Audiotape reflects sex relationship

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A 15-year-old John Glenn High School athlete asked her basketball coach what she should do if she found out she was pregnant with his child, and he told her that "we would get that taken care of," according to transcripts of a tape-recorded conversation between the two.

The girl apparently isn't pregnant, prosecuting attorney Margaret Rynier said in court Friday, but the girl raised the issue during a phone call from the Wayne Police Department to fired John Glenn girls basketball coach Patrick Bennett, 33.

The issue of pregnancy aside, the girl and Bennett also talked about how she could explain losing her virginity, and Bennett told her to say she used a vibrator, Rynier said.

Graphic statements emerged Friday afternoon as Rynier and defense attorney Irving Tukel argued during a hearing on whether a $50,000 cash bond — one that has kept Bennett in jail — should be reduced. In the end, Wayne District Judge Carolyn Archbold didn't budge on the bond.

Tukel labeled as "a set-up" the March 6 phone conversation that was tape-recorded 12 days before Bennett was arraigned on charges of third-degree criminal sexual conduct and obstruction of justice.

Bennett, a 10-year coach and Kroger employee, faces a preliminary hearing set to begin today (Monday) in Wayne. His relationship with the girl began in October and occurred at a motel, police have said.

Bennett also faces an April 13 hearing in Westland District Court on identical charges, stemming from allegations he had sex with the girl in November while he was house-sitting for a Westland friend.

The girl told Bennett during the taped conversation that she didn't want him to go to jail, and authorities said Bennett urged the girl to lie and to refuse to cooperate with investigators.

Murder victim in wrong place at wrong time

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Canton woman was in the wrong place at the wrong time when she was murdered Wednesday.

Boonshoun Andrews, 50, a native of Thailand, died after being strangled with her own bandanna and receiving a beating on the head. Her body was found at a Westland apartment complex where she was a maintenance worker.

Police said she was killed when she stumbled on a group of people engaged in illegal activity, possibly involving a gun sale.

One suspect, Keith Lamont Burns, 27, was arraigned Thursday on first-degree murder and felony firearms charges in the brutal slaying of Andrews.

"We're looking for at least two other people," Westland police Sgt. Tom Kubitskey said Friday. "We don't believe he acted alone."

Andrews' body was found about 9:15 a.m. Wednesday by a co-worker, near a first-floor swimming pool at the high-rise Hunters West apartment complex at Yale and Hunter, a half-mile south of Westland Center.

As the case unfolded, the county medical examiner's office ruled Thursday that Andrews was strangled to death and that she had suffered several blows to her head, causing a wound that was initially believed to have resulted from a gunshot.

She was strangled with a bandanna that she usually wore on the job, Kubitskey said.

Burns, a former Inkster resident with no known current address, was captured a half-hour after the killing, during a foot chase in Westland's

Court orders tightened security in rape case

BY DARRELL CLEM

Heightened security was enforced Thursday at Westland 18th District Court following reports that a jailed rape defendant might be getting outside help in an escape attempt.

Westland police and court security officers used metal detectors to check for weapons as people entered the court building on the south side of Ford Road, between Wayne and Newburgh.

No weapons were found, and no escape attempt was tried as Anthony Guy Walker appeared before Judge C. Charles Bokos for a preliminary hearing on charges of first-degree criminal sexual conduct and armed robbery.

Walker, 37, is accused in the knife-point rape and robbery of his former next-door neighbor, a 25-year-old divorcee who said Walker attacked her at 2 a.m. Dec. 20. The woman said the

Teachers' union negotiations delayed

BY LEONARD POORE
EATON

Negotiations between the Wayne-Westland school district administration and a teachers' union were delayed Friday, on the eve of an anticipated school board meeting scheduled that night to ratify a new contract.

Contract talks are expected to resume today (Monday), said Dan Slee, assistant superintendent for employee services and head of the administration's negotiating team.

The board had scheduled a special meeting to hopefully act on a tentative agreement but canceled it when contract talks broke off about noon Friday.

Instead the school board held a closed meeting Friday night to be updated on the status of negotiations, Slee said.

The administrator pointed that while there has been substantial progress on most of a potential new contract, economics remains a stumbling block.

Negotiations will resume today, after a state law approved last year curbing teacher unions' negotiating powers — to be effective Saturday — was delayed by the Court of Appeals (see related story, Page 5A).

Slee said Friday afternoon that talks ended about noon Friday "there was a general feeling that we can't go any further."

He said of 345 articles in the proposed contract, all but 33 have been tentatively approved.

In recent weeks, the two negotiating teams have spent numerous days and nights in attempting to reach a tentative agreement.

When the school board scheduled a special meeting for Friday afternoon, just before expected implementation of the new state law regulating negotiations with teachers' unions and

"Do what you have to do," Bennett was quoted as telling the girl.

When Bennett learned that he was being investigated, Rynier said, "It's clear that he had met with her and that he had coached her on what to do."

Those allegations eventually resulted in Bennett being charged with obstructing justice.

According to statements from the 35-page transcript, Bennett told the girl to tell authorities that she didn't want to go to court. He also urged her to get rid of love notes he sent to her, Rynier said.

Bennett's parents and other family members and supporters sat in the courtroom Friday as Rynier and Tukel argued about the $50,000 cash bond.

Tukel emphasized that Bennett is a lifelong Wayne resident who has no criminal history. If Bennett had intended to flee, Tukel said, he could have done so before his arrest.

Moreover, Tukel said the girl wouldn't be harassed by Bennett or his family.

"I have strictly informed Mr. Bennett and his parents . . . that I will not tolerate any approach to the complainant or a prosecution witness," he told Archbold.

But Rynier noted that Bennett's sister approached the girl outside of Westland District Court on Thursday, when Bennett appeared for a hearing that was postponed until April 13.

Rynier said the sister "screamed and yelled" at the girl and told her, "See what you've done. . . . It's all your fault."

Crying, the girl had to be escorted away by a Westland police sergeant, Rynier said.

Tukel conceded that the sister's actions were "improper."

Rynier also raised allegations that Bennett's parents had talked of giving the girl a newspaper article about a man who served 10 years in prison for a statutory rape he didn't commit.

Archbold, in refusing to change Bennett's bond, noted that an earlier warning to stay away from the girl "doesn't mean too much to these people."

Not-guilty pleas have been placed on record for Bennett, who could face a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison if convicted of third-degree criminal sexual conduct. He could face a five-year term if convicted of obstructing justice.

busy retail district near Wayne and Warren roads, police said.

The arrest stemmed from descriptions given by Hunters West residents who saw a suspect fleeing the building, Kubitskey said.

A gun was found at the murder scene, but police haven't disclosed the type of weapon.

Police are investigating a possible gun transaction inside Hunters West, but couldn't say with certainty what type of illegal activity Andrews stumbled upon while doing her job. There has been no word to confirm rumors among residents that drugs may have been involved.

"We're going on the belief that there was some type of illegal activity between a group of people," Kubitskey said. "The victim blindly stepped into it."

During Burns' arraignment in 18th District Court, Judge Gail McKnight denied bond and set a preliminary hearing for this Thursday. A not-guilty plea was placed on record for the defendant, who would face a mandatory life term without parole if convicted.

Burns was convicted in a 1965 armed robbery in Inkster that landed him a three- to 10-year prison term. It wasn't immediately known how much time he actually served.

He also was placed on probation last October in Inkster for cocaine possession, according to 18th District Court records.

Hunters West resident Sue Johnson was among the apartment dwellers who labeled Andrews "a nice lady." Residents were shocked that a murder hit so close to home.

Andrews is survived by her husband, Thomas; one daughter, Kathleen; her mother, Chit Thonqmee; one brother, Anh; two sisters, Tanh and Dang; and nieces and nephews.

Services for Andrews will be at 7 p.m. today at L.J. Griffin Funeral Home, on Middlebelt Road just south of Ann Arbor Trail, Westland. The Rev. Merton W. Seymour will officiate.

The body will be cremated.

incident occurred inside her former Westland Meadows mobile home, northeast of Van Born Road and Merriman.

Walker, who fled to Colorado only to be captured 20 days later, has labeled the allegations "a fantasy."

Authorities who transported Walker from Colorado to Westland told local police that they overheard Walker making apparent plans to escape, Detective Sgt. Terry Donohue said. The alleged plans were made during a telephone conversation while Walker was in jail in Colorado, Donohue has said in court.

In court Thursday, Bokos granted a request by Walker's court-appointed attorney, Thomas Green, to postpone the preliminary hearing for two weeks. Green told Bokos that he needed more time to review the case.

Walker, jailed on a $1-million cash bond, is scheduled to return to court April 13 for the hearing.

Walker's accuser said he came to her residence on Dec. 20 after phoning to say he needed to borrow some children's Tylenol for one of his two stepsons. She said he raped her and robbed her of $80 while her 2-year-old daughter slept.

Donohue has said in court that Walker later phoned the woman, before fleeing to Colorado, to warn her not to report the incident. Walker told the woman that he knows child molesters who would kill her and her daughter, Donohue said in court.

Walker could face life in prison if convicted.

school districts, there was an expectation of a tentative agreement and ratification.

The Wayne-Westland Education Association, which represents 932 members in collective bargaining, has been working without a contract since the end of last August.

The new state law, now delayed by the Court of Appeals, included a new requirement that some topics can't be bargained, including the group health insurer and the starting day of school for a new school year. A Wayne circuit judge has declared parts of the law unconstitutional, but not the limits on bargaining.

Student abduction attempt investigated

BY DARRELL CLEM

Westland police are investigating reports that a stranger may have tried to abduct a third-grade girl Thursday morning near Jefferson-Barns Elementary School in Westland.

The frightened girl, approached by a white male on a back path near the school, threw down her books and ran to safety inside the school, principal Susan Dorenkamp said.

"She wasn't harmed," the principal said.

Another young girl came forward after the incident to report that she fled from a man, matching the suspect's description, who approached her one day last week, Dorenkamp said.

Jefferson-Barns parents, unnerved by the reports, contacted newspapers and television stations last week to spread the word that a possible kidnapper could be roaming the neighborhood of the school, located at 32150 Dorsey, south of Palmer between Merriman and Venoy.

Dorenkamp also sent letters home to parents to inform them of the incident that occurred about 8:10 a.m. Thursday. Parents also were given a description of the suspect, who is believed to be in his 20s.

The suspect was described as having a medium build and being of medium height, with black wavy hair. He wore blue jeans, a blue and black jacket, and a black baseball cap, Dorenkamp said.

One mother who phoned the Observer said that the suspect was seen coming out of a wooded area near the back path of the school.

Following Thursday's incident, Dorenkamp said she immediately contacted the Westland Police Department, which is seeking information. Tips can be provided by calling 722-9600.

Police had no suspects as of Friday.

A parent meeting is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at the school library to discuss safety issues of students walking to and from school.

In the letter to parents, Dorenkamp advised them to talk to their children and to tell them:

- Not to talk to strangers.
- Not to come to school early.
- To go directly home after school.
- To cross streets with the assistance of the safety patrol.
- To report any unusual circumstances immediately, either to parents or to the school office.
- To run and shout for help if approached by a stranger.

School assault reports disputed

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Westland mother who claims her seventh-grade son was assaulted by a teacher said Friday that she is consulting with an attorney.

Kathy Belaire's statements differ dramatically from school officials' accounts of what happened the afternoon of March 23 at Marshall Junior High School, 35100 Bayview.

Belaire didn't deny that her 13-year-old son hit a door and shouted obscenities in the school office when he was refused a deck of cards that had been taken from him earlier.

She said the boy has attention deficit disorder with hyperactivity, and that he hasn't adapted well to new medication.

"We have had a problem," she said, "and we let the school know about it."

But Belaire has been told by her son and by parents she didn't even know that, moments after the outburst in the office, the boy was assaulted outside by a teacher before throwing punches of his own.

Belaire said her son suffered a lump near his right temple and that he received bruises and abrasions on his back and his neck.

District administration officials have launched "a full investigation" of the incident, but reports from Marshall administrators indicate the teacher was hit while trying to restrain the boy, said Charlotte Sherman, executive director of secondary education.

"We have supporting evidence to indicate that the teacher was assaulted," Sherman said.

The boy has been suspended indefinitely, and assault charges have been filed with juvenile court in Detroit.

Mark and Cathy Hagedon, who didn't know Belaire beforehand, said they had gone to Marshall to pick up their eighth grade student when they saw the incident. Mark Hagedon said he tracked down Kathy Belaire, with no help from school administrators, to tell her what they witnessed.

The Hagedons said the teacher grabbed Belaire's son by the face and slammed him against the building.

"Then he put him in a bear hug," Mark Hagedon said.

Hagedon said he provided school administrators with a written statement of what he saw, but that police apparently hadn't heard his version. He planned to contact Westland police on his own Friday.

"I see it as a cover-up by the school," Hagedon said.

According to original police reports, the teacher approached the boy and put his hand on his shoulder to escort him to the office. The reports said the teacher was hit by the boy on two occasions.

The reports also said the boy was placed in a room in the school office and that he climbed out of the window.

Belaire questioned why Mark Hagedon, a stranger to her, would go to the trouble of finding her unless there was truth to claims that the teacher was at fault.

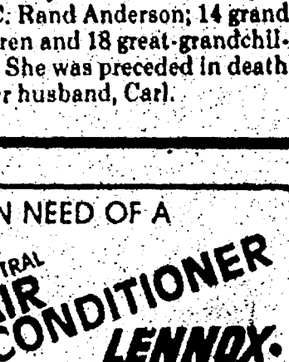
SUCCESS STORY #213 CONGRATULATIONS!!
VISION THERAPY TESTIMONIAL


Lee Dreps
Grade: 5
Cleveland Elementary
Livonia
"Now when I look at the board and then down at my paper, I don't have to wait for it not be be blurry."
Lee Dreps, Student
Our son Lee, age ten, loves to read, enjoys sports, and does well in school. Unfortunately, he always got headaches after reading, writing tasks were tedious for him, and he was very sensitive to sunlight. He often rubbed his eyes, especially after reading. We suspected he had a vison problem and took him for a routine eye exam at Vision Associates of Westland. We were surprised to find that his eyesight was fine, but that he had, "a slight convergence problem". The doctor explained that this was a muscle control problem where the eyes have difficulty staying turned in when looking at things at close range. When we described Lee's nightly headaches after reading and his dislike of drawing and writing tasks, Dr. Kennedy suggested testing him when his eyes were fatigued. After reading for two hours, Lee's eyes showed severe convergence insufficiency. He attended vision therapy for 14 weeks and did daily exercises at home. Lee noticed improvement after just four sessions. He told us, "Now when I look at the board and then down at my paper, I don't have to wait for it not be be blurry." Lee no longer gets headaches when reading, writing is easier for him and his sensitivity to sunlight is greatly reduced. Lee has always loved to read but now he can truly enjoy it!

Appeals court panel delays teacher strike law

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

The state Court of Appeals has delayed implementation of the Republicans' tough new law punishing teacher strikes.

Public Act 112 was due to take effect April 1.

It gives school districts and Michigan Education Association locals time to negotiate new contracts under the old law, under which unions have more power to bargain over health insurers and school working rules.

"We requested a stay and an expedited hearing," said Theodore Sachs, attorney for the AFL-CIO, which challenged the constitutionality of the act.

MEA also appealed and asked for an expedited hearing, said spokesman Dawn Cooper.

An "expedited hearing" means the appeals court will act promptly and not take its usual two years to process the case.

The Court of Appeals decided the request on a 2-1 vote. Voting to take the case were Chief Judge Martin Doctoroff of Birmingham and Judge Kathleen Jansen of Macomb County. Opposed was Henry W. Saad.

In Wayne Circuit Court, the AFL-CIO and MEA cases were consolidated and heard together before Judge Lewis Simmons. In his ruling last month, Simmons gave labor a partial victory, ruling two sections unconstitutional:

■ Requiring a circuit judge to issue an injunction against a union if it "finds that a strike or lockout has occurred, without regard to the existence of other remedies, demonstration of irreparable harm, or other factors." Simmons said the sweeping legislative decree violated the separation of powers by allowing judges no discretion.

■ Requiring the Michigan Employment Relations Commission to fine unions an automatic $5,000 a day for a strike by "one or more public school employees." The unions argued they would be punished regardless of their possible non-involvement in a walkout.

But Simmons upheld the rest of the law.

It forbids school unions from bargaining over: the insurance benefits administrator; the starting date of classes; pupil contact time; the composition of school improvement committees; the existence of charter academies; the existence of 'schools of choice" programs; use of volunteers in school services; decisions on experimental or pilot programs; and the granting of additional paid work days to make up for lost strike time.

Republicans in both chambers of the Legislature rushed through the bill in April of 1994.

The GOP had a temporary majority in the House and disregarded the usual committee procedure in bringing the bill to a vote. Gov. John Engler signed it into law May 2, hailing it as a 'cost containment" measure.

Sachs wanted the court to find other flaws in PA 112. His suit argued the law:

■ Denies judicial review of MERC decisions.

■ Prohibits a parent union from vetoing a local union's collective bargaining agreement, thus 'unconstitutionally interfering with and intruding upon internal" union matters.

■ Denies "equal protection of the laws" by treating school employees more harshly than other striking workers. The law requires that striking school employees be docked a day's pay for each day of a strike with no chance of making up the lost time.

Baby party's rich with gift ideas

As I write this column about baby shower gift ideas, my friend Megan Garbinski labors to deliver her first child. It was Megan's shower last month that inspired me to check out the newest in newborn paraphernalia.

These days, babies discover the world with the help of state-of-the-art equipment. Remember the simple, yet functional umbrella stroller? It won't be the mode of transportation for baby Garbinski. He or she will ride in style in a Century "Way to Go" stroller/carriage with a multi-position recliner, a front bar restraint, a storage basket and a full bonnet or hood, $69.99.

Megan's mother-in-law presented her with the Evenflo high chair, a multi-function seat that adjusts to six different heights for use as a youth chair or child's activity chair, in addition to the traditional high chair, $79.99.

No need to check on your little one every few minutes . . . Today's moms rely on nursey monitors to stay in constant touch with baby. Sensitive to every little sound, monitors receiving raves are from Fisher-Price, $29.99 and Sony $44.99.

Can't slow down

It won't be long before Megan's baby can scoot around in the snazzy Tot Wheels II by Graco $42.99. More than a mere walker, it includes an activity gym for hours of stimulating play.

New from Fisher-Price is the infant seat that vibrates and rocks. With the help of a couple of batteries, baby gets a soothing massage, $29.99

Auntie Doe gave Megan one of the cutest gifts I've seen. It's the Little Tykes Soft Pony, $49.99. The cuddly padded riding toy is a must-have. What toddler hasn't fallen in love with his first "horsie?"

Tried and true

Friends and family showered Megan's baby with other cute and practical gifts including a musical activity quilt, a hand-painted picture frame, receiving blankets and knit jammies, a silver photo album, a cozy afghan and a teddy bear rattle.

My favorite gift came from a devoted aunt who bought a Fisher-Price tape recorder $34.99 and presented it complete with her own pre-recorded tape of Polish nursery rhymes. Megan held it to her tummy as we all listened. What a thoughtful gift! All of the above presents were purchased from Toys "R" Us, adjacent to Livonia, Oakland, Twelve Oaks, Summit Place, Tel-Twelve and Lakeside Malls.

If you're looking for a fashion forward newborn ensemble check out Jordan Marie at Twelve Oaks in Novi. They specialize in hand-painted rompers with tennis shoes, socks, caps, and blankets to match. You can even get coordinating bottles.Keepsakes are special shower gifts.

Heslops stocks Reed & Barton's new three-piece Safari flatware set, in keeping with the popularity of Disney's "The Lion King"movie. Watch those peas disappear from the giraffe fork or the leopard spoon. And the alligator knife will gobble the most stubborn bread crusts, $37.50.

Also from Heslops, silverplated "Lock of Hair" and "Tooth Fairy" boxes, $29.95, $39.95, engravable sterling silver cups, $60, Royal Doulton Bunnykins nursery set, a favorite of collectors since 1934, $39.95,and Wedgewood's Peter Rabbit china dome clock, $70.

Heslop's is located at Oakland Mall in Troy, Orchard Mall in West Bloomfield, Novi Town Center, Merri-Five Plaza in Livonia, MeadowBrook Village Mall in Rochester.

Bulletin: It's a boy! Congratulations Megan and Ron, and a great big welcome to baby Grant.

Malls welcome spring

Performances, craft corners, and pictures with the Easter Bunny are just some of the shopping center events planned through April 15.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Even the grumpiest grinch must give a grin when walking by the Easter Bunny set ups in the malls.

"It's so darn cute watching kids meet the Easter Bunny," said Frank Schmanski of Livonia. "I walk around Wonderland Mall in the mornings and linger 'til the Easter Bunny comes."

Spring photos on the Easter Bunny's lap are available now through Saturday, April 15 (usually 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.) at the following area malls: Livonia, Wonderland, Laurel Park Place, Westland, Oakland, Summit Place, Northland, MeadowBrook Village, Tel-Twelve,

See SPRING, 5B

Where can I find?

We found it!

We left off with Tammy Oyer of Livonia's request to locate a replacement towel bar to insert into a ceramic holder in the bathroom she is remodeling.

"I know they must be out there somewhere," she bemoaned. "But I can't find a store that stocks them."

A Malls and Mainstreet reader called to say towel replacement bars are available at Mr. Tile in black, white or clear. Mr. Tile is located at the Novi Town Center, I-696 and Novi Road; and in Redford at 9300 Telegraph, between Joy and West Chicago.

Long lost belt buckle

The next challenge came from Vivian Harris of West Bloomfield.

"About five years ago we visited San Antonio, Texas. There was a small gift shop in town that had a belt buckle made from watch pieces. My husband has since regretted not purchasing it at the time. I have searched everywhere and I cannot find anything like it. Can anyone help?"

Nancy Ball, owner of the Hands On Leather store, 525 Forest in Plymouth, called to say she carries these belt buckles. "They're made by von West of Ft. Collins, Colorado." She welcomes inquiries at (313) 459-6560.

Timer troubles

Here's the next hard-to-find item from Jim Willoby of Birmingham.

"I'm looking for a timer that I can attach to my radio so it goes on for an hour and then turns off. My radio doesn't have this clock feature so I need to buy an electrical timing device. I recall such a timer from years gone by. Has anyone else?

If you know where Mr. Willoby can find an electronic timer, please give Malls & Mainstreets a call at (810) 901-2567. You can fax a response to (810) 644-1314.

Two retailers begin projects to help kids

Both the Summit Place Mall and Antonino Salons are requesting customers' help in serving needy children this Easter season.

The Antonino Salons (167 Townsend in Birmingham, and 14 Mile and Haggerty in Farmington) are collecting "practical" Easter baskets for homeless children.

"We'd like the baskets to be filled with wash clothes, toothbrushes, hair brushes and combs, maybe some toys, and a little candy," said Jennifer Cross, hair stylist. "We want to surprise these needy kids with things they don't expect, but can really use."

The salons ask that the baskets be dropped off now through April 13. They will be delivered on April 14. Call (810) 258-5990 for more details.

At Summit Place, Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph, in Waterford, the mall debuts a "Kids Helping Kids" program through April 15.

"We've built a Easter Playland in Kohl's court and we ask that children who visit the area bring donations of new or used toys, games, books, sporting goods, clothing, bedding and packaged food for the children of the Baldwin Church and Center in Pontiac," said LuAnn Slawinski, director of marketing.

She said the program was designed to "positively impact children's charities throughout the year."

Easter Playland activities range from traditional photos with the Easter Bunny and egg-decorating to story hours, puppet shows, musical revues, a nature presentation, and Native American dancing and storytelling. The playland also features live bunnies courtesy of Pass Pets,

The plaza was originally built in 1959 as The Miracle Mile Shopping Center.

Other retailers at the center include T.J. Maxx, Burlington Coat Factory, Kmart and F & M.

HEALTHY TEETH AND BONES

Osteoporosis and tooth loss may not seem to be related, but the facts speak for themselves. Because teeth are embedded in the jawbone, loss of bone density due to the bone thinning disease can cause teeth to become loose. In fact, a recent study of 329 postmenopausal women by researchers at the Human Nutrition Research Center at Tufts University suggests that tooth loss may be an early sign of an increased risk for osteoporosis. Those women who wore dentures due to tooth loss before age 40 had more skeletal bone loss than women who needed dentures after age 40, as well as those who retained most of their teeth.

Beginning at an early age, girls are encouraged to maintain calcium intake sufficient to preserve and encourage the growth of teeth and bones.

At LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES, we encourage preventive dental care for all ages and the entire family. The key to great dental health is early diagnosis and the dental treatment necessary to correct your situation. We're located at 19171 Merriman Road, where we stress preventive dentistry. Please call 478-2110 to schedule an appointment. Your teeth are meant to last a lifetime. Smiles are our business hrs. Mon, Tue, Thur & Fri 8-5, Wed til 9 pm

Transit authority vexes officials

■ McCotter pointed out that the transit authority is controlled by McNamara because the articles of incorporation say that McNamara is one member of the authority's three-member board and appoints one of the other members.

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Western Wayne County city and township officials are threatening to torpedo the newly-created Wayne County Transit Authority if the authority's articles of incorporation aren't rewritten to suit them.

The authority, formed by the Wayne County Commission, has put a 0.33-mill property tax on the May 23 ballot that would be used to run the SMART bus system.

However, the law says that city councils and township boards may vote to take their communities out of the authority if they do so within 30 days of the formation of the authority. In Wayne County's case, that deadline is April 8.

So far, Grosse Pointe Township, Grosse Pointe Park and Northville Township have opted out of the authority. Many other boards and councils are considering it.

"Almost everbody is on the fence," said Livonia Mayor Robert Bennett.

A community that opts out will not be part of the May 23 millage vote. It's unclear whether they can also be legally cut off from SMART bus service, or if SMART is justified in taking away a community's subsidy for local transit needs.

SMART, however, has put fliers on buses to announce that services will be discontinued in Grosse Pointe Shores, a village that is part of Grosse Pointe Township. And SMART interim director Michael Duggan has told mayors and supervisors that SMART will cut their subsidies if they opt out.

Conversely, communities have been promised that subsidies will be doubled, or tripled if they don't leave the authority and the millage passes.

At an informal gathering of western Wayne County city and township officials Friday in Redford Township Hall, the words "bribery," "blackmail" and "threats" were used often to describe the way Duggan has tried to win the approval of local officials.

County commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, who also represents Plymouth and Plymouth Township, and Van Buren Township Supervisor David Jacokes strongly recommended that every community leave the authority.

McCotter pointed out that the transit authority is controlled by Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara because the articles of incorporation say that McNamara is one member of the authority's three-member board and appoints one of the other members.

Also, once the April 8 deadline passes, communities wanting out of the authority must have the approval of the authority board to do so.

"I'm urging (communities) to get out while they can," McCotter said.

Canton Township Supervisor Thomas Yack and Redford Township Supervisor James Kelly expressed apprehension about staying in the transit authority.

Yack said "we've got to find an approach that gets us to the table" so that the articles of incorporation can be written to give local communities a say in the operation of the authority. "It should be our authority, not the county administration's authority," he said.

Plymouth Township Supervisor Kathleen Keen-McCarthy said business people in Plymouth Township "are strongly urging us not to participate" in the authority.

Although no one seemed happy with the authority as it currently exists, some argued that they will probably not get out because many individuals in their communities ride SMART buses.

Westland Mayor Robert Thomas said his city council will probably not get out of the authority.

Many of the 15 city and township officials in attendance at Friday's meeting planned also to attend a breakfast meeting Saturday in Southgate with members of the Downriver Community Conference, who are also considering leaving the transit authority.

Said Yack: "We've got the greatest leverage we're ever going to have on this thing in the next four or five days."

Duggan could not be reached for comment by press time.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Strike a balance with the fats in your diet

The human body needs more than 40 different nutrients. These are divided into five major classes — fats, proteins, carbohydrates, minerals and vitamins.

Nowadays, fats are perceived as sinful, and fat people are no longer "jolly" or even "voluptuous." Fat has become a bad word.

But it is essential to remember that fats are a vital nutrient. The body needs some fats for good health, and food doesn't taste good without any fat.

A good goal is to try to balance the amount and type of fat you need with the amount of fat you desire.

Chemically speaking, fats belong to a group of organic compounds called lipids. In the simplest sense, lipids are compounds that will not easily dissolve in water. Lipids can be solid or liquid.

Important roles

Fats play many roles. They supply fuel for many tissues. When fat is ingested, the body utilizes some of it for energy, then stores the rest in tissue increasing the amount of fat in blood plasma and other body cells. Body fat also serves as insulation against climatic temperature changes, prevents body heat loss, and helps protect vital organs.

Fats hold and carry flavors and aromas, contributing to taste appeal. Oil-soluble flavors coat the taste buds, so they remain on the tongue, lingering to create a complex taste quality scientists call "mouthfeel." Foods lacking fat lack mouthfeel; they don't taste as good or subliminally urge us to take another bite. Oil-soluble aromas also linger, remaining to give pleasure, even after food is swallowed.

After dietary fats are eaten and digested, they tend to leave the stomach slowly, thereby contributing to a feeling of fullness.

According to the American Heart Association, the average American diet presently gets more than 40 percent of its total calories from fat. Most health authorities recommend a daily fat intake of no more than 30 percent, while conservative voices prefer 20-25 percent or even less.

Needless to say, I don't have to tell you that diets high in saturated fats raise cholesterol levels, are a risk factor for coronary heart disease, arteriosclerosis (clogging of the arteries), inadequate circulation, strokes, late-in-life diabetes and certain cancers. But in my opinion, fat makes the food I eat taste good. Omitting it and substituting it with low-fat or no-fat products greatly alters the food to such a degree that I would almost prefer not to eat it in the first place.

To me, fat-free cream cheese tastes like hardened plain non-fat yogurt. Fat-free mayonnaise has no taste whatsoever. Fat-free salad dressing is loaded with things that make all the herbs and spices remain suspended throughout the bottle. Even vigorous shaking barely moves the emulsified mixture. Skim milk tastes like water to me.

Trimming fats

I've lost 62½ pounds in the last eight months. To lose this weight, I had to start adding up and cutting the amount of fat in my diet. What am I doing to trim the fat from my diet?

First off, I stay away from purchasing "no fat" items. Not only do I not like the way they taste, but I believe "moderation" is the key. We need to control what we put into our mouths.

Secondly, if there's one thing I've learned the last year, it's that we must read labels. You would be shocked at the amount of sugar, sucrose, syrup, artificial flavorings, artificial colors and assorted chemicals that are placed into our food supply.

Next, I've cut down my fat intake simply by increasing the flavor in my foods. Where once my refrigerator was filled with eggs, now fresh lemons take their place. Where once the salt shaker reigned supreme, now a Mrs. Dash table blend is incarnate.

I used to douse my spinach salad with bacon grease; now I use a heated herb-infused canola oil. Where just last month real vegetable oil would only be used in my quick breads and muffins, I have cut the oil in half and substituted pumpkin puree, fruit butters and applesauce.

The lesson is this — you don't have to give up all the foods you enjoy to become healthier. All you have to do is exercise restraint and substitute fatty flavorings with ones that are good for you.

KOSHER CATERER EASES Passover PANIC

BY ANNE LEHMANN
STAFF WRITER

For observant Jews, preparation for Passover starts weeks before the actual holiday begins. It's spring cleaning gone wild, ridding the home of every morsel of chometz — foods made from grains and leavened products; stocking kitchen shelves with Passover cookware (dishes, silverware, cookware that is not used for the preparation of foods, which include grains and leavened products throughout the year); shopping for Passover foods, and preparing meals for family and friends who gather for the eight day holiday.

The first Seder, the commemorative meal which recalls the Exodus of the Jews from Egypt, will be held on the evening of April 14. many foods which grace the Seder table, from the matzo to the bitter herbs, are symbolic of the years the Israelites spent as slaves in Egypt and their ultimate redemption.

Preparing for the holiday and the Seders is an awsesome task that for many can be overwhelming.

Paul Kohn of Quality Kosher Catering understands this challenge well. A caterer with a reputation for innovative and unusual kosher fare, Kohn's operation goes into high gear to provide top-of-the-line oven ready kosher for Passover foods for his clientele. He has been doing this since 1981 for people from as far away as Mexico and California. His Passover menu includes traditional foods which are simple, elegant and flavorful including matzoh ball soup; gefilte fish; an assortment of chicken and Since 1962, Marcel Guigal has carried on the scrupulous winemaking methods of his late father, Etienne, who founded the firm of E. Guigal in 1946. Today, the wines of Guigal are famed worldwide as some of the very best from France's Rhone Valley. While he continues a traditional style of Rhone wines, Marcel has not hesitated to modernize and use the latest in technology ensuring perfection in every bottle.

Guigal's red wines are made with long contact among juice, skins and stems, known as maceration. After pressing, wines are aged in both large and small oak casks for three to four years. For most Rhone producers, it's two years. Wines are racked, but not fined or filtered. For you, this means that if these wines are cellared for a few years, they will throw a sediment in the bottle and will need decanting before serving. While this sounds like a pain in the neck, it is well worth the effort.

From many producers over the years, we've tasted the same wine bottled fined and filtered and unfined and unfiltered. In every case, our preference is the unfined and unfiltered bottling. Fining and filtering leave a wine brilliant, but in the process a wine is stripped of flavor components.

A modernization that has improved on tradition at Guigal is the use of a higher proportion of new oak barrels than is common in the Rhone.

"My historical research indicates that the best wines were traditionally aged in the newest casks available," said Guigal. "I am striving to make the best wines."

Since Guigal red wines age so long, they are released for sale one to three years later than most Rhone wines. This is a point to note since most American consumers are hyper vintage conscious. Guigal's latest red releases are 1990. Most other Rhones currently on the market are from the 1992 vintage.

Guigal's bottling line is ultramodern, providing protection against oxidation and spoiled wines. This allows less use of sulfur dioxide in the winemaking process from grape crushing through cellar aging and bottling.

Guigal's wines, solely from the traditional Rhone Valley appellations, include the white wines Con

Passover cookbook has new, traditional recipes

Passover, the Jewish celebration of freedom and springtime renewal, has for thousands of years been a festival of wonderful food. Susan Friedland's "The Passover Table: New and Traditional Recipes for Your Seders and the Entire Passover Week" (Harper Perennial, $17), presents this rich cooking tradition as it has flourished in Jewish homes around the world.

Amid full-color photographs, are more than 40 delicious recipes for Passover classics and tempting new dishes made practical and easy for the Passover cook.

Passover recalls the central event in Jewish history — the Exodus from Egypt. While the essence of the holiday is a sense of liberation and the appreciation of freedom, its primary expression is in the eating of special foods and following the order of the traditional Seder Feast, as specified in the "Haggadah," the Passover book of readings and commentaries.

Here are some recipes from the cookbook to try.

Matzo Chicken Pie

6 to 7 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 cups chopped onions
2 tablespoons minced garlic
1½ cups thinly sliced mushrooms (about ½ pound)
3 cups bite-sized pieces cooked chicken (about 1¼ ounces)
Salt to taste
Freshly ground pepper to taste
1 cup chopped parsley
5 eggs, lightly beaten
5 to 6 matzos
1 cup chicken stock

Heat 5 tablespoons of the oil in a large skillet. Slowly saute the onion and garlic until softened and translucent, about 10 minutes. Add the mushrooms and saute until soft, an additional 5 minutes. Let cool. Stir in the chicken, salt, pepper, parsley, and eggs.

Preheat the oven to 375 degrees F. Lightly oil a shallow 6-to-8-cup baking dish.

Dip 2 of the matzos into the stock until well moistened but not falling apart. Lay them in the baking dish, breaking pieces to fit. Spoon half the chicken mixture on top, and cover with 1 more moistened matzo, the remaining chicken, and the 2 remaining matzos.

Pour 2 teaspoons oil over the top and bake for 15 minutes. Sprinkle with the remaining oil and bake an additional 15 minutes, or until the top is a rich, crisp brown. Let cool for 10 minutes, then serve. Serves 6 to 8.

Coconut Macaroons

Vegetable oil
3 egg whites
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
2 cups (6 ounces) finely grated unsweetened coconut

Preheat the oven to 275 degrees F. Line 2 cookie sheets with wax paper and grease the paper lightly with vegetable oil.

Beat the egg whites until foamy. Gradually add the sugar and beat until the eggs are stiff and shiny. Add the lemon juice and peel. Gently fold the coconut into the whites, mixing just to combine.

Put the batter in a pastry bag fitted with a 7B or 8 star tip and pipe cookies onto the cookie sheets.

Alternatively, form the macaroons with 2 teaspoons and place on the sheet.

Bake 45 to 60 minutes, or until the macaroons are lightly colored.

Halfway through the baking, switch the cookie sheets, top to bottom, front to back. Let the macaroons cool on a wire rack before storing them in an airtight container, where they'll keep for several days. These cookies may also be frozen. Makes about 40 macaroons.

Vegetable Cutlets

1½ to 2 cups minced red or yellow peppers or a mixture of both
2 tablespoons olive oil
1½ cups grated carrots (4 carrots)
½ pound raw spinach, cleaned, trimmed of coarse stems, and chopped (2 tightly packed cups)
1 pound (3 medium) potatoes, boiled and mashed (2 cups)
6 tablespoons grated raw onion (1 large)
3 eggs, lightly beaten
1½ teaspoons salt
Freshly ground black pepper
1 cup matzo meal
Vegetable Oil

Saute the peppers in the olive oil until soft, about 15 or 20 minutes.

Add all of the remaining ingredients except the vegetable oil and let the mixture stand for 30 minutes or overnight, refrigerated. Bring to room temperature before continuing.

You can either fry or bake the cutlets. To fry them, heat about ¼-inch of vegetable oil in a large skillet. Form each patty with about ⅓ cup of the mixture. Flatten the patties slightly and fry them in batches for about 6 minutes on the first side, then turn and fry for 3 or 4 minutes on the second side. Drain on paper towels and serve immediately.

To bake the cutlets, put the patties on a lightly greased baking sheet and place in a preheated 350 degree F. oven for about 10 minutes; turn the patties and bake for another 7 to 10 minutes.

Makes about 40 patties; serves 6 to 8.

beef dinners, as well as carrot tzimmes, and potato kugel.

A year-round caterer whose operation is based in Congregation Shaarey Zedek in Southfield, Kohn triples his staff and works around the clock for about 10 days prior to the beginning of the holiday.

■ 'I keep a strictly kosher home, so I am busy changing my kitchen over and getting my dishes in order. That in itself takes a lot of time and work. Then I leave the cooking and baking to Paul.'

Libby Sklar

"We take about a week to clean the kitchen and change over all the kitchenware. Then the food is brought in and we begin the cooking and packaging processes which go on 24 hours a day, for three days. The day before the holiday begins, the food is picked up or delivered."

At the end of the 10 days, Kohn's staff has produced about 6,000 matzo balls, one ton of gefilte fish and 1,000 pounds of carrot tzimmes.

The real challenge Kohn maintains is generating the food so that it is both delicious and fresh. "We literally meet the fish at the Mackinac Bridge," he says about his Lake Superior whitefish and pickerel he uses for his gefilte fish, one of the most popular menu items.

"I depend on Paul," said Libby Sklar a West Bloomfield homemaker. "I keep a strictly kosher home, so I am busy changing my kitchen over and getting my dishes in order. That in itself takes a lot of time and work. Then I leave the cooking and baking to Paul."

Sklar hosts a large crowd for her Seders, including the families of her three grown children, nieces, nephews and friends.

"My observance of a kashruth (the laws of keeping Kosher) is an important aspect of why I use Paul. Not everyone can cook and bring a dish into your home when you keep a strictly kosher home. Paul's standard of kashruth is reliable and this way everyone at the table can feel comfortable eating the food."

Kohn tailors his role to meet the needs of his clients. For some he is a full service caterer, dispatching service as well as edibles. For others he provides complete meals, everything from soup to nuts. Still others choose to use Kohn for fill-in items like soup, side dishes or cakes.

"Often families want grandma to make the chicken soup; or mom to cook the turkey. They are family staples and favorites. My job is to do whatever is needed," he says.

Ilene Chait of West Bloomfield is a relocation specialist and mother of two grown sons. This busy professional looks forward to hosting a Seder each year with Kohn's help.

"I know my strengths and I don't bake. I come from a long line of women who don't know how to cook. But what's really dangerous is that some think they can. Paul bakes wonderful cakes that are strictly kosher for Passover. We all look forward to eating his desserts."

His roster of eye and palate pleasing confections include chocolate oblivion; mocha torte, and lemon chiffon meringue torte.

"Paul's desserts certainly go a long way and start the holiday off on a high note," said Sklar.

Besides desserts, Kohn offers full course dinners for as little as $11.90 per person, "the same as last year's prices," he is quick to add. "If you were to go out, and shop for the items we include in the complete dinners, take the time to prepare the meal yourself, you couldn't do it for less."

Kohn says he is proudest of how smoothly the whole pick-up system works. "It's an assembly line operation that has taken years to perfect. People have a lot of last minute things to do before the holiday. No one wants to spend time waiting in line."

Buyers move from station to station collecting their orders, and are usually done within a half hour. Flowers, wine, cookie trays, and other impulse buys are usually available at the pickup area as well.

Although Kohn will deliver for a $15 fee, there are those who look forward to picking up their orders at Congregation Shaarey Zedek. "I count on meeting half the Jewish world there," Chait says. "It marks the beginning of the holiday for me."

To that she adds, "I take joy in my family being together. I love to eat good food. I take no joy in collapsing at the dinner table. I'll stick to my line of work and let Paul do the cooking."

Low-fat dishes full of flavor

NO FRY REFRIED BEANS

1 tablespoon olive oil
1 onion, finely chopped
3 cloves garlic, chopped
½ green pepper, chopped
1 teaspoon ground cumin
1 teaspoon oregano
2 teaspoons chili powder
2½ cups cooked pinto beans
¼ cup corn kernels
½ cup chicken, beef or vegetable broth
3 tablespoons chopped cilantro
Salt and fresh ground black pepper to taste

Heat the oil in a skillet and add the onion, garlic and green pepper and cook over medium heat until soft, but not brown, about 3-4 minutes.

Stir in the cumin, oregano, and chili powder. Cook for 1 minute. Stir in the beans, corn, stock, cilantro and salt and pepper. Simmer the beans loosely covered for 10 minutes or until most of the liquid has been absorbed.

Mash half of the bean mixture with a potato masher. Serves 4.

Here's a recipe for a low-fat creme caramel that tastes anything but low-fat!

Low Fat Creme Caramel

1 cup sugar
1¾ cups skim milk
1 cup fat-free egg product (i.e. Egg Beaters)
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
1 cup raspberries, blackberries, blueberries, etc. mixed

Preheat the oven to 325 degrees F. Heat ⅓ cup of the sugar in a medium non-stick skillet over medium heat for 7-10 minutes or until the sugar has melted and turned a light caramel color. Stir frequently.

The mixture will be very hot! Be careful!

Immediately pour the mixture into the bottom of an 8-inch round cake pan. Turn the pan to coat the bottom. Place on a wire rack.

In a large bowl, combine remaining ⅓ cup sugar with the milk, egg substitute, salt, vanilla and orange peel. Mix well. Pour this mixture into the sugar coated cake pan.

Place the cake pan inside a large pan and pour boiling water around the cake pan to within ½-inch of the top of the cake pan. Bake at 325 degrees F. for 50-60 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Remove custard pan from the water bath and cover and refrigerate 3 hours or overnight or until thoroughly chilled.

To unmold, run a knife around the edges to loosen custard. Invert onto a dish and garnish with fresh fruit.

Serves 8.

Hoenes embarks on final season

The 1995 prep baseball season will the last for Glenn's Norm Hoenes, who plans to retire. Livonia Franklin appears to be strong and Wayne Memorial has one of the area's top pitchers in senior right-hander Shannon Green.

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Norm Hoenes is rounding third and headed for home.

This will be Hoenes' 29th and final season as varsity baseball coach at Westland John Glenn High School. He is retiring from the Wayne-Westland Schools both as a coach and a teacher.

"Thirty two years is enough in one school district," said Hoenes, who plans to retire to a new home off a golf course in Oscoda. "It's been fun to watch the kids develop. It's been a real pleasure. When they do get better during the course of a season, that's fun to see.

"Plus, I feel like I've had the cream of the crop, the best kids in the school. I feel fortunate because they're the ones who are always on time and always committed to what they're doing.

"My only regret is not seeing athletic programs properly funded. It's been like that for the past 15 years."

Hoenes sunk his own money into re-sodding portions of Glenn's infield.

Following Friday's practice, Hoenes spent time smoothing over the rough spots on the field.

Meanwhile, despite the cold, returning senior catcher Nick James continued to swing off tee in solitude near the backstop.

James, who hit .385 en foute to second-team All-Observer honors, is one of the few holdovers from last year's 27-5 club.

Twins Bryan and Derek Besco, who helped the Rockets reach a pair of state semifinal berths, along with three straight Class A district and Lakes Division titles, are now playing for Michigan. Also gone is first-team All-Area outfielder Jeromey Cosby (football at Ferris State) and second-teamers Mike Bint and Brian Morrison (both at Concordia).

"Nick is probably one of the best catchers in the state," Hoenes said. "He's an all-around player. He has the defensive skills and hits the ball hard. He had eight to 10 doubles last year.

"He's totally dedicated to his sport. He won't go home after practice and he's always early."

Glenn, however, may be hard-pressed to continue its rule of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

A serious contender in the Western Division of the WLAA is Livonia Franklin (16-14).

The Patriots return a slew of regulars including second-team All-Area pitcher Brian Crumley, a lefty who was 6-2 a year ago.

"We went with three sophomores two years ago and we played a lot of juniors last year," Franklin coach Jim Karoub said. "We have a lot of athletes. We should have a decent year if everything comes together."

Pitching is one of Franklin's strengths.

"The key is defense," Karoub said. "With our pitching, we feel we can be in every game. We feel secure about our pitching, but the catching has to make a giant leap from where it is now.

"And I think we'll move the ball offensively. The team is excited and we're hungry to get it going."

Wayne Memorial's fortunes in the Red Division of the Mega Conference rests with Shannon Green, a second-team All-Area pitcher who finished 7-3.

He hit over .400 last year and is one of the area's hardest throwers.

Ace hurler: Shannon Green of Wayne Memorial is one of the area's top pitchers.

"As Shannon Green goes, so goes the Zebras," said Wayne coach Jim Chronowski, whose team was 16-9 a year ago.

Green is a co-captain along with senior catcher Aaron Cagnon.

Meanwhile, Redford Catholic central (25-9) was hard hit by graduation, losing two first-team All-Area pitchers in Dave Susalla and Andy Kummer, but the Shamrocks have one of the top infielders in the area in junior Chris Misiak.

See capsule summaries on 3C.

Top guy: Wayne Memorial's Chuck Henry, who guided the Zebras to a 20-5 overall record en route to the state Class A quarterfinals, earned Observerland Coach of the Year honors. For more on Henry and the 1995-94 All-Area cagers, see page 2C.

New Wayne Memorial program stresses basics

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Larry Brenner is an elementary school teacher by trade, but he probably didn't realize he'd be starting literally from scratch when he took over the newly-formed Wayne Memorial girls varsity soccer program.

"We had a good turnout, 23 girls," said Brenner, who coached two junior varsity seasons at South Lyon. "But only nine girls have any kind of soccer experience. We don't have a senior."

When the Lady Zebras open the season today at Redford Thurston, Brenner will put six juniors, three sophomores and a whopping 14 freshmen in uniform.

Sophomore midfielder Pam Prpich is the team's most experienced player. She is flanked in the middle by two other sophomores, Sarah Raupp and Chong Mi Yum.

SOCCER

Two freshman, Alana Tucker and Samantha Wells, show promise at forward.

Brenner likes three freshmen as defenders — Jennifer Spisak, Kim Gotts and Joselyn Nemeth.

The goalie is also a freshman — Andrea McCahill.

"I told the girls that the first half of the year we're going to do a lot of learning," said Brenner, who has also coached at the Little Caesars and recreational league levels. "But we have an enthusiastic group of kids."

■ BISHOP FOLEY 5, LADYWOOD 2: Allison Granger's goal gave Livonia Ladywood an early 1-0 lead Thursday, but host Madison Heights Bishop Foley came roaring back with five unanswered first-half goals to gain the Catholic League victory.

Senior forward Kathy Miniuk led the victorious Ventures (1-0) with three goals and one assist. Sophomore forward Katie Lukas added two goals and two assists for coach Rick Larson, who is also Livonia Clarenceville's varsity boys basketball coach.

Jamie Colliton tallied the other Ladywood goal in the second half.

"We came out strong for the first 10 minutes, then we went into a hole the next 20 and gave up four goals," said Ladywood coach Ron Predmesky, whose team is 0-1-1 overall. "We played better in the second half."

Earlier in the week, Ladywood and host Woodhaven battled to a 2-2 draw.

Granger and freshman Meryl Denton scored for the Blazers.

Super sophomore Guess leads talent-laden team

Coach Chuck Henry's Wayne Memorial basketball team came within a whisker this season of reaching Michigan's high school tournament equivalent of the Final Four.

An overtime loss to Kalamazoo Central in the state Class A quarterfinals kept the Zebras from going to Michigan State's Breslin Center.

Coach of Year

But the future looks even brighter next season for the Zebras, whose top eight players are underclassmen.

"We felt going into the year that we were talented, even though we were young and didn't have size," said Henry, who guided the Zebras to 20-5 overall record, thus reaping Observerland Coach of the Year honors. "During the middle of the year we lost back-to-back games to Monroe and Belleville, but we learned a lot. Once we got over that, we got to the point where we really improved."

The Zebras were able to avenge the regular-season losses to Belleville and Monroe en route to a regional championship at Jackson, Henry's first ever.

"All the credit goes to the type of kids we had," Henry said. "It's just a good group of people. They're very modest and they're fun to be with in practice. They're nice kids, well-behaved with outstanding GPAs (grade-point averages).

"Nobody got hung up on points. They played well as a team."

The All-Observer team is led by a sophomore, 6-foot-3 point guard Lorenzo Guess of Wayne.

Westland John Glenn and Plymouth Canton each landed two players on the first team. Redford Catholic Central and Plymouth Salem also secured first-team spots.

Introducing the 1994-95 All-Area boys basketball team as selected by the Observer sports staff:

FIRST TEAM

Lorenzo Guess, 6-3 soph., Wayne Memorial: Guess developed this season into the area's premier all-around player despite being only a 10th-grader.

Guess, who always seemed to come up big plays in big games, averaged 20.2 points, seven rebounds, four steals and 3.8 assists per game.

He made 151 of 283 shots from the floor (53.3 percent), including 35 of 88 from three-point range. He also hit 76 percent of his free throws (103 for 135).

Guess made a smooth transition from small forward (as a freshman) to point guard position as the Zebras clinched a share of the Mega Conference Red Division title.

"Lorenzo grew all the way through the year as a point guard, both in his mechanics and fundamentals," Henry said. "He also increased his shooting range from last year. He worked out a mechanical flaw in his shooting and increased his range.

"He also grew leaps and bounds into a leader. He became a coach on the floor."

Guy Rucker, 6-11 sr., Westland Glenn: The area's top big man and November signee with the University of Iowa is the only first-team repeat selection.

The 240-pound Rucker averaged 19 points, 12 rebounds and four blocks per game, while shooting 57 percent from the floor and 65 percent from the free throw stripe as the Rockets won 13 straight Western Lakes Activities Association games.

"Guy has reached the point where he's ready to see where he stands at the next level," Glenn coach Mike Schuette said. "He needs to get stronger inside, but a soft touch will help him down the road. He also has good (shooting) range for a big man."

Rucker will play in Sunday's Magic Johnson All-Star Roundball Classic at the Palace of Auburn Hills. The game features some of the country's top prep players.

Ted Docks, 5-10 sr., Plymouth Canton: Headed for Morehead State (Ky.), Docks was one of the big reasons the Chiefs captured the Western Lakes Activities Association playoff championship.

He averaged 15 points, seven assists and four steals per game. From three-point land, Docks connected on 39 percent of his shots.

"Hard work and dedication to the game has made Ted a much-improved player," Canton coach Danny Young said. "He can take the ball anywhere he wants against anybody.

"I think he'll be a better college player than a high school player because he plays better with better players, plus he has a great attitude. He's just scratching the surface on what he can do."

Mike Ridley, 6-3 sr., Redford Catholic Central: One of the area's top sharpshooters, Ridley could score in a variety of ways.

The small forward averaged 22 points per game while shooting 48 percent from the floor and 76 percent from the free throw line. He also made a total of 33 three-pointers.

Ridley topped 30 points or better on three different occasions this season, including a career-high 31 against Redford Bishop Borgess.

"Mike went strong to the basket; he (can) go inside and outside," CC coach Rick Coratti said. "He jumps extremely well. Athletically he could be a nice college guard. He had quite a few dunks this year.

"He's also a good competitor."

Ridley is undecided about his college choice.

Dan McKian, 6-6 sr., Plymouth Salem: After playing behind teammate James Head (Eastern Michigan) as a junior, the 185-pound McKian came on during his senior year to average 16 points, 10 rebounds and two blocks per game.

He shot 70 percent from the free throw line and 53 percent from the field.

"Dan made tremendous strides this year," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "He has good post moves with his back to the basket. He's quick to the basket. When he catches the ball, he knows what to do inside.

"He has a real quiet demeanor. He just plays the game.

"And he's just 17 right now. He has time to grow."

McKian, who carries a 3.2 grade-point average, has drawn interest from Grand Valley State and Ferris State.

Ron Hunter, 6-3 jr., Plymouth Canton: The 11th-grader led Canton in scoring, averaging 16 points per game.

He also snagged five rebounds per outing while shooting 56 percent from the floor and an impressive 80 percent from the charity stripe.

At times he was brilliant.

Against Detroit Public School League champion Pershing in the regional, Hunter had 22 points and nine rebounds.

"I thought Ron improved as much as any player on our team," Canton coach Danny Young said. "He really wanted to improve his game. He was also one of our best passers and defenders.

"He was also our best scorer because he could score in bunches.

"Ron has raw ability as far as jumping and quickness. Now he has to get tougher mentally."

Albert Jones, 6-1 jr., Westland Glenn: Also an 11th-grader, the lefty guard averaged 15 points, four rebounds and four assists per game.

He loved to operate along the baseline, scoring inside as well as outside.

"Albert became a go-to person late in the game," Glenn coach Mike Schuette said. "We wanted to see him with the ball because he penetrate, distribute or score.

"Nobody really takes the ball away from him. If there is a loose-ball situation, 90 percent of the time he'll come up with it."

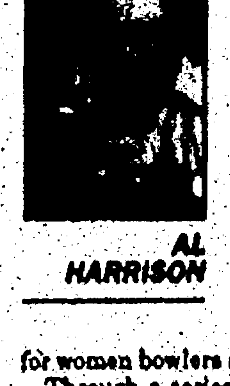
Golden girl Mohacsi wins Vegas tourney

TEN-PIN ALLEY



AL HARRISON

Mary Mohacsi of Livonia has added another laurel to her long list of bowling accomplishments.

She finished first in the "Golden Girls" Tournament at the Showboat Hotel in Las Vegas. The tournament, which pits senior women bowlers against one another in "scratch" competition, is the only such event of this sort in the country for women bowlers age 50 and over.

Through a series of eliminations, she qualified for match play in which her 269 game helped place her in the third spot for the stepladder finals. In the finals she defeated Nancy Ennis 246-187, Rose Smith 201-187 and finally Nancy Lunceford 211-177.

Mohacsi is in the local and national Hall of Fame, has been honored as the Detroit area's "Bowling Queen" a record 10 times, and has represented the U.S. in international FIQ competion, reaping several gold medals for these efforts.

Her list of laurels goes on and on, just too much to mention in this space. Mary and her son, Mark, own and operate the Right Approach Pro Shops in Merri Bowl and Taylor Lanes. Merri Bowl has added some graphic recognition to her recent victory with a huge banner displayed over the lanes . . .

This could be the start of something big . . .

That song might as well be the theme of the 82nd Annual GDBA Championship Tournament and 5th Annual Mixed Tear Event, all taking place at Cloverlanes in Livonia. The tournament has been dedicated to Ebeen Smart, the immediate past president of the GDBA and director of the association since 1962.

At the opening ceremonies last Saturday, dignitaries and bowling writers were given recognition and the call went out for the games to begin. One of the first squads got a 300 game from Keith Woody Sunday. The tournament runs through April 30; winners will be listed in this column later . . .

This is the week of the U.S. Open Pro Bowlers Tournament at Bowl One Lanes in Troy. It is one of the "Triple Crown" events on the tour. The TV finals will be at Joe Louis Arena for the first time and a huge crowd is anticipated.

Fans will also have the Bowl-O-Rama to view, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the JLA. Admission to Bowl-O-Rama is included with tickets to the finals. Tickets are available at the JLA box office, Ticketmaster, Bowl One Lanes and GDBA offices, or call (810) 588-4850.

Observerland team-by-team capsule summaries of preps

LIVONIA CHURCHILL

Head coach: Herb Osterland, 16th season.
League affiliation: Western Lakes (Lakes Division).
Last year's overall record: 5-17.
Notable losses to graduation: Vince DeMassa and Brad Grayson.
Promising newcomers: Leon Kashawlic, junior pitcher/first baseman; Matt Hughes, junior catcher (transfer). Jason Fleissner, junior infielder; Jason Parsons, junior pitcher/infielder.
Osterland's '95 outlook: "Last year we had a young team, but we felt we finished strong at the end of the year.
"We have some senior pitchers back who got a lot of innings. We're diversified, we feel we have some balance there. We feel we won't run out of pitching.
"We graduated Grayson as our catcher, but we feel Hughes can come in and pick up the slack.
"We'll have to wait and see if we can score some runs. We're maybe not as strong as last year, but if guys like Sheehan and Szopko hit like I think, we could be productive."

LIVONIA FRANKLIN

Head coach: Jim Karoub, fifth season.
League affiliation: Western Lakes (Western Division).
Last year's overall record: 16-14.
Notable losses to graduation: Dennis Madden (first-team All-Area shortstop); John Worden and Jason Livingston.
Leading returnees: Brian Crumley, senior pitcher/outfielder (6-2 as pitcher/All-Western Division); Jason Schniers, senior shortstop; Rich Longsdorf, senior catcher; Mike Aubuchon, senior pitcher/outfielder; Tony Granata, senior second baseman; Tim Hayes, senior outfielder; Ray Maleyko, senior outfielder; Sean Mattson, senior pitcher/first baseman; Joe Peace, senior utility infielder; Pete Stasevich, senior pitcher/outfielder; Tom West, senior catcher.
Promising newcomers: Eric Bowman, junior infielder/catcher; Tim Miller, junior pitcher/first baseman; Luke Humphreys, junior pitcher/first baseman.
Karoub's '95 outlook: "We have a veteran team all except at the catching spot.
"We've got a lot of depth in our pitching staff. We have seven who throw strikes, have good mechanics and good control. But we don't have a Besco kind of guy who is going to throw it by you. Defensively, we're going to have to make the plays.
"I think we'll move the ball offensively."

LIVONIA STEVENSON

Head coach: Mike Keller, third season.
League affiliation: Western Lakes (Lakes Division).
Last year's overall record: 11-15.
Titles won last year: Livonia City Champions.
Notable losses to graduation: Brad Morgan (second-team All-Area outfielder); Chris Kondogiani, Chris Chichila and Chris Hollman.
Promising newcomers: Brian Goodell, junior pitcher/outfielder; David Young, junior pitcher; Kyle McNellance, junior infielder; Chris Mullett, senior outfielder; Scott Goldman, senior infielder; Mike Allison, sophomore pitcher/first baseman; Scott Craver, junior pitcher; Sean O'Neil, senior outfielder; Matt Majeski, junior infielder; Gian Galati, junior outfielder.
Keller's '95 outlook: "Our pitching looks decent because we have more depth this year.
"Defensively we look pretty decent all the way around, but only time will tell.
"We definitely don't have as much power. We'll try to keep the ball in the park and run more on the bases. We'll try to peck away. I think we can improve on last year."

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN

Head coach: Norm Hoenes, 29th season.
League affiliation: Western Lakes (Lakes Division).
Last year's overall record: 27-4.
Titles won last year: Lakes Division co-champs, Class A district champs.
Notable losses to graduation: Bryan Besco (first-team All-Area pitcher/first baseman); Derek Besco (first-team All-Area pitcher/shortstop); Jeromey Cosby (first-team All-Area outfielder); Mike Bint (second-team All-Area outfielder); Brian Morrison, Jake Henry and Matt Howton.
Leading returnees: Nick James, senior catcher (second-team All-Area); Jerry Farrar, senior pitcher/first baseman; James Hagelthorne, senior center fielder; Doug Kirkey, senior pitcher/second baseman; Chris Turner, senior pitcher/infielder; Steve Hulett, senior catcher/third baseman.
Hoenes' '95 outlook: "I don't know who our outfielders will be except for Hagelthorn. Our three top pitchers will also play in the field. The bad thing is that they're all infielders, so we're going to have to save them from throwing the ball so much. Right now we're about 3½ pitchers deep with one extra infielder.
"Both Farrar and Kirkey both throw adequate. The question is, can we make some runs? Right now I don't know if anybody can hit besides James.
"Last year we hit 35 homers as a team. That was an unbelievable team. They were pure thoroughbreds, athletes with power, speed and a knowledge of the game."

Trojans hopeful: Clarenceville could contend in the Metro, according to coach Mark MacDonald.

WAYNE MEMORIAL

Head coach: Jim Chronowski, 25th season.
League affiliation: Mega Conference (Red Division).
Last year's overall record: 16-9.
Notable losses to graduation: Jason Overton, Phil Snow and Steve Duckett.
Promising newcomers: Ron King, sophomore infielder/outfielder/pitcher; Jeff Temple, sophomore infielder/outfielder; John Clendening, sophomore infielder/catcher/pitcher; Chris Czarnik, senior third baseman; Rob Hailey, senior outfielder/first baseman; Brant Tajiri, junior infielder; Welton Shaw, junior center fielder.
Chronowski's '95 outlook: "We're down in numbers and pay-to-play is the reason. Nobody was cut. We have about 30 in the program (JV and varsity).
"Up the middle we should be fair. We have a good center fielder in Boston, but he could be at shortstop. And Welton Shaw is a speedster in center.
"I think our first three guys can throw strikes.
"We lost some good bats from last year in Overton and Snow, so somebody is going to have to pick up the slack."

LIVONIA CLARENCEVILLE

Head coach: Mark MacDonald, sixth season.
League affiliation: Metro Conference (West Division).
Last year's overall record: 12-15.
Notable losses to graduation: Mark Juncaj and Chris Fryer.
MacDonald's '95 outlook: "This is the best team I've had since I've been here — expectation-wise, ability-wise and athletic-wise. We have 13 of 17 back.
"The pitching with Parks and Ashton looks strong. I have confidence in them, but we need three or four guys to come through.
"Defensively we're solid up the middle, but we're a little weak at third base where three guys are fighting for a starting position.
"I anticipate strong hitting from Kastl (he hit .420 last year), Nehmeh and DeCaire. Eastman and McSorley have been early surprises."

LUTHERAN HIGH WESTLAND

Head coach: Marty Moro, ninth season.
League affiliation: Metro Conference (West Division).
Last year's overall record: 12-10.
Notable losses to graduation: Steve Faith (All-Metro, second-team All-State Class C), John Reardon, Andy Manthei, Kyle Kopper, Morty Hodge and Jim Hoeft.
Promising newcomers: Jeff Morris, junior outfielder; Andrew Sieloff, junior second baseman; Adam Danielczyk, junior first baseman; Jeff Rajna, senior pitcher; Ben Traver, senior catcher; Lyle Luedeman, junior third baseman; Garrett Smukal, junior outfielder; Don Wagner, junior outfielder; Mike Dittmer, sophomore pitcher.
Moro's '95 outlook: "I think we're a strong defensive unit and were experienced. Our untested positions unfortunately are pitcher and catcher. But Donal has looked good (at catcher) in the preseason.
"We lost two excellent pitchers so somebody has to step up and fill that spot. Right now we have Dittmer (from the JV) and Rajna (who did not play last year). If the pitching comes through, we'll be real successful.
"Our bats should be OK. We're well-rounded with no huge standout."

REDFORD CATHOLIC CENTRAL

Head coach: John Salter, 15th season.
League affiliation: Catholic (Central Division).
Last year's overall record: 25-9.
Titles won last year: Class A district champs.
Notable losses to graduation: Dave Susalla (first-team All-Area pitcher), Andy Kummer (first-team All-Area pitcher), Andy Slankster (second-team All-Area infielder), Juan Sanchez, Dave Kapla, Mike Brusseau.
Salter's '95 outlook: "If our pitching comes around we hope we can contend for the top two spots (in the Catholic League Central Division).
"I think we'll hit more, but I would prefer stronger pitching over hitting if I had the choice."

HURON VALLEY LUTHERAN

Head coach: Tim Sinischo, 13th season.
League affiliation: Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.
Last year's overall record: 10-10.
Titles won last year: Class D district champs.
Notable losses to graduation: Mark Hannewald, Jon Cyr and Eric Ruth.
Leading returnees: Jason Batkoski, senior pitcher/first baseman; Dave Hartley, senior pitcher; Chris Nielson, senior catcher; Joe Schmidt, senior center fielder; Josh Hoeppner, junior outfielder/pitcher; Aaron Zahn, senior pitcher/catcher; Dan Zahn, junior shortstop/second baseman; Ben Husby, junior shortstop/second baseman.
Promising newcomers: Joel Hartley, freshman catcher; Tom Husby, freshman, third baseman/outfielder; Jeremy Zahn, pitcher/outfielder; Rob Jereau, junior first baseman (transfer from Clarkston area).
Sinischo's '95 outlook: "We'll play the same brand of baseball this year. We'll bunt and run. I think I'll have a lot of latitude this year. It's going to fun. Our style of play helps our program because we're small.
"Hannewald was the quarterback of our outfield. He had wheels and hit well, but what we lost (to graduation) I think we'll be able to fill in."

Tiffin sweeps Madonna with 7th-inning surges

COLLEGES

It's not quite pieced together yet for Madonna University's baseball team.

With so many new players, it figured to be a lengthy process. The Crusaders' inconsistency showed at last Thursday's home opener — Tiffin University, 7-10 coming in, used a five-run rally in the seventh inning to beat Madonna 7-3 in the opener, then capitalized on a strong pitching performance in the nightcap to earn a 1-0 win and a sweep.

The double loss left the Crusaders with a 13-14 record. Tiffin improved to 9-10.

Scott McDaniel handcuffed Madonna on just three hits in the second-game shutout; he walked two and struck out 10. Ryan Grabetz was the hard-luck loser for the Crusaders, falling to 1-3 although he gave up just five hits and four walks, striking out three.

One of those five hits, however, was a solo home run by Tiffin's Adam Abrahamowics with two out in the seventh. Madonna managed three singles, by Scott Anderson, Steve Zann and Craig Peterson.

In the opener, the Crusaders got the hits — they outhit Tiffin 11-8 — but the pitching failed. Despite the double-figure hit total, they could manage just three runs. Jim Solak (from Redford/Dearborn Divine Child) drove in two of those with his two hits. Anderson and Aaron Jones also had two hits apiece.

Madonna had a 3-2 lead entering the seventh, but Tiffin got to starter and loser Jason Dubey (6⅓ innings, six earned runs on seven hits and two walks) and reliever Eric Butler, who gave up a three-run homer.

There was another bright spot for the Crusaders, in addition to Grabetz's second-game pitching performance: They committed just one error in the two games.

How interested are you in selling your home?

Interested enough to spend a few moments and discover the best place to advertise the fact that your home is for sale?

Good. We knew you were intelligent.

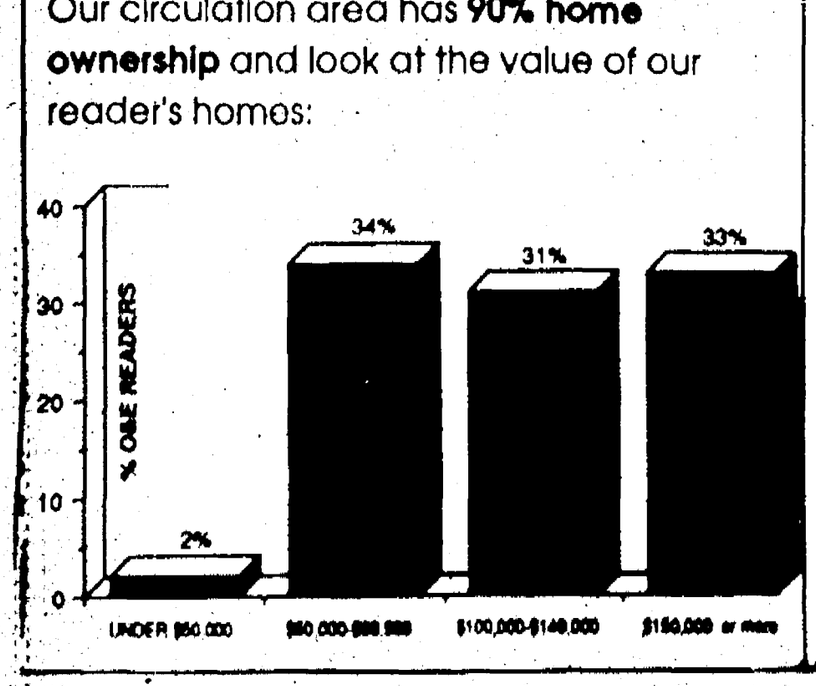
In fact, more than 40% of our readers have college degrees or better.*

And if knowlege is power, let's look at a few powerful facts: this newspaper, the one you're reading right now, reaches some of the most affluent households in Wayne and Oakland counties:

That's a median household income of more than $50,000—$10,000 more than the income of the people who don't read our newspapers.So when you advertise in your Observer & Eccentric newspapers, you not only reach thousands of smart people, you reach people with substantial incomes.

Now, that's something to smile about.

Our circulation area has 90% home ownership and look at the value of our reader's homes:

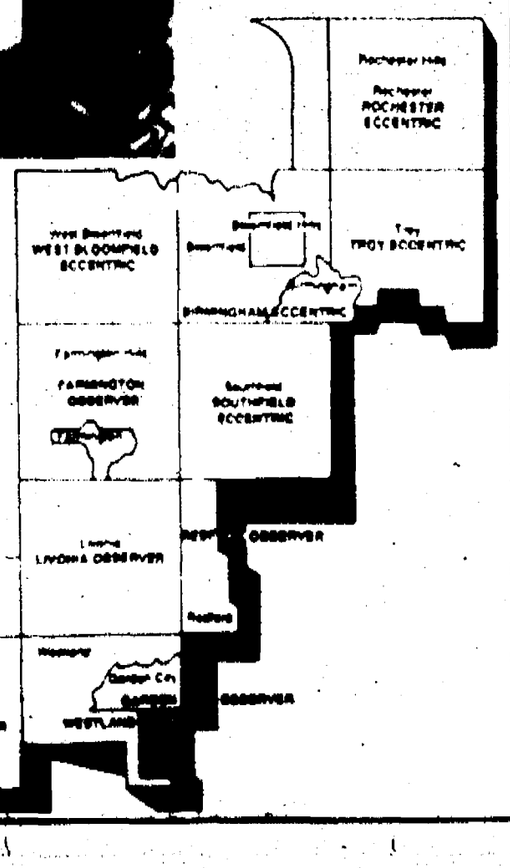


FACT: When you advertise with us you will reach 9 out of 10 adults in the Observer & Eccentric market area who have read weekly classified advertising.*

FACT: 91% of the adults in our market area who had read classified advertising in the past seven days had read it in the Observer & Eccentric*.

So, we can offer you one quarter of a million adult readers and a very rich market, what else do we have for you? How about an award-winning newspaper— a newspaper that people trust and look forward to reading? One that reaches 25 communities with important local news that's not available anywhere else.

That's us.



By the way, did you know that all those little ads in the back of this newspaper— the ones placed by people like you—are published in all 12 newspapers?

Therefore, when you advertise anything from a horn to a home, you will automatically reach this huge, interested reading audience.

What else can we say? We've had years of experience in publishing newspapers and are proud of our record for successfully putting home buyers in touch with home sellers.

In fact, we've just introduced HOMELINE,* a great new way to find out about open houses simply by using your touchtone telephone.

Be sure to mention it to your Realtor® so that when it comes time to show your home, it will be described on HOMELINE.
