Council raises city pensions

A split council vote will boost the pension benefits for the city's police officers and firefighters. Councilman Glenn Anderson called the action "unconscionable," arguing that the benefits are much higher than those for non-governmental employees.

Westland taxpayers will shell out more money so that police and fire retirees can receive higher pensions.

A divided city council approved the pension adjustments Monday night, even though the cost to taxpayers hasn't been determined.

Councilman Glenn Anderson called the decision "unconscionable," saying that most police and fire retirees already receive public pensions that are dramatically higher than those for private citizens.

"I just can't in good conscience even consider this," Anderson said.

The changes also will apply to surviving spouses of police and fire retirees.

In a 4-2 vote, with one member abstaining, the council approved pension adjustments that will:

■ Give one-time bonuses of $2,000 effective Jan. 1 to retirees and surviving spouses receiving less than $20,000 a year. Only four people qualify for these bonuses.

■ Provide a one-time increase of 5 percent on monthly pensions for some 35 police and fire retirees. The current pensions range from $5,979 to $42,700.

Most council members appeared to favor adjustments for retirees receiving less than $20,000 a year, but Anderson and Councilwoman Terri Reighard-Johnson opposed the 5 percent increase for all retirees.

The 5 percent raises would have

Festival of Lights

The first annual Festival of Lights, the longest drive-through light show in Michigan, opens Monday, Nov. 22, along Hines Drive.

The four-mile drive will feature gigantic displays of animated toys, a North Pole village, snowmen, larger-than-life skiers and ice skaters, a Loch Ness monster, and many other winter and holiday items.

The event is a fund-raiser for the county parks system. Major sponsors include Ameritech, Blue Care Network of Southeast Michigan and Detroit Edison. A donation of $5 per car is requested.

The light show will be on display 7-10 p.m. seven nights a week (closed on Dec. 25) through Jan. 9.

At 6:30 p.m., Hines Drive will be closed to through traffic. Festival of Lights traffic will enter Hines Drive at Merriman Road and proceed one-way past displays to exit at Outer Drive or Warren Avenue.

At the end of the line, light show patrons may park and shop for ornaments in the gift shop at the Warrendale picnic area.

The gift shop will be operated for periods of one week, each by area service organizations, including the Wayne-Westland YMCA, the Wayne Memorial High Band and Orchestra Boosters and the Women of the Moose. The groups will get a share of gift shop profits.

Testimony weighed in gay murder trial

By DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

An Inkster man claims he was fending off a rape attack when he stabbed a Westland man six times and killed him in a Westland apartment where the men smoked crack cocaine and drank whiskey.

But a prosecutor has accused Christopher Young of murdering Jeff Damsby and stealing his car, wallet, television and stereo from the Blue Garden Apartments on Cherry Hill, between Vemoy and Merriman.

A Detroit Recorder's Court jury that was deliberating Wednesday afternoon will ultimately decide whether Young, 39, acted in self defense or killed Damsby, 41, in cold blood.

Damsby, former head cook at Gargoy City's Spoken Lounge, was found dead on the afternoon of March 22, lying face down in a pool of blood in the bedroom of his second-story apartment.

Westland police believe Damsby had been dead for two days when his co-workers contacted the apartment manager. Police were notified and found Damsby's body.

"It just was unlike him not to show up for work or call," co-worker Janice Smith testified during a two-day trial that ended Tuesday.

Young faces up to life in prison if convicted of second-degree murder.

Young admitted he killed Damsby in a statement he made to police in May, when he was arrested following a two-month investigation. But Young stabbed Damsby three times in the chest and three times in the back because he was fending off a rape attack, defense attorney Stephen Remski said in court.

Young told police that he and Damsby had partyed with crack cocaine and whiskey in the bedroom when Damsby picked up a knife and forced Young to perform oral sex on him, Remski said in court.

Young told police that Damsby then put down the knife and started to rape him. In self defense, Young claims he grabbed the knife and stabbed Damsby to thwart the attack.

But assistant Wayne County prosecutor Jane Crammer portrayed Young as a cold-blooded killer who murdered Dansby, robbed him and then sold his car, television, stereo and videocassette recorder to get money for drugs. A police investigation showed that Dansby's 1979 Chevrolet Caprice was sold to a River Rouge junkyard for $75.

"Mr. Dansby's body was not even cold yet, and Mr. Young was searching through Mr. Dansby's pockets, looking for money," Crammer said.

Pleading with jurors to put aside any prejudices they might have toward gays, Crammer told them that Dansby "is not a lesser human being because he was homosexual, and he's not a better person because he was homosexual."

"It doesn't make a difference if Mr. Dansby was gay," Crammer said.

Young had earlier told police that he and Dansby had consensual sex, statements in court indicated.

Crammer questioned why Young failed to phone for police help if the killing was in self-defense. She portrayed the murder as linked to crack cocaine and "how cold it can make people."

"That's how cold and desperate that Mr. Young was at that point," she said.

Young provided police with information they needed to solve the case, police have said. He even told them where he had thrown the knife he used to kill Dansby, but the knife was never found.

City OKs TIFA funds for library

By DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

The City Council has written a new chapter in its quest for a city library, but taxpayers will apparently have the last word on the proposal.

Ending months of speculation, the seven-member council agreed unanimously Monday night to use tax revenues collected in a special city district to build a long-awaited library.

The decision ended an exhaustive debate, but the proposal still hinges on whether Westland voters are willing to pay higher taxes to operate a library.

"A building should not be built until the operating funding is in place," councilman Kenneth Mehl said.

City officials haven't decided on a ballot proposal, but they indicated Monday that an aggressive publicity campaign should begin immediately to win support for a library.

To build a library — estimated at nearly $8 million — the council will use tax monies collected in a special Tax Increment Finance Authority district that generally lies north of Ford and west of Wayne Road.

To operate the building, the council will seek a tax increase, though specific decisions about the proposal haven't been made.

The council could levy a one-mill tax without going to voters, but has pledged not to levy a library tax without voter approval.

Voters have twice rejected a library tax, but the last vote was eight years ago. Most city officials believe public support for a library has since increased.

Mehl said he believes the city may need a two-mill tax increase for a library. (Two mills would represent $2 per $1,000 of state-equalized valuation for Westland property owners.)

But Mayor Robert Thomas has suggested a more modest tax proposal, possibly one mill or even less.

"I'm afraid if you shoot for two mills, people won't vote for it," Thomas said.

City officials aren't expected to seek a tax increase until next August — at the earliest. Key decisions about where to build the library and how big it should be — still haven't been made, either.

Because TIFA dollars are being used, however, the library would have to be built within the boundaries of the special district. The council, a special TIFA board and the mayor's office would all be involved in key decisions about where to build the facility.

City officials had hoped to use TIFA monies already collected, but they learned in recent days that they will have to depend on revenues collected this year and beyond. The city can't legally use old TIFA dollars for a new project.

Officials now believe that TIFA monies will have to be collected at least through 1994 — and possibly into 1995 — to build a library.

"We're going to have new taxation to build this library, no matter how you look at it," councilman Thomas Brown said Monday.

The TIFA district was started in 1986 to improve water and sewer services, and to upgrade roads, among other infrastructural projects aimed at spurring economic growth in the city's northwestern area.

when retirees have been off the job for six years. Some current police and fire employees have already won similar contract clauses for their future pensions.

The issue of pension adjustments arose earlier this year when police and fire retirees made the request, claiming financial hardships. The proposal touched off a heated debate that continued Monday.

Reighard-Johnson noted that many senior citizens live solely on their Social Security and that others receive small pensions. She cited her grandmother as an example, saying she receives only $3,400.

Asking taxpayers to pick up the tab for boosting the retiree pensions "is not the fair thing to do for the citizens in our community," Reighard-Johnson said.

Anderson noted that council members have received no cost estimates for the 5-percent adjustments.

"I can't do this when I feel that there are so many people out there struggling to pay their taxes," Anderson said.

Private citizens who have to plan for their retirement don't have options similar to the adjustments for Westland's public retirees, he said.

"We have to do it the way the people in the public do it," he said.

Council members approving the plan were Kenneth Mehl, Thomas Brown, Charles Pickering and Sandra Cicirelli. Councilwoman Sharon Scott abstained to avoid a conflict of interest; her husband, Ted, is a former Westland fire chief.

Mehl defended the plan and accused critics of "playing politics" with the issue.

"I am not playing politics," Reighard-Johnson responded.

Supporters said they believed the plan was fair, in part, because current police and fire employees already have successfully negotiated to receive a 5-percent adjustment after they retire.

In a memo written signed by Mehl, Brown and Cicirelli — who recommended the revised plan — they wrote: "We feel that this proposal is fair and equitable and in line with the current contract awarded to the police officers' association."

Even though she abstained, Scott spoke on the plan Monday and commended police and fire retirees.

"I've seen them give up their lives and their health for the people of Westland," she said, acknowledging that she was "too emotionally involved" to vote on the plan.

Mayor Robert Thomas warned that other city union groups will follow suit and seek similar adjustments.

"What you're opening up here tonight is truly a Pandora's box," he told the council.

Thomas said that most of Westland's retirees live on pensions of less than $20,000 a year.

City hires firm to track down source of massive water loss

By DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Hoping to plug a $3 million water leak, the Westland City Council has hired an outside firm to study the city's water system and recommend possible repairs.

The study of 360 miles of water mains is expected to begin soon and be completed in the spring. The project could spark water-system repairs to a faulty system that officials believe is draining $3 million a year from city coffers.

On Monday, the council decided to spend $89,400 and hire Chicago-based Pitometer Co., even though the firm's bid was nearly $15,000 higher than another company's.

The company will test water mains and examine the heaviest users of city water to try to find solutions to what is considered a potentially severe water-loss problem.

The company also will check water meters that monitor the flow of water from Detroit to Westland to see if they are flawed.

■ The company will test water mains and examine the heaviest users of city water to try to find solutions to what is considered a potentially severe water-loss problem.

The council chose Pitometer Co. over the Waterford-based SLC Hydro-Meter Testing & Repair, even though the Mayor Robert Thomas administration had recommended the Waterford firm.

Council president Charles Pickering said he opposed SLC because the company sells some water equipment to the city. Hiring SLC for the water-loss study could create a conflict of interest, Pickering said.

Thomas noted that "both companies check out very well," but he recommended hiring SLC because the company's bid of $74,650 was nearly $15,000 less than Pitometer's.

Earlier this year, the water-loss issue emerged as a focal point of Westland's mayoral campaign, with mayoral candidate and veteran councilman Kenneth Mehl saying the problem costs the city $3 million annually.

Pitometer is expected to begin its work before the winter freeze, said Diane Klinebriell, city controller. The several-month study should be completed in the first half of the year, she said.

Questions remain about how the city will pay for possible repairs. If the problem is being caused by Detroit's system, Westland could try to force Detroit to pay the tab — a move that would be certain to spark a clash of cities.

But Klinebriell stressed that "it's premature" to talk about how repairs would be paid for until the study is completed.

Loss of elementary music program strikes sour note

BY MARIE CHESTNEY
STAFF WRITER

The Livonia school district doesn't have $600,000 to restore fully the elementary music program, but is willing to consider alternatives, said Superintendent Joseph Marinelli.

Those alternatives could include offering classes through community education or forging a partnership with some other organization, he said.

Numerous backers of elementary instrumental music packed Monday's board meeting, all asking that the program cut in the current fiscal year budget be restored. Pleas came from students, a former student, parents, teachers and Joan Rennie, president of the Livonia Paraprofessionals Association.

"I can't express how important it is at the elementary level," said student Matt Fielek. "I wouldn't have taken up an instrument if it had not been introduced at the elementary level."

The middle and high school music program in the district, which serves the northern section of Westland, will be doomed if students can't begin playing an instrument before middle school, proponents said.

Once students get to middle school, they are more apt to choose sports or other extracurricular activities over learning to play an instrument, they said.

Teacher Sarah Hedeon predicted the loss at the elementary level will eventually have a profound impact on high school plays and other productions. "There's no way the high school kids can put on a production without the instrumentalists."

One parent, Mary Anne Duluk, said she has put together a proposal showing how the program can be restored. Marinelli said Duluk's plan will be one of the plans discussed during a Nov. 29 curriculum committee meeting which starts at 6:30 p.m.

Jon Holtfreter, Emerson Middle School band and orchestra teacher, also said he could suggest ways the program can be restored in elementary school.

"There are solutions; we're using an antiquated system," Holtfreter said. "Only 5 percent of Michigan school districts start their kids later (on instruments) than the fifth grade and many do it in the fourth grade. I don't think we want that image. We must readjust our priority."

Instrumental music was not one of the programs restored when voters approved the one-mill tax increase in August. Elementary programs restored under the millage include art and physical education.

School board president James Watters asked why the private sector hasn't reached out and offered a way to keep the program going.

Three students, including Fielek, made eloquent pleas for the restoration of the program.

"The older a kid gets, the harder it is to take up an instrument," said Eric Leinonen.

Dave Kline, a graduate, told how picking up a trumpet as a fourth grader changed his life, and how he wished students who now follow him can have the same experience. "The love of music is what kept me going."

Susan Flatley said she had seen "kids come alive" in the instrumental program. "They may not be the greatest musicians in the world, but they do grow in self-esteem."

A sad silence, Rennie said, has descended on elementary schools. It's a silence created by the missing cacophony of sour notes.

"These students have given you tonight an inside look into their hearts and souls," Rennie said. "You've had to make decisions because of monetary policy. The only way to avoid these harsh choices is to take back the power that gives you control over your budget."

Trustee Sue Clulow promised that on Nov. 29 the trustees would look at creative ways to bring back the program. "We don't have the money, but there are other ways to look at something rather than throw money at it."

Opposition delays drug store plans

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Westland residents fought — and temporarily won — a battle against Perry Drugs. Some 70 residents signed petitions opposing company officials who want to build a Perry Drugs that residents said would encroach on their neighborhood.

Company officials are seeking to build the store at Yale Street and Wayne Road, north of Ford. They said the site would give them a competitive edge against other drugstores, such as a nearby Arbor Drugs.

Company officials also said the Perry store would be compatible with other commercial businesses in the area. Monday night, they asked the Westland City Council to rezone the site from single-family housing to low-intensity commercial.

But residents opposed the request, saying they don't want a Perry Drugs moving into their neighborhood. They also said they are worried about increased traffic in the area.

Addressing the council, company officials tried to downplay the concerns, saying the drugstore would draw most of its patrons from a one-mile radius. The store wouldn't create traffic problems, they said.

But the council — for now, at least — sided with residents who submitted the petitions Monday. The council postponed the rezoning for a later vote.

"We think it (commercial development) should stop in this city," Yale Street resident Ron Sampson said, addressing the council Monday.

"We don't need to build in a residential zone anymore," he said.

But company officials argued that the area will eventually be commercial because it probably isn't suitable for residential development.

The council has asked company officials to talk with residents in an effort to resolve their differences. The issue will be brought back to the council for a later vote.

Council votes unanimously to oppose trade agreement

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Westland elected officials lined up Monday as opponents of the North American Free Trade Agreement.

In an 11th-hour but unanimous decision, the Westland City Council adopted a resolution sharply criticizing NAFTA, which has sparked a fierce national debate that has crossed political lines.

President Bill Clinton has pushed the plan, saying it will create jobs, but many American employees, including auto workers, fear that NAFTA will send their jobs to Mexico. The U.S. House was scheduled Wednesday to vote on the proposed agreement.

Local UAW workers, such as Westland's Ron Graunstadt, had asked the city council to adopt a resolution opposing NAFTA, and the council on Monday followed through on the request.

If NAFTA fails, Graunstadt told the council, "I don't believe free trade is gone. I just believe it's going to be more of a fair trade agreement."

Councilman Kenneth Mehl called for copies of the council resolution to be faxed Tuesday to Michigan representatives in Congress.

The resolution said NAFTA "would be a disaster for workers in both countries (and) destroy jobs in the United States, while perpetuating exploitation of workers and inflicting widespread damage on the environment in Mexico and the United States."

The resolution also said the plan would open up markets for Korea, Japan and European countries to establish plants in Mexico and export products to the United States, "further eroding U.S. jobs plus the U.S. economy."

It also stated that U.S. companies "have seen an opportunity to pay Mexico workers a fraction of the wages that U.S. workers receive," in a move aimed to "increase corporate profits."

The council resolution came as auto workers continued to try to build opposition to NAFTA.

Some city council members noted that Michigan would be among the states hardest hit by NAFTA.

Area computer rental franchise finds slow but steady growth

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

A growing need for computer rentals by businesses and other organizations is providing opportunity for an area firm.

Detroit PCR (Personal Computer Rentals), from its facility in the Plymouth Oaks business park in Plymouth Township, is the metro Detroit franchisee for the national PCR company.

Owner John Crotteau started the Detroit franchise five years ago, after taking a buyout from Detroit Diesel, where he worked as chief metallurgist.

"I really was not computer-literate; I learned most of it afterwards," Crotteau said.

It was after leaving his job that Crotteau saw an ad for people willing to buy franchises for the national computer rental firm.

He paid a $650,000 franchise fee and eventually spent $250,000 more to get the company started. "I used my credit cards; I maxed them all out," he recalled.

Since starting in December 1987, Detroit PCR has provided computer rentals for the Bill Clinton campaign in Michigan, for the Senior Tournament Players golf tournament in Dearborn this summer, and for various business clients.

"We've been growing over the years, not as much as we wanted it to grow the last year, but it's still growing," Crotteau said.

Plymouth, he said, is a good place for a business serving metro Detroit.

"When I looked around, it had to be in either Wayne or Washtenaw County," he said. "This is centrally located between downtown Detroit and Ann Arbor; this is a good spot."

"Our first office was on Ann Arbor Road and Lilley," Crotteau said. There, computers, printers and accessories were stored upstairs and had to be taken down on an elevator.

At Detroit PCR's current location, equipment available for rent is kept in a ground-level storeroom behind the company office. "It's a lot easier," Crotteau said.

Two technicians now work for the firm, to allow Detroit PCR to make repairs of its rented equipment when needed, rather than send out for help.

The firm, which employs five, anticipates $600,000 in business this year, Crotteau said.

Harwell revels in baseball and faith

By JULIE BROWN
STAFF WRITER

It's hard to believe, but baseball announcer Ernie Harwell at one time considered himself tongue-tied.

"Through the grace of God, I overcame that handicap," said Harwell, in recalling his visits to an elocution teacher in his younger days. He went on to a distinguished career as a baseball announcer, and for many years has been the voice of the Detroit Tigers on WJR-AM radio.

"Baseball's a great game, and the Tigers are a great franchise," said Harwell during a Sunday morning service at West Plymouth Community Church. Some 350 to 375 church members and guests turned out to listen to Harwell's stories of baseball and of his Christian faith.

Those attending welcomed Harwell and his wife, Lulu, with a rousing rendition of "Take Me Out to the Ballgame." The Rev. Phil Rogers, pastor, recalled his own days as an 8-year-old living Downriver and playing Little League during that magical 1968 season, when the Tigers won the World Series.

"We realize that Ernie Harwell is much more than a baseball announcer," Rogers said. "He has created a lot of memories."

Stories to tell

The Georgia native, who was born in 1918, came from humble beginnings. His father had multiple sclerosis, and Harwell's mother supported the family by making sandwiches and cakes. The Harwell boys sold things to help out.

"I wanted to play baseball in the worst way, and that's how I played it," Harwell, who was inducted into the National Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., in 1981, realized he would never make it in the majors.

In high school, he wrote to The Sporting News editor in St. Louis, and became that publication's Atlanta correspondent. He later got a job at the Atlanta Constitution, mainly doing things nobody else wanted to do.

He started in radio in the minor leagues. Following service in the Marine Corps during World War

Not long gone: Ernie Harwell shared stories with members and guests of West Plymouth Community Church.

II, he set his sights on the majors.

"I still had an emptiness, a void in my heart that needed filling." He'd been a regular churchgoer, but didn't have much of a relationship with God.

"Our attitude was pretty much if we went to church, did a few good deeds and stayed out of everyone's way, we would go to heaven."

His success as a major league announcer in Baltimore and other cities didn't bring fulfillment. All that changed in 1961 when he went to a Billy Graham Easter service while with the Tigers during spring training in Florida.

"God has set my priorities in order. I made Him my Lord and my savior from then on."

Harwell, who took some time after the Sunday service to sign autographs, recalled the thrill of playing cards with Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella, Pee Wee Reese and other baseball greats.

He recalled Robinson's breaking of baseball's color line in 1948 with the then-Brooklyn Dodgers. "It was quite an experiment, a noble experiment by Branch Rickey." Robinson was the ideal choice as major league baseball's first black player, he said, not only because of his playing skill but also because of his ability to turn the other cheek.

"Jackie I think was the most exciting player I ever saw," Willie Mays of New York (later San Francisco) Giants fame is the best player Harwell ever saw.

He remembered a catch Mays made in Pittsburgh when he was a rookie. "Willie made the greatest catch I've ever seen." Mays couldn't catch the line drive with his glove, but caught it with his bare hand.

He came back to the dugout and the more seasoned players remained silent, to tease the rookie. Mays asked manager Leo Durocher about the catch, and Durocher responded, "Willie, I didn't see it, go out and do it again."

On to Detroit

Harwell's arrival in Detroit introduced him to a number of Tiger players and fans. "I came to Detroit in 1960 and the people of Michigan have certainly been great to me."

He considers Al Kaline the best Tiger of all time. "I'm just glad he's still around and doing the telecasts along with George Kell." Cecil Fielder's a fine player too, as was the late Norm Cash, who was a friend to all. "He loved to play ball, no question about that."

Harwell has fond memories of Mark "The Bird" Fidrych, who played for the team in the 1970s.

Fidrych was a "sweet kind of guy," but not too adept with words. One time in Kansas City, Harwell asked him about the team physician's opinion of his arm injury.

Fidrych replied that the doctor knew little about such injuries. "He's a skin doctor. He's one of those gynecologists," he told Harwell.

Harwell didn't mention his abrupt firing by former Tigers owner Tom Monaghan or his return to the broadcasting booth after the team was bought by Mike Ilitch. He had nothing but praise for the team and its team chapel program.

That program has now spread into the minor leagues and other sports. "I've seen a lot of athletes devote themselves to Jesus." Those include such current and former Tigers as Frank Tanana, Travis Fryman and Milt Cuyler.

Harwell recalled the story of one of the two Yankees who made headlines by announcing in the early 1970s that they planned to swap wives. That player was later traded to the Texas Rangers, where he met player Danny Thompson, who had leukemia and was dying but continued to play.

"Fritz dedicated his life to the Lord" after meeting Thompson, Harwell said. "God can work wonders wherever he is, in the locker room or the church."

"I'm richly honored that God loves me," Harwell said. "Since I've given my life to Jesus, I've had a peace I've never had before."

"It's like knowing the final score of the game. Sooner or later, the outcome is going to be on God's side."

Rogers, the pastor, told those attending how Harwell announced on the air the name of his former second-grade Sunday school teacher, who's battling cancer. "She called me and she was so excited because he mentioned her name. I think he is the epitome of humility."

After Harwell's speech, Diana Rogers, the pastor's wife, presented Lulu Harwell with a bouquet of flowers. The Harwells, who live in Farmington Hills, have been married for 52 years and have four children.

Mary Nalepka was among those who enjoyed hearing Harwell speak. "I'm glad to have finally got to meet him. I think he's wonderful, and I wish him all the best, always," said Nalepka, who works in the Plymouth Township clerk's office.

Auto insurers benefit as court lessens liability

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Auto insurers aren't liable for medical benefits until an injured person has tried to collect all of his or her health benefits, the Michigan Supreme Court has ruled in three major cases.

The result: Injured persons may have to pay heavy medical bills — especially when they have used doctors outside the system paid for by their employers.

"Henceforth, you have a burden," said Wayne Miller, a Birmingham attorney who represented two of the plaintiffs. "If they (the health insurer) can't provide it, then you can go outside the system. It's very troubling."

"The Supreme Court justices are seven general practitioners, however bright, who are trying to practice in all the areas of law before them. I don't think the court appreciated the duress the plaintiffs (in auto injury cases) are under."

"The Supreme Court felt the only important matter was containing (insurance) costs. So they elevated cost-containment to the only important matter," Miller said.

The high court ruled 4-3 for auto insurers in cases involving injured persons from Brighton, rural Jackson County and Detroit. The cases started in Southfield's District Court and Wayne County Circuit Court.

"We hold that a no-fault insurer is not subject to liability for medical expense that the insured's health care insurer is required, under its contract, to pay for or provide," said Justice Charles Levin, who wrote all three opinions citing section 3109 of the No-Fault Automotive Liability Act.

Levin was joined by Chief Justice Michael Cavanagh and Justices Robert Griffin and Conrad Mallett Jr.

Out $5,000

Louise Ann Tousignant, 31, a former Northwest Airlines flight attendant from Brighton, is out $5,000 for treatment of injuries suffered in a July 1987 auto accident.

"Tousignant was examined and treated after the accident for back and neck pain at the emergency room of Henry Ford Medical Clinic in West Bloomfield, an HAP (Health Alliance Plan) facility. She was released with instructions to return if her back or neck pain continued," Levin said.

"Instead of returning to the Henry Ford Medical Clinic or another HAP facility or physician, Tousignant sought treatment from a physician other than an HAP physician," said Levin. She received heat treatments for a year and dental services from unaffiliated doctors. She sought payment from her auto insurer, Allstate.

After the case was moved up from Southfield District Court, Oakland County Circuit Judge Robert Templin ruled in favor of Allstate, was reversed by the Court of Appeals and upheld by the Supreme Court.

Levin said the legislative policy "requires an insured who chooses to coordinate no-fault and health coverages to obtain payment and services from the health insurer to the extent of the health coverage available from the health insurer."

"Where this hurts," said David Martin, Tousignant's attorney in Southfield, "is when they have an HMO chosen by the employer as opposed to the best coverage." His client now is a housewife and mother.

Snafu with VA

A costlier case involved Kenneth Owens, a young Coast Guardsman who suffered permanent brain injury in a December 1982 accident when his car hit a tree. He was on leave and visiting his parents in rural Jackson County.

The Veterans Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor treated him until his discharge in June 1984. A VA neurologist recommended he go to Herrick Hospital in Tecumseh, where Owens ran up a $110,000 bill for intensive rehabilitation therapy. Owens also got $70,000 in treatment at Saline Community Hospital.

"The VA did not identify another VA facility where Owens could get in-patient treatment. Then VA refused to pay. Owens' insurer also refused."

Said the Supreme Court: "Owens has the burden of establishing that the services rendered by Herrick and Saline were 'allowable expenses,' and that 'reasonable charges' were there 'incurred for reasonably necessary services.'"

"Owens also has the burden of establishing that he sought to obtain appropriate services from the VA," the high court said.

Martin, Owens' attorney, said he would be back before Wayne County Circuit Judge John H. Gillis in two weeks to meet those tests. "We start all over," Martin said.

At stake are $180,000 in hospital bills plus interest for up to nine years.

'Double dip'

The third case was what attorneys call a "double dip." George Yancey Jr. of Detroit was seriously injured in an auto accident. Citizens Insurance Co. reduced his work-loss benefits by the amount of Social Security disability benefits Yancey received.

"We hold that Social Security disability benefits should be subtracted," the Supreme Court said, citing its 1979 ruling that Social Security survivors' benefits also are to be subtracted.

Long search leads woman to her family, heritage

BY ALICE COLLINS
STAFF WRITER

"If you don't know who you are or where you came from," Sheila Worthy-Williams said, "you don't know where you're going."

The 38-year-old woman, who lives in Southfield with her husband of four months, Herman Williams, spent more than two-thirds of her life not knowing the answers to those vital questions.

Now, she knows. "It's brought me much happiness," Worthy-Williams said, "but also left me with a great deal of frustration."

As a child, all Sheila Worthy had to do was to look into a mirror to see that she looked nothing like her black parents. She was much lighter-skinned than they were and she had an Oriental appearance.

"I was different," she said. "But I never actually was told the truth about my adoption until I turned 14."

During a serious argument with my adoptive mother, she revealed the heartbreaking truth to me. That my real mother was Japanese and had been a prostitute. My natural father was African American and French Creole. I had been born in Tacoma, Wash., and was adopted when I was 1 year old."

While her adoptive mother apologized for telling her in the manner that she did, her parents found it too difficult to talk with her about what little they knew of her background.

Worthy-Williams related her story in recent interviews. One reason for making it public, she said, is to encourage other adoptees who want to find their biological parents and to urge the support of the legislatures, the court systems, adoptive parents and others.

Secondly, Worthy-Williams has been so deeply involved in her solving the mysteries of her own life that she feels a need to relate the story.

Worthy-Williams went to Cass Technical High School in Detroit, where she and her family lived, and to Michigan State University, from which she graduated with a bachelor's degree in language. During her first year in college, she went to France on an exchange program. She was always an honor student.

"But there continued to be void in my life — a void that needed to be filled," she said.

Launched a search

During her second year in college, she received psychological counseling. "At that time I seriously decided to search for my mother."

She knew her mother's name as Fusako Lewis and that she was born in Otsu, Japan. It's believed Fusako Lewis has some distant cousins living in Japan. Worthy-Williams hired Washington Adoptees Rights Movement to help her look. The search continued for years. "I called them almost every day."

In the meantime, Worthy-Williams became an international marketing specialist with the state of Michigan, and her work often took her to Japan, Korea, China and other countries in the Pacific rim.

About seven years ago, the agency found her mother. The director of WARM happened to read a newspaper item about a traffic accident in which a man was killed, and his wife, named Fusako, injured.

That article led to Worthy-Williams' mother, an older sister, Laura, and an older brother, George, and their families, all living in Seattle, Wash. The man who was killed in the accident was a man Worthy-Williams' mother had married in recent years.

"My brother and sister called me. He revealed the sad news to me that my mother suffered from mental illness and that she lived in a nursing home. They explained that she had suffered all of her life. That two of her husbands, including my father, had been alcoholic and left her with no job and money to care for her children. She did her best but eventually was forced to the streets as a means of survival.

"Two of the five children had died. George and Laura were sent to foster homes. I was the only one fortunate enough to be adopted."

First meeting

Worthy-Williams' first meeting with her mother and the rest of her family came two weeks later when she flew to Washington.

"My brother had taken my mother to his house for the meeting. I was afraid. Would she reject me? How would it all work out?"

"When I arrived my mother waited for me in the basement. When I got halfway down the stairs, my brother said, 'Mom, Sheila is here.'"

"I saw her eyes for the first time. We both smiled as the tears began to come down our cheeks. My mother's first line was, 'Sheila, you came home, you came home.' We hugged. She never took her eyes off of me. 'I'm sorry,' she said, 'but Mommy had no money to take care of you.'"

"All the while we spoke we held hands and cried."

Despite the separation and the circumstances, Worthy-Williams said, she felt a strong bond with her mother.

But she realized that communications between them were hampered because her mother knew little English and Williams spoke little Japanese.

At this point, Worthy-Williams, who was still single, made a major decision. She would learn to speak Japanese fluently.

"I worked and saved my money, then took a leave of absence from my job so that I could put myself through Cornell University Graduate School to study Japanese for a year."

Still, that was not enough. After graduation, she obtained a grant and went to Japan to live and work for one year under a Japanese government program.

She fell in love with her Japanese heritage.

"I was separated from my Japanese heritage at birth and raised in a primarily African American society. However, the Oriental interests and desires always remained within me."

"Until I lived in Japan I never realized that I would ever have the opportunity to be reunited with that part of me which had been separated nearly at birth."

The culmination of her year in Japan came last July when she and Herman Williams were married on July 10 in the Central Hotel in Kamojima, which is in the Tokushima prefecture.

The years between

In the years between finding her mother and her year of living in Japan, Worthy-Williams made many stops in Seattle to visit her family. "George always wanted to have the family all together. But their lives were there and they were just unable to travel. I was always going there."

"When I call my mother at the nursing home, she comes to the phone. She asks how I'm doing, and am I OK, and when am I coming back. Then she says she's tired and puts the phone down and that's it."

"I try to stay in touch with my sister Laura. And I have a dream. It's to take my mother back to visit Japan. But I'm afraid it will never be possible," she said.

She met her future husband — a Jamaican who lived in Canada — at the former Michigan Inn in Southfield eight years ago. It was before she found her mother. Both were there on business.

"He told me on the third date he wanted to marry me," she said, "but I wasn't ready then. I was just starting my career. And I had seen so many broken marriages in my family."

"I'm a man who likes to see people get ahead and for women to advance," Herman Williams said recently. He decided to be patient. He was impressed with her determination to find her mother and shared the joy when she did.

"Herman was the one who encouraged me to go the Japan for a year," she said.

He was just as excited as she about having an authentic Japanese wedding in Japan.

"Ours was the first foreign wedding ever held in the town of 19,000 people," she said. "More than 140 people attended, including dignitaries from Tokyo and Osaka." It also became a news event for the community.

"During the traditional ceremony, the woman changes clothing three times," she said. "Actually they keep adding layers. It becomes very heavy and very hot."

"The man changes twice." After the wedding, the couple moved into their Southfield apartment. He operates International Real Estate Corp. in Detroit and for the time being she is working there with him.

Her adoptive father died a few years ago and she and her adoptive mother, Judy Worthy, "are close. But I'm still uncomfortable to talk about this with her."

Worthy-Williams wants to open her own company. "I want to help companies that want to develop business in Japan, Korea or Thailand. I would do the same kind of work I did while I was working for the state."

But overshadowing her excitement about her happiness and plans for the future is her concern for her mother.

"After each trip I always wanted to bring her home with me for a visit. I wish I could do more for her, but I cannot. She is not comfortable leaving the nursing home. The times that I have visited her, she only gets out of her bed to eat and use the toilet."

"I want to do more things with my mother, but I can't. I want to take her shopping and do the things that a mother and daughter usually do, but I can't."

"I'm happy that God allowed me to meet her, but at the same time I feel sad."

"I feel that if she could have the opportunity to return to Japan to visit her home that she might become well again. I may be wrong but this is the feeling that I have."

$2 million in heroin seized in area raid

The U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration executed arrest and search warrants Monday, some of them in Southfield, resulting in the apprehension of the man authorities said was "once chief supplier of Young Boys Inc."

Sylvester "Seal" Murray, whom police called a leader of the Young Boys heroin ring, and who was released from prison two years ago, was arrested Monday along with his wife, Darlene Murray, on federal charges of money laundering.

The arrest of the Murrays, who live in Southfield, and two others were announced jointly by acting U.S. Attorney Alan Gershel and DEA special agent in Detroit Dale Schutema.

The raids and arrests capped a year-long Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task force investigation, according to the announcement. The four arrest and search warrants executed Monday follow the arrest of six other Detroiters two weeks ago and the seizure of approximately three pounds of heroin with an estimated street value of $2 million.

The arrest of the Murrays followed searches at their Southfield home and their business, SDM Realty of Detroit.

Also arrested Monday were

The other three were released pending an appearance before a federal magistrate within 10 days.

Properties raided in Southfield Monday were a house on Nadol, an apartment on North Park and a business on Southwood.

Cradling Care: Dee Huntsman gently puts daughter Leslie, 24, into her bed after school so she can relax.

Emotional benefits accrue for Livonia foster parent

STAFF WRITER

As Deloise Huntsman's children grew up and became independent, she looked for a suitable career. With a mentally impaired teenage son requiring a good deal of care at home, her thoughts turned to foster parenting other children with developmental disabilities.

Huntsman and her late husband, James, took the plunge 15 years ago with a placement from the Wayne Community Living Services, which specializes in placing developmentally disabled children and adults throughout Wayne County. It turned out to be the perfect career move.

"It's been very rewarding," said Huntsman during a rare quiet moment in her comfortable Livonia home, full of tropical fish, chirping birds and cabinets showcasing a porcelain doll collection. Years ago James built a handicapped accessible wing onto the home to accommodate wheelchairs.

By 10 a.m. one recent morning, Huntsman had seen the three foster children she has adopted off to school, as well as her son, James, now 30, who works in a sheltered workshop. She had also taken a grandson she babysits four days a week to preschool and done some grocery shopping.

"I stay busy 16 hours a day."

'Fabulous 14' hammer out school finance reform

STAFF WRITER

Tourists in the State Capitol get guidebooks that never mention the committee doing the school reform work.

Students gape at the ornate restoration of the Senate and House chambers and portraits of former governors in the rotunda, never realizing their schools' future is being determined behind the closed doors of room 172 in the north wing.

"The Fabulous Fourteen" meet there, in the office of Rep. Don Gilmer, a fairly obscure Republican until this year. Seven members of each party meet regularly to hammer out a single compromise on 28 bills and one constitutional amendment that, if adopted, will change how public education is financed and run for decades.

"I spent two years in the Army, two years in the Marines, and 10 years with a band, and I never heard language like that," said Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City, of an early stormy session.

"This is our deer hunting," said

Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, noting the Senate last week adjourned all sessions except a few committees for the last two weeks of November.

Veterans Day was a holiday for all but 14 state employees in Lansing. Berman said their five-hour session was productive with no distractions.

Junior members of the House sometimes reveal they are unhappy their work is held up as the Fab 14 troop off to closed sessions. The Legislature repealed all school operating property taxes in July, and the Dec. 31 deadline for replacing the revenue is fast approaching.

Who are 14?

Democrats

William Keith, 64, of Garden City. In his 11th term, co-chair of the House Education Committee, former banker, former school board member, champion of vocational schools, among a handful of most potent lawmakers in school policy.

James E. O'Neill Jr., 64, of Saginaw. In his 14th term, former teacher and school administrator, champion of equity in school funding, writes the school aid bill (with Sen. Dan DeGrow) each year.

Maxine Berman, 47, of Southfield. In her sixth term but fairly new to Appropriations, former teacher, used to specialize in elections and tenant laws, defends out of formula districts ("rich" property tax bases, no state aid), most frequently quoted on abortion.

H. Lynn Jondahl, 57, of Okemos. In his 11th term, co-chair of Taxation Committee, ordained minister, voted in newspaper poll as most influential member of the House, running for governor, rated one of the most liberal members.

Robert L. Emerson, 45, Flint. In his seventh term, former field rep for AFSCME (public employees union), new co-chair of school aid subcommittee (and now wears a suit and tie).

Ted Wallace, 51, Detroit. In his third term, attorney, started as assembly line worker, emerging as one of most effective members of black caucus with choice committee posts, best known as author of bills to permit and regulate assisted suicide.

Republican

William Bryant Jr., 55, Grosse Pointe. In his 12th term, attorney, former minority leader but now functions as "free spirit," unquestioned GOP master of school policy, co chairs Education Committee (with Keith).

Barbara Dobb, 43, Union Lake. In second term, member of Taxation Committee, certified public accountant with business practice, leaped into prominence on Bipartisan Legislative Team (school equity), chaired task force on single business tax.

Susan Munsell, 42, Howell. In her third term, former township treasurer, almost a twin of Dobb — CPA with business practice, BLT, Taxation Committee, political centrist.

Willis C. Bullard Jr., 50, Milford. In sixth term, co-chair (with Jondahl) of Taxation Committee, attorney, former township treasurer, ranks with Dobb and Munsell among least vocal GOP lawmakers but emerging now that his party shares control.

Glenn Oxender, 50, Sturgis. In sixth term, member of Appropriations, co chairs school aid subcommittee, former math and computer science teacher, proposed replacing all property taxes with income taxes, champions school funding equity for in formula ("poor") districts.

Donald H. Gilmer, 48, Augusta. In ninth term, obscure until he became co-chair of Appropriations, host of ad hoc group, fruit grower in Kalamazoo County, political centrist.

Bob Brackenridge, 52, St. Joseph. In second term, junior GOP member. Former secondary and college teacher, publisher of supplemental classroom materials, one term as Berrien County clerk, now co chairs House Local Government Committee.

Insider: State Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City, is one of 14 members of the committee in Lansing working on school finance.

said the soft-spoken woman with an easy laugh.

"I look around at other women my age. They have time to do their hair. I do well to get dressed in the morning," she joked.

"All our placements have been mentally and physically impaired and medically fragile, with hearts conditions and other problems."

"I've gone for quite a bit of training and learned from experience."

With the death of her husband last spring, Huntsman's son, James, likes to think of himself as a father figure over his three adopted sisters, ages 12, 23, and 24.

"They don't have sibling squabbles," she said. "They don't have speech abilities for it. With kids in wheelchairs, as all three girls are, you always know where they are. And you don't ever have to worry about drinking or drugs or boyfriends."

She is hard pressed to come up with the biggest challenge she has faced.

"Everything is challenging," she said.

One of the girls, Debbie, has had four heart surgeries.

"We spend a lot of time at hospitals."

Still, she doesn't consider it a job.

"It's easier than people think. There are rewards. I just look at this as a way of life. I've learned to have more patience and understanding. We give them a home. They give us love."

Wayne Community Living Service assigns a social worker, psychologist and nurse with each foster child. They visit in the home once or twice a month and are always on call.

"Foster parents receive an income for the work they do above the child's SSI for room and board. It's based on level of need and it's non-taxable income," said Jan Meyers, a spokeswoman for WCLS.

"We're looking for people who enjoy being a parent, that's the key. They can be single or married, male or female, with children or without," said Meyers.

"One of the advantages is that each new placement comes not in the middle of the night from an abuse situation. Our foster parents have a chance to meet the child first before placement. And they meet with the birth family."

Adds Huntsman: "I've never had a problem with birth parents. I understand their feelings. I know it's a tough job even with one disabled child."

Of the three daughters, two came from a Plymouth center which closed down and one came from her natural home.

"The kids from institutions have no attachments to people Sometimes it takes years to see that. Debbie didn't cry for five years. She had conditioned herself so she wouldn't."

Adds Meyers: "Progress is slow. But it's a real reason for celebration."

At least once a week, Huntsman packs the family — including the three wheelchairs — into the van for an outing to visit friends, go shopping, to free outdoor concerts or other community happenings.

"They like to go out; just like anyone would," she said.

Her six grandchildren enjoy pitching in around the house.

"Sometimes I think they're here more than at home. My 10-year-old grandson begs to come over. He loves to start the feeding machines. Maybe some day one of them will become a foster parent or go into a medical field job."

Huntsman says that anyone could be a foster parent.

"I think that anyone who has ever had the idea they might do it should give it a try. People think it's hard. But they're just people who need other people."

While Meyers says a nurse's aid or licensed practical nursing background would be an asset, training is provided and foster parents such as Huntsman have no formal medical background.

"Families willing to open their house and heart, to take in someone who is an emotional challenge as well as a physical challenge will get unconditional love in return," said Meyers.

Currently WCLS seeks placement for children who need a lot of medical involvement and for adolescent males with severe behavior problems. For more information on foster parenting, call Jan Meyers at 722-7091. WCLS recently moved to MetroPlace Center, 35425 West Michigan Ave., Wayne. An open house is planned 2-7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 18.

Official says schools seek minority faculty

A story in Monday's Observer was inadvertently trimmed and a complete report was not published.

The story outlined a Schoolcraft College economics professor Prantosh Nag's complaint with the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, claiming that college officials are discriminating against him based on his age, 63, and ethnic origin, Indian.

"Because of my national origin, I belong to an ethnic minority group without any political clout or influence. I am the weakest link in the chain and therefore an easy victim," wrote Prantosh Nag in a statement delivered to the Observer. College President Richard McDowell declined to comment on Nag's case because of the complaint and grievances pending.

Conway Jeffress, the vice president for instruction, would only say, "Our attorneys have advised us that we should not comment on the case because there may be pending litigation."

Although Schoolcraft officials were reticent regarding the case, an official at another local college agreed to speak anonymously on the subject of academic discrimination in general.

Colleges, he said, have nothing to gain and a lot to lose by discriminating against employees.

"Administrators are usually careful and solicitous of faculty members who represent minority groups, and they do want to keep those numbers up. But on the other hand, if you're getting consistent reports that someone is not doing his job, you're going to see efforts to get rid of him, and that's not easy to do."

Hart to hear complaints about state lottery

People with gripes about the State Lottery can air them before state senators at 7 p.m. Monday.

Sen. George Hart, D-Dearborn, will host the panel in the 19th District Court building, 16077 Michigan.

Hart is sponsor of Senate Bill

863 to make the Lottery subject to the Administrative Procedures Act. It would regulate how the Lottery makes rules that affect operation of bingos, raffles and operations of lottery agents.

"If the Lottery wants to develop or discontinue a game, change the rules, issue or revoke licenses, there are no legislative or regulatory controls that check their powers," said Hart.

The Lottery has total revenues of $1.25 billion. After payouts and administrative expenses, it contributes $475 million to the school aid fund—about 1/18th of all public school revenues.

The State Affairs Committee is chaired by Gilbert DiNello, R-Eastpointe, and includes Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, John Pridnia, R-Hubbard Lake, and Michael O'Brien, D-Detroit.

dance. Proceeds benefit the Alzheimer's Association. Call 557-8277 for additional data.

Service for Tobin Monday

A memorial service for Rollin G. "Jerry" Tobin will begin at 6 p.m. Monday in the pavilion at the Southfield Civic Center.

Tobin, 59, Southfield's public safety director since 1977, died Saturday morning in Providence Hospital from complications following hip replacement surgery.

He was chief of police in Birmingham from 1971 to 1977 and in West Bloomfield from 1970 to 1971. Prior to that, he was a Detroit police officer. Tobin lived in West Bloomfield.

The memorial service is expected to draw friends, associates and members of the law enforcement community from throughout metropolitan Detroit. Tobin was past president of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police and of the South Oakland County Chiefs of Police.

The family suggests that those who wish to make memorial donations in his honor do so to the Tobin Children's Scholarship Fund, in care of Richard Helpie, 5992 Darb Lake Drive, West Bloomfield 48324.

Tobin has four children, two of whom are still in school. Toby, 17, is a senior at West Bloomfield High School and Elizabeth, 11, attends Abbott Middle School in West Bloomfield.

The Southfield Civic Center is on the east side of Evergreen, south of 11 Mile.

Comedian sees the Blarney in Barney the dinosaur

BY MARGARET O'BRIEN
STAFF WRITER

Blarney the dinosaur, Barney's wicked older brother from Oakland County, made his network television debut Monday on the "Jerry Springer Show," along with "Dads who hate Barney."

Blarney is really 27-year-old comedian Harry Artin Berberian, and he's playing to thousands who would like to see the purple children's title fade into extinction.

On the Springer show, he told viewers how difficult it was to grow up with a younger dinosaur brother, Barney, who did everything right.

"Barney was always the good guy. He studied hard, stayed off drugs, played intramural softball and went to college," joked Berberian, his Blarney headpiece complete with cigar and three-day stubble. "Barney was born 69 million years ago in the Bronx and was always getting into trouble. Now he's trying to go straight — but he's basically still a purple parter."

The Blarney act is relatively new for Berberian, a self-proclaimed comedian/entrepreneur, who has been testing it out in local comedy clubs. He said parents who are forced to listen to Barney and his songs make for enthusiastic audiences.

"People are so tired of the sickly sweet songs and character. Adults just had to come up with their own response," said Berberian, who started his backlash six months ago with T-shirts reading "Blarney: A fiend to you and me."

The good response to the shirts encouraged Berberian to add Blarney to the list of characters he performs, including HIV Fonzerelli, a Fonzie-like character who warns romantic couples about the dangers of unprotected sex, MC Sampler, a rapper who mixes songs and admits he has no talent, and a character he calls Bat out of Hell.

"This man is angry all the time about everything, and people can really relate because we all feel trampled," he said.

After a couple of appearances on "MTV News" and success at local comedy clubs, Berberian said, he feels like he is ready to take his act to bigger stages soon.

"I'm headed to California to give it a try and see what its like," he said.

Berberian, son of Metropolitan Opera singer Ara Berberian, has been pursuing a career in comedy for the last five years. He became interested while he was a student at the University of Michigan.

"I gave it a try and found I could relate well with a college audience," he said, adding that the experience convinced him to put his goal of getting into the restaurant business on hold.

"Basically, I am just afraid to get a real 9-to-5 job," he laughed.

Berberian has no children of his own and was never forced to listen to the Barney songs and skits all day long, but he said he can relate to the universal hate parents develop over time.

"Barney's alter ego — very alter ego — is a good stress-reliever for parents. Barney is good for kids, but Blarney is really for adults so they can have a release from their child's fixation with him," he said.

But Berberian said he really has nothing against Barney since the little family reunion he had with the dinosaur on television.

"When I met Barney, he was very nice. We kind of made up," Berberian laughed.

Mayor has rights Gun critics miss the target

What's the big deal about Mayor Robert Thomas having a handgun and a permit to legally carry it?

The issue surfaced in the Nov. 2 city council election campaign.

In the final analysis, Mayor Thomas won reelection to a new term by an easy 2-1 margin and will start his second four-year term on Jan. 1.

But the Observer wonders why some people — in particular council candidates — are upset when told the mayor occasionally carries a handgun.

Many local residents legally carry guns and have permits.

Why shouldn't Robert Thomas have the same right?

When initially questioned about the gun, Mayor Thomas replied that he carries a weapon for several reasons. One is that he has received anonymous death threats. Another is that he has accompanied police officers on dangerous drug busts. He added that he sometimes goes into areas of Detroit at night where he chooses to be self-protected.

That sounds sensible and logical to the Observer and probably to most residents.

The Observer believes that the issue was raised at a council candidates' forum to embarrass the mayor on the eve of the election.

The attempt to raise the gun issue during the last days of the campaign represents a feeble attempt to harm the mayor's reelection chances.

The Observer is pleased that the tactic didn't work.

Apparently, a majority of Westland voters saw through the transparent political ploy and gave Thomas an overwhelming majority.

While some voters may oppose ownership of handguns for philosophical reasons, the Observer believes that while the mayor has no more rights than other residents, he certainly doesn't have any less rights.

Put the gun issue to rest along with the rest of the just-completed campaign.

Keep library hopes alive

Hopes for an independent city library were boosted when the city council Monday night formally approved the improvement in a revised Tax Increment Finance Authority district plan.

The Observer, and other supporters of a library, are hoping that construction will start next year with $7.8 million collected in TIFA funds. While Westland residents have twice rejected a modest property tax increase for library operations, they demonstrate their support of library services by using those facilities in nearby Garden City, Livonia and Canton Township.

With the construction phase of a new library now formally approved, the council and administration still have another battle in the next few years: getting voters to approve a small tax levy to operate the library.

But timing is on the side library supporters with all school operational levies being eliminated after this winter's tax collections.

Let's hope the community will see a new library in the near future.

Eight Mile plan demands unity

One community's reluctance to help fund the Eight Mile Boulevard Association only serves to mock the group's purpose of "Joining Together to Make a Difference."

The association is a collection of 12 communities working with the Michigan Department of Transportation and Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties to improve the Eight Mile business district.

Southfield, Farmington, Farmington Hills and Redford Township are among the Oakland and Wayne County participating members of the association who have paid their dues.

Livonia, Michigan's eighth-largest city, has not.

Although Mayor Robert Bennett said this week the city could still reconsider, Livonia is at this point the only community to refuse to pay its dues — about $7,000.

The dues are reasonable — especially for a city the size of Livonia — and have not been levied arbitrarily. They are based on the city's miles of frontage on Eight Mile.

The money goes to clean up litter, help workers get to their jobs at Eight Mile businesses, improve traffic flow, help businesses attract customers and improve landscaping and streetscaping to this critical boundary shared by Detroit and its suburbs.

Livonia's reluctance stems from recent tight budgets and the feeling the city won't benefit directly from the effort.

Other nearby communities are experiencing the same fiscal pressures — some even greater than Livonia — and still have managed to fund the Eight Mile project.

The refusal to pay the relatively small fee is troubling but more worrisome is the attitude that Livonia is an island and need not cooperate with its neighbors.

That city seems to have no problem spending that kind of money on strictly local cleanup or beautification projects — planting flowers around its Five Mile-Farmington civic center or on the boulevards in the Six Mile-Newburgh commercial district, for example.

Although Livonia officials have pledged to cooperate in spirit and support the overall intent of the group, that's not enough. A promise to support and cooperate can't do the job. A well-designed plan with concrete goals and objectives can succeed — only if its properly funded.

The coordinator for Business Group for a Competitive Livonia, an economic development partnership between the city and the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, recently completed a study assessing the future of economic development in Livonia.

According to the report, Livonia benefitted and continues to benefit from decisions made 30 years ago.

"However, Livonia is no longer the fresh new kid on the block," the report states. "It has entered middle age. The existing industrial corridor is nearly at capacity and there is little land remaining for major residential development."

All communities have fiscal pressures. We urge Livonia's leaders to look at this project in its larger scope.

Benefits to the metro area from a healthy, attractive Eight Mile Road transcend one city's limits.

Band is praised

I want to congratulate the John Glenn Rocket Marching Band on a year well-done and let the Westland community know how hard these kids have worked.

Since August, 57 ninth graders from Marshall and Stevenson Junior Highs, and 10th- through 12th-grade students from John Glenn have been involved with the Rocket band to the tune of 23½ hours a week — all extra-curricular. The commitment, pride, enthusiasm and talent shown by these students are characteristics of which each student's parent, and the entire community, can be proud.

ry football game, you hear (school board member Mathew) McCusker calling out the names of board members and school staff attending each game.

A final note of thanks must go to their band instructor, Scott Cramer, for his time, caring and devotion to these fabulous kids. Despite the fact that Cramer was only recently recalled from layoff, he spent the entire four months working with these kids and encouraging them to do all they could. Without Cramer, there would not have been a marching band. Thank you, Scott, for taking on this task and seeing us through.

Serving men, too

I am writing in reference to an article entitled "Trustees say WRC serves men too." This appeared Thursday, Nov. 4, in the Observer.

I am one of the 45 volunteers mentioned in the story and I wanted to rectify what was probably just an oversight. While the article meant to focus on the controversy of a name change for the Women's Resource Center, it did not provide a good picture of the services available. In fact, it described only one program, that of the displaced homemaker.

My concern is that someone reading this article may think they are not eligible to use the WRC services. Today, both men and women use the Peer Counseling and referral services provided. Our clients come from the community and the student body. Peer counselors and staff assisted more than 14,000 people this year. Everyone is welcome, without regard to race, religion, age, sex, or handicap.

We provide financial aid to people without resources who are trying to go to school. We sponsor support groups, seminars and conferences, and so many other beneficial services I can't list them here. Instead, I am enclosing a brochure which more completely describes the work of the WRC. I hope you will find some space to tell our story.

Finally, I would like to say that the WRC was established in 1974, a time in history when women had limited options and very few resources. Sadly, for some women that is still true today. Perhaps in attempting to find a more inclusionary name, those who need us the most, won't be able to find us.

POINTS OF VIEW

Experience counts when getting things done

My dad has a favorite saying: "In any contest, old age and treachery will outwit youth and vigor." Dad is a retired printer, not a political science professor, but he is absolutely right.

Lesson 1: Around 1970, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that a Missouri community college's apportionment violated the U.S. Constitution's "equal protection of the laws" — or as common folks say, "One person, one vote."

Schoolcraft College was one of two or three in Michigan with malapportioned voting districts that clearly were unconstitutional. Either equalized districts or at-large voting had to be adopted. Schoolcraft's Old Guard knew it from reading the paper. Their attorney advised the chair that Schoolcraft's election districts were unconstitutional. Moreover, the flaming young liberals in the New Democratic Coal-tion began collecting money for a lawsuit.

The chair of the Old Guard hid the attorney's opinion. During the delay, the college president retired, and the Old Guard hired a new president. When the NDC suit came into Wayne County Circuit Court, the Old Guard surrendered. But since it already had hired the man who would be president for 10 years, age and treachery had prevailed.

Lesson 2: The Michigan Legislature currently is writing a school tax package and educational reform measures that are likely to be in effect for decades, even generations. It will be the biggest change in schools since the adoption of the sales tax in the 1930s and the high school building binge of the 1950s and '60s.

Meanwhile, young and vigorous idealists are waiting for the state constitutional amendment on term limitation to kick in — the one voters adopted in 1992. Representatives must leave after three terms (six years), senators after two (eight years).

In the House, the Old Guard won't let this chance slip away. It's not letting the big decisions be made in the standing committees, where freshmen members can be heard. Instead, an ad hoc group of a dozen or so senior members is meeting behind closed doors to bargain the issues.

In the House Education Committee, co-chairs Bill Keith of Garden City and Bill Bryant of Grosse Pointe — who have been around 20 years or so apiece — quietly amended one key proposal of Gov. John Engler's and informed everyone that this would be the vehicle bill. That was that.

That bugged newcomers like Jerry Vorva of Plymouth, Deborah Whyman of Canton, Al Cropsey of DeWitt and others. Vorva, in particular, is unhappy with the Old Guard's tactics. "We didn't even get to vote on Engler's version," he complained.

Personally, I like how the two Bills massaged Engler's plan, but that's not the point. The point is that the Old Guard is using its last years in power to dictate school taxes and policy for decades, riding roughshod over the new kids.

Lesson 3: What the young idealists vote for during the year is taken away by the Old Guard on the joint House-Senate conference committees.

During normal deliberations, freshman Rep. Greg Kaza of Rochester Hills won 87-1 approval of a budget bill amendment requiring the Legislature to show in detail its costs and number of jobs. A conference committee then met to iron out differences in the House and Senate versions of the bill. Old Guard senators insisted Kaza's amendment had to go. It went.

Dad's lesson deserves to be in the civics books: "In any contest, old age and treachery will outwit youth and vigor." I wish him a happy 84th birthday — and thanks for the civics lesson.

Kid talk: Being effective pays large dividends

We all know that good communication skills are the cornerstone of quality relationships.

When it comes to enhancing our relationships with our children, we sometimes forget this. Instead of communicating in a way that enhances our relationship with them, we often talk to kids in a way that diminishes our relationship with them.

In my work with families, I often ask parents whether they talk with their kids. The answer I usually get is "Sure, I talk to my kids all the time."

The difference between talking to our kids and talking with kids is an important one. Talking with kids involves sharing our thoughts and expectations as well as listening to their needs and feelings. Talking to children involves nagging, yelling, ordering, and even discounting what they say.

Consider how we talk to our friends and how we talk sometimes talk to our children. Would our friends want to be around us if we talked to them like we do our children? Young children rely mainly on their interactions with their parents to help them form their sense of identity and self esteem.

Kids who are consistently ridiculed, demeaned and told only what's wrong with them can too easily develop a poor self image and low self esteem. This can pave the way for a host of problems later on such as substance abuse, and an inability to resist peer pressure.

Parents who can talk with their kids and discipline them in a way that conveys love and respect show their kids that they are valuable while the parent still maintains the role of the authority (not the dictator). This helps kids develop a positive self image and greater self esteem and also teaches the kids to treat their parents with greater respect through modeling their parent's behavior.

GUEST COLUMNIST

MAUREEN CALLAHAN

The way to communicate with respect and authority to your child is to say, for example, "I already said no. Your whining is making me angry and it won't make me change my mind."

Then walk away and ignore the behavior if the child keeps whining. For some parents, their first impulse is to yell and say something like: "Are you deaf? I already said no. You're driving me crazy, now get away from me."

Of course not all parents do this, but just listen carefully the next time you're in a shopping mall or grocery store.

Parents who begin communicating effectively with their kids are often delighted to find that their kids begin to cooperate more and listen better. In addition, this approach can help kids develop the positive self image and confidence they need later on to resist peer pressures and use good judgment in the choices they make for themselves.

The guidelines for communicating effectively with kids are:

- Convey respect for the child's worth and dignity. This means no ridiculing, demeaning, or name-calling.
- State how you feel and also listen to what your child is telling you.
- In discipline matters, focus on the behavior, not the child as being bad.

A man who recently attended a parenting workshop told me how his father would take him for a walk when he did something really bad as a kid. During the walk, his father would tell him how disappointed and upset he was and what he expected from his son in the future. This man told me how he quickly forgot the times his father yelled at him, but he always remembered the walks and how effective these were because he did not want his father to be disappointed in him.

Parents who work to establish effective communication with their children will quickly see the rewards: a calmer home, less feelings of stress for themselves, and an improved relationship with their children.

Adopt better mass transit to expand area job market

Arriving last Monday morning at Washington National Airport, I walked 100 yards to the nearest subway stop.

It was well lighted and clean. The fare card cost $1, dispensed from an automatic machine. A train arrived shortly. It, too, was well lighted and clean, and the ride was relatively quiet and quick. I arrived at the Labor Department, serene and on time for my meeting.

Such is mass transit in the Washington, D.C., metropolitan area, thanks to the Metro. It's quick, convenient, inexpensive, safe. It links the center city to the growing suburbs, and it has played an enormous role in the fantastic job growth of the entire region.

Contrast this with mass transit in the metropolitan Detroit area. Here we have two bus systems — Detroit's DOT and the suburban system, SMART — both separate and both unequal to the task.

Detroit, with a population around one million, has around 300 buses running daily, while smaller Washington has 1,100 buses plus a rail system. Worse, D-DOT buses run mostly in Detroit, so Detroiters who work in the suburbs have to change and wait to get to their jobs.

And it's clear that job growth in southeastern Michigan for the foreseeable future will be concentrated in the suburbs.

According to NPA Data Services, more jobs will be created in the Detroit metropolitan area, relative to population growth, than in any other U.S. metropolitan area. Projections show population growth of 111,100 new residents from 1989-2010, but 285,700 new jobs. That's a ratio of 2.57 new jobs for every one new resident, best rate in the country.

But nearly all these new jobs will be located in Oakland, western Wayne and Livingston counties.

That's why Dennis Archer, mayor-elect of Detroit, talked repeatedly and bluntly during the campaign about how important regional mass transit is in solving the unemployment problem in the core city and providing the necessary labor to fuel economic growth in the suburbs.

Archer also called for merging SMART with D-DOT, partly to provide better services and partly because running one system is cheaper and more efficient than running two in parallel. Mayor Coleman A. Young, you will remember, refused for years to consider anything remotely resembling a merger.

With Archer's election, the barriers to cooperation are beginning to come down. Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara has been for a merged system for years, while Brooks Patterson, Oakland County executive, long an opponent, recently said he'd consider it.

The big problem, of course, is money: Detroit taxpayers kick in $35 million a year to support D-DOT, while SMART gets no suburban government subsidies. It's going to take a lot to persuade suburbanites to pay a regional tax to support an old mass transit system that relatively few of them use.

But suppose the choice were not taxes for a bad bus system but, instead, taxes for a good rail system. For example, with just half the population density per square mile as Detroit, Atlanta now operates two rapid transit rail lines 25 miles long, about the distance from downtown Detroit to Pontiac.

What interests both the suburbs and the city is not merging separate and inadequate old transit systems but creating a good new one that can drive the economic growth of the entire area. Now that suburbs and city are beginning to talk, that's a good early agenda item.

WESTLAND SPORTS SCENE

Swim finals Saturday

Livonia Stevenson, ranked No. 2 in Class A, will be gunning for the state swim championship Friday and Saturday at Eastern Michigan University's Jones Natatorium.

Swimming preliminaries begin at 2 p.m. Friday, with diving to commence no earlier than 5:30 p.m. The finals begin at 2 p.m. Saturday. There is a $3 admission charge for preliminaries, $4 for the finals.

The Spartans are expected to challenge for the state crown along with No. 1-ranked Grand Rapids Forest Hills Central, Ann Arbor Pioneer and Birmingham Seaholm.

"I understand that Forest Hills and Seaholm both swam well in their league meets last week," Stevenson coach Greg Phil said. "Also, Pioneer looks healthy and ready. I heard that Seaholm may be the top seed in every relay, but we'll see."

Nine Stevenson girls and three relay teams have qualified for Friday's preliminaries.

Individual qualifiers include Mandi Falk, Anne Aristeo, Tina Caranicas, Kelly Carlisle, Jill Knapp, Gina Palmeri, Jamie Hilliard, Julie Gallagher and diver Jennifer Sabina, who finished 10th in Tuesday's diving regionals at Brighton.

Lisa Morrison and Helene Dallas are also available to swim in the relay events.

LYSC Chargers 1st

The Livonia Youth Soccer Club Chargers, a 16-and-under girls team, recently captured the Michigan Division of the Great Lakes League with an 8-1-1 record.

Members of the Chargers, coached by James Tucker, include Livonians Amy Balluff, Nicole Dettloff, Kristi Dimitriou, Christy Eshkanian, Tina Fischer, Lisa Hornak, Kristin Ruhl, Kathryn Shriner, Sarah Shriner, Heather Sims and Gina Yaquinto.

Westland is represented by Nicole Farrar, Kelly Sexton and Erin Troike.

Rounding out the squad are Stacie Collins (Plymouth) and Kristin Connor (Farmington Hills).

Blazers storm into district final

The stage is set for a classic confrontation Friday when Plymouth Canton (20-1) meets Livonia Ladywood (14-3) for the Class A district girls basketball championship. Game time is 7 p.m. at Northville High School.

The long anticipated Star Wars matchup is upon us.

State-ranked girls basketball powers Plymouth Canton (20-1) and Livonia Ladywood (14-3) will collide Friday for the Class A district championship at Northville. (Game time is 7 p.m.)

Both teams advanced with impressive wins in Wednesday's semifinal double-header.

In the opener, Canton rolled to a 65-21 victory over Kensington Valley Conference co-champion Novi, while Ladywood crushed Plymouth Salem in the nightcap, 59-23.

"It will be a great game because they are two outstanding teams that play great defense and know how to win," Salem coach Fred Thomann said. "They both have played a high level of competition this year and done very well."

Ladywood showed no ill effects of a two-week layoff following its 49-44 semifinal loss to Dearborn Divine Child in the Catholic League playoffs.

"We took a couple of days off and some of the girls said it really helped them," Ladywood coach Ed Kavanaugh said. "A majority of them play year-round, not because I want them to, but by choice."

"We came back with our basic man-to-man defense and we stressed teamwork during the layoff."

The Blazers, using a full-court press, stormed out to a 21-3 first-quarter lead and never looked back.

By halftime it was 37-11 Ladywood. "We played a pretty good basketball team," said Thomann, whose Rocks bowed out with a 13-8 record.

"Defensively, Ladywood is so good. And once they can shake the ball loose, they have the ability to finish at the other end and score."

"With their size and the way they rebound the ball, it makes for a tough defensive matchup."

Junior forward Tara Overaitis, showing no complications from a broken nose suffered in the Divine Child game, led the winners with 19 points. Tara Wasiak, a 5-11 senior, came off the bench to score 11.

Lisa Craven, a senior guard, tallied nine to pace the Rocks.

Kavanaugh also shook up his lineup, starting senior Erin Lucas at guard.

Lucas did not score, but gave the Blazers some stability in the backcourt. Ladywood only had eight turnovers on the night to Salem's 20.

"Erin's an excellent passer, a good defender and makes smart plays," Kavanaugh said. "She decided in the Divine Child game that we wanted to be a basketball player and it's showing."

Canton, meanwhile, made all the right plays in routing Novi, which bowed out with a respectable 16-5 record.

Canton led 14-6 after one quarter, but turned on the jets with runs of 21-6 and 17-2 in the second and third periods. The Chiefs made 20 of 39 shots (51 percent) from the floor during the first 24 minutes.

Britta Anderson, a 5-7 senior forward, led the victorious Chiefs with 18 points, while 5-10 sophomore Sarah Warnke came off the bench to score 14. Floor general Alyson Nouna, a 5-foot senior, added nine points.

the floor (six for 38), got eight points from Kelly Kearney.

"We came out early and were pretty aggressive," Canton coach Bob Brown said. "We took the ball to the basket, rebounded and defended well."

"The good start gave our team confidence. We were really into it. We got shots inside and we also got to the rim versus their zone. I'm pleased with the way we played."

Kavanaugh also came away impressed with Canton.

"They're an excellent team," he said. "We're going to have to step our game up a level to beat them."

Run 'n shoot

Glenn faces speedy Flint Central team

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

The run 'n shoot offense is alive and well, just ask Flint Central football coach Joe Eufinger.

It's certainly flourished this season for the unbeaten Indians (14-0), who take on Westland John Glenn (10-1) in the state Class AA semifinals, 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Lansing Everett High School.

"This is my fourth year using the offense," said Eufinger, who last reached the state semifinals in 1984 with a one-handed quarterback named Jim Abbott. "Sometimes it was good, and sometimes it was bad."

But the fans certainly got their $3 worth and more. It was entertaining football.

Speedy Central wide receiver DeAngelo Mitchell has become a human highlight film. In last week's 46-21 Region I championship win over Grand Rapids Union, Mitchell caught six passes for 108 yards and two touchdowns.

For the season, he has 12 TD receptions and 44 catches, averaging close to 20 yards per catch.

"I've been the head coach here 18 years and I'd say he (Mitchell) is as good as anybody," Eufinger said. "He also has the best pair of hands on the team."

Eufinger also said Mitchell may be in the same class as Cedric Gordon, who led Ann Arbor Pioneer to the state Class A title in 1984.

"Number 80 (Mitchell) is a great receiver," Glenn coach Chuck Gordon said. "They (Central) have athletes, a lot of speed."

"They'll put a slot-back on each side with a one-back set. Then they'll run a back in motion and it becomes an I-formation. They try to spread you around the field like Adrian did."

Quarterback Freddie Jackson, who now has 22 TD tosses on the year, was 11-for-16 last week for 170 yards and three TDs against Union.

Other scoring threats include Andre Weathers and sophomore tailback Reiko Hurl.

"Our alignment is as much run as it is pass," Eufinger said. "But yes, we run double-slot and throw it around a lot."

Defensively, the Indians play some 4-3 with an occasional 5-3 look, according to Eufinger.

"It depends how the game is going," said the Flint Central coach.

Torrey Robinson, a 5-foot-9, 250-pound down lineman, is an All-Saginaw Valley Conference choice.

Weathers, Mitchell and Hurl have also excelled at the defensive back positions.

Eufinger said a come-from-behind 27-13 victory over Bay City Central in the second game of the season was the team's turning point.

"We were behind 13-12 with about six minutes to go and we fumbled on fourth-and-goal at the 2," Eufinger recalls. "We could have gone in the tank, but we came right back and caused a fumble at their 30. We went in and scored, held them again, and scored. And that was against a pretty good team. Bay City ended up 7-2 with losses to us and Saginaw Arthur Hill, another playoff team."

Eufinger, like Gordon, also has some concerns of his own going into Saturday's final clash.

"Glenn does a nice job on special teams, I'm impressed with that," said the Central coach. "And another thing that stands out is their team defense. The intensity level there seems to be solid."

"Offensively, they have a good running game, but actually it's a good combination of running and passing. It's a Midland-style football team. And that's a compliment because they've always been strong in our league (SVC)."

"They have the same kind of players. They're athletic, but they have a good all-around team concept."

Double play

Michigan bound: Twins Bryan (left) and Derek Besco of Westland John Glenn signed Monday to play baseball with the University of Michigan Wolverines. For more on the twosome, see Page 3B.

Newcomers boost Madonna

By C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

What Madonna University's women's basketball team should have on the front of its programs is a disclaimer. Something like:

Any resemblance between the past Madonna women's teams and the present one is the result of a failing memory. See a doctor.

Bill Potter enters his third season as coach at Madonna with something far different than he's had before — a contender.

It's not built the way most contenders are constructed — with experienced players, well-versed in the team's system. Only four of Potter's 14 players were on the squad last season.

The Lady Crusaders were 13-18 last season, losing in the first round of the NAIA District 23 playoffs. The district set-up has been scrapped, so now Madonna will vie with 13 other teams for one of eight playoff berths in the independent Great Lakes Region. The berths will be determined not by round-robin scheduling, but by

How this will work is anyone's guess, but Potter is confident of his team's chances. "The attitude is great," he said. "They're antsy to get going."

As for the playoffs: "Well, you know that old adage — win all your games and you know you'll be in the playoffs."

That doesn't sound like a coach of a team that's struggled to reach 500. With good reason, Potter has brought in some top-notch talent, good enough to convert the Crusaders from also-rans to regional contenders.

The newcomers begin with Shawn Bannon, a 5-foot-6 junior guard from Dearborn Divine

JOHN STORMZ/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Good outlook: Bill Potter had to start from scratch two years ago to build Madonna University a women's basketball team. Now, he has a regional contender.

Child who started for two seasons at Central Michigan and averaged around 10 points and six assists a game last season. She transferred to Madonna to study nursing.

"Shawn loves to have the ball in her hands at all times," said Potter. "She's going to bring maturity to our team. When things are out of sync, she wants to be in there. At the end of the game, she wants the ball in her hands."

Bannon adds instant credibility to Madonna, but she isn't alone. Among the other additions expected to help immediately are freshmen Meegan Marlett, a 5-8 first-team Class D all-state guard from Atlanta (Mich.) who averaged 17 points per game as a high school senior and Rachel Emery, another 5-8 guard from the same area as Marlett (Fairview, Wis.) who's quick and rebounds well. Vicki Koenig, a 6-0 junior transfer from Oakland CC and Sterling Heights, can play defense, run, rebound and shoot the three-pointer. There are others, too: Kathleen Gerick, 5-4 from Farmington Hills; Mercy, Maria Liwag, 5-4 from Divine Child; Tracy Prybylski, 5-4 from Livonia; Ladywood; Courtney Whittaker, 5-10 from Clarkston; Rebecca Bloch, 5-8 from Farmington; and Denise Williams, 5-10 from Grayling. Gerick is a sophomore and Williams is a junior; the others are freshmen.

If you get the idea that the newcomers are somewhat concerned about their status, well,

"You'll see a totally revamped team," promised Potter. "We'll be so much faster. We'll run and press."

"I told everybody we're going to run the ball. If you're going to stay up or not, it's up to you."

The four coming back — 5-11 junior forward Stephanie Creiley, an honorable mention all-district pick last year who averaged 13 points and eight rebounds a game, 5-7 senior guard Jill Burt, 6-0 sophomore center April Blanton, and 5-9 sophomore forward Mary Bieniewicz — have Potter's confidence.

Creiley "comes in with an outstanding attitude," he said, while Blanton "has lost 20 pounds" to keep a spot in the player rotation. Burt suffered through a slump last season, but Potter feels the up-tempo offense is "definitely more suited to her style of play."

So how good can the Crusaders be? "Barring injury just having a 500 season would be sub-par," said Potter. Twenty wins are within reach.

It's a big step for Madonna women's basketball, but the talent is there to take it.

Crusaders are facing an imposing obstacle

By C.J. RISAK

Vengeance will probably occur to some of Madonna University's volleyball players Saturday when they travel to the College of Mount St. Joseph's in Cincinnati — but it won't be a key motivational factor.

The incentive surrounding Saturday's match will be consumed by what's at stake: a trip to the NAIA National Tournament in San Diego.

The Lady Crusaders are ranked seventh in the nation with a 42-6 record; they advance past the district round of play for the first time ever. Mount St. Joseph's, 40-6 for the season, is ranked 16th and has been to the bi-district round the past three years. Each time, it lost to Northwood University.

The two teams have met before. On Sept. 10, in the opening round of the Indiana University-Purdue University-Indianapolis Tournament, St. Joseph's disposed of Madonna in two straight games in the first round of pool play. The Crusaders rallied to win their next five matches and capture the tourney title.

They've been pretty much on a roll ever since, with few detours.

That's not to say coach Jerry Abraham is taking anything for granted. "We're going to have to be on top of our game and real smart," Abraham warned. "Everything's on the line."

"We're going to have to hit the ball and play scrappy."

Madonna advanced with a three-game sweep of University of Michigan-Dearborn in Thursday's NAIA District 23 semifinals and a five-game defeat of Spring Arbor in Friday's final.

"I thought we played very well," said Abraham of the district tournament, which Madonna hosted. "We had a long match with Spring Arbor; they came back but we responded and played well. I was happy with our passing and defense and serve reception."

Although everything may not exactly be on the line for Madonna — even if the Crusaders lose, there's a chance they could receive an at-large berth — Abraham is stressing to his troops the need to win their way into the NAIA Tournament.

Ocelots reject turnover plague to post win

It was a good game, but the Ocelots' victory over Muskegon last weekend at the Macomb CC Classic was inexperience and clumsiness.

On Tuesday, the Ocelots overcame those flaws to post their first victory of the season, 92-83 over Ohio State-Lima at SC.

Unlike last weekend, when SC was committing bundles of turnovers and had just two players in each game reach double figures in scoring, against Lima there were four in doubles and there were "at least half as many turnovers," according to SC coach Dave Bogataj.

BASKETBALL

According to SC coach Dave Bogataj,

Steve Whitlow led the Ocelots with 21 points. Todd McNeil had 20, Abu Hamilton 14 and Milton Stoudemire 11. Ricky Mitchell finished with nine. Don Rice's 24 topped Lima; Troy Keysor had 23.

Last weekend, the Ocelots lost 86-80 to Kellogg CC Friday, then fell 103-72 on Saturday to Muskegon CC. The only team to escape the weekend unscathed was host Macomb, which defeated both Muskegon and Kellogg. SC committed 30 turnovers in each game.

"We had a tremendous number of turnovers," said Bogataj. "The youth really showed. Both Muskegon and Kellogg had more sophomores than we did."

In the lopsided loss to Muskegon Saturday, SC twice made runs that cut the deficit to a reachable goal. In the first half, a 15-point bulge shrunk to three with 3½ minutes left, and in the second the Ocelots trimmed a 22-point gap to nine with 6½ minutes remaining.

Both times, Muskegon replied with a run of its own. The Jayhawks led 54-38 at the half; after SC's second-half run, they powered their way back to a comfortable lead that culminated with the 31-point victory.

Muskegon was aided by McNeil's foul trouble. McNeil and Whitlow were the Ocelots' only reliable offensive weapons; McNeil had 30 points and 13 rebounds, before fouling out with five minutes left. Whitlow finished with 17 points and five boards. Next highest scorer among the Ocelots was Mitchell with eight.

Earl Canning's 30 points was best for Muskegon (7-of-11 from three-point range). Ed Pernell had 15.

Besco brothers opt for baseball

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

As Ernie Harwell might say, University of Michigan baseball coach Bill Freehan got "two for the price of one" when identical twins Bryan and Derek Besco of Westland and John Glenn each signed national letters of intent Monday with the Wolverines.

The bookend combination have been standouts in the classroom, on the football field and on the baseball diamonds over the past two years for the Rockets. Last year, both were selected first-team All-Observer in baseball and football.

On Saturday, the Bescos, who double as outside linebackers and ends, will lead Glenn into a state Class AA football semifinal matchup against Flint Central. They hope to take Glenn one step further than last June's run in the state Class A baseball tourney where Grand Ledge ousted the Rockets in the semifinals.

"It was a tough decision, but I think our future was definitely in baseball," said Derek, who ranks 24th in a senior class of 527, carrying a 3.877 grade-point average. "I just think we're too little for football."

Each player is 6-foot-1 and 195 pounds.

The early baseball signing period for the NCAA ended Wednesday (Nov. 17).

"We were going to wait and see what the other colleges might offer, but Michigan had a bigger program and my family thought it was the best place to get an education," said Bryan, who ranks 15th overall in his senior class with a 3.916 GPA.

Jack and Judy Besco, along with their sons, made an official visit to Michigan during the weekend of Oct. 2. The family was housed on campus, met Freehan and the rest of the Michigan baseball staff, and attended the Michigan-Iowa football game.

"Everybody was so nice there," Derek said. "We were kind of the center of attention. It was kind of neat. The brunch was great. We went through the tunnel and onto the (football) field right before the game. It was a real honor. It was a fun experience."

As a junior, Bryan Besco starred as a left-handed pitcher for Glenn, finishing 8-2 overall with a 1.60 earned run average. He struck out 95 batters in 68 1/3 innings, while walking only 20.

Derek, a shortstop, hit .382 with 18 extra-base hits, including six homers and 30 RBI.

"They're looking at me as a No. 4 hitter, and with the arm I have maybe a third baseman or outfielder," Derek said. "Bryan is going there basically as a pitcher."

Both Derek and Bryan came away impressed with Freehan, the former Tigers catcher who took over the U-M program three years ago.

"He was a real nice guy," Bryan said. "He gave us time to talk about it (decision) because he wanted to keep our minds set on football."

Glenn football coach Chuck Gordon was pleased with the decision.

"It doesn't matter, football or baseball, when they tee it up they go 100 miles per hour," Gordon said. "I'm happy for both of them."

The Bescos also informed Glenn baseball coach Norm Hoenes of their decision on Tuesday.

"He was really happy for us," Derek said.

Both should also make Freehan and Michigan followers quite happy, as well.

Coaches accuse, spikers lose

C.J. RISAK

Well, it's been said sports are for kids, and the way a few college coaches are acting, that adage has certainly proven true.

It's just too bad they didn't leave it to the kids.

Here's my (unsolicited) opinion on how eligibility problems should be handled on collegiate levels below the NCAA's Division I, where big bucks are at stake: immediately, quietly, in-house. If there's a problem, rectify it.

If one school becomes aware of potential trouble at another school, alert that other school.

Tom Teeters and Gary Gray have defied that and become embroiled in what can only be termed a very ugly mess. Teeters coaches Schoolcraft College's volleyball team; Gray coaches Henry Ford CC's.

A brief history leading up to the controversy: Two Henry Ford players, Kristen Barnes and Danielle Pfeffer, transferred to Schoolcraft in January. No problem with Barnes, who had signed with the Hawks for just one year; but Pfeffer's letter of intent at Henry Ford covered two. She needed to get a release to be immediately eligible.

She didn't get it. The oversight wasn't discovered until the season was one-third over. SC had to forfeit all matches played to that point in which Pfeffer had played.

Henry Ford took over as the Eastern Conference's kingpin, earning the top seed in the NJCAA's Region 12 Tournament, hosted by SC. The Lady Ocelots were up to the challenge, however, advancing to the championship round after battling back from two games down to beat Henry Ford.

But the Hawks didn't surrender, either. They emerged from the loser's bracket and, playing without the services of setter Jacie Friend (who had to attend her sister's wedding), managed to beat the Ocelots in back-to-back best-of-five matches to claim the regional title.

For a day.

That's when the trouble began. It ended with Henry Ford being disqualified from the NJCAA Tournament, which the regional title qualified them for, after using an ineligible player; the berth was expected to be filled by tournament host Miami Dade-Kendall.

Allegations flew from both camps, but there were far more denials. Gray had a few choice words for Teeters, claiming he turned his team in and that "this is retribution for what happened to them."

Teeters countered by claiming he knew nothing of Henry Ford's problem until the day it was uncovered.

Gray added that he wasn't the one to blow the whistle on SC regarding Pfeffer.

Know what? I couldn't care less about the problems these two may cause themselves. My gut reaction is not to believe either of them. Teeters insisted he was not the one to initiate the process that ended with Henry Ford's disqualification, but more than one source has revealed Teeters knew the Hawks had an ineligible player.

His response? He insists he never said it. "If I knew a team was using an ineligible player and I didn't say something, I would be fired. And I would expect to be fired."

As for Gray, there's some doubt there, too. After all, his team played SC (with Pfeffer) the week before Pfeffer's eligibility problems were uncovered.

Gray said he believed the NJCAA office discovered the mistake. But, according to Mary Ellen Leicht, who handles volleyball for the NJCAA, SC's problem was phoned in to her office by an outside source.

The bottom line is, it's idiocy. Had both school's administrations been on top of things, none of this would have occurred. Pfeffer's ineligibility was caused by a mistake made in the SC athletic office. Her credentials should have been checked and re-checked.

At Henry Ford, counselors and coaches are both supposed to make certain their players know they cannot drop below the minimum number of credits necessary to be eligible. A player did, and it cost the Hawks.

The losers in all this are easy to pick out: the players. They do all the work, and they don't even get a chance to reap the benefits. Worse, after a superb three-set showdown for the regional title, in which both teams displayed relentless tenacity, all that will be remembered of the '93 regional will be the off-court shenanigans.

Gray was right when he said his kids deserved better. Both teams did — starting at the very top.

Head becomes Hawkeye

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

The parents of Plymouth Salem senior James Head can look forward to making more cross-country trips in the future.

Head became the second member of his family to earn a basketball scholarship out of state when he signed a letter of intent on Tuesday to attend the University of Iowa. Head's sister, Dena, played on two national championship teams at the University of Tennessee and was national Player of the Year as a senior in 1991-92.

Jim Head said he doesn't mind logging several more thousand miles on his five-year-old van.

"You always find transportation for that (watching a son or daughter play)," the elder Head said. "We felt he would have the opportunity to play somewhere, and — it being a Big Ten school — it's an honor and privilege for those participating at that level. The coaches at Salem and the entire school staff prepared James well for the next level."

Head, a first-team All-Observer choice last year after averaging 14 points and 10.4 rebounds per game, said he was glad to sign during the early signing period, which started Nov. 10 and ended Wednesday. The 6-foot-6, 210-pound forward said he has passed his ACT test and will be eligible to play as a freshman.

Head said he chose Iowa over several Big Ten schools.

"Iowa is the best place for me," he said. "I fit in real well for them, and I was real impressed with the staff, the way they handled themselves. Everything was first class. They recruited me as a student-athlete first."

BASKETBALL

Head made an official visit last month and became friends with Iowa sophomore Kenyon Murray, the former Mr. Basketball from Battle Creek. Head has never seen an Iowa game in person but was on hand for an intra-squad scrimmage at Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

"I was amazed by their fan support," Head said. "It was a practice game, and they had several thousand fans there."

Salem coach Bob Brodie said Iowa coach Tom Davis and assistant Rich Walker, who is from the Detroit area, started recruiting Head seriously last year. Head's stock improved over the summer when he played well at the ABCD camp at Eastern Michigan University, where Detroit Pershing's All-America candidate Willie Mitchell also played.

Head is the third Salem player Brodie has had who signed with a Division I school out of high school. Rick Taylor, a 1987 Salem graduate, signed with the University of Detroit-Mercy, and Jake Baker, a '91 grad, signed with Central Michigan University.

"Iowa is an excellent decision. It's a quality program with a good staff," Brodie said. "They were in our gym last year watching James during practice time. They showed a lot of interest in James as a person. Signing early gives him a chance to concentrate on his senior year academically and athletically."

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Championship matchup looms: Franklin to meet Garden City

By C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

Mary Jarvis really didn't know what to expect from Wayne Memorial in Wednesday's Class A district semifinal at Romulus. But the Livonia Franklin girls basketball coach knows what Friday's 7 p.m. final against Garden City will bring.

"I think Garden City against us will be a good game," Jarvis said. "We're pretty evenly matched."

It must be a better pairing than either of the district semifinals. In the opener, Garden City opened it up slowly, building a 10-point lead at halftime (27-17) before putting Belleville away with a 24-12 third-quarter spurt en route to a 69-39 triumph.

The nightcap, Franklin against Wayne, featured the same point spread at the intermission (18-8). The difference was that Franklin's 10-point lead was far safer than Garden City's.

Why? Because Wayne had few offensive threats. "Our leading scorer, Zebra coach Chuck Henry explained afterwards, 'had a 10-point average. No one else had half that.'"

It didn't leave much hope for a rally. Wayne could only come as close as nine points — early in the second half — and Franklin followed that with a six-point run. They never came closer than 13 after that; the final margin was

'I think Garden City against us will be a good game. We're pretty evenly matched.'

Mary Jarvis
Franklin coach

41-24. It won't be so easy, Friday against Garden City. The Cougars reversed a late-season five-game losing streak, winning their last two in the regular season and two more in the state tournament. Against Belleville in the district semis, they had lapses, sure, but they knew where their strength lay.

A three-point lead seemed the best Garden City could manage against the Tigers (whose 12-8 record was the best of all teams in the district) until midway through the second quarter. That's when the Cougars' size began taking its toll.

Yvette Sixbey scored five points in the last five minutes of the half and created several other chances for Garden City with her rebounding. That trend continued in the second half, with Sixbey, Michelle Curtis and Jenny Audritsch dominating play inside. Sixbey finished with 20 rebounds, which — according to Garden City statistics — was more than Belleville had as a team. She also scored 14 points and had five steals.

"We went from a man-to-man (defense) to a 3-2 match-up zone in the second half," explained Garden City coach Marshall Henry. "We wanted to make them beat us from the outside, and they couldn't."

True enough. Belleville was 3-of-17 from the floor in the final quarter; Garden City was 8-of-17.

Yvonne Jenks collected 18 points, four assists and four steals for the Cougars. Jamie Faber had 11 points. Only Tiffany Schock reached double figures for the Tigers, scoring 17.

Garden City is now 12-10. Belleville finishes at 12-9.

Friday's final with Franklin will be more of a challenge. For one thing, the Patriots shoot free throws better. They were 6-3-of-8 against Wayne. Belleville made just 13-of-29 against Garden City.

Both teams like to pressure on defense, and both teams feature good rebounders. Jaclyn Deane led Franklin against Wayne with 13 points, 10 rebounds and five steals. Kellie Main had 11 points, four steals and three assists.

But just as Garden City is far more formidable than Wayne, which bowed out at 5-16, so too is Franklin (10-12 for the season) bigger and better than Belleville, whose tallest girl is 5-foot-9.

The matchup is indeed intriguing.

Stevenson whips Henry Ford, 66-51; Panthers next on docket

By STEVE KOWALSKI

Redford Union and Livonia Stevenson will play for the Class A girls basketball district championship at Southfield High School.

RU used an incredible 31-0 run in the first half to defeat Detroit Redford 62-21 in the first game of a district semifinal doubleheader Wednesday at Southfield. Stevenson received a balanced scoring attack, led by Mo Drabicki's 22 points, to defeat Detroit Henry Ford, 66-51, in the second game.

The championship will be held at 7 p.m. Friday at Southfield.

Stevenson, 18-3 overall, is the last team to beat RU on Sept. 21. The Spartans won that game at RU, 58-49. RU is 17-4 overall.

RU senior guard Jamie Zalek, who scored a game high 14 points, said she thinks the Panthers can beat Stevenson.

"My freshman and sophomore years we won districts (without winning a league championship)," Zalek said. "My junior year we won a league championship without winning the district. This year I figure we can win both. We've grown a lot since the last time we played Stevenson."

RU scored 19 straight points to turn an early 8-5 lead into a 27-5 advantage after one quarter.

The Panthers then outscored Redford 12-0 to start the second quarter, ending the surge with a three-point play by Sue Crowley for a commanding 39-5 lead. The lead was 41-6 by halftime.

Zalek scored 12 points in the first quarter and junior guard Jenny Markham scored seven of her 11 points in the first quarter.

Crowley and senior center Rachel Clor finished with 10 points each and Christine Miller added five. RU's starting five played less than half the game, with Lisa Septer, Theresa Walker, Carrie Hansen, Amanda Rigley and Crowley playing most of the second quarter and after halftime.

RU enjoyed a 40-28 rebounding advantage and 13 Panthers grabbed at least one. Walker and Crowley led with six rebounds each and Zalek grabbed five.

Stevenson, meanwhile, never trailed against Henry Ford, which finished its season at 12-7 overall.

The Spartans led 16-6 after one quarter and 40-28 at halftime. Stevenson scored the first eight points of the second half to open up a 48-30 lead and led 57-34 after three quarters.

"The first half we were a little too spectacular and were doing too much, too fast," Stevenson coach Wayne Henry said. "The second half we were smarter with the ball and we had a real nice third quarter because of it."

Besides leading the Spartans in scoring, Drabicki had several fine assists to senior forward Kim Olszewski, who scored 11 points despite playing most of the second half in foul trouble. Junior forward Anne Marie Aquino scored nine points and sophomore center Stacey Nichols added eight points before fouling out.

Sophomore forward Jennifer Dulz was impressive off the bench, scoring nine points and grabbing four rebounds. Nichols and Drabicki led with nine rebounds each and junior guard Jill VanTiem grabbed seven.

"With Stacey in foul trouble, Jennifer did a nice job," Henry said. "A lot of games she's in the game to concentrate on defense and rebounds but she had nine points tonight and most of what she scored came on left-handed shots. You tell the girls to use their left-hand when needed and they don't always want to do it. There's a girl who came off the bench who showed how easy it can be."

Ford, which took state-ranked Detroit Martin Luther King to double overtime earlier this year before losing, was outscored 42-30.

"Drabicki's tough," Ford coach Jonathan Williams said. "They have a lot of good shooters and run the floor real well."

The Spartans aren't overconfident about the RU game despite the earlier victory.

"RU's going to be a challenging game," Drabicki said.

Canton coach Mike Spitz is the Coach of the Year after leading the Chiefs to the Western Lakes Activities Association championship.

Redford Catholic Central won the Catholic League again and took 10th at the Class A meet.

Following is a look at each runner:

Sophomore, CC coach Tony Magni can look forward to two more years of having one on his team. Joe Leo, the brother of senior All-Observer choice Mark Leo, finished among the top-10 at nine invitational meets, including the regional and state meets.

He was ninth at the Class A meet (16:02), third at the regional (16:30) and second at the Catholic League (16:35). Other finishes included ninth at West Bloomfield (16:43), seventh at Holly (16:36), fourth at Shamrock (16:40), fourth at Haslett (16:34), third at Sturgis (16:51) and second at Operation Friendship (16:55).

Leo is a confident runner who thrives on competition, Magni said. "He focuses on the big meets at the end and paced his season as he paced his races."

Brian Rajdi, sophomore, North Farmington: Rajdi took first place in the Western Lakes meet (16:41) and was 10th at the Class A meet (16:25). He placed eighth in the regional (16:59).

"Brian is a very gutsy runner and we should see him continue to improve over the next couple years," North coach Paul Welch said.

Dan Boynton, junior, Redford Union: Boynton was named RU's Most Valuable Runner after winning seven of eight dual meets, taking ninth at the Class A regional (17:02) and 25th at the state meet (16:42). He was Mega Conference White Division runnerup (16:49), took third at the DeLaSalle Invitational, fourth at the RU Invitational and fifth at the Walled Lake Western Invitational.

"Danny is a 5-foot, 11-inch keg of dynamite," RU coach Tobin Jones said. "He has the heart of a lion and great intensity at race time."

Kurt Garcia, junior, Redford Union: Garcia was the other half of RU's All-Observer contingent after taking 15th at the Class A meet (16:30) and 10th at the regional (17:02). He was third in the Mega Conference White Division (16:50), fifth at the RU Invitational, and sixth at both the DeLaSalle and Walled Lake Western invitational.

"Kurt has great character, discipline and unmatched work ethic," Jones said. "He's a leader athletically and in the classroom."

Mark Leo, senior, Redford Catholic Central: The elder Leo, brother recovered from a mid-season leg injury to take 11th at the regional (17:04) and 40th at the Class A meet (16:35). A repeat member of the All-Observer team, Leo started the year strong with a fourth-place showing at Holly (16:29), fifth at the Shamrock Invitational (16:50) and seventh at the West Bloomfield (16:38).

He also was eighth at the Catholic League meet (17:29) and fourth at the Operation Friendship (17:21).

An injury in the middle of the season slowed Mark but he came back with determination to do well at the end of the season, Magni said. "Mark has a great attitude and is able to focus on his opponents."

Casey Moothart, junior, Plymouth Canton: Moothart took second place at the WLAA meet (16:50), third at the Monroe Jefferson Invitational and fourth at the Holly Invitational (16:48). He placed 12th at the Class A regional (17:04) and 43rd at the state meet (16:54).

"Casey was a team leader and his consistent performance was a stabilizing factor throughout the season," Spitz said. "As the other teammates became faster and faster, Casey was there for them to model their efforts after."

Kevin Afflerbaugh, senior, Farmington: Afflerbaugh was the Farmington city champion, took 15th at the Class A regional and 24th at the state meet. He was 11th at the WLAA meet, seventh at Haslett and 15th at West Bloomfield. Afflerbaugh also carries a 4.0 grade point average.

"He doesn't like to lose and is extremely motivated," Farmington coach Chip Bridges said. "Whatever he does, he wants to do the best."

Matt Demeo, senior, Plymouth Canton: Demeo took third at the WLAA meet (16:52), 19th at the Class A regional (17:16) and 29th at the state meet (16:45).

"Matt was a tremendous competitor and always ran well in the big meets," Spitz said. "He is a very mentally tough runner. He had a very positive effect on his teammates."

Jeff Howle, senior, North Farmington: Howle took seventh at the WLAA meet (16:57), 18th at regional (17:17) and 40th at the state meet (16:51).

"Jeff has done a terrific job for us over the past four years," Welch said. "It was great to see him end his high school cross-country career on such a positive note."

Brad Polkinghorne, sophomore, Luthran Westland: Polkinghorne was a Class C regional champion (17:20) and placed ninth in the state meet (17:10). He was a medal winner in all seven of the invitational meets he ran. His best time, 16:44, was recorded at both the Centerline Invitational and Metro Conference, where he placed second.

"Brad developed into a lead runner this season by learning to start his races at a fast pace with the top runners," coach John Gerlach said. "Once into this pace, Brad's mental strength and desire to win drives him through the spots in the race where other runners start falling back in the pack. The tougher the competition, the harder he runs. His best quality is his humility."

Neighboring schools to host math conference

The Detroit Area Council of Teachers of Mathematics and the Metropolitan Detroit Science Teachers Association will present the annual Mathematics and Science Fall Conference 8:15 a.m. to 3:05 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 20, at the Plymouth Canton Educational Park.

More than 2,000 teachers from around the state will take part in the day-long event, according to Barbara Church, PCEP area coordinator for mathematics and career and technical education.

"Participants will have the opportunity to select from more than 200 exciting, informative sessions and workshops," Church explained. "In addition, the conference will feature one of the largest exhibits of math and science materials in the state of Michigan."

The sessions are designed to help new and experienced teachers learn fresh approaches to teaching in the math and science field. The conference will provide a balanced program consisting of practical, informative sessions and hands-on participatory workshops. More than 100 companies will exhibit the latest in books, media, supplies and equipment in the fields of math and science.

This is the third consecutive year the conference will be held at the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park. PCEP is the location of the district's two high schools, Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem, as well as the Phase III building.

Thirteen teachers from the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools are among the many teachers to present workshops at the event. All workshop sessions will be at Canton High School.

Canton High School math teachers Mary Griffith and Peggy Bosworth will discuss "Matching Technology with Secondary Math," at 8:15 a.m. in Room 163. A deli-style lunch, including sandwiches, potato chips, salads, beverages and desserts will be served in the Plymouth Canton High School cafeteria 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. for a cost of $5. A limited number of lunches will be available for those who have not ordered in advance.

Registration will begin at 7:45 a.m. at Plymouth Canton High School. The school is located at 8415 Canton Center Road in Canton, four miles west of I-275 and one mile south of Ann Arbor Road. The cost of the conference is $12 for on-site registration.

Calendar to feature Plymouth poets

STAFF WRITER

Twenty-five Plymouth poets strut their stuff on the pages of a 1994 calendar now available to the public.

The "Plymouth Poets 1994 Engagement Calendar" features 53 poems printed on flecked gray recycled paper, bound with a ring binder. The front and back covers are black, with gold lettering on the front.

The calendars sell for $7.95 each and are available at the Little Professor Book Store, Sideways, Gifts and Engraving Connection in downtown Plymouth.

Karen Gould, who owns her own marketing business, Ideas Ink, said, "The idea came to me

■ 'The idea came to me one night.'

one night."

She'd already bought a binding machine earlier this year, and made 20 copies of a friend's cookbook. Left over from that project were several covers. And when you add to that Gould's interest in poetry — some of her poems are printed in the calendar — you have the recipe for a homemade yet professional looking publication.

Gould had meanwhile become familiar with the Plymouth Poets group formed by Rod Reinhart this year. "I called him and said what do you think? We sent out calls for submissions," Gould said.

One attraction to creating the calendar is that it's usually tough to get poetry published. "I started thinking it would be nice to put together poetry ordinary people would like," she said.

Nearly everyone who submitted poetry was included in the calendar. Submissions were reviewed by a selection panel of Steve Marsh, Barb Masters, Reinhart,

Cost to print the calendar was $944. She's put together 270, with plans to maybe complete 30 more.

"I have to sell 150 books to break even," Gould said, added to the calendars ordered by the poets for their friends and family. Poets were each paid with a copy of the calendar.

"I feel good about it," Gould said, adding she's considering doing another one featuring kids poetry.

Neighboring schools to hold coat drive

BY MARIE CHESTNEY
STAFF WRITER

Livonia schools will play a big part in a "coats-for-needy-people" drive that will be publicized Nov. 25 nationwide during the Detroit Lions-Chicago Bears Thanksgiving Day football game.

The Detroit Lions have asked football fans to bring a coat to the game to donate to the drive.

But prior to the game, Livonia Public Schools will hold its own coat drive, and give many of the coats collected will be given to the Lions for their drive.

The Lions, in turn, will donate all coats received — from both Livonia schools and the fans — to the Salvation Army. The Livonia PTA Council will keep some of the coats collected for its own clothing depot. These coats would go to local needy families.

"When we asked to join their campaign, the Detroit Lions said they would be happy to have us," said Nancy Spinelle, spokeswoman for the Livonia Education Association. "The drive will be mentioned nationally on Thanksgiving during the Lions game."

The coat drive will be held in all Livonia Public Schools Nov. 18-19. Students are asked to bring to school an old, clean coat appropriate for any age group.

Each school will send the coats collected to central collection points in Livonia schools, where they will be picked up by Detroit Lions trucks on Nov. 22 and taken to Detroit.

All parts of Livonia schools — from the teachers to the PTA to administrators — have joined forces to back the drive, Spinelle said.

"We heard there was a need for coats, that the needy often don't get coats," Spinelle said. "We haven't set a goal, but we expect many people will want to help. This is a real-life lesson for all of us, helping those in need."

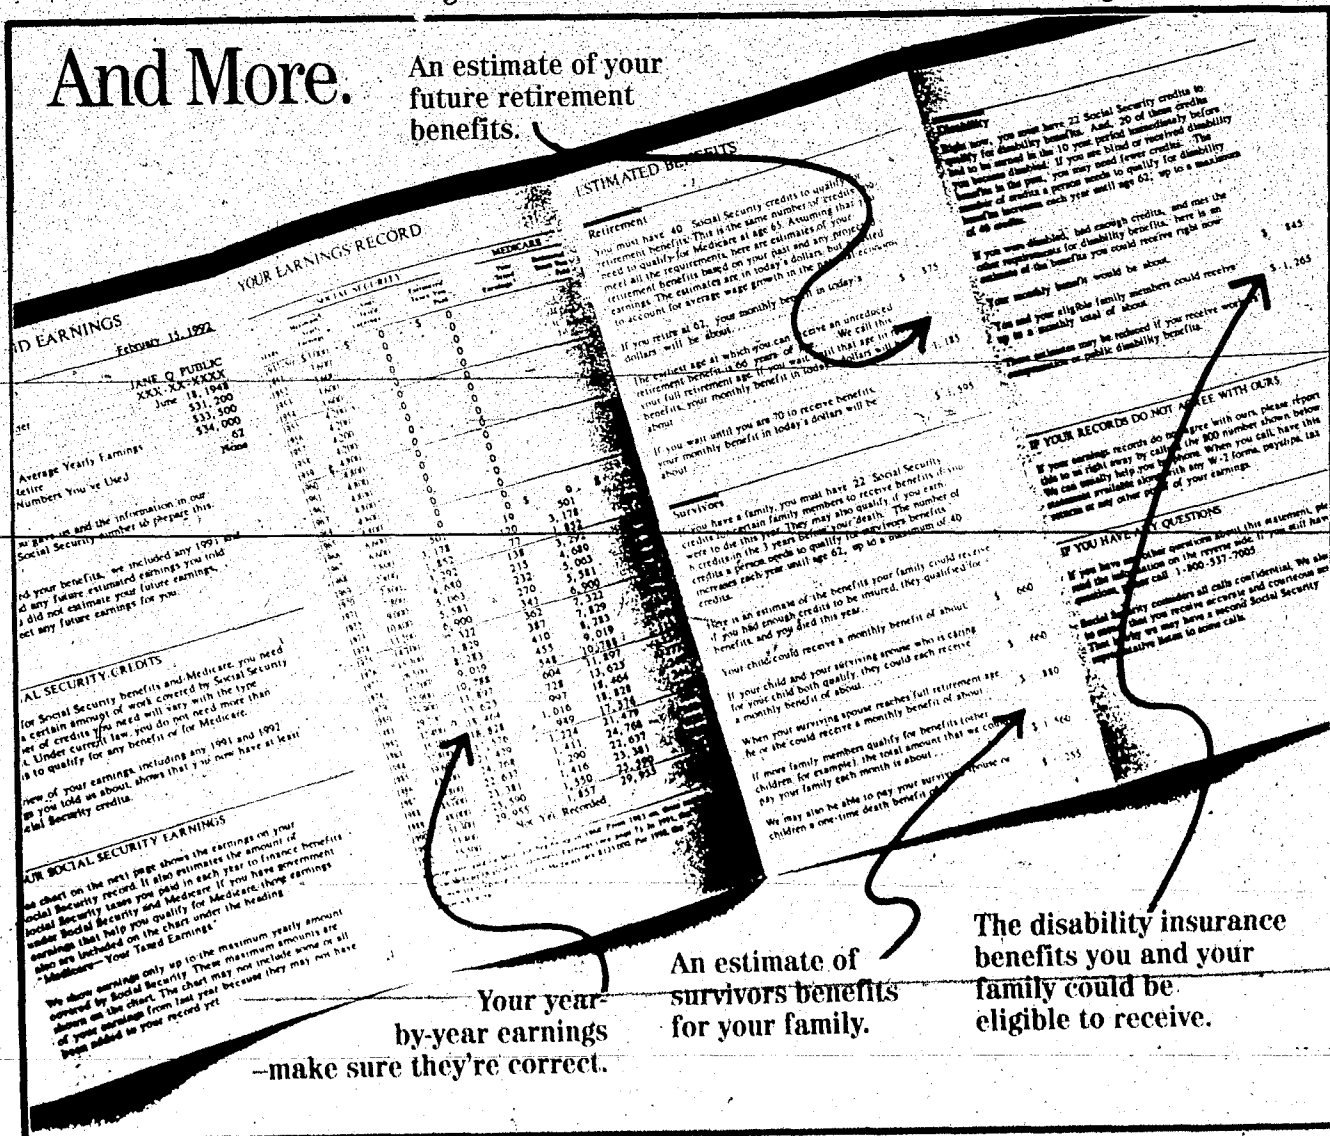

Nancy Shaw, LEA president, said Thanksgiving is a good time to gather coats for the needy.

"The message of Thanksgiving is sharing."

Celestial treat: Total eclipse of moon coming Nov. 29

SKY WATCH

RAYMOND E. BULLOCK

November's best celestial delights will occur during the second half of the month; Mercury is very well-placed for spotting, there will be a second meteor shower and a total eclipse of the moon will occur.

In the evening Nov. 18, the moon will be found within the constellation of Capricornus the goat. The star above the moon is named Al Giedi (Arabic for the goat). While it is not one of the brighter stars in the sky, it is the brightest in Capricornus, so it is distinguished by the first letter of the Greek alphabet and is known as Alpha Capricorni. The second brightest star in Capricornus, Dabih or Beta Capricorni, will be to the left of the moon. Dabih, whose name means "lucky one of the slaughterers" or the "slayer's lucky star," probably bode no good luck as far as a sacrificial goat was concerned.

The moon will be at its quarter phase at 9:03 p.m. on Nov. 20. The moon will have completed the first quarter of its orbit around the earth. Still located in the constellation of Capricornus, the bright star below the moon will be the planet Saturn. Below Saturn will be Deneb Algiedi (the "tail of the goat"), the fourth brightest star in this constellation, hence also called "Delta Capricorni."

About four degrees to the northeast of Delta Capricorni is the location in which Johann Galle discovered Neptune in September 1846. This planet moves extremely slow, taking 165 years to complete a single orbit around the sun. Since 1846 was "only" 147 years ago, Neptune has not yet completed a single orbit since its discovery. Neptune, and coincidentally Uranus, are currently within Sagittarius.

Mercury will be at its maximum elongation (greatest apparent distance from the sun) on the morning of the 22nd and will be nearly at its brightest. Mercury will be 20 degrees to the west (right) of the sun and nine degrees above the east-southeast horizon. Can you still see Venus below Mercury? It will be seven Bright Jupiter, between Mercury and Spica, will be very easy to identify.

Moon puts on show

The moon will be approaching the Pleiades star cluster on the evening of the 27th, and on the 28th it will be located midway between the Pleiades and Aldebaran (below the Pleiades and above Aldebaran). The following night the Full Moon (November's full moon is also known as the Frosty Moon or Beaver Moon) will put on a very spectacular show!

Full moon will be at 1:31 a.m. on Nov. 29. The moon will be opposite the sun, as seen from the earth, and will be fully lighted. In fact, the moon will be exactly opposite the sun, and it will be totally eclipsed as it passes through the earth's shadow. This will be a lunar eclipse, an eclipse (covering) of the moon.

The earth always casts a shadow, and it always points away from the sun into space. When the moon is opposite the sun, as the moon is during its full phase, it usually passes above or below our shadow and remains lighted. But should things line up precisely, the moon will pass through the shadow and the light of the sun blocked.

Many eclipses are partial; the alignment is close, but not exact. The moon will pass through a part of the shadow and only a portion of the moon will darken. This month, however, the alignment happens to be quite precise. This will produce a total eclipse; the moon will be totally covered and should darken considerably.

The eclipse will officially begin at 10:27 p.m. when the moon will enter the penumbra (pen UM bra), the faint outer shadow of the earth. Because this part of the shadow is very faint, no change in the moon will be noticed to the casual observer.

At 11:40 p.m. the moon will begin to enter the umbra, the darker part of the shadow. As the moon continues to move into the shadow, it will darken from left to right.

Totality will begin at 1:02 a.m. The moon will be totally within our shadow for the next 48 minutes. The darkest "phase" of the eclipse will be at 1:26 a.m. The top part of the moon will be nearest the central part of the shadow and should appear slightly darker than the rest of the moon.

No disappearing act

During totality, the moon probably will not disappear from view, as the sun does during a total solar eclipse. Enough sunlight streaming past the earth will be refracted (bent) by our atmosphere and will illuminate the moon, but with an eerie red glow. (Sunrises and sunsets are red because our atmosphere refracts the sunlight. This same effect colors the moon red.)

It is not possible to predict how "dark," or how red, the moon will be. Each lunar eclipse appears differently. The more dust and pollutants we have in our atmosphere, the redder the moon. In December 1963, volcanic eruptions on the earth caused more light than usual to be blocked by our atmosphere, and the moon disappeared from view during totality. The 1991 eruption of Mt. Pinatubo in the Philippines could cause a portion of the moon to appear dark red or even brown.

Total phase will end at 1:50 a.m. as the orbit of the moon begins to carry it out of our shadow.

The moon will still be eclipsed by the fainter penumbra until 4:25 a.m., but for all intents and purposes the show will be over at 3:12 a.m.

An eclipse of the moon is totally safe to observe. Best views of the eclipse will be through binoculars or with a telescope at low power, although there will be plenty to enjoy if you just go out and watch with the naked eye. And enjoy it you should; the next lunar eclipse, in May 1994, will be a partial one. The best viewing of the next total eclipse of the moon, in April 1996, will be limited to the eastern part of the country. (The moon will rise invisibly, already totally eclipsed, as seen from Michigan.)

An excellent aid for learning constellations and keeping up to date with the sky is the monthly "Sky Calendar," available from Abrams Planetarium, Michigan State University, East Lansing 48824. A one-year subscription is $7.50.

Local host families needed

High school students from Argentina, Brazil, Germany and Poland will be arriving in mid-January to spend five months studying in Michigan high schools.

Families are being sought to welcome these boys and girls (ages 15-18) into their houses. All of the students have studied English for at least four years; have medical insurance and enough money to cover personal expenses.

For additional data, call Lynne Levenbach at 453-8562, or 453-8851.

OCC hosts college night

High school juniors and their parents are invited to attend a college information night 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 2, at Oakland Community College's Highland Lakes campus.

Admission is free. The campus is located at 7350 Cooley Lake Road in Waterford. Call 360-3135.

OCC counselors, instructors, financial aid and admissions representatives will be there to answer questions.

But suppose during the development of a manuscript, typing errors were made that changed the description of the animal. Maybe letters were added or omitted or a wrong letter was typed completely changing the description. I let my imagination run with this idea and here are a few examples I came up with.

Imagine river potter instead of river otter or utterly instead of butterfly. How about lovenbird instead of ovenbird or fox turtle instead of box turtle or red cross-gill.

The illustrations may help you imagine what the new animal might look like or do.

Scouts collect food

Boy Scouts throughout western Wayne County will collect bags of food this Saturday as part of Operation Can Do.

Last week, scouts left the empty bags at thousands of homes.

Livonia and Plymouth-Canton scouts were operation leaders last year, helping to collect 150 tons of food in one day. In Livonia, 827 boys and 363 adults (42 packs and troops) participated. In Plymouth-Canton, 219 boys and 94 adults (23 packs and troops) took part.

So far this year, 48 Boy Scout troops and Cub Scout packs from Livonia, Plymouth-Canton, Northville and Redford Township are expected to take part in the operation.

"We are really stressing community service work this year and this project is a big part of it," said Warren Macamura, the leader of Livonia Boy Scout Pack 880.

"Normally, the boys earn quality unit patches for Operation Can Do. I'm doing something special for them this year."

If successful, the boys in Pack 880 will be the only pack in the state with a tomato can patch.

Reps back Super Collider shutdown

Here's how Observer & Eccentric area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending Oct. 22

HOUSE

To Kill Super Collider: The House voted 282 for and 143 against to terminate the Superconducting Super Collider project in Waxahachie, Texas. The death sentence was included in the Department of Energy's fiscal 1994 budget (HR 2445). The Senate later went along and the massive research project has been declared ended by supporters as well as foes in Congress. The SSC would have conducted high-speed proton collisions in an underground loop, yielding information on the origin of matter. About $2 billion toward a projected $1.1 billion cost to taxpayers has been spent. The bill contains $640 million to begin the shutdown.

A yes vote was to kill the super collider. Area representatives voting yes were: Bob Carr, D-Pontiac, Dale Kildee, D-Flint, Joseph Knollenberg, R-Birmingham, Sander Levin, D-Southfield, and William Ford, D-Ypsilanti.

Jobless Benefits: By a vote of 302 for and 95 against, the House passed a bill (HR 3167) providing an additional four months, until Feb. 5, 1994, in which the long-term jobless can qualify for additional unemployment checks after exhausting their basic 26-week allotment. Some of the estimated $1.1 billion cost will be offset by limiting Supplemental Security Income welfare payments to recent legal immigrants. But most of the tab is to be paid over five years by a plan to return the jobless to work earlier, through better state retraining mandated by the bill.

The legislation is expected to give 750,000 workers in all states seven or 13 weeks of additional checks. The emergency program of extended benefits was enacted two years ago as a temporary measure in response to the recession. Its cost has been about $25 billion.

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Bob Carr, Dale Kildee, Sander Levin, William Ford. Voting no: Joseph Knollenberg.

Benefits Issue: By a vote of 128 for and 277 against, the House rejected an amendment to limit the latest round of extended jobless benefits (HR 3167, above) to states with at least five percent unemployment. The amendment would have excluded from the program 10 states with relatively low unemployment — Delaware, Hawaii, Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah and Wisconsin.

A yes vote supported the amendment. Area representatives voting yes were: Knollenberg, Voting no: Carr, Kildee, Levin and Ford.

Selective Service: The House voted 236 for and 194 against to preserve the Selective Service, which registers 18-year-olds for any restoration of the military draft. This reversed a House vote four months earlier to kill the agency, and put the House in agreement with the Senate that the Selective Service should be kept alive. The vote approved a $25 million service budget as part of a multi-agency fiscal 1994 appropriations bill (HR 2491).

A yes vote was to preserve the Selective Service. Area representatives voting no were: Carr, Kildee, Knollenberg, Levin and Ford.

SENATE

Command Issue: By a vote of 33 for and 65 against, the Senate rejected an amendment to prevent foreign commands other than NATO from sending American troops into combat. The amendment was aimed mainly at United Nations commands such as those for Somalia, Bosnia and Haiti. It was offered to a fiscal 1994 defense appropriations bill (HR 3116) later sent to conference with the House.

Sponsor Don Nickles, R-Okla., objected to committing U.S. combat troops "to an international standing army that is without a mission, that is looking for a fire to put out, looking for a problem to solve."

Opponent Sam Nunn, D-Ga., said Congress should caution President Clinton about U.S. combat in hotspots like Haiti and Bosnia but stop short permanently changing "the balance of power between" the Congress and the president of the United States.

A yes vote was to prohibit United Nations commanders from sending American troops into combat. Michigan Sens. Carl Levin, D, and Donald Riegle, D, voted no.

Civilian Marksmanship: By a tally of 67 for and 30 against, the Senate voted to continue the Civilian Marksmanship Program that will spend $2.5 million in fiscal 1994 to help the National Rifle Association and private gun clubs teach shooting skills to young people. The Pentagon provides guns and ammunition to clubs participating in the 90-year-old government program. The vote occurred during debate on the 1994 defense appropriations bill (HR 3116).

A yes vote was to continue the Civilian Marksmanship Program. Carl Levin and Donald Riegle both voted no.

'Lettice and Lovage' smashing success

■ Lettice Douffet is a tour guide at the dullest house in England. To liven things up, she embellishes history, just a bit, with hilarious results.

BY VICTORIA DIAZ
SPECIAL WRITER

If you're seeking entertainment that will leave you smiling, don't miss The Village production of Peter Shaffer's "Lettice and Lovage."

In the contemporary comedy, Lettice Douffet is a middle-aged English tour guide with a tendency to embellish history a bit when she feels it needs embellishing. If the real story is dull, she reasons, why not enliven it with a jot and a tittle of fantasy now and then? It keeps her motley little tour groups from nodding off as they trudge through musty-old Fustian House ("the dullest house in England") and, for the frustrated actress, it's certainly a lot more fun in the telling.

Trouble is, the jot and the tittle soon grow into embroidered fantasies of rather monstrously filigreed proportions. And almost before she knows it, Miss Douffet is called on the carpet at the no-nonsense offices of the Preservation Trust in London.

There, she comes up against one Charlotte Schoen. Schoen, whose very soul is surely sensibly shod, is commander-in-chief of tour guides like Miss Douffet and a dedicated guardian of historical truth. Despite hilarious histrionic pleadings, Lettice is given the ax by the all-powerful Schoen, and that would seem to be that.

But Lettice's troubles have just begun. And, for the audience, so has the fun, in this smartly paced play directed by Stephen Tadevic. As the lovable, loquacious Lettice, Sandy Martin is a smashing delight. Her way with Peter Shaffer's words, her body language, and her comedic timing are all a treat to watch and listen to. But what cinches her success with this role is a kind of charged and sparkling energy. Her Lettice is like a star burning in a dank cellar in today's Dark Ages. The more desperate the situation becomes, the funnier Martin gets and the brighter she seems to burn.

In a challenging role as the prim and proper Miss Schoen (who admittedly cares more for buildings than for their inhabitants), Joan Reddy manages to bring warmth to what appears at first to be a rather unlikable character. She's a fine flat-footed foil, often at her best when totally exasperated by Lettice's flights of fancy, or when imbibing a bit of Lettice's homemade, heartwarming quaff.

In minor roles, Donna Snyder as Miss Schoen's fluttery, flustered secretary is a riot, and Warren Pinecker as Lettice's long-suffering legal defender is also a stand-out. Playing an imaginary drum at an imaginary execution toward the end of the play, he's a small show in himself.

Talented cast captures spirit of 'Private Lives'

lar by Coward in the 1930s.

The characters in "Private Lives" are educated, intelligent, world travelers. They are elegant and gracious. Except, of course, when Coward cleverly exposes their imperfections.

Then, it's a jolly good free-for-all as they go at each other with barbs and sarcastic putdowns — culminating in juicy quarrels and rousing fistcuffs.

Charles Van Hoose is engrossing as Elyot, who is honeymooning in France with his new bride. One moment caustic, the next debonair and charming. He has a knack for delivering Coward's cynical lines with just the right edge.

For example, "Certain women should be struck regularly, like a gong." Anyone who can make that line work in the 1990s obviously has created a great character.

The new bride, Sibyl, is played by Maggie Patton. She is captivating as a manipulative, giggly, lovestruck

Symphony, chorale present concert

The St. Hugo Festival Chorale, under the direction of choral director Kim Bishop and symphony conductor Valery Leonov, will be featured in the Southfield Symphony Orchestra's first concert of the season Sunday, Nov. 21, at St. Hugo of the Hills Church in Bloomfield Hills.

The 60-member choir will perform Schubert's "Mass No. 4 in C, Opus 48," which was composed by Schubert in 1816 and is distinctive as a Viennese "church trio" without the violas as well for its demanding soprano solo. While the piece originally was composed in a simple and restrained style, Schubert later added parts for trumpets, drums and oboes.

Bishop has been director of the choir for two years and has a master in music education and choral conducting degree from the University of Michigan. He is a graduate of Interlochen Arts Academy.

Now in its sixth year, the Chorale was founded by Michael Gehab. Two years ago, Gehab left for a position in New York State, and Bishop assumed the post. The chorale performs two or three large concerts each year and at Masses each Sunday.

"We are very pleased to be hosting the Southfield Symphony again this year," said Cynthia E. Dailey, St. Hugo music director for the past nine years. "The acoustics of the new church, which is 4½ years old, seats 1,000 and is on 30 acres, makes a beautiful setting."

Conductor: Valery Leonov will conduct the opening concert of the Southfield Symphony Orchestra on Nov. 21.

St. Hugo's offers a prestigious four-manual, 58-rank Zimmer pipe organ, a 28-rank Casavant Freres and a Bechstein piano, which accompanies the choir. Dailey and the Zimmer organ were featured in last season's March concert with the symphony orchestra.

"We are fortunate to have the kind of chemistry where friendships work among the people from the Southfield Symphony, the chorale and St. Hugo's," Dailey said. "We are looking forward to this and future joint endeavors."

No. 6 in B Minor, 'Pathetique,' and Mozart's Overture from 'The Magic Flute.'

"Symphonie Pathetique," Tchaikovsky's sixth and last symphony, is considered a masterpiece and his swan song. The introductory dark theme climbs slowly into a romantic melody, beginning explosively and continuing into loud and soft contrasts. The intermezzo movement features an unusual 5/4 time and is followed by a march-like third movement, closing with a grief-laden finale that has become Tchaikovsky's epitaph.

"The Magic Flute" is the result of Mozart's lifelong dream to create a "German" opera; at the suggestion of a well-known theatrical manager and producer, Emanuel Schikaneder, to create a work on a spectacular and supernatural subject. Mozart's "The Magic Flute" is based on German poet Wieland's fairytale, "Lulu, or the Magic Flute." Mozart died nine weeks after its first performance in late 1791.

He began performing full time in 1975 and since then he has traveled over most of North America, playing for audiences large and small at music festivals, folk clubs, concert halls and radio shows.

He has shared the bill with such luminaries as Joan Baez, appeared with Garrison Keillor on "A Prairie Home Companion," and worked the folk circuit alongside contemporaries like John McCutchen and Bill Staines.

The Tin Whistle will also showcase the popular singer/guitarist, James "Sparky" Rucker.

After 29 years of international touring, nine record releases, and main stage credits at every major folk festival in the United States and Canada, Sparky Rucker is recognized as a leading performer and commentator on African-American folk culture. ## 'The Three Musketeers' has considerable kid appeal

JOHN MONAGHAN

Tracey Dardaneli of Bloomfield Hills claims to have seen nearly every screen incarnation of D'Artagnan, from Gene Kelly in 1948 to Oliver Reed in 1974. And as far as she's concerned, the current Disney retelling of Alexandre Dumas' "The Three Musketeers" just doesn't compare.

Of course, the new version has the considerable kid appeal of young guns Charlie Sheen and Kiefer Sutherland buckling their swash and dispatching villains. And if you can see beyond them as pale copies of their respected actor fathers, you may have a great time.

When D'Artagnan (Chris O'Donnell) gallops into Paris, he hopes to follow in his father's footsteps and join the Musketeers, the elite band of soldiers dedicated to protecting the king. Instead he finds them disbanded and the kingdom in upheaval.

He quickly discovers that behind the scenes lurks evil Cardinal Richelieu (Tim Curry), who has plans of offing young King Louis and ascending the throne himself. It's up to D'Artagnan and three renegade Musketeers to stop him.

Among the young actors, Sutherland comes off best as the moody, profoundly noble Athos. Sheen brings a twist of the theologian to Aramis. Oliver Platt plays the slightly slobby Porthos, a former pirate we're told, who usually proves the most resourceful in battle.

O'Donnell made a respectable traveling companion for Al Pacino in "Scent of a Woman." But here, as D'Artagnan, fresh-faced O'Donnell simply doesn't have the flair required to make girls swoon and boys dream of life as a Musketeer.

Curry, meanwhile, isn't as evil as he is quirky and affected. Despite threats of the torture chamber and lecherous glances at the queen, you get the sneaking feeling that the former "Rocky Horror Picture Show" star is just itching to whip off that scarlet cardinal's robe and reveal garter belts and a corset underneath.

"The Three Musketeers" is typical live-action Disney fare, the same engagingly silly family entertainment they produced 30 years ago. The only change here is the body count, which mounts considerably after the frequently bloody swordfights.

I'd be surprised if director Stephen Herek ("Bill and Ted's Excellent Adventure") didn't borrow from old Errol Flynn movies. Here he even pirates the climactic scene from Hitchcock's "The Man Who Knew Too Much" when D'Artagnan races against time to stop a sniper from picking off the king.

Sure, this "Musketeers" has a few unique flourishes of its own.

A galloping D'Artagnan, in an attempt to avoid a low-hanging log that would surely dismount him, leaps from horse to log and then back on horseback. He also has a clever sword fight near the end while dangling from a French flag.

And of course, there's the requisite love interest between D'Artagnan and a starry-eyed lady in waiting, though it stays mercifully in the background. Instead we're treated to Rebecca DeMornay as a sultry spy who tries to seduce young D'Artagnan and also has some painful history with Sutherland's Athos.

Add to this a mucho-creepy dungeon, where the Cardinal, upon capturing D'Artagnan, orders his men to "take the prisoner below." You have to wonder how much farther down you can go than the dungeon!

The best thing about "The Three Musketeers" is that it doesn't take itself too seriously. Movie-goer Dardaneli agrees. "It wasn't the kind of movie where I was on the edge of my seat," she added. "But I think the audience liked it. Like me, they go to movies like this to escape into that chivalrous time."

The passionate couple of the big screen and their devoted family return with "Addams Family Values," a Paramount Pictures presentation opening Friday at metro Detroit movie theaters.

Morticia and Gomez are delighted by their new arrival, baby Pubert, complete with sweet smile, that familiar pallor and that cute little moustache. Uncle Fester has been targeted by cupid as he yearns for Debbie Jelinsky, the new nanny with her own ideas for Fester's future. Even young Wednesday finds a friend to call her own in — of all places — summer camp.

Charles Addams' macabre characters return for this second dose of Addams family madness following their film debut in 1991. Starring once again are Anjelica Huston as Morticia, Raul Julia as Gomez and Christopher Lloyd as Uncle Fester. Christina Ricci and Jimmy Workman also return as Wednesday and Pugsley.

Joining the madly happy family this time around are Carol Kane as Granny and Joan Cusack as Debbie.

Barry Sonnenfeld once again directs, and the film is produced by Scott Rudin, considered one Sonnenfeld calls the Addams family the ultimate functional family. The parents love the children. The mother and father love each other. They don't change their values based on "a whim."

"One of the things we've done with 'Addams Family Values' is to have more of a story than in 'Addams Family' and introduce new characters. So we have an opportunistic nanny, baby Pubert, and Joel Glicker, Wednesday's first boyfriend," Sonnenfeld said.

Huston describes the relationship between Gomez and Morticia as "extremely loving and very passionate. If anything, I think their passion deepens with the years."

The goal of the filmmakers was to remain true to the Addams family characters and settings that were first brought to life on the comics pages in 1932. Charles Addams began the cartoon series in the New Yorker magazine in spired by the Victorian mansions and archaic graveyards the artist remembered from his youth. Friends and family say Addams' imagination leaned to the bizarre at a very early age.

The Addams Family cartoons caught on, however, and were published for more than 50 years in the New Yorker. When the television series made its debut in 1964, editors asked that the characters not appear in the magazine, but in 1988 they were resurrected, shortly before Addams died.

Huston received a Golden Globe nomination as best actress in a comedy for her first portrayal of Morticia. She won an Academy Award for her performance in "Prizzi's Honor," which was directed by her father, the late John Huston.

Julia boasts a busy career on the screen and in the theater with roles in "Kiss of the Spider Woman," "Havana" and "Presumed Innocent."

Lloyd is perhaps best known for his portrayal of Jim Ignatowski on the hit television series "Taxi," but he also played Dr. Emmett Brown in the "Back to the Future" trilogy.

"Addams Family Values" marks the debut of twin girls Kaitlyn and Kristin Hooper as baby Pubert.

Love makes the world go round in 'Merry Widow'

MARY JANE DOERR

Even the moon dances in three-quarter time in Michigan Opera Theatre's production of "The Merry Widow" with its rich folk melodies and artistic Edwardian beauty.

In this "zither" story set in Gay Paree turned upside down like the flowers on the chandeliers, the rich daughter of a tenant farmer sets her heart on marrying a prince. Her prize, Prince Danilo, is really a prince of poverty and a man of insobriety. Debonair Ron Raines is this master of impropriety, who can capture the heart of any flower.

REVIEW

Judy Kaye is the rich merry widow with her wealth in her money notes. She dances with the grace of an angel, spins the yarn "Vilja" with drama and a sweet high B flat, has the spunk to win the heart of her long lost lover, and the diction for the audience to savor every witty word of it. She brings savoir-faire to the French laissez-faire view of love.

At the heart of the "Phantom of the Opera" craze when she received her Tony, Kaye gives heart to this love story with its music so beautiful and revered it kept composer Franz Lehar's Jewish wife out of a WWII concentration camp.

This is a time when men signaled with handkerchiefs and women held fans to ward off the excitement of those passes. The beautiful Mary Callaghan Lynch fits right in. As Valenciennes, her operatic voice never has a chance to soar, but her acting comes off without a hitch.

Love makes the world go around, and Fred Love, Valenciennes' French lover, Camille, sends Lynch spinning in this world of pink champagne with his lovely pianissimos in their duets. Stage director Dorothy Danner uses a delightful Puffer translation and made the jokes funnier with her meticulous details and the timing of some wonderful actors.

The best is Jonathan Hammond who, as Njegus, is turning his role in "Forbidden Broadway" into bidding offers. Hammond's performance sets up veteran actor Marshall Borden as Baron Zeta for lots of funny scenes.

No one ever makes it to Chez Maxims as excitement at the Pontrevidian Embassy flourishes. There a tuneful MOT orchestra with Mitchell Krieger's effortless conducting, saves the last dance, the "Merry Widow Waltz," for die-hard romantics who agree with Lehar.

"All the world is in love with love."

Wonderful cast breathes life into 'The Cemetery Club'

HELEN ZUCKER

The Ridgedale Players production of "The Cemetery Club," directed by Hal Saffron and Jacqui Saltz, is a treat. The actors blow the dust off Ivan Menchell's script, and breathe life and humor into this trenchant play.

In the hands of a small, wonderful cast, Menchell's tribute to three feisty widows from Queens, becomes an evening filled with high spirits, zingy one-liners, and moments of truth that turn on a dime. The timing is so good that I forgot that Menchell's script is too long.

REVIEW

Selma Cohen is in her element as Doris, the staunch conservative. Cohen's dry delivery, her solid presence, her enactment of a woman who, four years after her husband's death, cannot move on, carries her performance into the realm of Icon of Ridgity. Cohen gives a transcendent performance.

Lori Jacobs exudes charm as Ida, the cookie-baking grandmother who realizes she wants to move on and have a life of her own. Ida is realistic enough to know she needs someone to care for.

ON STAGE

"THE CEMETERY CLUB"

Curtain time: 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday; Nov. 19-20, 3 p.m. Sunday; Nov. 21.

Ida's home is a place of warmth where her friends meet, and where we have no trouble envisioning a new man settling in. Jacob's performance makes Ida the central character, the one who keeps everyone else on the sane side of the loop.

Eugenia Garner works her way from flip to honest in the meatiest role in the play. As talky, flamboyant Lucille, Garner barges on stage asking the price of her mink coat, hat, muff, (Doris always knows the price), telling us about all the men who can't keep their eyes off her, changes wigs with lightning speed, cuts her bridesmaid's dress into a disco outfit, and calls a seance "a Seder."

Garner manages to be adorable; she turns in a poignant, intelligent performance as a woman who finally emerges into the light of day and is able to say goodbye to a dead man she should have said goodbye to 30 years before.

Gene Ewald, as the phlegmatic butcher Sam, keeps asking, "What field?" as he moves from one woman to another. Ewald moves about "the field" in his worker's cap and trenchcoat, looking the soul of ambivalence as he waltzes toward Ida, then waltzes away at a hint from her friends.

Ewald has a marvelous moment when Garner asks him what he thinks of her pendant; he leans into Garner's cleavage and asks, "What pendant?" Andrea Gleason does a handsome cameo as Mildred, a fourth woman Sam packs into his carload. She's obviously an "extra."

The pickings in Queens are rich. Sam invites Ida to eat "kosher Chinese." The three women forgive each other anything and everything, and we believe them. The 1940s living room set and the cemetery, ill-kept ivy ar. 1 all, designed by Jack Tilletson and decorated by Laura Weidner, Linda Bruder, Michelle Hubert and Holly Helsten, are inventive. Kudos to everyone involved.

Helen Zucker has many years' experience reviewing for newspapers and magazines in Michigan, New York and Massachusetts.

CREATIVE ENCOUNTERS

BOB SKLAR

She eyes the world via her camera lens

By day, she's a buyer for Yale Material Handling, a Livonia Hi-Lo dealer.

By night, she's an aspiring alternative photographer who shuns traditional print paper for more unusual methods of reproducing images.

Connie Christy's photography is on exhibit to Nov. 30 at Urban Park-Detroit Art Center, on the third floor of Trappers Alley, 508 Monroe, Detroit.

"The processes I use are considered alternative," the lifelong Livonia resident said, "because they all produce one-of-a-kind images. I can't duplicate them. I could repeat the process but the result wouldn't always come out the same."

On view at Urban Park are a photo of carnival images, two photos of church images, and other photos of friends and a favorite mannequin.

Christy uses two cameras: a Pentax K1000 and Mamiya 645. Instead of traditional print paper, she uses one of three print methods:

- Polaroid transfer — Polaroid images on cloth.
- Gum biochrome — contact printing images, using sunlight through negatives, on cloth and paper.
- Color copy — color slide images on paper.

"It's a tedious process," Christy said, "and I'm never guaranteed a perfect result because of the effects of sunlight, chemistry or temperature."

"The one-of-a-kind idea is both good and bad," she added. "It's good because it's more apt to sell. But it's bad because if one sells, it's gone unless I get it scanned to be printed as a reproduction."

Whether they sell or not, her work tends to grab the eye, she says. "Many people who view them can't believe it's photography at all."

Works off-exhibited

No stranger to exhibiting her work, Christy of ten focuses on people and statues.

"I like working with people because they're real. I like to know my subjects because then I can draw on how I perceive them, yet still portray them in their own style," she said. "As for statues, I really love Roman statues and architecture."

The Urban Park show includes a photo of a Hercules statue under a skylight in the Chicago Art Institute.

In 1992, she took an honorable mention from the Scarab Club in Detroit for a Polaroid transfer entitled, "Polaroid Self Portrait." That same year, she showed a Polaroid transfer, "Hints of Reality," in the Scarab Club's Silver Medal Show.

In June, she showed 25 pieces at a garden party at The Whitney in Detroit. In September, she exhibited 20 pieces at the Michigan Gallery in Detroit.

She has shown in six student shows at Oakland Community College, where in April she earned an associate's degree in photography. Last year, she was an officer with the student photo group.

She hopes to earn enough money through her job to pursue a bachelor's degree in fine arts.

Her creative eye developed while studying metalshop and woodshop in junior high and graphics and photography in high school. The lure of the viewfinder prevailed. Her yen toward collage evolved from a love for blending textures.

Christy forms a mental picture before setting out on a shoot but she won't shy away from improvising. "I always have a game plan of what I'd like to do. But I'll change it if I think something else will work better."

Christy will greet Urban Park visitors 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday and 3:30-7 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 20-21. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Friday-Saturday and noon to 7 p.m. Sunday.

"Her work is very innovative," said Dave Roberts, gallery director. "She tries a lot of things normally not associated with photography — the way she applies emulsion to fabric, the way she prints on fabric."

The imagery she captures also awayed Roberts. "She's very inventive in the things she chooses to represent in her photographs. She deals a lot with portraiture and figures but in ways that aren't conventional or expected."

When Ron and Barbara Heslop started searching for an empty-nester condominium, they had a single requirement: a place large enough to hold all their furnishings, particularly several big wall units displaying collectibles.

"We didn't expect to find a condominium bigger than our former house. We expected to go smaller, but we didn't want to get rid of a thing," said Barbara Heslop, who decorated the 4,800-square-foot Plymouth Township condo with husband Ron.

"He had final veto power," she added.

Shop for antiques Sunday in Livonia

From a 1933 German Erphila Russian Wolfhound to an array of Star Trek memorabilia, the 10th Metro Productions Antiques and Collectibles Show and Sale promises something for everyone Sunday, Nov. 21 at the Livonia Holiday Inn, 17123 Laurel Park Drive, Newburgh and I-275.

Admission is $2, children free. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nearly 80 dealers will exhibit small furniture, dolls and toys (antique and modern collectibles), pottery, glassware, jewelry, Hummels, Royal Doulton figurines, collector plates, china figurines, jade, Walt Disney, books and paper collectibles.

"It's diversity we try to stress — quality and diversity. There are a lot of old toys, Steiff pieces, Barbie dolls and Star Trek collectors in the show," said Barbara Framke, show co-coordinator with Cindy Oakes. Both Livonia residents make about 30 stops a year on the southeast Michigan collectibles show circuit.

Many of the dealers are from Livonia, Plymouth, Novi and Royal Oak.

Framke's business, "Just Animals," specializes in wildlife and domestic animal collectibles, including ceramic, porcelain, prints and jewelry, along with Beatrix Potter items. She displays her wares at about 20 shows a year in Michigan. She also sells the collectibles through a mail order business.

"I've got tons of stuff, wildlife and domestic figurines. I carry two lines: Castagna and United Design's Stone Critters," said Framke.

"I have collectors all over the country for an animal item I pick up for resale. I'll have a Royal Doulton dog, Bohemian Royal Dux deer figurine and Erphila Germany elephant."

Framke, who has been a collector for 44 years, finds horses irresistible. Her collection includes 1,000 horses ranging from fine porcelain to china and plastic.

Framke's prices range from $5 to $300 for a limited-edition porcelain mare and foal by G. Armani. The ceramic wolfhound is $125.

Framke and Oakes, who became a dealer 12 years ago, originated the show in 1989. The show is held twice yearly, in February and November.

Oakes specializes in Hummels and antique dolls but also carries Star Trek and Star Wars memorabilia and Barbie Dolls.

Other highlights in the show include a 1937 Madame Alexander Snow White, a Royal Doulton mug collection, a pair of porcelain Danish birds, 18th century to 1912 Meiji era dolls, an early 19th century netsuke, costume jewelry from the 1940s and '50s including crystal, a 1940s doll buggy, composition and hard plastic dolls, an amber Bohemian glass vase, vintage baby apparel, a 1920s Buddy L's water tank and firetrucks, an antique Meerschaum pipe, still banks, a mechanical Punch and Judy bank, an antique Armand Marseille bisque doll, tree bark carnival glass, Depression glass, antique linens, and prewar cast iron fire engine and trucks.

They are: from Garden City, Barbara Bridges, baskets and soft sculpture; from Livonia, Dorothy James, jewelry, Debi Keeling, painted country wood; from Plymouth, Val Davis and Deb Jordan, painted wood and fabric; from Canton, Rita Miller, porcelain dolls; from Redford, Kay Vincent, country cross stitch; from Westland, Shelly Wotring, women's wearable art.

Sixty-five displays of juried artwork will offer country folk art, Victorian crafts, early Americana, French country and Southwest.

Admission is $2. No strollers or cameras are allowed. Lunch and refreshments will be available in Hawthorne Gardens on the lower level.

Art Beat

Hicks, who's been weaving rugs for 10 years, displays his wares at nearly one-dozen arts and crafts shows a year.

Last summer, he won Best of Show at Spring Elegance, the annual Westland fine art show and country fair sponsored by the Friends of Nankin Mills and Wayne County Parks Division to benefit restoration efforts of the white clapboard mill built in 1863.

The mill is at Ann Arbor Trail and Farmington Road.

■ HEART OF GOLD

Westland weaver Jim Hicks has donated a 1903 floor loom to the Helen C. Brown Westland Historical Museum. Denise Mehlich, a member of the Friends of the Westland Historical Museum, picked up the loom from Hicks in late August.

"I'm excited about it. It would give people the opportunity to see something not done too much anymore," said Mehlich, Friends of Nankin Mills president.

Once assembled, Hicks, who's known in these parts as the Hillbilly Weaver, has promised to demonstrate this nearly lost craft.

columns and an arched overhang accent the private entry.

Since the Heslops work together — he's president and she's vice-president of Michigan-based Heslop's china and gifts — modifying the home's floor plan after-hours was just an extension of a day's work.

The builder was ultra-accommodating when it came to structural changes and only "rolled his eyes a few times," Barbara said.

For months, the couple worked with Livonia architect Chuck D'Amico, altering a few room sizes, eliminating the den's half bath, raising the lower-level ceiling and adding windows here and there.

"We actually built the house around our furniture," Barbara said.

She reduced the master bath by a few feet so that a wall unit displaying Lladros would fit in the master suite.

"It's probably the first time a builder had to design the homeowner to move in," Ron Heslop said.

Ron's den is a place to work and relax. It took three months to convert the second bedroom to a state-of-the-art den with loads of built-ins and shelves to hold a collection of Royal Doulton character mugs. The room, ceiling included, is covered in rich, cherry-stained mahogany.

More traditional than the other rooms, the den has a fireplace and a marble fireplace and a custom-made mahogany table and desk are an extension of the room's mahogany.

Several of Barbara's imported music boxes are placed around the room.

The first floor is bright and airy with simple views of the pond, a nesting place for a pair of black swans.

Barbara reused most of their country French furnishings throughout the house, including a grand-sized armoire in the master suite. The room opens to a wrap-around deck.

She said the move was a good excuse to recover some favorite things bought during the couple's 30-year marriage.

"The colors in our Farmington Hills colonial were straight from the '70s — ivory, blue and earth tones. I was ready for something bright and different," said Barbara, who does the layout and design for Heslop's stores.

Her decorating plan began by selecting wallpapers for nearly every room. Most are subtle background papers that give the lofty walls a sponged look.

"I tried using a decorator once, but it didn't work because I have my own ideas," said Barbara, who's known around the office for visualizing store displays that wind up dazzling.

The spacious entry, on a curved wall, has off-white marble flooring with bottle green accents, a color that is repeated around the great room and den fireplaces. A shapely oak railing with pineapple-shaped finials leads downstairs.

Several of Barbara's imported music boxes are placed around the room.

One other house had separate living and dining rooms, so this was a challenge to decorate. We weren't sure if we'd like the combination," Barbara said.

Queen Anne dining chairs are recovered in creamy upholstery to match carpeting and walls. Several high-back Queen Anne chairs are covered in burgundy and teal stripes and tapestries. A camelback loveseat, custom-made by a New Boston upholsterer, is the only new piece. Arched windows are topped with burgundy upholstered valances and simple painted shutters.

The all-white kitchen, with lavish built-ins, has several glass-front cabinets to show the couple's fine china, which they use daily. Dinnerware even matches teal and rose English garden paper in the adjoining morning room, a sunny place filled with white wicker furniture and plump floral cushions.

The lower level (all 2,400 square feet) is informally decorated with comfy leather sofas, wall units and some family antiques. There's a wet bar (long as "Cheers"), a bedroom and bath, a library and a fully-equipped exercise room.

Barbara said the toughest job was selecting bathroom fixtures because the choices today are numerous. She settled on gold faucets and decorative sinks throughout and let her love of Southwest design influence her choice of tiles, which range from pastel to turquoise.

"I got a little antsy decorating because I like to get things done, but it was such fun to do. I could do it everyday," she said.

Literary duo pens romance/suspense novel

BOOK BREAK

VICTORIA DIAZ

According to West Bloomfield authors Jan Greenberg and Karen A. Katz, writing a novel can be double the fun when it's a collaborative effort with a close friend.

The two, who met each other 12 years ago at their children's nursery school, are celebrating the fruits of their collaboration this month, as their first novel, "Something Borrowed, Something Blue" (Doubleday), makes its debut in bookstores across the country.

Already, "Something Borrowed, Something Blue" — written under the pseudonym, Jillian Karr — has made an appearance on the Detroit Free Press bestseller list. In October, Cosmopolitan magazine excerpted the novel. And CBS-TV has recently optioned the story, with an eye toward making it into a movie of the week.

Not surprisingly, Greenberg, a prolific romance novelist (who writes as Jill Gregory) and Katz, a painter and former journalist, are hard at work on a second novel. Like "Something Borrowed, Something Blue," it will be a "romance/suspense/thriller."

The writing of the first novel came about after the two had collaborated two years ago on a non-fiction book entitled, "What Does Being Jewish Mean?" The book, co-written with Rabbi E.B. Freedman and published initially by Prentice-Hall, has since been brought out by Simon & Schuster's Fireside Books. "We had such a good time writing the first book, we sort of looked at each other and said, 'Why not try fiction?'" recalls Greenberg.

Not long after, the two friends were meeting every afternoon, usually in Greenberg's at-home office. With scratch pads and plenty of coffee at hand, they began brainstorming ideas for the story they would write, and also started to develop characters for that story.

"We were both definitely interested in writing women's fiction," says Greenberg. "And we came up with this idea of writing a story about four strong, dynamic women — all brides-to-be, but all distinctly different."

Each of the future brides in "Something Borrowed, Something Blue" — a New York model, an actress, an editor of a bridal magazine, and a Livonia hairdresser — harbors a dark secret that she must face down as her dreamed-of wedding day approaches. Prepublication notices called the partially-set-in-Michigan romance "a sizzling tale of four weddings, four women, and four lives on a collision course with violent passions and dangerous desires."

Not all the "writing" of the book involved sitting at a desk. To research the character of the actress and the world of moviemaking, for instance, the novelists traveled to Toronto, where they ended up making an appearance in the recent movie, "Used People."

"My brother, John Tintori, was the editor on the film, and we asked him if we could just watch the making of the movie for a few days," says Katz. "Then, when we went to Toronto, we spent two or three days working as extras — about 14 hours every day. It was fantastic. And we actually ended up on the screen, too — in the wedding scene toward the end of the film."

Other research included a day-long visit to the offices of Detroit Metropolitan Woman, where they met with editor Alice Sioff Katz also scouted background locations in Los Angeles (especially Rodeo Drive), the streets of Chicago and the exclusive neighborhoods of Georgetown in Washington, D.C., where much of the action in the novel takes place.

In writing "Something Borrowed, Something Blue," they also discovered themselves experiencing a genuine marriage of the minds. As one writer sat at a computer typing the story each day, the other always literally at her side, they recall that, after awhile, they found themselves suddenly coming up with the same words, or the same set of words, at the same time, and often finishing each other's sentences, down to the last word.

Jan Greenberg

hours a day together, working on the book, and then often telephoned each other after hours to work on leftover ideas. On days when they couldn't get together, they worked over the phone. But, despite all the togetherness over the 11 months it took to complete the novel, they can recall no arguments, not even a cross word in the course of events.

"When we started this together, we put our egos aside," says Katz.

Together, they will be meeting readers and signing copies of "Something Borrowed, Something Blue" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 18, at Barnes & Noble, Maple and Telegraph, in Bloomfield Township. Fans can also meet the two authors at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 27 at B. B. Bookseller, Westland Mall, Wayne and Warren.

Victoria Diaz of Livonia, a longtime member of Detroit Women Writers, tracks the books and literary industry for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. She says she "has a lifelong interest in reading, everything from great novels to cereal boxes." You can leave a message for her on a touch-tone phone by dialing 953-2047, then her mailbox number, 1854.

BBAA to host holiday sale

Attention, suburban artists:

The holiday sales show will take place Nov. 29 to Dec. 11 at the Birmingham-Bloomfield Art Association, 1516 S. Cranbrook Road at 14 Mile in Birmingham.

A preview party 2-5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 28, will offer the public an opportunity to shop before the show opens. Catering will be done by Machus; music will also be featured. Advance tickets for the preview party may be bought from the BBAA at $15 per person or $25 for two. Tickets sold at the door will be $20 each.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and noon to 4 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free. Call the BBAA at 644-0866 for more information.

The show will feature juried, handcrafted gifts of art, including wooden birdhouses of intricate architectural design, jewelry, carved Christmas figures, pottery, unusual tree ornaments, Teddy bears, dolls, angels, wearable fibers, miniature wooden puzzles, soft sculpture, basketry and toys. A total 135 artists will be participating this year, 15 more than last year.

An unusual feature will be a garden shop, with birdhouses, birdbaths, flower pots, feeders, garden sculptures, dried flower creations, fruit swags and topiaries. The Amaryllis Garden Cafe will be open daily.

"Our show features gifts of art for yourself and others," said Elaine Borruso, of Bloomfield Hills, co-artistic director of the show. "It is juried by the examination of the actual works, not from slides. We want to make sure the craftsmanship meets our standards."

"There is a broad selection and the prices are moderate," said Sue Velick of Oak Park, co-artistic chairwoman. "The proceeds will go toward the BBAA's building expansion fund."

Meadow Brook show boasts joyous nature

STAFF WRITER

Outside, nature is celebrated in the magnificent autumn colors of the leaves. Inside the Meadow Brook Art Gallery at Oakland University in Rochester Hills, nature is celebrated in a different way with the exhibit continuing through Nov. 21.

"Culver's Nature: Selected Works of Animals, Birds and Plants by Charles Culver" presents watercolors by Michigan artist Charles Culver. Most of the works were loaned from Florence Culver, the artist's wife, and have never been shown publicly. Others were loaned from the Detroit Institute of Arts, William Beaumont Hospital, the Huntington Woods Public Library and private collections. "These paintings are evidence of an artist enjoying his work," said William Bostick, former DIA administrator and Detroit art commission secretary and a close friend of Culver.

Meadow Brook curator/director Kijichi Usui called the paintings "quite lively."

"I didn't think anybody else painted animals like this," he said.

Culver (1908-1967) was a leading Detroit artist in the 1950s and 1960s. He headed the watercolor department of the art school of the Society of Arts and Crafts (now the Center for Creative Studies) and was an art critic.

Culver was a musician who liked jazz and Bach, and a prolific painter who had more permanent works in the DIA than other artists. He did some landscapes, but was known for his interpretations of animals and plants.

All creatures great and small were subjects for Culver, and he painted them in a warm, refreshing style. Many paintings were done at the Detroit Zoo, near which the artist lived.

"They have a sense of humor about them," Bostick said.

In Culver's painting of a platypus, the platypus is facing the viewer but its eyes are off to the side, giving it a sly, whimsical expression. Penguins are grouped facing each other with beaks open and wings wide, making it seem as if they are having an animated conference. In a school of fish, one fish is shown head on instead of in profile. There's even a "zebra-cat," an imaginary creature with the head of a cat and the body of a zebra.

Culver's interest in Oriental art can be seen in the display.

"He had that feel of poetic imagery," Usui said.

In a portrait of a cat, strong lines convey the animal's dignity. A lion reclines behind bars, the bars fading over its body so as not to cover it. A dove looks at the viewer as though it were posing for a portrait, while a peacock's spread tail is shown without color, emphasizing the bird instead of its adornment.

For white, Culver often let the watercolor paper come through or used opaque white.

Usui would like to have a Michigan artist show at OU. Culver and others of his time were lost in the "tidal wave from New York" of pop art, op art and abstract art, Usui said.

"Michigan artists were respected in this area but pushed to the back."

With today's consciousness

about the environment, an exhibit such as Culver's that takes joy in animals, birds and plants seems especially appropriate.

As a special treat, a raffle for "Dik Dik," a 25-by-27-inch original Culver drawing donated by Florence Culver, will take place 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 21, on the Meadow Brook Theatre stage. Raffle tickets are sold in the gallery during exhibition hours at $5 each or five for $20. Only 300 tickets will be sold.

Hours are 1-5 p.m. Wednesday, 2-6:30 p.m. Saturday-Sunday, and evenings of a Meadow Brook Theatre performance (one hour before the performance and during intermission). The gallery is across the hallway from the theater. Call 370-3005.

New book can help polish your green thumb

GARDEN SPOT

MARTY FIGLEY

On the new book shelf:

"Enjoying Roses" (Ortho Books, $39.95) is a beautiful book about roses, written by award-winning garden writer and photographer Ann Reilly. Her account of the history of the flower is fascinating reading and is just the beginning of the abundant information between the attractive covers. The major classes of roses are presented in very clear terms so that the right rose can be selected for a particular site.

The chapter about planting these flowers, whether in the ground or in containers, guides the most novice gardener. Nothing has been omitted from their care, arranging, displays for judging, propagation and hybridizing, to enjoying them in crafts, recipes and how best to photograph your favorites.

The encyclopedic section of the most outstanding roses available commercially in the United States is "icing on the cake." Get this one!

In "Designing a Garden" (Camden House, $19.95 paper), author Allen Paterson guides us through the seasons in his one-acre garden in southern Ontario. He explains how the garden is an extension of the home and how and why he combines many kinds of plants for great effect and continuous bloom.

Along the way, we are treated to design ideas that can easily be adapted to our own gardens. I especially like the way he correlates everything and the naturalness of his gardens. There is a wealth of information, I like it.

"The Living Garden: The 400-Year History of an English Garden," George Ordish (Houghton Mifflin, $10.95 paper), describes a tract of land that was first cultivated in 1556 — the first garden planted by the housewife — with herbs.

"Invitation to the Garden: A Literary and Photographic Celebration," edited by Ferris Cook (Stewart, Tabori & Chang, $45), contains exquisite photos taken by nine distinguished garden photographers that artfully illustrate the plants. Cook reminds us that the garden season begins at different times of the year for gardeners and there is hope and anticipation whenever that is. The photos are accompanied by poems and essays that relate to the garden and the plants.

Scholarship salutes retiring Realtor exec

Creation of a scholarship in Maurice L. Richards Jr.'s name was announced at the South Oakland County Board of Realtors executive vice president's retirement dinner Oct. 28.

In attendance to honor his contributions to the real estate industry were 160 guests, including National Association of Realtors regional vice president Paul Scott and current Michigan Association of Realtors president Bowen Brock as well as 11 former SOCBOR presidents.

Former SOCBOR Scholarship Fund chairman Harold Maininger introduced a new scholarship award to be created in the name of Maurice L. Richards Jr. The award is in appreciation for his dedicated service in founding and maintaining the Scholarship Fund.

The newly created Maurice L. Richards Jr. Scholarship Award will be maintained with separate donations and will present scholarships from the interest earnings on those donations. The award was established with donations of $37,000.

Richards has been executive vice president since 1970 and was the driving force in establishing and maintaining the Scholarship Fund since its inception in 1973. Over the last 10 years, the Fund has awarded 256 scholarships valued at $45,100.

Richards has put scholarship first in the board's priorities of community service, himself being a 1946 graduate of Ferndale High School and holding a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from the University of Tulsa.

"It has been a lifelong dream of mine to be involved in helping students continue their college education," Richards said.

Richards officially retires from his position Dec. 31 and will live in Sarasota, Fla.

Assure bylaws are updated

CONDO QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

I am a member of our cooperative board and am concerned because our bylaws have not been amended for close to 20 years. We have a very difficult time collecting from member tenants unless we go to court. We also have very ambiguous documents in regard to the transfer of shares in the event of default by a tenant/member. How do I convince the board of the need to update our documents?

Point out to the board of directors their potential liability in not being able to administer the affairs of the co-op properly because of the apparent ambiguity and/or vagueness in your cooperative documents as it relates to a default by a tenant paying the monthly operating fee. It should also be clear to the members of the board that the cooperative could, indeed, spend many dollars on legal fees in attempting to retrieve the shares of a defaulting cooperative member through unnecessary court proceedings, which are required simply because of the inadequacy of the cooperative documents.

If the board recognizes this liability, it will recognize, hopefully, its business responsibility to raise enough money in order to engage competent counsel to come up with an updated set of cooperative bylaws and a revised proprietary lease.

Realtors merging listings

Realtors representing 650 real estate offices in southeast Michigan are finalizing plans to merge their Multiple Listing Services into Realcomp II, reports Bill Mountain, president of the Farmington service.

The merger will provide 7,000 Realtors with unlimited access to real estate information for buyers and sellers of homes.

Involved in the merger and formation of Realcomp II, Ltd. are the Birmingham-Bloomfield Board of Realtors, Dearborn Board of Realtors, Detroit Board of Realtors, North Oakland County Board of Realtors, Rochester Area Association of Realtors, South Oakland County Board of Realtors and the Western Wayne-Oakland County Association of Realtors.

The merger becomes official Jan. 2 as Realcomp Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary formed in 1984 by four area real estate boards, invites additional real estate boards to become shareholders in Realcomp II, Ltd.

The regional Multiple Listing Services will merge several current board-operated multilist services into one centralized service on or before March 1, 1994, says Kevin McQueen, Realcomp Inc. executive vice president.

Participating Realtors will have unrestricted access to all listing information, providing buyers and sellers with comprehensive information about properties by simply contacting any real estate office subscribing to the new regional Multiple Listing Services.

Realcomp II, Ltd. will relocate in November to 28555 Orchard Lake Road.

Park Ridge: hills, wetlands, woods

■ Road improvements spurred by the Haggerty Connector and the topography of the land are expected to lure buyers to Park Ridge, a new residential development from The Selective Group and Cohen Associates.

By DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

Some people may not consider a new house of 2,700 square feet priced at $239,900 an especially good value.

But if it's on a rolling piece of land with wetlands and woods in West Bloomfield, along a major road where houses just a couple of miles away cost several times more, then it takes on a different dimension.

That's the thinking of Steven Friedman, vice president of the Selective Group based in Farmington Hills, and Larry Cohen, a developer/builder (Cohen Associates) in West Bloomfield.

Their companies, highly regarded in their own right, have joined forces to develop and build Park Ridge, along Pontiac Trail, east of Haggerty.

Seventy-nine houses ranging from the Cranbrook model described above to the Monterey, 3,224 square feet with a base price of $289,900, will be built on the 60-acre site.

About a dozen lots already have been sold, the developers said.

"One of the points that intrigued us about Park Ridge was the land," Cohen said. "I have yet to develop a piece of land like this, rolling up and down with hills."

"Many subdivisions developed today from former farms," he said. "They're flat and devoid of trees or have the liability of being near a railroad or main road."

Bureau aids consumers, businesses

STAFF WRITER

The Better Business Bureau of Detroit and Eastern Michigan was founded in 1917, essentially as an advertising vigilance committee. Now headquartered in Southfield, the BBB has expanded its scope significantly.

The nonprofit organization, with an operating budget of $1.5 million and a staff of about 20, is funded primarily by the dues of some 4,000 business members.

Thomas F. Ashcraft is president, Deborah A. Nigbor, operations director. Following are edited excerpts from an interview:

What exactly is your mission?

Ashcraft: Our mission is self-regulation. We can be an impartial third party between a consumer and provider of goods and services.

Part of that philosophy says it's in the best interest of the marketplace for responsible business to step up to its problems and do it through an organization like the BBB rather than a (governmental) regulatory agency.

Whether the customer wins a dispute or the company wins is irrelevant as far as we're concerned. Our role is to bring a complaint to the attention of the provider.

"We have a large woodland that backs up to Pontiac Trail. There isn't a bad lot in the whole sub. The site really affords quite a bit of privacy," Cohen said.

"Aesthetically, this is a fairly beautiful piece of land," Friedman said. "It's approximately 30 acres of open space."

The perception of Pontiac Trail as you take it from Orchard Lake Road and go west is that houses are selling from a half million to three million. Pontiac Trail has never really been opened to this market," he added.

A good deal on the land, smaller models, no lakefront frontage or access and — until fairly recently — not the best of road access all combined to result in lower prices, Cohen said.

Construction of the Haggerty Center, a limited-access highway under construction a mile and a half west of Haggerty between I-96 and Pontiac Trail, provides a golden opportunity for Park Ridge, Friedman said.

The partners acquired the land about 3½ years ago but got bogged down in the approval and development processes as West Bloomfield struggled with growth.

Selecting and Cohen will do all the building themselves. Six models each with several different elevations or exterior looks are available.

'Our client is people in the growing family stage.'

Larry Cohen
Cohen Associates Inc.

"Nothing is more disappointing than to go into a sub where a majority of builders does a fine job, but someone comes in with different standards and a homeowner finds something next door that he doesn't care for," Cohen said.

The typical Park Ridge family has children and is buying at least their second brand new house.

"They're mostly younger, dual-income families," Friedman said.

"It's definitely move-up," Cohen added. "You're seeing young physicians, attorneys, independent business types."

Visitors to the two models, the Monterey and Newport, are especially taken with the openness, the combination living room/dining room, the work island in the kitchen and the dramatic two-story foyer, said Gail Sandweiss, sales coordinator.

"Our client is people in the growing family stage," Cohen said. "Parents like a family room as a center of entertainment for the children. Things go on in the kitchen. Here's a nook and there's four of us sitting around this table and no one is crowded. You have a large cooking area."

"Curb appeal is real important," Friedman said. "We put a tremendous amount of attention to detail on the elevations — bricks, porches, window details, roof lines."

One interesting twist in the Newport model is a second floor room with windows overlooking the foyer. The space can be used as a fourth bedroom or as a study room, exercise room, dayroom or sitting/sewing room.

"The Monterey is our most popular model," Friedman said. "Any and every room has access to a tremendous amount of light. It has a step-up master bedroom, open foyer, dramatic stairwell."

Selective and Cohen have acquired 70 acres directly across the street from Park Ridge, where they plan to build houses in the $300,000-$500,000 range starting next year.

Park Ridge is in the Walled Lake School District. The current property tax rate for municipal, school and county services is $54.66 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value.

That means the owner of a house worth $250,000 in Park Ridge now would pay about $6,800 annually in property taxes. That, however, probably will change as state lawmakers decide on a new school financing plan.

Farmer Jack revamps store

Farmer Jack Supermarkets created 30 new jobs in refurbishing its Livonia store, at 37685 Five Mile to the tune of $450,000.

The face lift is part of the 77-store metro chain's $70 million capital growth program in southeast Michigan taking place during 1992 and 1993. The Livonia store is the 47th to be completed under the renovation-rebuilding program. Don Suida is store manager. Jim Fox and Brian Robinson are co-managers.

When the 38,000-square-foot store hosted its grand reopening Sunday, customers were introduced to many new departments, prototype conveniences and important advances in the supermarket industry.

"This new Farmer Jack Supermarket is typical of the new and remodeled facilities that are making Farmer Jack one of the most modern regional supermarket chains in America," said James Wood, chairman of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., owner of the Farmer Jack chain.

Almost all of the company's Michigan stores have been revitalized recently. "We intend to keep them that way and make sure our stores here are up to date," Wood said. "We have at least 10 new store locations identified over the next two years and our remodeling and expansion programs will continue."

"A combination of new consumer needs and high technology allows us to really focus on customer service in our new and remodeled stores," said Craig Sturken, Michigan Group vice-president.

"In the Livonia store, customers can use the post office, pay bills, get photos developed and buy a lottery ticket as well as use many other services. We think they will especially like our innovative new recycling center," he added.

"We listened to our customers. We know they expect low prices and broad product selection with quality and service. They also want all the newest conveniences such as our innovative self-service bottle return, gourmet service, meat counter, flower shop, pharmacy, post office, bakery and deli."

A&P is the fifth largest supermarket chain in North America with 1,210 stores.

1994 home shows slated

The Farmington Hills-based Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan has selected dates for its 1994 home shows.

"As remodeling and new home construction remain on the increase, homeowners find home shows to be an invaluable resource for finding the right contractor or product," said Fred Capaldi, president of BASM and of Capaldi Building Co. in Rochester Hills.

BASM will sponsor:

■ the second annual Spring Home & Garden Show Feb. 3-6, 1994, at the Novi Expo Center.

■ the 76th annual International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show March 19-27, 1994, at Cobo Conference-Exhibition Center in Detroit.

■ the 12th annual Homearama May 26 to June 12, 1994, at Brentwood subdivision in White Lake Township and Royal Forest subdivision in Shelby Township.

■ the second annual Fall Remodeling Show Sept. 29 to Oct. 2, 1994, at the Novi Expo Center.

The shows at the Novi Expo Center feature products and services for the home and garden.

The Cobo Builders Show will have over two acres of gardens, over 100 cut flower arrangements, entertainment and demonstrations, as well as products and services for the home and garden.

Homearama is a public showing of new homes built especially for public display by members of BASM featuring the latest ideas in home design and building techniques, as well as decor and landscaping.

"Homeowners are able to see products and services for the home and garden at Homearama in actual settings for their current or new home," Capaldi said.

Perceptron earns software grant

Perceptron Inc. has earned a $1.22-million grant to develop commercial software for three-dimensional vision systems based on LASAR technology developed by the Farmington Hills company.

The grant came from the U.S. Department of Commerce, through the National Institute of Standards and Technology.

The award will complement the company's Research and Development program and will be funded over two years.

"This grant will allow the company to accelerate the development of standard and generic three-dimensional software for image processing and object feature analysis, which can be used in a variety of commercial applications," said Dwight D. Carlson, president and CEO.

"We have already been highly successful in the sale of our existing LASAR systems to early technology adopters such as Battelle, Caterpillar, Martin Marietta and others. This grant will provide the opportunity to develop a variety of three-dimensional vision solutions for common industrial tasks."

Creation of 3-D imaging software is the key. "We are particularly pleased that while hundreds of companies applied to NIST for grants, we are one of a small selected group, which underscores the recognized importance of developing this technology," said James E. McGrath, Perceptron chairman.

Perceptron is a 3-D imaging solutions company that develops and markets non-contact measurement and guidance systems.

Its LASAR-based data cameras, image-processing hardware and proprietary software are used by auto makers, auto information system companies and other manufacturers in object recognition, measurement, guidance and inspection applications.

Perceptron products are marketed in North America, Europe and Asia.

CPA gains limelight for entrepreneurial spirit

BY SUE BUCK
STAFF WRITER

Birmingham resident Judith Trepeck, a partner with the Farmington Hills CPA firm of Rehman Robson & Co., is a 1993 honoree of Michigan's Initiative for Entrepreneurial Excellence (EXCEL).

She was one of five women business owners honored.

EXCEL is funded in part by the Small Business Administration. Honorees received their awards for either making admirable progress or outstanding achievement in business or who have made significant contributions to other business owners.

Trepeck, a former president of The Greater Detroit Chapter of the National Association of Business Owners (NAWBO), received the most nominations, according to Chinyere Neale.

"Judy epitomizes leadership," Neale said. "She is assertive, intelligent and professional without sacrificing warmth, encouragement and humor."

Trepeck said she was, regrettably, out of the country when the award was given. Friend Tamara Tazzia accepted it for her.

"I'm really proud," Trepeck said modestly.

Trepeck was NAWBO president in 1990-91 and was responsible for bringing the EXCEL program to NAWBO, Neale said.

"As a past NAWBO president, she enthusiastically continues to support both NAWBO and EXCEL and has served as mentor both formally and informally to many project clients," Neale said. "She does all this while working with clients, playing a very active role in the many professional and service organizations to which she belongs and maintaining a family."

They are husband David Adler, a Detroit business owner, and daughters Julie and Jennifer Trepeck and Meredith and Emily Adler.

Trepeck holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from the University of Michigan.

"Ever ready to be of service, she served as project manager of the Michigan Alliance of Women Business Councils in its early development and has been a delegate to the White House Conference on Small Business (1986) and was the first woman president to the Accountant's Guild," Neale said.

In recognition of the significance of women in the business world today, the EXCEL program has been formed to help women start and grow their businesses.

The program is sponsored by the U.S. Small Business Administration, the National Association of Women Business Owners, the YWCA of Metropolitan Detroit, Deloitte & Touche, Butzel Long, Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan, Comerica Bank, Chrysler Corporation Fund, the Hudson-Webber Foundation, AT&T Commercial Markets, Ameritech Mobile Communications and the Detroit Edison Foundation.

Now entering its fourth year, EXCEL has served 1,200 women business owners and prospective women business owners.

NAWBO has 220 members locally and more than 10,000 nationally.

Judith Trepeck: She "epitomizes leadership."

DEVELOPER TREAT

A Novi subdivision of largely young, married couples with small children was treated to a Fall Festival family barbecue by the developer, Nosan/Cohen Associates and Nosan Building Corp., both of West Bloomfield. Invitations included masks that children were to decorate and bring to the barbecue for judging at Woods of Novi subdivision, west of Decker, south of 14 Mile. The winner won a Toys R Us gift certificate although each child received a gift.

Uptown Deli of Farmington Hills catered the 200-guest event, held under a tent between two models Oct. 15. A DJ from Silver Sounds set the tone for an evening of dancing.

That afternoon, the developers treated 100 Realtors to lunch while introducing them to the subdivision. Too Chez of Novi did the catering.

The weekend featured a grand closing with a clown, music and refreshments even though the sub is almost fully occupied.

To keep the site attractive, the developers have planted thousands of dollars worth of trees behind the houses that back up to Decker Road. The sub has won a Novi beautification award each year since it opened about three years ago.

WHERE'S THE BEEF?

Detroit-based Cattleman's, one of Michigan's largest beef processing companies, has opened a 19,000 square-foot meat and produce store in Uptown Farmington Plaza, Grand River and Orchard Lake, Farmington. The refurbished store, in the former Oak Farms fruit and vegetable market, employs about 60 people. It is Cattleman's first new store since merging with Oak Farms.

Shoppers can select packaged meat in the store's 5,000-square-foot, walk-in meat locker or get packing house cuts from the butcher.

Cattleman's has four other metro-Detroit stores and plans another new location on Detroit's east side.

"Our combination stores respond to the demands of consumers for value in all of their food purchases. Our walk-in meat lockers, we believe, are particularly attractive for modern-day consumers," said David Rothbart, Cattleman's president and chief executive officer.

ENVIRONMENTAL CHECK

Dziurman/Associates, a Troy-based consulting engineering firm, has finished an environmental inspection of buildings and grounds owned by Heritage Federal Savings Bank, Taylor. The site evaluation precedes Heritage's merger with Standard Federal, Troy. It took about 45 days to inspect the facilities, located from Flat Rock to Petoskey.

Dziurman calls site assessments like this the "first line of defense against future liability for environmental contamination found on property." The company specializes in environmental consulting.

It's just a few doors from its sister store, Lots for Tots. The new store sells casual and career wear, designer clothes, maternity wear, coats, seasonal clothing and some new accessories.

Customers who shopped at Lots for Tots, also resale, started asking for the same sort of store for women's wear, said owner Kathy Newton, who opened Lots for Tots in 1985.

Newton keeps an eye out for special clothing requests that customers place on the store's "wish list." The store has layaway and a seven-day return policy. Clothing is accepted on consignment during store hours.

"The stores are a service to the consignor who, in most cases, also is the customer," Newton said. For more information, call 651-4581.
