civitan awareness project and the best new project, which was a lending library for adaptive equipment and appliances.

Westland Civitans is holding its annual apple sale, the first fund-raising project of the club's new year, at the local K mart, Farmer Jack and Great Scott stores in the area.

"Look for the people dressed in red and white, Elmendorf said."

cop calls

TWO WESTLAND patrol officers were the targets of angry suspects in separate incidents last week. Officer Ralph Smith reported that he was helping three colleagues while investigating a vandalism report on the 7100 block of Deering.

Smith said the suspect struck him with a cast on his left leg. The suspect was given an ordinance violation notice.

Two days earlier, Patrolman Norman Tarris said he was helping two other officers in putting leather restraints on a suspect when the suspect kicked him and knocked him backwards.

A BROTHER and sister argued over family photos Saturday night with the sister being thrown out of an apartment and suffering minor injuries, she told police.

The woman, a 32-year-old Livonia resident, told police that she was visiting her brother in his Westland apartment on the 7100 block of Deering when they started arguing over photos.

The brother, 27, ordered her out of the apartment. He then threw her against a door and carried her out of the apartment, she said.

The woman told police she suffered a swollen hand and a bruise on her back. She told officers she wants to prosecute.

IF YOU'RE going to walk with expensive leather or suede coats, don't do it in warm weather.

That's a lesson Westland police are offering after they apprehended a suspect for taking $632 worth of clothing from the Wilson Suede and Leather business at Westland Center where he was identified as an employee.

An officer said he noticed a man walking in parking lot 8 of the center Sunday afternoon wearing a long, leather coat and carrying a sweater.

The officer admitted he was "curious" about the attire being worn in warm weather. After stopping the person, later identified as a 17-year-old Westland youth, the officer noticed that the price tags were still on the articles.

The youth was also wearing a smaller leather jacket under the long coat, the officer said.

The teen had no sales receipts with the clothing still having an anti-theft sensor tag attached, the officer added.

Volunteers bringing texts to light for blind

By Helen Niemiec
staff writer

Kay Hillinger, of Birmingham, sat inside a sound-proof booth reading aloud a physiology book, concentrating on a chapter about muscles.

On the other side of the glass, Marilyn Bakirci, also of Birmingham, listened while reading along the same text and checking the recording equipment.

The two are among the 70 area residents who volunteer their time for the "Recording for the Blind" program, which provides recorded educational books for the print-handicapped.

The program's Bloomfield Center is located at East Hills Junior High. The only other Michigan center is located at Wayne State University. Another 27 recording centers are located across the country.

Sue Marshall, the Bloomfield Center director, has been with the local center since it opened 21 years ago.

"AT THAT TIME, my children were in school so I was casting about for something to do," Marshall explained. "I met a woman involved in the program at Wayne State and got interested in it. We opened the Bloomfield branch in April 1968 with one volunteer."

Occupying a single room at East Hills school since day one, the program has expanded to 70 volunteers, three recording booths and a never-ending shelf of books that need to be recorded.

Marshall said that the Recording for the Blind program always is looking for volunteers, especially potential readers with a background in technology. Readers not only must be familiar with technology so they don't stumble over the words, they also must be able to describe photographs, charts and graphs that appear in the textbooks.

"Illustrations are used to clarify the written material. Our readers have to take the visual aid and put it back into words. It's not an easy thing to do," Marshall explained.

Volunteers are needed for a wide variety of tasks: acting as monitors, those who listen as others read materials; duplicating tapes, and clerical functions.

ALTHOUGH MOST people who call to volunteer want to read, Marshall said that few volunteers ever start as readers. And not all volunteers ever go on to reading for the program.

"Not many of us read aloud and it's a difficult skill. Readers have to have a knowledge of a subject matter, familiarity with the vocabulary and talk at a lively, conversational pace. We don't want readers droning on to put the listener to sleep or readers who are dramatic since that is interpreting the material," Marshall said.

Those who do read need a college degree since they will be reading textbooks. Areas that are covered range from old English to economics to business law, though technology-oriented textbooks have a large demand.

Readers must take a proficiency test designed by the main headquarters in Princeton, New Jersey. Marshall said that the test is "filled with booby traps" since it includes difficult and little used words as well as "convoluted sentence structures."

"The blind and the disabled have a hard enough time absorbing text material when listening that we don't want readers who are going to stumble over words," Marshall said.

VOLUNTEERS ARE becoming a more important commodity now that the program has expanded. Initially started to help the blind, Recording for the Blind now also includes the physically handicapped and those with learning disabilities.

The easiest way to determine whether someone qualifies to participate in the Recording for the Blind program, said Marshall, is that the program is open to anyone who has a difficult time handling printed materials.

The physically handicapped, who have a problem turning pages or handling books, as well as those who have reading problems — such as those suffering from dyslexia — qualify for the program.

"This program is important to those who are perceptually handicapped and dyslexia is just one example," said Marshall. "Others have judged them as slow and that isn't the case. This hurts their self-perception. These people are intelligent but, for some reason, they just can't read well enough and they fall beyond."

The Recording for the Blind program started in 1948 to assist blind veterans of World War II to attend college under the G.I. Bill. Several years after, the program expanded to provide oral textbooks to any blind student.

The Master Tape Library in Princeton stores over one million recorded books. Each center that tapes a book sends a copy to the master library.

The Bloomfield center is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Anyone who would be interested in volunteering should call the center at 642-4561.

Area police limit media access to reports

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Police departments have been changing the way they release the details of crimes, prompting new disputes under the state's Freedom of Information law.

Several area departments no longer allow visitors to scan police logs — the complete list of police calls in a given day — or view complete reports of specific incidents.

Reporters are shown a "media book" containing edited reports of selected crimes that lack such details as the names and addresses of arrested crime suspects.

The tug-of-war over police reports is nothing new.

"I CAN'T think of a public agency that wouldn't want to conduct its business away from public scrutiny," said Rebecca Daugherty, who researches national freedom of information issues for the Reporters Committee on Freedom of the Press in Washington D.C.

What is new is that disputes are rising 13 years after the state's Freedom of Information Act appeared to provide a definitive guide for the release of crime records.

In many communities, reporters and other visitors don't gain access to police reports unless they ask for the report by its department code number. Withholding access to police logs, reporters say, prevents them from knowing a report even exists.

Edited reports make reporters "second-class citizens" if unedited originals are issued to attorneys or insurance investigators — two other groups whose members routinely view police records — said veteran reporter Tim Richard. Richard is news service director for Suburban Communications Corp., the parent company of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, and the company's expert on Freedom of Information law.

While all visitors can file Freedom of Information reports on the spot, Richard said, there's no guarantee the request would force police to release the information.

Daugherty said the issue involves

'If reporters don't know, the public doesn't know. And if the public doesn't know, it could be facing dangerous situations it doesn't know exist.'

Freedom of the Press

readers even more than reporters. "If reporters don't know, the public doesn't know," she said. "And if the public doesn't know, it could be facing dangerous situations it doesn't know exist."

THAT POINT was made recently in Livonia, when a group of Clarenceville School District parents demanded police alert the media that a convicted child molester had been detained by police after loitering near a local elementary school.

John Wark, chairman of the Michigan FOI Committee and an investigative reporter at the Detroit News, agreed there is more at stake than reporters' rights.

"How far does it go?" he said. "What if I'm a family member or the person charged with the crime. Can they deny me access, too?"

Police, however, say they are both abiding by the Freedom of Information Act and protecting public interest in withholding selected details. Canton Township no longer lists the names of arrested suspects in the reports issued to the media.

"We made some minor changes on the advice of our attorney," Canton Public Safety Director John Santomauro said. "Our policy has always been openness. We believe in the public's right to know."

ALL REPORTS are issued to reporters, Santomauro said, except for those involved with undercover or highly specialized police operations.

In the case of an ongoing narcotics investigation, a report will be made, but it won't be released," he said.

In an Aug. 10 letter to Santomauro, township attorney Timothy Cronin wrote: "Information... released in violation to one of the exemptions to the Freedom of Information Act... could result in liability to the township."

Cronin declined comment on the letter or whether it represented the general policy of his law firm, Nora, Hemming, Essad & Polaczyk. Another of the firm's clients, Northville Township, recently began issuing edited police reports to reporters.

Santomauro said his department revised its policy after meeting with representatives of three area newspapers. Relations between his department and the media have been positive, according to Canton Observer editor Jeff Counts.

The police department in Livonia also changed its policy within the past month, though the department cited the state's Victim's Rights Act, along with the Freedom of Information Act.

"We didn't change it because we had a problem with the Observer," Lt. Michael Murray said. "The paper had access to crime victims addresses and telephone numbers and didn't publish them. But we felt this information shouldn't be available to protect the victim."

The thrust of the Victim's Rights Act is to protect victims from their attackers.

Police departments and newspapers have been equally jittery over publication of crime suspect names in the wake of a recent lawsuit in which a Battle Creek man success-

Tougher ACT test stresses math, reading

By C. L. Rugenstein
staff writer

Bad news for high school students — the ACT test just got harder.

About 1 million to 2 million students in the U.S. annually take the ACT (American College Testing) exam that measures what they've learned and predicts how they'll succeed in college. And although the test is voluntary — students pay a fee to take it — the test scores are required for admission to most Michigan colleges.

The Enhanced ACT now stresses reading comprehension over content and has expanded its math section and eliminated the social science section, according to local educator Anita Marcus. The changes can be for the better, or not so good depending on the student, said Marcus, who privately tutors students for the tests.

"If a student is real good in reading and verbal skills, the (enhanced) exam will help," she said. "But it will really hurt kids who have a problem with reading skills."

The main change is in the math section Marcus pointed out.

"It changed dramatically, got harder," she said.

FOR ONE thing, 20 questions were added to the former 40 of the old ACT. Questions about trigonometry and pre-calculus are included in the new section.

"It will hurt kids who haven't taken advanced math," Marcus said.

On the other hand, they'll have a good "shot at the (revised) science section without knowing a lot about science," she added.

Each science problem will be a description of an experiment, what students will have to analyze to come up with conclusions.

A lot of graphs will be used. Actual factual questions and multiple-choice questions are gone.

The English test remains the same, but the social science test has become a reading comprehension section now with segments about Eskimos, fine arts, and battered women/victims.

"People with a general knowledge of graphing, logic skills, and deductive reasoning will probably do well," Marcus predicted.

WHEN ASKED why the test was changed Marcus replied: "That's an interesting question. I sat (at an ACT conference in Traverse City last March) for three days and nobody gave a satisfactory answer."

'If a student is real good in reading and verbal skills, the (enhanced) exam will help. But it will really hurt kids who have a problem with reading skills.'

educator

She suggested that perhaps the ACT organization is "trying to make a push to become more nationally accepted," to have more stature where colleges are concerned. The SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) has been "the big exam in the past, especially at eastern colleges," Marcus said.

The basic difference between the two is that the ACT measures what a student has learned, while the SAT tests the ability to use that knowledge Marcus explained.

"The SAT test is strictly a college admissions test," said Jack Reese, director of assessment services for the Midwest American College Testing program which developed and retooled the test.

Unlike the SAT, the ACT was designed to have "multiple uses," Reese said.

It was designed in 1958 by E. F. Lindquist, a well-known developer of testing materials, to be used for placement in classes, advising purposes and making career decisions as well as for college admission, said Reese.

The new test is being compared with an eighth grade assessment test. The test will have English, math, reading and science sections, plus a career component with an Interest Inventory.

The purpose, Reese said, is to try to link career and curriculum planning at an earlier age.

"A lot of kids have an idea where they want to go, but don't know how to get there," he said.

But Marcus questioned the wisdom of giving a test like the ACT to eighth graders.

"What happened to growing up naturally? This is too quick," she wrote on one page of her ACT conference materials.

In the educational system, people develop at different times, Marcus pointed out.

S'craft to hold lottery for popular wassail feast

Schoolcraft College Music and Food Service departments will pool their talents to recreate a 16th Century English feast and song fest at the annual Christmas Madrigal Dinner Dec. 7-10.

According to Tom Savage, director of food service, the menu, will include cornish hens with all the trimmings, hot wassail, figgy pudding and Christmas bread.

Real dogfight

Anti-cruelty bill has lawmakers at odds

By Tim Richard
staff writer

To state Rep. Gerald Law, dog-fighting is a dirty, big business, combining the evils of drugs, gambling and cruelty. The Plymouth Republican says the way to stop it is tougher and more creative punishment.

To state Rep. Tom Power, Law's plan is too punitive. "A four-year felony for being present (at a dog fight)? Guilt by association? Jeez! This thing is so hokey I don't even want to bother with it," said the Traverse City Republican.

With that and a few other expletives, Power walked out of the fourth-floor State Capitol room Tuesday as members of the House Judiciary Committee debated Law's House Bill 4909.

Judiciary chairman Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, wouldn't take a final vote. He ordered the bill rewritten to provide staggered penalties for repeat violators. "Looks like we've got a re-draft for next week," Bullard said.

SUPPORTED BY the Michigan Humane Society, Law's bill would amend the penal code providing for fines of up to $100,000 (20 times the current level) and up to 1,500 hours of community service to avoid overcrowding jails.

The bill also would punish trainers, manufacturers of training devices, publishers of dog fighting newsletters, breeders and viewers of dogfights. State law already prohibits dogfights, cockfights and bear-baiting.

"If you don't have the audience, you don't have the business," said Eileen M. Liska, director of research and legislation for the Michigan Humane Society.

"This is more prevalent than most people realize. This state is part of the Great Lakes circuit. Many in the audience also breed (fighting) dogs," she said in defense of the harsh penalties for audiences.

AFTER THE meeting, Liska outlined how the business works.

"There are two types of dog fights: unorganized, usually in basements in Detroit; and organized, in more remote areas of the state."

She declined to say where organized dogfighting occurs. "I shouldn't tell you where. We've got investigations going on."

"It's continuing to grow. They (owners) rarely go to jail. They get small fines and go out and do it again."

Breeders keep the "gamest" puppies, usually euthanizing the rest. But sometimes the other puppies are sold to people who use them as guard dogs for crack houses.

Wagers run into the "tens of thousands of dollars," she said.

As for Power's complaint that fines for rape are lower than Law's proposed fines for dog fighting, Liska said, "That's the fault with the rape laws."

LAW CALLED his measure a follow-up to 1988's vicious animal law.

"It's really an anti-gambling piece of legislation. We're talking big dollars — drugs and gambling. It's not easy to catch these people. It takes a year or two of investigation," he said.

Law's bill survived two attempts to cut the punishments in half, but Power convinced Bullard that there should be a scale of fines rather than a big fine for the first offense.

Law held out for the big fines. "The bill says 'up to.' They (judges) can go up to $100,000 if it's a multiple situation. The first fine may be only a few thousand."

Barely half the 19-member Judiciary Committee attended Tuesday's meeting, leading Bullard to quip: "There are some people I haven't seen for several meetings, but I've forgotten who they are."

Scheduled House Judiciary Committee meetings are at 10 a.m. Tuesdays.

"It's really an anti-gambling piece of legislation. We're talking big dollars — drugs and gambling."

Tracking Lions:

Ad exec has kept team statistics for 40 years

By C. L. Rugenstein
staff writer

It was the worst Detroit Lions football game Dick Monley had ever had to watch.

On Thanksgiving Day 1980, the game against the Chicago Bears went into overtime.

Not only did the Lions lose the last coin toss, but they lost the game on the first overtime play when Bears return man Dave Williams snagged the kickoff and ran it back 95 yards for the winning touchdown.

Monley had little to be thankful for but as typist for the official Lions statistics crew he had to record it for posterity.

As team statisticians, Monley and nine others record everything that happens in Lions home games for the NFL records in New York, as well as for the press covering the games.

He's been doing it for 40 years, since 1949, when he was a college sports writer at the University of Detroit.

MONLEY, NOW EXECUTIVE vice president/management supervisor at D'Arcy Masius Benton and Bowles, spoke recently about his second job, and its inherent joys and frustrations.

As typist, he sits in the center of the 10-person crew in the press box, right on the 45 yard line. Monley can see everything that happens but relies on spotter Rob Carr to his left.

"Rob spots the ball, tells me where each play originates, who the receiver and runner is," Monley said. He then types it on a ditto sheet while it happens.

"When I'm done at the end of each quarter, the guy with the copier gets it and within two minutes about 200 people in the press box have it."

Each person on the crew has a particular job — watching for fumbles (Frank Corej), or rushing (Al Storrs), or making a decision when a question arises (Bob Filltrault, crew chief.)

The information immediately goes to Monley, who calls himself "a fantastic typist," handling 60 words a minute accurately. A look at the pristine ditto sheets for the Oct. 1 game against the Steelers bears that out.

MONLEY TOLD a meeting of the Adcrafters' Club recently that he missed starting only one game in his many years on the crew.

"The Lion's played the Bears on Oct. 8, 1950. I got married Oct. 7, 1950. After thinking it over a while, I decided to go on my honeymoon."

Monley also explained the title for his Adcrafters' talk: "From the Cellular to the Superbowl — Six Decades on the Lions Stats Team."

"If I'm still doing what I do next year, in 1990... I will have worked for the Lions in the '40s, '50s, '60s, '70s, '80s and '90s."

And even though the Lions never played the Superbowl, Monley and his crew did — compiling stats for the 1982 game at the Silverdome.

The only other member of his team who's done the stats job longer (since 1948) is Jack Teahen, senior editor of The Automotive News.

Both were doing "a primitive play by play" for U-D's college paper when Nick Kerbawy, head of the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame, was a guest in the press box.

KERBAWY, WHO worked in public relations for the Lions at the time, thought it was terrific, Monley said.

"He said 'Hey! We don't have anything like that,'" Monley said, and asked them to start doing the Lions stats.

"I still love this job because my unrealized fantasy was to be the best sports writer in the world," he told the Adcrafters meeting.

But, when he couldn't get a job with a newspaper after graduating from college with a Journalism degree, Monley said, "I had to go into advertising."

He lettered three times in football at St. Alphonsus High in Dearborn, where he grew up, but his game now is golf.

His handicap is 17, and his wife Rita (who doesn't like football) joins him on the golf course at Oakland Hills from time to time.

Though his wife wasn't interested in doing stats, Monley has been good at recruiting other football fans at DMB&B — like spotter Rob Carr, and Lu Di Salvo (who keeps track of punts, kickoff and penalties.)

Monley's vote for the most exciting Lions game he's ever recorded goes to the 1957 game against the Baltimore Colts. Exactly 55,764 fans showed up at Briggs Stadium to watch the Lions, led by quarterback Bobby Layne, win their last world championship.

"It set off the loudest, longest roar ever heard in that stadium," Monley said. Such roars won't be heard around Detroit for a while, considering the team's dismal start.

However, Monley said he was excited about the team's prospects after last Sunday's victory over the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, which brought the team record to 1-5.

Magazine honors area bookstore chain

Little Professor Book Centers, the Ann Arbor-based franchisor of general bookstores, was named one of the 100 best franchises for women in the December issue of Woman's Enterprise.

Paula Herstein, a Little Professor franchise owner in Farmington, values the access to the skills of a 130-bookstore network, which has developed since the company began in 1989.

"We are in the same business, but cooperative, not competitive. Some of my best promotions are ideas other Little Professor franchise owners have shared with me," Herstein said.

ACCORDING TO the magazine, three factors were basic in determining what made a franchise "best" for women: investment required (modest), validity of franchise concept, and franchisor's woman-centered outreach.

The company is the only franchisor of general bookstores selling new books, said Carla Garbin, Little Proessor's senior vice president of franchise development.

"Not only is our niche unique, but with our years of experience, we have developed superior training and support programs, which include a 15-day initial training program, weekly publications, on-site visits, manuals, toll-free telephone support, continuing education seminars, direct mail programs and mailing list management, and a Franchise Advisory Council.

"A Little Professor Book Center is a great entree into business for women and men," Garbin said.

"When you own your own business, you don't have to wait for somebody else to recognize your skills and anoint you with the authority to manage. Many effective managers, especially women, may never reach leadership positions if they wait to be approved and appointed. Buying a business is a surefire shortcut to the level of decision maker."

Most Little Professor Book Centers are owned by male/female partnerships, Garbin said.

Halloween collection going to aid animals

The Michigan Humane Society will hold its 5th Halloween Collection for animals on Halloween night. Young people and adults will be asking for donations instead of the usual treats of candy.

Proceeds from this year's collections will be used to help the Michigan Humane Society provide necessary care for the tens of thousands of homeless, unwanted and abused animals cared for at its three full-service shelters.

Volunteers who would like to help animals (and save their own teeth in the process) are still needed to help with the collection. Canisters are available at any Michigan Humane Society Shelter. For information on your nearest shelter, call 872-3400.

Bill seeks parental consent for abortion

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Girls under age 17 will be more careful about getting pregnant if they have to get the parents' permission for an abortion. That, at least, is the hope of sponsors of a state parental consent bill.

"The point of the bill is that a minor won't make a decision alone," said Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, chairman of the Senate Human Resources Committee which Tuesday gave the bill 4-1 approval.

Dillingham said Senate Bill 513 could be debated on the Senate floor as early as Wednesday.

Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, a supporter, predicted 30 of the 38 state senators would vote yes, "but it will probably go to Perry Bullard's committee (House Judiciary) and be killed there."

RIGHT TO LIFE president Barbara Listing and the state Department of Social Services were on opposite sides of the bill, but agreed on one thing:

About 6,000 girls under 17 received abortions in 1986 and would have to ask their parents' consent if the bill becomes law.

Listing said experience in states with parental consent laws indicates about 25 percent will refuse — resulting in 1,500 fewer abortions. But later the teen pregnancy rate dropped, she said.

DSS opposed the bill, forecasting a 28 percent drop in the number of abortions for minors, a 28 percent rise in births and heavy increases in welfare and public health costs. It did not predict any decline in pregnancies.

The bill would not apply to intrauterine devices or the "morning after" birth control pill. Listing said those are birth control, not abortion, measures.

DISSENTER ON the committee was Sen. John Cherry, D-Cllo.

"I'd like to be informed of medical procedures my children undergo," he said. "I feel I have some parental responsibility, and that includes financial."

Cherry offered an amendment to make parents who refuse to consent to a girl's abortion responsible for pre-natal care and support of the child to age 18. The amendment died for lack of support.

"It boggles my mind that a victim of incest has to seek the consent of the perpetrator," Cherry went on.

But the sponsor, Sen. Jack Welborn, D-Kalamazoo, replied the bill allows a minor to get a state-paid attorney to seek a waiver of consent in the juvenile division of any probate court in the state. The probate judge would have to rule within 48 hours. The hearing would be closed.

"This will improve the status of incest victims," Welborn said. "Currently they can receive a 'secret' abortion. But if the minor went to court, the incest would be brought to light."

Cherry doubted that. "The child would have turned them into authorities prior to that," he said. "I don't think it (the bill) is fair to victims of incest."

3 out of 4 school asbestos plans fail

AP — Only one out of every four Michigan schools has an adequate plan for handling asbestos more than three months after a federal deadline for implementing the plans, a state official said.

All but 179 of Michigan's 5,472 school buildings have submitted plans, Bill DeLiefde, asbestos coordinator for the Michigan Department of Public Health, said Monday.

"Right now, we have approved about 25 percent of the plans that have been submitted," he said.

The remaining 75 percent have been rejected for failure to follow federal regulations regarding removal of the substance, widely used in schools until it was linked to gastrointestinal cancers, lung cancer and other lung disorders.

FEDERAL LAW originally required schools to submit plans for managing asbestos by Oct. 12, 1988, but Congress later granted schools an extension until May 9. Federal legislation required schools to begin implementing the plans by July 1.

Only one out of every four Michigan schools has an adequate plan for handling asbestos more than three months after a federal deadline for implementing the plans.

— State official

The plans must identify where the asbestos is and detail how it will be maintained or removed.

"A lot of people are under the impression the law requires removal of asbestos. That's not the case. The intent is for them to identify it so they can manage it effectively," DeLiefde said.

Asbestos was widely used in schools for such things as floor tiles, glues, suspended ceiling tiles, pipe insulation and fire door cores.

Asbestos that is friable, or made up of fibers that crumble easily and can become airborne, is the most dangerous, DeLiefde said.

PLANS FOR managing asbestos can include periodic inspections, encapsulation and complete removal, he said.

Many of the rejected plans failed to cover all the asbestos in the facilities, spelled out inadequate maintenance plans or failed to include training for personnel designed to run the programs, DeLiefde said.

He blamed the widespread errors on the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's failure to provide more guidance and educational material to schools on how to prepare asbestos management plans.

Schools have up to 90 days after a plan is rejected to resubmit it, he said. Schools usually began implementing their plans before the July 1 deadline even without approval, he said.

BUT DESPITE the inadequacy of the schools' plans, relatively few school children face a health risk, he said.

"Probably the people most at risk is the maintenance people," he said.

DeLiefde has no estimates of the cost of removing or making the asbestos safe, but it is far more than the $47.5 million the federal government makes in grants each year to help poor schools cope with the problem, he said. Michigan receives $1.5 million.

MEANWHILE, Rep. Joe Young Jr., D-Detroit, has asked the House to establish a special committee to study the asbestos problem in Michigan.

O&E staff honored in national contests

In the recent Suburban Newspaper Association contest, Suburban Life editor Sue Mason and reporter Larry O'Connor won third place for in-depth reporting on last November's referendum vote on state-funded abortions, as seen through the eyes of local people involved in both sides of the campaign.

SNA solicits entries from suburban newspapers throughout the United States and Canada.

Mason, 38, edits the Livonia, Redford, Westland and Garden City Suburban Life sections. She also coordinates the Street Scene section that appears Mondays in all editions of the Observer & Eccentric.

A graduate of Wayne State University, she has worked at the O&E for four years. She lives in Westland.

O'Connor, 27, is a four-year employee of the O&E. He has worked on the Suburban Life staff for three years. He also writes and coordinates a music page in Street Scene. He is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University and lives in Wayne.

TWO OTHER O&E newspapers have taken two general excellence awards in the weekly newspaper division from the National Newspaper Association.

The Farmington Observer has won second place for general excellence for weekly papers over 10,000 circulation, and the West Bloomfield Eccentric third place for newspapers in 3,000-5,999 circulation published during 1988.

Bob Sklar is editor of the Farmington Observer. Reporters are Casey Hans and Joanne Maliszewski. Randy Borst is photographer and Loraine McClish edits the Suburban Life section.

Judith Berne was editor of the West Bloomfield Eccentric during the contest period. Reporters were Carolyn DeMarco and Jeff Counts. Photography was by Dan Dean. Rebecca Haynes edits the Suburban Life section.

General excellence measures all facets of the newspaper, with heavy emphasis on its news content.

IN THE SAME contest, the Southfield Eccentric has won third place awards for its editorial page and its lifestyle pages for weeklies over 5,000 circulation. Sandra Armbruster is editor of the Southfield Eccentric; Shirley Rose Iden edits the Suburban Life section.

Corinne Abatt, editor of the Creative Living section, took a second-place award in competition with all weeklies for best review.

O&E staff honored in national contests

In the recent Suburban Newspaper Association contest, Suburban Life editor Sue Mason and reporter Larry O'Connor won third place for in-depth reporting on last November's referendum vote on state-funded abortions, as seen through the eyes of local people involved in both sides of the campaign.

SNA solicits entries from suburban newspapers throughout the United States and Canada.

Mason, 38, edits the Livonia, Redford, Westland and Garden City Suburban Life sections. She also coordinates the Street Scene section that appears Mondays in all editions of the Observer & Eccentric.

A graduate of Wayne State University, she has worked at the O&E for four years. She lives in Westland. O'Connor, 27, is a four-year employee of the O&E. He has worked on the Suburban Life staff for three years. He also writes and coordinates a music page in Street Scene. He is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University and lives in Wayne.

TWO OTHER O&E newspapers have taken two general excellence awards in the weekly newspaper division from the National Newspaper Association.

The Farmington Observer has won second place for general excellence for weekly papers over 10,000 circulation, and the West Bloomfield Eccentric third place for newspapers in 3,000-5,999 circulation published during 1988.

Bob Sklar is editor of the Farmington Observer. Reporters are Casey Hans and Joanne Maliszewski. Randy Borst is photographer and Loraine McClish edits the Suburban Life section.

Judith Berne was editor of the West Bloomfield Eccentric during the contest period. Reporters were Carolyn DeMarco and Jeff Counts. Photography was by Dan Dean. Rebecca Haynes edits the Suburban Life section.

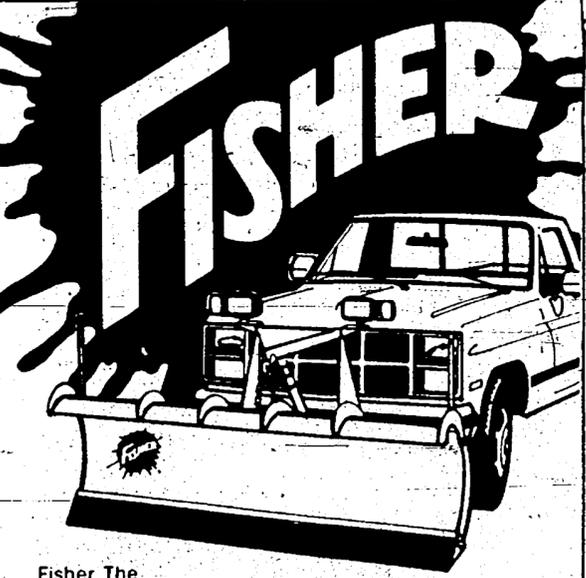

General excellence measures all facets of the newspaper, with heavy emphasis on its news content.

IN THE SAME contest, the Southfield Eccentric has won third place awards for its editorial page and its lifestyle pages for weeklies over 5,000 circulation. Sandra Armbruster is editor of the Southfield Eccentric; Shirley Rose Iden edits the Suburban Life section.

Corinne Abatt, editor of the Creative Living section, took a second-place award in competition with all weeklies for best review.

Bird sanctuaries: fun, interesting fall family trips

Autumn is a great season to take the family for a drive through the country. Colorful leaves raining down on the road only to be splashed in every direction when the car passes by, are sights that can only be seen in fall.

If you want to take a wildlife-oriented weekend trip, let me suggest one to the Michigan State University Biological Station W.K. Kellogg Bird Sanctuary. It is a 2½ hour drive from Detroit near the town of Richland, which is northeast of Kalamazoo.

If you travel I-94 west, you will pass meadows and scattered woodlands. There also are several low wet areas where tamarack grows. In fall tamarack turns a beautiful golden color before dropping its needles. It is the only coniferous tree in Michigan that drops its needles in the fall.

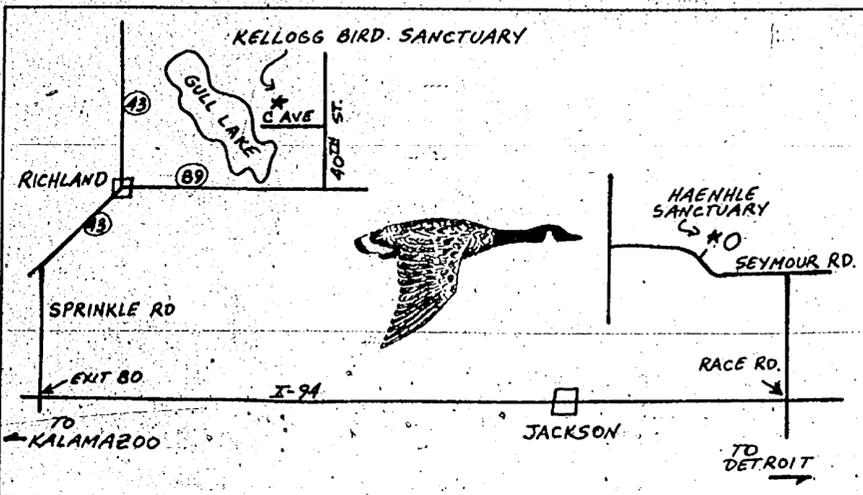

When you arrive at the sanctuary, there is a nominal entrance fee. Once inside you will see many unusual and exotic trees that were planted by botanists years ago. Many are labeled for your convenience. They provide a colorful backdrop to the portion of Gull Lake where waterfowl gather.

There is a paved walkway that goes along the edge of the lake. From this walkway you can see mallards, wood duck, swans, lots of Canada geese, and a few exotic birds. If you are lucky you may see some of the wild turkey that feed on the grounds.

After viewing the wild birds along the lake you will pass by a series of cages where injured birds of prey reside. These are birds that have been treated by students at the MSU veterinary school. They are unable to return to the wild but provide visitors with an opportunity to see these magnificent birds.

Before you leave, be sure to see the white-tailed deer that are in a large pen. A handsome buck is fenced in with three does and a couple sandhill cranes.

Which reminds me, on your way back to Detroit you may want to stop at the Haenhele Sanctuary to watch the sandhill cranes enter their roost for the evening. Exit I-94 at Race Road and go north of Seymour Road, turn left and watch for the sanctuary on your right about a mile down the road. The cranes begin arriving about 4 p.m.

Feds correct drop out rate for Michigan

AP — The U.S. Department of Education has agreed to revise a report that said only 62.4 percent of Michigan high school students graduate, ranking the state 48th in the country. James Phelps, associate superintendent of the Michigan Department of Education, said Tuesday that federal officials agreed errors were made in the original calculation and the correct graduation rate should be 74 percent.

That would rank Michigan 25th in the nation for the 1986-87 school year.

"It was never our position they were going to be good numbers. They went from terrible numbers to not-so-good numbers," Phelps said. State officials still are dissatisfied with the numbers of students who leave school early, Phelps said.

The state had challenged the drop-out rate reported for Michigan in the federal government's 1989 Annual State Education Performance Chart. Phelps said the first rate was figured using an estimate of 100,000 graduates for 1986-87, rather than the actual figure of 102,725.

State officials who reported the information to the federal government also had erroneously included 22,701 adult students in the total enrollment figure and that made the graduate rate appear worse than it was, he said.

Hearing set on health care for veterans

A public hearing on health care services for Wayne County veterans will be 12:30-3:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 27, at VFW Post 345, Redford.

Veterans and their relatives are invited to comment on the federal government's new category system.

The category system, implemented in January, has proved controversial with some veterans claiming it denies them health care.

Health care professionals will also offer testimony. The hearing chairwoman is Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster, head of the commission's special committee on veterans services.

Additional information is available by calling 224-0902.

clarification

A story in the Oct. 12 Observer should have said that although the Conference of Western Wayne declined to apply for a state "quality of life" grant for a regional recycling center, it has applied for state money for recycling education programs in members communities, including Livonia, Westland and Plymouth and Canton, Plymouth and Redford townships.

fully sued after he was arrested, but not charged, in a rape case. In his case, though, the man sued the newspaper, and settled out of court with police.

Though the Freedom of Information Act has been hailed as a media victory, it doesn't give reporters or citizens an absolute right to police information.

Police can withhold crime information if it:

- Constitutes an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy;
- Interferes with law enforcement proceedings.

- Deprives a person of the right to a fair trial or impartial administrative adjudication.

- Discloses the identity of a confidential source or information issued by a confidential source in the process of a criminal investigation.

- Discloses investigative techniques or procedures.

- Endangers the life or physical safety of law enforcement personnel.

The first provision — dealing with privacy rights — is the key said veteran Detroit news investigative reporter Fred Girard, who like Richard is a member of Michigan FOI Committee.

"The key is that word unwarranted," Girard said. "There hasn't been a court challenge yet, and there should be."

In an earlier court ruling, called a key one by Girard, police lost the right to restrict information on the grounds their investigation wasn't complete. The case, Evening News Association vs. the City of Troy, involved the shooting death of an alleged crime suspect by police in the Oakland County community.

"What that ruling did was take away their crutch that information couldn't be released just because there was an ongoing investigation," Girard said.

What remains to be seen is whether a new challenge or a new ruling will make it easier or more difficult to obtain police records.

Court decisions trigger concern

OFTEN I FIND it difficult to suppress a shudder when I read news stories about supreme court decisions.

The reason: High court decisions set precedents, and lower courts follow the precedents.

MY LATEST shudder came earlier this month when the Texas Supreme Court ruled the state's system of funding schools is unconstitutional.

"A remedy is long overdue," said Justice Oscar Mauzy's 9-0 opinion. "The legislature must take immediate action."

Again: "A Band-Aid will not suffice, the system itself must be changed."

The case was brought in 1984 by school districts with low property values. Some districts in Texas were able to spend as little as $2,112 per pupil; others as much as $19,333. Michiganans should know about it because we fund our schools much the same way Texas does — by a combination of state aid and local property taxes.

The difference is that the gap between districts in Michigan is lighter — $2,500 to $7,000. And $7,000 is an exaggerated number because it includes capital spending, not just operating costs.

TEXAS CLEARLY has a worse system than Michigan does. That's scary if the Texas case becomes any kind of precedent — or even an inspiration — to districts challenging the Michigan system.

The odds of its being a precedent are slim, fortunately. First, Texas Gov. Bill Clements is reported to be seeking a special session of the legislature to remedy the situation, so the case is unlikely to be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court. Second, the Texas court ruling was based on the state constitution, not the U.S. Constitution.

But you can see what kind of encouragement lawyers across the country will be getting.

Tim Richard

Texas seems to have a pretty terrible situation. Yet it's the most terrible situations that make cases that set precedents for the rest of us.

CONSIDER THE U.S. Supreme Court's decision in the Stanford Daily case of the 1970s.

A student newspaper covered a disruption in which a campus building was taken over by an unruly lot. The local chief of the police decided he wanted the newspaper's files for evidence against the unruly lot.

The Stanford Daily's mistake was to cover the takeover from inside the building — behind the battle lines of the insurgents.

Ouch! The Stanford Daily lost. Since then, files of mainstream newspapers have become fair game for searches by cops too lazy to do their own detective work. That's stare decisis for you.

THE CURRENT flag burning controversy arose from another bad case going back many years.

The defendant and victorious appellant was something of a creep, as I read the news accounts, who genuinely intended to show disrespect for the flag and the good of U. S. of A.

It would have been better if the cops had busted him for fouling the air with smoke or littering ashes, or some such petty annoyance, instead of going for broke with a charge of flag burning.

The U.S. Supreme Court reversed the conviction, ruling that flag burning was a form of expression protected by the Bill of Rights. So now Congress and President Bush are competing for popular favor by trying to write corrective legislation.

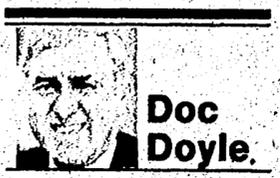

And the Bill of Rights continues to lose popularity with the great unwashed public.

There's an old saying that "no man's life and property are safe when the legislature is in session."

Diitto for supreme courts.

Teachers must agree with change in grade

Last year my son received an E in a class that would have left him short one-half credit and would prevent him from graduating. The teacher had a terrible personality conflict with my son and with me. I'm not sure, looking back, whether it was more our fault or the teacher's fault. However, I believe my son's attitude was taken into consideration when the final E grade was given. After considerable effort and finally a meeting with the teacher and a central office administrator, the grade was changed to a D and my son did graduate. I told my neighbor, a teacher, about this and she said that an administrator cannot change a grade. Administration can change a grade. Right?

Doc Doyle

Wrong. Up until this year a grade change could be made by a principal, a superintendent or his/her designee depending on the district policy or procedure. However, a new law says that a student's grades cannot be changed by an administrator unless the teacher who gave the grade is informed of the reasons for making the change and the teacher concurs.

If the teacher does not concur, a district grade review panel must be formed to address the issue.

This process is a major change in the historical administrative/teacher line of authority. The structure of the grade review panel is such that teachers now have a major role in any grade change. The review panel will consist of three teachers selected, not by administration, but by the local teacher bargaining unit and include one school board member and the superintendent or his/her designee.

What we have is a panel on which teachers represent the majority vote and could overrule the administrator and the board member in a grade review situation by a 3-2 vote. And although the parent and student, as always, can appeal a decision by the grade review panel to the board of education, boards will be very aware that the committee now represents not only administrators but teachers.

What does this all mean? It depends upon the local situation. If a school district's leadership leans toward an autocratic structure, the administrators could have an adjustment problem with a grade review committee on which the maajority vote is controlled by teachers.

In a laissez-faire atmosphere, this may not be a serious problem by the nature of the leadership style that "everything will work out in time."

If a district's administration leans more toward a democratic consensus style, there probably will be less of a problem.

On the other hand, the teachers selected by the bargaining unit now become the critical variable. If members are the hard core, inflexible union members, the review committee could turn into the mini-negotiating committee with review panel teachers defending their peer teachers right to grade as they see fit. Conversely, teachers could say that's the way it has been in the past, only with administration calling the shots.

The bottom line is that a new movement, called teacher empowerment, strongly endorsed by the Michigan Education Association is rapidly emerging in the education field. The movement involves teachers more in the decision-making process. It seems to have worked in Japanese business, industrial and education systems. The Japanese have actively involved their employees in the "quality circle" (where administrators and employees make joint decisions) for several years. Some say their work ethic, products and morale is exemplary.

Personally, I favor having a review committee for a grade change. Having served as "grade appeal" administrator in a central office, it makes sense to have checks and balances. Dr. James Doyle is an assistant superintendent in the Troy School District. The answers provided here are the opinions of Doyle and not the Troy School District. Questions for this column should be sent to Doc Doyle c/o the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

Time changeover is part of society

IT'LL BE happening soon. That semiannual rite that always causes me to resort to the mnemonic device of "Spring ahead, fall back."

"It" of course, is the changeover from daylight-saving time, and it's the last Sunday in October when we all set our watches ... let's see, fall BACK ... yeah, back one hour.

We've been doing this for the past 22 years, since the Uniform Time Act went into effect in 1967, so the ritual has become as much a part of American society as interstate highways and home-delivered pizza.

But it was not always so. And when I read the other day about a law being considered by the Tennessee Legislature, it reminded me of what I used to call the DST Paradigm.

Using this method of thinking, legislators might be able to solve most of society's major problems simply by passing more creative laws. Let me explain.

WHEN THE Uniform Time Act established daylight-saving time on a national scale, any state could, by an act of its legislature, exempt itself from participating in DST. Many legislatures took up the issue.

In Arkansas, where I was working for United Press International, the state Senate finally voted against an exemption, but only after a long and heated debate on the subject.

After the exemption was voted down, one disgruntled senator introduced a resolution that the Arkansas Senate go on record as proclaiming the earth to be flat.

When a colleague asked the purpose of the resolution, the senator proclaimed solemnly: "If we can change God's time, we can change the shape of the earth."

Such logic, it seemed to me, needed a name. I called it the DST Paradigm.

Now the Tennessee Legislature is using that paradigm as the basis for a proposed law simply called the children's policy. The policy is an attempt to deal with problems ranging from drug abuse to youth employment.

On Page 12 of the proposal is the following statement:

"The general assembly finds that adolescents must not become pregnant."

HOW SIMPLE. How fundamental. A perfect example of the DST Paradigm. If other states, and even the Congress, followed suit, most of society's problems could be dealt with so basically.

"Don't use drugs." "Don't drink and drive." "Don't go hungry."

Yet somewhere in there is a missing element.

The Legislature can't really change the shape of the earth. Can it?

Happy holidays

Children's Hospital of Michigan

THE FAST approaching holiday season is a time of giving.

One way that people give is by letting family and friends know they care and remember through the sending of Christmas cards.

At such a time, it seems appropriate that many of the holiday cards available are sold by service groups and organizations. Buying one of those cards is giving a greeting that continues to give way past the holiday season.

Selections include Children's Hospital of Michigan. Postcards in a box of 10, cards and gift tags are available at several locations in the metropolitan area or by mail. Mail orders must be prepaid (make checks or money order payable to C.H.M. Auxiliary). Mail to Karen Haller, 4097 Colonial Blvd., Troy 48098, or call at 689-5339, or CHM Volunteer Office at 745-5326.

The American Cancer Society has several card styles available in boxes of 25, costing between $11 to $19. Cards are available at the Wayne County office, 6701 Harrison, Garden City. Payment by cash, personal check, Visa or MasterCard. Brochures are available by calling 425-6830.

The Association of Retarded Citizens Northwest Communities has two cards, designed by Bruce Rice, 27, and Gina Gonzalez, a Bryant School student. The cards cost $8 per box and are available at the ARC office, 12259 Beech Daly, Redford Township, between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. They're also available by mail by calling 937-2360.

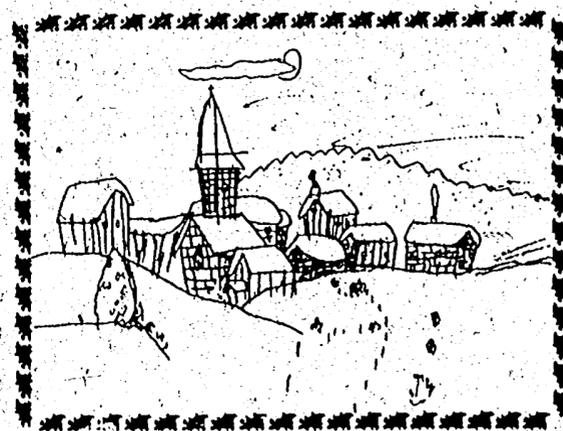

The Nardin Park Braille Transcriber is offering a Christmas tree card. A box of 25 cards with gold foil-lined white envelopes costs $7. To order call Marilyn Wegiwnka at 691-2387 or Fran Hoetger at 476-4978. Cards can be picked up in Farmington and Livonia or shipped by UPS at a cost of $1.50 for the first box and 25 cents for each additional box.

As a public service, The Observer & Eccentric annually publishes sampler pages of holiday cards available from non-profit organizations. The pages are published on a space available basis in our 12 editions.

In addition, scrapbooks of the cards are maintained at the five O&E offices — 36261 Schoolcraft, Livonia; 93203 Grand River, Farmington; 410 N. Main, Rochester; 489 S. Main, Plymouth; and 605 E. Maple, Birmingham.

Qualities make writer valuable asset at work

Dear Lorene,

I've read and enjoyed your column very much. I am a 61-year-old widow, still in the work field. Also I am right handed.

There has been so many changes in my life that I'm curious to see what you have to say in my handwriting analysis.

Much appreciation and thanks for your consideration.

E.J., Farmington

Dear E.J.,

It is not surprising that you are still in the work force because you have many outstanding qualities which make you a valuable asset. Your handwriting quickly tells me you are a dominant woman and highly disciplined.

You are a forceful person who commands respect from those around you. You are also competitive and unafraid of hard work. Strong motivation and determination are driving forces. You are direct in your approach to goals and definitely results oriented.

A conscientious nature requires that things be done efficiently. You know how to organize your time well. When there is a task to be done, you do not relax until it is completed. People know they can count on you when you make a commitment.

In your work place as well as your home, you are neat, clean and orderly. Your personal appearance would also reflect these qualities.

Although you are an emotional woman by nature, you seem to work at keeping your feelings under rigid control. Your manners reflect proper behavior as you perceive it. I suspect few people know you intimately.

Your mind is probing and analytical. You probably enjoy reading. You like to reason out new information for yourself then decide what graphology.

Lorene Green

There has been so many changes in my life that I'm curious to see what you have to say in my handwriting analysis. Much appreciation and thanks for your consideration.

you can accept and what you wish to discard. No one would call you glib.

It seems quite possible you have an interest in spirituality or mysticism. Small talk doesn't excite you and you may become restless or bored when life does not hold a challenge for you.

You need recognition from others and appear to be willing to take on responsibilities that will provide this.

Your spacing suggests that you have turned away from certain things in your past. Still there is some reluctance about the future and what it holds for you.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Date of birth, full signature and handedness are all helpful. And feedback is always welcome.

Grant deadline is Nov. 1

College juniors or seniors who are majoring in education or educational professionals have until Wednesday, Nov. 1, to submit applications for a grant-in-aid/scholarship from the Gamma Alpha chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma. Two grants of $250 will be awarded this fall. The grants can be used to pursue professional growth and development.

Applications are available from Clare Howell at 1800 Newburgh Road, Livonia 48152 or by calling her at 523-9262.

College club stitches up a show

By Sue Mason
staff writer

Give Marlane Sobodash a needle, some thread and material and she's in heaven. Ditto for Jean Vickers and Doris Cross. And while Eileen Smith has no fondness for sewing, she also works out with a needle and thread.

All are members of the Happy Hoopers, a quilting club at Schoolcraft Community College.

The club was formed in May 1988 as an offshoot of quilting classes offered through the college's continuing education program.

"They all got so advanced that they didn't need the classes, but they still needed to share ideas and do quilting together," said Cross, the quilting instructor. "So they ended up forming the club."

The Happy Hoopers meet on the lower level of the Waterman Campus Center 1-3 p.m. Tuesdays. They sit around a large table in a conference room, working on quilting projects, sharing patterns and, if the quilt top fits the "sticks," or quilt frame, having an old-fashioned quilting bee.

Participation isn't limited to the weekly meetings. Members carpool to quilt shows and seminars, and they attended a recent quilting seminar on Beaver Island in northern Lake Michigan. Some even get together before the club meetings to have lunch at the college.

"I'm really not surprised that they formed the club," said Cross, who has been teaching quilting for five years at the college.

"IN CLASS, they'd often ask what we were going to do next," she said. "Now, many of them are quilting more than me and better than me."

Club members have been so prolific that they will stage their first

'I figured out I made $5 an hour and that didn't include the material. And I gave up a good job to do this.'

— Marlane Sobodash

quilt show at the request of the student activities department, Oct. 23-26 in the cafeteria of the Waterman Center.

The show will feature at least 50 full-sized quilts and wall hangings, in various stages of completion. Also featured will be antique quilts.

Mariane Sobodash of Northville is one of the more prolific club members, an honor that's earned friendly chiding from fellow club members.

"You go to Doris's class and she gives you a pattern," one member said. "People would come in with a wall hanging. Mariane would come in with a whole quilt."

Sobodash has completed eight quilts in three years. One has an appraised value of $1,000.

But this isn't a hobby geared for profit. "I figured out I made $5 an hour, and that didn't include the material," she said. "And I gave up a good job to do this."

She said she always wanted to do quilting but didn't delve into it until she quit work. "It gives you a chance to be creative," she said.

"It gets to be kind of a disease," she added. "I got into the first class and got hooked."

Sobodash's dining room is now her quilting room. There she keeps all her tools and material including four sewing machines — "in case one breaks."

She added: "I've driven 800 miles to quilt shows. I've gone by boat car and plane to quilt shows and I can't drive past a quilt store."

LIKE SOBODASH, Jean Vickers of Livonia waited until after she quit working to learn quilting. She took Cross's classes at the college and "one thing led to another."

She usually works on two or three quilts at a time. "If I only had one to work on, I'd get bored," she explained.

At recent club meetings, she's been working on her fourth quilt, a king-sized one in the "double Irish chain pattern."

Fellow quilter Eileen Smith of Livonia nearly has finished her Sunbonnet Sue quilt. Smith's work requires a special effort because she hates to sew.

"I hate it with a passion. The only time I sew is when I come here," she said. "I took the class so I could finish a quilt my grandmother had started," she said.

Smith found two quilt tops in the Sunbonnet Sue and Dresden plate patterns that were made by her late grandmother. She plans to finish both of them for her daughters, "so I can tell them they're by their great-grandmother and mother."

Smith has the honor of being the club's "most improved quilter," according to Cross. Smith shrugs off the compliment, saying that club members "are so good to me because they know I'm so helpless."

The Happy Hoopers quilt show will be from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Thursday, Oct. 23-26, in the cafeteria of the Waterman Campus Center at Schoolcraft Community College, Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile roads, Livonia.

Happy Hooper Doris Cross works on a blue and white quilt, titled "Burgoyne Surrounded," which she hopes to have completed for the club's quilt show later this month.

Oak leaves and acorns provide the color for an appliqued quilt being completed by Victoria Spehar.

It was a sad occasion, but members of the Northwest Wayne-Oakland Soroptimists Club — Fran Moore (from left) of Livonia, Mary Von-Glahn of Northville, Ruth Storch of Livonia, Agnès Colarossi of Redford and Marge Papora of Union Lake — still found something to smile about after voting last week to disband the club.

Dwindling membership spells the end for club

By Sue Mason
staff writer

When the Northwestern Wayne-Oakland County Soroptimist Club met last week, it was a bittersweet affair.

With little fanfare the club's remaining active members voted to go the way of the Edsel, nickel candy bars and 10-cent telephone calls.

In the next few months, club members will decide how to disperse the money they have collected for service projects and notify the international organization that the club is no more.

"It was inevitable," said club treasurer Marge Papora. "You have to have a minimum of 15 active members to be chartered. We have seven active members and four life members, who don't count as active, so we're going to lose our charter probably in January."

The club had been in existence since 1981 when the Livonia and Plymouth clubs merged. At one time, members came from Livonia, Plymouth, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Novi, Northville and Southfield.

Papora isn't certain how many years there's been a Soroptimist club in the area. She estimates at least 20-25 years, considering some women have been club members for at least that long.

And part of the club's demise relates to the aging membership, Papora said.

"A lot of the members are older and they've been doing this work for 20 years," she said. "They expect the younger women to take over and they're not."

SOROPTIMIST is an international business women's organization founded in 1921 in California. In addition to local service projects, member clubs provide training awards for women and youth citizenship awards for high school seniors and support for international projects in developing countries done in conjunction with United Nations.

Local service projects for the Northwestern Wayne-Oakland County club have involved First Step, western Wayne County's domestic violence shelter, and Hospice of Southeastern Michigan.

At one time the organization limited the number of members from the different career classifications, but has eased up on that rule, Papora said. And even with such changes, it hasn't helped keep the Northwestern Wayne-Oakland County club going.

"A lot of it (loss of membership) has to do with time," she said. "A majority of women are single and have to keep up a home on their own. They just don't have the time, and some people just aren't joiners."

Women's clubs like Zonta and Business and Professional Women have also cut in the club's ranks, partially because the Soroptimist club hasn't had people in positions to promote the organization to the public, Papora said.

"IT'S SURPRISING," she added, "Soroptimists is really big in California; you even see commercials for it on TV. And there's one club in Grosse Pointe that has 70 members. I don't know how they do it."

Papora joined the club, in 1981. She lives in Union Lake, but works in Livonia, so the Thursday evening meetings fit into her schedule. With the end of this club, she's considering joining one closer to home, maybe the club in Ferndale.

"I bothers me a lot," she said of the club's demise. "I could cry real easy over this. I've been going to Soroptimists for years as a sort of an unofficial member because my mother was a member."

Papora has held every position except recording secretary for the club. Before joining the Soroptimist club, she was active in the Cub Scouts and with a civic association.

And as the club prepares to end its tenure, it faces the task of letting the public know that there will be no more awards programs.

"This is when we usually send out the citizenship award applications," Papora said. "I've already gotten calls from schools and parents about it. It's only a $150 award, but it recognizes the kids for their contribution to society not scholastics."

"It's going to be hard."

Renewal helps churches prosper

By Sue Mason
staff writer

Judy Wyzlic already is seeing the effects on the parishioners of St. Edith Catholic Church.

Renew already is bringing people together and building community spirit just over a week after getting started at the Livonia church.

"The whole parish is involved one way or another," Wyzlic said. "Everyone is involved at whatever level they felt comfortable at."

Renew is a program for revitalizing Catholic parishes developed by two priests from Newark, N.J. more than 20 years ago. The purpose of the program is to create a "more vibrant faith community and caring Christian community," according to Nancy Branigan, a regional Renew coordinator.

"It's a spiritual growth process," she said. "Some people are afraid at first; Catholics are a quiet people and this is a growth experience. It's Catholics taking a second look at where they're at and where they want to go."

Thirty-eight churches in the Archdiocese of Detroit began the Renew process Oct. 8. Four western Wayne County churches — St. Edith and St. Maurice in Livonia, St. Agatha in Redford Township and St. John Neumann in Canton Township — are participating in the program.

Renew is a three-year program, broken up into five six-week sessions in the fall and during the Lenten season. Each session has a theme that is conveyed through weekend liturgies, take-home materials, small and large group activities. Participation covers all age groups from teenagers to senior citizens.

THE SMALL group activities can include such things as faith sharing experiences in which participants talk about how God touched them during their lives and helped them through good and bad times or reading from the Bible and reflecting on God's message, Branigan said. Large group activities include such things as prayer vigils and the weekend liturgies.

The theme for the first Renew session is "The Lord's Call," a look at the needs people have and how the Lord seeks to answer those needs.

The other themes include "Our Response to the Lord's Call," a look at the need to make a choice for Christ, "Empowerment by the Spirit," which deals with the Gospel-based concept for social jus-lice, "Discipleship," which provides for increased lay ministry formation, and "Evangelization," newly revitalized Christian communities reaching out to others with the Gospel message they have received.

"The purpose is for us to better understand how Christ speaks to us through the Scriptures," Branigan said. "It makes for a more vibrant faith community and a more caring Christian community. People are more sensitive toward each other."

A team of parish members are trained in the Renew program, then go back to their church to help implement it. Wyzlic and her husband Jim are two of four coordinators at St. Edith. The Wyzlics took the training because "the calling was so strong for Renew."

"We couldn't refuse, but we never thought we'd be coordinators," she said. "It's been a fair amount of work, but I'm excited to see what the end result will be. We're the instruments of putting this together for the Holy Spirit, and the Holy Spirit will make Renew happen."

AT ST. EDITH, 350 adults have signed up for the fall session of Renew and both Wyzlic and the pastor, Rev. Jim Scheick, expect that number to increase by the second session that ties in with the Lenten season.

While Renew is broken up into sessions, Wyzlic said those sessions don't necessarily have beginnings and ends.

"We focus for six weeks and then let it develop, then focus again for six weeks," she said. "You go back to your activities with a renewed spirit and a sense of community."

Scheick decided to look into the Renew program after hearing good things about it from the pastor of St. Linus Church in Dearborn Heights and several other parishes.

"When you visit a church that's in the Renew process, you see a difference," Scheick said. "The people are involved."

The timing of the Renew process is perfect for St. Edith's. The parish is in the process of building a new church and Renew will be "a good thing to find out what church means," he said.

"All those people (in Renew) tend to make a commitment and that tends to continue after the end of three years," Scheick said. "A lot of things happen. Renew is a great vision of how to revitalize the church."

"This is the way to make the church and home a small community."

Courage gives us that control over our lives

How do we take control of our lives? First, we must recognize our own capacity. Dr. Abraham Maslow, a noted psychologist, estimated that the average human being achieves only 7 percent of his potential. Should we rest content with such a meager harvest?

Our biggest handicap is a distorted self-image. When we think of ourselves as incapable, unlovable, unsuccessful, when we have a positive sense of self, our achievements will reflect that self-appraisal.

We tend to become what we imagine ourselves to be. We achieve as we believe. A person's outlook is determined by his attitude. We can either make ourselves miserable or make ourselves strong.

An anonymous poet conveyed this truth:

"If you think you are beaten, you are;
If you think you dare not, you don't.
If you like to win but you can't,
It's almost a cinch you won't."

If you think you'll lose, you're lost;
For out in the world we find Success begins with a fellow's will;
It's all in the state of mind."

This summer, a 29-year-old paraplegic paralyzed from the waist down since a 1982 climbing accident finished a grueling eight-day climb up El Capitan, one of the highest mountains in Yosemite National Park.

Mark Wellman became the first paraplegic to make the 3,200-foot climb, doing 7,000 pull-ups on ropes placed by his partner.

Wellman told reporters "You have a dream, and you know the only way

For most of us, this word conjures images of soldiers going over the top, or other feats of daring, but courage is much more than this. It is the willingness to risk failure or disapproval in the effort to create a new and better reality.

that dream is going to happen is if you just do it... even if it is 6 inches at a time."

The second step to achieving our best is courage.

For most of us, this word conjures images of soldiers going over the top, or other feats of daring, but courage is much more than this. It is the willingness to risk failure or disapproval in the effort to create a new and better reality.

A life without courage is a life over which we exercise no control. Consider this whimsical statement:

"There was a very cautious man who never laughed, or played. He never risked, he never tried. He never sang or prayed. And when he one day passed away, His insurance was denied. For since he never really lived, They claimed he never died."

Bounty on the boards Farmington Barn Players open with a classic

By Kevin Lawrence
special writer

IT'S HARVEST time and the old Williams barn in Farmington Hills is buzzing with activity. Once again Metro Detroit playgoers will reap the theatrical bounty sown by the Farmington Players as they open their 1989-90 season the evening of Oct. 27, with the classic World War II drama — "Mr. Roberts."

And you won't find the Players standing out in front of the white barn they've called home since 1955, flagging down should-be playgoers from 12 Mile and dragging them inside.

"When we first started in 1951," Players historian Pearl Briggs recalled with a laugh, "we had to go out on the streets to get folks to watch us. Now we sell out all the time."

"Back then we were known as the American Association of University Women and we performed in the Universalist Church basement. We grew into the Farmington Players by 1955 when we leased the white dairy barn on 12 Mile."

THE "BARN" HAS become a symbol in Southeastern Michigan for good community theater. And while the barn has been improved over the years to its present comfortable state, the combined efforts of many of the group's members, much of the credit goes to the four remaining original founding mem-

'This place was a real barn. No bathrooms, a dirt floor, no heat and pigeons in the ceiling galore. We put in a wood floor. The milkroom was remodeled into the kitchen. We added restrooms and eventually got the pigeons to roost elsewhere.'

bers. Hope and George Nahstoll really started the players and kept things going," said Briggs, who along with husband Don, are also original members and the focus of a tribute this year by the group. "Hope is really Mrs. Farmington Players, the spirit of the group." These last original members pooled $1,000 each toward a $10,000 down payment on the purchase of the barn in the early '60s.

Initially, the players performed in the round — the audience circled around the actors, in the basement of the barn on a dirt floor. Over the years, various "home" improvements contributed to the comfort of actors and playgoer.

"This place was a real barn. No bathrooms, a dirt floor, no heat and pigeons in the ceiling galore," said Briggs. "We put in a wood floor. The milkroom was remodeled into the kitchen. We added restrooms and eventually got the pigeons to roost elsewhere."

Don Briggs was in on many of those barn improvements.

"HEAT, OF COURSE was a real concern," he explained. "When Our Lady of Sorrows Church was rebuilt, the builder gave us the old coal furnace. We got it over to the barn but it was too big. Well, we got the place heated with the installation of three modern furnaces. Then we built an addition on the rear of the building so we'd have a place to build sets and store costumes. Recently, we rewired" all the electrical and brought it up to code."

An interesting sidelight of the remodeling process is the set of old theater chairs being reupholstered for the '89-90 season. Don Briggs explained: "They're quite old. Back when the Masonic Hall was being remodeled, we bought a bunch of these chairs for 50 cents apiece. We're refurbishing them and keeping the old theater look."

The Farmington Players is a non-profit organization and membership is open to all. Membership dues are $25. Communities represented by the 120 members include Union Lake, Warren, Southfield, Plymouth, Redford, Birmingham, Royal Oak, Bloomfield Hills and Farmington, Farmington Hills. They meet every third Saturday of the month for a short business meeting and a workshop. A workshop might consist of a one-act play where newcomers can hit the boards for the first time, or auditions may be held for an upcoming production.

This season, which runs from October through May consists of three performances. "Mr. Roberts" opens Oct. 27, 28, 29 and continues Nov. 2-5, 9-12 and 16-18. February sees "Waiting for the Parade" opening on the Feb. 2-4 and running 8-11, 15-18 and Neil Simon's "The Odd Couple" April 27-29, May 3-6, 10-13 and 17-19.

Curtain time for Thursday-Saturday shows is 8 p.m. Sunday performances are at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday nights tend to be sell-outs so plan on getting tickets early. Tickets are $6 at the door. Discount season tickets or other ticket information may be obtained by calling 538-1670.

'Desert Song' an oasis

By Mary Jane Doerr
special writer

Talent abounds when Northville's historic Marquis Theatre can cast 21 singers in the 1928 hit operetta "Desert Song" who look and act their parts.

These are singers who had no trouble with Sigmund Romberg's challenging music and delivered acting that was just as exceptional.

The Lawrence of Arabia superman plot sets an unlikely British society columnist who writes for the Paris Daily Mail with several French generals in the Foreign Legion and a single woman from the convent who has set out for an adventure, into the middle of an Arab desert in Morocco.

An unhappy jilted lover, Azuri, with a knife in her belly dancing skirt, deals with the situation when her man, the volatile Captain Paul Fontaine turns his attentions on the newly arrived French lady, Margot.

The general's moron son, Pierre, is really the brilliant leader of the Arabs who dons a red mask and cape as the Red Shadow. He is the Robin Hood of the desert, or the Lone Ranger of the west, who comes to rescue the Arabs from their merciless dilemma of French rule and heavy taxation.

DAVID NELSON designed sets of subtle desert colors accented with gilded drapery materials and blended with Inge Zayt's lush costumes to give the feel of spaciousness of the stage. Victorian wicker furniture also gave the 1920s look of elegance. The Marquis Theatre has motorized its backdrops to quicken the eight scene changes in the two act operetta.

Aaron Hunt, a singer/dancer/actor himself, conducted a smooth sounding pickup orchestra. On stage his directing kept the two and a half hour operetta from being anything but boring.

Mary Kay Kinlen carries the show with her bright "I am ready for some fun" presence. Never is the music too high for her operatic voice and the higher she goes the stronger she sounds. Ken Haering is a wonderful baritone especially in his duets with Kinlen ("The Desert Song") and his solo "One Alone."

He plays Pierre as a moron which entails moving constantly back and forth between self assured leader of the Arabs to the high pitch sound of a crouching Pierre. It was most real if not touching.

Acting kudos must go to Lori Monson, the knife carrying dancer, Azuri, and to Jeffrey Wooley who comically portrayed Benjamin Benly Worthington Kidd III, a misfit if there ever was one. Monson's acting set up the entire balance of the show. She brought out Paul Fontaine's (Paul Silver) real personality in their violent confrontations. She gave the show credibility in her expounding of the treatment of the native people and she set up the light-hearted ending. Wooley provided the comic relief of the foil role to perfection.

Elizabeth Winger must be recognized for her castanet dancing in the All Ben All harem. Michael Ollis's tenor voice is a beauty especially in "If One Flower."

Broadway revivals are a fascinating reflection of earlier times. This show reflects the anger of the native peoples over colonial rule in Africa as early as 1925, long before the revolutions took place. It is serious comedy. French stories with British jokes ("Les Miserables," "Phantom of the Opera") are still loved by Americans.

"Desert Song" will continue at the Marquis Theatre, 135 E. Main, Northville, weekends through Oct. 29. Performances Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. Sunday matinee at 2:30 p.m. Tickets Friday and Saturday $10; $11 Saturday. Call 349-0868 for more information.)

Blasters: 'songs with layers of meaning'

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Phil Alvin of the Blasters calls for a pop quiz. The subject? Popular music of 1929.

"You mean you know who Blind Lemon Jefferson is but you don't know the Great White Way Orchestra?" asked Alvin, incredulously.

So the education from the mathematics teacher-turned-vocalist/guitarist with the Blasters begins. Record companies, artist royalties, Stray Cats, Republicans and Farm Aid and a thing called American music are subjects covered during this class.

All those things perhaps pale in comparison to the matter at hand: the Blasters' music.

The band emerged from the Los Angeles area during the height of the punk music explosion stateside in the early '80s. People were weary with the corporate rock ooze and began examining the roots of the rebellious music.

Then along came the Blasters, a crack four-man outfit with a searing brand of rhythm and blues with a Western edge. Some mistakenly called it rockabilly. Phil Alvin corrected them. "The word I use is American music," he said.

Some hailed the group as the best thing since Creedence Clearwater Revival. Their self-titled debut album on Slash/Warner soared.

Indeed, the Blasters were big in 1982.

At that point, a band is expected to play the game. A game in which musicians' careers are moved like the pieces on a Monopoly board. Their destiny is in the hands of record companies, or "furniture companies" as Alvin refers to them.

ALVIN OPENLY questions standard operating procedure in the record business.

"Before everything was done by single," he said. "Then they were collected and an album was released, sometimes as a musical history."

"Then in the middle '60s you were supposed to do an album every two years. Who told us this? ... It came from the furniture companies; that's who."

And that's the least of his complaints. Alvin launches into a detailed history of the concept of artist royalties, which he said musicians never see.

Alvin also discusses the future of the business, which he predicts will return to the hands of the artists. His vision has major labels becoming catalogue warehouses. "There will be a brighter day tomorrow," he said.

The band has four releases on Slash/Warner, including a live EP "Live at the Venue." Alvin said the band didn't exercise its option when the contract was up with Slash/Warner.

The Blasters might not be on a label, but the group is still planning an LP. Alvin said the album, tentatively-titled "Which Side Are You On?," probably will not be out before May.

A lack of a label contract, though, is not a major hangup.

"It makes me feel bad when people feel I've been weakened because we're not on a label," Alvin said. "Heck, that's what we wanted. We could make more money selling cassettes out of the trunk of our car."

"We're not not on a label because of a lack of interest. We're not on a label because I know the business."

THE MAIN source of income and admiration has come via live performances. The Blasters feature one of the hottest lead guitarists on the circuit, Greg Hornel.

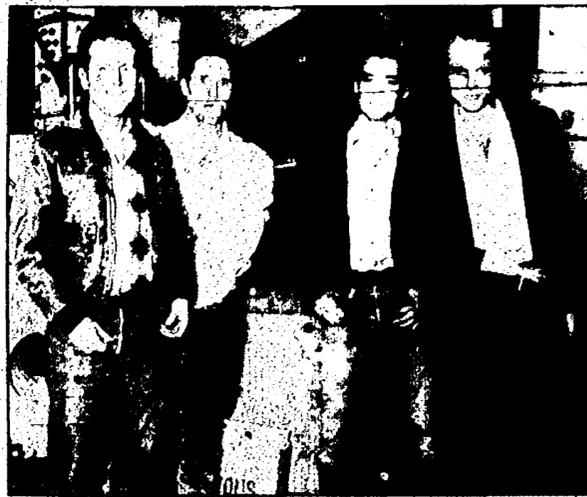

Hornel performed with Robbie Robertson and Bo Diddley along with a number of club bands. The Los Angeles native replaced Michael "Hollywood Fats" Mann, who died of a heart attack in December of 1986.

Three months earlier, Mann was picked to replace Dave Alvin (Phil's brother), who left the Blasters to pursue a solo career.

The Blasters, mainly Phil Alvin, have never been one to hide their socio-political views. The band wrote an anti-Reagan tune, "Common Man," which it performed at Farm Aid.

"The clearest effect of Republican administration is that it has polarized the country into the haves and the have-nots," Alvin said. "I think the rightest revolution has waned."

The Blasters will perform at 10 p.m. Friday, Oct. 20, at Alvin's, 5756 Cass, Detroit. For information, call 832-2355. The group also performs at 10 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 21, at the Blind Pig, 208 S. First, Ann Arbor. For information, call 996-8555.

The Blasters will be appearing in the area this weekend, Friday night in Detroit and Saturday night in Ann Arbor.

Festivities mark opening

American Multi Cinema Inc. will open its newest state-of-the-art, multi-screen theater complex, Laurel Park 10 in Livonia, with a weekend film festival and a weekend of grand opening festivities which will include a charity benefit that will be part of the official ribbon-cutting ceremony.

Festivities for Laurel Park 10, located at Newburgh and Six Mile roads inside Laurel Park Place Mall, will begin Friday with the weekend film festival and will end the following weekend with a children's cartoon festival. The week also will include a VIP ribbon-cutting ceremony with Livonia mayor Robert D. Bennett joining other Livonia dignitaries on Wednesday, Oct. 25. Proceeds from the evening will benefit the Greenmead Trust Fund to help with the restoration of the community's historical site.

THE RIBBON-CUTTING and VIP reception will be followed by the sneak preview of a major motion picture.

Laurel Park 10 will offer the Computerized Automatic Ticket Sales system which was launched in the Detroit area at AMC's Maple 3 Theaters in September. When doors open to the public on Friday, Oct. 27, the new system will allow patrons to phone or visit the box office up to three days in advance to purchase their tickets, as well as use their American Express, Visa, Mastercard or Discover credit cards at the time of admission.

AMC also owns and operates the Wonderland 6, in Wonderland Mall at Plymouth and Middlebelt roads, due to open Nov. 3.

Funeral homes add bereavement library to services

ART EMANUELE/tell photographer

Leonard Turowski Jr. and his wife Vicki scan through some of the books available in the grief libraries added to two funeral homes Leonard A. Turowski and Neely-Turowski Funeral Homes in Livonia.

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

When Leonard Turowski Jr. became the director of two funeral homes, he knew he had many tasks ahead. He didn't figure librarian would be one of them.

Turowski and his wife, Vicki, are just that after adding a grief library at both Leonard A. Turowski and Neely-Turowski Funeral Homes in Livonia. When grieving, people search for answers. They hope the library can provide some of them.

On the shelf in the firelit area are 130 books on bereavement by several well-known people in the field, including Robert Fulton, Robert Weiss and Dr. Earl A. Grollman.

If anything the library signals a change in the funeral business.

"My idea is that during a funeral, families have a lot of people around them who are very supportive and who are willing to help with the things that need to be done," said Leonard Turowski, president of Neely-Turowski Funeral Homes. "As time goes on, people go back to their everyday life.

"Immediate family members return home by themselves. For the first time, they're alone. Then the grief process begins."

Grief counselors will tell you that's when a survivor really needs peace of mind. On the well-stocked shelves of his funeral home, Turowski hopes people can find solace.

The idea for the library came about after Leonard Turowski attended a Batesville Management Seminar in 1979. One of the speakers brought up the notion of putting together a library.

THE TUROWSKIS thought it was a novel idea. After a renovation three years ago, the family put together a grief library at the funeral home on Five Mile Road, near Middlebelt. Four months later everything was in place.

Books for the subject weren't difficult to find, Turowski said. Cataloging more than 100 books was a bit of a chore, however.

People can borrow a book for a week. They are checked out just as they would at a library, except there are no fines for overdue books.

"People will come in, not only immediate family, but people with children," said Vicki Turowski, who is pre-needs director for the funeral homes. "They want to make sure when children ask questions they have the right answers for them."

For children, there are tapes and books to help them understand death a little more easily.

In two years, the library has taken on several functions. Not only are people who have experienced a death in the family using it, so are students from area high schools for resources on death and bereavement.

Community service has been a big part of the Turowskis niche in the funeral business. The family was a recipient of 1987-88 "Pursuit of Excellence Award" for its efforts.

Representatives from the funeral homes have made presentations at career days at area high schools. Also, they have provided a professional resource person to teach classes at Madonna College about death, dying and bereavement.

TUROWSKI WAS also instrumental in starting the WISER (Widows In Service) support group at Schoolcraft College.

The family has been in the funeral business since 1919, starting in Detroit. Then, a funeral home's role was solely one-dimensional.

First of two parts.
This month's Family Finances column focuses on some common characteristics of those who are successful financially. In analyzing the financial situations of the many respondents to our column, some common threads emerge in those who have been able to build their personal wealth. Through the sharing of these observations, we are hopeful that our readership will gain some insight that will be of assistance in accomplishing their financial goals.

"To get money is difficult, but to keep it is even more difficult." All of us have money that we receive either through wages, investment income or other sources. It is how we manage this inflow that determines long-term financial success.

Generally, most people who have been able to accumulate significant assets fall into one of three categories. We will call these three types—the savers, the achievers and the investors.

The savers remember the story of the tortoise and the hare. They believe that slow but steady financial progress will ultimately win the race.

Establishing the habit of savings for the long term is the single most common attribute to financially successful people. Initially, it seems as if the amount saved does not matter—establishing the habit is the important factor.

The savers have discovered that even modest amounts saved regularly over a long period of time will grow into significant sums. For example, $150 per month invested at 8 percent over 35 years would grow to more than $340,000. If an average rate of 12 percent can be achieved, the monthly investment of $150 would grow to almost $1 million.

THE SAVERS realize the magic of compounding. Over time, money grows exponentially when the interest is reinvested and compounded.

For many people, the forced discipline of an automatic savings plan is helpful. Several strategies can be adopted by those who want to begin a regular savings or investment program. Three methods will be discussed here.

Many employers will, upon request, automatically transfer a portion of their employees' paychecks into a credit union account or other savings vehicle. If used solely for investments and long-term growth, this money can form the foundation of future financial security. We typically recommend that this account be completely separate from your general checking account and any savings account used for periodic major purchases. This account should be used solely for long-term investments. Don't use the money for expendi-

K mart to merge with PACE

K mart Corp., based in Troy, announced an agreement Monday that says the world's second-largest retailer will purchase PACE Membership Warehouse Inc. for $23 a share, or about $322 million.

The board of the Colorado company, which has membership warehouses in Michigan and 10 other states, has approved the agreement and recommended that stockholders tender their shares, the companies said.

Under the terms of the merger agreement, a wholly owned subsidiary of K mart will begin a tender offer to purchase all outstanding PACE shares at a price of $23 per share in cash. Any shares not purchased in the tender offer will be acquired by K mart in a subsequent merger at the same $23 cash price.

"The combination of K mart and PACE Membership Warehouse represents a partnership of two fine organizations. The membership warehouse club concept has great potential, and the long-term prospects for PACE Membership Warehouse and its employees will be enhanced by the affiliation with K mart," a joint release issued by the two companies said. "PACE Membership Warehouse will continue to operate under its present management, as will K-mart's Makro Inc."

Makro is a six-unit membership warehouse club chain with units located in the Cincinnati, Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Baltimore and Cleveland markets.

K mart Corp., the world's second-largest retailer, posted sales of $27.3 billion in 1988. As of Sept. 27, 1989, the corporation operated 4,150 stores in all 50 states and in Puerto Rico and Canada, including 2,283 K mart discount stores, 1,247 Waldenbooks, 141 Builders Square, 279 Pay Less Drug and six Makro stores.

PACE Membership Warehouse operated 41 membership warehouses in California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Nebraska, North Carolina and Pennsylvania. Its 1988 sales were $1.3 billion.

Morgan Stanley & Co. and James D. Wolfensohn Inc. will serve as co-dealer managers of the tender offer. Goldman, Sachs & Co. acted as financial adviser to PACE in connection with the transaction.

In other news, the K mart board approved a cash dividend to be paid on Dec. 4, 1989, on the outstanding shares of the corporation's common stock to holders of record on Nov. 16, 1989, in the amount of 41 cents per share. K mart Corp. is the second-largest retailer in the world, with 1988 sales of $27.3 billion.

Home sales up, prices down

Sales of existing homes continue to outpace 1988 sales by 4.3 percent through the third quarter of the year in this area, METRO MLS, the state's largest multiple listing service reported.

"Sale of 1,508 single-family homes and condominiums in September brought the third quarter total to 5,098, a 6.4-percent improvement over last year," said Eric J. Hunt, Metro MLS president.

"After a very strong August which saw 1,930 units change hands, the market softened somewhat in September, but still is continuing on a near-record track."

Median prices dropped to $76,000 in September down from the $80,500 in August. The year-to-date median price, $77,000, remained 6.9 percent above the $72,000 median price at this time a year ago. Median price marks the point where half of the homes sold for more and half for less.

"While listings throughout the area are still 7 percent above last year, they took a decided drop in September and were down 20 percent above the $72,000 at this time a year ago," Hunt said. "The combination of lower prices and fewer homes should be encouraging signs for the market during the remainder of the year."

STILL, HOME ownership declined nationally in the 1980s for the first time since World War II.

According to a study by a senior economist for the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, home ownership peaked at 65.6 percent of the population in 1980 and then began falling, hitting 63.9 percent last year.

The study found home ownership had fallen dramatically in the youngest age groups. In 1973 nearly one-fourth or 23.4 percent of people under age 25 — owned a home. In 1988 the rate was 15.5 percent.

In other younger age groups, the situation is similar. 43.6 percent of 25-to-29-year-olds were homeowners in 1973, falling to 36.2 percent in 1988. For the 30-to-34-year-old group, 60.2 percent owned homes in 1973, dropping to 52.6 percent in 1988. And in the 35-to-39 bracket, the rate fell from 68.5 percent in 1973 to 63.2 percent in 1988.

The average age of first-time homebuyers has jumped to 32 now, up from 28 years old in 1980. Housing affordability is determined by several factors, including tax policy, income growth and housing prices, the study said.

Venture group provides investor, inventor forum

By Doug Funke staff writer

Matchmaking, expediting, networking.

It might not sound fancy, but that essentially is what the Southeastern Michigan Venture Group is all about.

"Basically, it's to provide a forum for investors, entrepreneurs and service providers," said Scott Eisenberg, president of the non-profit organization.

"We're a network," said Carl Meyering, a founder of the venture group four years ago and a former president. "The group itself doesn't lend money. It brings people together."

The Southeastern Michigan Venture Group, one of at least six in the state, meet at monthly breakfasts at Walsh College in Troy. They generally draw upward of 50

ABOUT HALF are entrepreneurs with ideas at various stages of incubation, said Eisenberg, manager of the corporate finance group for Deloitte, Haskins & Sells. The rest of the participants are service professionals like accountants and lawyers and investors such as banks and other private capital groups.

After a featured speaker, everyone has the opportunity to take a minute to tell the gathering about his idea, business or service provided.

Informal connections are made before, during and after the light meal.

"Entrepreneurs, per se, are not members," Eisenberg said. "Most come to one meeting and don't come back. We don't have any idea of followup, what luck they've had."

"I think they shortchange themselves by not coming back," he added. "You hear all those presentations in one day, you can't remember them all."

"It's just kind of exciting working with people at that level," said Guy Flannery, vice president of the venture group and finance director for MIDA Dental Plans.

"SOME PEOPLE will have one piece missing, some might have all the pieces missing," Flannery added.

Daniel Beardslee, vice president of the Demery Seed Capital Fund and a venture group board member, said his company has invested with a business that floated an idea to the group.

That company, Rollforge of Benton Harbor, is involved with a high-speed forging process.

"This is one of the best ways we can see a lot of potential investments quickly and meet people," Beardslee said. "It's a lot different to read a business plan and see the person who wrote it."

Meyering, president of the Meyering Group, said his private investing group is involved with several companies with which contact was made through the venture group.

"If you're a new business, you don't have any assets, you don't have collateral," he said. "Where are you going to go? The private community."

tures except in a true emergency. Of course, money may be shifted from this account to other more productive, diversified investments if these accounts are kept separate.

Many employees have access to an even better method of saving through payroll deduction: 401(k) plans and tax-sheltered annuities. Both allow an individual to deduct the amount saved from his/her taxable income, and the accounts grow without being subject to current taxation. These tax advantages allow for greater contributions and higher returns than would otherwise be possible. For many, the convenience of payroll deductions as a forced savings cannot be overestimated. Placing 10 percent of your income into such plans is often mentioned as a desirable target.

A third method of automatic, systematic investing is through a dollar-cost averaging program offered through many mutual funds. With this, you authorize the fund to deduct a specified amount from your checking account each month. It is deposited into the mutual fund, which then builds over time. This is an excellent way of using market fluctuations to your advantage. Rationale: If the market is up and shares are expensive, fewer shares are purchased with the set monthly investment; if the market is down, a greater number of shares are purchased at the lower price. When the market ultimately moves up, you then receive a bigger bang for your bucks.

A FINAL STRATEGY is to overwithhold on income taxes. This is not generally the best way to save, but if other methods are not working, it is reasonable option. When the tax refund comes, that amount can be placed into a long-term investment account.

In using all of these strategies, any investment income should be reinvested so that the investment returns will compound. Many savings and investment accounts allow for automatic reinvestment of dividends and interest; others require a special form to be filled out in order to direct the distributions to a separate investment account. In any event, this reinvestment can be critical to the long-term returns of these investments.

We would extend this concept of reinvestment to include reinvestment of tax savings. For example, if $1,000 is saved through making deductible IRA contributions, that $1,000 should be placed into a separate long-term investment account. This is the only way that tax savings will build your net worth and help you to achieve financial independence.

Whereas systematic savings and investment is the most common and often the easiest method of achieving long-term financial goals, some people are able to use a different approach.

Next week we will examine the achievers and investors to see how they accumulate wealth and achieve financial independence.

Correct use of power aids owner of small business

By Mary DiPaolo
special writer

British Lord Acton observed that power corrupts, and absolute power corrupts absolutely.

Power is defined as the ability to make happen what we want to happen, as well as being able to block the occurrence of events that are undesirable.

Whether you are aware of it, we all display some kind of power in our day-to-day dealing with the people we work with. The kinds of power small business owners and managers use and how they implement them have a direct bearing on the management success they achieve.

IN HER book, "The Power Handbook," Pamela Cuming states that there are six kinds of power that are commonly used among management personnel. Knowing when and how to use each type is the key to becoming an effective and empowered leader.

Reward and coercive power are often used together. They are better referred to as the "carrot and stick" style of management. When you reward or provide one of your employees with something of value in exchange for desired performance, you are exerting reward power.

BUT WHEN you punish or take away something an employee desires to keep as a consequence of poor performance, you are displaying coercive power.

Both coercive and reward power should be used sparingly. Heavy use of coercive power leads to dislike, mistrust and non-productive behavior.

Reward power can also be a problem when it is used as the main motivation for performance. Employees who get used to rewards will invariably begin to regard them as rights.

WHEN A person is promoted into a management position, some type of power usually goes along with the position. It is not necessarily earned but is awarded, along with the position.

This use of legitimate power can be effective if it is supplemented by reward and coercive power.

Next, expert power is the capacity to influence others because of the knowledge or skills a person is presumed to have. You have expert power when your employees are willing to follow your suggestions because they respect your expertise or ability.

Expert power cannot be conferred on a person; it must be earned.

SOME UNUSUAL proposals have been heard at venture group meetings over the years.

One woman wanted $50,000 to establish a chain of massage parlors. A man outlined a need for $7 billion to establish a new airline. Then there was the woman who talked about a business based on revenge, like sending someone who did you wrong a bouquet of dead flowers.

"These aren't necessarily bad ideas, just offbeat," Beardslee said. "I don't think anybody really laughs at people there, but you chuckle over peoples' creativity."

Other ideas aren't so offbeat. Minute pitches were heard at a recent breakfast meeting about personalized athletic shoes, an upscale nightclub for the yuppie set and an effort to buy a radio station.

"Most people have no idea what it takes to put an idea into fruition, to get off and running," Eisenberg said.

That's where the service providers — lawyers, accountants, administrators — can help.

"I FEEL meetings are a cheap way for people to come and test ideas," Beardslee said.

Individual members pay annual dues of $250, corporate members $350. That covers monthly breakfasts, a monthly newsletter, a listing of who attends meetings and some administrative odds and ends.

"You meet other professionals, good business contacts," Eisenberg said.

"It's exciting to see creative ideas people come up with. No one would be there if they don't have personal interest in this type of activity," he said.

IT'S SOLID AND LIQUID AT THE SAME TIME.

Most things are pretty much black and white. Oil and water don't mix. East is East. West is West. Something can't be solid and liquid at the same time. Well, not so with The FirstRate Fund. Because it earns you a great rate, without tying up your principal.

Earn 9 Percent For Up To 60 Days.

From October 2 until November 30, The FirstRate Fund earns interest at an annual rate of 9 percent.

After that, it's tied to the 91-day Treasury Bill, guaranteeing a highly competitive rate. All it takes is a $10,000 deposit to start. And you can add to it, whenever you like. Make a withdrawal and you won't have to pay a penalty.

So, by all means, open your FirstRate Fund now, and earn an annual rate of 9 percent for as long as possible.

Solid. And Liquid, Too.

Unlike some other investments with a high return like the FirstRate Fund, you can get to your money, whenever you need to.

All you have to do is drop us a line. Seven days later, you'll have your money.

We'll even call to tell you when you can pick up your check.

Insurance For Your Money.

Most investments like this require some risk taking. Not so with The FirstRate Fund.

Your bank deposits are FDIC insured for up to $100,000. Meaning your principal's safe to the maximum amount allowed by law.

In short, you have nothing to lose. But an awful lot to gain.

Where's The Fine Print? You Just Read It.

If you're going to name something FirstRate, it ought to be just that.

So there are no funny restrictions or conditions. Just a straightforward investment that, unlike a lot of competitive investments, is unquestionably attractive. Which leaves us with one last question. What are you waiting for? The FirstRate Fund. Only from First of America.

Stop by any one of our First of America offices to invest in one, or call 1-800-544-6155.

Remember, this offer may not last forever, is available to individuals only, and may change without notice.

Glory of the Jaguar can't be bought at any price

The dogs of Wall Street are after Jaguar PLC.

A bidding war between Ford Motor Co. and GM for control of the troubled British firm has been bouncing its stock price around on the London Exchanges like a superball tossed off the Ren Cen.

Whichever auto giant succeeds in the battle (Jaguar executives are leaning toward GM rather than Ford as the best prospective savior in this forced marriage), the event marks the passage of one of the last of the romantic independents in the car industry into the folds of corporate ownership.

THE SAME fate already has befallen Lotus, Aston Martin, Alfa

Romeo, Lamborghini, Maserati and Ferrari, all romantic independents that created cars that could tear up both hearts and roads in the postwar sportscar era, now listed in some dismal subsidiaries box in an annual report. Others like MG, Triumph and A.C. simply took the suicide pill and ended it gracefully.

Porsche is still at the Alamo, with sales in the basement and future cars that rely on pre-World War II engineering and an image that is best projected by a retired fighter pilot who wears yellow suspenders. But I suspect Porsche will be next, and that will be the end of the dream.

The dream, of course, is that some guy with a love of gasoline and mo-

Dan McCosh

tors can build a handful of really lovely automobiles in a garage on the edge of a village in Europe and sell these masterpieces of craftsmanship out there in the colonies somewhere, and make a living at it.

JAGUAR, IN FACT, mainly makes automobiles you want your neighbor to own, and hopefully he parks it in his driveway when you go to sell your house. It kind of spiffs up the old neighborhood — a lot better than the double-parked big wheels do anyway. As for actually owning one, you would need a part interest in a major oil company plus a piece of AAA to even consider it.

Jaguars are for someone with a name like Count Wolfgang Von something other to crash at LeMans, true distilled essence of automobilia that wafts its vapors at you like some passing movie star in the Los Angeles airport.

WHICH BRINGS up the point as to whether it is actually possible for a big corporation such as Ford or GM to buy this essence and repackage, resell and somehow dupe the car-buying public into thinking this is what roared out of Coventry in the form of a D-Jag in the 1950s.

Chairman Lee thought so, and what resulted is a dismally overpriced LeBaron convertible bearing the Maserati marquee — a weird echo of the hiring of Bill Blass to do Ford Interiors a couple of years ago. The fact is that it was at least partly the sheer iconoclasm of the independents that captured the respect and affection of car enthusiasts that made the Jaguars of the auto world mean what they mean today.

Unfortunately, the romantic individualists died a lingering and slow death at the hands of multi-national economics, regulation and industrial homogenization. The scraps being fought over today are not likely to thrive for long as image-builders for some pile of international capital.

Making a will can involve some legalese

Before you make an appointment with your attorney, here are a few of the legal expressions you may hear thrown about. Some are everyday terms used in everyday ways. Others aren't.

TESTAMENTARY CAPACITY

To draw up a valid will, one must have a "testamentary capacity." That is, under the law, it might have to be demonstrated that at the time the will was drawn, the individual was of sound mind and knew what the estate consisted of and how it was to be distributed. Although there are literally hundreds of varieties of wills, they can be classified into several categories as described below.

SIMPLE WILL — The simple will is signed by the testator (maker), before the required witnesses (usually two). The will lists the disposition and the distribution of the estate involved. This is usually the shortest and easiest will to write and execute when the estate is small and estate taxation is not a concern (estate is worth $600,000 or less).

RECIPROCAL WILL — If two people — most often husband and wife — simultaneously execute a will, then they leave their respective and totally distinct estates to each other. A reciprocal will can be drawn as a unified document, although the most common practice is to draw separate wills. For this type of will to be valid, the estates of the two parties need not be commonly owned. There could be separate property such as inheritances from previous wills, an estate that has nothing to do with the present marriage bond, or any other related holdings.

finances and you
Sid Mittra

MUTUAL WILL — A mutual will is one instrument created by two parties as their respective wills. Mutual wills, or joint wills, are neither the simplest nor the most efficient of wills and should be avoided if possible.

HOLOGRAPHIC WILL — This type of will is written entirely by hand by the individual, known as the testator or testatrix. Many legal battles have evolved over the use of a holographic will. Avoid this type of will, too.

BASIC STRUCTURE OF A WILL — A will can be a long, complicated document or it can consist of a single phrase, "I leave all my personal property and belongings to my spouse." Regardless of its complexity, the basic structure of a will should contain the following common clauses.

Exordium clause — This clause identifies the name, address and permanent residence of the testator. This clause also invalidates all prior wills and declares this as the testator's will.

This clause specifies which spouse would be presumed to have survived the other in the event of simultaneous death.

Testimony and attestation clause — This clause establishes that the testator recognized the will and provides for compliance with other requirements, such as signatures of witnesses.

CODICIL — Even the best-drawn wills may run into unexpected problems. Marriage or divorce might render a will obsolete. Other changes in the family, in the financial situation, or tax law, might require revision of the existing will. An instrument, known as codicil, can be used to make these alterations in the will, thereby avoiding the problem of making a new will. The codicil should be drawn up by a lawyer, properly witnessed, and attached to the will.

There are, of course, situations in which it is better to draw up a new will rather than to modify the existing will with a codicil.

*This is our October 1989 starting A.P.R. A 14.75% A.P.R. Cap applies. The starting A.P.R. is a special introductory rate for the first six months of your loan, at which time the regular A.P.R. (10.87% in October 1989) goes into effect. For example, based on the current index, the regular monthly payment for each $1,000 borrowed on an 18-year loan would be $9.94 for the first six payments (based on a 9.75% A.P.R.), and $10.56 for the remaining 210 payments (based on a 10.87% A.P.R.). The overall A.P.R. for the entire loan term in the example would be 10.84%. Of course, A.P.R. and payment changes after the introductory period may occur if the index varies at the time rate changes are determined.

If you choose a fixed rate ten-year loan, your monthly payment would be $14.32 for each $1,000 borrowed.

Study finds caffeine increases stress response

Young men who have inherited a tendency to develop high blood pressure should "just say no" to caffeine, especially when they're facing a mental challenge, such as a final examination.

"Caffeine is the most widely used drug in the world, but we really don't know much about how it affects people," said William R. Lavallo, co-author of a new study on caffeine. "Our research is designed to produce results that can be generalized to everyday life."

Lavallo and his colleagues at the University of Oklahoma found a sharply increased stress-hormone response in hypertension-prone men who took caffeine while undergoing a demanding mental exercise. No such response occurred in a matched low-risk group.

The scientists compared 17 high-risk (because at least one parent had high blood pressure) men 21 to 35 years old with 17 men of the same ages but with no such family history. A tendency to develop high blood pressure often is passed from one generation to the next.

None of the 34 men had high blood pressure and those with a hypertensive parent were chosen because they had blood pressures at the high end of the normal range, a second factor placing them at risk of developing high blood pressure later in life, Lavallo said.

The 17 with no family history were picked because their blood pressures were at the low end of the normal range, a second indicator of a low risk of hypertension later in life, he said.

AFTER BOTH groups had taken caffeine and performed a demanding "psychomotor" test, researchers found the blood plasma of the hypertension-prone men contained significantly more cortisol, a stress-related hormone, than the plasma of the low-risk group.

"The results suggest that these men at high risk for hypertension were sensitive to caffeine and that caffeine combined with a demanding psychomotor challenge produced neuroendocrine (hormonal) signs of stress," Lavallo said.

Caffeine alone did not increase the levels of cortisol in the high risk group. It was the interaction of the caffeine with the mental task that produced the exaggerated cortisol levels in hypertension-prone men, added Dr. Michael Wilson, co-author of the study.

"This hasn't been shown before," he said. "We are beginning to tease out some of the mechanisms and interactions that may cause permanent hypertension."

The psychomotor test given to the group involved pushing a button as fast as possible after a light turned on. The faster the participant reacted, the more money he earned as a reward. The caffeine given to them was the equivalent of two to three cups of coffee and was mixed with unsweetened grapefruit juice.

In the study, the researchers found that some individuals, particularly the hypertensive-prone men, had an abnormal rise in blood pressure during the exercise and that caffeine exaggerated the response.

BASED ON what is known, Lavallo recommends that coffee drinkers have no more than five cups a day since a few studies have suggested that consuming more than five a day is linked with a higher risk of heart disease. And the consumption of caffeine-containing soft drinks also should be limited, Lavallo said.

"And during periods of psychological and physical stress, you should consume even less caffeine, especially if you have a parent with high blood pressure," he said.

"We're not saying that caffeine is bad for everybody," Wilson said, "but the effects in certain groups, such as those at high risk of developing hypertension, is quite striking."

Society sponsors train tour

Sights and sounds of autumn come alive these October weekends on the old Clinton Branch railroad line.

The Southern Michigan Railroad Society is operating fall color tours along the vintage railroad line Saturdays and Sundays through Oct. 29.

The trips begin in Tecumseh and travel the 151-year-old branch line across the River Raisin to Raisin Centre, where it intersects the Norfolk and Western Railway. Travelers will be treated to cider and doughnuts during the station stop in Raisin Centre before the train returns to Tecumseh.

The train will be made up of railroad "motorcars," gasoline-powered successors to the famed hand-pump cars. Once used to transport "gandy dancers" and materials to remote work sites, the cars are open-sided and riders should dress warmly for the two-hour color tours.

THE TRAIN operates Saturday-Sunday, Oct. 21-22 and 28-29, departing on the hour between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. Boarding will be at Evans and Pottawatomie streets, one block south of downtown Tecumseh.

Fares are $7 for adults, $4 for children 5 to 12 years of age and free for children under age 5. Advance tickets are available at the Lucky Duck at the corner of Evans and Chicago in Tecumseh, or by calling (517) 423-3269.

For more information, call the Southern Michigan Railroad Society at (517) 456-7677.

Craft Gallery to hold show

Country folk art, early Americana and Victorian crafts will be the focus of attention Sunday, Oct. 22, at Roma's of Garden City.

Craft Gallery will stage a Country Folk and Victorian Craft Show 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the hall, 32550 Cherry Hill, west of Merriman, Garden City. There will be 65 displays of arts and crafts.

Admission is $2, and strollers aren't permitted in the exhibition area.

Livonia schools settle for co-title

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Soccer

Inscribed on the plate of the 1989 Western Lakes Activities Association boys soccer championship trophy will be two names.

Churchill, the state's No. 1 ranked team in Class A and the WLAA's Western Division champ, settled for a 1-1 tie Wednesday night with Livonia rival and Lakes Division champ Stevenson.

The match, playing under brutally cold and windy conditions, ended after 80 minutes of regulation play. WLAA rules stipulated there would be no overtime and no shootout to break the tie, so the teams left the field as co-champions.

Stevenson, the defending state Class A champs, finished with a 11-2-2 overall record.

Churchill, which allowed its first goal since Labor Day weekend in the Centerville, Ohio Tournament, ended the regular season at 13-0-1.

"We feel like a co-champ," said Stevenson coach Pete Scerri. "I'm proud of this team. This is a feat for us because we scored a goal and tied the No. 1 team."

CHURCHILL'S JOHN NEFF liked the idea of overtime, but not a shootout.

League coaches changed the ground rules on tiebreakers after a recent WLAA girls championship game between Churchill and Plymouth Salem was determined by a shootout.

"This was decided two years ago at the league meeting because of the shootout," Neff said. "But it doesn't make sense. Every league game, including this one, should count toward the overall record and then the champion should be declared. But that's the reality of the league set-up, and we'll have to live with the rules."

was set up on a perfect cross from Brady Ericson.

Churchill then made a bid to take the lead at 19:08 when Ericson's header was batted over the crossbar by Smolenski, who made a spectacular leaping save.

"That Jerry has saved us many games," said Scerri. "We couldn't have gone this far without him. I'll say it again, I think he's the best in the state."

Neff, meanwhile, said his team was not quite as sharp as in their first meeting against the Spartans.

"I thought they beat us to the ball an awful lot," he said. "I don't know if they were more aggressive or we were more passive. But they (Stevenson) played a good defensive game and they out-headed us. We've got to be better prepared the next time."

THE NEXT TIME could come Saturday, Oct. 28, in the Class A district finals at Northville if both teams advance in state tournament play.

Scerri believes his team has taken a step in the right direction after losing 1-0 on Monday at Ann Arbor Huron.

"That game at Huron really woke us up," said the Stevenson coach. "We got lost on the way out there and we were late. And then we got cold. I really got on them because we didn't play too well."

"Tonight we didn't care about the cold weather. We really wanted to play. I thought they really played their hearts out."

"This is the first time I've come in with no butterflies. I felt like an underdog. I keep telling the guys it's not over until it's over."

Rockets preparing for Mill's invasion

By Brad Emons
staff writer

You would think Westland John Glenn would have all the incentive in the world against Farmington Harrison when the two unbeaten (each 7-0) collide Friday night (game time 7:30 p.m.) for the Western Lakes Activities Association championship.

The Rockets are playing at home and that's good news because they've beaten Harrison twice there before (1984 and 1987) to win WLAA titles.

But Glenn's home field is not a jinx for the defending state Class B champion Hawks, who own a 20-game winning streak and a national ranking.

"We beat Detroit Northern there once in the playoffs, and we even used the Glenn side," cracked Harrison coach John Herrington. "I don't remember those two other games."

And if that's not incentive enough, Glenn is hoping to make amends for last year's embarrassing 45-7 defeat at the hands of host Harrison in the 1988 WLAA title game.

"No one from John Glenn played that day the way they were capable of, but I'm not sure if we could have won that game anyway," said Glenn coach Chuck Gordon. "That Harrison team of a year ago was the best team in the state, regardless of class."

"It's a new year and a different set of circumstances, but they beat us so badly last year that it makes me nervous, and that it could happen again."

GORDON and Herrington have formed a mutual admiration society despite last year's surprisingly wide spread.

The Glenn coach respects just about every facet of Harrison's game, starting with All-State quarterback Mill Coleman, who has completed 66 of 109 passes for 1,142 yards and 12 touchdowns (only two interceptions), not to mention his 413 yards rushing and three more TDs.

"They come at you in so many ways," Gordon said. "Mill is not only a great thrower, but he has tremendous feet. He has that great escape ability and that presents a problem."

Chuck Gordon
John Glenn coach

Herrington, meanwhile, is leery of Glenn quarterback Eric Stover, who was the starting QB last season against Harrison.

This season, Stover has passed for nearly 800 yards and completed 60 percent of his passes.

Last week he engineered a Joe Montana-like two-minute, 82-yard drive to give Glenn a 7-6 last-second win last week over previously unbeaten Plymouth Salem.

"He's very poised and he runs the team very well," Herrington said. "He has a good arm, too. He's a year older, an experienced quarterback."

Gordon, meanwhile, realizes that Harrison is more than just Mill. "The Thrill."

SENIOR TAILBACK Matt Conley has rushed 526 yards and 10 TDs, while Joe George has caught 18 passes for 225 yards. Another Harrison receiver, Mike Saputo, has added 312 yards in 12 receptions.

"They're excellent," said the Glenn coach. "They can come at you with so many weapons. They're not a one-dimensional team at all."

Herrington, meanwhile, is concerned about the Rockets' launching pad, which consists of tailback Shannon Layne (nearly 800 yards rushing), fullback Alonzo Jackson, tight end Garnett Woody and wide receivers David Ryan and Mark Wetmore.

Football

"That scares you because they have a little bit of everything," Herrington said of Glenn. "They're terrific because they can run the ball with Layne and Jackson, but they can also pass well."

"And their linemen are always big. The numbers change from year to year, but they always have people who are big and physical."

Gordon must also be concerned with Harrison's defense, which has adjusted well this season despite 10 new faces in the lineup.

"With coach (Bob) Sutter they're always sound fundamentally," Gordon said. "They're always well-coached. They won't do dumb things to hurt themselves. They're also sound in what they do strategically."

DESPITE SEVEN STRAIGHT lopsided wins this season, Harrison needs to be sharper going into the Glenn game this week, according to Herrington.

"We haven't played as well as we've liked that past few weeks, but we had 411 yards in offense last week against Plymouth Canton (previously unbeaten), so I guess I can't complain too loudly," said the Harrison coach. "But we've made some mistakes and had some penalties that I wish we could avoid."

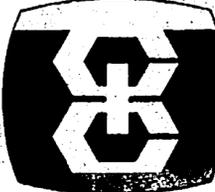

The high-powered Hawks have seen just about every defense imaginable over the course of the 1989 season.

Glenn may present a different look, but both coaches agree the game will come down to blocking and tackling.

"You still think you've got to play well up front," Gordon said. "Both teams have to run the ball and give the quarterback time at the line of scrimmage."

Adds Herrington: "They always hit us and we hope to hit them as hard. You still have to do the fundamental-type things to win."

Franklin's Berner is regional champ

By Brad Emmons
staff writer

Livonia Franklin's Tanya Berner broke new ground Saturday.

The 5-foot-4 sophomore became the first Patriot tennis player in the school's history to qualify for the state Class A tennis meet, which begins Friday in Midland.

Berner, who was runner-up to Farmington Harrison's nationally ranked Kori Davidson in last week's Western Lakes Conference meet, won three matches Saturday en route to the No. 1 singles title at the Dearborn Edsel Ford regional.

She defeated Southfield's Korrie Enyard, 6-3, 6-3, to earn the trip after allowing just one game in the previous two rounds.

"Tanya has really turned her game around the last 2 1/2 weeks," said Franklin coach Christine Humphrey. "I'm so happy for her because she's put so much time into her game. She's the kind of girl that if you tell her to do something, she listens."

Berner, who will take a 16-5 overall record into the state meet, has developed a more aggressive style, according to the Franklin coach.

"INITIALLY TANYA started out as a solid baseliner, but I told her she's not going to beat anybody on the baseline," Humphrey said. "I told she may have to lose a few matches, but she has to look to the future and be more creative and come to the net."

"Since she started mixing it up,

she's had a couple of big wins. With an overall, total game, her opponents don't know what she's going to do. She was somewhat of a 'push' before, but she realized she has to be more offensive and aggressive if she's ever going to go anywhere."

Berner was responsible for a majority of Franklin's 11 points, which placed the Patriots third in the team standings behind state qualifiers Edsel Ford and Dearborn (each scored 22).

Nicole Chessa, the Patriots' No. 2 singles player, reached the semifinals, while the No. 1 doubles team of Beth Hare and Heather Mayle won a pair of matches before being ousted in the semifinals.

"We were only 1-11 in our league, but to gain third place is a big lift for our team," said Humphrey.

BERNER, meanwhile, will continue her preparations for the state meet and a bright future which lies ahead.

"Once the season is over, we'll get on a strength program," Humphrey said. "We've worked on her quickness. I think in the long run she'll be running track."

"She's a year-round player. She'll hit with anyone. She's come so far. I'm really happy for her."

CC 2nd in Sturgis run

In what proved to be a close race Saturday, the Redford Catholic Central cross country team couldn't slip past Holly in the Sturgis Invitational, settling for second place with 46 points. Holly took first with 47.

The Shamrocks Mike Sheridan won the race with a time of 16:57. He was the only CC runner to finish in the top five.

The Shamrocks' Chris Antczak and Jay Schemanske tied for seventh, each clocked in 16:43 mark. Dave Galvin darted to a 12th place finish with a time of 17:03. Jack Massarello's 17:26 mark allowed him to finish 20th.

The Shamrocks were back in action Monday at Cass Benton Park, as they defeated Warren DeLaSalle, 17-39.

Sheridan, as the story has gone pretty much all season, won the race for the Shamrocks with a time of 16:07.

Antczak finished second for CC with a 16:47 mark. He just managed to beat teammate Schemanske, who cruised in at 16:48. Galvin's 17:05 clip helped him to finish fourth, while Massarello finished sixth with a time of 17:43.

The Pilots were led by Tim McElgunn's fifth place finish. He completed the course in 17:40.

With the triumph, the Shamrocks improve their record to 5-0 and clinch the Central Division championship for the second year in a row. They will run in the Catholic League Championships Saturday at Marstonbank.

GARDEN CITY couldn't overcome Taylor Truman and John Kastura's first place finish (17:21), suffering its seventh loss of the season Monday at Papp Park.

Mixed results: Lady Ocelots 3rd

Considering what Schoolcraft College's volleyball team has accomplished in the last year — including a National Junior College Athletic Association title — the results of the team's trip to the highly competitive Jefferson College Tournament last weekend in St. Louis should have been expected to be mixed.

And they were. Local SC fans might have expected the Lady Ocelots to claim the championship, considering their current lofty status as NJCAA champs. Those people will be disappointed by SC's third-place finish.

But some might remember that the teams at Jefferson College are among the best NJCAA volleyball teams in the country, and most had one team targeted: SC.

In that light, the Lady Ocelots' performance was laudable.

They started out well enough. On Friday, SC went against Southwestern (Mich.) CC first and posted a 15-13, 15-8 triumph. SC went on to defeat Illinois Central 15-4, 15-12 in the next round before tasting defeat.

AGAINST MIAMI-DADE, the Lady Ocelots were swept 15-11, 15-9, ending their Friday play with two wins, one defeat.

SC opened against host-team Jefferson Saturday and won 15-12, 15-9, advancing the Lady Ocelots to meet Johnson County (Mo.) next. The Lady Ocelots won for the fourth time in five matches, defeating Johnson County 15-12, 15-9.

The next match proved pivotal. SC battled Barton (Kansas) CC through three games before bowing, 15-12, 4-15, 15-13.

In the game the Lady Ocelots won against Barton, SC assistant coach Margaret Glomski declared, "our defense and offense worked like a charm. It was the best we've played all year."

Glomski singled out Cathy Cook and Christy Clark for their defensive efforts in the game won against Barton. "They made some excellent digs," she said.

The Lady Ocelots finished the tournament by blasting Lake Michigan CC 15-3, 15-0. Allisha Love served 10 of the 15 points in the opening win, including eight aces, while Angela Lankford served nine points in the 15-0 victory.

Barton finished first in the tournament, with Miami-Dade second.

On Tuesday, SC improved its record to 17-4 with an easy 15-7, 15-6, 15-10 victory over Mott CC.

The Lady Ocelots will host the six-team Schoolcraft College Tournament starting Saturday morning.

Madonna spikers squander golden opportunity

Victory was within Madonna College's grasp Tuesday at Hillsdale College, but the young Fighting Crusaders couldn't get a grip on it.

The result was a 13-15, 10-16, 15-11, 15-13, 15-7 volleyball loss, dropping Madonna's record to 21-11.

"We had opportunities to win," said Crusader coach Jerry Abraham. "We just didn't put (Hillsdale) away. We missed a couple of serves at the end."

"We actually played extremely well. They just came back."

Among the standouts for Madonna were freshmen Tonia Smith (from Walled Lake Central) and Stacey Girard (Redford/Livonia Ladywood), each with 12 kills; sophomore Kristy McFadden (Redford Bishop Borgess), nine kills; and freshmen Melissa Mars and Ann DiMambro (both from Borgess), five kills each.

Last weekend, Madonna finished second in the St. Mary's College Tournament in South Bend.

The Crusaders beat the host team 15-10, 15-6 in their opener before losing twice, 15-5, 10-15, 15-10 to Aquinas College and 15-13, 15-10 to St. Xavier (Chicago).

Madonna bounced back to beat Siena Heights 15-13, 15-10, and Aquinas 15-10, 15-13, before falling in the tournament finals to St. Xavier 15-10, 15-11.

Madonna hosts Aquinas at 7 p.m. tonight, then entertains Saginaw Valley State at 1 p.m. Saturday.

RU SWIMMERS WIN

Brandy Cristante figured in three first-place finishes Tuesday, leading Redford Union to a 107-62 girls swim victory over host Dearborn Heights Crestwood.

Cristante captured the 50- and 100-yard freestyles with times of 29.6 and 1:05.8, respectively. She also teamed up with Keltie Layman, Sheri Bralnard and Karyn Skender to win the 400 freestyle relay in 4:48.8.

Other RU first place finishers include Charlotte Campbell, 152.2 points; Bralnard, 500 freestyle, 7:06.8; and Jerome Dagg, 100 backstroke, 1:19.8.

Dagg, Campbell, Kim O'Rourke and Julie Dorony also won the 200 medley relay in 2:24.2.

TAE KWON DO MEDALS

Three area Tae Kwon Do students took medals in free sparring at a tournament held Oct. 7 at Master Weatherly's Club in Flint.

The students were judged on power, balance and precision.

Kelly McCormack of Garden City, a yellow belt student at Maplewood Recreation Center studying under Master Christine Rose, won first place. She is a member of the Michigan Tae Kwon Do tournament team which is preparing for a national championship Nov. 5 host by master instructor Ronald Rose at the Inkster Recreation Center.

Michael Hollander of Livonia, a green belt student under Ron and Christine Rose of the Wayne Karate Studio, took second place. He will also compete in the Nov. 5 meet.

Michael Gagne of Westland, a first degree black belt studying under the Rose's at Wayne Karate Studio, placed third. Gagne, a certified instructor and sponsor of the recreation program at Taylor Truman High School, will coach the Michigan team in the Nov. 5 tournament.

grid predictions

Trojans playing for title

By Dan O'Meara and Brad Emons staff writers

LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIPS will be on the line Friday night in the Western Lakes Activities Association and the Metro Conference.

Highly touted Farmington Hills Harrison and always-solid Westland John Glenn will decide the WLAA winner for the third consecutive year when they meet under the lights at Glenn.

Harrison is rated No. 1 in Class B and Glenn No. 7 in Class A. Both are 7-0. No team other than these two has ever won the WLAA championship.

In the Metro Conference, once-beaten Livonia Clarenceville, enjoying its finest season in years and 6-1 overall, can claim a share of the title with a victory over visiting Auburn Hills Avondale.

The Rhinos are 7-0 and ranked No. 7 in Class B. Avondale, a perennial power that has dominated this series, won 47-7 last year. The Trojans will be looking for revenge Friday night.

League member Detroit Lutheran West will be hoping for a Trojan victory, also. The Leopards share second place with Clarenceville — both with 4-1 marks — and would figure in a tri-championship should the Trojans win.

On the prognosticating scene, Brad Emons extended his lead over colleague Dan O'Meara last week. Emons was 10-5, the other guy (who ever remembers the runner-up, anyway?) 9-6.

That puts Emons at 78-22 for the season, who's it 73-27. O'Meara, by the way, will relocate after this season to Minnesota — the home of such noted runners-up as Hubert Humphrey, the Vikings and Walter Mondale.

FRIDAY'S GAMES

(All games at 7:30 p.m. unless noted)

Farm. Harrison at Westland Glenn: The primaries are over. They took place last Friday when Harrison beat Plymouth Canton (28-7) and Glenn edged Plymouth Salem (7-6) to win division titles. The Hawks had a shaky second half that included four turnovers, and the Rockets had to convert a third-and-38 pass to keep alive its last-minute, game-winning drive. Regardless, this matchup can't be considered anything less than another classic Harrison-Glenn game. PICK: The Hawks, with the help of Mill Coleman's arm, wing their way to a second straight title.

Northville at Ply. Salem: These played on the second Friday of the season, and the Rocks won 14-0. That might seem like an usually low score for a team that boasts a 6-1 record; but the game was played in muddy, soup-like conditions. That was the bad-weather weekend when lightning and thunderstorms forced postponement of many games. PICK: Salem has a more impressive win this time and keeps alive its playoff hopes.

Walled Lake Western at Liv. Stevenson: The host Spartans are 3-5 after trimming Farmington last week and has some momentum heading into this WLAA crossover game. The Warriors are 1-6 and might be down after Churchill drove for the winning score in the final seconds Friday, 23-21. PICK: O'Meara made a big mistake picking Western to win last week, but he puts his faith in the Warriors once again. Emons takes Stevenson.

Liv. Franklin at Walled Lake Central: The situation is the same as in the Western-Stevenson game. The Livonians are 2-6, the Walled Lakers 1-6. The latter, however, hasn't won since the first week of the season and is 0-8 against WLAA teams. The Patriots finally showed some offense a week ago when they pummeled Northville 25-7. PICK: Franklin adds to the Vikings' losing streak.

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

Chris Foss, Livonia Clarenceville's quarterback, hopes to take the Trojans past Avondale in Friday's Metro Conference championship game.

Avondale at Liv. Clarenceville: The Rhinos struggled to beat Lutheran North (6-0) in their last game, which might raise the Clarenceville hopes. The Trojans beat the Mustangs 28-6. On the other hand, the Trojans lost to Lutheran West 6-0, and Avondale romped 42-6 over the Leopards. PICK: Neither the Clarenceville defense nor any zookeeper can restrain the Rhinos. Emons likes Clarenceville in an upset.

Bay City Glenn at Garden City: The visitors from the north are 7-0 and playing for a possible Class A playoff berth. Glenn, champion of the White Pine Conference, has won league titles in five of the last eight years. The Bobcats, a running team that has outscored its opponents an average 34-11, are led by halfback Bryce Sturtz (5-10, 170), the school's career rushing leader who has scored 14 touchdowns this fall. The host Cougars are 1-6. PICK: Glenn wins this production of Cats.

Redford Union at Waterford Mott, 7 p.m.: The Panthers (0-7) haven't won since the season opener, only to forfeit, but their chances for a second victory took pretty good this week. The Corsairs are 2-5. Mott is led by wide receiver Al Arellano, a former soccer player in his first season of football. Through six games, he had 23 receptions for 366 yards and six TDs. He also gives the Corsairs a field-goal threat. James Branch is the leading rusher with 309 yards. PICK: O'Meara says RU won't make apple sauce out of Mott.

Wayne Memorial at Trenton: These teams are have been headed in opposite directions all season, and that trend should continue with this game. The Zebras are 5-2, their host 2-5. The Trojans are coming off a 22-0 loss to first-place Dearborn Fordson, a team Wayne nearly beat but for a late touchdown that gave the Tractors a 22-17 victory. PICK: The Zebras hit a high note against Trenton.

SATURDAY'S GAMES

(all games 1 p.m. unless noted)

Liv. Churchill at Farmington: The Chargers (2-5) own a two-game winning streak after a poor start, although they played tough competition the first four weeks. Farmington (1-6) can tell you something about playing a rugged schedule, but the Falcons missed their chance to win two straight by losing to Stevenson last week. PICK: Churchill keeps the fans cheering.

Ply. Canton at N. Farmington: This is the best of the rest among the WLAA

Eagles' Welker eyes school rushing mark

Senior tailback Jesse Welker nearly put himself in the Redford Thurston High rushing record book Saturday, gaining 228 yards in 23 carries as the Eagles whipped visiting Dearborn Heights Crestwood, 27-0.

Welker, who scored on a pair of touchdowns in the Tri-River League football win, pushed his season total to 913.

With two games remaining, Welker should surpass former University of Michigan linebacker Craig Mutch's 1988 total of 1,034 yards rushing in one season.

Welker missed by only 1 yard Gordon Eszes' total of 229 set in a 1970 season-opening victory over Inkster Cherry Hill.

"We were able to get some downfield blocking and that was the key," said Thurston coach Bob-Snell, whose team is 3-4 overall and 2-4 in the Tri-River. "It was a good performance all the way around. Crestwood was coming off two big wins, but our kids played really well. It was nice to sit on the sidelines and have the game wrapped up by the fourth quarter."

Welker capped a 66-yard, 10-play Thurston drive in the first quarter with a 6-yard TD run. The Eagles also marched 70 yards in nine plays in the second period, taking a 14-0 halftime lead on a 34-yard pass from quarterback Scott Lucas to Russ Tapley.

In the third period, Lucas culminated a 66-yard, 11-play drive with a 1-yard TD sneak. Welker closed out the scoring later in the quarter, breaking a pair of tackles on a nifty 34-yard run.

Thurston had 421 yards total offense. Gary Smith added 78 yards in 12 rushing attempts, while Lucas completed four of seven passes for 54 yards.

Defensively, Thurston earned its third shutout in regulation play (the Eagles have lost two overtime games.) Crestwood, which dropped to 2-5 overall and 2-4 in the league, managed only 139 yards total offense.

Thurston's defense was led by junior linebacker Steve Koss, who was in on 13 tackles. Greg Siriani added nine. And for the second straight week the Eagles did not turn the ball over.

STEVENSON 14, FARMINGTON 12: Senior tailback Brian Piergentilli carried 20 times for 128 yards and one TD (a 37-yarder in the first quarter) as Livonia Stevenson ruined the Falcons' homecoming on Saturday.

Stevenson is 3-5 overall. The Spartans finished 2-3 in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association. Farmington fell to 1-6 and 1-4.

Stevenson racked up 211 yards rushing as senior fullback Rob Petre added 83 yards in 13 carries, including a 39-yard TD run early in the final quarter.

"Brian and Rob ran very hard, they hit the holes well," said Stevenson coach Jack Reardon. "It was the best our line blocked all season — Jim Maye (tight end), Brian Osterland and Darryl Rzepka (guards), Doug Pascoe (center), Erich Kieckland and Dan Campo (tackles)."

The difference in the outcome proved to be Maye's two extra points for the Spartans.

Farmington trailed by only one, 7-6, at halftime on a 41-yard flea-flicker pass from senior quarterback Chris Schmid to Todd Wight. (The Falcons had the extra point blocked.)

Schmid, who completed 16 of 30 passes for 191 yards, left the game in the fourth quarter with an injury. He was replaced by crossover games. Canton is 6-1, the Raiders 5-2. North's defense will present a problem for the Chief offense, which went flat against Harrison. But the question is: Can the Raiders move the ball on a pretty, good Canton defense? PICK: The Chiefs rebound and keep their playoff hopes alive, too. North is Emons' choice.

Taylor Kennedy at Red. Thurston: Kennedy has won three straight — all by shutout — since losing 11-9 to Allen Park. The Eagles have blanked Annapolis, Melvindale and Truman by a combined 46-0 count. Kennedy and Allen Park are co-leaders in the Tri-River with 4-1 records. Thurston (3-4) is on Cloud Nine after whipping Crestwood 27-0. PICK: The visiting Eagles bring Thurston back down to earth.

N. Branch Wesleyan at Luth. Westland: No need to make a prediction here. Wesleyan (4-3) has forfeited the remainder of its schedule, because injuries have reduced the team's roster to just 10 players. Lutheran Westland goes to 4-4 without playing a down.

Birm. Brother Rice vs. Bishop Borgess, 7:30 p.m. at Garden City Junior High: The Spartans saved the best for last, but that isn't necessarily good. Borgess (1-6) will have a load on its hands when the unbeaten (7-0) and No. 1-ranked Warriors come calling, even if quarterback Bob Utter (injured shoulder) is out. "We're healthy as we can get," said Borgess coach Walt Bazylewicz. "But maybe I should try that Oral Roberts treatment." PICK: Rice makes it hurt. Borgess looks for help from Mother Teresa.

Redford CC vs. Warren DeLaSalle, 7:30 p.m. at Livonia Clarenceville: Don't look for a high-scoring game here. The Shamrocks don't score a lot of points, and DeLaSalle isn't capable of it, not against a defense like CC's. The Shamrocks are 6-1, the East Siders 3-4. PICK: CC says the Pilots are grounded.

St. Agatha vs. Drbn. St. Alphonsus, 7:30 p.m. at RU's Kraft Field: It's first place versus last place in this Catholic League C-Section contest. The Aggies have won six straight and are 6-1 overall. St. Alphonsus, coached by former St. Agatha assistant Kurt Wentzel, has a young team and is 0-7. The Arrows have been shut out five times and have scored only 15 points. PICK: The Aggies march into the Silverdome for next weekend's annual Prep Bowl.

Eric Miller, who capped a long Farmington scoring drive with a 1-yard run with 3:50 to play.

But Miller's two-point conversion pass failed.

The Falcons' final scoring threat was killed when Schmid, who re-entered the game, was intercepted in the final minute.

Defensively for Stevenson, Piergentilli was the leading tackler with 10 first-hits and one assist. Kevin Corradi added seven first-hits, three assists and caused one fumble.

Reardon also singled out the defensive play of Barry Greco, Marco DeSanto, Jerry Vaughn and Doug Carmack.

REDFORD CC 7, NOTRE DAME 0: Led by senior tackle Ryan Bell (eight tackles and one sack), Redford Catholic Central recorded its sixth shutout in seven games Saturday, defeating host Harper Woods Notre Dame.

CC is 6-1 overall and 3-1 in the Central, while the Irish slipped to 3-4 and 2-2.

Daye Owens scored the game's lone TD late in the first half on a 6-yard run, capping an 87-yard, 14-play drive. The senior tailback finished with 142 yards rushing in 29 carries (Owens now has 801 yards rushing in 167 attempts this season for a 4.8 yard per carry average).

Jack Davidson, a junior starting his second straight game at quarterback, completed five of six passes for 60 yards. Jason Carr, coming off a broken thumb, also saw action.

CC outgained the Irish in total offense, 250-176.

Notre Dame's leading rusher, Dejuan Reynolds, who did not enter the lineup until the second quarter (due to injury). He finished with just 41 yards in 17 carries. CC also limited the Irish to five completions in 19 passing attempts. (The Shamrocks' Brian Chaney intercepted a pass late in the game.)

Notre Dame missed a pair of scoring chances, falling on field goal attempts of 43 and 57 yards.

DeLaSALLE 12, BISHOP BORGESS 8: In another Catholic League-Central encounter Saturday at Roseville Memorial Field, Warren DeLaSalle (3-4, 1-3) defeated visiting Redford-Bishop Borgess (1-6, 0-4).

Borgess lost despite outgaining the Pilots in total yardage, 243-199.

DeLaSalle took a 3-0 halftime lead on a 32-yard field goal by Don Collier, but Borgess struck for a TD early in the third quarter on a 71-yard run by junior tailback Anthony Hood, who finished the game with 100 yards in 13 carries on the night for a 7.7 average.

But DeLaSalle closed out the Spartans as senior quarterback Jason Ahee completed touchdown passes of 27 and 10 yards to Survel Bass and Greg Anderson, respectively.

Borgess had 89 yards passing as quarterback Tom Cole was six of 16. He was intercepted three times.

The Spartans were hurt by a holding penalty in the second half, nullifying a 40-yard gainer.

"The last two weeks we've been respectable, but we make dumb mistakes at the wrong time," said Borgess coach Walt Bazylewicz, whose team has the unenviable task of taking on top-ranked and unbeaten Birmingham Brother Rice Saturday night in the Central Division finale at Garden City Junior High.

Defensively, junior linebacker Alejandro Fernandez came up with eight solo tackles and two assists. Senior linebacker Dale Calloway added seven solos and two assists for Borgess.

Glenn facing 'Coleman factor'

HARRISON RETURNS All-Observer kicker Steve Hill, while Glenn counters with the strong leg of Wes Taylor.

But the player who could tip the scales again in the Glenn-Harrison matchup is Coleman, one of the most prolific and heralded quarterbacks ever produced in this state.

Ironically, Herrington hints that Coleman could play some at safety on defense.

"He played there against Saginaw Arthur Hill (the season opener) and last week he played some against Canton (in a 28-7 win)," said the Harrison coach. "He has speed and savvy. He could be back there for us in a crucial game."

Gordon would like nothing more than to make the Hawks use Coleman on defense, but then again, maybe that isn't such a good idea because Harrison doesn't need any more incentives.

Turning point

Women's team back in national title hunt

By C.J. Risaak
staff writer

It may take a month, maybe even more, but if the final goal is realized, people in the know just might look back on last weekend and proclaim it, "The turning point."

That, they may insist, is when the Schoolcraft College women's soccer team discovered its identity, after the Lady Ocelots battled back against formidable odds to upset the National Junior College Athletic Association's defending champion and No. 2-ranked team.

Don't misunderstand: There was nothing accidental or lucky about SC's 2-1 victory over Florissant Valley CC, from St. Louis, in Sunday's final match of the Schoolcraft College Tournament. The Lady Ocelots won with a determined effort, the kind that — more often than raw ability — carries teams to championships.

SC'S GAME-WINNING goal was a perfect example. The ball was centered out in front of the Florissant Valley goal by SC's Joan Arndt; teammate Cindy Bowman deflected it toward the net.

Angie Viviano, a reigning All-American, was in goal for Flo Valley. She made a remarkable attempt to prevent the goal, deflecting attempts by both Arndt and Bowman away from the net. But Bowman refused to give up. She finally just carried the ball into the goal with her body.

Bowman's goal — her second of the match — guaranteed nothing. SC coach Nick O'Shea had benched keeper Tisha Guido, whom he felt had been struggling with a bad back, before the tournament. In her stead he shuffled several players, using Beverly DeJohn and Angee Stigmaler against Flo Valley.

"That's why I was worried until the final whistle," O'Shea admitted after the victory.

A STRONG WIND from the south made the situation more tenuous for SC's inexperienced keepers. And that wasn't the end of the Lady Ocelots' problems.

"I had one sub today," said O'Shea after beating Flo Valley. It was an important victory, to be sure. In the tournament's first round — Saturday, SC had been blanked 3-0 by another St. Louis team, Meramec CC. A second loss on its own field might have damaged the Lady Ocelots' NJCAA tournament chances.

The odds seemed stacked against SC when injuries decimated the lineup. Starting midfielder and co-captain Dawn Gabriel injured an ankle

Schoolcraft sports

15 minutes into Saturday's Meramec game. Lori Hodges was also nursing an injured ankle, and late in the Flo Valley match SC lost Amy Zanetti to a mild concussion.

"They played with quite a bit of intensity, especially with all the injuries," said O'Shea of his team, which improved to 8-3-1.

The Lady Ocelots knew it was going to be a struggle, particularly after Saturday's debacle. "We gave up three bad goals (against Meramec)," said O'Shea. "We had more ball possession, but ball possession doesn't win games."

EVEN THOUGH DeJohn and Zanetti looked shaky in goal against Flo Valley — particularly DeJohn, who had the strong wind in her face in the first half — neither gave up an easy goal.

Bowman opened the scoring on a breakthrough with 22 minutes left in the first half, a breakthrough assisted by a Flo Valley defender.

Shannon Meath tried to pop the ball forward to Bowman, but a defender intercepted. No matter, her attempt to head the ball away ended up on Bowman's foot as she sped for the Flo Valley net. Bowman beat Viviano to the right, and SC was ahead 1-0.

Six minutes later, the game was tied. Flo Valley forward Kelly Drury was O'Shea's greatest concern, and Drury showed why by heading a crossing pass backwards, into the far corner of the net.

That was the end of the scoring in the first half, and O'Shea was confident of his team's chances playing with the wind in the second half. "The wind was like an extra man," he said.

O'SHEA'S STRATEGY helped get the most out of every advantage. After scouting Flo Valley Saturday — it defeated Monroe CC 1-0 — O'Shea shuffled his alignment.

Flo Valley was using five defenders, three midfielders and two forwards. SC countered with three defenders, five midfielders and two forwards.

"We took their five players (in the midfield and forward positions) out of the game," he said, adding all five were dangerous.

O'Shea also stuck defender Rose Hally on Drury, shadowing her. That move worked well, too.

BRIAN TOOVALIAN/staff photographer
Kellie Davis (right) of Schoolcraft College converges on Meramec CC's Sharon Reilly during weekend tournament action.

As it turned out, the tournament — which featured three of the top five teams in the NJCAA — couldn't have been more even. All four teams finished with a win and a loss. According to the tiebreaking formula, Meramec (the only unranked team in the field) won the title. Flo Valley was second.

Meramec defender Kelli Van Hoose was named defensive MVP; SC's Bowman got the offensive MVP award.

One other thing was gained at the tournament: a distinct feeling that three of these four teams will meet again, in the NJCAA tournament next month in Trenton, N.J.

Shamrocks boot Foley in semifinal

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Despite miserable conditions Tuesday, the Redford Catholic Central soccer team advanced in the Catholic League boys' tournament with a 3-1 semifinal victory over Madison Heights Bishop Foley in a game played at Schoolcraft College.

The Shamrocks, now 13-1-1 overall, overcame an early 1-0 deficit on goals by Bill Tarnacki, Jim Bernthal and Joe Nora to gain a berth in Saturday's final against Central Division rival Warren DeLaSalle, which ousted Riverview Gabriel Richard in the other semifinal on Tuesday, 3-1. (Bernthal also had two assists.)

Game time is 2:30 p.m. at Harper Woods Notre Dame. (CC and DeLaSalle split in their previous meetings.)

Upset-minded Foley (4-6-6) wasted little time in putting a scare into the Shamrocks as Dennis Thornton scored just 10 seconds into the match, played under misty, windy and cool temperatures.

"That was quite a wakeup call," said CC coach John Boos. "They got the ball up into the wind and caught us napping."

Brian Maas started in goal for CC. J.P. Angell finished up.

The Shamrocks have lost top sweeper Jason Ries for the season. He suffered torn ligaments in his knee in a win Oct. 8 over Notre Dame.

Dana Orsucci has stepped into Ries' spot.

In a non-league game Saturday at Schoolcraft, CC defeated Ann Arbor Huron, 3-0, as Kerry Zavagnin, Bernthal and Tarnacki tallied goals.

Angell and Maas combined on the shutout.

A.A. HURON 1; STEVENSON 0: State-ranked Livonia Stevenson (11-2-1) suffered a rare loss Monday at the hands of host Ann Arbor Huron.

Rob Axelrod scored from Andy Gutowski in the second half to give the River Rats the win.

Huron outshot the Spartans, 6-5.

GARDEN CITY 4, REDFORD UNION 2: Carlos Bazerrelli scored twice, including the game-winning goal in the second half as the Cougars (2-7-4) gained the Northwest Suburban League win Monday over the host Panthers (7-6-1).

GC avenged a 1-0 last-minute loss to RU earlier in the season.

Scott Kendrick and Dan Horvath also scored for the victors.

Mike Fluker and Gary Luyben tallied goals for RU.

GC coach Scott Steiner praised the play of center-midfielder Jim Horvath and sweeper Sean White, who switched positions for the game.

FRANKLIN 1, BRIGHTON 1: In a non-league game played Saturday, Livonia Franklin (6-6-2) gained the tie with the host Bulldogs on a second-half penalty kick by Scott Gyiraszin, who scored his team-leading seventh on the season.

In a match last week at Farmington Harrison, the Patriots broke away from a scoreless halftime deadlock to beat the Hawks, 4-0.

Goalie Tim Dlugos earned the shutout. Franklin outshot the Hawks, 18-6.

TEMPLE 6, PLY. CHRISTIAN 1: David Schalte scored four goals and Kraig Dalton added two as Redford Temple Christian (7-5-1) booted Plymouth Christian Monday in a match at Hines Park.

Dalton and Schalte also added assists, while Marlon Reed, Kevin McCants, Ron Pennington and Matt Cronan also contributed one each.

college sports

It's halfway through the '89 campaign, and improvement is hard to see in Wayne State's football program.

The Tartars are 1-5 overall and 0-3 in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, and the chances of them ending their losing streak in GLIAC play (they haven't won a conference game since 1985) seem remote.

But there are bright spots. Tony Beaune, a senior defensive tackle from Livonia (Stevenson) who has attracted the attention of pro scouts, has 63 tackles and leads the team with nine tackles for 33 yards in losses and five quarterback sacks.

Freshman Joe Dellgaw, from Redford Union, has also made a strong impression. Against Ashland last Saturday, Dellgaw set a WSU record with a 91-yard punt, breaking the previous mark of 82 set in 1938. He is averaging 38.2 yards per punt and is second on the team in receptions with 14 catches for 213 yards (a 15.2 average) and one touchdown.

CENTRAL MICHIGAN'S soccer team continues to excel thanks to several players with local backgrounds. The Chipewas improved to 9-3-1 by winning the Loyola Lakefront Invitational Oct. 6-7 in Chicago, the third consecutive Lakefront tourney title for CMU. The Chips beat Bradley University 3-0 Oct. 6 and Loyola 5-2 Oct. 7. Freshman defender Kurt Will, from Livonia (Stevenson), scored a goal in each game for

CMU. Senior striker John Rehr, also from Livonia (Redford Catholic Central), scored a goal for the Chips in the win over Loyola.

Freshman striker Pete Galea (Livonia Stevenson) collected two assists in both games, and sophomore defender Kevin Tuttle (Livonia Churchill) added an assist against Loyola.

PETE MAZZONI was ranked second among Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association total offense leaders, but the junior quarterback at Adrian College from Livonia (Stevenson), has not been able to transform his statistics into victories. Adrian was 1-5 through last Saturday, including an 0-2 mark in the MIAA.

Mazzoni completed 17 of 27 passes (63 percent) for 216 yards and two touchdowns with one interception in the first MIAA game, placing him fourth among lead passing leaders. His 213 total yards in offense is second in MIAA games.

For all games, Mazzoni has hit 69 of 133 passes (52 percent) for 832 yards, with six touchdowns and seven interceptions, fourth best among MIAA quarterbacks.

Leading Adrian's defenders is junior linebacker Kevin Messner from Redford (Union). Messner leads the Bulldogs in tackles with 67 in five games, one sack and one tackle for loss.

THE FINAL MIAA golf standings are in and Hope College has claimed the team title with a 400.0 stroke average. Calvin College was a distant second at 412.0.

Among the top six golfers named to the all-MIAA team were Mike Kohler of Olivet, a senior from Walled Lake who had the fourth-best stroke average in the league (80.1). Kohler was co-medalist in the fifth tournament, at Grand Haven Golf Club, with a 78; Olivet won the tournament with a 417 team total.

Mike Sonen, a sophomore at Kalamazoo College from Plymouth, just missed all-MIAA designation. Sonen averaged 81.7 strokes for the seven tournaments, seventh best in the MIAA.

Warren sparks Glenn upset against Western Shuwarren Lee's two free throws with three seconds to play was the difference in Westland John Glenn's 62-61 upset girls basketball win Tuesday over host Walled Lake Western.

A traveling violation by Western with six seconds to play set up the winning foul shots.

In the first half, it looked as if Western would have no problem with the Rockets. The Warriors outscored Glenn 24-16 in the second period to claim a 38-28 half-time edge.

However, the Rockets got back in the ballgame in the third quarter, putting 17 points on the scoreboard to only eight for Western.

Glenn (5-8, 3-2) was helped by deadeye shooting, hitting 65 percent from the field in the second half.

Jennifer Massey led the winners with 17 points. Lee chipped in with 14 points and nine rebounds, and Carrie Rachwal added 10 markers.

Laura Call (16) and Holly Miller (12) were the high scorers for Western.

Glenn coach Pat Bennett was pleased with his team's second-half effort.

"It was definitely a big win," he said. "We took care of business in the second half."

THURSTON 88, TRUMAN 31—Redford Thurston jumped out to a 24-4 first-quarter advantage and cruised to victory Tuesday over host Taylor Truman in a Tri-River League encounter.

Laura Kress scored 14 points to lead the Eagles, and Beth Bachman chipped in with 12.

Every player on the roster scored for Thurston (8-4, 7-3).

N. FARMINGTON 64, CHURCHILL 34: Eve Clear scored 18 points to lead the visiting Raiders to a easy win Tuesday over Livonia Churchill (2-11, 1-5).

Kim Gurecki added 15 points and eight assists for the winners.

Jenny Willemis and Vikki Seamons led Churchill with 13 and 12 points, respectively. Seamons also pulled down 11 rebounds.

Churchill coach Don Albertson feels optimistic despite the defeat.

"It wasn't a tough loss," he said. "I don't feel bad losing to them. We're in the process of getting our act together."

MERCY 63, LADYWOOD 49: A balanced scoring attack led Farmington Mercy (7-7) to a triumph Tuesday over visiting Livonia Ladywood in a Central Division game (9-5). It was Mercy's second straight win over Ladywood.

Mercy had four players in double figures: Joanne Stephens (16), Laure DeMattia (11), Kathleen Gerigk (10) and Carrie Walton (10).

Gerigk also had six steals. Cari Mitter scored 20 points to lead the Blazers, and Rebecca Willey added 15.

"It was a big win for us," said Mercy coach Larry Baker. "It is nice to put some points on the board."

NORTHVILLE 39, STEVENSON 32: The host Mustangs (8-5) outscored Livonia Stevenson 14-6 in the second quarter Tuesday and that proved to be the difference.

Kelly Cotter (11) and Laura Zatorski (7) were the high scorers for the Spartans (6-7).

The Mustangs' Kate Holstein was the game's high scorer with 20.

Stevenson hit 13 of 27 foul shots.

MARIAN 66, BORGESS 44: Tanya Tounsel scored 20 points Tuesday for Redford Bishop Borgess, but the balanced scoring attack of host Birmingham Marian was too much to overcome.

Hazel Olden had 21 points, seven assists and seven steals for the Mustangs. Dana Hudson (13) and Kris Bairdi (11) also reached double figures for Marian.

"They are a very good team," said Borgess coach Dave Mann. "We were competitive with them in the first half. It was a good half for us."

Marian is now 6-1 in the Central Division of the Catholic League, while the Spartans fell to 0-7.

FRANKLIN 38, FARMINGTON 23: Livonia

girls basketball

Franklin (10-2, 4-2) bested the visiting Falcons (3-10, 1-5) Tuesday in a low scoring game.

The Patriots outscored Farmington 12-3 in the first quarter. Julieann Steslak and Cheryl Hintz played strong all-around games for Franklin.

Steslak compiled 12 points, five rebounds and six steals, and Hintz had seven markers, 12 boards, and five thefts.

Patty Shea added eight points for the winners.

Rachel Cannon scored eight points for Farmington.

Dawn Warner, Franklin's leading scorer, missed the game due to sickness.

Franklin coach Dan Freeman was pleased with the play of his troops in her absence.

"We had to make some adjustments," said Freeman. "I felt the girls adjusted well and filled in the gaps."

GARDEN CITY 45, BRIGHTON 34: The Cougars (8-6) outscored Brighton 14-4 in the fourth quarter to pull away in a game played Tuesday at Garden City.

The Cougars shut down the Bulldogs' inside game down the stretch, holding forward Jennifer Allen and center Lori Anguish to two points apiece in the final period.

"We denied them (Allen and Anguish) the ball and forced them to do other things," said GC coach Marshall Henry. "We did a good job of forcing the ball outside, and we had a lot of turnovers off of wing passes."

Stars for the Cougars included Carolyn Shanks (17 points and five steals), Tracy Thompson (nine points and six steals), Krystal Matesic (eight points and 12 rebounds), Michele Tyree (14 rebounds) and Lynn Gowen (eight points and four steals).

Allen and Anguish each scored 12 for the Bulldogs.

REDFORD UNION 47, MILFORD 46: Shannon Morris hit a pair of foulshots with 12 seconds to play Tuesday to give the host Panthers the win.

Morris started all day for RU, hitting for 29 points and passing off for five assists.

Brooke Hayden led Milford with 14 markers.

RU improved to 5-7 with the triumph, while the Redskins fell to 9-5.

WAYNE 53, MONROE 27: The Zebras (8-5, 6-2) cruised to an easy victory at home Tuesday in a Wolverine A League encounter.

Maya Lewis and Dorris Bathwell scored 18 and 16 points, respectively, for Wayne.

"It was our best game of the year," said Zebras coach Jack Furlong. "The girls did everything well."

DePORRES 56, ST. AGATHA 33: The defensive pressure of Detroit DePorres was too much Tuesday for host Redford St. Agatha (2-10, 1-7).

The Eagles outscored their hosts 25-4 in the opening quarter and cruised to the Catholic League victory.

"They played a man-to-man full-court press and that was the end of it," said Aggies coach Pat Oppari.

Kelly Carr led the Aggies with 11 points.

Shonda Dowell and Stacey Lovelace each scored 10 for DePorres.

LUTHERAN WESTLAND 82, FLINT VALLEY 8: The Warriors overwhelmed their hosts Tuesday, placing three players in double figures.

Stephanie Locke again led Westland, hitting for 32 points. Joy Laho (15) and Sarah Love (11) were the other top scorers for the Warriors.

The Warriors are now 9-3, while Valley fell to 0-9.

LUTHERAN WEST 47, CLARENCEVILLE 14: Host Livonia Clarenceville (1-13, 0-8) fell to the Leopards Tuesday in a Metro Conference game.

Trojans coach Wendy Kellehan was impressed with West.

"They are fast and quick," she said. "They pressed us and we didn't have the depth. We got tired."

Danielle Rose had 10 of the Trojans' points.

Yvonne Hall and Michelle Parker each scored 14 for the Leopards.

Vitali to enter Hall of Fame

IT ISN'T EXACTLY Cooperstown, N.Y., but the Polish Century Club in Detroit will be the site for the Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame induction ceremonies Sunday, Nov. 5.

Among the bowlers being inducted is Farmington Hills native Fred Vitali. His accomplishments on the lanes are legendary.

Vitali qualified for Team USA in 1971 and won two gold medals in international competition that same year. In the 1972-73 season, Vitali was named King of Detroit Bowlers.

His collection plaques and trophies could easily fill a bowling alley, but things that will always stand out for him are his four sanctioned 300 games, as well as his 299 and ever-impressive 800 series.

Vitali's story is not common among bowlers. He wasn't the kid who started bowling young and ultimately became a star. He immigrated to this country from Italy at 19, never having seen a bowling ball.

At 23, Vitali began his road to success. His first bowling season was hardly a gutter ball, rolling a 175 average.

Vitali joined the Coca-Cola team in 1963 and the famous Strohs' team in 1972. He has bowled in the annual All-Star Classic 18 times.

Farmington Hills resident Al Winkel, who has been president of the local Bowling Proprietors Association and the Michigan BPA, also is scheduled to be inducted into the Hall of Fame.

Winkel, like Vitali, has received numerous awards, including the BPA Appreciation Award, the BPA Meritorious Service Award, the Special Proprietors Award and the Judge John D. Watts Award.

Winkel is proprietor of Woodland Lanes in Livonia.

Like the grand slam in baseball and the hat trick in hockey, a 300 game is rare in bowling.

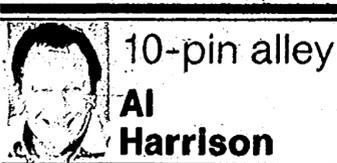

Friday, at Country Lanes in Farmington Hills, Tom Gow and Ron Turner rolled perfect scores in the Greenfield Mixed League, which also witnessed Gloria Merz's 615 series and 231 game.

The Ladies Noon Classic was led by Lori Craig's 604 series, which included a 235 game. Shirley Prevo rolled a 594. Julie Wright, a 17 year old, used a 217 game to cap off a 633 series in the Farmington Hills School League.

The Wonderland Classic League at Wonderland Lanes in Livonia featured an array of impressive scores last week.

A 300 game helped Ray Randall roll a 731 series. Joe Mamroczki used his 258 to put together a 689 set. Carl Harden had a 279 game and 688 series. Ron Eisenbels rolled a 686 series, including a 236 game. Ron Hasse rolled 681 series, thanks to a 241 game.

Steve Stevens (604), Hasse (681), Jeff Dishong (640) and Bob Polewski (671)

Al Harrison

helped Bob Polewski's team roll a combined 3,230.

Livonia's Merri Bowl Lanes was the site of Nick Conflitti's 679 series in the K of C League. Max Hanson rolled a 255.

In the Tuesday Roving Jills, Joan Jackson bowled 94 pins over her average, with a 246 game.

The Wednesday Bowling Bags League woke up when Michelle Charlton rolled 108 pins over her average, with a 241. In the Senior Merry Bowlers League, Joe Baloga rolled a 246 game.

In the Y.A.B.A. Youth League, Jeff Welland had a 640 set, which included a 236 game.

Drakeshire Lanes in Farmington Hills hosted Dwayne Najarian's 728 series Tuesday. He had a series of 247-236-245. In the Tuesday Mixed Senior League at Mayflower Lanes in Redford, Len Carr had a 247 game. The Tuesday Men's League witnessed Paul Woodard's 693 series, which included a 258 game.

Westland's Oak Lanes was home to Tom Leonard's 716 series. Ken Kinsler bowled a 268 game, and Bob Fletcher rolled a 243.

Fred Vitali

Pat McLaughlin's 254 made him the toast of the Friday Men's League. Mark Trybas, John Wodarski Jr. and Robert Crossland had 242, 237 and 238, respectively.

Al Young rolled a 692 series in the Midnights League at Livonia's Woodland Lanes. Wally Oleszkowicz finished 100 pins over his average with a 255 game.

In the C.C.H. Father and Son League, 16-year-old Brian Lueck rolled a 275 game. John Garland had a 255. In the Sundowners League, Cherie Clark rolled a 246 game.

The Bators Bar League featured Mike Hasty's 664 and Skip Clemence's 661. Westland Bowl was rocking as Tom Brudzinski rolled a 300 game in the Tuesday Seniors House League.

Pat Mills had a 645 series in the Wednesday Ladies Classic. Jane Martin had a 641 series and Linda Schneider a 240 game.

In the Tuesday Men's League, Wayne Savage rolled a 724 series and Bill Savage a 266 game. Greg Proctor's 719 in the Tuesday Battle of the Sexes League.

The pins were falling at Super Bowl in Canton last week, as Chuck Vines rolled a 300, his first. Gary Krause finished with a 672 series in the Tuesday Junior House League.

In the Wednesday Morning Men's League, Dave Kowalski rolled a 726 series. Lester Druem had a 698.

Cora Fiebig and Friends will be holding the sixth annual Make-a-Wish charity event at Astro Lanes in Madison Heights Sundays, Oct. 29 and Nov. 5. There will be pro-am doubles for adults and youth bowlers.

Earl Anthony and Brian Voss will make personal appearances and sign autographs. For details, call Fiebig at 399-6739 or Gerry Ritter at 589-9118.

At age 92, John Kitz is doing what he loves best. He's bowling and is quite successful. Last week he rolled a 185 game at Mayflower Lanes. Keep it up, John.

'Our Town' at a glance

Birmingham's fourth annual "Our Town" art exhibition and sale, in the planning for a year, is up and open to visitors all weekend. More than 300 two-dimensional works of art from 150 Michigan artists were juried into the show by Leslie Masters, artist, teacher and former assistant director of the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association.

The five-day event, which kicked-off yesterday with a fund-raiser/gala, is open free of charge 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Sunday, 380 S. Bates, Birmingham.

Carson Business Interiors of Southfield, sponsors of the event since it began, will present $10,000 in prizes to the artists at an awards ceremony and tea at 4 p.m. Sunday. Masters will present, "The Juror's Perspective" as she leads a tour of the show 1:30-3 p.m. Friday. Refreshments will be served. The cost is $8.

The artists from all over Michigan, including the Upper Peninsula, bring many interpretations of "hometown" and its special meaning to them into their work in a variety of media — from oils, acrylics and watercolor to ink, woodcuts, collage, mixed media and photography.

Our Town, sponsored by Carson Business Interiors of Southfield, is a fund-raiser for The Birmingham Community House. Begun in 1921, The Community House annually attracts more than 380,000 people from the tri-county area to its wide-ranging calendar of educational and cultural activities. For information call, 644-5832.

"Bash Bish Falls," a 21-color print by Lucille Procter Nawara, is among the works shown at The Community House. Her interest in landscape began in childhood and was further nurtured by mountain climbing expeditions during adulthood.

"Faith of Our Fathers" is by Charles Gillies, an illustrator for a Troy firm. One of his paintings, "Jesus Walking on the Water," was selected in the 1988 Society of Illustrators' 28th annual exhibition in New York.

Lillian Moran's vivid watercolor abstractions can be seen in her "Fanfare." She aims at providing her audience with a kaleidoscopic view of the world.

"The Kitchen, Rochester Hills Museum," a photo of the farm kitchen in the Historic Van Hoosen farmhouse by Karen Spitsbergen-Richardson, is also featured at The Community House.

Surprising show offers optimistic views

By Helen Zucker
staff writer

The remarkable landscape show currently on view at the Rubiner Gallery is an eclectic mix that somehow manages to rest the eye rather than confuse it.

The 25 artists with works hanging on the walls hail from all parts of Michigan, the Maine coast, Denver, the Napa Valley in California, Ohio and Boston. All in all, they represent a fair sampling of what's happening in landscape painting as we approach 1990.

The pleasant feel of the show is all the more surprising in light of the dire predictions about our ruined landscape.

FAR FROM giving us images of ruin, Richard Jerzy, who teaches at the Center for Creative Studies, gives us three views of lush gardens in Indian Village.

Jerzy plays down the buildings behind his "Garden in July," "Dahlia Garden" and "Garden With Blossoming Apple." His brushstrokes are Soutine-like in texture, and the paint builds so that his blooms seem to be pushing out of the canvas as well as out of the rich loam of downtown Detroit.

Tino Zago's powerful "La Porta" is a semi-abstract view of a scorching sunset behind rocks rising out of a turbulent sea. The sea slithers between the rock formations, then stretches into the horizon. Whatever port lies at the bottom of the canvas is dealt with in a series of quick, black sketches.

The red sun above the rocks, stretching from one end of the canvas to the other, sheds its light on everything. Man-made objects seem insignificant in this light. Despite the obvious modern technical achievement of this painting, the vision behind it is either late 19th century, or else the heated globe we've been warned is coming is not going to affect the earth as badly as expected.

Zago, who was born in Michigan and went to Yale and Cranbrook, lives abroad and is showing at the O.K. Harris Gallery in New York.

Well-known Richard Koslow's "Crater Lake," a dreamscape of the mind despite its being a real place, is an offshoot of Koslow's 40-foot-long mural at the new Michigan Library Museum and Archives Building in Lansing.

Using semi-pointillist techniques, Koslow manages to keep a clarity of line that invokes trees in the foreground, and hills in the distance beyond the dreaming lake. A deliberate blurring of pink and blue-greens keeps the essence of "Crater Lake" intact. Another canvas, "Ocean," subtly uses many shades of blue to evoke the sea and sky; flecks of rust on the beach play up the foaming sand.

CAROL AND ALAN Rubiner, who own one of the oldest galleries in Oakland County, put this show together by inviting artists to do a new landscape and send it in.

These include new artists — like William Bracken, whom they found while biking in Maine — and artists like Mignonne Yin Cheng, who has been teaching at the University of Michigan for 25 years, and Robert Burkert, whose work they've shown for many years.

Bracken's watercolors have a Wuth-like feel. He does horses centered on the canvas in front of the great Maine coast, and his pictures are filled with air and light.

Cheng came up with lovely, textured leaf patterns, and Betsey Margolius of Denver sent rich work of the Jamaican landscape. Margolius, who lives near the snow-capped Rockies, goes to Jamaica to paint.

FRITZ MAYHEW stays home in Bloomfield Hills, works at Ford and manages to make time to do large watercolors of landscapes that expose the beautiful country we still have Up North. Mayhew works well in varying shades of brown and sepia, flecking the surface with drifting snowflakes.

Nathaniel Larrabee of Ohio University does cityscapes without people. His flat, orange rooftops, lit with dusky light, inevitably remind one of Hopper. But the roofs seem smaller, whether squashed together, or simply friendlier than Hopper's cityscapes are, depends on the viewer's mood.

I was impressed by Richard Minuzzo's large abstract from the Napa Valley. The struts of a great bridge sweep across the painting; golden land beyond it, a stretch of sky above; a bent sardine can, a small wheel and a minuscule metal object indicating debris beneath the bridge. But the beauty of the landscape easily overtakes the rubbish. Minuzzo seems to suggest that a

Michigan Library Museum and Archives Building in Lansing.

Here's what the writers are reading briefly speaking

MOST WRITERS are voracious readers. So, when I recently asked several area writers if they'd read any good books lately, I wasn't surprised to hear that the answer was a resounding "yes." If you're curious about recent favorites, read on.

LINDA BARTELL, author of "Britanny" (Avon) and other romance novels:

"I'm reading a historical romance, 'Seize the Fire' (Avon), that I think is absolutely wonderful, and also happens to be written by a friend of mine, Laura Kinsale. I'm about seven-eighths of the way through the book, and I've actually put it away for awhile because I don't want it to end for me, although I've never done that with a book before. It's set in the 1820s in Europe and the Falkland Islands.

"I'm also reading Anne Rice's 'Interview with the Vampire' (Ballantine), which Laura Kinsale recommended. It's very different, very strange, but has really held my interest from the beginning."

LOREN ESTLEMAN, author of the newly-published "Peeper" (Bantam) and the popular Amos Walker detective series:

"Right now, I'm into 'Queen of the Damned' (Knopf) by Anne Rice. It's really quite a good (novel), set in ancient Egypt, about a woman who 'founded the vampire movement.' I've read all of Rice's vampire books, and really like her (work) a lot. She opens up a whole new world, and really draws you into it.

"I also just finished an extremely well-written biography of Clark Gable, 'Long Live the King' (Heinemann), by D.H. Binney. I read biographies often. I think they've become high art."

MAIDA PORTNOY, a area freelancer: "I'm just getting started with 'A Summons to Memphis' (Ballantine) by Peter Taylor, and I love it so far. I haven't read any of Peter Taylor's books before, and I'm planning to go back now and read others. I bought the book several months ago, but my husband, Bob, got to it before I did, and recommended it to me. It's beautifully-written.

JULIA GRICE, author of "How to Find Romance After 40" (Paperjacks), and "What Makes a Woman Very Sexy" (Dodd-Mead), plus "Lovefire," a best-selling historical romance, "White Palace" (Bantam) by Glenn Savan. It's a romance with characters who are alive and wonderful. I'm even recommending that some of my writing students read it.

"I think writers should read to keep up with their craft, and I'm reading 'How to Write Mysteries' (Writer's Digest Books) by Shannon O'Leary. How to plot, how to develop (characters), all about 'red hefrings' — she puts it all in very simple terms."

Victoria Diaz

CORINNE ABATT, editor of the Creative-Living section, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers: "The O. Henry Awards (Doubleday). That's always one of my favorite books to read during the year. I write short (fiction), and I love to read short stories."

DON BELTON, author of "Almost Midnight" (William Morrow): "I'm really enjoying a book, which is a first novel. The title is 'A Visitation of Spirits' (Grove Press) and it's written by Randall Keenan. It's a really courageous book in terms of form and content. He sort of plays around with both, and really succeeds. Exciting things are going to be happening in the '90s in terms of gay men telling the stories of their lives.

"Another book, 'Sisters of the Spirit' (Indiana University Press), is simply incredible. These are 'religious memoirs,' written in the 1800s for a religious audience, by three black women who were evangelistic preachers. They were free, well-educated women; Jarena Lee, Zilpha Elaw, and Julia Foote, and the book is very powerful. Much of the book is involved with stories of the journeys these women took in those days. The language is beautiful, and the book has really meant a lot to me: It really inspires."

TIM KISKA, Detroit News columnist and author of the recently-published "Detroit's Powers and Personalities" (Momentum): "I'm reading Thomas McGuane's 'Keep the Change' (Houghton Mifflin). I've read pretty much everything he's written. His settings are places like Florida and Montana, and I enjoy reading stories set against those backgrounds. You don't have to live in New York or Los Angeles to write a good book. His books are always tightly-crammed with great stuff. In fact, he makes me want to smash my fingers and throw my typewriter away."

Use brass accents to tone down orange

Q. Our family is really caught up with Halloween. We have Jack-o-lanterns in our dining and family rooms. My problem is I can't stand the color orange and am looking for ways to minimize the rustic look in favor of something more elegant. What would you suggest? And, by the way, what does the rejection of the color orange mean?

A. The way you can offset orange or any other bright color is to use other more powerful colors and textures to overwhelm the color. In this instance, I would suggest brass or copper accessories on a bold scale. You can easily find animal sculptures and candlesticks for both your dining and family rooms.

Incorporate brass or copper plate liners for your table setting. They'll look dramatic with white plates. Add pheasant feathers and grey-colored foliage, such as eucalyptus to your dried flower arrangements. Avoid any further use of orange, or even apricot. Shift into deep brown-cast reds, greens and whites for the tablecloth or any other item you care to introduce into these rooms. In this way, the brightest orange will become a mere accent.

Your dislike of orange usually signifies that you want to achieve serious goals and will not indulge in feelings for their own sake. You are also suspicious of people with overly friendly facades.

Q. I'm a 38-year-old male with grey-blue eyes and reddish brown hair. Because I'm outdoors a lot, my complexion is quite ruddy. I've heard about special colors for women to enhance their looks. Can any of these principles apply to men? I'm in business and need any type of competitive edge available.

A. Most color advice for women is based on either enhancing existing color of the complexion, eyes and hair; or compensating for the lack of flattering color. For men, the color principles are somewhat different. Above all, you must avoid the all about color

colorful look, especially in a competitive business environment. This doesn't mean you should look drab either.

Try to strike a balance, in between the two extremes. Because you have reddish brown hair and a ruddy complexion, avoid greens because they exaggerate warm colors by contrast. Also avoid yellow and yellow ochre. Stick to blue, greys, black, cool beiges and a grayed brown called taupe.

style, coordinated with a white dress shirt, accented with very fine pencil stripes in blue. The tie should be in a bright navy color for a real power look, or in a blue-cast, deep red with a small pattern. Don't experiment with the extra wide tie sizes or unusual patterns.

Make sure your cap-toed shoes are not in a too heavy style and that your socks are of a fine knit. Select a trench coat or a fine camel hair that isn't too warm in its color, but possesses a grayed or cool cast beige or taupe. Don't forget that impeccable grooming is the finishing touch that says you are to be taken seriously.

'Singing Plumber' here

Library concert set

"What I like about what I do," explains "Fat Bob" Taylor, "is that I get to do so many different things."

At 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 10, in the Livonia Civic Center Library auditorium, he will do one of the things he does best and that is singing some of everyone's favorite songs mainly from stage shows and movies.

A special highlight will be a patriotic segment in honor of the nationwide observance of Veterans Day the following day.

Tickets at $3 are available at the library at 32777 Flye Mile Road, during regular library hours. The event is sponsored by the Livonia Arts Commission and is part of an ongoing series of community events. Seating is limited.

"FAT BOB" IS perhaps best known in this area through his singing of the national anthem before Detroit Tiger ballgames, something he has done on opening days for the past 20 years. He has also sung the national anthem on opening games for the other Detroit sports teams, the Pistons, Red Wings and Lions.

Formerly part of the weekend lineup for radio station WJR, Taylor now has a regular morning radio show at WPZA, the station that was WPAG before pizza magnate Tom Monahan bought it and moved it to his Domino Farms complex in Ann Arbor. He also does a cooking show called "Fat Bob's Kitchen" for a Dearborn cable station.

Taylor, who has also made several guest appearances with the Livonia Symphony (previously Oakway), was once the proprietor of a plumbing supply firm. It was during those days that he acquired the nickname "The Singing Plumber."

It was during his tenure at WJR that he was dubbed "Fat Bob" by radio personality J. P. McCarthy — a nickname that has stuck like the tire around his waist, Taylor says with a smile.

He lives his wife, Carol Ann, a senior graphic artist at the University of Michigan, on a farm outside Ann Arbor where they tend the llamas (which they sell as exotic pets), ducks, geese, 16 (count 'em, 16) cats and a burro.

This lifestyle comes natural to him, Taylor notes, as he was born on a farm in Leamington, Ontario, where he spent his first 12 years before moving to the Detroit area.

Tips on organizing convertible bedroom

If you are a "snow bird" and take off for the winter, in all probability you will be having guests for a short stay.

Few families have the luxury of space required to set aside a room or rooms for guests. The spare bedroom, "convertible" den or family room can become a guest bedroom by night. The convertible sofa is available in the same size as a bed whether it be standard 4 1/2, 5 1/2 or 6 1/2.

The guest room, particularly in a vacation home, should be worry free and easy to care for. Convertible sofas have the same fashionable styling as the conventional types. A sturdy 100 percent cotton will wear well. Most fabrics come Scotch Guarded. An extra spray every now and then does help.

If you do have a stain, don't delay in cleaning it. The time to catch the spill is when it is bubbling up from the Scotch Guard. It will not penetrate the material if it is cared for immediately.

FOR STORAGE, I suggest using small chests on either side of the sofa.

Make your company feel welcome. Shelf space for your guests' belongings — shaving equipment and cosmetics — is another necessity. I'm all for putting shelves wherever possible. An upper kitchen cabinet, installed over the commode can hold any number of toiletries. The upper cupboard is only 12 inches deep, so you need not be concerned about a heavy look in the room.

Make sure your towels, hand and bath, are in plentiful supply. Have a fresh bar of soap on the counter as designing ways

well as in the bath or shower. Another must is a wastebasket. And, of course, an ample supply of facial tissue and toilet paper. I think it shows you care when you provide extra tooth paste, shampoo and deodorant.

All of the above are the small touches that really make your guests happy to be there.

midget's finger, a small application of imagination, could sweep the debris from our highways and give us back the fresh, green beauty that still lives in America.

Minuzzo has a very sure hand and a sense of vision that comes across in his acrylic bridge. He also has a smaller mixed media on paper here. He's so accomplished an artist that he manages to use many layers, yet achieve a delicate texture.

FRAN AND HAL Larsen have landscapes of the Southwest; Vicki Brett has a dramatic "After the Storm"; Ingrid Capozzoli of Boston went to Cape Cod and sent four very delicate beach studies. Jane Everhart, who shows in Chicago, has "Fruit Trees."

The clarity of the many watercolors and pastels in the show is cause for wonder. There is a marked absence of computer images, cartoon figures, mockery of the modern world. What there is plenty of in this show is high-quality craftsmanship, talent and a serious reminder that nature, not only shopping malls, is out there in abundance.

Marjorie Hecht Simon, painting her own garden in Huntington Woods, in "Passageway" provides us with a reminder that art is often the medium that puts us back in touch with the landscape around us.

Karen Carter, Arthur Charlow, Ken Christopher, William House, Don Irwin, Joel Jaacks, Andrew Paczos, Jeanne Tennent and William Zingaro round out this sumptuous show.

The Rubiner Gallery is at 7001 Orchard Lake Road in West Bloomfield. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Estate walks, heritage trail auto tours listed

As leaves change from green to red and gold and fall colors reach their peak, the Henry Ford Estate-Fair Lane provides an ideal location to take in some of the season's scenery.

Outdoor estate walks, free and open to the public, leave at 12:30 p.m. each Tuesday and Wednesday through the end of October from the Fair Lane Visitors Center.

The walks, which last approximately one hour, take visitors through the gardens surrounding the estate plus Jensen's Meadow and the adjacent woodlands, where the fall colors can best be appreciated.

For auto-bound autumn enthusiasts, the estate provides a starting point for a tour of the Rouge River arm of the Ford Heritage Trails.

THE FAIR LANE Powerhouse on the estate grounds, built in 1914, was a prototype for Henry Ford's "village industry" mills, a series of small hydropower plants that manufactured parts for Ford cars.

These mills have been preserved over the years in various uses, and are being restored as sites along the Ford Heritage Trails.

The Rouge River trail route follows Hines Drive along the banks of the Rouge, taking travelers past five village industry mills sites from Dearborn to Northville. The Ford Heritage Trail highlights these mills and other Henry Ford landmarks.

A three-by-five-foot, full-color display board explaining the Ford Heritage Trails is in the Fair Lane Visitors Center, which is open 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 1-4 p.m. Sunday.

The estate is on the campus of the University of Michigan-Dearborn, Evergreen Road between Ford Road and Michigan Avenue. For more information, call 593-5590.

Michigan Dance Festival tickets are now on sale

Tickets for the Michigan Dance Festival being held Nov. 6-12 are on sale. The festival, produced by the Arts Foundation of Michigan, is a week-long tribute to dance with performances, lectures and classes scheduled throughout the greater Detroit area, Flint, Lansing area and Grand Rapids.

Harbinger Dance Company, Detroit Dance Collective, Detroit-Windsor Dance Theatre, Happendence, Ann Arbor Dance Works and Whitley Setrakian/People Dancing will perform at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Nov. 10 and 11 in the Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts. Concert tickets are $10 and $15. Tickets may be ordered through Music Hall's box office, 963-7680 or through Hudson's or Ticketmaster outlets.

Steinway benefit

The Chamber Music Society of Detroit, in cooperation with Hammell Music of Livonia, will present "Steinway & Friends at Orchestra Hall," at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 3, featuring pianists Ruth Laredo and James Tocco.

Honoring Steinway's landmark 500,000 piano, this joint recital features the music of Schubert and Rachmaninoff. A gala reception to benefit the newly created Steinway Society of Michigan will follow the concert.

For tickets and information, call the Orchestra Hall Box Office, 833-3700.

BLACK & WHITE

staff photos by JIM JAGDFELD

The drama of black and white is accented by the place settings in the kitchen and the throw pillows in the conversation area at the rear of the kitchen. Not shown is a fireplace to the right of the conversation area.

1-2 punch combines for stark drama

By Marilyn Fitchett
staff writer

Developers of Fairlane Woods are hoping that old black magic will have buyers in its spell.

The first three detached condominiums (Fairlane Homes calls them patio homes) at the Dearborn site recently were opened to the public, with one model, the Stratford, done in black and white by Bob Siegel of Gorman's Gallery, Southfield.

"The emphasis is on the volume of space," Siegel said. "The object was to make the condo look as minimally furnished as possible. I didn't want to crowd it."

"The comments of people who have been through it is that they like the openness of it."

Siegel, director of design, pointed out the two-story ceilings and the open staircase and called his treatment "realistically scaled volume."

He originally proposed a black, brown and white color scheme, but that was rejected by the builders.

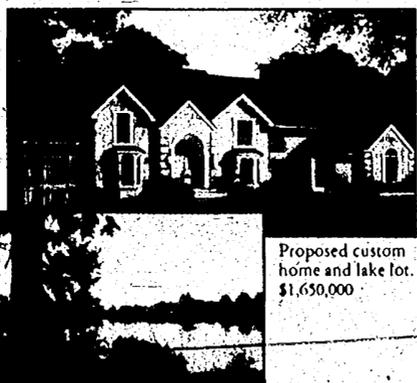

"The company wanted more mass appeal, so we decided on black and white and added hot pink as the accent color."

"It has the stark drama of contemporary with a punch of color."

Siegel carries the hot pink throughout the main floor. In the living room a three-piece sectional in black with pink flowers is joined by a hot pink loveseat. In the kitchen, serving pieces, place settings and napkins are hot pink. And in the family room area behind the kitchen, hot pink pillows rest on the white couch. Abstract art in varying shades of pink dress the white walls throughout the first floor.

BUT SIEGEL CHOSE not to repeat the hot pink on the second floor.

"When you have red, white and blue in the living room, red, white and blue in the dining room, and red, white and blue in the family room, it gets too cute. People learn to expect it," he said.

A Development of VICTOR
INTERNATIONAL CORPORATION

Victor V will have a two-story lobby, locker and shower facilities, surface parking for approximately 480 plus reserved executive parking.

Construction begins on 1st Victor office

Ground was broken for the first office building at Victor Corporate Park in Livonia last week.

Victor V, a five-story, 115,000-square-foot office building, joins Embassy Suites Hotel under construction at the 105-acre development east of I-275 between Seven and Eight Mile roads. Victor V is scheduled for completion in December 1990.

Victor V will be the first of two buildings built around a reflective pond. It will be traditional in style in red brick, cast stone, granite and tinged glass. The development is being built by Victor Corporate Park, a partnership of Hillman Properties of Pittsburgh and Victor International Corp. of Southfield. When completed in 1990, it will include nine buildings from four to 12 stories, with two million square feet of office space.

ADD Inc. of Cambridge, Mass., in association with Neumann/Smith and Associates of Southfield are the architects. Barton-Malow of Southfield is the general contractor. Grubb & Ellis is the leasing agent.

Get the look without the expense

(AP) — Decorating a home costs so much these days. If only a decorator would explain to the do-it-yourselfer where it is safe to cut corners and where it isn't.

With this in mind, we asked decorating authority Mary Gilliatt for some hints on how to economize and still create an attractive home.

"It's very important that the framework of a room be right," says Gilliatt, whose books include "Decorating on the Cheap." By framework, she means walls, floor, ceiling and windows.

Walls, she says, are among a room's most noticeable points, so start with good paint. Cheap paint will flake off and you'll have to redo the job, so you won't save in the long run.

"People tend to paint the room white when they don't have much to spend," Gilliatt says, "but terra cotta (or another dark color) will look more elegant, especially if you have white woodwork."

One of the more expensive paint jobs these days involves applying a faux finish, such as glazing, trompe l'oeil or ragging. Gilliatt says to get the look without the expense, hang one of the newer faux finish wallcoverings and then apply a coat of semi-gloss polyurethane with roller or brush. This will make it look more like an expensive painted finish and will be easier to clean.

ANOTHER IDEA for walls is to use borders to finish off the room. Choose a narrow border for just above the baseboard. Use borders to imitate a dado or chair rail — which adds architectural character. A real dado or chair rail can be added with ready-made molding. Paint walls above the line and apply wallcovering below it.

Saving money by cutting corners on quality is false economy, according to Gilliatt, especially where comfort is concerned. She counts mattresses and chairs and carpeting in high traffic areas among furnishings that will repay you for choosing good quality.

"Put the good carpet where it will get the hardest use — in hallways and foyers," she says, but in a bedroom, where there's much less wear, choose a lesser quality if necessary. Also, shop the sales.

You can also save by choosing a less expensive floor covering such as matting or rag rugs, by leaving the floors bare or by painting them.

When shopping for dining room furniture, you can save money on a table, which is usually covered with a cloth anyway, but reward yourself and your guests with comfortable chairs, says Gilliatt.

With window treatments, remember that draperies should be lined to look good — an expensive proposition no matter the type of fabric. So if you want to save money, use a less expensive treatment such as matchstick blinds or miniblinds. To lend these basic window coverings some distinction, spray paint a design on the matchsticks or paint them an unusual color to coordinate with your room.

THOSE WITH woodworking skills, or who have access to someone with the skills, can frame windows with 2-by-4 lumber and build a window seat for a custom look that's inexpensive.

Some Gilliatt quick tips to make any room look better:

- Place interesting house plants in the room.

- Buy several inexpensive uplights and place them behind the plants and furniture. "This will make any room look enormously more expensive," she says.

- Disguise or minimize threadbare sofas and chairs with a piece of old fabric, such as a shawl, draped across the seat back.

- Paint a floor in a checkerboard pattern using two of your favorite colors already in the room.

He considered the amount of time spent in the private rooms of a house, believing that "you can afford to be very stark there. The living is limited."

His master bedroom bears that out. The upper portion of the walls behind the bed is painted flat black and is separated from the white dado by a horizontal stretch of mirror. The furniture is white, the curtains and bedspread a wide black and white stripe. Only the art against the black wall picks up the pink of the first floor but in subdued shades.

Siegel saw a bedroom that he designed for "grandma," as an isolation for her from the sharper black and white rooms of the main floor. He used softer colors, replacing the hot pink with rose.

Siegel said he designed the condo, envisioning the owners to be "empty nesters with two kids off at college, who come home occasionally, and grandma."

"You have to be of a certain temperament to like (the black and white scheme)," Siegel said. "A person who is reserved or very unobtrusive couldn't like it. I picture the people who live here as 'up' and very interesting."

Siegel said that the color scheme "is something I do well because I like the contrast of black and white."

"I like the strength of dark and light, and strong color against white walls pleases me."

DID SIEGEL consider the practicality of using white in a model?

"When I suggested white carpeting, they (the builders) winced because so many would be walking through. But they went along with it."

The carpeting had to endure the tracking-of-workers-finishing the condo, but Siegel was pleased with the clean-up.

"Some say that off-white is more practical. But white is white. If it upsets you, don't get it. I can't say it's practical; but it's not as impractical as it seems."

Fairlane Woods is a 127-acre site south of Ford Road and west of Evergreen that includes traditional condominiums in addition to the 50 detached condos being built. Part of Henry Ford's Fair Lane estate, it includes a 43-acre wildlife preserve.

Three detached condominium models are available: the Windemere, a single-level modified ranch, and the two-story Stratford and Devonshire. They start at $300,000.

The Laird Haven Development Co. Inc.

Singh taps Northville

By Stephen Kellman
staff writer

Singh Development Co. of Birmingham has broken ground on its first mixed-used development, Main Centre, in downtown Northville.

Designed by Siegal/Tuomaala Associates of Farmington Hills, the $4.5 million four-story project will incorporate more than 27,000 square feet of space for retail shops and professional offices on the first and second floor. Upper floors will house 74 one- and two-bedroom apartments that will rent for $695 to $1,145 per month. Total square footage is about 110,000.

Many of the apartments will overlook one of two landscaped courtyards in the center of the complex. The apartments will have their own security systems with video monitoring of the lobby to screen guests. It will house its own clubhouse with a private library and lounge.

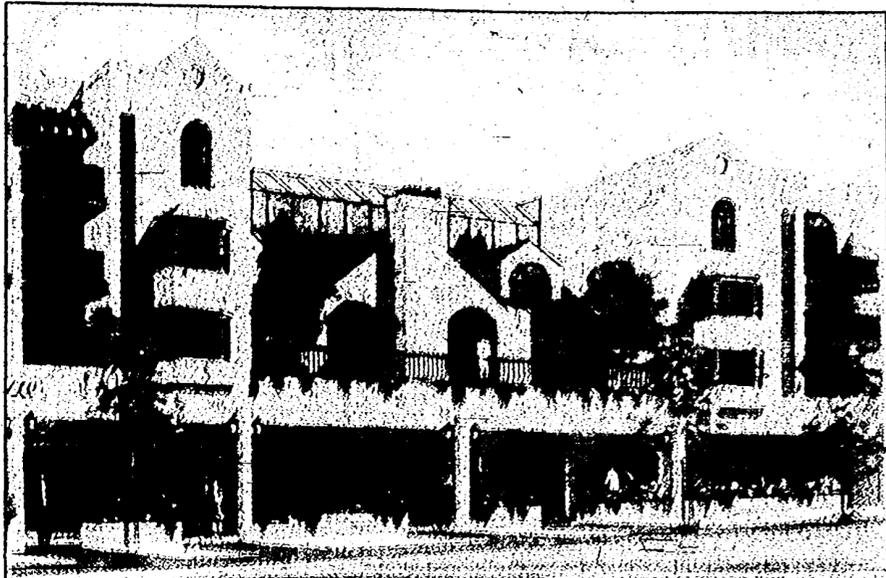

Singh is still negotiating with the city of Northville over the design of a parking structure for the development. The structure may include another 51 apartments.

Singh's single-family developments include Pheasant Hills and Quail Ridge in Northville and Bradford of Novi. Apartments include the Arbors of West Bloomfield, Waltonwood of Rochester Hills, and Adams Creek in Auburn Hills.

According to Singh Leasing Director Beverly Heofft, 25 to 30 percent of the retail and office space has been leased. Applications have also been taken for the apartments, and several have been leased. A spring occupancy is planned.

Singh develops, constructs, manages and owns all of its properties.

Singh Development Co.'s Main Centre will be built on the southwest corner of Main and Center streets in the heart of downtown Northville. The four-story development will provide retail space on the street level along with offices and apartments on the upper floors. The building will be brick, with tinted windows and a landscaped commons area.

A YORK MANAGEMENT COMMUNITY

One Look is Worth 1,000 Pictures

Look at our great setting: Say goodbye to sprawling apartment complexes. Come live in what one visitor described as a "well maintained public park." Walk, picnic or just sit under the trees away from busy streets, traffic and noise.

Look at our superb location: We're five minutes from downtown Birmingham, a short walk to Somerset Mall shops and grocery stores. Nearby major highways make commuting convenient.

Look at our apartments: Richey decorated entry ways welcome you to your spacious one or two bedroom apartment with patio or balcony, tiled bath, ample closets.

Come look us over. We're sure you'll like what you see.
