Hometown educators promoted

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

Two "hometown" people were promoted by the Wayne-Westland school board to elementary school principalships Monday as another principal announced he was leaving the district.

Mike Hurley will take over the principal's job at Vandenberg School in Wayne, replacing David Gracy, who is moving to Petoskey to fill an elementary principalship with the Petoskey Schools.

Lillian Vojak has been named principal at Stottlemeyer School, filling a vacancy created June 18 when the board approved transferring intern Stottlemeyer principal Marsha Chrysler to Roosevelt McGrath School.

Monday's changes were recommended by Superintendent Dennis O'Neill.

Both Hurley and Vojak are Wayne Memorial High School graduates and local residents. "It pleases me that they live in the district and also that we're promoting people from teaching positions," said Kathleen Chorbagan, board secretary.

O'NEILL CALLED Hurley, 45, "a diligent worker" and a "high-energy person." He praised the new principal's ability to work with minority students and parents in an integrated setting.

Hurley moves to the Vandenberg job from Titus School, where he has been a teacher since 1985. Before that, he was a teacher in the Cherry Hill School District, which merged with Wayne-Westland in the mid-1980s.

Hurley, who has bachelor's and master's degrees from Eastern Michigan University, will make $49,936 and will be classified as an intern principal.

Vojak, 47, moves to a principal's job following 12 years as a learning consultant throughout the district. She was also a teacher at the former Washington Elementary School and worked in the district as a substitute teacher.

"Mrs. Vojak is a respected educator, a people person and a taskmaster," O'Neill said. The superintendent said he hoped the change would mark a period of stability at Stottlemeyer after five years of frequent changes at the school.

Husband guilty in two slayings

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

A Detroit Recorder's Court jury Tuesday convicted a Garden City man on a lesser charge of second-degree murder for the shotgun slayings of his estranged wife and her Westland boyfriend last December.

Ronald Gerrior, 44, faces a maximum life prison term when sentenced by Judge Robert Ziolkowski 9 a.m. July 24. But even the maximum sentence — which would make Gerrior eligible for parole in about 14 years — would be more lenient than the mandatory sentence of life without parole he faced had he been convicted of the original first-degree murder charges.

Gerrior was also convicted of possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony, which carries a mandatory two-year term.

Gerrior killed his 37-year-old wife, Michele, and Jason LaCroix, 27, at LaCroix's home on the 8300 block of Fremont. He broke into the house at 2:30 a.m. on Dec. 13 after watching through a bedroom window as the couple had sex, according to court testimony.

Michele Gerrior, a Livonia mail carrier, had separated from her husband and moved out of their home on the 32400 block of Marquette into a Westland mobile home park about two months before the shootings.

Ronald Gerrior convicted

SIX MALE and six female jurors deliberated 4½ hours over two days. Other verdicts they were instructed to consider included voluntary manslaughter, guilty but mentally ill, not guilty by reason of insanity and acquittal.

Robbery suspects arrested in chase

By Joe Bauman
staff writer

Three people were arrested Monday in connection with a series of recent armed robberies in Livonia and Westland.

Two of the suspects, a 22-year-old Westland man and a 21-year-old man from Clearwater, Fla., were arrested by Livonia police after a robbery at the Pic Way shoe store at Middlebelt and Joy and a wild car chase that ended in the city of Inkster.

The third suspect, a 19-year-old Florida man, was arrested in Westland and is accused of taking part in several armed robberies in the two communities.

THE THREE people were not identified pending formal charges being filed.

Livonia police Lt. Michael Murray said the three are suspected of committing at least five armed robberies in Livonia and several others in Westland.

Parents seek help in search for son

Clifton Chard

Information about a 13-year-old Westland boy, missing from home for a week, is being sought by police and his family.

Clifton Chard was last seen at Lincoln Elementary School on July 5, according to his mother Diane Gazley.

"He and his brother were with friends on the roof," she said. "His dad saw him and yelled at him. He is scared of his dad and ran off."

Since then, family and friends have not heard from the youth, who will be entering ninth grade at Adams Junior High School, Gazley said.

"We've checked the areas where he might be hanging out. It's hard to trace if he goes with a friend and gets lost in the crowd," said Westland police Sgt. Albert George. "His mother is doing all she can and giving us information."

Police don't know whether Chard might have been victim of foul play, George said, or is staying away because of a family dispute.

"It's hard to say. Usually they (runaways) will be home within a few days," he said. "We are looking for him and would appreciate any help or information anyone could give us."

This is not the first time Chard has run away, according to his mother and George, but in the past he had only been gone overnight.

Gazley said she was concerned that the longer her son stayed away, the harder it would become for him to come home.

"We've had no contact with him and I think it's getting worse," she said. "He's scared."

Chard is described as five feet five inches, 120 pounds, with red hair and freckles. When last seen, he was wearing a red baseball cap, a black Harley Davidson T-shirt and multi-colored shorts.

Anyone having seen Chard or knowing his whereabouts is asked to call the Westland police at 721-6311.

"We just want to get him back home where he belongs. He belongs with his mom and dad," said George.

GOP hopefuls eye congressional seat

By Wayne Peel
staff writer

GOP congressional challenger Burl Adkins of Southgate is running as hard for the 15th District nomination as his thus far limited budget will allow — building a campaign staff, distributing attractive campaign literature and issuing periodic statements to the media.

Meanwhile, fellow candidate Glen Kassel is taking a more relaxed approach. "I do my best face-to-face. I'll stand in front of the post office until they chase me off," the Westland businessman said.

Adkins and Kassel will oppose each other in the Tuesday, Aug. 7 primary for the right to meet incumbent William Ford, D-Taylor, in the fall. The district includes southern Livonia, Westland, Garden City and Canton, among other communities.

Adkins edged Kassel by 365 votes in a four-way GOP primary two years ago, and he's taking nothing for granted this time.

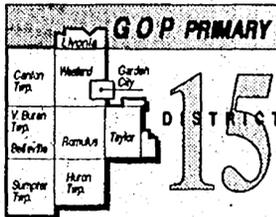

"I'M GOING to be knocking on doors throughout the district," Adkins said.

Both men face a tall order in trying to pick off the incumbent. Even with George Bush at the top of the ticket, Ford defeated Adkins by nearly a 2-to-1 margin in 1988.

In line to become chairman of the House Education and Labor committee, the 25-year House veteran could prove an even more formidable opponent this year.

Adkins, however, portrays Ford as an almost-imperial incumbent — isolated from constituents, out of touch with their concerns and ripe for upset.

"I feel people are looking for a change," Adkins said. In campaign appearances, he's chided Ford for his support of a congressional pay increase — and chided Congress over wasteful spending.

One campaign release blasted Congressional spending for a fish farm project.

TWO MEN robbed the Total Gas station on Cherryhill of $100 early Monday morning.

The attendant, a 20-year-old from Westland, told police she was outside the store tending the milk cooler when the men pulled up. As she walked toward the store entrance, one of the men, described as about 25-30, 5-foot-10 and 220 pounds, grabbed her by the arm and said: "Get inside and give me the keys or I'll kill you."

Several times they threatened to shoot her and several times she said she didn't have the key. Finally, the man who grabbed her said: "I've got a gun in my pocket and I'm going to blow your head off." She then gave him the cash register key and they fled with the cash drawer. No gun was ever shown.

Earlier in the shift, the same men had come into the store and cashed in Faygo pop bottles for a pack of Kools and a bottle of Faygo. The empties are being checked for fingerprints.

AN ALZHEIMER'S patient at the Hope Nursing Care Center was robbed of her gold necklace and cross and a silver medallion sometime between July 1-3, according to a report filed by her daughter July 6.

The daughter said the robbery must have occurred while her 70-year-old mother slept because she would have fought to keep her property.

A 57-YEAR-OLD Westland woman has accused her 23-year-old tenant of strong-armed robbery in the theft of $130 last Friday night.

The woman was hosting a friend when her tenant of two weeks entered the house and said he needed $50 to get his brother's bicycle out of hook. When the woman said she didn't have any money, he grabbed her purse from her arms, emptied its contents.

A SOMERSET woman reported about $2,100 in theft losses Sunday, including a diamond ring worth $1,000 and various gold jewelry, after a party for 20 at her home. One guest, who was seen in her bedroom, is a suspect.

WESTLAND POLICE charged a 33-year-old Delton resident with assault and battery on a police officer following a complaint of assault and battery by his wife.

The woman told police the couple had been divorced in July of 1988, but that she had let him move in six months ago. He had resumed drinking and abusing her, she said, and she has instigated eviction proceedings against him.

Sunday, when he yelled at her and pushed her, she tried to leave with her three children, aged 12, 10 and 8. He stopped her and took the kids, instead.

When police arrived, they found him home but the kids were gone and he said he wouldn't tell them where they were. While police were in the home, one of the kids called and told police they had been dropped off at a nearby ice cream store.

The man grew increasingly abusive of the officers and at one time threatened to "kick all your asses." Finally, officers tried to subdue him and he fought back with his hands and feet before being handcuffed and arrested. His wife declined to press charges on her original complaint of assault and battery.

Husband convicted in shotgun slayings

Relatives of the victims said Tuesday they were "somewhat disappointed" with the verdict.

"I think it was premeditated so naturally I'm a little disappointed," said Frances LaCroix, Jason's mother. "I can only say that I'm glad they (jurors) decided second-degree rather than some of the other things they were considering."

Arlene Adams, Michele Gerrior's mother, said she was "relieved" that the ordeal of the trial was over. "As far as that (the verdict) I guess I have to stifle my feelings until I see what kind of sentence he gets."

But the defendant's attorney was elated with the verdict and a long-time friend was pleased as well. "Obviously, I don't feel he's a (premeditated) murderer and this conviction shows that," said Helen McFarlane.

"He's a friend and if you knew him you'd know that he's a nice person."

McFARLANE SAID she "felt terrible" for the victims' families though. "My heart goes out to them. I have a child myself," she said, referring to Jason LaCroix's 4-year-old daughter and Michele Gerrior's 17-year-old son by a previous marriage.

Most of the defendant's family still lives in his native town of Antigonish in the Canadian province of Nova Scotia. Gerrior, a truck driver, moved to Windsor before emigrating to the United States in the late 1960s.

Throughout the eight-day trial, the prosecution had argued that Gerrior followed his wife to LaCroix's home after seeing the couple embrace at an Allen Park bowling alley on the evening of the slayings.

He then drove nearly four miles to the Marquette home, got a Mossberg 12-gauge shotgun and returned to the LaCroix residence, said Kym Worthy, assistant Wayne County prosecutor.

Gerrior broke into the home, ran to the back bedroom and shot Jason LaCroix once in the chest before turning the gun on his wife, Worthy argued.

The prosecution presented testimony showing Gerrior's actions both before and after the shooting, which it claimed indicated ample time to plan the crime and take a second look at his actions before going through with them, or the elements of a first-degree killing.

An upstairs housemate of LaCroix testified that he heard Michele Gerrior beg for her life before the shooting.

BUT DEFENSE attorney Walter Piszczatowski argued that Gerrior's actions came in the "heat of passion" after seeing his wife have sex with another man. Those conditions debilitated Gerrior to the point that he was unable to carry out a premeditated killing, the attorney argued.

Piszczatowski also presented testimony by psychiatrist Emanuel Tanay that Gerrior suffered a "disassociative reaction," or type of mental illness after seeing the victims engaged in sex.

While it might not electrify voters, the Adkins-Kassel race provides a clear study in contrasts.

Adkins, polished and serious-minded, has built his campaign on protection of American workers, especially auto workers.

jobs, rather than expanding the workforce.

Kassel, friendly and relaxed, said his campaign is his way of giving back to a country that's been good to him and his family.

"What would we have had if my ancestors stayed in eastern Europe?" he said. "I have the time and I'm willing to serve."

Kassel, in fact, also filed for the 12th District State Senate race, in hopes of unseating William Faust, another well-heeled Democratic incumbent. Kassel said he withdrew after failing to receive what he termed adequate support from the GOP.

Neither candidate has received an official state Republican Party endorsement of his bid for the U.S. House.

The two vary little on several key issues.

Both favor gradual withdrawal of U.S. troops and weapons from Eastern Europe, both favor a balanced budget amendment, and neither has criticized Bush for backing away from his pledge to avoid raising taxes.

"That's not the president's fault," Kassel said. "Congress is the problem."

Toward that end, both men hope to be part of the solution.

Cops free suspect in knifing; victim recovers

By Bill Casper

A 21-year-old Westland man is recovering from a knife wound to the stomach while the man suspected of attacking him remains free pending a Redford police investigation of the Saturday morning incident.

Redford police arrested the 32-year-old suspect in his home in the 25000 block of Midland after he admitted stabbing Douglas Greer of Westland during a struggle in the house shortly before 2:30 a.m. Saturday, township police Lt. William Quinn said.

The Redford man was released pending further investigation, Quinn said.

A county assistant prosecuting attorney wants to interview Greer, who was kicking in the door of the Redford man's house prior to the stabbing, Quinn said.

Greer suffered a pierced liver and underwent surgery after he was admitted to Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills, Quinn said.

HE WAS LISTED in stable condition Tuesday but may need more surgery, a Botsford spokeswoman said Tuesday.

A neighbor of the Redford man called police after the stabbing, and the suspect flagged down officers as they arrived, police said.

The man told police that he thought that he had stabbed Greer, an old friend and co-worker, who left the scene before police arrived, police said.

The Redford man said that Greer and a woman had come to his house about an hour before the stabbing to inquire about a diamond ring stolen from a girlfriend.

They returned and pounded on a back door, the Redford man said.

HE OPENED the door and Greer accused him of stealing the ring, police said. Greer pushed the Redford man into the house, and the man grabbed a knife from the kitchen, he told police.

Greer was stabbed and then left with the 30-year-old Detroit woman, police said.

The two went to her Detroit home, where she called 9-1-1. Greer was taken by ambulance to Botsford, police said.

Armed robbery suspects arrested in police chase

Acting on a tip, Livonia police established a surveillance of the Westland suspect's home after being informed he was involved in the holdups of several area gas stations and convenience stores.

Shortly after 8 p.m. Monday, police followed two of the men as they drove to the shoe store in Livonia.

When the Westland man was seen leaving the car with a short-barrel rifle, additional Livonia police units were called to the scene and a decision was made not to attempt arresting the pair until the one man had returned to the car.

A store employee and several customers told police the man entered the store brandishing the rifle and announced a holdup.

After receiving about $160 in cash from the employee, the man left the store and returned to the waiting car.

At that point, officers converged on the car but were unable to prevent it from leaving the store.

AS THE suspects attempted to flee by entering the intersection of Joy and Middlebelt, their car first collided with a semi-truck and then struck one of the pursuing police cars.

Despite sustaining a flat tire in the collision, the suspects continued to flee south on Middlebelt, where the chase continued through the city of Westland and into Inkster.

The chase then entered a residential neighborhood, where the suspects' car jumped the curb, crashed through a backyard fence and continued through several yards as Livonia police continued their pursuit.

Both vehicles then drove onto a side street and the suspects were stopped when the street reached a dead end.

Both of the men reportedly resisted arrest and had to be physically subdued by police.

Following the arrests, investigators returned to the Westland man's residence. After reportedly receiving permission to search the premises, officers discovered the names and locations of two gas stations that recently had suffered robberies, and a diagram and layout of a Livonia grocery store.

The grocery store had not been a recent target of robbery.

Livonia police intend to file specific charges against all three suspects sometime today or tomorrow pending lineups and interviews with other recent robbery victims.

specialist's degree from Wayne State University. Her starting annual salary will be $50,980.

ON TUESDAY, Gracy said he was leaving the district because he wanted "a different environment" for himself and his family. "We've been here a long time and this should be a nice change, something different and a little bit of a small-town atmosphere," he said in a brief telephone interview.

The district's current financial crisis played a role in his decision, Gracy, 42, said, "but I was offered the job and made up my mind before the (June 11) millage was defeated."

A spokeswoman for the Potoskey Schools confirmed the move Tuesday, but said the school where Gracy will work hasn't been chosen. The district has several vacant principal positions and school board members were expected to fill those jobs later this week, she said.

Gracy has worked in Wayne-Westland 19 years as a teacher and administrator, including the last four as Vandenberg principal. Before Vandenberg he was an assistant principal at Stevenson and Marshall Junior High Schools. He also worked as an administrator at the former alternative school (now Nankin Mills Elementary) and for Project Advance.

He came to the district in 1971 as a teacher at John Glenn High School, where he spent eight years.

Gracy will remain in the Wayne-Westland area for several weeks to ensure a smooth transition, according to school officials.

Dyslexia

Work seeks to unscramble language skills impairment

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

Gerard Trujillo, 32, struggled with reading and spelling because he is dyslexic but hung on and graduated in 1976 from St. Agatha High in Redford. Son Ryan, 12, was born with severe handicaps and has had more than 30 surgical procedures since birth.

By Arlene Funke
special writer

"It's so disturbing when you know something is wrong and you don't know what it is," Barbara Matthews said of her son Billy's struggles with reading.

Matthews, a former teacher, recalled years of taking Billy to doctors and tutors and enrolling Billy in a private school. Why did Billy switch letters and words? Why did he have trouble following directions? Why did he quickly forget material he had just learned?

"He was struggling and spending hours on his homework," Matthew said. "Sometimes I would have to insist that he put his books away and go play."

About 1½ years ago Matthews' husband William read an article about dyslexia, a learning disability characterized by switching letters. Billy was tested at the Michigan Dyslexia Institute and diagnosed with dyslexia.

Billy, now an 18-year-old high school senior, has been receiving intensive specialized remediation. His grades have improved. Now Billy, who enjoys track and swimming, hopes to go to college and become a gym teacher or coach.

"It has been very rough for me," Billy Matthews said. "The teachers accused me of not studying, but I had to work hard."

Despite years of teaching, Barbara Matthews never had heard of dyslexia.

GERARD TRUJILLO, a 32-year-old husband and father, also is dyslexic.

He used to install overhead fire sprinklers but gave that up following a back injury. He's unemployed, looking for a fresh start.

Trujillo also struggled through schools, reading and spelling poorly. Eye doctors could find no physical impairments. Tutors helped little. Trujillo hung on and graduated in 1976 from St. Agatha High in Redford. He married Victoria. Their son Ryan, now 12, was born with severe handicaps, including a cleft palate and deafness. He has a speech impediment.

Ryan, a bright, friendly boy who likes soccer, bike riding and playing Nintendo, has had more than 30 surgical procedures since birth.

For the past four years Ryan has been enrolled in the hearing impaired program at MacGowan School through the Redford Union School District. Previously he attended a school for deaf in Detroit and a parochial school, also in Detroit.

Gerard and Victoria Trujillo, concerned about Ryan's lack of progress in reading and spelling, took their son to the Dyslexia Resource Center in Detroit. Tests indicate he has dyslexia.

The years of worry about husband and son have taken their toll on Victoria, who in April suffered a serious heart attack.

"I'm sure most of it was stress," she said.

IT TAKES great training and expertise to diagnose dyslexia, said Renee Schreiber, associate director of the Dyslexia Resource Center in Detroit, which has a branch in West Bloomfield.

"The teachers haven't had the education at the university level and how it is remediated," said Schreiber of West Bloomfield. "So they can't be blamed for not providing services."

Until fairly recently, little was known about dyslexia. It was frequently undiagnosed or misdiagnosed. People with dyslexia sometimes were considered lazy, stupid or unmotivated.

Dyslexia is a neurological impairment, resulting in a difficulty in the visual and auditory processes. The term dyslexia comes from the Greek "dys," meaning difficulty, and "lex,"

Resources offer help for learning disabilities

The following are some resources available to people seeking assistance for learning disabilities:

- Learning Disabilities Association of Michigan, P.O. Box 12336, Lansing 48901, phone (517) 485-8160. The organization, a state affiliate of the national group, is a volunteer organization of parents and professionals. Information packets available.

- Beaumont Hospital, Center for Human Development, Royal Oak, phone 551-3150. Testing and counseling for children and adults with learning disabilities.

- Dyslexia Resource Center, Detroit, phone 259-8844 or Dyslexia Resource Center, West Bloomfield, phone 737-0044. Information packets on dyslexia, testing and remediation for dyslexia.

- Michigan Protection and Advocacy Service, Lansing, toll-free (800) 292-5923. Advocates for mental-health, educational issues. Agency helps people obtain their legal rights. Mails materials, answers questions and makes referrals where appropriate.

ia," pertaining to words.

For no apparent reason, people with dyslexia have difficulty learning language skills. Dyslexics reverse letters or words, substitute, omit and add sounds, letters, syllables and words.

Typically dyslexics are poor spellers. They also may have trouble organizing their work and following direction.

"There is no relationship to intelligence," said Schreiber, 49, who has a dyslexic son attending college.

"There is no cure, in terms of a pill or shot," Schreiber added. "Through proper teaching dyslexics can be taught to compensate for the dyslexia."

According to Schreiber, four of five dyslexics are males. Some dyslexics also may have other learning disabilities such as attention deficit disorder, she said.

DYSLEXIA TENDS to run in families, Schreiber said.

Some famous — and brilliant — people believed to be dyslexic were Thomas Edison, Albert Einstein and Gen. George Patton. Some current dyslexics are Olympic athletes Bruce Jenner and Greg Louganis, and entertainer Cher.

Early intervention is important, Schreiber said. Unremediated dyslexics face great obstacles. Many drop out of school. Some become in-involved in drugs or other antisocial behavior.

"Self-esteem starts very early," Schreiber said. "If you don't feel good about yourself you have self-doubt. When you don't read or write, people think you're dumb and they bypass you. You may lose your job."

The Resource Center is operated by the Michigan Dyslexia Institute based in Lansing. Other branch centers are in Flint, Harbor Springs, Okemos and Howell.

While some dyslexics can be helped in the classroom, "with accommodations for their learning disabilities," others will need intensive, one-on-one remediation with a specially trained tutor, according to Schreiber.

The Resource Center charges $450 for an in-depth evaluation, which includes testing, case history interview, conference report and written report. Service fees for individual instruction are $35 per hour.

Some insurance plans cover the costs, Schreiber said. Occasionally an employer will pay to have a valued employee receive help.

"This is not a summer tutoring program," Schreiber said. "It's a long-term commitment. By the time people call us they know, and have known for some time, that there is a problem."

'Hidden handicaps' are brought into open

By Arlene Funke
special writer

Dyslexia is among a group of learning disabilities which hamper the ability to listen, think, read, write, spell or do math problems.

Learning disability often is called a "hidden handicap" because it may be difficult to diagnose.

"Learning disability is a broad umbrella term," said Dr. John Heckerl, a psychologist and associate director of the Center for Human Development at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak.

HECKERL, 55, of Rochester Hills, works with children and adults with learning disabilities.

According to Heckerl, a child with learning disabilities has difficulty with one or more specific learning or school tasks. Most are of normal intelligence. Many are very bright, with special talents.

Because of their special needs, learning-disabled people must be taught differently, experts say.

"The goal is to determine the approach so they can be as successful as possible," Heckerl said. "Even though they have some problems there are hidden talents."

Potential learning problems may become pronounced during the elementary school years, said John Baluci, director of student services for the 3,000-student South Redford School District.

"That's when we try to get them to be preventative," Baluci said. "We begin problem-solving as early as kindergarten."

The U.S. Department of Education defines learning disability as a disorder of one or more of the basic psychological processes involved in understanding or in using spoken or written language.

There may be no apparent cause for the disorder. The disability may manifest itself in an imperfect ability to listen, think, speak, read, write, spell or do arithmetic.

The term learning disability includes such conditions as perceptual handicaps, brain injury, attention deficit disorder, dyslexia and developmental aphasia. It doesn't cover learning problems resulting from visual, hearing or motor handicaps, mental retardation, emotional disturbance or environmental, cultural or economic disadvantage.

THE LEARNING Disabilities Association of Michigan, an advocacy group, has several chapters in the state. Pamphlets from the organization give the following symptoms of possible learning disability:

- Inconsistent school performance (difficulty remembering today what was learned yesterday)
- Short attention span (restless, easily distracted)
- Reverses letters and numbers
- Reads below age and grade level
- Often confused about directions and time
- Difficulty in following simple directions or schedules
- Impulsive or inappropriate behavior (poor judgment in social situations; talks and acts before thinking)

For no apparent reason, persons with dyslexia have difficulty learning language skills. Dyslexics reverse letters or words, substitute, omit and add sounds, letters, syllables and words.

- Fails written tests but scores high on oral exam, or vice versa
- Speech problems (immature language development, has trouble expressing ideas, poor word recall)

Some of these problems can be found in children at certain stages of development. However, any child with clusters of symptoms which don't disappear in time should be evaluated.

"Ask for testing. That is your right," said Dinghy Sharp, a Union Lake learning consultant who is active with the Learning Disabilities Association. "If you don't like the answer seek an outside opinion. There are several private clinics that are quite successful."

At Beaumont, diagnoses are based on tests, review of school reports and meetings with parents.

GROWING NUMBERS of adults with unremediated learning disabilities also are seeking help, Heckerl said.

"These are people who have had trouble during their school years," Heckerl said. "They want more clarification and information about how they can cope."

Learning disabled college students at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Hills are receiving tutorial help. It is a joint venture of Beaumont, Michigan Rehabilitation Service, Oakland County Intermediate School District and the college.

The students have access to tutors and textbooks on tape. If necessary they are allowed to take oral, rather than written, tests.

"These are bright young people," Heckerl said. "They shouldn't be prevented from receiving a better education because they have reading difficulty."

Still educators prefer to find and correct problems at much younger ages, before patterns of failure and self-doubt become entrenched.

Sharp, a retired educator with Farmington Public Schools, believes many classroom teachers haven't been trained to recognize what she calls "learning differences."

"I use the term 'learning differences' because I don't think every child is disabled but they find learning tough and they don't do as well as they might if it was more recognized," Sharp said. She estimates that 15 percent of the student population may have some form of learning disability.

UNDER FEDERAL regulations, each student certified as having a learning disability is entitled to an Individual Education Plan (IEP) which is reviewed and updated annually.

Appropriate services must be provided to meet the child's needs, as indicated in the IEP. These may include speech and language services, psychological services, counseling, vocation training.

How those services are to be provided under state special-ed regulations, may be widely interpreted, said Harvey Burkhour, a project supervisor with the Michigan Protection and Advocacy Service, a Lansing-based agency which works on a variety of mental-health and educational issues.

"It's a complex issue and may be confusing to people," Burkhour said. "It isn't as simple as having the label. The bottom line is (if there is) severe discrepancy between ability and achievement."

In the south Redford district, several programs have been implemented recently to identify "at risk" students who may need remedial action because of a "scattered effect in performance," said Baluci.

Remedial consultants are brought in to give the students a "needed boost," Baluci said.

"This is an additional step which can be taken prior to special education."

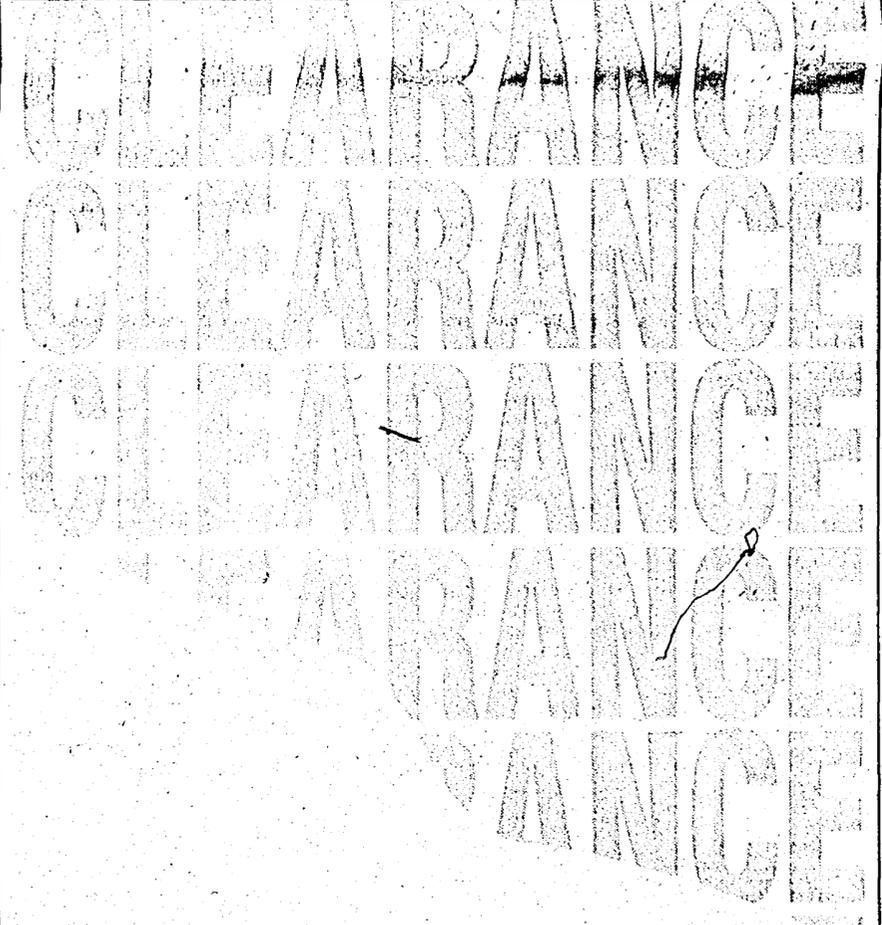

Cooperative learning techniques are encouraged, in which students are broken into groups to study spelling, reading and math.

Next fall South Redford will begin a program in which high school students will be used to tutor younger kids.

SHARP BELIEVES that some children will need intensive remediation.

But children with less severe learning disabilities, she added, can do quite well in regular classrooms if allowances are made for their needs.

"One-on-one is very important," Sharp said. "The child doesn't compete with anybody in the classroom. Success breeds success. It's a wonderful, successful cycle."

This week's question:

Mayor Robert Thomas has been on the job for six months. How do you think he's doing so far?

We asked this question of Westland residents outside the post office on Wayne Road.

"It's pretty hard to gauge this early. I voted for him because I thought a change was needed, but you need a year to judge."
— Ed McCormack

"I don't think he's done that much good. I thought he would, but I don't think he has."
— Helen Jedrusik

"So far, I think he's doing fine. I watch the TV program he has. He seems to be wanting to do everything he can to be a good mayor."
— Geneva Johnson

"From what I've seen on cable, he seems like a down-to-earth guy. He seems like he's doing a good job."

Carrier of the month Westland

Christopher Finnigan

The son of Leo and Peggy Finnigan, Christopher Finnigan has been named Carrier of the Month for July by the Westland Observer.

An eighth grade student at Marshall Junior High School, he has been an Observer carrier since December 1988. He has one sister, Nicole, 15.

Among Christopher's favorite subjects are shop, math and jewelry-making. His hobbies include building and fixing things.

Being on the school honor roll and receiving a track letter are outstanding achievements listed by Christopher. In the future he wants to be a straight-A student in college and involved in the community.

Having an Observer route has provided the opportunity to make money, know his neighborhood better, be more organized and develop responsibility, Christopher said.

Programs, techniques aid language skills

The centers seek corporate and private grants and donations to cover scholarships for people who cannot afford the tuition, and operate local support groups which meet in various locations. In addition, Schreibman and other officials of the organization have organized training sessions to help teachers recognize and assist dyslexic students.

Schreibman became involved with the Dyslexia Resource Center through seeking help for her son David, then a high school student.

Over the years, Schreibman had spent years trying to help David, who had trouble retrieving previously learned materials. Neither tutors nor summer school helped.

After several months of specialized tutoring at the Resource Center David Schreibman's grades improved dramatically. He graduated from West Bloomfield High School and now, at age 22, is attending law school.

BILLY MATTHEWS, Gerard and Ryan Trujillo also have received remediation at the Resource Center. The Trujillos attended on scholarships which now have expired.

Through exercises and drills, letters learn how the sound which letters represent (are) blended into words for reading. They start from simple, well-learned materials to more complex ones.

"It's at a slower pace," Matthews said. "They give a word and you can pronounce it two or three ways and they tell you which way is correct.

They teach you short cuts." Matthews has learned to take his time, read carefully and "look for the hints" so he won't misread the written materials.

Trujillo can spout off a nonsense ditty which incorporates the various sounds the letter A makes: "Vacation came on a rainy day so eight reindeers did not obey."

"They teach you techniques to go out into the world," Trujillo said. Those techniques helped recently when he studied drafting and estimating classes at a local community college.

According to Schreibman, many adult dyslexics who seek help are highly motivated "because they have suffered."

RYAN TRUJILLO'S prognosis is more complicated. He attended 58 sessions with staff from the Resource Center but stopped going when his scholarship ended.

"We were pleased, but he has lost the continuity," Victoria Trujillo said.

Ryan's progress "has just scratched the surface," said Schreibman, acknowledging that his hearing and speech problems complicate the issue.

"Ryan's hearing impairment is a piece of Ryan that has to be considered," Schreibman said. "But he has a learning disability." Sandy North, director of the hearing impaired program at Redford Union School District, contends that most hearing impaired people have below-average reading skills because of their language deficits.

North said that those needs are being addressed under state-mandated regulations covering hearing impaired.

"The reading difficulty comes because of the language impairment," North said. "Reading and language go hand in hand. You can't read any higher than your language level."

Out stumping Engler seeking suburban voters

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

GOP gubernatorial hopeful John Engler said he isn't counting out any voters, even Democrats, in his bid to unseat incumbent James Blanchard.

Engler, campaigning this week in western Wayne and Oakland counties, said he was aggressively pursuing suburban Democrats — a loyal Blanchard group in both the 1982 and 1986 campaigns.

"During my career I've had the good fortune to attract many Democratic voters," said state Sen. Engler, R-Mount Pleasant. "And I expect that to continue."

Toward that end, Engler would be campaigning hard in both counties, he said.

"WE EXPECT to be spending about half our time in southeast Michigan."

Accompanied by GOP national committee woman Ronna Romney of Bloomfield Hills, Engler even set foot in traditionally Democratic areas in his attempt to lure voters.

Engler received a polite response from western Wayne chamber of commerce members during a Westland stop Tuesday, getting the most applause for his plan to do away with the state's single business tax.

Nonetheless, he did gain several enthusiastic supporters, including Sally Levey of Westland Convalescent Center.

"I think he's been good for our industry," she said. "And I think he'll make a good governor."

Chamber leaders, however, made it clear invitations had been extended to both major candidates.

IN CAMPAIGN comments, Engler

both praised and criticized the state economy, saying that Michigan was "a comeback state," but also that the economy was weaker than it should be because of "the high cost of doing business in Michigan."

On other issues:

Engler called the state's current school financing formula "grossly inadequate" and said he would make school spending more of a priority.

Engler also called state property taxes "too high" as he plugged a phased, three-year reduction program.

To increase school aid, and cover the lost tax revenue, Engler said he would freeze state hiring.

"WE HAVEN'T had fiscal discipline on the expenditure side. We've been building government infrastructure."

On abortion, Engler would have signed parental consent legislation had he been governor, he said.

'We expect to be spending about half our time in southeast Michigan.'

— John Engler
GOP hopeful

While he generally avoided mention of his challenger, Engler did criticize the incumbent for "not getting personally involved" in issues.

"He'd rather jet around the state with a 'good news' message," Engler said.

Though not jelling, Engler said he would be visiting Wayne and Oakland counties several more times before the fall election.

"We're meeting our fund-raising goal. Now, I'll be out hitting the pavement."

By Ralph R. Echninaw
staff writer

Which professionals are most subject to scrutiny where on-the-job conduct is concerned, lawyers or doctors?

There are discipline-dispensing organizations in Michigan for each profession, and both have recently been criticized for unprofessionalism, incompetence, or dishonesty.

Yet 59 attorneys have been disbarred in the last three calendar years and 12 medical doctors lost their licenses between October 1987 and September 1989.

Statistics show that almost five out of 1,000 attorneys have been disciplined in one form or another on average in the last three years. Doctors have lagged slightly behind, with 4.56 per 1,000 disciplined in fiscal years 1987 and 1988.

The state Department of Licensing and Regulation, which disciplines doctors, has been accused of having an overabundant bureaucracy and a lenient disposition. The Attorney Grievance Commission has recently been criticized for selective investigation of attorneys, and for shredding documents concerning the investigation of two prominent lawyers.

School aid plan dies quiet death

By Tim Richard
staff writer

A plan to put "equal opportunity" school funding into the Michigan Constitution died quietly in the state Legislature.

"It wasn't going anywhere with the equal opportunity language in it," said an aide to Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City, chair of the House Education Committee.

Like a chameleon, House Joint Resolution Q changed color several times before it fell one vote short in the Senate on the final day of the spring session.

HJR Q WAS intended to require constitutionally that Michigan give equal opportunity — that is, more nearly equal funding per pupil — to school districts. To Keith, many lawmakers from districts with low tax bases and farmers, it's unconscionable that some schools have as little as $2,500 per pupil to spend and others more than $8,000.

Lawmakers had two different points of view on whether "equal opportunity" would lead to a lawsuit by the poorer school districts.

Keith held that it would give the Legislature a spur to equalize funding and avoid a Kentucky-style suit. The Kentucky Supreme Court declared the entire school funding mechanism unconstitutional, and this year the legislature passed a $1.3 billion tax increase to fund "equal opportunity."

Senators such as Jack Welborn, R-Kalamazoo, believed it would play into the hands of those who need a constitutional basis for a successful suit and opposed it.

KEITH'S EDUCATION Committee on May 29 reported out HJR Q on a 13-4 vote.

The measure also had language

County is hearing airport complaints

AP — Bryan Amman is hearing out homeowners' ruminations about the noise and discomfort caused by air traffic, while Wayne County makes plans for a $1 billion expansion of Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Amman, who doubles as the county's assistant executive and noise czar, recently met with some residents in Huron Township, one of the communities directly in the path of air traffic to the county-owned airport in Romulus.

John Mitchell, a sod farmer for 40 years, told Amman he can't hear the tractor under him when a plane is over him.

Cheryl Radcliffe said the constant roar of planes overhead forces her to stay near her two toddlers when they play outside. "If they get away, they can't hear me yell at them."

And the neighboring communities say the noise would worsen with the expansion, which hinges on decisions yet to be made by Northwest Airlines, its biggest carrier.

"To me, the expansion is a target. It's not a sacred cow. We've got a problem," Amman said.

He said county Executive Ed McNamara realizes that without community support, the expansion plans could be endangered.

Already, the nearby suburb of Taylor has filed a lawsuit against the Federal Aviation Administration over the accuracy of its environmental impact statement about the proposed expansion.

Flight pattern changes, initiated by the FAA for safety concerns, have increased traffic over Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Westland and Livonia.

In Dearborn, the city council allotted $100,000 to hire Washington, D.C., lawyers to fight the increased air traffic over the city. Also, a group of residents is pushing a petition aimed at hindering the expansion.

Meanwhile, the county has hired Elliot Cutler, a Washington attorney who has specialized in airport noise pollution cases. Cutler said county officials have a "genuine commitment to solve the present problem."

"Sometimes making an airport bigger increases the options you have in how to operate it in a more environmentally compatible way," said Cutler.

HUDSON'S

Riegle, Levin support stricter gun control

Here's how Observer & Eccentric area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending June 29.

HOUSE:

Romania and Family Planning — By a vote of 224 for and 193 against, the House limited the way $1.5 million for family planning in Romania can be handled. The vote was a victory for anti-abortion forces. It occurred as the House sent a $15.6 billion fiscal 1991 foreign aid bill (HR 5114) to the Senate.

The amendment kept the $1.5 million from being administered by either the Planned Parenthood Federation or the U.N. Fund for Population Activities. Critics say those groups advocate abortion among other population control options. Foes of the amendment called the point moot because the bill already kept any of the Romanian aid from being spent on abortions.

A yes vote supported the anti-abortion position on administering U.S. family planning aid in Romania.

Voting yes were: Dennis Hertel (D-Harper Woods) and William Broomfield (R-Birmingham).

No votes were cast by: Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth); William Ford (D-Taylor) and Sander Levin (D-Southfield).

Aid to Cambodia — By a vote of 260 for and 163 against, the House adopted an Administration-backed amendment to provide $7 million in non-lethal aid to forces fighting the communist, pro-Vietnam government of Cambodia. The aid was controversial because the insurgents include Pol Pot's Khmer Rouge, notorious for killing millions of Cambodians while ruling the country in 1975-78.

Sponsor Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., said the aid would help end the Cambodian civil war and achieve free elections. The Khmer Rouge could not win an election and thus could not regain power, he said.

Opponent Mel Levine, D-Calif.,

said "our policy of aiding the Khmer Rouge alliance has given respectability to the most genocidal killers since the Nazis."

A yes vote was to send $7 million to anti-government forces in Cambodia including the Khmer Rouge.

Pursell and Broomfield voted yes, while Hertel, Ford and Levin voted no.

Scenic Rivers Issue — By a vote of 93 for and 323 against, the House refused to prohibit the federal government from using eminent domain as it includes the Niobrara River in Nebraska in the Wild and Scenic Rivers System. Several dozen property owners could have their land condemned under a bill (S 28) to put 76 miles of the river into the federal preservation system. The bill was sent to conference with the Senate.

Sponsor Don Young, R-Alaska, said "to have the American government condemn your land because somebody likes to look at it is not America."

Opponent Peter Kostmayer, D-Pa., said "if we adopt this amendment, we are gutting this legislation."

A yes vote was to keep the government from condemning land to protect the Niobrara River.

SENATE:

Flag Amendment — By a vote of 58 for and 42 against, the Senate fell short of the two-thirds majority required for passage of a constitutional amendment to protect the American flag against physical desecration. The vote was only symbolic because the proposed change in the Bill of Rights already had been rejected by the House. Constitutional amendments must clear both chambers before going on to state capitols.

Supporter Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., said "I simply do not believe that the act of burning the flag can or should be cloaked under our freedom of speech guarantee." "If the Constitution is amended to prohibit the burning of a flag, where do we stop?" asked Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine.

Roll Call Report

Yes votes supported the constitutional amendment. Michigan Senators Carl Levin-D and Donald Riegle-D both voted no.

Gun Control — By a vote of 50 for and 48 against, the Senate reaffirmed gun control language it first approved May 23 during consideration of omnibus anti-crime legislation (S 1970). The provision was backed by the Fraternal Order of Police and opposed by the National Rifle Association. It makes it illegal to import, manufacture or possess nine types of semi-automatic assault rifles and pistols. The crime bill remained in debate.

A yes vote was supported the gun control provision. Both Riegle and Levin voted yes.

Regional — By a vote of 63 for and 35 against, the Senate tabled an amendment directing more community development funds to the Sun Belt at the expense of older regions. This killed a proposal to make population growth the key factor in allocating urban development block grants and remove poverty and age of housing stock as factors. The vote occurred as the Senate sent to the House a bill (S 566) upgrading federal housing programs.

Sponsor Phil Gramm, R-Texas, called the amendment a matter of regional fairness, prompting senators from the Northeast and Midwest to question why their constituents were paying heavily for savings-and-loan failures concentrated in the Southwest.

Frank Lautenberg, D-N.J., who voted to table, said "the S&L scandal has meant a tremendous transfer of our nation's wealth into Texas."

"My amendment seeks to eliminate a terrible inequity," said Gramm.

Yes votes from Riegle and Levin opposed the amendment to help Sun Belt cities.

Maple Grove has changed to meet the needs of the 90's

▲ We look the same outside, tucked in a peaceful wooded setting.

We maintain the same quality of care which brought us recognition as one of "The 100 Best Treatment Centers for Alcoholism and Drug Abuse" in the country.

Now we have two residential programs for adults — each with a shorter length of stay (14 days) than our former program. One is for the person who enters residential treatment for the first time. The other gives special help for the person who has relapsed. Outpatient care continues after the patient goes home.

Call for help for yourself or a family member.

WANDS OFF DRUGS

More than 500 teens began their recovery at Maple Grove

Each who completed the program left a handprint on the wall to celebrate. For each in treatment now this wall of many hands is a symbol of sobriety ahead.

The Maple Grove Youth Treatment Center offers residential and outpatient services for chemically dependent youth age 12-18. Family participation is required.

If a teen in your life is in trouble with chemicals, call us. For more than five years we have been helping young people like yours to recover.

Lawyers lose license more often than doctors

 assertion that state attorneys are more thoroughly scrutinized for improper behavior than the state's medical doctors.
 Izzo filed a 1988 complaint with the Department of Licensing and Regulation about Dr. Jack Kevorkian, who recently made nationwide headlines for assisting an Oregon woman with her suicide. Izzo said Kevorkian was advertising his willingness to assist suicide candidates.
 However, Mary McDowell, director of the health investigation division, was unable to do anything about it. "Kevorkian said he wasn't pursuing it because he didn't want to get in trouble," McDowell said.

"There really wasn't anything to go on. It's kind of hard to prosecute someone for an idea."
 MICHAEL SCHWARTZ, a West Bloomfield attorney and former grievance administrator for the Attorney Grievance Commission, joins Izzo in criticizing the doctor discipline system. "The procedures they have are very cumbersome," he said. "The system is just not working as well as it should be. (We should) revamp the entire structure and set up new procedures altogether."
 If the doctor discipline system is inadequate, the answer might be found in the number of professionals McDowell's office is responsible for.

Running the gamut from nurses to chiropractors to osteopathic doctors to veterinarians to medical doctors and more, the health investigation division is responsible for more than 250,000 professionals in 15 categories. Only 18,316 of those are medical doctors.
 The procedure for disciplining doctors begins with a complaint, most often from a patient. Many of them are screened out during the internal investigation procedure. For the cases that merit it, there comes a more thorough investigation followed by hearings that closely resemble courtroom proceedings. One of 15 boards, one for each profession, makes the final decision on whether a professional will be suspended, reprimanded, fined, etc.

executive director of the Attorney Discipline Board. After initial investigation, 250 grievances were passed on to the ADB for further investigation and discipline if necessary.
 VAN BOLT cited a 1988 Florida study that said Michigan rated highest in the country where attorney discipline was concerned. But that study was conducted when Schwartz was grievance administrator. He had a reputation for relentless prosecution of complaints to such an extent that some referred to him as a barracuda.
 "The system worked well in those years," Schwartz said. "The commission during those years I was there was very efficient."
 In January 1989, shortly after Schwartz was replaced by Deborah Gaskin, the commission ordered the destruction of documents connected with the investigation of Detroit attorneys James K. Robinson and A. Robert Zeff, according to a report to the Supreme Court by former justice Theodore Souris, appointed by the court to investigate the investigators. The investigation of the two was later dropped. Robinson is expected to be the next president of the state bar.
 Souris also criticized AGC Chairman George Bedrosian and Gaskin in his report. Many are calling now for new legislation to make the AGC more accountable to the government.

 Schwartz estimated that 40 percent fewer attorneys will be disciplined this year than last.
 And on the doctor discipline side, a recently released study by Ralph Nader's Public Citizen group ranks Michigan 33rd among the states in the number of disciplinary actions per 1,000 doctors.
 The report says most states "are doing a grossly inadequate job in protecting the public from medical incompetence, misconduct and abuse."
 Doctors themselves are under fire for dishonesty. A July 5 New York Times article reports that insurance companies are beginning to crack down on doctors who make fraudulent insurance claims.
 INSURANCE COMPANIES estimate they lose $60 billion annually to fraudulent claims, which give discount care to some but raise the cost of medical insurance for others.
 Riley Richard, a Southfield medical malpractice attorney, said he has noticed that doctors who defraud insurance companies most often do so by defining plastic surgery for medical purposes rather than cosmetic.

 Richard also argues that lawyers are just as guilty as doctors of malpractice, but "damages are often less serious."
 Richard said most medical malpractice cases involve doctors who haven't kept up to date on medical advancements. "The biggest problem I find with doctors is the failure to continually update their education," he said.
 Richard agreed with Schwartz that the attorney discipline system is in need of change. "I support Schwartz 100 percent," he said. "You need a very strong attorney grievance procedure."
 Conversely, Oakland County Bar Association president Charles Clippert said he's happy with the grievance procedure.
 "The procedures within the legal profession are quite adequate, quite thorough," he said. "I think it's a fair system. (However), it would be naive to say it's perfect."

Northwest Guidance seeks new recognition

By Mary Rodrigue
staff writer

The Northwestern Guidance Clinic is looking for a few good men and women. And sponsorship from a few local businesses wouldn't hurt, either.

The mental health center, based in Garden City, serves 43 Wayne County communities in one capacity or another — but has an identity crisis.

With the exception of those it serves, most county residents don't know what services the center provides or that it needs volunteers to keep functioning.

"The volunteer bird is disappearing rapidly," said Sara VanderVoort, clinic executive director. "There are still community-minded people out there. The big deficit is (people) have no idea how heavily their neighbors use us."

The clinic took a major step to reverse that trend last March. It hired Stefanie Ott-O'Toole as director of resource development. Translation: Ott-O'Toole will help promote the agency and look for new sources of financing.

She's spearheading an effort to create what she hopes will become an annual fund-raising event — a fun run through Hines Park scheduled for Sept. 8.

"IT WILL be a five or 10 kilometer run, walk or bike ride to raise funds for programs here," Ott-O'Toole said. "The whole family can get involved. It's the Saturday after Labor Day. I hope it will grow into a major event in Wayne County."

Northwestern Guidance Clinic's $1.7 million budget is provided primarily through the state Department of Mental Health. It's one of a handful of mental health agencies in the Detroit area dealing primarily with children — abused, neglected, emotionally disturbed, or addicted to drugs or alcohol. Much of the client base is from Westland, Garden City, Livonia and Plymouth.

Clients are referred by doctors, schools, other social work agencies, or clients themselves. There are waiting lists for various programs. The most serious problems, such as suicidal youngsters, get priority treatment.

Major programs include an outpatient clinic where mental health workers help families experiencing problems in the home or school.

Beacon Day Treatment, serving 23 school districts, is a program for 6- to 12-year olds experiencing psychological problems that prevent them from attending regular public schools. Average stay at the special Inkster school, run by clinic staff, is 18 months to two years.

Northwestern Guidance Clinic also offers relief care for families with developmentally disabled members. The break for caregivers is given for emergencies, vacations, stress relief or appointments — inside the home up to 18 hours a week, outside the home up to two weeks a year.

Mary Egnor, director of programs, explained that in-home services are a big part of the clinic's program. A long-term plan is to increase the types of in-home services provided.

"You can understand a family better when you go into the home. There is a tremendous increase in family stresses, and fewer family supports of any kind," she said. "Agencies have taken up some of the roles families used to do."

One of the frustrations is a public perception that families should take care of their own. Ott-O'Toole remembers approaching one potential corporate sponsor to request money for a program that would check the well-being of latchkey children after school. The proposed phone program had a modest budget, but the response was a flat no — the kids' grandparents should be checking up on them after school, the company spokesman said.

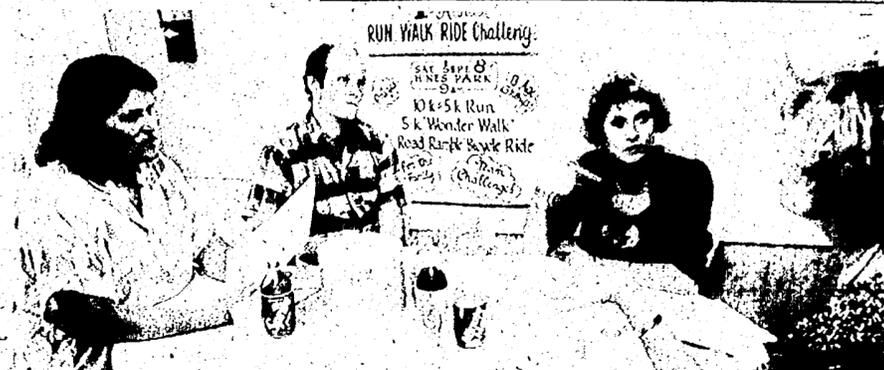

"WE NEED more volunteers in general," Ott-O'Toole said. "We need groups to assist us not only with special events but to raise funds. We always need people to answer phones."

"We had one gentleman who was retired from his profession and had spent several years with the Big Brothers organization," said VanderVoort. "He was looking for one-to-one contact with a youth. We don't want to turn people down but we are not looking for direct workers for children."

Professional staff totals 60, all with advanced degrees in social work.

High on the administrators wish list is corporations to sponsor specific programs. In the past, there has been sponsorship of the Beacon school for things like a big Christmas party, complete with Santa. Businesses could also underwrite the cost of day camp, music lessons, a YMCA membership or some other activity that could make a tremendous difference in the life of some clients.

PSYCHIATRIST BRAINWASHES FAT

A Detroit area psychiatrist is using classic Russian and Chinese techniques to brainwash people into losing weight. The brainwashing is based on more than 6 years of medical research using alternating periods of sensory deprivation and sensory overload to plant a new thin belief system in the mind. The brainwashing makes cravings disappear and stops binge and compulsive eating. The program was created for people who have never been able to stay on a diet, and has helped thousands of people lose weight and keep it off over the past 6 years. The BRAINWASHING DIET has been featured on the Joan Rivers Show, Sally Jesse Raphael and Larry King Live. The BRAINWASHING DIET BOOK by William Nagler, M.D. and Anne Androff, M.A. contains the complete 12 Hour Brainwashing Seminar thousands have paid $395 for. Now you can brainwash yourself at home. This book will not be in bookstores until 1992. But you can receive your advance hard back copy now, for just $19.95 and postage. Stop by DIET RESULTS MEDICATION PROGRAM at 16311 Middlebelt in Livonia, to meet the author and pick up your autographed copy, or call (800) 243-2048.

School aid bill fails to muster support

dedicating all lottery revenue, including interest, to the state school aid fund. Currently lottery revenue except interest is dedicated by law to the school fund.

Keith and House leaders negotiated with Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, and thought they had worked out an agreement, Keith's aide said. It fell apart when senators wouldn't go along with the "equal opportunity" language. The Senate had rejected its own proposal, SJR O, with that language in it.

So the House on June 26 passed HJR Q as a lottery dedication measure on a 92-0 vote.

ON JUNE 29, the Senate took up HJR Q but tacked on two of its own amendments that would have:

- Required the state constitutionally to continue paying 100 percent of Social Security and pension contributions of school districts. Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, joined in a formal protest against this amendment as an "inequity" which would increase the disparity between districts.

• Tie-barred passage of HJR Q to an amendment to the U.S. Constitution prohibiting salary increases for members of Congress until after the next election.

That version of HJR Q fell one short of the two-thirds (26) votes needed to put it on the ballot. The vote was 25-10.

Yes votes were cast by all 20 Republicans — including Doug Cruce of Troy, Richard Fessler of Commerce, Robert Geake of Northville and Rudy Nichols of Waterford — plus five Democrats, including George Z. Hart of Dearborn.

Ten Democrats, including Faust, voted no. Three Democrats had excused absences, including Jack Faxon of Farmington Hills.

Headlee seeks an 'angel' to keep proposal alive

Tax cut hopeful Richard Headlee is looking for a $62,500 "corporate angel or foundation" to keep his Taxpayers United's initiative alive.

The petition drive, which fell short, is aimed at cutting all property tax assessments by 20 percent over two years.

Headlee, chairman of TU, said Monday that "we've been appealing for the money in order to mail the petition forms to 900,000 homes in 70 counties outside the Detroit area."

"No civic-minded Michigan corporation has answered our appeal to date," Headlee said in TU's Bloomfield Township headquarters at 30700 Telegraph.

"Our problem has been one of distribution to registered voters throughout Michigan. We know from our mailing last month that if we can find a commitment for $62,500 by Thursday to pay for the mailing, we'll surpass our goal of 220,000 petition signatures by July 24."

THE HEADLEE Initiative would:

- Cut each property tax assessment 10 percent on Dec. 31, 1990, and approximately 10 percent the next year.

- Force the state Legislature to fund from the state general fund any local revenue lost by the 20-percent cut.

- Allow any taxpayer to bring suit in his own circuit court to enforce this statute with attorney fees paid by the taxing body at 150 percent of actual expenses if the taxpayer prevails. No cost of any nature shall be levied against a plaintiff taxpayer.

IF THERE are 192,000 signatures, the Secretary of State would submit the petition language to the Legislature after Labor Day for approval or rejection. The Legislature can adopt it without amendment or reject it.

If it's rejected, the Headlee Initiative would automatically go on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Rival tax cut plan falls short

L. Brooks Patterson and Patrick Anderson fell short of the 240,000 petition signatures they needed to put their property tax cut proposal on the fall ballot.

They announced Monday in Troy they collected only 200,000 signatures in the allotted 180 days.

"Signatures last week had been coming in at 10,000 a day," they said. But Patterson, the former Oakland County prosecutor, and Anderson, an economist for Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. in Farmington Hills, said they still came up short despite an army of 9,000 volunteers.

Signatures came from 73 of Michigan's 83 counties, with the majority of support coming out of Macomb, Wayne, Oakland, Kent and Genesee counties.

Their proposal would have given voters a chance to pass $500 million in property tax cuts.

But they said the 200,000 signatures still sent a message to state lawmakers that Michiganians consider property taxes too high.

Metropark marks anniversary

Contests for kids and adults highlight the 10th anniversary celebration of the Kensington Metropark Farm and Nature Center.

Anniversary events are scheduled for Saturday, July 14, and Sunday, July 15.

Farm events include Kids Contests — an egg toss, hay bale rolling, sack races, watermelon eating, balloon toss and greased pig chase. Events begin at 12:30 p.m. Soap making and candle making exhibitions will be held at 1 p.m.

Nature center demonstrations will be held from 2-4 p.m.

Roscoe the Clown will perform 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the nature center, 3-5 p.m. at the farm.

Other summer metro park activities include:

- Adult evening nature cruise — 8 p.m., Tuesday, July 10.

- Animal tracking for kids — 1 p.m., Thursday, July 12.

- Pioneer ways — 1 p.m., Thursday, July 19. The program is designed for children.

- Summer homes — 2 p.m., Sunday, July 22. A park naturalist will lead a 90-minute-to-two-hour nature walk, discussing animal homes found along the trail.

- Family evening nature cruise — 8 p.m., Tuesday, July 24.

- Indian Ways — 1 p.m., Thursday, July 26. The program is designed for children.

- Wildflower sketching, 2 p.m., Sunday, July 29. Participants are encouraged to sketch summer wildflowers in their natural environment during the 90-minute-to-two-hour program.

Programs are held at Kensington Metropark, Milford. Additional information is available by calling 685-1561.

Bill would place limits on campaign contributing

State Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, chairwoman of the House Elections Committee, will begin holding committee hearings this summer on state financing for legislative races.

At the same time Berman has also requested legislation to require that House candidates receive at least 50 percent of their contributions in amounts of $100 or less and state senate candidates $150 or less.

"The issue of public funding for legislative races has been mentioned many times, but never studied by the Legislature," Berman said. "It's time we take a good long look at it and make some decisions about which way to go with campaign financing in Michigan."

Several states, including neighboring Wisconsin and Minnesota, have enacted publicly funded legislative campaigns and programs in those states and others will be carefully reviewed.

Regarding the request for legislation, limiting the amount of contributions is not new to Michigan law, but limiting the amount by proportion is. "While this bill will not place greater limits on PAC contributions than now exist, it will insure a far more level playing field for the smaller giver," Berman said.

"The perception is that huge PAC contributions control all campaigns. This legislation will end that perception. Perhaps the figure will be higher than any of us ever imagined," Berman said. "Perhaps even the higher spending districts aren't meeting the educational and financial goal we may choose. But the public deserves to know that our first goal is quality and exactly what we need to reach it."

Mayor Thomas Union contract is concern

SIX MONTHS into his administration — long past the honeymoon phase for Westland mayors — we are generally pleased with Robert Thomas.

In many ways, Thomas' administration has been a pleasant surprise. For someone with no experience as an elective office holder, Thomas has been very quick to grasp most of the ideas and concepts suburban mayors must deal with on a daily basis.

New programs, including the Town Hall Meetings; and a push for stronger ordinance enforcement, razing abandoned buildings and the clean-up in Norwayne and other neglected neighborhoods deserve praise. They show that Thomas intends to make his mark as "the people's mayor."

That said, we were dismayed by the administration's performance in negotiating a new contract for the city's biggest employee union, AFSCME Local 1602. The four-year deal that was approved July 2 by the Westland City Council — with Thomas' blessings — strikes us as fiscally unsound for a city that only in the last few years has regained its financial footing.

THE CONTRACT provides 20 percent pay increases for 118 clerical and public services employees between now and December 1993. That includes a whopping 7 percent pay hike retroactive to Jan. 1 and another 5 percent next year.

To get the raises, the union agreed to allow the city to hire "supplemental," non-union employees to perform certain jobs and to offer a cost-saving health insurance alternative to Michigan Blue Cross/Blue Shield for new hires.

According to administration figures, the cost of the contract over its four-year period will be $1.8 million. That, coincidentally, is nearly half the $3.9 million city surplus Thomas inherited following his election last fall.

In discussions before the city council, the mayor said the health insurance option will save the city $1,224 per (new) employee per year. That sounds like an impressive figure. Actually, it won't amount to much until Local 1602 has a large turnover of employees through traditional retirements and resignations — which means years or even decades.

New programs, including Town Hall meetings, and a push for stronger ordinance enforcement, razing abandoned buildings and the clean-up in Norwayne and other neglected neighborhoods deserve praise.

Thomas also said the use of up to 20 "supplemental" employees at lower wages would save the city "tons of money." But who knows what any real savings will be in that area. The administration won't be able to provide detailed analysis until the program has been up and running for a while.

While we recognize the need to bring the city's employees "up to par" with other municipalities, we question the apparently over generous nature of the contract recommended by the administration. Particularly in light of the fact that other city employee groups traditionally use the AFSCME contract as their bargaining base, demanding equal treatment.

MEANWHILE, THE four-year length of the contract is excessive. By coinciding with the mayor's term, it delays any post-contract after-shocks — and any possible erosion of union support — until long after the next mayoral election.

Finally, it gives the appearance of Thomas' renegeing on his promise to voters last fall that he would approach contract negotiations with the taxpayers in mind. It was a promise sure to draw heavy scrutiny in light of Thomas' former position as a city employee and Local 1602 president.

If property tax revenues don't increase by a significant amount during the next four years, the AFSCME contract and agreements to follow could send the city down the financial drain. Hopefully, it won't be the mayor who pulls out the stopper.

No solution Campaign bill wouldn't work

CAMPAIGN FINANCING is the issue and state Rep. Maxine Berman thinks she has the answer.

The Southfield Democrat is having a series of summer hearings on changing the way Michigan political campaigns are financed.

Berman seeks new limits. Under her plan, state House candidates would have to receive at least half their contributions in amounts of $100 or less. The figure would be raised to $150 for state Senate candidates.

The goal, Berman said, is to limit the influence of political action committees. If the legislation were enacted, she said, influence of the politically powerful PACs would decrease.

THAT'S NOT likely. Direct PAC contributions account for only a part — in most cases, probably not even half — of candidates' campaign war chests. The biggest contributions generally come from tickets to fund-raising events, from sock-tail parties to backyard barbecues.

While a PAC would be prevented from contributing $1,000 to a candidate's campaign, nothing would stop 10 PAC men and women from dropping $100 each into the kitty for the chance to hoist an hors d'oeuvre, or hot dog, with the candidate.

The larger issue, Berman admits, is public financing of political campaigns.

Public financing has been tried, to varying degree, with U.S. presidential races and in other states.

BUT THE concept should throw up a red flag for all Michigan voters, regardless of party.

From crumbling roads to a crumbling educational system, there are simply too many other state spending priorities to waste money on candidates, even if contributions were voluntary.

One caution: Someone you might not be willing to vote for could get their hands on your hard-earned money.

We might be convinced to check off a box on our state tax returns setting aside $1 or so for repaved highways, or a computer fund for financially strapped school districts. But candidates? Let 'em go raise their own money.

Summertime Suburbs offer outdoor delights

IF YOU SEEK a pleasant peninsula, look around you.

The truth behind our state motto is self-evident right now. Summertime shows off Michigan at its best, and our corner of the state is no exception.

Each of our suburban communities offers its own beauty and character.

Talk about lakes and woods and you're talking West Bloomfield. Drive the stretch of Orchard Lake Road with Pine Lake on one side and Orchard Lake on the other. Or take a walk in the West Bloomfield Woods, accessible from Pontiac Trail — and you'll think you're in the Upper Peninsula.

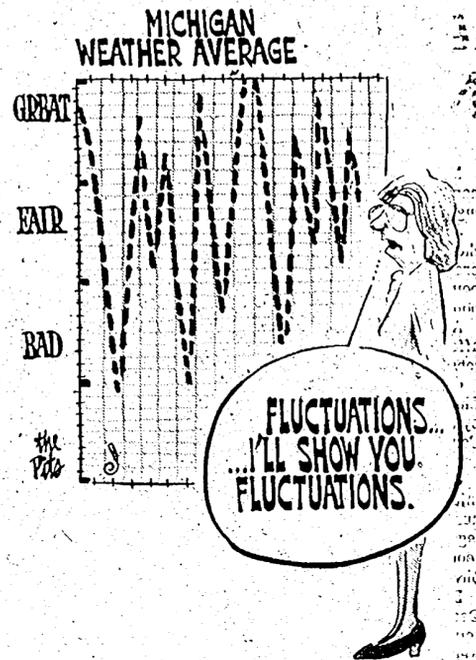

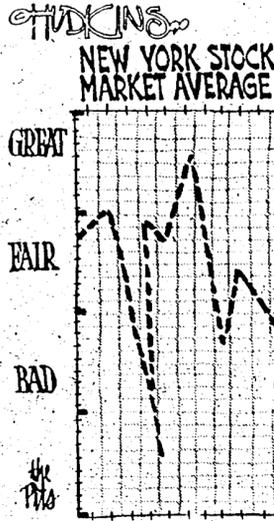

For a different scene, enjoy the flower bedecked downtowns of Rochester, Birmingham, Plymouth and Farmington, the latter celebrating its Founder's Day Festival with an assortment of activities this week. For free outdoor music, pull up your lawn chair or spread your blanket and listen up to Thursday evening concerts in Birmingham's Shain Park, Wednesday noon and Thursday night concerts in Plymouth's Kellogg Park and Sunday evening music in the Prudential Sun Bowl in Southfield.

Want to step back in time? Try Troy's Village Green at Wattles just west of Livernois which features vintage buildings and a historical museum. History buffs at the other end of our towns can drive by rich, rolling farmlands to reach Canton Township's Historic District at Cherry Hill and Ridge roads which features a one-room schoolhouse and old church.

NOT FAR AWAY, nature lovers have their choice of the Holiday Park Nature Preserve which spans Westland and Canton or the 16-mile stretch of Hines Drive running through Plymouth, Livonia, Westland and adjacent to Garden City. For walkers, joggers and bicyclists, parts of Hines Park roads are closed to vehicles on some summer Saturdays.

Southfield and Troy's high rises backdrop against a summer sunset show those cities off to passers-by. But tucked into office buildings are the vest pocket patios and parks which allow daytime workers to enjoy their lunch hours out of doors, sometimes to music.

We could go on. . . . But you get the picture. Summer brings out the best in our towns.

Equal spending doesn't always get equal results

THE MOST likely way the school financing argument will be settled in Michigan is through the courts. School spending is always a hot and divisive topic, and the American tradition has been to toss hot potatoes that the political system can't resolve to the courts for solution.

Certainly the political system in Lansing will do nothing in an election year, and the voters two years ago turned down both initiatives that the Legislature chose to pass to them.

On the other hand, supreme courts in 11 states have already ruled the way money is allocated to school districts is unconstitutional because of the sharp spending differences between rich and poor districts. Rumor has it that many of the poorer districts in Michigan are considering a similar suit.

The basis for legal action is equality. The 14th amendment to the U.S. Constitution appears to suggest that very unequal spending per-pupil is, on its face, unconstitutional.

And certainly per-pupil spending in Michigan is very unequal. On average, the bottom five districts spend around $2,500 per pupil, while the top five (including Bloomfield Hills and Southfield) spend three times as much, around $8,400.

SO, BEFORE THE lawyers have at it, might it be reasonable to ask the factual question: Does equal spending result in equal school performance?

Like the Gershwin song says, it ain't necessarily so.

The best information on this tangled subject was assembled last year by Mark Hornbeck, a good and tough reporter for The Detroit News. His study tried to relate school district spending to educational results. The findings:

- High per-pupil spending does not necessarily result in high levels of learning. Examples: Oak Park was in the top eight districts in spending but in the bottom 20 in tests results. Kingsley ranked lowest in the state in spending but scored well above average in state assessment tests.
- Nearly 95 percent of Michi-

Kids whose parents don't care or who do not take an interest in school success are likely to do badly.

Philip Power

gan's 562 districts spent between $1,000 and $2,000 on basic instruction — teacher salaries, books, classroom supplies and equipment — while obtaining widely varying achievement results.

- Spending money to reduce class size had only a minor impact on test scores, although dropout rates were substantially reduced when class size dropped below 20.

WHAT DOES MAKE a difference is a little harder to prove by such a statistical study.

One very big factor is home life — what kind of family and what kind of environment a child experiences.

Kids whose parents don't care or who do not take an interest in school success are likely to do badly. Kids whose parents dropped out or had poor educational records are likely to do less well than others. Kids whose families are poor or broken do not do well.

For such children, it seems that programs aimed at preschoolers (age 4 and up) make a big difference. Although the federal Head Start provides preschool to only about 20 percent of eligible low-income families, exhaustive studies done in Ypsilanti schools show conclusively that early teaching helps kids from troubled and poor backgrounds.

Another device that works is teaching parents how to help their kids with school. Oak Park schools sent brochures home, and Redford Union schools bring parents of 4-year-olds to school to learn about child development. Both get results.

OF COURSE, solving the problems of all families in Michigan is far from possible, so a lot of attention has been paid recently to reorganizing the way schools work.

Setting a statewide core curriculum is already under way, as is requiring schools to file annual progress reports and develop improvement plans. While none of these measures has stirred much conflict, none appears to be the entire answer to the problem.

The example of the Academic Academy in the Benton Harbor schools illustrates a variety of more far-reaching devices under consideration.

- The best teachers in the district are assigned to the kids with the worst family problems and given a free hand in setting up programs.

- Students are required to eat breakfast in the cafeteria before school starts because research shows that poor nutrition hurts learning.

- Teachers do not lecture at children sitting at their desks but get them to use hands-on devices such as aquariums for biology and computers for math.

- Daily schedules are rigorous and expectations are clear. The environment is very structured.

So far, experiments such as the Academic Academy seem to be working. Dropouts are down. Achievement test results are up.

While it may be that equalizing the amount of money spent on education — that is, giving poor districts more money — may help, merely spending more money in the same ways for the same things is unlikely to make the big difference most parents hope for.

Possibly the lawyers might consider that before they start filing their suits.

Thanks for the support

To the editor:
Wayne Westland Area Girl Scouts wish to express thanks and appreciation to the Westland Observer for the very fine coverage for Girl Scouts this past year.

It is encouraging to us, the girls, and volunteers to see the support offered by your newspapers.

We appreciate the opportunity to reach the public with news of Girl Scout Activities and programs, and to make the community aware of the many fine and dedicated volunteers in Girl Scouting in the community.

We thank you and look forward to continuing the association in the coming year.

Guns marred holiday event

To the editor:
The past Memorial Day Parade was a great success, with only one exception. I am referring to the firing of automatic weapons at the end of the parade. Many young faces, including my own two grandsons, turned from joy to fear with the firing of these weapons. Many children attempting to pick up the spent shells burned their fingers.

This firing was not necessary and the parade would have been just as great without it. As Mayor of the City of Westland, and its Chief Law Enforcement Officer, I am hereby placing a ban on the firing of any weapon in parades that take place in Westland. Parades are for fun and enjoyment, not to instill fear or to give a wrong message to our young ones.

I hope everyone will understand the reasoning and merit behind this ban and will continue to participate in our great parades.

Name games on the Supreme Court

MICHIGAN VOTERS like Irish names when it comes time to electing the judiciary.

Judicial candidates campaign on the basis of dignity, experience and professional service. Rarely do they point out that they have different points of view.

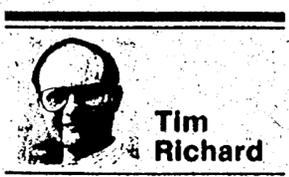

And sometimes their differences affect Michigan's ability to create jobs, jobs, jobs.

Consider the case of Dean vs. Chrysler Corp., decided in mid-May by a 4-2-1 vote of the State Supreme Court.

ONE APRIL 1 Corrine Dean was injured on the job when an explosion hurled a piece of metal against her leg. She returned to work May 19 but took the day off June 28 to visit her physician for further treatment.

Driving west on Eight Mile Road, Dean struck a cement barricade and fell 25 feet off of an overpass. A Ferndale police officer thought she had been drinking, but that question was never settled. She was issued a traffic ticket.

Without question, Dean was entitled to workers' comp benefits for the explosion injury, but Chrysler fought back when she asked workers comp for the traffic accident. The company thought her no-fault auto insurance should cover the traffic accident.

The Workers Comp Appeal Board favored Dean's claim because the traffic injury was a consequence of the work injury. (Remember the big flap the chambers of commerce made over one of Gov. James J. Blanchard's appointments to the WCAB as being "biased" toward labor? Now you know why those obscure sounding jobs are important.)

The Court of Appeals reversed the WCAB and decided for Chrysler.

THE SUPREME Court majority opinion was written by Robert Griffin, the former Republican U.S. senator. He was joined by Dorothy Comstock Riley and James Brickley, both with GOP backgrounds, and Charles Levin, non-partisan but an acknowledged liberal.

Griffin leaned on a 1942 high court decision with remarkably similar facts. The '42 court said the law "excludes an injury which cannot be fairly traced to the employment as a contributing approximate cause and which comes from a hazard to which the workman would have been equally exposed apart from the employment."

Griffin noted that when the state legislature adopted the no-fault auto law in 1972, it could have changed the court's interpretation but acquiesced instead. Therefore, said Griffin, "the judicial power to change that interpretation ought to be exercised with great restraint."

Griffin noted the legislature made comprehensive revisions of the workers comp law in 1980 and '81 in order to "modify expansive interpretations" of the court and "restrict the eligibility qualifications."

It's 14 pages of judicial restraint.

A DISSENT came from Dennis Archer, a Blanchard appointee, and Michael Cavanagh, both liberal Democrats.

Usually, dissents are shorter than majority opinions, but Archer strained for 25 pages. He called the '42 case "a dead letter" because there are new theories of "arising out of and in the course of employment."

He reached back to a 1916 street-car accident case to opine that a worker injured while traveling to discharge his duties is entitled to workers comp. He called Dean's injury "the paradigmatic example of compensable consequences of work-related injuries."

It's judicial activism. One also gets the impression there's a political philosophy at work which, says, Sock it to the corporation.

PATRICIA BOYLE, a Blanchard appointee, concurred in Archer's reasoning on the "quasi-course of employment test," but wanted the WCAB to determine if Dean really was drinking.

One can see why Boyle has a reputation as a tough law-and-order jurist.

Footnote: Dean's injuries occurred in 1978. It took 12 years for four layers of government to decide that her traffic accident was a traffic accident and not a work accident.

Experience best teacher for wedding

THE BATTLE PLANS began 16 months ago.

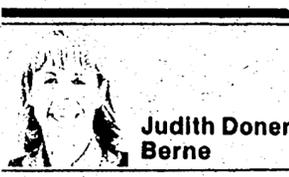

The sites were immediately appropriated, the lieutenants secured, and the scouting began for the uniforms.

Our family was planning its first wedding.

There was a lot of campaign experience to draw on. Anyone we knew who had given a wedding was consulted. Where did you have it? What did you serve? What band did you use? Who did the flowers? Who took the photographs? Did you have it videotaped? Where did you go for invitations, place cards, thank-you notes?

There's ample evidence, should anyone look for it, why there should be many more women generals. Certainly anyone who has planned and carried off a wedding could plan and execute any battle. And it seems most of the strategists behind weddings are women.

It's also not often that having done something once, people then consider you an expert! Still, the most important question is one that no one else can answer for you. What is the feeling that you want at the wedding?

Judith Doner Berne

FOR THOSE of you who soon will have the pleasure of seeing one of your children married, here are some tidbits that either proved valuable to me or that I wish I had known:

- If you're having a band, asking them to take five-minute breaks rather than 15-minute breaks keeps the momentum of the evening going. It's more costly — but worth it.
- Contemplating whether or not to have a video? Put it right up there with the marriage license and the grandmothers' corsages. No matter how much in control you think you are, you won't really see or absorb what's going on at the time.

- Know ahead that you won't sleep during that last three weeks or so. At 4 a.m., instead of counting sheep, I was mapping out table seating. Don't worry — there's an adrenalin that replaces sleep and keeps you going full tilt.

- But watch out. If you work, make sure you take time off both before the wedding — because that's all you'll be thinking about — and after the wedding, because you won't believe the exhaustion.

- Pay as much attention to the details of the ceremony as the party. The ceremony is the heart of the wedding.

PEOPLE ALWAYS joke that it is a lot of time, effort and money spent on one evening. Take the money and elope, they tell the couple. Give them the money and tell them to elope, they tell the parents.

I found it was much more than an evening. From the time our children announced their engagement, it was a special time to plan with them their first step into a life together and to grow closer to them.

The hoopla partying — the engagement party, shower, stag and bachelorette parties, rehearsal dinner and morning-after-the-wedding brunch — are further proof that it is more than a one-night stand.

Other than exhaustion, there was no letdown. Just pride — and relief — that we had produced the kind of wedding they had wanted.

The best advice I got was from a friend whose daughter had her wedding a month before ours. It was not that different from what soldiers are told when go into a campaign, or athletes before a big match.

Stay within yourself.

Amanda Hatfield, 7, of Westland gives registered respiratory therapist Gary Fugitt a tug in the wagon recently at a special summer camp for ventilator dependent children in Mayville, Mich.

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

It's fitting that Amanda Hatfield, 7, of Westland asks Gary Fugitt if she can pull him in a red wagon. People have been pulling for her the past two years.

The little girl has Melas Syndrome, so rare a metabolic disorder that there are only four cases diagnosed in the entire country.

Amanda has had three slight strokes, and only recently she was out of the hospital after a bout of pneumonia. She is ventilator dependent and requires 16 hours of nursing supervision.

So, for her mother and grandmother to see Amanda playing and acting like any other exuberant child her age is something to behold.

A SPECIAL camp for ventilator dependent children in Mayville, Mich., allows the Amanda Hatfields of the world to feel the summer breeze against their face and to share laughter with other youngsters.

The camp is one of only three of its type in the country and is sponsored by Friends of University of Michigan Hospital. This was the first year it took place.

"I can tell you she has already gotten so much out of this camp," said Kara Hatfield, her grandmother. "She's willing to do so much on her own. She's become much more independent."

REGISTERED RESPIRATORY therapists and registered nurses serve as "partners" to the children, most of whom are wheelchair bound. Many of those who work at the camp volunteer their time.

Children participate in a wide variety of activities, including pontoon fishing, arts and crafts and card games.

"We try to make it as normal a camp setting as possible," said Fugitt, a registered respiratory therapist working at the camp. "They're buying into it big time. These kids are eating it up."

ALONG WITH the camp experience comes the typical pranks. Camp personnel had wheelchairs rigged with power water guns so children could have water gun battles.

Each sleeping quarter features a name like Ninja Turtles for the tots, Heartbreak Hotel for the girls and Bad Boys for the guys.

While making things fun for the children, volunteers provide around-the-clock care. Home-care specialists take of such things as catheterization, bowel programs and tube feedings.

The task of getting these special needs children ready for bed can take anywhere from one to two hours, according to Fugitt.

"We had all the bases covered," Fugitt said. " . . . However, the one thing you didn't prepare for is the demand on us for constant care.

A breath of fresh air

Fugitt and Amanda play the piano.

It's a tremendous undertaking, but monumentally rewarding."

"It's been a lot of fun," said Judee Gnlewek, Amanda's partner. "I've forgotten what it's like to chase a 6-year-old around."

ANOTHER PURPOSE of the camp is to give the parents of special needs children a respite. Nonetheless, when visitation day came during the middle of the week, parents flocked to the camp near Saginaw to see their children.

Sue Hatfield was no different. She came up with her mother-in-law to visit Amanda. The sight of her daughter playing and walking lifted her spirits.

Normally, Amanda stays in a wheelchair in order to concentrate on her breathing. At camp, the chair sat in a corner while she walked more than she ever had in the past.

"The changes we had seen in her were unbelievable," Hatfield said. "Things she wouldn't normally be doing at home she was doing here."

IN OCTOBER 1988, Hatfield took her ill daughter to Garden City Osteopathic Hospital. At first, she thought it was a case of allergies.

Doctors found that there was no oxygen in her blood and Amanda was rushed by helicopter to Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Amanda was hospitalized for 3½ months, which included a two-week stay in the intensive care unit. She couldn't move, not even to lift her head.

ASIDE FROM several medical setbacks, Amanda appears to be making strides. Originally, it was thought she had learning disabilities but Amanda has moved up in her school work at McGrath Elementary School in Wayne.

Also, she went from being on a ventilator 24 hours a day to needing it only at night. Doctors are amazed by her recent recovery.

Amanda still requires around-the-clock care. One nurse visits the home 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. to watch Amanda and to provide suction to remove fluid buildup in her lungs.

Another nurse is needed 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. in order to provide a rest for family members.

"It's a lot of work," her mother said. "It's frustrating sometimes. It's not like any other kid where you can say, 'Just a minute.' If she needs suction, she needs it right then."

Family and friends recently celebrated Amanda's turning better. Her seventh birthday party included Ronald McDonald among several guests. Also, Westland Mayor Robert Thomas had a special card made for her that was signed by people at City Hall. Wayne County commissioner Kay Beard also sent along a proclamation.

Amanda told them about summer camp.

New kids fashionable in mall model program

By Sue Mason
staff writer

You could call them the new kids on the block. But make no mistake, these aren't the "dream boat" rock stars of the same name.

They're members of the Laurel Park Place Fashion Panel, nine young people who are learning about marketing, modeling and the retail business.

"It's a neat program," said Michael Buescher, the mall's marketing director. "It's an educational program because basically, we let the young people know what's available in the retail field."

Twenty-five people auditioned for the panel, with the judges narrowing the field down to nine.

Part of the audition was a two-minute talent segment, with the hopefuls performing everything from poetry readings to dance routines. Judges looked for young people who could express themselves and who had confidence in themselves, although they were looking "for an overriding interest in the business," Buescher said.

Because the Fashion Panel is a new endeavor for the mall, which has been open about a year, the decision was to keep the group small to start with.

"We wanted to make sure we were up and running before we expand the program," he said. "We were looking for a commitment here. This isn't a one time only opportunity and then they go away."

"WE WANT them to interact with the stores and the store managers because we think we have a valuable resource here."

The members come from throughout the metropolitan area. They meet for two hours once a month, meeting with store managers or touring stores to learn about the business.

The group also will garner modeling experience by participating in Writing reflects lively person

Dear Lorene Green,

I have been following your column since moving to Livonia two months ago.

I find it very interesting. I'm really amazed that you can tell so much about a person from the small amount of information given.

I am anxious to see what you can tell me about myself. I will write back and tell you how accurate your perceptions are.

Thank you for your time and patience.

Lorene Green

I have been following your column since moving to Livonia two months ago. I find it very interesting. I'm really amazed that you can tell so much about a person from the small amount of information given. I am anxious to see what you can tell me about myself. I will write back and tell you how accurate your perceptions are. Thank you for your time and patience.

self accordingly. Acceptance from others is a necessary part of your makeup.

You are people oriented and can feel both for and with them. In your relationships you seek harmony and peace. While you avoid making waves, you do have a built-in retort that can be triggered when "push comes to shove." I also see your ability to be quite a persuasive conversationalist.

First impressions are important to you. You sometimes feel a need to catch the attention early on. In a positive sense this has you putting your best foot forward. Occasional signs of caution and self-consciousness in your handwriting could temper this a tad.

Well organized, you are able to direct your life in an effective manner. Your disciplined nature leaves little to chance. You are ambitious and take pride in a well-performed task.

I realize my next statement is going to sound contradictory, but is definitely here. In many areas you feel you can do the job as well as or better than others. However, it appears you also experience some inferior feelings, especially in the area of new social relationships. At these times the old green-eye monster has a way of causing you to feel you must compete for love.

The decision making process may not be the easiest thing for you to resolve. Still your intuitive sense should prove beneficial here, as well as in many other areas of your life.

There is a rhythm in this handwriting and suggests you probably find enjoyment and relaxation in music.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper write to Lorene C. Green, 36521 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper writing in the first person singular.

16 couples mark golden anniversary

By Mary Rodrigue
staff writer

After Jack and Miriam Shenkman tied the knot in 1940, they hopped in their '33 Ford and drove to Chicago for the honeymoon.

On Saturday, July 14, the Shenkmans will hop on a chartered bus with 15 other couples for a celebratory trip to the 1940 Chop House in downtown Detroit.

Besides friendship, all 16 couples share a common milestone — they mark their golden wedding anniversary this year. The special evening will honor the year it all started — 1940.

"You should see this group. No one looks old enough to be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary," said Elaine Beresh, one of the Shenkman's four children.

"My grandmother, my mother's mother, is still alive. And she doesn't look 92."

The anniversary group includes Aaron and Millie Berg and Erwin and Sylvia Harvith, the two couples who got the ball rolling for the planned celebration, according to Jack Shenkman.

Because most are still active in business, it was hard to pin down a date to accommodate everyone, he added.

"None has become a total beach bum," he said.

Actual anniversaries run from June through October, with the Shenkmans marking their big day on Sept. 15. Shenkman owns the Livonia Mall and is developing a 150-acre residential, condominium and office development in the Seven Mile/

Newburgh area in Livonia.

FIFTY YEARS ago, "we didn't have anything," he said. "I remember paying the hospital bill for (the birth of) Elaine in silver dollars."

Shenkman's key to marital success: "Love, understanding, working together as a team, sharing joys and sorrows, being kind and considerate of others. Being aware of the needs of individuals and organizations that serve the community."

Many of the couples have shared other milestones together — the birth of children, marriages of their offspring, and the arrival of grandchildren.

"Families were closer knit then," Shenkman said, reflecting back on the '40s. "We didn't have conveniences of airplanes around the world. We traveled a smaller world. It's a quick world today. People want instant everything."

"We appreciate the good things. How good life has been to us, good health, a nice family. We had the patience to wait for these things. It took time to work things out."

Other couples celebrating 50 years of marriage include Boyd and Ruth Carnick, Charles and Ruth Dodge, Harold and Ruth Garber, Boris and Florence Gaynes, Maxwell and Sylvia Goldstein, and Irving and Marian Kramer.

The rest of the anniversary entourage to the 1940 Chop House includes Jerry and Ethel Marks, Dorothy and Jack Milen, Judd and Ester Morrison, Abe and Sylvia Pearlman, Howard and Faye Rice, Lester and Margarette Satovsky, and Sid and Melba Weiner.

Russell and Crystal Woody will celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary on Tuesday, July 24.

Couple celebrates 60th anniversary

Russell and Crystal Woody will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on Tuesday, July 24.

They were married in Wayne in 1930. Russell, originally from Old Fort, N.C., worked for the Wayne County Roads Department, until he retired in 1955. He then worked another 15 years for a construction company.

Crystal was born in Chicago and raised in Michigan. She retired as an L.P.N. from the State of Michigan in 1968. The couple resides in Punta Gorda, Fla., and Old Fort, N.C. They have friends and relatives throughout the United States and Canada.

Joining them in the celebration will be son and wife, Larry and Monica Woody of Garden City; granddaughter and husband, Dawn and Kent Horzon of Westland. Their daughter Lillian Brogden of Panama City, Fla. Granddaughter Crystal Lewis and their two great-grandsons from Panama City, Fla., mall fashion events. To promote the Fashion Panel, members will be photographed, then those photos and a biography will be displayed on a photo board in the mall.

Members will serve on the panel for one year, with the next round of auditions to be held in January or February, Buescher said.

Members of this year's panel include:

• Marcella Nordbeck of Livonia, a student at Stevenson High School, who plans on studying fashion merchandising at the Livonia Career Center.

• Kristen Kugler of Northville, a sophomore at Western Michigan University, studying speech pathology. Her interests include fashion, marketing and public relations.

• Melissa Ioannisci of Livonia, a Stevenson High School graduate. She is attending Oakland Community College and plans on transferring to the University of Michigan to pursue a degree in business management.

• Jennifer Doran of Livonia, a student at Franklin High School. A semi-finalist in the Seventeen magazine Cover Model competition, she plans to study business in college and hopes to become a professional model.

• GINA RHODE of Ann Arbor, a graduate of Ladywood High School and a student at the University of Michigan. She hopes to attend medical school after graduation.

• Jill Kravez of Canton Township, also a Ladywood High graduate. Interested in marketing and fashion, she is attending Eastern Michigan University. She hopes to become an international corporate lawyer.

• Kristin Krol of Union Lake, a graduate of Northville High School. She plans to attend EMU this fall.

"These kids are really serious," Buescher said. "A lot have modeling or retail experience and they're all serious about business. They're not paid, but we think the experience they're getting from this is invaluable."

LOVE THY NEIGHBOR

Church officials strive for a peaceful coexistence

By Arlene Funke
special writer

Mary and Graham Martin of Plymouth Township don't have to worry about being late for church.

The Martins simply step out the door of their house, walk a few feet and they're at the entrance of the Lake Pointe Bible Chapel.

What's it like living next door to a church?

"People ask us that all the time," said Mary Martin with a laugh. "It has never been a problem."

Although most churches are on busy, main streets, a few are nestled in neighborhoods. These include the Lake Pointe Bible Chapel and First United Methodist, both of Plymouth Township; St. Timothy Presbyterian in Livonia; and Hosanna Tabor Lutheran in Redford.

MOST CHURCHES co-exist peacefully with their residential neighbors, officials say. They try to resolve any disputes — generally noise and parking issues — quickly. "We try to be sensitive to the community," said the Rev. Janet Noble, pastor of St. Timothy Presbyterian.

For the Martins, both 45, life is tightly entwined with the activities and programs at Lake Pointe Bible Chapel on Schoolcraft Road.

The house in which the Martins live was constructed from a kit during the 1940s. It predates the church, built in the late 1960s.

The Lake Pointe Bible Chapel met at Farrand Elementary School in Plymouth Township prior to construction of the building. The church has 200 members.

Mary Martin was a member from those earlier days. When Graham returned from Vietnam, they were married in the new church building and moved into the little house next door.

"We had intended to stay there only about three or four years," she recalled.

But their family grew to four children, three sons and a daughter, now ages 7 to 16. All are active in the church. The Martins, who have been married 20 years, stayed put and enlarged the house.

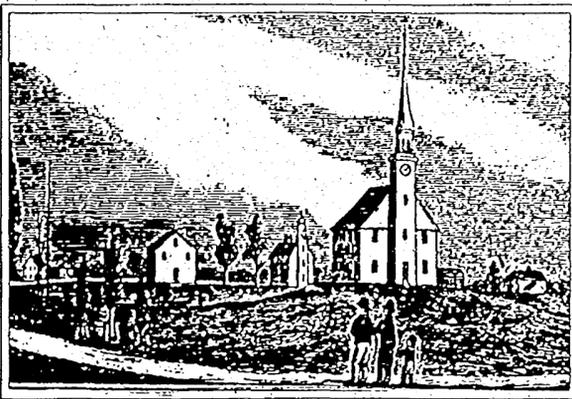

"It's really handy," Mary Martin said.

HER HUSBAND, an art teacher at Plymouth Salem High School in Canton, is a church elder and active with the Boys Brigade, a youth group at the church. He also directs a summer camp program. Mary belongs to a ladies' Bible study group.

"When the Pioneer Girls are baking cookies, if they need to borrow a cookie sheet or the Karo syrup, they can just run over to the house," she said.

There are few hassles in getting ready for Sunday worship services.

"On Sunday, if you get ready first you can just march over to the church and be on time," she said. "It's a lot easier."

The pastor, the Rev. Kenneth Belch, came to the church from Niagara Falls, Ontario, just two years ago. But the church secretary, a longtime member, says residents have always been friendly.

"I have found we have been quite compatible with neighbors," said Janet Reid, 38, of Livonia.

Sometimes, neighborhood kids come around and play basketball in the church parking lot. During the Christmas season, children from the church go caroling in a nearby subdivision.

"We are always very well received," Reid said.

HOSANNA TABOR Lutheran Church is in the middle block of a fully-developed, tree-lined residential street in Redford Township.

The 1,250-member church is a busy place, with Sunday worship services and activities during the week.

Hosanna Tabor also operates a 230-student school for pre-kindergarten through eighth grade students.

Although there's a spacious parking lot for visitors, nearby residents occasionally find their driveways blocked by cars belonging to churchgoers.

"There is no ongoing complaint," said the pastor, the Rev. Glenn Kopper, who has been with Hosanna Tabor for 10 years.

Hosanna Tabor was started in 1948 as a Detroit church's "mission," according to records. The mission occupied a meeting hall, at Sioux and Plymouth roads, for several years until the sanctuary on Lucerne was finished around 1955.

Christina Huntley, 83, who lives a half-block from the church, remembers the extensive clearing and tree-cutting required for the construction job. She and her late husband, Ernest, joined Hosanna Tabor soon after the church was finished.

But the quiet, secluded location can be a stumbling block in terms of attracting new members.

"You can sit and watch the squirrels run around," said Kopper, 42. "But as far as visibility is concerned, it's something of a disadvantage being tucked away in the trees."

ALTHOUGH MOST of the members live within five miles of the church, "a comment is sometimes made by people who live in the area, that they didn't know we were here," Kopper said.

Until recently, the reputation of both the church and the school were enough to bring in new members, despite the secluded location. Now church officials are placing more emphasis on outreach programs.

For example, vigorous promoting of the vacation Bible school in nearby neighborhoods resulted in a substantial attendance increase in the past couple of years.

When St. Timothy Presbyterian Church of Livonia was built in 1967, Newburgh Road south of Six Mile was a dirt road. The landscape was dotted with cornfields. Now that location is surrounded by subdivisions.

The 150-member church tries to be a good neighbor, said Janet Noble, the pastor. She is only aware of one complaint, a few years ago: Some residents objected to the church's ringing its chimes before the late-morning Sunday service.

"We're thinking of trying it again," said Noble, 28. Neighbors aren't afraid to speak up about issues that affect them, she's found.

"I think probably people are more aware of things like that than they were 10 or 20 years ago — more aware that they have some clout about it," she said.

The First United Methodist Church in Plymouth Township has nearly completed a $3 million expansion project begun in 1988.

The church has been at its current site, on North Territorial west of Sheldon, since 1972. A new, larger sanctuary was built to accommodate the 1,300 members. The old sanctuary was converted to a fellowship hall.

Some residents of a newer condominium complex almost a block away complained about noise and expressed concerns about the parking lot expansion, said the Rev. John Grenfell Jr.

Those concerns were worked out in meetings with the residents and the township's planning commission, the pastor said.

"Whenever you are building you have problems that must be worked out," said Grenfell, 59. "At this point, I don't think it's a major problem as far as our relationship is concerned. While there were some people who had questions, there were some neighbors who were very glad to see that we were expanding."

"We try to be sensitive to the community."

Ties bind the city and suburbs

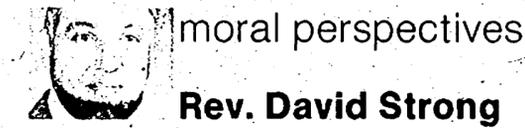

What separates the suburbs from the city of Detroit? My friends tell me that it is fear. Suburbanites fear going into the city of Detroit, no matter what their race.

On the other hand, I spoke to a young woman who lives in the suburbs and works in Detroit. She loves the city. She finds it interesting and a place of energy and excitement. She returns home after work.

I believe that the roots of the separation are deeply buried in so many ways. A new book is reported to say "The city and suburbs are separated by a cultural and emotional gap as wide as any that divides hostile nations." I believe that Ze'ev Chafetz, who wrote this, is correct.

I HAVE JUST moved from the

suburbs to the city of Detroit. Spending 26 years in the suburbs has subtly convinced me that everyone should be like me. I have gone to Europe, Central America and the Near East five times in the last five years. Each time I return, I have a desire to settle into the quiet life, even though I have enormously enjoyed the foreign culture.

Let's face it. We live in the Middle West. We still believe that our life should be a version of the "down home" syndrome. Many of us wouldn't want to live anywhere else. Yet we do not want our village to be culturally diverse.

Many young people feel differently about it. They are willing to venture into something new. They have lived in a different age. I believe that they are ready to explore the gifts of the city. The older generation remembers it as it was. They lament the changes. They do not want to return.

It is something of an adventure to relate to an unknown culture. We are familiar with the rebellious culture of our own suburban teens. We are quick to discern the signs that show us these differences. In another culture, the signs are not as well understood. Does a strange dress denote someone who is to be trusted or one who might be scary?

My son and I drove over to Tiger Stadium the night of the Nelson Mandela rally. All the people were inside except the vendors, the police and a few others. We began to talk to some of the people.

WE ASKED them about their work and their opinions. It was just like Troy or Livonia or Dearborn once we began to connect with these people. They looked different than we did, but they were essentially people we could talk with and identify with.

There is an emotional and cultural gap, but it can be overcome. The problem is that some older people and many suburban folk do not want to be in a learning mode of life. We would rather say that we have things all figured out.

But this is the opposite of our religious roots and of healthy human living. We should be in a mode to learn throughout our whole life.

Moving into Detroit, I am ready to learn. I do not believe that fear of violence is the major issue. There are times and places which are totally safe for anyone. As a matter of fact, the city of Detroit is full of suburban folk every day. Just look at the rush hour freeway traffic!

Our religion teaches us that we are all children of God. As one person put it, if God is our father, are we not all sisters and brothers? Let us get to know our brothers and sisters in this shrinking world. A radio ad puts it this way: "The world isn't getting smaller, it is getting closer."

I believe that God calls us to this adventure of getting to know the diversity of human life. What can be more interesting than people! Join me in this adventure. Mix and mingle and take a risk. The risk I advise is not to take a physical risk but an emotional and cultural risk.

The Rev. David T. Strong recently became pastor of Central United Methodist Church in Detroit.

CRIME STOPPER

Dick Tracy puts an end to Disney crime capers

By Dan Greenberg
special writer

The media-blitz accompanying the recent world premiere of "Dick Tracy" at Walt Disney World's AMC Pleasure Island 10 Theatres is typical of the larger-than-life dimensions of a trip to Disney World in Orlando, Fla.

While Dick Tracy theme shows, memorabilia and displays are the current highlight throughout Disney World's nearly 43-square mile facility, there are many other attractions, all part of the Disney "magic."

That's a major undertaking but Disney effectively provides an opportunity to travel to the limits of time and space while viewing many facets of world culture. Disney World houses displays from pre-historic times well into the next century, offers building-size representations of many cultures in the Epcot Center World Showcase, numerous resort and amusement park facilities and the ultimate theme-park fantasy, the movies at the Disney-MGM Studios.

THERE'S A peculiar sense of being removed from reality's problems in the self-contained, secure and imaginative world Disney has created. That's important, particularly to experienced travelers well aware of travel problems these days. But everything's at Disney World and it's not the kind of place where anyone can wonder in on a whim. It takes a certain amount of planning and preparation to get there, particularly in the busier seasons when advance reservations are a must.

With the official opening June 15 of the 1509-room Dolphin complementing the 758-room Swan which opened late last year, hotel accommodations at Disney World are about as elaborate as possible.

But wait; more are under construction with the Yacht and Beach Resort due next fall. With 1200-rooms, it's set around a 25-acre lake and designed with a late-19th century motif. Currently under construction on the other side of that lake, is a new park, also in the turn-of-the-century style whose theme will combine Coney Island and Atlantic City Boardwalk style restaurants, amusements and stores.

WHEN THE Yacht and Beach Club opens, there will be approximately 13,000 rooms available on Disney World property plus camping accommodations at Fort Wilderness.

Situated on Crescent Lake and crowned by giant, greenish-gray Disney-style sculptures of their namesakes, the Dolphin and Swan Hotels face each other across a covered causeway. Installation of the two, 45-foot wide, 55-foot tall swans, each weighing about 14 tons, required a 400-ton crane. Hotel exteriors are painted a sunwashed coral with bold areas of turquoise superimposed.

That color scheme is continued throughout the interiors with vivid splashes of the coral/turquoise motif accented by reds, blues, greens, browns, purples, lavenders and yellows.

The Dolphin-Swan complex is not just for folks dragging their kids around Disney World. These two hotels are being merchandised as a major conference center with Florida's largest hotel meeting room in the Dolphin, the Hemisphere Ballroom, which, at almost 56-thousand square feet, is only slightly smaller than a football field (including the end zones.) All hotels and resorts on Disney World property have convention exhibition spaces and ballrooms of varying sizes.

THE DOLPHIN Conference Center alone has over 30 meeting rooms and exhibition spaces with a grand total over 200,000 square feet. Clearly Disney staff will be hard at work recruiting conventions. One of their major selling points, of course, will be the many attractions and amusements available for conventioners and their families. In addition to the extensive facilities at Disney World, the surrounding Orlando area boasts many hotels, motels and other accommodations.

Dolphin rooms range from $195 to $285 but travelers should be aware that Standard Forest View rooms (the lowest rate) below the eighth floor view far less forest and far more of the receiving area which gets fairly noisy around 6 a.m. There are less expensive accommodations at Disney World, the Caribbean Beach Resort has rooms for as little as $60.

Although built by ITT & Tishman Realty, the Dolphin is operated by Sheraton and the Swan by Westin. On Disney property, both were built to Disney specifications with the Disney touch everywhere in evidence at though tacky little cards with a finger beckoning in each room for a tip for the maids seemed uncharacteristic of Disney.

OF COURSE ONE fantasy we all share is being well-treated wherever we go. That's the keystone of the Disney "magic," a polite, well-trained staff of engaging largely young people who are available to serve at every turn. Disney World employs a staff of over 32,000 which is pretty hard to imagine, at least until you begin contemplating Disney World's scope.

Its 43-square miles features wandering bands and streets shows, exhibits, amusement parks, restaurants, souvenir and gift shops, nightclubs and resort areas. That takes a lot of personnel. Show-biz fantasy and mystique even appear in their titles. Personnel are called "cast members" rather than employees and patrons or customers are "guests." A great deal of effort is exerted in training staff and instilling the positive attitudes they project.

SINCE SO MANY Michiganders vacation in Florida, Disneyland, The Magic Kingdom and Epcot Center are well-known. But there's also the Hotel Plaza with seven major hotels, the Caribbean Beach Resort, Typhoon Lagoon, Pleasure Island, the Empress Lilly Riverboat, Fort Wilderness Campground Resort, Walt Disney World Village, the Walt Disney World Conference Center, the Palm Golf Course, the Disney Village Marketplace, the AMC Pleasure Island 10 Theatre Complex and the Disney MGM Studio Theme park.

That park, with its recreation of Hollywood Boulevard, the Brown Derby Restaurant and the Chinese Theatre with its Great Movie Ride serve our greatest fantasy, the movies. Those facilities are complemented by numerous movie memorabilia shops and displays.

Since working studios are part of the Disney-MGM facility, visitors are constantly entertained by on-going productions. Following the "Dick Tracy" premiere, interviews with 120 reporters and media critics took place on Sound Stage 2 where the set for the diner in "Dick Tracy" stands. The guided tours continuously pass through during the day, looking down on the proceedings from the glassed-in observation deck two stories above the studio floor.

THE THEATRE of the Stars features, among other shows, five performances each evening of an upbeat musical, "Dick-Tracy Starring in Diamond Double Cross." Calling Dick Tracy is an opportunity for visitors to participate in a short, videotaped, casting session. The Superstar Television Theatre features production of major TV shows.

Whether on a trip through EPCOT Center's futuristic exhibits or fading back into history and imagination in Fort Wilderness or at the numerous exhibits, whether celebrating New Year's Eve every night at Pleasure Island or simply relaxing in the sun, it's easy, albeit fairly expensive at Walt Disney World.

Philly gleams in honor of Franklin

By Roberta Schwartz
special writer

Famed as the home of Rocky Balboa and Ben Franklin, Philadelphia celebrates its heritage of sparkle by giving the most weary traveler a knockout experience.

This year, Philadelphia honors Ben Franklin during the 200th anniversary of his death. The city celebrates throughout the summer with festivals and special events. A tribute entitled "Images of Ben Franklin" is displayed at the Museum of Art until Sept. 16.

Wednesday nights until Labor Day, Electric Picnics named for those Franklin held on the banks of the Schuylkill (Hidden) River keep visitors out past sundown and museums open until 9 p.m. Visitors can pay a late visit to the Please Touch Museum, see the dinosaur exhibit at the Academy of Natural Sciences, and stop at the Franklin Institute.

FRANKLIN COURT, property once owned by Franklin, has now been developed as a museum, theatre, printing office, archaeological exhibit, and the B. Free Franklin Post Office.

The Ben Franklin bus loop through the heart of Philly and museums along the Franklin Parkway, Independence National Historical Park, and Penn's Landing keep the downtown area bustling with model service.

The nearby Free Library owns the desk of novelist Charles Dickens and a huge stuffed raven which inspired Edgar Allan Poe's great poem, "The Raven."

Franklin earned the title of Philadelphia's greatest genius because he was a true original. He was the first to chart the Gulf Stream, start a free library and develop a volunteer fire department.

The facade of the Museum of Art is best known from the film "Rocky" in which Sylvester Stallone runs the great stairs to prepare for his big fight. To most Philadelphians however, the museum is home to the famous "Three Musicians" of Pablo Picasso and the controversial "Nude Descending a Staircase."

THIS YEAR, the Franklin Institute Science Mu-

Off-shore honeymoons make an easy wedding

Iris Sanderson Jones

I went to an engagement party in Farmington Hills this week and the conversation got around, quite naturally, to honeymoons. You've probably noticed that couples don't necessarily get married in June anymore. This one will be a midwinter wedding.

The groom-to-be asked the bride-to-be if she liked the words "ski" or "tropical," "north" or "south." She didn't hesitate with her "tropical!" answer. And in case he didn't get it the first time, she added, "south!"

My husband said, "Sandals!" and a voice in my head said, "How about a canoe?"

Sandals is a couples resort in Jamaica, where you can get married for $250 in season, $150 off-season, if you are a resort guest.

The fee covers cake, champagne, flowers, witnesses, the justice of the peace, a video tape of the wedding and the license. Non-guests pay extra. For more information, call (800) 327-1991.

HOW CAN THEY do that when most weddings cost thousands of dollars? Sandals charges a flat fee for a week's stay, and that fee includes accommodations, meals, drinks and most activities. If you

The Future Center invites visitors to walk through a cell replica, power a solar car or fly over the city in the year 2000.

The Rodin Museum, Philadelphia's smallest but loveliest, contains the largest collection of Francois Auguste Rodin's sculptures outside France. Best of all, every visitor is invited to touch the art. It's great to hold hands with the "Heroes of Calais" sculpture and feel close to the artist.

Franklin comes alive this year in the play, "Franklin's Footsteps" and other events such as walking tours and harmonica concerts.

The annual Steuben Day parade in September includes Franklin, who introduced George Washington to Baron von Steuben, his great ally in the American Revolution.

Some of the most splendid attractions of Philadelphia lie a few miles outside of this huge city. While the British parted in Philadelphia, George Washington and his ragged troops hid in frigid Valley Forge.

THE PETER WENTZ farmstead where Washington planned the battle of Germantown offers plenty of interest to those who are curious about the father of our country. Although he was middle aged, Washington climbed a perilously narrow set of stairs to his room at the top of this Georgian style home. Wentz, a German immigrant, preserved the room as a sort of shrine when many regarded Washington as an upstart at the head of a set of ragamuffins.

For those who like a touch of the elegant and spectacular on their vacations, Longwood Gardens at Kennett Square shows a range of horticultural, performing arts, and holiday activities all year. Flowers, fountains, and fireworks are the stars at Longwood attracting 800,000 visitors annually. It was once the estate of industrialist Pierre Du Pont.

Summer's "Festival of Fountains" presents flowers, roses, and beautifully lighted fountains. Concerts and fireworks set on the shores of lush cool lakes, rushing waterfalls, and flower-filled pools draws appreciative "ashes" from visitors. The 350-acre garden is the ultimate treasure of Brandywine Village.

LESS FORMALLY designed places like Paoli draw 3,000 annual visitors. American artist and craftsman Wharton Esherick is commemorated in his studio garage which has been turned into a superb museum.

Novelist Theodore Dreiser worked on "An American Tragedy" in Esherick's kitchen. English writer Ford Maddox Ford often visited and U.S. novelist Sherwood Anderson stopped by while Esherick carved "A Spiral Pole," one of his abstract sculptures. His small studio near Valley Forge is a stop to be treasured.

Midwinter weddings change tradition invite resort guests to your wedding, the resort has been paid to serve those guests anyway.

The question under discussion at the engagement party was whether the entire family would join the couple at Sandals for the wedding and stay for the week. If so, would the wedding be at the beginning of the week or at the end?

Think about that. You may want your parents, cousins, aunts and friends at your wedding, but do you want them to stay through the honeymoon? That's the fly in the ointment.

As I sat there picturing the scene, with the wedding party near the shoreline, I had total recall about a wedding I attended years ago while staying at a cottage in Algonquin Park in northern Ontario.

THE BRIDE AND groom had both spent their growing-up summers at family cottages in the park, and had met in the park, so they were determined to get married and have their reception in the park. They tied the knot in the nearby village of Huntsville and had the reception at Cache Lake, with cottage friends invited to attend.

The cottages on Cache Lake are only accessible by boat, so when the bride and groom arrived at the landing they were greeted by a barge that was usually used to collect garbage but was redecorated for the occasion. They were towed around the lake, banners flying, and every cottager in the place rushed down to his dock to wave them by.

When the barge arrived at the bride's family dock on an island, the reception began: a corn roast of massive proportions with a generous bar. The only driving anybody had to do was to get back to their own cottage in canoes or small outboards.

IN SPITE OF that, several guests celebrated too much, and fell off the dock into the lake while looking for their cars.

The most memorable moment of the wedding, however, was when the bride and groom left on their honeymoon. They gathered her little brown poodle, climbed into a canoe and paddled off into the wilderness. And believe me, Algonquin Park is wilderness, bears and all.

That may be the best wedding I've attended, although a close second would be the Orthodox Jewish wedding where the groom smashed the glass with his foot and the bride was carried around in a chair a la "Fiddler On the Roof."

IF WE ever decide to retie our knot, I have two places picked out for the honeymoon. South at some resort where we could have a private villa overlooking the sea. Or north to Chateau Montebello, between Ottawa and Montreal in Canada.

The Chateau is a great six-winged, log cabin lodge on 150 square miles of virgin land, where you can be casual during the day and meet the maitre d's stern gaze at night.

And if they have a canoe nearby, who knows?

Summertime means fun . . . and Lyme disease

Summer has arrived and people are spending more and more time outdoors.

For the most part, summertime activities are enjoyable and risk free, but people should be aware of Mother Nature's own dangers.

For example, this is the time of year when people are most susceptible to Lyme disease. The illness is caused by tick bites that can lead to severe arthritis symptoms and a number of other effects.

According to the Michigan chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, people who live, work near or enter wooded or marshy areas are most susceptible to Lyme Disease because the ticks which carry the disease-causing bacteria live in such areas.

Most people who are bitten by an infected tick develop a large, expanding rash around the area of the bite. Rashes vary in size, shape and color, but often look like a red ring with a clear center.

Lyme Disease also can cause problems with the central nervous system, causing meningitis, facial palsy or encephalopathy.

At the onset, signs of Lyme Disease include flu-like symptoms out of season, such as a stiff neck, chills, fever, sore throat, headaches, fatigue and joint pain. And unlike some types of arthritis, the pain seems to move from joint to joint.

SOME PEOPLE who become infected develop more serious problems. An irregular heartbeat may occur, sometimes requiring implantation of a temporary pacemaker.

Lyme Disease also can cause problems with the central nervous system, causing meningitis, facial palsy or encephalopathy.

While people should be on guard against Lyme Disease, people shouldn't become alarmed or paranoid to the point where they're afraid to go outside. By taking the needed precautions against the disease, people can still enjoy their favorite summertime activities.

There are several things people can do to guard against the disease, according to the foundation:

- Wear protective clothing like long skirts or pants with the legs tucked inside of socks.

- Check yourself and your children for ticks. Look closely at the hair, ears, underarms, trunk of the body, groin and back of the knees.

- INSPECT PETS for ticks before letting them indoors. They may carry the ticks into the house, where they may fall off and then bite family members.

• Homeowners can clear away brushy and grassy areas that attract ticks.

If a person feels they or a member of the family may have contracted Lyme Disease, they should see a doctor. Early treatment of Lyme Disease symptoms can prevent the more serious problems that could develop later.

For more information about Lyme Disease, write to the Arthritis Foundation, Michigan Chapter, 23999 Northwestern Highway, Suite 210, Southfield 48075, or call 350-3030.

Nerve, vision pay off

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

First, have the courage to succeed; second, have the vision to recognize the possibility of failure.

That's a blueprint for entrepreneurial success, courtesy of Joel D. Tauber, chairman of Key Manufacturing, Key Plastics and S.G. Keywell in Southfield. Tauber was selected by the accounting firm of Ernst & Young as the 1990 manufacturing entrepreneur of the year.

Tauber, 55, of West Bloomfield might have been a lawyer today if it weren't for a knack for administration — and it's been as an administrator that Tauber has become one of Michigan's more successful entrepreneurs.

Key Manufacturing manufactures fasteners, Key Plastics manufactures automotive products, and S.G. Keywell deals in scrap.

THE ENTREPRENEUR'S success in creating jobs and introducing new products and services often goes unrecognized, said John Boos, the director of entrepreneurial service for the Ernst & Young Detroit office.

"Entrepreneurs are the lifeblood of American business."

The awards are a way of recognizing the entrepreneur's drive, innovation and energy, Boos said.

BEING AN entrepreneur can be invigorating, Tauber said.

"For certain types of individuals,

Joel D. Tauber: "If you do not have failure, you're not taking enough risks."

It is the most satisfying thing you can do — it means being your own boss and measuring your own worth by your success.

"Most entrepreneurs are very confident with a positive self image — but then they have to be. You often go into these things where you can't see the answer."

"Sometimes you fail, but having failed, you learn an awful lot — it makes a better person out of you. If you do not have failure, you're not taking enough risks."

TAUBER'S CAREER has spanned nearly 20 rocky years. He has seen his family-owned company go public in 1979 in a leveraged buyout, and then return to being a private, employee-owned company in 1988. He has weathered the harsh economic climate of the early 1980s, and the boom time of the late 1980s.

Much of his success, he said, can be attributed to his father-in-law, Barney Keywell.

"My father-in-law was the classic entrepreneur. I had that instinct, but I was fortunate enough to see it in someone else who was a role model. He was a superb risk taker."

Keywell was the prototypical entrepreneur — a hands-on, take-

Software tax ruling threatens business

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

All the fancy microchips and circuit boards in that expensive hunk of hardware called a computer are useless without word processing, spreadsheet and data base programs.

And if a ruling by the Michigan State Tax Commission reclassifying software used by businesses as tangible rather than intangible property stands, software will be taxed the same way other tangible property is taxed.

Under an October 1989 ruling, all software — ranging from the $400 word processing programs to customized software programs costing hundreds of thousands of dollars — would be reclassified for the purpose of personal property tax assessments.

The ruling, according to its detractors, would mean a substantial tax increase costing Michigan businesses millions of dollars.

"We think it's unconstitutional because they violated state law in promulgating the ruling," said Steve Young, manager of taxation and regulatory affairs for the Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

The ruling was passed without formal public hearings and legislative oversight, Young said.

"Basically, what we have are a bunch of appointed bureaucrats who answer no one running amok."

Young also questioned whether the ruling, which the chamber considers a tax increase, violates the Headlee amendment to the Michigan Constitution which requires that property tax increases be voted on by the people.

"If this ruling were to stand it's obviously a tax increase."

Young said the state chamber

'This could affect a lot of people in the state.'

— Steve Young
chamber of commerce

filed a lawsuit this spring in Ingham County in hopes of overturning the ruling, but is also anticipating new legislation from state congressmen in the fall.

"We think it's important to pursue every avenue vigorously," Young said. "This could affect a lot of people in the state."

NO HEARING dates have been set for the lawsuit, he said.

Michigan Treasurer Robert Bowman has also asked the tax commission to obtain an opinion from the Michigan Attorney General's office on the reclassification, but as of yet, the commission has not sought a ruling.

Businesses throughout the state are incensed over the ruling, Young said, and have joined the state chamber in pressuring legislators and state administrators to reverse the ruling.

Manufacturing, small business, grocer and retail associations have all voiced opposition to the change and are optimistic the ruling will be reversed, Young said.

In addition to being bad for business and unconstitutional, the reclassification may also be unworkable, said Ann Parker, director of state government affairs for the Greater Detroit chamber of commerce.

Even if the ruling were to stand, collecting the new revenues would be an "administrative nightmare," Parker said.

"How do you determine (the software's) value?" Parker said. "Its retail value? Its value to us? How do you treat customized software?"

It's not unusual for a company to purchase customized software and then modify it to suit its purposes. "What is taxable — the purchase price? How do you assess the customizing work?"

Parker said the best scenario would be for the tax commission to reverse its ruling, but opponents are not counting on that. A more likely occurrence would be for state legislators to reverse the ruling.

"The problem is how to do it," she said. Legislators could rewrite either the general tax code or the intangible tax act, she said, but there is some concern that opening up either to changes could result in other significant changes.

"Legislators don't know if they can risk it or what's the best way to do it," she said. No legislation has been passed or introduced yet, but several legislators are looking at legislation.

Parker said if something is introduced in the fall, the tax ruling could be overturned in time to void the tax increase.

Young of the Michigan chamber said the ruling could be used to essentially put a sales tax on services. For example, a company purchases a $25,000 payroll software program and then spends $2 million on its employees who modify it.

"The policy implications are extremely important," he said.

"Michigan has shown an interest in getting high-tech companies, but this is the wrong way to do it," he said. "These (high-tech) businesses are highly dependent on computers and this tax increase will drive them away, not attract them."

Diffuse power is best

Rick Inatome, founder, chairman, president and chief executive officer of Inacomp Computer Centers is Ernst & Young's retail entrepreneur of the year.

Inatome reported profits of $10.5 million on sales of $351.5 million during the 1988-89 fiscal year.

He launched the business in 1976 with a $35,000 loan from a life insurance policy from his father and investments of up to $2,000 from family friends.

The company, headquartered in Troy, went public with a stock offering in 1984.

Inacomp now provides jobs to nearly 2,500 people either directly as employees or through franchise organizations and joint ventures.

Inatome said he prefers giving his key employees free reign to manage rather than issuing edicts from the top.

"We really define a much more entrepreneurial management structure," he said. "The attitude of the work force has changed. We run a large company out of a lot of small companies. People like to be given a

Service pushed to team players

Florine Mark was so impressed at losing 40 pounds through the Weight Watchers program that she's since become the largest franchisee of Weight Watchers International.

Mark, owner, president and chief executive officer of the WW Group in Farmington Hills, was selected service entrepreneur of the year by Ernst & Young.

"I was fat all my life," Mark said. "I overdosed on diet pills and ended up in the hospital. I heard about this Weight Watchers thing in New York."

"I wanted to give back what they had given me — I couldn't believe I was taking off weight without pills," she said.

Mark conducted her first meeting July 19, 1986. Today, her instructors teach some 1,800 classes weekly in 12 states, Canada and Mexico.

"I manage by team," Mark said. "Everyone buys in and we all manage together. The most important thing is the people who buy the service. Second is the people providing classes."

"The most important thing to me is service, service, service," she said. "They pay us. They deserve to get the best."

Mark is a director for the Boy Scouts, March of Dimes, Detroit Symphony Orchestra and United Jewish Appeal.

Sharpen your sales skills by honing 'natural' style

When a salesperson's planning or persuasive skills need improvement, his or her "natural" selling style must first be identified. This is done by evaluating a series of specific abilities that the salesperson normally demonstrates on the job.

Planning-related abilities to be analyzed include the following: product knowledge, territory or market control, pre-call or pre-selling preparation, time management, and overall planning capabilities.

Evaluation of persuasive abilities is focused in the areas of customer knowledge, the selling and buying process, communication and securing buying action and personal impact.

Based on a model developed by Finn and Staunton, there are several selling styles:

THE "INVOLVE" style of selling sums up a salesperson with a low aptitude for planning and greater persuasive powers. This type of salesperson is disorganized and appears not to have his act together. He depends on charm rather than logic, important product features, and related customer benefits to win sales.

As a result, he often gives inaccurate information, with a majority of his sales either falling through, being revised or resulting in customer dissatisfaction.

A salesperson with "direct" style

shows a tendency to have better planning skills. This creates problems because the salesperson is perceived by customers as being inflexible and impatient when the sales interaction does not progress as planned.

This type of salesperson is also not attuned to his customers' needs and is reluctant to explore product or service-related alternatives when appropriate. Even though he may know everything about the products and services being offered for sale, his approach toward customers is generally cold and impersonal.

THE "INTERMEDIATE" style represents average sales capabilities in both planning and persuasion.

While skills in these areas are developed enough to allow a salesperson to handle himself or herself adequately in most sales situations, he does not possess the qualities to produce outstanding results.

A thorough examination of the planning and persuasive skills listed earlier should indicate which specific abilities require further improvement.

THE MOST desirable style of selling is one that represents the ultimate balance of planning and persuasive power.

A salesperson who functions in the "motivate" style is organized, analytical, well prepared and knowledgeable, determines and understands his customer's needs, communicates well and is oriented toward end results.

When implementing the balance of power approach, sales training can be directed to each salesperson's real needs. Ultimately, it is much more likely to produce the increased sales and profit growth your business strives for.

Mary DiPaolo is the owner of MarkeTrends, a Farmington Hills business consulting firm. She is also producer and host of the cable television series, "Chamber Perspectives."

GM getting premature bum raps on Saturn

I'm not quite sure its time to feel sorry for General Motors, since they seem to toddle along pretty well despite a seemingly unending stream of criticism about virtually every aspect of their operations.

On the other hand, it appears there are quite a few people in the media attempting to cover the launch of GM's new Saturn division like so many poor shooters crouched in duck blinds with feathers tied to their heads, in case you wondered where their sympathies reside.

A particularly silly story recently appeared on the front page of the Detroit Free Press, wherein it was reported that the Saturn doors were sticking in tests in Phoenix. No matter that GM routinely tests plastic parts in Phoenix at temperatures of 250 degrees Fahrenheit — hot enough to do a credible job on a TV dinner. The sticking parts were supposed to be delaying the Saturn launch.

Not to worry, by the next issue, the engineering job was completed in less than 24 hours and the doors were fixed; at least that was what the Free Press would have you believe. Or maybe the second story that declared the doors were fixed was supposed to be some kind of correction.

Anyway, a company that can fix up doors in less than a day now becomes the target of a front-page story in the Wall Street Journal that says that they are too slow. Not only too slow, the Saturn car is compared unfavorably with the speedy efforts of Japanese automaker Honda to set up manufacturing in the U.S. The conclusion of the writers is that Saturn is expensive, slow to get started, and not making its original goals. The irony to the Journal piece is that even the facts as related in the story don't support the conclusions. The Journal reports the cost of building the Saturn plant is $1.9 billion, compared to the $2 billion spent by Honda, yet insists the GM expenditure is "enormous," compared to Honda's, and GM hasn't beat the Japanese on cost. While it's difficult to change your mind when its already made up, the Journal might start by reading its own figures.

Even more curious is the notion that the Saturn plant is slow getting built. Much of this confusion starts from a research project GM launched in the late 1980s to study high-tech manufacturing. Dubbed the "Saturn Project," it led to a press conference in 1983 where Chairman Roger Smith announced that GM's research would eventually lead to development of a small car, competitive with the Japanese. I may have been the only one at the press conference who asked Chairman Roger "Which Japanese car?" since he answered "the Honda Accord," not some mythical ultra-cheap small car, as frequently reported. At the time, the Accord was smaller than a Ford Tempo and selling for more money than a mid-size Buick, while GM's cheapest car (the Chevette) was less than $5,000. I left thinking the guy was awfully bright to see the handwriting on the wall about the importance of the Honda — since by GM standards at the time it scarcely seemed much of a threat.

That press conference was already about two years after Honda had begun building cars in the U.S., after they spent about four years real estate shopping and a trial run at motorcycle engines. The bean-counters at GM did, in fact, twiddle their fingers for nearly two years before the Saturn Corp. company was formed and the corporate decision was made to fund and build a Saturn car and manufacturing complex.

Five years later, according to the Journal's own calendar of events, Saturn was ready to build the car, transmission, and engine, as well as launch a new dealer network to sell the thing.

According to the same calendar, the Journal published with the article, Honda took ten years to accomplish the same thing, albeit it did it a piece at a time, starting with the motorcycles, then cars, then engines, then lawnmowers. The completion of a full-scale U.S. manufacturing complex is ending in a dead heat. Honda only began building transmissions (which Saturn will do at the launch) late last year. Today, Honda still builds more than 25 percent of the content of its U.S. assembled cars in Japan.

Regardless, the Journal writers conclude that "Honda, once it got started, moved faster." In fact, Honda started at least five years earlier than Saturn and will finish behind it — at least in finally building a Honda that qualifies as fully manufactured in the U.S.

That's not to say Honda was being unwise. It clearly has been paying its way as it goes, building revenue in bits and pieces and offsetting what today are substantially higher wages in the U.S.

But the fact is that the Saturn car, plant and dealer infrastructure has set some kind of speed record in building a ground-up car operation the likes of which may be unique in the world car business.

Courage and vision are keys to business success charge guy who loved his business and worked constantly to improve it, Tauber said.

SEVERAL OF Keywell's simple philosophies remain with him today. "Things like make a little every day, but don't try to make a killing."

But perhaps the most important thing his father-in-law told him was this: "What would you do if you fail? Don't be afraid to take risks, but know and understand the downside of risk in any transaction and plan for it," Tauber said.

"A lot of companies focus on the up side of a risk and although they (recognize the possibility of failure) they don't plan for it. That isn't to say you should plan for failure, but beware of failure and know what to do if it happens."

AFTER WORKING with his father-in-law for more than a decade, it was time for a change in 1979. Barney Keywell, now 77, saw his company grow from a $20 million to a $70 million company and wished to retire.

By borrowing on the company's assets — in what is today known as a leveraged buyout — Tauber formed

Key International Manufacturing and became president.

"That's when we really took off." Despite its successes, the recession of the early 1980s was a difficult time for him, Tauber said. The company grew, but the effort and time that went into that growth took him away from his family and other interests.

BECAUSE OF this — and because Tauber believes that pride is one of the greatest motivators — Key International reverted to a private, employee-owned organization through another leveraged buyout in 1986.

"Why do people succeed? You can give them a 100-percent bonus, but that's not the same as being part owner. I've always believed that the best motivator is to allow people to benefit from their work."

The switch back to a privately owned company has borne fruit, with the three companies pulling in nearly $500 million last year.

TAUBER'S ROLE is more removed than when the company was publicly owned.

"Those people (the owners) really run the group."

Today his role is more general supervision of the three companies, offering suggestions, assisting in setting goals and monitoring each company's success.

"That's my favorite part — it sounds corny — but I like watching things get done through people."

"Right now, we're involved in a joint venture with a Japanese firm — if this were back in the public days, I would be going out and meeting with the people personally, traveling all over and working directly on all the details — now others do that."

"It's certainly less stressful now."

WITHOUT THE daily hassles of running an international manufacturing corporation, Tauber has more time to spend with his wife, Shelley, and five children and his philanthropic and political pursuits.

Bridges, old barns are home to these birds

AS I WALKED the trails at Heritage Park in Farmington Hills a couple of weeks ago, I was pleased to see an eastern phoebe. Back in early spring I had seen one in the same area and I was hopeful that it would take up residency. Sure enough, it did.

Phoebes represent one of nine species of flycatchers found in southeastern Michigan. They are one of the earliest avian spring arrivals nature

Timothy Nowicki

to our area. Though they are not one of the most colorful flycatchers, two behaviolar characteristics help to identify this species.

A peculiar tail-bobbing habit helps separate this species from its similar-looking cousin, the eastern pewee.

THE OTHER habit that helps to identify phoebes is their selection of nest sites.

Since the arrival of manmade structures such as barns, farmhouses and bridges, phoebes have adapted to these artificial structures in lieu of natural sites.

At Heritage Park, the phoebe had a nest under the bridge constructed over the river.

Many country roads throughout the state have bridges with frame-work construction that provides suitable places for both barn swallows and phoebes.

ONCE A site is established, birds will continue to return to that site for several years. They will either build a new nest, or occasionally just improve the old structure.

My college adviser and longtime friend, Dr. Nicholas Cuthbert, has had a phoebe nesting over his front door practically every year since 1958.

It may seem unusual for a bird to be so close to human disturbance, but phoebes do not seem to mind it.

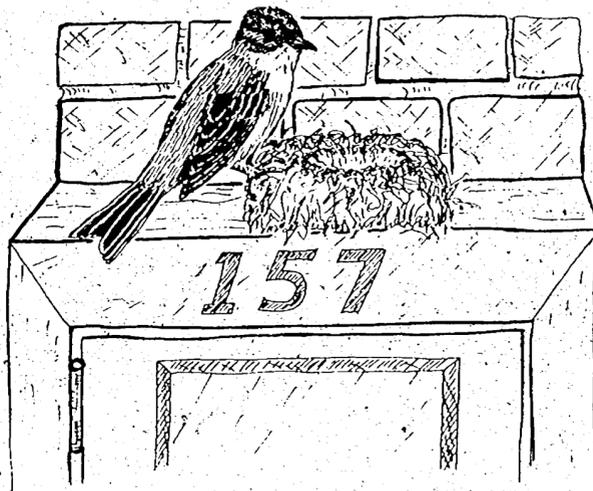

One report documents an unusual nest site inside a farmhouse.

An adult bird entered the farmhouse through a broken downstairs window. It then flew from the living room to a front hall, and then, by an abrupt turn, flew to an upper hall by way of a stairway.

Once on the second floor, it flew into a bedroom, where it was building a nest on a cloths rack.

Some species of animals are able to adapt and take advantage of new environments, while others cannot. Preserving green spaces and a variety of habitats will provide opportunities for those species that cannot.

Tim Nowicki is a naturalist at Independence Oaks County Park in Oakland County. He lives in Livonia.

Phoebe is their name and making nests in man made areas is their game. The fly catching birds are among Michigan's early spring arrivals. Not one of the most colorful birds, they are best distinguished by behavioral characteristics.

Successful recycling a three-step process

The recycling symbol's familiar three arrows may be more important than you realize. The three arrows represent collection, processing and reuse — the three elements that must balance for recycling to be successful.

Because collection is the first step, most recycling programs have directed their efforts at establishing sound, dependable collection. Their plan has worked, almost too well. As many recycling programs have discovered, the current markets are not usually sufficient to handle the volume of materials currently being collected for recycling. We must begin to build these markets.

The 1990s are being proclaimed the "decade of the environment." Individuals and businesses throughout the country are participating in recycling and conservation programs. If these programs are to continue to be successful, individuals, businesses and organizations must take a leadership role in creating markets for recycled products.

The first step in establishing these markets is to request, buy and use recycled products — both at home and at work.

The next step is to encourage governments and businesses to buy recycled products and establish ongoing procurement programs for recycled products.

In the past finding information about suppliers of recycled products was difficult. This information has become more readily available.

RECYCLED PRODUCTS GUIDE: The American Recycling Market,

Inc. published the first "Official Recycled Products Guide" in 1989 which listed product suppliers and vendors. This guide may be purchased or may be borrowed from local libraries, university libraries or local government purchasing departments or solid waste management offices. If you can't buy or borrow a copy, call the American Recycling Market at 1-800-267-0707 for the nearest source.

EPA PROCUREMENT HOTLINE: The hotline has information about recycled products suppliers and vendors that meet the EPA standards for paper, oil, insulation products and retreaded tires. The hotline number is (703) 941-4452.

LOCAL SUPPLIERS: Many local suppliers may already carry a supply of recycled products. Seaman-Patrick Paper in Detroit and their Paper & Graphics outlet stores carry a whole line of recycled paper and have sample books. Check the yellow pages for the nearest location.

Governments significantly impact the marketplace, both in terms of purchasing quantity and by encouraging the private sector to buy recycled products whenever possible.

The Michigan Legislature enacted PA 412 in 1988. This law amends the Management and Budget Act by requiring that all paper products purchased by the state be recycled if the cost does not exceed 110 percent of the non-recycled price. It also states that by 1991, 50 percent of the state's total paper purchases must be recycled paper.

Encouraging the purchase of recycled products begins with getting yourself involved. Set an example with your own purchasing practices. Then share your ideas with family, friends and community groups. Learn whether and to what extent your local and county governments are currently purchasing recycled products. Commend them for any positive efforts. If they're not using any recycled products, express your desire for them to begin purchasing recycled products by calling, writing, and meeting with the mayor, county executive, city council, and solid waste officials.

The Consumer Mailbag answers your questions. Address mail to The Consumer Mailbag, Concern Detroit, One Kennedy Square — 4th Floor, Detroit, MI 48226.

New jobs are added

Michigan's state and local economic developers have secured more than 500 new manufacturing investments totaling $3.3 billion, retaining and creating more than 48,000 jobs in the past 18 months, state Commerce Director Larry Meyer announced today.

"State government's partnership with Community Growth Alliances, our local economic developers, is paying off for Michigan's workers, even as the state copes with the effects of a national economic slowdown," Meyer said.

The 39 CGAs are local partnerships of public-private leaders working for the development future of their communities, he said. CGAs are organized and governed at the local level, supported with $4.5 million from the Commerce Department.

Please Help A Neighbor's Child In Need!

In Third World countries, hundreds of thousands of children are in desperate need of food, clothing, medical care — the basics of life. These girls and boys are even denied the opportunity to attend school.

They are our neighbors in a world that grows smaller every day.

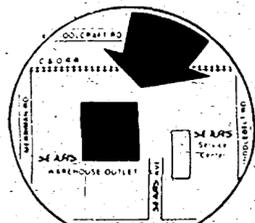

Through CCF, you can sponsor a neighbor's child. The cost is $18 a month — just 60¢ a day — to help a poor child in Asia, Africa or Latin America — a child who has virtually nothing.

Please pick up your phone now and dial the toll-free number below. Be a good neighbor by helping an innocent child.

UNFORTUNATELY, THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART REALLY IS THROUGH HIS STOMACH.

While your cooking was supposed to help you win someone's heart, it may also help you destroy it.

Because a diet that's too high in fat may increase the risk of heart disease as well as certain kinds of cancer.

Fortunately, you can help reduce your risk simply by eating a low-fat diet containing lots of fruits and vegetables, whole grain foods, lean meats, fish, poultry and low-fat dairy products.

Ann Reinking is a proud new mom

Dancer costars in musical coming to Meadow Brook

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

Dancer-actress Ann Reinking has had a dazzling career in Broadway shows and Hollywood movies but her proudest achievement is giving birth to a baby son, Christopher.

"He will be six months old July 9, on opening night at the Mundy," she said in a phone interview Friday at her hotel in St. Louis. Reinking, along with Tommy Tune and Alan Sues were in rehearsal for the Monday opening of the musical hit "Bye Bye Birdie."

After the run at the Mundy (Municipal Theatre Association of St. Louis), the show will come to the outdoor Meadow Brook Music Festival. "Bye Bye Birdie" will open Tuesday at Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus in Rochester Hills. Performances continue through Saturday, July 21.

Showtime is 8 p.m. each night, plus matinees at 2 p.m. Wednesday and Saturday. Ticket prices range from $10-$15 for the lawn and $17-$27.50 for the pavilion, depending upon performance.

REINKING SAID she and Tommy Tune have done a couple of television shows together, and they were delighted when the "Bye Bye Birdie" project was offered to them. "We wanted to work together again," she said.

In the show, Reinking plays the role Chita Rivera originated of Rosie, the girlfriend and secretary to Albert, played by Tune, whose role was originally played by Dick Van Dyke. Alan Sues plays Mr. McAfee, the Paul Lynde role.

"We have a company that writes music for Conrad Birdie, a Presley-type character. He's being inducted into the army," she said, in a refresher of the plotline. As the story goes, a fan is selected at random to get a kiss from Presley on the "Ed Sullivan Show." Reinking and Tune find themselves in Sweet Apple, Ohio, "Where all hades breaks loose."

'I've been trying to have a baby for a long time. Motherhood is one of the best things in the world.'

— Ann Reinking

"It has a sweetness and dearness to it," Reinking said of the longtime, popular musical comedy.

Reinking's biggest dance number comes in the second act when she gives up on Albert and sees the Shriners. "It's a really crazy, rather comedic dance number," she said of "The Shriners Ballet," originally choreographed by Gower Champion.

SHE DESCRIBES herself as very athletic but said that dance routine is very tiring. "A lot takes place under the table that the audience shouldn't see. The timing has to be just right."

Originally from Seattle, Wash., Reinking said she has a little cottage in the Seattle area for vacations. Her home now is in the Tampa area of Florida, where her husband lives. She also has a New York apartment.

Reinking's husband is putting together the finishing touches on a Florida aquarium. "They haven't broken ground yet," she said.

Their baby son is at the stage of development where, "He can squirm now," she said with pleasure. "I have a wonderful friend who is helping me. She raised two children, and is taking on a herculean responsibility."

"Christopher is just the best thing ever. I've been trying to have a baby for a long time. Motherhood is one of the best things in the world."

SHE TAKES HER parenting responsibilities seriously. "Singing and dancing is a whole lot easier," Reinking said. Her husband is a widower, and she also has an 11-year-old stepdaughter. "I'm totally responsible for two little lives."

"I called my mother, who has seven children, and I said, in all honesty, 'You're brilliant.'"

Reinking first began dancing at the age of 11. She studied with the San Francisco Ballet and Robert Joffrey Ballet in New York. "Ballet was my first love," she said. "I had done a lot of amateur work in Seattle and had one foot doing ballet, one doing musical comedy."

Joffrey told her, "You could be a ballet dancer. You have the ability, but I think you would be much more happy if you went into musicals." Her first Broadway show was in the chorus of "Cabaret," her first Broadway starring role in "Over Here," followed by co-starring with Joel Grey in "Good Time Charley" (both got Tony nominations).

Then she went into "A Chorus Line" and "Chicago," both on Broadway. She has worked with such great choreographers as Bob Fosse, Michael Bennett and Agnes DeMille. Other shows include "Dancin'" and "Sweet Charity."

In movies, she played Daddy Warbucks' secretary in "Annie," co-starred with Dudley Moore in "Mickey and Maude" and performed in "All That Jazz" and "Movie, Movie."

IN "BYE BYE Birdie," Reinking, who is 5 feet 6, dances with Tune, who is 6 feet 6½-inches tall. "I have long legs and Tommy has long legs, so there's that leggy look," she said. "I love dancing with him. I feel a sort of symbiotic relationship with him."

'I have long legs and Tommy has long legs, so there's that leggy look. I love dancing with him. I feel a sort of symbiotic relationship with him.'

— Ann Reinking

Tommy Tune and Ann Reinking, who have appeared together on TV shows, share the Meadow Brook Music Festival stage at Baldwin Pavilion in the Broadway hit "Bye Bye Birdie."

You could sit for hours, on a lazy summer day, watching the little boats go in and out of the harbors and marinas in Essex County just outside Windsor. . . dozens of them everywhere. You'll see cruisers making their way to the upper lakes, rowboats, dinghies, luxurious motor yachts, fast speedboats and sleek racing sloops. Relax and enjoy yourself.

On your way home from Canada, stop and shop at the Canada Duty Free Shop. Choose from a large selection of quality merchandise such as Polo, Opium, Oscar, Shalimar and Samsara perfumes, Fendi Swiss watches, Italian gold jewelry, and handbags by Gucci, Fendi and Christian Dior. Also save on your favorite Canadian beers, liquor and tobacco products. Keep right after paying toll at Windsor Tunnel on Canadian side. Call (313) 961-0045.

It's "the place that invented the Canadian sunset": Leamington Dock Restaurant, only 10 minutes from Point Pelee. Your view from the dining room includes the horizon of Lake Erie, a beautiful marina and a mile-long crescent beach. Enjoy informal fine dining from the kitchen of Chef Pimblett: fresh perch, pickerel, salt-water fish flown in daily, and more. Dinner Theatre on weekends. For reservations call (519) 376-2697 or (519) 322-2506 (theatre).

Take off for the Compri, and it takes off for you. It takes 33% off your room rate, so you can stay downtown in Windsor's newest waterfront hotel from as little as $60 U.S. per couple, and that includes a full breakfast. This summer, take off and save at the Compri Windsor. For full details and reservations, call (519) 977-9777 or 1-800-4-COMPRI.

There's something about summertime that draws people to beaches. If there are none where you live, Windsor will be happy to share its beaches. There are 25 of them throughout Essex County, on Lake St. Clair and Lake Erie — each one highly recommended for watching the waves roll in or wiggling your toes in the sand.

You probably can't buy the fashions of Toronto and Montreal, Europe and the British Isles in your neighborhood, but you can in this one: downtown Windsor. With tasteful, distinctive fashions available nowhere else. Not to mention jewelry, furs, sporting goods, books, records, etc. For information on shopping in downtown Windsor, call (519) 252-5723.

Two Windsors to visit.

City. Or country. It's not an easy choice. Urban Windsor is a lively, bustling place. With every kind of entertainment, from rock & roll to jazz and the classics. With a dizzying variety of great restaurants, and shopping for things not available elsewhere. Or, you can sightsee along 100 miles of waterfront. Walk on the beach. Hike in the woods. Have a picnic. And see why two Windsors give you twice as much enjoyment. Call toll free to receive your Visitors Kit and enter the Win a Windsor Weekend drawing. 1-800-265-3633.

a new print of the film made from the original. The print will go on tour after its run at The Fox.

Showtimes for "Ben-Hur" are 2 and 7:15 p.m. Tuesday-Sunday. Doors open at 12:30 and 6 p.m. Tickets at $10 may be bought through showtime at the Fox ticket window, and in advance at the box office and Ticketmaster.

Running time for "Ben-Hur" is 217 minutes with a 15-minute intermission. For more information, call 567-6000.

● FOX THEATRE

The Fox Theatre will present two Broadway musicals late this summer.

Topol will star as Teyve the dairy farmer in an encore presentation of "Fiddler on the Roof" Tuesday-Saturday, Aug. 7-11.

Then, Tuesday-Sunday, Sept. 4-9, the Fox will host "West Side Story," Jerome Robbins and Leonard Bernstein's musical drama. Two young stars, Peter Gantenbein (Marius in the long-running Los Angeles production of "Les Miserables") and Betsy True (Cosette, Eponine in the national tour of "Les Miz"), will play the lovers Tony and Maria.

Tickets for both productions are on sale at the Fox Theatre box office (open 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.), the Joe Louis Arena box office (open 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.) and all Ticketmaster outlets. For general information, call 567-6000.

● PATIO JAZZ

The Ann Arbor Hilton (formerly the Berkshire Hilton) announces "Jazz on the Patio," a new music series running through the remainder of the summer.

Music will be presented on the Polo Club terrace Friday and Saturday evenings at the Ann Arbor Hilton. Jazz on the Patio will present jazz and blues musicians of southeastern Michigan.

The Bill Heid Trio will perform Friday-Saturday, July 13-14. The Ann Arbor-based quartet, the Cat's Meow, featuring Gail Baker, will perform Friday-Saturday, July 20-21.

Music will be presented outdoors (indoors during rain) 5:30 p.m. to midnight Fridays; 8 p.m. to midnight Saturdays. There is no admission charge.

● CONCERT SERIES

"Jazz to the Hill" summer concert series has resumed. The Chick Corea Electric Band, scheduled Wednesday, July 25, has canceled its appearance. Refunds for Chick Corea tickets will be made at point of purchase. A replacement act will be announced soon.

Sets will begin at 7 and 8:30 p.m.

(both are included in the price of admission). Jazz to the Hill is a Wednesday night concert series featuring acts from around the country.

Artists scheduled to appear include Stanley Jordan, Tim Weisberg and Don Grusin. Tickets are available at the Troy Hilton and at all Ticketmaster locations.

General admission is $10; $12 at the door. Reserved seats are $15; $17 at the door. For more information, call 583-9000.

will be presented when Little Anthony and the Shirelles share the stage at 8 p.m. Saturday, July 14, at the Power Center in Ann Arbor.

Tickets to Little Anthony and the Shirelles, as well as other 1990 Ann Arbor Summer Festival events, are available at the Michigan Union ticket office in Ann Arbor and at all Ticketmaster outlets, including Hudson's and Harmony House locations.

Tickets may also be bought over the phone by calling 763-TKTS.

● SINGERS/DANCERS

Moloney Productions Inc. has immediate openings for dancers who sing and singers who dance for a Las Vegas revue on Sea Escape Cruise Lines.

Auditions are daily. Those auditioning should bring music, cassette, photo and resume. For further information, contact Celia Stockton, Moloney Productions Inc. in Auburn Hills, 373-4410.

Moloney Productions assembles performances for cruise ships, theme parks, fairs, festivals and touring ensembles.

What's an advertiser to do?

1. Trust the right numbers:

The Detroit News and Free Press' own figures show suburban circulation of both the dailies and Sunday newspaper is down.

At the same time, SPRING's network of 39 Detroit suburban newspapers offers a solid, stable circulation of 530,000. (That represents more than one million readers!) What's more, all SPRING newspapers are audited by either ABC or CAC.

2. Put your money where it counts.

Even using the DNAs un-audited figures, SPRING delivers Detroit's suburban market at a lower cost per inch and a lower cost per thousand than either the News or the Free Press.

In short, your advertising dollar will pack a bigger punch when you place your ad in SPRING!

3. Switch to SPRING.

Lower your cost per ad. Drop your cost per thousand. Hit your budget. And reach the suburban buyers you want to reach.

Put more SPRING in your next media buy.

SUBURBAN DETROIT NEWSPAPER NETWORK

One call. One order. One ad. One million readers. One heck-of-a-buy.

Don Massey Cadillac

"#1 LEASING CADILLAC DEALER IN THE WORLD"

"Now, there's a new Cadillac in your future"

a month/36 months*

It's a great time to improve your driving. Because you can get a 36-month lease on a new Sedan de Ville—America's most spacious front-drive sedan—for just $398 a month.

Up to a $2,000 cash bonus. You can receive a $2,000 cash bonus direct from Cadillac when you purchase a new Cadillac Seville or Eldorado. Or a $1,500 cash bonus direct from Cadillac on a new Cadillac Fleetwood, De Ville or Brougham. See your dealer for details.

Whichever of these Cadillacs you choose, your investment is protected by 24-hour Cadillac Roadside Service® and backed by Cadillac's 4-year/50,000-mile Gold Key Bumper to Bumper Warranty.

But act promptly. Because the selection of these luxurious Cadillacs continues to diminish. And you don't have to be Arnold Palmer to appreciate outstanding drives like these.

*You must take retail delivery out of dealer stock. Tax, license, title fees and insurance extra. Mileage charge of 10 cents per mile over 45,000. Payments may be slightly higher in Alabama, Arkansas and Texas. Lessee pays for excessive wear and use. GMAC must approve lease. Example - Sedan de Ville. $29,635 MSRP. Includes destination charge. Total of monthly payments is $14,328. First month's lease payment, $400 refundable security deposit, $6,450 dealer/customer capital cost reduction for a total of $7,248 due at lease signing.
Option to purchase at lease end for $13,040. Purchase option price is fixed at lease signing and varies by vehicle model. equipment level, usage and length of lease. See your participating dealer for qualification details.
See your dealer for terms of this limited warranty.

Wolverine crowns 12 champions

Under 19 Hawks write familiar script with win

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Winning the Wolverine XI Soccer Tournament has become old hat for Livonia Hawks coach Paul Dugan.

"I've been to all 11 tournaments and I think this is my seventh winner," said Dugan, whose team won another title, the Under 19 Girls, with a 3-0 victory over the Cosmos '71 of Westerville, Ohio.

Twelve different age-group titles were claimed last weekend as 152 teams converged upon Schoolcraft College for three-day tournament. The finals coincided with the World Cup final Sunday in Rome, Italy. The event was sponsored by Ford Motor Co. in conjunction with the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association.

Dugan's team, MSYSA state champion, used the Wolverine as a tuneup for next weekend's Region II Championships in Kalamazoo.

"This team has a lot of talent, it's my job to get them pumped up and their minds focused," said the veteran coach.

Scoring for the Hawks on Sunday were Plymouth Salem High's Michele Minton; Dugan's daughter Julie, who plays at Farmington; and East Lansing's Carle Thomas, headed for the University of North Carolina.

"WE HAVE a good opportunity to perform well this weekend," Dugan said. "If we stay healthy and have a little luck, we'll be OK."

The Region II tourney could be the last for some of Dugan's top players including Farmington High's Carrie Maier (headed for the University of Wisconsin), Farmington's Amy Trunk (going to Massachusetts) and Bloomfield Hills' Margaret Kopmeyer.

WOLVERINE XI SOCCER TOURNAMENT RESULTS BOYS CHAMPIONSHIP FINALS

Under 11: Canton Hornets 4, '79 Birmingham Blazers 1.
Under 12: Sarnia (Ontario) Bluewater Bandits 3, Livonia Wings 2 (shootout).
Under 13: Livonia Wings 1, Spirit of '77 0.
Under 14: Wolves '76 1, Mount Clemens Sport Club 2-0 (2 overtimes).
Under 15: Michigan Wolves '75 2, Canton Tifans '75 1 (shootout).
Under 16: Vardar III '74 5, Ulica Stang 1.
Under 17: Capital Area Cosmos 2, Kalamazoo TKO 1 (shootout).
Under 19: Sylvania (Ohio) Pacesetters 1, Vardar 0.

GIRLS CHAMPIONSHIP FINALS

Under 12: '78 Michigan Hawks 2, Beechmont (Ohio) Rowdies 1.
Under 14: Columbus (Ohio) CESA Blue Streaks 3, Livonia Youth Soccer Club United 2.
Under 16: Plymouth-Canton Lightning 2, Michigan Hawks 0.
Under 19: Livonia Hawks 3, Westerville, Ohio Cosmos '71 0.

"It's always good to see them go on and play in college," Dugan said.

As for the Under 19 Boys final, Vardar III '72, featuring several players and former All-Observer present, won't wave any good-byes soon to Pacesetters of Sylvania, Ohio, who won the title with a 1-0 upset victory.

Findlay native A.J. Siebeneck, a member of the regional squad who is headed this fall for Duke, ruled Vardar III's hopes with a goal midway through the second half.

He slipped behind a wall of Vardar III defenders to beat keeper

Mike Sheehy of Farmington High, who had no chance on the play.

"WE PLAYED them in their regional and we've been their nemesis for a long time," said Pacesetters coach Brian Cairns, who formed the team seven years ago. "We've been coming here the last two or three years and obviously this is real sweet because it's the last time they'll be together, just a great win for them."

Backup goalie Scott Rehklau, a junior at Sylvania Northview High, held Vardar III at bay to earn the shutout.

Vardar III featured several Observer standouts including Brian Thiel, freshman MVP at Valparaiso (Ind.) University; Derek Willford, a freshman at Oakland University from Livonia; Steven Joff Gold, Plymouth Salem High; and Brady Ericson, Livonia Churchill.

In the Under 16 Girls championship, the Lightning, a team comprised primarily of players from the Plymouth-Canton area, scored a 2-0 victory over the Michigan Hawks.

Coach Frank Carey's Lightning won five straight, outscoring their opponents by a combined total of 20-2.

Leah Hutko (Canton) led the Lightning tournament effort with seven goals, while keeper Jennifer Emmett posted three shutouts. Defensively, Shelby Carey paced the effort along with midfielder Kris Goff, both of Salem High.

IT WAS THE FIRST tournament appearance for Lightning since the high school season ended. The Lightning won two tournaments last season and finished second in last year's Wolverine.

The Lightning will go after their second tournament title next month in Sarnia, Ontario.

The Under 15 Boys championship went to the Livonia-based Michigan Wolves '75, coached by Bruce Thomas and Dan O'Shea.

The Wolves '75 won in a shootout, defeating the Canton Titans '75, 2-1.

Benly Cesa, Adam Schomer, Jeff Thomas and Anthony Verrino scored during the shootout. Clayton Campbell scored in regulation.

The Wolves '75 are also headed this weekend for Kalamazoo in search of a Region II title.

Also going to Kalamazoo are the Wolves '76, coached by Paul Scicluna.

The Wolves defeated Sportclub 24 of Mount Clemens in the second overtime, 1-0, as Seamus Rustin tallied the game-winner from Keny Perlin.

Goalie Alan Placek earned the shutout for the Wolves '76, considered one of the favorites to win the Region II tourney.

"We've got a very good shot if we get our striker (Adam Schomer) back," said Scicluna, whose team finished second last April in the prestigious Dallas Cup. (Schomer was injured during the Wolverine.) "If we win our first (against Minnesota), we've got a very good shot."

ANOTHER TEAM that has enjoyed immense success over the years is the Livonia Youth Soccer Club Wings, which captured the Under 13 Boys title with a 1-0 victory over the Dearborn Heights Spirit of '77, coached by the University of Detroit's Louis Stankovich.

Ten minutes into the second half, Jeff Babinski scored on a free kick from 20 yards out to provide the final margin of victory.

It was the second Wolverine title in three years for coach Rick Hammers' squad. Last year they finished second in the 12-state regional in Nebraska. This season, the Wings won their division in the Little Caesars Premier League with an 8-1-1 record.

In the Under 11 Boys Division, the Canton Hornets, coached by Phil LaJoy, bounced back from opening round loss to win five straight and the title, including a 4-1 triumph over the '79 Blazers of Birmingham for the championship.

The Hornets took their division in the Little Caesars circuit and recently captured an age-group tourney in Arlington Heights, Ill.

Winning may also become old hat for the young Hornets. See tournament results.

Heavenly Mile group adds Angel Cordero

By Brad Emons
staff writer

The horses are always the attraction, but this year's 42nd running of the $300,000-guaranteed Michigan Mile will feature one of the leading jockeys of all-time, Angel Cordero, Jr.

Cordero will be aboard Opening Verse, the pre-race favorite. Post time for the state's richest thoroughbred event, which is shaping up to be a speed race, is 5:10 p.m. at Ladbroke DRC in Livonia.

In his 30th season of riding, Cordero has scored 6,674 career victories (through July 1), placing him third on the all-time list of North America's leading jockeys behind only Bill Shoemaker and Laffit Pincay, Jr. His mounts have earned him in excess of $149 million.

He has ridden in four previous Michigan Miles, winning the race with Favorecidian in 1972. The Santurce, Puerto Rico native finished fifth on favored Everton II in 1974.

THE 47-YEAR-OLD Cordero has taken the mount of three Kentucky Derby winners, a pair of Preaknesses and one Belmont Stakes.

He was the nation's leading jockey, money-wise, in 1976, 1982 and '83.

Assigned a high weight of 122 pounds, the four-year-old colt is owned by airplane manufacturing magnate Allen Paulson.

Opening Verse, trained by Richard Lundy, was third in last month's Hollywood Gold Cup to Criminal Type and 1989 Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner Sunday Silence (also Horse of the Year).

Earlier this season, Opening Verse won the Grade II Razorback Handicap and the Grade I Oaklawn Handicap, both at Oaklawn Park.

Opening Verse will try to avoid the "Michigan Mile Jinx" where 14 horses have been victorious at odds of higher than 10-to-1.

Last year's winner, Present Value, paid $100.00.

The biggest test for Opening Verse in this Grade III race should be Clever Trevor, assigned the second high weight of 121.

CLEVER TREVOR is unbeaten in two starts, both coming at Chicago's Arlington International Race Course. Trainer Donnie Van Hemel was a wire-to-wire winner in each effort.

Early speed promises to be a major factor in this year's DRC featured event. Clever Trevor also won wire-to-wire in the St. Paul Derby last year at Minnesota's Canterbury Downs, equalling the track record for the mile and one-eighth in 1:48.0, the exact distance of the Michigan Mile.

(The Michigan Mile record of 1:47.2 is shared by 1969 winner Calandrito and 1970 champ Fast Hilarious.)

Don Pettinger will ride Clever Trevor, which won last year's Arlington Classic by nine lengths against Grade I speed. In his next outing, the Travers Stakes at Saratoga, Clever Trevor led most of the way before finishing three lengths behind Easy Goer.

Another candidate is Western Playboy, ridden by Randy Romero, who was aboard 1988 Michigan Mile champ Ends Well.

Romero is no slouch as a jockey, accumulating 3,600 career wins. Western Playboy was one of the top three-year-olds last year and has placed in four of six races this year as a four-year-old.

Other entries to watch:

- Triteamtri (114), also coming from Arlington, who won a one-mile allowance race there in his most recent run on July 4. Triteamtri's final time (1:33.2) was just one second off the track and world record for the distance set by Dr. Fager in 1968.

- Tour d'Or (115), who owns a share of the track record for one and one-sixth (1:40.4) at Belmont Park in New York. He was a four-length winner of an allowance event last month at Ladbroke.

- Beau Genius (116), saddled and based at DRC by leading trainer Gerry Bennett, has already won short springs this season at Gulfstream, Churchill Downs and Arlington.

A longshot to run the Mile is Charlie Barley, a turf horse who has been running at Woodbine in Toronto. But it is doubtful Charlie Barley will cross the border with a $500,000 turf race coming up in Atlantic City, N.J.

DRC's gates open at 11:30 a.m. with the first of 12 races beginning at 1 p.m. Grandstand admission is $2.50. A 27-inch TV set will be given away, along with other prizes, including free passes and free hats and visors to the first 10,000 admissions.

Three other stakes events will complement the Mile, each contested for a purse of $25,000-added. The Mile itself will be simulcast to more than 40 out-of-state outlets throughout the country.

Lee Tappy of Duffy's Plumbing and the Livonia Collegiate All-Stars goes down at home plate in the third inning as the ball grazed his neck during Tuesday's clash against the Detroit Adray League All-Stars at Tiger Stadium. Livonia rallied, but fell short in the ninth inning, 8-7.

Livonia rally falls short

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Making history can test reserves of discipline and determination. Repeating history multiplies the challenge.

The Livonia Collegiate Baseball League all-stars have discovered how difficult the latter task can be. They made history when they blanked their Detroit Adray League counterparts 4-0 in 1987, the first time in 10 meetings the LCBL stars had bested those from the Adray circuit in the annual affair. The next two years, they didn't come close to repeating; they were routed 10-2 in '88 and 16-2 last summer.

With the memory of those defeats much fresher than LCBL's only win, it was no surprise that Dave Racer, coach of Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury and the LCBL stars, had another goal targeted for his team when they met the Adray team Tuesday at Tiger Stadium.

"I talked to them before the game," he said. "The main thing was, we didn't want to embarrass ourselves. We got killed here last year."

RACER NEARLY got more than he bargained for. Indeed, trim a few mental mistakes and the LCBL might be celebrating its second win in the series; instead, a valiant ninth-inning rally went for naught, as Adray hung on for an 8-7 triumph. That makes 12 Adray wins to one for the LCBL.

"We gave them a bekuva ball-game, didn't we?" said Racer, all smiles. That the LCBL stars did, inflicting most of their damage in the ninth by scoring four runs after two were out.

Adray pitcher Leo Hutchinson started the ninth by walking Joe Brusseau. He got the next two batters, but Jeff Herrin's grounder was booted—by second baseman Mitch Deskins. John Chadha then tapped a ground ball to first, but Lincoln Schomer couldn't make the game-ending play either.

Hutchinson followed by issuing a bases-loaded walk to Dennis Szczepkowski, forcing in a run. John Gotts made it 8-6 with a two-run single, and Fred Higgins narrowed the gap to 8-7 with another run-scoring base hit.

That was all for Hutchinson. Bill Bellman relieved and threw one pitch to John Frazzini, and he popped out to short to end the game.

THE LATE rally certainly made the loss more tolerable for Racer, but his grin disappeared completely when he was reminded of LCBL's mental miscues which ignited Adray's four-run fourth, led to another Adray run without benefit of a hit in the fifth, and ruined an LCBL scoring chance in the third.

"You're right," Racer agreed. "We could have been out of the (fourth) inning (without giving up a run). And we had that mental running error. But I thought we played a good game."

Still, it might have been better. LCBL scored three runs in the second to take the early lead. Jim Miller singled and Jeremy Krol walked to open the inning; two outs later, Brusseau walked to load the bases. Jerry Koester was hit by Schomer's first pitch to him, forcing in a run, and Todd Fracassi singled to score two more.

Adray's stars could do little with the first two LCBL pitchers, managing just two hits off starter Stuart Hirschman (two innings) and Dave Houghtby (one inning). But just when it seemed LCBL might bust loose, LEE TAPPY opened LCBL's third by getting hit by a pitch. Miller singled to right, and when the ball got past right fielder Mark Dube, the runners moved up to second and third with none out.

Krol hit a grounder to short, but Miller got hung up between second and third. Tappy broke for home during the rundown and was throw out, leaving runners at first and third. Adray pitcher Marc Wilkins got Mike Siwajek on strikes and Tim Crabtree on a groundout to end the threat.

The Adray fourth proved pivotal. With Bill Bannon pitching, Mike Heard singled and Mike Mocerri walked. After a pop out, Dan Crane walked to load the bases for Todd Bruce. Bannon induced Bruce to hit a possible double-play grounder to shortstop Steve Michaelz.

Michaelz fielded the ball cleanly, but froze, failing to throw to any base. A run scored on the hit and the bases were still full. Kevin Rogers' sacrifice fly scored another run, leaving men at first and third with two out.

Bruce produced two more runs with baserunning — and poor execution by LCBL. On his attempt to steal second, Michaelz let the ball get away. Adray's third run scored and Bruce took third. Mike Wisely's infield single put Adray ahead for good, 4-3.

LCBL SHOWED little offensive spark over the next four innings, collecting just three hits as Adray built

Familiar names spark Pontiac Class A team

By Brad Emons
staff writer

The Livonia Collegiate Baseball League All-Stars stepped out of their league Monday night at Ford Field and the result was predictable.

Fieger, a Class A team from Pontiac, used its experience to blank the LCBL stars in an exhibition encounter, 7-0.

Six different Fieger pitchers combined to hold the LCBL to five hits over seven innings.

The big guns for Fieger offensively were second baseman Scott Wyler and center fielder Art George.

Wyler, a Dearborn native who once played for Livonia Adray in the LCBL, belted a grand slam in the second inning off Doug McGregor of Duffy's Plumbing.

In the fourth inning, George and Wyler each belted doubles to account for another Fieger run.

George, the former Redford Thurston High product who plays for the University of Evansville, also had an RBI single in the second when Fieger sent nine batters to the plate.

"ART IS OUR lead-off man and has the green light to run when he gets on base," said Fieger coach Scott Combs, whose team sports an 18-9 record in the Pontiac Class A loop. "And Scott (Wyler) is capable of hitting the ball although he hasn't done as well lately, but he's a steady second baseman and he always seems to make contact."

Fieger scored its other run in the third when Joe Arends hit a sacrifice fly to score shortstop Deap Fracassi, who contributed a pair of hits on the night.

Fracassi, who attended St. Agatha High in Redford before closing out his collegiate career at Aquinas, is also an integral part of the Fieger lineup. (His brother Todd was on the opposite side of the field, a starting second baseman for the LCBL.)

"Dean's the best shortstop in our league," said Combs. "He's done just an excellent job for us this season."

The Fieger pitching staff also has several players with Observerland ties.

Right-hander Henry Miller, who prepped at Livonia Franklin before going on to Wayne State, was the winning pitcher, tossing two scoreless innings.

Lefty Gary Scott, a former Wayne

High product headed for either Eastern Kentucky or Wayne State this fall, worked a scoreless inning along with player/manager Combs, Keith Hubble (formerly of Redford Bishop Borgess High), Tim Komorous and Jim Vervacke (Oakland University).

"WE LOST four of our pitchers to the minors, but we still have a good staff," Combs said. "Tonight we didn't even use Steve Witt (Aquinas College), Dan Kopitzko (formerly of University of Detroit) or Jim Mollen-cupp (four years in the San Francisco Giants organization). We have some good, live arms."

Fieger's nemesis in the Pontiac circuit is first place Lynch & Sons of Birmingham. The two teams meet at 1 p.m. Saturday at Jaycee Park in Pontiac in a showdown.

"This game (against the LCBL) was good for us because we need to keep playing," said Combs. "We need to see some more pitching."

Although McGregor was roughed up by Fieger, the LCBL got scoreless pitching stints from Chad Wrona (Walter's Appliance), Jim Miller (Little Caesars) and Fred Higgins (Total Travel).

But with a potent lineup of older and more experienced players, Fieger's seven-run margin of victory was expected.

Right fielder Jim Rousseau, 32, one of the top players in the Pontiac league, has been playing 11 years.

Another Livonia native, Lance Sullivan of Livonia Churchill High and U-D, has worked himself into the lineup as a left fielder after playing last summer in the Detroit Adray League.

"WITH CLINT SCOLLARD at first, we've put Lance in the outfield because he can hit the ball," said Combs. "Lance broke his wrist in the spring and he's starting to come around."

Fieger's ultimate goal is to stay in second place and earn in berth in the American Amateur Baseball Congress regional tournament next month in Battle Creek.

"Hopefully we'll ready for the playoffs in two weeks if we come out of that OK we can pick up two more pitchers and by then (AABC tourney) we should be in good shape," Combs said.

Fieger looked to be in tip-top shape Monday night. Just ask the LCBL All-Stars.

Note changes in O&E dates

There are a couple of changes that might be worth noting, all you Observer & Eccentric/Whispering Willows Tournament golfers.

Oh, the tournament site will remain the same - Livonia's Whispering Willows. And it will still be a two-day, 36-hole format for men (with a shotgun start each day) and an 18-hole, one-day tournament for women.

But the women's tournament, which has always been in mid-August, is being pushed back. The date this year is Sept. 5, the Wednesday following Labor Day.

The reason for the switch is all-too-simple: numbers. The mid-August date failed to draw many competitors. A later date will, hopefully, prove more attractive.

Another change that could make a difference is an expansion of the eligibility area. The O&E now publishes a Lakes edition, so any golfer living in Walled Lake can now put his or her skills to the test.

The men's tournament is slated for Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 15-16. Men wishing to play are reminded the field is limited to 200. Early entry is suggested.

An entry coupon for either tournament is included in today's O&E sports section, and will appear periodically in future editions.

Coleman directs East in Reno win

Score one for Michigan State in its football rivalry with the University of Michigan.

It wasn't exactly the Spartans versus the Wolverines. In fact, they were on the same side, and neither Ann Arbor nor East Lansing was the game site.

Farmington Hills Harrison grad Mill Coleman, headed for MSU on a football scholarship, and U-M recruit Todd Collins of Massachusetts were the quarterbacks for the East team in the first national high school all-star game Saturday in Reno, Nev.

Coleman, the all-time passing leader in Michigan, got most of the playing time and led the East to a come-from-behind victory, 28-21.

The only other Michigan representative, former Detroit Mackenzie

fullback Jermome Bettis, scored the winning touchdown and capped the comeback, which saw the East rally from a 21-10 halftime deficit.

COLEMAN WAS the starting quarterback and ended up playing more than three quarters of the game, though he didn't throw any TD passes or have any runs longer than 15 yards.

"I was kinda surprised," he said. "I thought each of us would play two quarters apiece, but the coach kept on a roll, and the whole team got on a roll.

"We all knew we could come back if we cut down on the mistakes. It was fun to come back and win the game."

The players were in Reno for a week prior to the game, and the official itinerary, besides two-a-day practices, included a museum tour, a comedy show and a visit to a water park.

putting me in the game. There were times I'd just be sitting on the sideline, and the coach would call me into the game."

The head coach for the East was Jim Render of Upper St. Clair, Pa., and Harrison coach John Herrington was an East assistant.

"In the first half, I started off kinda slow," Coleman said. "I don't think I completed a pass until the second half. In the second half, I got

Running wild Mustangs romp to easy Mack victories

The Livonia Mustangs won three straight games over the weekend to continue their winning ways in Connie Mack League baseball.

The Mustangs ran their Livonia Parks and Recreation League record to 11-1 with an 11-0 blanking of Walled Lake Adray in a five-inning mercy-rule triumph Saturday at Ford Field.

Pitcher Mike Higgins allowed only two hits and did not walk a batter in picking up the victory.

Craig Overaitis led a nine-hit Mustang attack, going 2-for-3 with three RBI. Teammate Jason Muller added a two-run single.

On Sunday, the Mustangs swept a double-header against host Rose City Legion 3-2 of Jackson.

Higgins' two-run double proved to be the margin of victory as the Mustangs came away with a 5-3 win.

Steve McCool, who worked the final three innings in relief of starter John Duty, earned the victory.

Matt Saucedo homered for Jackson.

In the nightcap, Tad Dennis belted a three-run homer to spark a 10-run outburst in the fourth, leading the Mustangs to a 14-6 victory in five innings.

Overaitis, McCool and Scott Marinkovich contributed two hits apiece. Overaitis had an RBI double.

THE LANGLOIS CARDINALS, running second behind the Mustangs in the Livonia circuit, whipped Walled Lake last week, 10-0, behind Joe Mussat's one-hitter.

Mussat had plenty of support as the Cardinals swiped 13 bases and lashed out 17 hits.

Earlier in the season, Mussat tossed a no-hitter to beat Walled Lake. In 11 innings he's allowed just one hit against the Adray squad.

He also has five hits offensively in two games against Walled Lake.

WESTLAND FEDERATION swept a double-header Saturday against Ypsilanti No. 2 in a Little Caesars Connie Mack encounter at Taylor Truman High.

In the opener, Eric Stover pitched a one-hitter and walked only two as Westland romped to a 9-1 triumph.

Offensively, Westland collected nine hits with Aaron Mack, Mike White and Anthony Raptis contributing two apiece. Raptis also knocked in two runs.

In the nightcap, pitcher Steve Ross allowed only two hits and struck out eight in going the distance in a 12-1 Westland win.

Mack led Westland offensively, going 4-for-4. Vince Sacco added three hits, while Wheeler, White and Raptis chipping in with two each. White also had three RBI.

Westland is 9-4 in league action.

Concealed finishes 2nd in tournament

Concealed Security never lost a baseball game but finished second in the Edgar Martin Classic last weekend in Wheeling, W.Va.

A suspended game was never completed, and that apparently cost the Observerland-based team a shot at the championship.

Mansfield (Ohio) won the tournament with a 4-0 record. Concealed (4-0-1) was declared the runner-up, and the team it had tied, Weirton (W.Va.) was third.

In its last game, Concealed whipped Marietta (Ohio) 12-3 as Mike Grahl pitched a complete game. Marietta had six hits, but Grahl walked only two and struck out six.

Kevin Young was 3-for-5 with two doubles and one RBI. He also stole two bases. Chris Schmid had three hits, including a double, and Paul Pirronello had two RBI on a fielder's choice and a double.

On Saturday, Concealed defeated Hannibal (Ohio) 6-2. Schmid (4-0) pitched 6 2/3 innings, striking out four and walking two. Jim Solak got the final out.

Joe Brusseau was 2-for-3 with a double, and Solak doubled in a run.

For the tournament, Young was 11-for-17 and batted .647. His hits included six doubles and two home runs, and he also had eight RBI and six stolen bases. Young's slugging percentage was 1.352.

Solak hit .563 (9-16) with four doubles and two homers, Schmid .500 (7-14) with three homers and four RBI and Brusseau .471 (8-17).

Boyle wins modified battle, 4-3

Boyle Chevrolet took sole possession of first place in the Livonia Men's Modified Fast-Pitch Softball League by beating Primo's 4-3 Monday and getting an assist from AJ's.

Boyle is 8-4 while former co-leader Total Foods dropped to third place after losing to AJ's 8-7 Monday. AJ's is second at 7-4-1 followed by Total Foods (7-5) and Primo's (7-5-1).

The Boyle-AJ's game at 7:25 p.m. Monday at Ford Field will decide the regular-season champion.

Rick Dreher's sacrifice fly tied the game at 3-3 for Boyle, and Keith McManaway followed with another sacrifice fly to win the game.

Curt White was 3-for-3 — half of Boyle's hits — drove in a run and scored two. Dave Brubaker had two hits, one RBI and one run scored. Doug Kirkpatrick accounted for the other hit and scored a run.

Al White was the winning pitcher. He tossed a three-hitter and walked four. Primo's runs were unearned.

Chevy girls win

Following the first round of play Tuesday in the Pat Boyle Girls Fast-Pitch Softball League, the Lumina's and the Blazers are the early leaders.

The Lumina's swept the Storm 12-1 and 18-1, and the Blazers defeated the Camaros, 5-1 and 16-3.

The six-team league is composed of Observerland high school players. The Astros and the Trackers were idle Tuesday because of a schedule adjustment.

Kristen Stackpole of the Storm is the leading hitter with an .800 average.

Church's has the Best Weather Resistant Lumber in Town!!!

Water beads right off Wolmanized EXTRA Weather-Resistant Lumber because it's got something "extra" — it's pressure treated with a special water repellent to prevent moisture penetration from rain and snow. All wood swells and expands when it absorbs moisture. As it dries, it releases moisture and shrinks. Constant expansion and contraction causes grain raising, checking, splintering and warping. Spray or brush-on water sealers just can't repel water like Wolmanized EXTRA Lumber. In laboratory tests Wolmanized EXTRA Lumber shows almost two-thirds more moisture resistance than pressure-treated lumber protected with a leading water sealer. Of course, this fantastic lumber is also pressure treated for lifelong protection against termites, rot and decay. Don't settle for ordinary treated lumber. Insist on Wolmanized EXTRA!

Duffy's remains atop in Collegiate race

A double-header sweep of host Wendy's kept Duffy's Plumbing atop the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League at the start of the week.

After losing 3-2 to Total Travel Value on Friday, Duffy's bounced back with 6-5 and 8-5 victories Sunday to improve its league record to 12-5-2.

In the first game, the second of Todd Fracassi's two RBI drove in Mike Siwajek with the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Fracassi and Rob Puckett had two hits apiece, Brent Haywood smashed a solo homer and Bill Flohr ripped a two-run triple. Chris Müssat's RBI single tied the game at 5-5 in the fifth inning.

Bill Wicker, who entered in relief of John Schefka, pitched scoreless innings in the sixth and seventh to get the victory.

IN THE second game, Duffy's rallied from a 5-1 deficit and won the game with a four-run fifth inning, which gave the LCBL leaders their 8-5 margin.

Kevin Adams knocked in five runs for Duffy's, four coming on his in-park grand slam. Matt LeMieux had two hits, including a run-scoring triple, and two RBI.

Winning pitcher David Jones pitched four innings of scoreless, hitless relief. He struck out six and walked three. Haywood started and left trailing 5-3 after three innings.

In the Friday game, Rick Tanguay's RBI single gave Total Travel a 3-1 lead. The other runs scored when Leo Devine drew a bases-loaded walk and Jason Lichtman raced home from third during a pickoff/roundup between first and second.

Darren Clark went the distance for Travel, striking out 11 and scattering five hits. Doug McGregor pitched the first 3½ innings and was the loser.

Walter's Home Appliance, the second-place team at 12-5-1, salvaged a double-header split with Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury by winning the second game 18-7 in five innings Sunday.

TIM CRABTREE had three of Walter's 14 hits and three RBI, and Jason Gabel and Jeff Pendell had two hits apiece. Gabel also drove in three runs, Pendell one. David Houghtby added a two-run single to the cause.

Mike Culver hit a three-run homer in the top of the first inning as Hines Park took a 4-0 lead, but it was short-lived as Walter's scored six runs in the bottom of the inning. Dan Niemiec had two hits for Hines Park.

Anthony Chandler pitched three innings and left with a 10-5 lead. Brian Paupore, the losing pitcher, lasted one-third of an inning and faced only eight batters.

Both teams had 12 hits in the first game, but Hines Park jumped to a 6-0 lead after two innings and never trailed.

Rob Kowalski went the distance for Hines Park, getting five strikeouts and issuing four walks.

Hines Park knocked starting pitcher Steve Owens out after two-thirds of an inning. He pitched to eight batters, allowing four hits and five runs. Gene Boyce worked five innings before Chad Wrona finished up.

Dennis Szczechowski, Derek Humphries, Niemiec and Kevin Learned had two hits apiece for Hines Park. Learned drove in three runs with a double (1) and single (2), and Szczechowski smacked a solo homer.

GABEL RIPPED a two-run double for Walter's, and Chris Day, Crabtree and Jerry Koester had two hits each. Chandler chipped in an RBI double. Koester also had two RBI, and Crabtree scored two runs.

Gabel also provided a big hit Friday when Walter's beat Wendy's 6-3. His two-run double in the first inning started the visitors off with a 3-0 lead.

Koester had two hits and one RBI, Jim Maruszewski two RBI with a single and a sacrifice. Damian Hall's single drove in one run.

Houghtby raised his pitching record to 6-0. He went 6½ innings, scattering five hits and four walks. Bob Bullach finished the seventh.

Total Travel and Little Caesars also split a twinbill Sunday, Caesars winning the first game 13-8 and

A four-run seventh put the first game out of reach for Caesars. Jim Miller pitched five innings for the win, leaving with a 9-8 lead. Mike Dalimonte closed it out.

CAESARS HAD four players with two hits: Tom Hill, Rich Roy, Andy Weighill and Miller, who hit two doubles, drove in two runs and scored two runs. Weighill had four RBI, including a two-run single. Roy doubled in a run.

Rich Ruchner, who pitched 3½ innings, was tagged with the loss, allowing six runs on five hits. Reliever Jason Hicks left in the fifth with a back injury, and Craig Murray went the last 2½ innings.

Tanguay clubbed a three-run homer for Travel while going 2-for-4 with two runs and four RBI. Mike Julien and Steve Pollock had two hits apiece, and Gary Devine contributed two RBI.

Murray returned to pitch a complete-game victory in the nightcap. He hurled a three-hitter and struck out nine. He also walked nine but escaped major damage.

Julien's three hits included a pair of doubles, and he drove in two runs. Lichtman had two triples and scored two, and Pollock had a double and two RBI.

Tom Nestler also went the distance for Caesars and pitched well, scattering eight hits. He walked one and struck out five.

Hill had an RBI triple and Jack Daniels an RBI single. Bill Bertera walked twice, had one hit and scored a run.

In another game played Friday, Hines Park merited Tom Holzer Ford 11-1 in six innings. Ed Hanna was the winning pitcher, and Szczechowski, Niemiec, Culver and Humphries had two hits each. Learned's sacrifice fly ended the game.

There goes the sun — lunar eclipse coming

Jupiter is in conjunction with the sun of July 15. It is behind the sun and not visible from the earth. Last Quarter Moon is at 7:04 a.m. on the 15th. The moon is beginning the last quarter of its orbit around the earth. (When will the next Last Quarter Moon occur?) The red "star" below and to the left of the moon is Mars, the red planet. The moon is eight degrees above and to the left of Mars on the next morning.

from Aldebaran now!
New Moon is at 10:54 p.m. on July 21. The moon is located between the earth and the sun and is not visible. In fact, the moon is located exactly between the earth and the sun, and the moon will eclipse (cover) the sun. This will be the first total eclipse of the sun to occur in 28 months.

YOU MAY WONDER why we don't have an eclipse every month, since we have a New Moon every month. The problem is due to the tilt of the moon's orbit around the earth. The moon usually appears to pass above or below the position of the sun. The moon often passes close enough to the sun's position to partially eclipse the sun, but the alignment has to be absolutely exact for the moon to totally cover the sun.

Watch the moon as it passes through the constellation of Taurus starting on the morning of the 17th. The Pleiades star cluster is below and to the left of the moon. On the next morning the moon forms a triangle with the Pleiades and Aldebaran. On the 19th the waning (fading) crescent moon is approaching Venus. Notice how far Venus is

Raymond E. Bullock

The bad news about this eclipse is that it begins at 8:40 p.m., Eastern Daylight Time. Sunset in our area on July 21 is at 9:03 p.m. Don't expect to see much during the 23 minutes between the start of the eclipse and sunset! Totality begins at 9:52 p.m., by which time the sun is well below the horizon.

Where will the path of totality fall? Along some of the most inaccessible parts of this planet! People in Helsinki, Finland, will be treated to the sight of a totally eclipsed sunrise. For people in Leningrad, the sun will be 97.4% eclipsed.

but not total. From there the path runs along the northern coastline of Arctic Siberia, across the Bering Sea and some of the Alutian Islands, then ends in the northern Pacific Ocean.

People in Scandinavia, northern Asia, China, Japan, northern Greenland, and northwestern North America will see a partially eclipsed sun.

Look for the moon, 45 minutes after sunset, in the west northwest on the 23rd. It will be very close to the horizon and difficult to spot without binoculars. Five degrees is the star Regulus, the "heart" of Leo. Five degrees to the right of the moon, also difficult to see, is Mercury.

The moon is again approaching Spica on the 27th. On the 28th it has passed Spica. Notice, however, that this time the moon is less than one-quarter full. Earlier this month, when the moon passed this way, it was more than one-quarter full.

THE SOUTH DELTA Aquarid meteor shower reaches its maximum during the morning of July 29. This is a fairly moderate meteor shower. Observers can expect to see an average of 20 "falling stars" per hour (about one every three minutes). This shower is named for the 4th brightest star in the constellation of Aquarius (which is identified by the 4th letter in the Greek alphabet), from which the meteors appear to radiate. Understand that the star has absolutely nothing to do with the meteors, they just happen to be located in the same area of the sky. Aquarius will be low in the southwest at dawn.

First Quarter Moon officially occurs at 10:01 a.m. on the 29th. The moon is one-quarter of its way around the earth.

On July 4 the moon was near the star Antares. Now, 27 days later, on the 31st, we see the moon approaching Antares again in the evening sky. On what date in August will the moon pass Antares again?

An excellent aid for learning constellations and keeping up to date with the sky is the monthly "Sky Calendar." A one-year subscription is $6 and is available from Abrams Planetarium, Michigan State University, East Lansing, 48824.

Collectors coming to Beatle-fest in Troy

Thousands are expected to attend the area's first nationally recognized Beatles convention July 21-22 at the Troy Hilton.

The convention's theme is the continuing popularity of Beatles' music, as well as their cultural significance, according to promoter Jeff A. Hale of Blatchford-Hale Productions.

Headlining a diverse group of special guests will be Pete Best, the Beatles' original drummer (1960-1962).

In attendance will be a myriad of music collectors, students of popular culture, lifelong fans and others.

Special guests will include John

Sinclair, known for his close association with John Lennon during the early '70s, as well as for his "New Left" writings; Russ Gibb, the first American broadcaster to go on the air with the "Paul McCartney is dead" rumor in October of 1969; and

M.L. Liebler, a poet and authority on the poetry of Lennon.

A "collector's marketplace," featuring some of North America's largest dealers of licensed Beatles' memorabilia, will be in operation throughout the convention.

Museum appeals to the kid in you

Dreamer looks to riverfront, 2E

By Amy Rauch
staff writer

IT'S IMPOSSIBLE to take in everything the first time you visit Marvin's Marvelous Mechanical Museum.

From old-time nickelodeon machines to modern-day video games, neon and airplane rides, Marvin has it all.

During the past decade, Marvin Yagoda, 52, has seen his dream come true. But not without a struggle.

A pharmacist by trade, the 20-year Farmington Hills resident has had a love for collecting antique machines that dates back to his college days.

It was then, during his years at the University of Michigan, that Yagoda discovered a nearby arcade with old nickelodeon machines. His interest was sparked.

Though he has collected the machines ever since, it was not until 1980 that Yagoda put his first machine out for the public. He set it up in what was then Tally Hall, on Orchard Lake Road, just south of 14 Mile.

BUT IN late 1988, Schostak Brothers & Co., the Southfield-based managing agent for Tally Hall, announced the Farmington Hills festival food court would be closing.

Yagoda knew he had to find another place to go, but he never dreamed it would take so long.

Now, 1 1/2 years later, he has finally reopened for business. The entertainment haven is just behind the F&M health and beauty aids store that filled some of the space Tally Hall's closing left behind.

"They rent me square feet, but I take advantage of the cubic feet," he said.

AND HE certainly does. Model airplanes hang from the ceiling, huge banners adorn the walls and arcade games cover the floor.

His machines date from the 1890s to the present.

If you like the latest and the most unusual in video games, he has it.

Step aboard the Galaxy Force, a video game where you are literally a part of it all. The game rotates and moves the player with the action. It's one of only 20 like it in the United States.

OR MAYBE you prefer music. Drop a quarter in the slot and you can listen to a self-playing banjo.

Or try the juke box that plays music from the '50s and '60s out of the back of a Cadillac from the era.

Is magic your thing? Watch Merlin the Magician change a frog into a bird.

Maybe you believe in the supernatural. You can have your fortune told by Zoltan. A Zoltan machine appeared in the recent hit movie "Big."

Whatever you like, Yagoda has it.

HOWARD WEISSMAN of Southfield brought his mother to play pinball.

"I love it," Belle Weissman said.

"I like the whole place."

"I love it," said Danny Gottlieb, 12, of West Bloomfield. "They have cool stuff and people can hang out here."

Danny's mother comes to the arcade for her son, but admits she likes it herself.

"I happen to love the antiques, the neon signs," Arlene Gottlieb said.

Sherry Haffner of West Bloomfield loves the jukebox.

"I love the jukebox with the oldies in it," she said. "I've probably put more money in it than my kids have put in the machines."

YAGODA HAS a little bit of everything, and it comes from all over. One of his most recent acquisitions was one of his most difficult. He fi-

THOUGHTS I'D like to share:

• Creative lifestyles — It's called Creative Living. And it's a kaleidoscope of the creative ways you and your neighbors live.

It's the section of the Observer & Eccentric you're reading. And I like to think of it as a special reflection of the creativity each of us possesses to one degree or another.

Some are writers. Others are artists or artisans. Many are musicians. A few are designers or history buffs. No matter, if they live in the diverse communities served by the O&E, chances are we'll profile them or their work.

Of course, we first have to learn about these creative lifestyles — by press release, personal note or conversation.

And that's where you, our readers, come in. If you're a reader of our Southfield, Farmington, Livonia, Westland, Garden City, Redford, Plymouth or Canton editions, and you know a local person whose creative talents or achievements are worthy of newspaper coverage, take note.

Just down that person's name, address, phone number and a brief statement of why others might be interested in reading about him or her. Include your name and phone number, too.

I can't make any promises. But if you take the time to share your idea,

Bob Sklar

I'll take the time to seriously consider it.

The new editor in charge of the Creative Living pages for our Wayne and south Oakland editions, I succeeded the late Marie McGee, an enterprising hometown journalist who I grew to admire over the past 17 years in my other O&E capacities.

But being new to this particular beat doesn't mean I'm new to the community.

I've had the good fortune to not only browse bookstores in downtown Farmington, but also visit Livonia's Greenmead Historical Village, chat with Garden City crafters, enjoy the work of Southfield interior designers and hear the Plymouth Symphony.

• Keeping focused — "The problems of an urban area are only exacerbated when the drive to destroy in the name of progress occurs with little vision of any larger purpose," says state Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, a well-known connoisseur of the arts.

ties, I can't help but feel we're darn lucky to have so many historical jewels left here.

• Back in time — It's well worth visiting Greenmead just for the trip back in time, when plank floors and spinning wheels filled homes, Greek Revival architecture, ice boxes, root cellars and carriage houses were commonplace, a roadside waiting room meant a Detroit United Railway depot and general stores carried dry goods, hardware and groceries.

But there's another lure that's a labor of love for the Friends for Development of Greenmead and the Livonia Preservation Historical Commission: the community gardens at Joshua Simmons' 19th-century homestead.

Wanda Reiner of Farmington says she's a "farmer at heart," who fondly remembers when she flexed her green thumb "on the big gardens we used to have in a lot in Southfield."

"Once a gardener, always a gardener," she told me at Greenmead. "There's something about seeing all the stuff grow up from seeds. The new life, pesticide-free — it's just marvelous."

Bob Sklar is the O&E's assistant managing editor for special projects.

Timely work

Couple practices art of clockmaking

By Amy Rauch
staff writer

If you want to know what time it is, you might want to drop by at the Busses in Canton Township and take a peek at any one of the 20 clocks around their house.

Time fanatics, you're thinking. No. They're clockmakers.

For the past five years, Laurie and Gene have kept busy making clocks — about 300 a year — out of oak and pine. Gene takes care of the woodcutting, staining, sanding and varnishing. And Laurie adds the finishing touches with a bit of wood burning and the sweep of a paint brush.

"It's relaxing," Gene said. "I like to work with wood."

He learned a little of what he knows from his grandfather, who worked with wood. But most of what he knows he learned through his interest in clocks. "I've seen enough clocks to know what is done," he said.

The clocks come in just about every shape and size. If you collect frogs, like to sail or you're a big fan of the University of Michigan, they have just the one for you.

They offer about 50 different styles of clocks including their latest — a sheep. People had been requesting a clock in the shape of a sheep for over a year.

Gene points to his "pride and joy," an oak clock shaped like the state of Michigan. He says he sells a fair share of these, most recently to a couple of exchange students.

THE BUSSES wait for special requests before they make certain unusual items, because, "you don't want a penguin hanging in your kitchen if you don't collect penguins," Gene said.

And they will fill just about any order, as long as it doesn't interfere with copyright laws. Laws have kept them from making clocks, for example, in the shape of Disney characters.

The Busses, Canton residents for eight years, set up a booth at about 20 craft shows every year. Today through Saturday, they will be under the big tent — literally — in the Downtown Farmington Center parking lot at the Farmington-Farmington Hills Founders Festival.

Though they love making clocks, the Busses will tell you that they enjoy the people end of the business best. "Just about everywhere you go, it's not how many clocks you sell, but the people you meet," Gene said.

But for as skilled as they are, the couple will assure you, they're not artists. And patterns for the different style clocks can be the most difficult part of the project. "We look for pictures everywhere," Laurie said.

Most of the patterns are originals, drawn by friends and Laurie's father. A few have even come from their kids coloring books.

"We're not artistic," Laurie said. "Some of the characters are funny-looking, but we figure it's part of our style."

GENE CAN'T tell you exactly how long it takes him to make a clock. He spends about two hours on his hobby each night after coming home from Ford Motor Co., where he works as a supervisor in the order control department. And he doesn't work on just one at a time, but rather, 10 or 15.

It takes up a lot of his free time. "Some nights, he disappears for two hours," Laurie said. Gene "disappears" into the garage where he listens to country western music while he works.

There's a lot more to it than meets the eye, Gene will tell you. "People look at it and think there's nothing to it but numbers," he said. "There's a whole lot more to it."

Marvin Yagoda said he likes the variety in the games themselves as well as the fact his games are different prices — one cent, five cents, 10 cents, 25 cents.

nally found what he was looking for — a machine called Hawkins Magic Fingers — in England. Four silver hands inside the machine grab prizes.

Yagoda doesn't have it out for the public yet, but plans to soon.

HE ACQUIRES all of his antiques through people he knows.

"To some people, it's junk. Others like it. Some come in and say, 'Here, we found this in the basement.'"

Yagoda also sports more than 60 neon signs as well as carnival banners that date back to the 1920s.

YOU CERTAINLY could never accuse Yagoda of not being creative. Set foot in the door and look directly up, Yagoda has decorated the ceiling with unused pinball boards from a pinball factory in Chicago. What's more, they light up at night.

"I'm a teaser," he'll tell you. "What do you think I have a place like this for? Because I'm normal?"

BUT WITH all fun aside, restoration of the old machines can be quite a task. Especially for Yagoda, who claims he is not mechanically inclined. At least, he didn't used to be.

"I like mechanical things because I'm so unmechanical. But by matter of necessity, you learn about things." Yagoda strives for the unusual. Next he'll add a hot air balloon. The balloon will hang from the ceiling, he said, with people falling out of it. "It's so unusual that you wouldn't believe it. I think everyone wants to be a little unusual."

AS MUCH as he enjoys it, Yagoda said he's in the business to entertain others.

Asked about his favorite, he'll pause and tell you it's probably the self-playing banjo, though his mind is likely to change at any minute.

"I like all of these things. I like to see people amused and entertained."

With all it has to offer, Yagoda said the museum appeals to anyone younger than 90 — that is, "as long as they have a little kid in them."

Dreamer looks toward riverfront

By Amy Rauch
staff writer

As if running Marvin's Marvelous Mechanical Museum in Farmington Hills wasn't enough, Marvin Yagoda also owns and runs Sam's Drugs in Detroit.

Yagoda's father opened the store in 1928. Following in family footsteps, Yagoda went on to earn his bachelor of science degree in pharmacy from the University of Michigan in 1961.

Yagoda never really thought about what he wanted to be, he said. He watched his father work hard for many years, and then one day, "There I was," and a part of the business from then on.

YAGODA TOOK over where his father left off after he died in the early 1960s. That's where he has been until he edged his way into the entertainment business in 1987, when he began his efforts toward his mechanical museum.

Yagoda still manages to devote about 20 hours a week to the pharmacy. It's a people business and he loves it.

"It's still an old-time neighborhood pharmacy where people can come in and we know them by name."

BUT HE enjoys the variety in his life.

"Now I'm filling in with other things. I like to do a little of everything." Yagoda also is active within the Detroit community, acting as president of the Northwest Area Business Association for 15 years and now serving as its chairman.

The group has helped provide scholarships for Detroit students as well as food for the hungry during the holiday season.

FOR THE past three years, Yagoda, with partners Mike Kratchman and Howard Welsman of Southfield, and the support of Detroit city planner Alex Pollack, has been trying to run a ferry on the Detroit River.

Yagoda wants to bring a little of his hobby to the project. He plans to fill the waiting room of the barge with antique games from his museum.

"I thought it would be fun to have an old-time atmosphere on the barge."

BUT IT might be a while before the plan becomes a reality.

"It's been a really tough thing. You're dealing with two cities, two counties and two countries."

Along with his partners, Yagoda is now working with the Canadian government to launch the ferry.

It's too late for this year, he said, as the season is only 100 days long.

"We're hoping to have it going for next year."

Yagoda lives with his wife, Jean, and his son, Jeremy, in Farmington Hills.

LISTEN TO THIS

● If you're an aspiring writer, you'll be interested to know that Borders Book Shops in Novi Town Center will sponsor a three-part writing seminar this summer, designed just for you.

On Sunday, July 15, award-winning fiction writer Sharon Dilworth will talk about "Creating Realistic Characters." Journal writer, Susanna Defever, will discuss "The Writer's Journal" on Aug. 12. S.K. Wolf, author of the spy thriller, "The Harbinger Effect," will talk about "What's Happening: Developing a Plot" on Sept. 9.

Each session will begin at 6:15 p.m. Admission is free and enrollment is limited, so register early by calling 347-0780.

● An anthology representing the best writing from Passages North's first decade is just out. The popular literary magazine was founded at the William Bonifas Fine Arts Center in Escanaba in 1979.

Elinor Benedict, founding editor and editor of the anthology, stressed at publication time that many of the writers who published early work in Passages North have gone on to become the rising literary stars of the '90s.

Among 55 Michigan writers represented in Passages North Anthology are Therese Becker of Lake Orion; Margo LaGattuta of Rochester; Ramona Grigg of Westland; Linda Nemeck Foster, Grand Rapids; Gloria Whelan, Mancelona; and Stuart Dybek, Kalamazoo.

In all, the work of 137 writers is featured.

A "Celebration Reading" of some of the work in the new anthology will be held in September in the Detroit area at Borders Book Shops. More about this in a later column.

● Veltsezar B. Bautista of Bookhaus Publishers in East Detroit was presented the Quality Books Inc. Small Press Publisher of the Year Award at the American Booksellers Association convention in Las Vegas recently. Quality Books specializes in the marketing and distribution of independently published titles to libraries in the United States.

Bautista, publisher of "Improve Your Grades: A Practical Guide to Academic Excellence" and other self-help books, lives in Farmington Hills.

● For a real literary treat, head for the Elk Rapids area any Saturday evening, now through Labor Day. There, just off U.S. 31 (10 miles north of Elk Rapids, turn right on Stone Circle Drive and follow to the end), you'll find poet-bard Terry Wooten heading up, for the seventh season, another gathering of The Stone Circle.

Wooten will recite from his extensive poetry repertoire each evening, beginning at 9, and will be joined by poet and folk singer Louan Lechler and other poets who want to share their work at The Stone Circle gatherings.

Listeners and readers assemble outdoors around a cozy fire, and all poetry is recited from memory, not read. Donation is $3 for adults; children are free. Call 1-616-264-9467.

● James Michener, who recently closed a deal with Random House for one novel and a memoir, says all royalties from the sales of the two books will go to the support of young writers. In addition, all income from the magnanimous Michener's "Pilgrimage: A Memoir of Poland and Rome," due out from Rodale in October, will go toward aiding aspiring writers in Poland.

● According to Publishers Weekly, William Shakespeare is not the bestselling English language writer of all time. It's Agatha Christie, who would have been 100 years old this year. Christie wrote not only mystery novels, but plays, romances (as "Mary Westmacott") and non-fiction. More than a billion copies of her work have been sold in English, plus another billion in 44 other languages.

● "America's Favorite Homes," just published by Wayne State University Press, traces the intriguing evolution of the modestly priced homes once available through mail-order catalogues from such companies as Sears and Roebuck and Montgomery Ward. Though the book, by Robert Schweitzer and Michael W.R. Davis, focuses mainly on "pre-fab" homes from about 1900 to 1941, it is, by extension, an indicator of all the most popular home styles during that era, since most of the mail-order designs simply reflected architectural trends of the times. Ideal for students of architectural history, preservationists, Realtors or those of us who are simply enamored of old homes.

● "The Quiet Pools," the latest science fiction thriller by Michael P. Kube-McDowell of Okemos, recently received rave reviews from the New York Times Book Review. Kube-McDowell's novel focuses on the fate of a group of adventurers sent to colonize the stars.

● Charles Scribner's Sons will publish the young adult novel, "Begin the World Again," by West Bloomfield author, Bettie Cannon, later this year. Cannon's first YA novel, "A Bellsong for Sarah Raines," was brought out by Scribner's in 1987.

● New literary magazine, "The Bridge," will debut soon. Northville writer Kathy Leo and Oak Park poet

Jack Zucker will co-edit.

● "Berry, Me and Motown," by Raynoma Gordy Singleton, a tell-all history of the creation of the "Motown Sound" is out this month. Written by Berry Gordy's second wife, who co-founded the company with him in the early '60s; word is: it's not a pretty portrait of her former business partner.

● Prolific Ann Arbor writer, Gilbert Cross, has just seen the publication of his fourth children's book, "A Witch Across Time." Publisher is Athenum. Cross, writing as "J.C. Winters," also authors adult fiction.

● Don't forget the second anniversary party coming up at Borders Novi Town Center this weekend. The Chenille Sisters will be on hand Friday night at 7 p.m. to sing and entertain, and refreshments will be part of the fun, too. On Saturday at 11 a.m., The Music Makers will entertain kids of all ages with puppets, songs, and stories. Admission is free.

Frankenthaler exhibit covers 36-year period

"Helen Frankenthaler: A Paintings Retrospective," at the Detroit Institute of Arts through Sept. 2, features key works by this major American artist done between 1952 and 1988.

The art, drawn from public and private collections, reveals the range of her work, from the landmark soak-stain canvases of the 1950s to her darker works of recent years. It is the first full-scale museum exhibition since 1969 of Frankenthaler's paintings.

"Frankenthaler stands at the juncture of abstract expressionism and color field painting although she has never affiliated herself with either movement," said Jan van der March, DIA curator of 20th century art, who is in charge of the show here.

FEATURED IN the exhibition is "Mountains and Sea" (1952), the most famous of Frankenthaler's works, which introduced the technique of pouring thinned-down paint directly on unprimed canvas so that the canvas absorbed it.

"Swan Lake I" (1961) marked a rare moment in Frankenthaler's work in which she developed a series of pictures around a particular image or theme. The "swans" in this large painting are white, unpainted areas of canvas, their shapes defined by the blue paint of the surrounding areas.

"Salome" (1978) is the last of the four mid-1970s works in the exhibition in which the artist used a dense surface of overlapping areas of paint.

Both the large color areas and the smaller color accents seem to shift in and out spatially and to flow over and behind adjacent zones. This sense of movement and transparent layering or "vels" give the work its title.

THE EXHIBITION was organized by the Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth, Fort Worth, Texas. This is its final tour stop.

A catalog is available at the DIA Museum Shop. The DIA's Frankenthaler painting, "The Bay," is featured on a permanent collection poster.

Hours are 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Sunday.

Use color to make parties come to life

Helen Diane Vincent

Q. My favorite way of entertaining is to give small dinner parties. I'm always looking for new ideas to make these occasions special. Is there something different you might suggest involving color? My apartment is quite small but it does include a dining area.

A. By all means, a well-thought-out color harmony will help to make your luncheon and dinner parties out of the ordinary. But you first have to think of your table and buffet as engaging all of the visual senses, and not just color. Approach this as an artist would, balancing color with textures and shapes, and coordinating these elements with an overall theme or composition.

The composition is derived not only from the various ways a table can be set, but also from the style of dinnerware and table accessories. Today's choices are limitless, from traditional English, casual contemporary, to sleek Eurostyle patterns.

Once you decide on your look and are willing to make the necessary investment to carry out the theme, you automatically move into the arena of color. Each style is usually manufactured in a range of colors considered appropriate to its look.

For example, Formal English styles utilize softer colors on porcelain while the sleek Eurostyles feature either black or bright colors on earthenware. Each pattern and color combination opens up two possibilities: you can either match the dominant color for the tablecloth and accessories, or complement or contrast it.

The whole matter might be concluded at this point if it were not for the matter of considering colors that are appetite enhancing.

Research has shown that reds, oranges and yellows in somewhat subdued and pale variations, such as coral and peach, help to generate or at least sustain an appetite. So do lightly blue-cast greens and blues, even though they are not directly associated with food.

The colors that turn off appetites are the sharp yellow-greens and purples. White remains a neutral foil for food. But black, despite its recent popularity in tabletop, has a negative meaning for many people.

Variations on these appetite-enhancing colors, such as pink, very pale yellow and caramel (a yellow-orange) are specifically linked to a sense of sweetness. Bitterness, on the other hand, is conveyed through very dark and bright greens and very bright yellow.

You can combine both your sense of style with appetite-enhancing colors by searching out dinnerware patterns that include some of these colors. Or you can use clear glass or white dinnerware set on either a tablecloth or placemats in color combinations with appetite appeal.

"All about color" is a regular feature in Creative Living.

FAIR LANE VOLUNTEERS

A free, four-session training course for people willing to serve as volunteers at Michigan's only National Historic Landmark home open to the public, the Henry Ford Estate-Fair Lane, will begin Saturday, July 14.

Volunteers are needed to do a variety of jobs, including tour guides, gardeners, gift shop attendants, playhouse interpreters and demonstrators in the visitors center and powerhouse.

Weekday tour guides are particularly needed. Training sessions will be four consecutive Saturdays, July 14, 21, 28 and Aug. 4, from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

"We are trying to find people who have an interest in assisting the public by sharing the historic significance of this landmark with visitors," said Donn Werling, director of the 70-acre remnant of auto pioneer Henry Ford's estate.

The estate is on the campus of the University of Michigan-Dearborn, Evergreen, between Ford Road and Michigan Ave. Call 593-5590.

EARLY MUSIC

The early music ensemble L'Antica Musica will present "A Variete of Music," to be sung and played at an art fair at 8 p.m. Saturday, July 21 at the University Reformed Church, 1001 E. Huron, Ann Arbor.

The music will range from the serious and sacred to the dramatic and secular. Tickets are $5 at the door.

ISLAND ART FAIR

Five local residents will take part in the 17th annual Ledge Craft Lane Island Art Fair Saturday, Aug. 4 in downtown Grand Ledge, 10 miles due west of Lansing.

They are: Canton residents Doris White (country crafts) and Sue Smith (spice wreaths); Livonia resident Debrah Staflet (hand-painted umbrellas); and Plymouth residents Patricia DeFaico (country crafts) and Lyle Sweet (wood inlay).

About 10 crafters from nine states will show their wares. Hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

AWARD WINNERS

Northville resident Linda Ord won $750 from the Michigan Water Color Society at the 44th annual Michigan Water Color Society Exhibition at Michigan State University in June.

The show featured 100 paintings from 92 artists. Awards totaled $5,000 to 11 artists.

ON DISPLAY

Now on display at Chameleon Galleries is Axel Nilsson kaleidoscopes, glass design by Michael Robinson and raku vessels by Joseph Rodriguez of Brighton. Hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 1-5 p.m. Sunday, at 370 S. Main, Plymouth.

BUILT BY: Mitch Harris

Beginning with pieces of oak and pine that he picks from a lumberyard in Ann Arbor, Gene traces a pattern onto the wood, then uses a scroll saw to cut it out. Next, he cuts a hole in the back of the clock with a 3/4-inch bit. That's where he'll put the clock's movement.

He then removes rough edges with sandpaper. And that's where Laurie steps in. Using a tool that is known as a wood burner and looks a lot like a thick pen, Laurie burns in lines of detail, then takes a paintbrush to the clock and adds color. "It gives them a little character, a little style," she said.

THEN IT'S back to Gene. He covers the clock with a stain, uses a sanding sealer to bring out the grain, then finishes it off with a coat of varnish. "From there, it goes to numbers, hands and movements," he said.

This final step is pretty easy as it's just a matter of fitting the hands and the movement into the clock, he said. And seeing the finished product is his favorite part.

But the work is fun. And Gene says he doesn't do it for the money, but for the hobby — and he'd like to keep it that way. Pine clocks range in price from $16-$25. The range for oak clocks is $21-$30.

"It's basically a hobby," he said. "I want to keep it a hobby as much as I can. The shows are fun and I enjoy the people."

IN TODAY'S JOB MARKET EMPLOYERS WANT MORE THAN THE SAME OLD B.S.

Every year, over a million new college graduates put on their new blue suits and go job hunting. All of them have degrees. Most of them have hearty handshakes. But very few have what employers want most — practical work experience. That's why there's a nationwide program called Cooperative Education. It allows students to alternate studies at the college of their choice with paid, practical work experience in the career of their choice. So Co-op Education students graduate with more than a degree. They have practical knowledge. And a competitive advantage in today's crowded job market. And that sure beats trying to B.S. your way into a job.

The Crossings At Canton.
 Apartment living just got better.
 We're making The Crossings a better place to live and a better value. You'll feel it in the new hallways and newly refurbished clubhouse. You'll see it in the plush landscaping when you enter the grounds. And that's just the beginning. It's the new look and feel of The Crossings at Canton — and it's for you.
 The Crossings at Canton offers 19 different floorplans with 1 to 4 bedrooms. And whether you choose a 2-level townhome or a luxury apartment, the renewed beauty of this charming rental community shines through in every one — the result of our recent "Capital Improvements & Upgrading" program. These apartments and townhomes are the largest in the area, yet are still incredibly affordable.
 Discover these features at The Crossings at Canton:
 • Dens & Fireplaces
 • Fully-applianced Kitchens
 • Patios or Balconies
 • Central Air Conditioning
 • A Clubhouse with sauna, indoor pool, exercise room, a new party room, and more!
 Visit The Crossings at Canton today. We're just 20 minutes from Ann Arbor and downtown Detroit, yet comfortably away from it all. From 1-275, just exit Arbor Rd. West to Haggerty Rd., follow south to Joy Rd., then east to The Crossings. Open Mon.-Fri., 10-6, Sat., 10-5, Sun. 12-3. Phone 455-2424 today.

Where would Her Majesty live in Birmingham? At Buckingham, naturally.
She'd love the royal park across the street. She'd tote on the spacious two-bedroom apartment with fresh new interiors from the most modern appliances to the best lighting fixtures to designer carpeting to contemporary verticals.
She'd like the uncommon amount of room and royal way the service staff treats her. After all, a person's home ought to be their palace.

Spring Homearama nets sales

Attendance of at least 65,000 during the 24-day run of the Spring Homearama, which ended Sunday, surpassed the expectations of show organizers and drew raves from the builders who participated.

About 50,000 had been expected to walk through the 10 models constructed in the Pheasant Run subdivision of Shelby Township.

Both figures were provided by Rosalie Lamb, show coordinator for the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan.

Comments from James Rutkowski, a Rochester Hills builder, were typical. "We had a ton of traffic. I had a lot of interested customers."

Rutkowski said he's had an offer to buy his model — Kingsley Estate — at the Homearama site and eight serious inquiries to build the model in other locations.

"People kept telling me this is home, this is the home I want," Rutkowski said. "I actually had two customers Saturday whose wives said, 'I want this house and I want it now.'"

"IT WENT real well for us," concurred Paul McGillivray, a Rochester Hills builder who constructed the Bradford model for Homearama. "We had nice traffic and met people who are interesting. We sold a couple of houses."

Most people who attended Homearama weren't in the market to buy now but were looking for ideas for future moves or remodeling.

"The purpose is to showcase new houses and to show the general public what builders are capable of doing in today's market," Lamb said.

The Windemere Model, built by GTR Builders/Columbia Homes, narrowly edged The Weatherlane, constructed by Gemcraft Homes, as the most desirable home in the show according to an informal people's choice poll.

Both builders are based in Mount Clemens.

THE WINDEMERE, four bedrooms and three baths with more than 3,750 square feet, is a two-story colonial.

The great room contains a vaulted ceiling, marble fireplace and two-story circular glass windows.

The master bedroom suite also has a high vaulted ceiling, veranda, whirlpool and oversized shower.

Other amenities include den with bay window and built-in bookcases, plus an oak circular staircase leading to the second floor bridgeway.

"They were really impressed with the great room, the height of it and a spectacular view from the bridge looking down," said Gaetano T. Rizzo, who built the Windemere.

Marble floors in the foyer and kitchen also drew raves, he added.

The model and lot sold to a family relocating from Ohio for $385,000, Rizzo said.

Horowitz named top building entrepreneur

Getting started in the development/building business in the early 1980s, when the industry had gone sour locally, turned out to be a good move for Michael P. Horowitz and Steven Friedman.

Since founding The Selective Group in 1983, they've built or have in process some 750 houses and condominiums and more than two dozen commercial projects with an aggregate value in excess of $150 million.

Horowitz, 40, a Bloomfield Township resident, recently was honored as Construction/Real Estate Entrepreneur of the Year in the Detroit area by the professional services firm of Ernst & Young.

"If there's anything obvious about all of the entrepreneurs of the year, the common thing is they're totally customer driven," said Joseph Valenti, a financial consultant at Merrill Lynch who nominated Horowitz.

"The break they (Horowitz and Friedman) got is they made a decision when other people were afraid to act. That took a lot of guts. It was a tough decision to make at that time. It was fighting the trend."

HOROWITZ, A successful commercial real estate broker, and Friedman, who owned a building company, joined forces after Friedman had done some remodeling work on Horowitz's house.

Horowitz's business capabilities and Friedman's expertise in the construction end proved to be a good match.

"Originally the idea was he would build some houses, sell them at a profit and pay overhead," Horowitz said. "I, like a kept mistress, could go out and develop some shopping centers."

able terms during the recession while most builders were sitting on the sidelines, Horowitz said.

"The market began to turn around and we were well positioned," he said.

Their first house was a $250,000 spec model in West Bloomfield. Their first commercial endeavor was the Riverbank Square Shopping Center in Plymouth Township, Horowitz said.

The Selective Group, headquartered in Farmington Hills, now employs 60.

They have built in residential subdivisions like Maplewood II and Stonebridge in West Bloomfield, High Oaks in Troy, Woodlore North in Plymouth and The Essex Club in Farmington Hills.

Commercial projects include Redford Square, the Berkshire Hotel in Southfield, Plymouth Trade Center, Plymouth Executive Park and Knollwood Office Park in Birmingham.

"THE PART of the business I do the most and enjoy the most is finding the deal," Horowitz said. "It's my art form of sorts. I can interact with people. I like the action."

Horowitz, unlike some big-time developers and builders, personally appears before municipal boards and commissions on mundane business that often is delegated to underlings. He likes to keep lines of communication open.

"Political interaction is getting pretty frustrating," Horowitz said. "When there is good dialogue, good communication, some communities make their goals clear. They understand our problems. In my opinion, you get better development because of that interaction."

WHAT REALLY paid dividends was the decision to acquire lots from financial institutions at favor-

Color provides decorating magic

(AP) — Color is the magic element in home decorating. It can create an illusion of light and space, add excitement to lifeless rooms and lull the senses with suggestions of rich textures.

Love of color predates the written word, as the ancient cave paintings of Lascaux, France, reveal.

By 4500 B.C., the Egyptians were dyeing linen mummy cloths in deep indigo blue," said Lyn Peterson, adding tongue-in-cheek, "the first designer sheets." By the 17th century, the interior designer said, Sir Isaac Newton had established that the human eye can discern at least 10 million hues from an infinite spectrum.

Despite man's longstanding affinity for color, few people know how to use it to enhance their homes. They have little problem choosing what they like, said Peterson. Their insecurity comes with trying to select the right shade and combine it with others.

Peterson, co-founder of the Motif Designs wallcovering and interior design firm, offers these color tips:

- Successful rooms usually center on tones from one dominant color family. Use a contrasting color only as an accent, and use it sparingly to avoid a patchwork effect. A cohesive palette can blend furnishings of different periods and styles. Generally, the smaller the form the more intense the color can be.

- Color proportions are as important as the color. "Picture a cool gray room with a hot red accent, versus a warm red room touched with neutral gray — two very different spaces in the same two-tone scheme."

- Larger masses in the room — sofas, draperies and cabinetry — have a strong presence. Unless you want these to dominate, select restrained colors.

- Choose a color in keeping with a room's purpose. Enliven an entry with bold tones but choose a quieter hue for kitchen or bedroom, where you spend a lot of time.

- Use color to rearrange space. Contrasting paint or paper on one wall breaks up a square room's boxiness. Monochromatic (single color) schemes can camouflage decorating problems such as columns or ceiling pipes. Play up an architectural strong point like a fireplace or window bay by painting it two shades lighter or darker than the rest of the room.

- To visually expand a room, choose light tones. Use flowing solid colors for paint or a small pattern wallcovering that does not stop the eye. Aggressive tones make a room seem smaller.

A LIGHTER LOOK both indoors and out is the trend, according to Ken Charbonneau of Benjamin Moore & Co., Montvale, N.J. To lighten raw wood floors, trim, doors, cabinets and furniture, Charbonneau suggests an oil-based stain in one of several pastel tints. It gives the excitement of color without masking the wood grain.

By controlling the amount of stain applied or by applying it, then wiping it off, it's possible to vary the effect. Experiment on a small area until you get the look you want, said Charbonneau.

As the average American home gets smaller, families must learn to live in more modest spaces with little architectural interest. But small doesn't have to be boring.

A small room, for example, doesn't have to be white, said New York interior designer Bunny Williams. Paint the walls a soft salmon color and the woodwork creamy white for an illusion of spaciousness without boredom. "Light colors make you less aware of those low ceilings that are the norm in today's housing market," she said.

Select a uniform color for the floors, preferably a light shade, said Sally Sirkin Lewis of Los Angeles. Wall-to-wall carpet makes a room appear larger than would several small scatter rugs.

Noel Jeffrey uses artwork to make a small space seem larger. "Hang a large mural or a painting that has depth," he said, "and you are fooled into thinking that you're looking into something."

Homes answer vacation needs

(AP) — Like taking a vacation, building a vacation home shouldn't be an undue hassle.

But raising a second home in a remote locale can be daunting. The easiest answer? Midwest Living magazine recommends a factory-built house.

While manufacturers market factory-built houses primarily as full-time residences, most also sell smaller models from 800 to 1,500 square feet, ideal for get-aways. Homes reputable suppliers build are equal in quality to conventionally built structures.

The three major types of factory-built houses — modular, panelized and pre-cut — also are known as "kit" or prebuilt houses. (The term "manufactured housing" applies only to mobile homes.) All three can be ordered from a catalog. The houses are engineered and produced at factories according to the buyers' style and specifications, then trucked to home sites.

Factory-built houses assemble faster than their conventionally built counterparts. A shell for a small house takes from one day to two weeks to complete. A finished vacation-size home usually requires an average of about four to six weeks to put together, depending on the type of house that is selected.

MANY OF THESE houses cost less than conventionally built houses. Prices range from about $15 per square foot for the simplest one-room cabin to more than $100 per square foot for a luxury chalet. Though finished prices depend on size and the amount of detail wanted, it's not unreasonable to expect a simple kit-type vacation house to be half as expensive as a comparable new-stud-built house.

Although colors and patterns of a number of components can be specified, remember that when a factory-built house is ordered, very little about the house can be changed once it's delivered.

A modular house is almost completely assembled and finished at the factory. It is usually in two sections and nearly complete, including a finished interior. Carpet, wall coverings and even appliances will be in place. Crews join the sections into a single structure.

Panelized houses aren't as quick to construct, but they're close. Manufacturers supply wall and roof panels with windows and doors hung, and with exterior sheathing, insulation, wiring and interior drywall in place. A construction crew, usually aided by a crane, sets the panels on a foundation and bolts the whole thing together.

save energy

Use your dishwasher only when it is full. Turn it off when the final wash cycle is completed and open the door. Your dishes will air-dry. It's best to use your dishwasher in the cool of the evening.

Where there's a need, there's a way.

Entrepreneur defied odds

EVERYTHING HASN'T come up roses for The Selective Group. An apartment project in Plymouth was scuttled by contamination at the site.

But then there are the great successes, like being part of a team selected by Robert A. DeMattia to help develop a 930-acre parcel in Northville Township for a mixed residential, R&D high tech, office use.

"I think Michael is one of the finest residential developers I've ever met," DeMattia said. "He's hard working, extremely ethical, very knowledgeable and is innovative."

Friedman talked about what he considers to be Horowitz's greatest business attributes.

"I think it's his ability to see through the many roadblocks you're confronted with in development, his ability to realize through concentration and patience that all roadblocks are just small roadblocks you have to deal with."

RECYCLING IS GOOD NEWS:

Overcrowded landfills. Garbage barges no one wants to deal with. Terminal trash.

News.

Bad news.

The good news? More and more people, businesses and industries are finding ways to recycle.

It takes more than 6,000 tons of newsprint each year to print The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers plus a number of other publications, so we're doing a number of things to help the solid waste situation:

1. For years we've sold our waste newsprint to a recycling firm.
2. 25% of the newsprint we print on is recycled and we're increasing this amount by another 25% this year.

We don't cover world news, but we care about the world.

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers

3. Our employees have begun to routinely put office paper (memos, computer paper, waste copy paper) in recycle bins instead of waste baskets. Of course, we still deliver thousands of newspapers twice each week. It's our business to bring you news of your local government, schools, sports scene and community events; the news you need to know.

And when you're finished reading your hometown newspaper there are places that will recycle them.

We've listed a few for you on this page because we think recycling is Good News.

(AP) — No matter what type of house you're building, the right hardware will go a long way toward creating just the decorating touch you want.

The extensive list of reproduction items available today includes things such as colonial and Victorian thumb latch sets, door knobs and plates, and hinges.

Thanks to the few skilled craftsmen who've kept yesterday's blacksmithing and foundry skills alive, it is possible for the serious seeker to find handcrafted hardware that replicates what was used years ago. Many of today's craftsmen can also copy an existing piece or give new life to an old original in need of repair. There are also companies that sell a variety of machine-made production pieces that are perfectly acceptable in many old-house applications.

To our ancestors, these pieces of metal were a necessary part of life. In early colonial times, for example, a man had to see the blacksmith before the preacher to ensure that he would have the hardware for the new house he was building for his bride. Considered trousseau items, many pieces from the 17th and 18th centuries were decorated with hearts.

Back then, most hardware was made from hand-forged iron. Since metal was expensive and labor was cheap, everything made out of iron was reused. In addition to paying or bartering with the blacksmith for his services, it wasn't unusual to also pay him with scrap metal — perhaps an old horseshoe or wagon tire — equal to the metal he used to forge the new hardware.

OUR ANCESTORS weren't bound by convention, like we are. There were no rules as to the right or wrong way of doing things. They basically used what they had. That's why it wasn't unusual to see locks made for lefthanded doors installed upside down to serve a righthanded door.

The heyday of the blacksmith waned as machines, factories and foundries became prevalent.

Today, builders and restorers are lucky to find a good mix of both hand-forged and hand-cast, as well as machine-made, items available to outfit their houses. The classic blacksmithing, hand-forged hardware is made the same way it was over 200 years ago at places like Kayne & Son Custom Forged Hardware in Candler, N.C.

It's important to note that people weren't as critical back then as we are today. Since we're used to seeing machine-produced hardware, we expect things to be symmetrical. Obviously, this wasn't the case years ago, when everything was done by hand. For example, it's quite common to see an original pair of andirons with one piece shorter than the other or a door hinge with uneven sides.

Modern blacksmiths, on the other hand, must work to today's standards, so care must be taken to ensure

Here's a compilation of some of the lesser known products and services some hardware stores provide.

• Lamp rewiring. Lamps found in thrift stores or grandpa's attic can be returned to service. But keep in mind that lamps bought abroad need the wiring changed to be compatible with U.S. circuitry.

• Rebuilt appliances. Where do old vacuum cleaners go when they're traded in for new models? Check your neighborhood hardware store.

These may not be state-of-the-art appliances, but they come with a warranty, and cost considerably less than the newer models.
