Murderer gets 15 to 30 years

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Detroit judge Wednesday sentenced Westland murderer Christopher David Poremba to prison for 15 to 30 years for the shooting death of roommate Eric Alexander Lucia, a longtime Redford Township resident.

Wayne County Circuit Judge

Christopher David Poremba of Westland has received a 15-30-year prison sentence for the second-degree murder of his roommate. Family members of the victim pleaded with the judge for a lengthy sentence.

Michael Callahan announced his decision after tearful Lucia family members pleaded for a long sentence for Poremba, 29.

Lucia's sister, Luanne Mueller, described the emotional pain of trying to cope with her 27-year-old brother's death last Sept. 18.

"The laughs, the tears, the tickle fights, the long talks, the hugs and the dinners that I made for him — all

I know now is that there will be no more," Mueller told Callahan.

She also described how her children, Jayson, 8, and Diane, 10, miss their "uncle Ricky."

Diane often clings to a stuffed bunny that Lucia gave to her, knowing that she won't be receiving any more presents from him, Mueller said. Jayson cherishes a football given to him by Lucia, who had planned to coach his nephew's youth team.

"They want to know why this bad man killed their uncle," Mueller told Callahan.

For a school project, Jayson made a booklet that he titled, "In Memory of Uncle Ricky."

"To say that my children are devastated would be an understatement," Mueller said. "They now awake from nightmares that this man (Poremba) will come after them."

Poremba, a Wayne Memorial High graduate and Ford Motor Co. apprentice, was sentenced 19 days after a jury convicted him of second-degree murder.

Jurors rejected defense attorney Neil Fink's claims that Poremba was

Sassafras supporters circulate petitions

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A citizens group fighting to stop the potential residential development of Sassafras Trails, a 64-acre nature area, seized an opportunity during last week's Westland Festival to circulate petitions for its cause.

Friends of Sassafras Trails member Teresa Robbins said the group has now collected about 2,000 signatures urging the Wayne-Westland school board to protect Sassafras Trails, a heavily wooded area northeast of Palmer and Wildwood.

"We really pushed the issue at the festival," Robbins said.

The school board is considering selling the land after receiving appraisals that indicate the property could bring in more than $1 million for the money-strapped district.

Board members are considering rejecting a lesser offer of $520,000 from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, which would buy the development rights and preserve Sassafras Trails.

On Friday, board member Patricia Brown said a decision may arise during a 7 p.m. school board meeting today (Monday), even though Sassafras Trails isn't listed on the formal agenda.

"It's not on the agenda, but there's a chance that it could be added if we amend the agenda," she said.

In another development, the Observer has learned that school Superintendent Duane Moore and Westland Mayor Robert Thomas have met to discuss Sassafras Trails, a meeting that some Sassafras supporters viewed as hopeful.

Thomas has vowed that his administration won't pressure the

Nominations sought

Westland Mayor Robert Thomas' office is accepting nominations for residential and business landscaping beautification awards through Aug. 21. Judging for residential nominees will be based on the overall appearance of the front and back yards. Judging for non-residential nominees will be based on the overall appearance of the grounds surrounding businesses. (Condominiums and apartments will be judged in the business category.)

To submit nominations, call 467-3200 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays or send them to Mayor Robert Thomas, Beautification Awards, City of Westland, 36601 Ford Road, Westland 48185. Prizes, such as dinners and plaques, will be awarded for first, second and third place in both categories.

PLACES & FACES

Car wash slated

The Youth Group of the Westland-based Salvation Army, 2300 Venoy at Dorsey, will be holding a car wash 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 3. Funds raised will be used to expand the Salvation Army's outreach program for teen-agers. For more information on the youth group or other Salvation Army programs, call Capt. Mark Welsh, corps officer in charge, at 722-3660.

Youth honored

Jason Manning of Westland was recently honored at the Wayne-Westland Credit Union annual dinner meeting after serving one year on the youth board of directors. He was awarded for outstanding performance as vice president. He has performed such duties as collecting canned goods for the needy and writing a youth newsletter. Manning attends John Glenn High School.

Student lauded

Wendi Mrozinski, a John Glenn High graduate, recently graduated summa cum laude from Albion College, receiving a bachelor's degree in anthropology and sociology and religious studies. She was awarded departmental honors in religious studies for her thesis, titled "Analysis of the Iron I Cultic Structure at Tell Ta'aneek." She is the daughter of Nancy King of Canton Township.

under attack by Lucia when he shot the victim in the chest.

The killing occurred at Poremba's Westland home in the 32700 block of Parkwood. Witnesses said a dispute occurred when Poremba made derogatory remarks to a woman who came to his residence to visit Lucia and Lucia's friend, Richard Gofourth.

Poremba told the woman that Lucia and Gofourth were "trouble," Gofourth has testified.

Following a scuffle, Poremba pulled a gun and shot Lucia to death.

Mueller had to identify her dead brother's body.

"I realized what it was like to have your heart literally broken," she told Callahan.

"His murder has just ripped my world apart," she said, adding that Lucia family members have been sentenced to "a lifetime of hurt and longing."

Lucia's family members would have preferred a longer prison term for Poremba, but Mueller said the judge followed sentencing guidelines based on issues such as Poremba's background.

"He's a good judge," Mueller said. "He's a fair judge."

She also commended assistant Wayne County prosecutor Augustus Hutting, saying he "left no stone unturned" in prosecuting Poremba.

Now that Poremba has been sentenced, Lucia's family will try to overcome the grief that has continued throughout Poremba's court proceedings.

"All of these court hearings made it rough," Mueller said. "Now our family needs some time to heal."

school board on its decision about Sassafras Trails. However, the mayor has pledged that — if asked — he would be willing to help school officials seek additional state grants to complement the DNR offer and preserve the land.

The DNR grant has to be accepted by Sept. 30, Robbins said, but city officials could continue afterward to seek additional state dollars.

Robbins said she is also encouraged that some Westland City Council members, namely Glenn Anderson and Sandra Cicirelli, have shown support for saving Sassafras Trails.

"They are just super people,"

she said.

Some school board members have said they support selling the property because it would not only bring in new revenue, but also would boost student enrollment from residential development.

The district receives about $5,600 a year in state aid for each pupil that attends Wayne-Westland schools.

Other board members want to preserve Sassafras Trails and have long promised Sassafras supporters that they won't vote to sell the property.

The citizens group has said it hopes the district will eventually use Sassafras Trails to teach students about science and the environment.

The school board last month deadlocked 3-3, with Brown absent, on the Sassafras Trails issue. But the board has since been revamped with newly elected members David Cox and Robin Moore assuming their posts on July 1.

Cox and Moore haven't made firm commitments either way on Sassafras Trails, saying they plan to study the issues before a new vote is taken.

Westland Festival offers fun for participants

BY DARRELL CLEM

Everybody loves a parade, but 6-year-old Jenny Bone got to march in one.

Jenny, in the summer before she enters first grade at P.D. Graham Elementary School, marched with the Cheer America pompon team during Tuesday's 30th annual Westland Festival parade.

"It was fun," she said. "I liked marching."

On Friday, Jenny and her mother, Monica, returned to the festival where Jenny rode the carousel and braved a big slide that brought smiles to many youngsters' faces.

"It's a real nice festival," Monica Bone said. "They have a lot of ticket stands, so we didn't have to wait in a long line. The parade was real nice, too."

Thousands of people attended last week's festivities, which were to culminate Saturday with the city's annual fireworks display.

Jennifer Bird of Ann Arbor brought her Garden City niece, 3-year-old Aundrea Roye, to the festival.

"I want to go on the merry-go-round," Aundrea said.

Bird said she enjoyed playing games such as a basketball shoot.

"I liked it," she said of the festival. "There were a lot of things for kids to do."

Parade chairman Mike Spisak said this year's parade from Wildwood and Ford to the City Hall area lasted nearly two hours, twice as long as last year's.

"People were just delighted," he said. "I didn't hear one complaint."

Members of the U.S. Coast Guard flew overhead in helicopters, and some 90 units joined the parade, including the popular, national award-winning Coachmen Drum and Bugle Corps from Grand Rapids.

"People were lined up three and four deep on the curb," Spisak said. "They were actually coming out into the street. This is the biggest parade Westland has seen in 30 years."

Some food vendors expected record sales, he said.

"This is the best year some of them have ever had," Spisak said.

Some feared rain would spoil Tuesday's parade, which kicked off the festival.

"It was overcast, but we didn't get any rain until the end of the parade," Spisak said.

"It was the biggest parade we've ever had," community volunteer Sam Corrado said. "We had some great kids' groups, including dance groups and karate groups and a lot of others. It was great."

Spisak commended Westland's business community and its residents for making the 30th festival a success.

Wording of tax proposal raises questions

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Former Westland City Councilman Thomas Brown is questioning the legality of an Aug. 6 public safety tax proposal aimed at strengthening the police and fire departments.

Brown is suggesting that even if voters approve the 1.5-mill, six-year tax plan, a possible lawsuit could block new revenues that city officials say would amount to $11.5 million.

"It would seem to me that it would be subject to challenge at this time," he said.

But City Attorney Angelo Plakas said he believes the ballot proposal — already revised once — is now properly worded.

The proposal was earlier amended because it failed to specify the number of years the tax would remain in effect.

New revenues would be used to implement a community policing program, provide paramedic training for all firefighters and renovate all four Westland fire stations.

The owner of an $80,000 home would pay about $60 more a year in taxes, city officials have said.

The ballot proposal will ask voters to approve a charter amendment raising the general operating millage ceiling from 8 mills to 9.5 mills.

During a July 1 council meeting, Brown objected to ballot language referring to a "special" election on Aug. 6.

The public safety proposal coincides with the Aug. 6 election primary, and Brown said the council shouldn't have approved language referring to a "special" city election.

"After the meeting, Plakas said, 'At this point I don't think it's a problem.'"

The following day, Plakas elaborated and said he believes the term "special" applies because the city has no other local elections.

The only other decisions facing voters have broader ramifications, such as the contest for the 18th District state House seat currently occupied by Eileen DeHart, D-Westland.

DeHart is unopposed, but Republicans Dennis LeMaitre and Michael Novak are vying for the GOP nomination.

"Really we are having a special election," Plakas said, referring to the public safety proposal.

The plan is aimed at starting seven new community policing districts, in which each of seven new officers would be assigned to patrol a specific area of the city.

In the fire department, officials have said the millage would provide a full-fledged Advanced Life Support system, meaning that paramedics would respond to medical emergencies from all four fire stations.

emergency medical technicians, have a higher level of on-the-scene skills for responding to heart attacks, diabetic seizures and other medical emergencies.

With the election drawing closer, firefighters and police officers have joined city leaders in pushing for approval of the tax plan.

The proposal is part of Mayor Robert Thomas' Project 2000, a plan that he said will help usher the city into the next century.

CITY OF GARDEN CITY REGULATORY ADOPTION

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that at its regular meeting of Monday, July 1, 1996, the City Council of the City of Garden City did adopt the following Ordinance:

ORDINANCE 96-006

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 161.222 CHAPTER 161, TITLE XV OF THE CODE OF THE CITY OF GARDEN CITY, THE CITY OF GARDEN CITY HEREBY ORDAINS:

That Section 161.222 A(1), 161.222 C(1) (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), (i), (j), (k), (l), (m), (n), (o), (p), (q), (r), (s), (t), (u), (v), (w), (x), (y), (z) of Chapter 161, Title XV of the Code of the City of Garden City be amended to read as follows:

Section 161.222 - SITE PLAN REVIEW PROCEDURES AND STANDARDS

A. SITE PLAN REVIEW

1. Site Plan Required

Except as provided in the sub-Section 161.222 A (2), the development of any new use, the construction of any new structure, any change of an existing use of land or structure that impacts any requirement of these regulations, and all other building or development activities shall require site plan approval prior to construction and occupancy pursuant to this Article. For example, site plan review is required for any of the following activities:

- Erection, moving, relocation, or conversion of a building or structure to create additional floor space, other than a single family dwelling.
- Any development that would, if approved, provide for the establishment of more than one principal use on a parcel, such as a single family site condominium or similar project where a single parcel is developed to include two or more sites for detached single family dwellings.
- Development of non-single family residential use on a single family district.
- Any change in land use or change in the use of a structure that potentially affects compliance with the standards set forth within these regulations.
- The development or construction of any accessory uses or structures, except for uses or structures that are accessory to a single family dwelling.
- Any use or construction for which submission of a site plan is required by any provision of these regulations.

2. Establishment of any regulated use.

SECTION 161.222 - SITE PLAN REVIEW PROCEDURES AND STANDARDS

C. REVIEW AND ACTION

9. Modification to Approved Plan

A previously approved site plan may be subsequently modified, subject to the following requirements:

- Review of Minor Modifications
- Minor modifications to an approved site plan may be reviewed and approved by the Zoning Administrator consistent with the minimum information requirements of 161.222 C(1)(i), provided that the modifications do not involve any one of the following items:
 - a request for a variance.
 - a Special Land Use.
 - a Planned Development plan, or
 - the continuation of a nonconforming use or structure.

Minor modifications that require a variance, Special Land Use, Planned Development, or continuation of a nonconforming use or structure shall be subject to review and approval by the Planning Commission.

1. Minor Modification Defined

Minor modifications are changes that do not substantially affect the character or intensity of the use, vehicular or pedestrian circulation, drainage patterns, the demand for public services, or the vulnerability to hazards. Examples of minor modifications include:

- An addition to an existing building that does not increase or decrease the floor space by more than twenty-five percent (25%) or three thousand (3,000) square feet, whichever is less.
- Re-occupancy of a building by a similar use permitted by these regulations.
- Changes to building height that do not add an additional floor.
- Additions or alterations to the landscape plan or landscape materials.
- Relocation or re-siting utility supply lines or service connections.
- Relocation or screening of the trash receptacle.
- Alterations to the internal parking layout of an off-street lot in which the total available spaces is unchanged.

Construction of a new building or structure, adding or deleting parking spaces, constructing additional stories or the introduction of additional curb cuts onto a public road are examples of modifications that are not considered minor.

2. Determination of Minor Modification

The Zoning Administrator shall determine if the proposed modifications are minor in accordance with the guidelines in this section. In order to make a determination, the Zoning Administrator may solicit comments and recommendations from the City Attorney, City Planner, City Engineer, and Public Safety officials, as deemed necessary.

b. Modifications Not Deemed Minor

If the modifications are not deemed minor by the Zoning Administrator, then review and approval of the changes by the Planning Commission shall be required. Planning Commission review shall be required for all site plans that involve:

- a request for a variance.
 - a Special Land Use.
 - a discretionary decision such as a Planned Development plan, or
 - the continuation of a nonconforming use or structure.
- City Council review and approval shall be required for modifications to a site plan that originally required City Council approval.

c. Record of Action

Each action related to modification of a site plan shall be duly recorded in writing on a copy of the approved plan, and shall be kept on file in the office of the Zoning Administrator. The Zoning Administrator shall have the authority to require a new site plan for the purposes of clarity. The Planning Commission shall be advised of all minor site plan modifications approved by the Zoning Administrator and such modifications shall be noted on the site plan and in the minutes of the Planning Commission.

10. Required Information for Sketch Plans

The following information shall accompany or be included on all sketch plans:

- An application form as described in 161.222 (D) (1) shall be prepared and submitted with the sketch plan.
- Sketch plans shall consist of an overall plan for the building and site or part of a site related to the building. The plan shall be drawn to scale of not less than 1 inch = 20 feet for property less than one acre, 1 inch = 30 feet for property larger than one acre but less than three acres, and 1 inch = 50 feet for property larger than three acres. Sheet size shall be at least 24 inches by 36 inches.

The following description and identification information shall be included on all sketch plans:

- Scale and northpoint.
- Name, address, and phone number of the applicant and the person preparing the drawing.
- Zoning classification of the subject site.
- Property boundary lines and dimensions; if more than one (1) lot is included in the site, the lot lines of each lot shall be indicated.
- Front, side, and rear setbacks dimensioned from the minimum lot lines.
- Existing and proposed driveways and edges of all existing and proposed paved surfaces, as required.
- Parking spaces for the use, at the site required by the ordinance.
- The outline and dimensions of all existing and proposed exterior building walls on the site.
- All exterior site improvements or modifications proposed in conjunction with the use described on the sketch plan including, but not limited to, building construction, new pavement, landscaping, trash receptacle, and site clearing.
- A written description of the proposed use.
- A floor plan describing the use of all interior floor space.

All Ordinances in conflict with the provisions of this amendatory Ordinance are, to the extent of such conflict, hereby repealed.

Except as herein modified, said code shall remain in full force and effect.

This amendatory ordinance is declared to be effective upon publication as required by law.

Area lawmakers say yes to trial court reform

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

"Go slow," Democrats warned as legislative Republicans pushed for trial court reform. Republicans took the advice, taking two steps July 3 and paving the way for more massive steps in the fall.

The Legislature:

- Voted to abolish Detroit Recorder's Court effective Oct. 1, 1997, "grandfathering" its 29 judges as Wayne Circuit Court judges and requiring them to run countywide when seeking reelection.

For the first time in history, Michigan will have a uniform, statewide trial court system. Detroit no longer will be the only one of 271 Michigan cities with a separate criminal court. The law also blocks the Supreme Court from again shifting all suburban criminal cases to Detroit judges and juries.

- Established a uniform funding formula based on caseload. For a few outstate counties, it may be a windfall. Wayne County and Detroit are "held harmless," meaning they can't lose state aid through the end of fiscal 2001. Court employees' benefits also are protected.

Lawmakers must wait until a fall session beginning Sept. 10 to decide whether to:

- Establish a "family court" division of circuit court. It would involve transferring most of the powers of probate court and a few to district court.

- Place HJR S, a massive amendment to the judicial article of the Michigan Constitution, on the ballot. As drafted, it would establish a single "trial court," abolishing probate and district courts. Court borders would be county lines, but counties could have "election districts," meaning Detroit and the suburbs could be able to elect their "own" judges.

If adopted by voters, it will be the most massive change in state court history, surpassing the abolition of non-lawyer justices of the peace in the 1960s.

Engler prods

Gov. John Engler remained silent on the issue during the House-Senate conference committee's week of negotiations and the Legislature's two-day session.

Although legal reformers long sought the package of change, Engler precipitated it by (1) threatening to veto new judgeships in Oakland County, Farmington, the Northville-Plymouth-Canton area and Ypsilanti Township in 1994 and (2) actually vetoing more court funding this year until court reform took place.

"Reform," to supporters, means more ability to shift judges across jurisdictional and geographical boundaries. "A judge is a judge is a judge," in the words of House Judiciary Chair Michael Nye, R-Litchfield.

Key player: James Ryan, R-Redford, was a key member of the conference committee, guarding funding for the Wayne County courts and employees' status.

How they voted

Senate Republican stumbled when three of their 22 members missed the session - including Robert Geake of Northville. The bill failed on a 19-16 party-line vote with 20 needed for passage.

It was the second time Geake, a 19-year senator with a nearly perfect attendance record, missed a court reform vote. An aide said Geake had a church camp commitment July 2 but changed it to July 3 when the one-day session was called. Majority leader Dick Posthumus, R-Alto, extended the session a day. Geake's aide said the senator couldn't break the July 3 commitment.

A month earlier, when the Senate Judiciary Committee took a key vote to report the reform bill out of committee, Geake attended a safety conference and had to be replaced on the committee so the GOP could have a majority to report out the bills.

On second try, the Senate passed the key bill with a 23-12 vote as four Democrats crossed over: Chris Dingell of Trenton, Art Miller of Warren, Ken DeBeaussiaert of Macomb County and Don Koivisto of Ironwood.

All other senators voted with their parties except the three absentees.

The House vote was 70 to 33 with six not voting. Voting yes were 51 Republicans and 19 Democrats. Voting no were 33 Democrats.

Observer Reps

Here is how local members voted:

OBSERVER:

Yes - Lyn Banks, R-Redford, Eileen DeHart, D-Westland, Tom Kelly, D-Wayne, Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, Jim Ryan, R-Redford, Deborah Whyman, R-

Canton.

Ryan was a key member of the conference committee, guarding funding for the Wayne County courts and employees' status. Whyman was a lightning rod for black lawmakers' wrath for her championing of abolishing Recorder's Court.

Debate brief

Debate was relatively brief and was confined to party spokesmen because no amendments are allowed on a conference committee report.

Senate Judiciary Chair William VanRegenmorter, R-Hudsonville, said, "I fully expect the family court bills will be passed when we take them up in September."

"Recorder's Court is abolished. Its uniqueness isn't the issue. It's not as efficient as it could be. Wayne County (suburban) voters can't vote for Recorder's Court judges. The judges will hear cases countywide and run countywide."

"A constitutional amendment will be considered, but it's not part of any agreement."

VanRegenmorter credited Wayne County senators Chris Dingell, D-Trenton, Robert Geake, R-Northville, and Loren Bennett, R-Canton, with being "effective spokesmen for their constituents" on Wayne County court funding.

"There's not a lot of reform in this bill," said Dingell. "My role has been damage control... making it less odious."

Dingell said the bill sets up a 23-member commission to assess court cases on their difficulty with a goal of reallocating court resources.

In the House, Rep. Ted Wallace, D-Detroit, sounded like a suburbanite when he said twice the Supreme Court had been "wrong - no defense" in putting Detroit Recorder's Court in charge of all Wayne County criminal cases for nearly 19 years, adding, "But the Supreme Court has corrected that."

Rep. Michael Nye, R-Litchfield, House Judiciary chair who headed the conference committee, said, "Unification is a process that has been going on for a long time."

"When I started as a lawyer, we had justices of the peace. When they were abolished, some said, 'Migosh, we're losing control; this is a terrible thing'..."

"We've had battles in the counties about who's in control (of court budgets). The judges are going to fight this, no matter what. We say to the judges, 'You can hire and fire,' but the counties will handle the money."

The "family court" bills are Senate Bills 1052, 1054 and 1055. The constitutional amendment to establish a single "trial court" is House Joint Resolution S. Refer to bill numbers when writing to your legislators, State Capitol, Lansing 48909.

Job fair planned July 12 for military vets

Detroit area military veterans who are looking for jobs will have a chance to meet with area employers who have openings to fill at a job fair July 12.

The fair, which is open to military veterans only, will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the U.S. Army Reserve Center, 300th M.P. Command, 3200 Beech-Daly in Inkster.

"We expect about 40 area employers will be participating in the fair," F. Robert Edwards, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, said.

"And they'll be trying to find good applicants for a wide range of openings."

Edwards said he expects many private employers as well as several municipal and state agencies will be recruiting for workers at the fair.

Veterans who would like to attend the fair can register at their local MESC Job Service office or at the door. The fair is free.

"Any veteran coming to the fair should bring many copies of their resume, and they should be ready to interview with any of the employers," Maria Wood, manager of MESC's Dearborn office, said. Wood is coordinating MESC's involvement in the job fair.

MESC, the American Legion and the U.S. Army Reserve are co-sponsoring the job fair, which is being held in conjunction with the American Legion's state conference in Dearborn from July 12-14.

The conference keynote speaker Preston Taylor, assistant secretary of Veterans Employment and Training for the U.S. Department of Labor, will also participate in the job fair's opening ceremonies at 9 a.m.

Taylor oversees all Labor Department veterans' employment and training services, re-employment rights and employment and advancement opportunities with federal contractors.

Commission denies golf cart contract

A contract to buy 140 new golf carts for the county-owned Warren Valley Golf Course didn't get enough votes for approval by the Wayne County Commission last week.

The $382,175 contract with Club Car Inc. of Livonia would have bought 140 new golf carts and included a five-year maintenance agreement for the carts for the Warren Valley Golf Course in Dearborn Heights.

The plan would have replaced the 110 carts at the course, according to golf manager Ray Glenn. All of those carts are six years old and require spending $6,000 out of the golf course budget for maintenance, Glenn said.

"It's not cost efficient to continue using the carts we have," Glenn said.

Also, more carts are needed because on the nights leagues play the carts run out by 5:30 or 6 p.m., he said.

Cart rentals are also a "major revenue producer" as each cart generates $2,300 a year, he said.

COUNTY NEWS

The contract needed eight votes for approval, but failed on a 7-4 vote, when two commissioners were out of the room and two were absent.

Local commissioners Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, and Bruce Patterson, R-Canton Township, voted no, while Vice Chair Kay Beard, D-Westland, voted yes. Commissioner Michelle Plawewski, who represents Redford Township and part of Livonia, was absent.

Gypsy moths

Commissioners last week approved a resolution in support of continued federal funding of the gypsy moth spraying program.

"The problem is creating a panic situation among some home and woodland owners in Wayne County," according to the resolution sponsored by Commissioner Bruce Patterson, R-Canton Township. Many other commissioners added their names as sponsors during the meeting.

Gypsy moths infest wooded areas and strip trees of their foliage. Treatment includes spraying a pesticide during the spring. Michigan State University through the Cooperative Extension program conducts a spraying program.

Gypsy moth spraying was conducted in May in Livonia and several other areas of the county, but residents in other parts of the county, such as Van Buren and Sumpter townships, have also reported a problem.

New signals

A contract for the installation of side-of-street flashing light signals, half-roadway gates and constant warning time devices at the railroad tracks of CSX Transportation at Eckles Road in Livonia was approved last week.

Commissioners approved a

Michigan Department of Transportation contract between MDOT, the county, and the city of Livonia. The signals won't cost the county, according to the CEO's office.

Video arraignments

A program which is designed to speed up arraignments, allow for more officers on the streets and offer better services for victims of crime was approved last week by the Wayne County Commission.

A memorandum of understanding between Wayne County, the Detroit Police Department, and the 36th District Court will begin a program of video arraignments and conferencing.

A $175,000 grant will implement the program.

The plan went to the Detroit City Council for approval after it left the commission.

CAPITOL CAPSULES

You can't be sued if you provide true information during insurance fraud investigations under a new state law.

Public Act 229 of 1996 protects companies and employees who uncover insurance fraud from "the chilling effect lawsuits have had on anti-fraud efforts," said Dale Robertson, of Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Michigan. "Even when acting in good faith, we get sued," he said. Since 1980 the agency has recovered $44 million and prevented the loss of approximately $81 million.

The act was sponsored by Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, vice-chair of the House Insurance Committee.

Condo tax break

All condominium owners would pay property taxes at homeowner rates rather than commercial rates under a House-passed bill waiting action this fall in the Senate.

Rep. Dan Gustafson, R-

Williamston, is sponsor and Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, co-sponsor, of House Bill 5706, aimed at correcting what they call a glitch in the Proposal A reforms approved by voters in 1994. The package calls for taxing homes at 6 mills and business property at 24 mills.

Most condo owners pay the 6-mill rate, but tenants who did not own stock were denied the tax break, Law said. "One word seems to be causing all the problems. This legislation changes the wording from 'stockholder' to 'owner' and ensures that everyone gets the exemptions they're entitled to," said Law. HB 5706 is in the Senate Finance Committee.

Kudos to Doctoroff

Chief Judge Martin M. Doctoroff of the state Court of Appeals has been nominated for an award to the Foundation for Improvement of Justice in Carrollton, Ga.

Doctoroff, of Birmingham, and William B. Murphy, chief judge pro tem, were nominated by state attorney general Frank Kelley for reducing the appellate court's backlog from 5,000-plus cases and a three-year wait to less than 1,400 cases and a one-year wait.

Voters in 1994 approved a constitutional amendment eliminating an automatic right of appeal for convicts who plead guilty. The court was expanded from 18 to 24 judges. Circuit judges were assigned to sit on all three-member appellate panels, expanding the number of working appellate judges to 36.

Kelley said he nominated Doctoroff and Murphy in a category called "Speeding the Process." The Foundation for Improvement of Justice is a private, non-profit institution founded in 1985 to improve federal and state justice systems in the United States.

Traffic report

Michigan State Police report:

- Traffic fatalities were up 8 percent in 1995 - 1,537 deaths versus 1,419 in 1994. It was the second annual increase in a row.

- Safety belt use is creeping up and is now at 69 percent. But 58 percent of fatalities involved people who failed to use seat belts. "Clearly, our most aggressive and at-risk drivers are not buckling up," said Betty Mercer, director of the Office of Highway Safety Planning.

- Drunk driving arrests increased in 1995 to 59,484, up 7.8 percent over the previous year. An anti-drunk driving campaign and more troopers on the road were credited for helping the increase. Of those arrested, 83.4 percent were male. Nearly one in five arrests occurred as the result of a traffic crash.

Patricia Daunis

Designer's jewels are fancy and fun

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

I've always wondered, "How much jewelry is too much?"

I got the chance to put it to an expert recently when internationally recognized jewelry designer Patricia Daunis met with shoppers at Orin Jewelers, Garden City and Northville.

Daunis said she studied people in order to create jewelry enhancing the wearer. She arrived wearing gold earrings, necklace, bracelet, lapel pin, a ring on each hand, and a 14K gold spider ($219) pinned on the cuff of one sleeve.

"If you're having fun, who cares how much jewelry you're wearing?" she laughed. "What drives me crazy is when women say, 'All my jewelry is locked up in a vault.'"

Daunis, 44, is a three-time winner of the World Gold Council Awards, DeBeer's Diamonds Today Design Award and the Jewelers of America Jewel Award. She's been designing jewelry for 15 years.

According to Daunis, a Rhode Island School of Design graduate, a woman should choose jewelry based on her face shape, body type, hair style and personality. When consulting with a customer, Daunis asks what type of image her customer is trying to convey. Is she tall or short? What types of earrings has she worn in the past? What style of clothing does she wear? What colors, fabrics, does she prefer?

Before sitting down to design jewelry in her Maine studio, Daunis "tears pages from fashion magazines such as W and Vogue because clothes and jewelry must work together." On this occasion, Daunis wore a shawl-collared brown suit with a plain cocoa blouse without detail to provide a clean, unconflicting canvas for her accessories.

"Jewelry should be part of your whole story. Good earrings call attention to your eyes and mouth.

A basic rule of thumb is a rounder face goes with a longer style earring, a longer face with a rounder earring. Short-haired women shouldn't wear drop style earrings while women with longer hair should," she advised.

"Concentrate on elements that make you special or beautiful and then accent them. Don't get sucked into trends," she continued. "Wear less jewelry if you dress in prints. Consider the weight of the jewelry. Avoid wearing large, bold jewelry unless you are tall or have strong features and utilize only one or two pieces at a time."

"The biggest mistake women make is not wearing jewelry. Most women have a sense of what looks good on them. I like jewelry I can just put on, dress it up or down, and it will carry me through the day."

Versatility is key to Daunis' designs. She strives to incorporate movement and light in each piece. She avoids producing hard edges believing curving shapes interplay with the human body fitting into its' niches. Nature is a major inspiration. Daunis' sculptural 14K gold Bay of Fundy earrings ($570) were actually created to mirror the wave-action of water in the Norway bay.

"That's the magic making. My designs are soft because metal is hard," she pointed out. "Good jewelry is site specific sculpture. Your ear is very three dimensional. The earring should relate to that part of the body without overwhelming it."

Daunis's new collection, carried by independent retailers from New York to California and Japan, features a woven pattern that goes back to her roots. Originally, she planned to study architecture then switched to textile design. Rather than take a weaving class requiring tremendous amounts of patience, Daunis again changed directions this time to metalsmithing and sculpture. After receiving a bachelor of fine arts degree from one of the top art schools in the country, Daunis started her own wholesale/retail jewelry and holloware business in the basement of her home.

Fash Bash is the beacon of fall

Metro Detroit's first look at fall fashion is the annual benefit for the DIA, Hudson's Fash Bash at the Fox Theatre. Here's a preview of what's in store for the July 31 happening.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Coats made of rubber, girl's jumpers of vinyl printed with holograms, velvet dinner jackets for guys, and lycra body suits are a few of the fashion highlights from Hudson's 27th Fash Bash to benefit the Detroit Art Institute, Wednesday, July 31 at the Fox Theatre.

And if those descriptions don't have you scratching your head, throw in a guest appearance by RuPaul, described by M.A.C. cosmetics as "the First Face of M.A.C. - A beautiful person who happens to be 7 feet tall, a black man, a gorgeous woman, and certainly ageless."

Also set to entertain are Francine Roche (performing emotional interpretations of French songs backed by violin, mandolin and accordion); Cynthia Johnson (performing her 1980 hit single "Funky Town"); Bob Scoggintone (one-man band); and The Hornheads (a five-piece cappella jazz/funk horn group.)

The Minneapolis-based Ballet of the Dolls returns to present the fashions in seven scenes, complete with stage decoration, and this year, an interesting plot which could be titled "The Misadventures of Helen."

Fall fashion trends for the family are the focus of the production from black-tie apparel to sporting outdoor outfits. For the first time, items for the home will be incorporated into the show.

"The season's fashions get revved up by Simply Modern styles with an infusion of high-tech fabrics - both stretch and synthetics are important. These versatile fabrics are found in everything from tailored suits to body-conscious styles," said Mariana Keros, Hudson's director of trends.

"Modern translates into minimalist. Watch for leather pieces, zipper detailing, slim leg pants, boots, animal prints, peacoats, and for men, flat front narrow pants and high V-neck knit vests."

Last year Fash Bash patrons produced $350,000 for the DIA. This year's goal is $400,000. The money is used for acquisitions and programs.

Fash Bash begins at 5 p.m. at the State Theatre with a private reception and live auction for Gold and Silver Patron ticket holders. At 5:30 p.m. the action moves down the street to the Fox Theatre where a cash bar opens. The hour-long fashion extravaganza takes the stage at 8 p.m.

The party continues at 9 p.m. with an Afterglow, at both the atres, dancing and cash bar.

Ticket prices range from $150 (Gold Patron) to $25 for balcony seating. Tickets are available at the DIA ticket office (313) 833-2323; Ticketmaster and the Fox Theatre. The Fash Bash Hotline is (313) 833-0247.

Fun and new - that's Timbuktu

Safari looks: Exotic designs at Timbuktu are complimented by unique accessories for one-of-a-kind fashion presentation.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Timbuktu Station. The name conjures up thoughts of faraway places. Images of adventures. Women in exotic-looking clothing.

And that's exactly what's in store at the newest fashion boutique in downtown Birmingham.

"We have a lot of teachers and health professionals who like to shop at Timbuktu Station," said Mary Lynne Zagers, manager of both Michigan locations, 238 East Front Street in Traverse City and as of July, 235 Pierce in Birmingham. "Maybe it's because they appreciate our motto, 'Travel through life in comfortable clothes.'"

Zagers and company vice-president Sarah Seifert were in town recently to promote the Colorado-based retailer. Seifert's husband is CEO of the company which has two Colorado stores and two in Minnesota. The fashions are the exclusive creations of designer Cheryl Fleming whose collections according to Seifert, "dial into what matters."

"Cheryl doesn't watch high fashion, she watches what real people wear," Seifert explained. "And she's won a lot of converts to her clothing."

The collections are based on the travels of three fictional characters; Tim, Buck and Tu, a dog who promotes earth-friendly, global issues through newsletters and store posters. When the trio travels to places like Belize,

New Zealand and the Greek Islands, the prints and colors of that collection reflect the spirit of those locales. (Ah, a built-in geography lesson, now we know why this store appeals to teachers!)

"We fill the casual business niche," said Zagers. "Our clothing is relaxed fit in three sizes - 1, 2 or 3 (small, medium and large.) We show lots of layering."

"Right now the fabrics are linen and linen/rayon blends. We also carry accessories like belts and hats, and gift items like journals, candles and books."

Seifert said the inspiration for the three-year-old company came from "the old Banana Republic mystique."

"We're located almost exclusively in downtowns," she said. "We believe in the small town feeling because what we merchandise besides great clothing, is a fun, shopping experience. We had to be in downtown Birmingham, it's just so darn, cute! We've been waiting to open here for a long time."

Seifert said business has grown about 20 percent a month since the company was launched in 1993 with Buck's Big Shirt, a unisex item that "blew out of the stores."

If business continues to grow, watch for two or three more stores in Michigan and Colorado.

Geri Buckstrand of Birmingham said she couldn't wait for the store to open.

"We need more women's specialty stores in town," she said. "I'm anxious to see their styles and prices."

Information for this week-long calendar of shopping center events and promotions should be submitted for Monday publication by the preceding Wednesday. Send the facts to: Malls & Mainstreets, c/o The Birmingham Eccentric, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009. Or a fax to Susan DeMaggio, Editor at (810) 644-1314.

RAMCO/GERSHENSON ON STOCK EXCHANGE

In a series of unique transactions, share-holders of publicly-held mortgage Real Estate Investment Trust, (REIT) and RPS Realty Trust, approved the acquisition of Ramco-Gershenson, Inc. a privately-held shopping center development and management company, based in Southfield.

Ramco-Gershenson, with a portfolio of shopping center properties (including locally, Tel-Twelve Mall, Summit Place Mall, West Oaks I & II, Roseville Plaza, New Towne Plaza in Canton, Ferndale Plaza, Fraser Shopping Center, Clinton Valley Mall and Strip Center, and Lake Orion Plaza) transformed itself into an equity REIT with an established management team and combined assets valued at $280-million. The transaction enabled both companies to accomplish different but complementary strategies.

Dennis Gershenson, 52, is the newly-named president and CEO of Ramco-Gershenson Properties Trust. He said, "Twenty-two of the Ramco properties have become part of a public company with access to public capital markets. The REIT will now be able to improve its opportunity for growth by expanding its development and acquisition capability."

Of the five members of the Ramco-Gershenson Properties Trust management team, four are brothers who have worked together for the past 25 years. In addition to CEO Dennis, Joel Gershenson, 54, was named chairman, Richard Gershenson, 60, vice-president and secretary, Bruce Gershenson, 47, vice-president and treasurer.

Other team members include Michael Ward, 63, vice-president and chief operating officer, and Richard Smith, chief financial officer.

New dean of centers likes the team spirit Schoolcraft offers

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

Scott Jenkins is a man with a plan.

During his 17 years working various jobs at General Motors, he went to school whenever he could fit it into his schedule to complete his degrees.

He knew he wanted to work in education, and it took years of work to reach his goals.

But as the newly appointed dean of College Centers at Schoolcraft College and with the expected completion of his doctorate in 1997, Jenkins is on his way to completing his plan.

He made the move into education when he went to work at Mott Community College where he most recently held the position of dean of continuing education.

As dean of college centers at Schoolcraft, he oversees Radcliff Center in Garden City and satellite centers in Plymouth and Canton Township.

Since starting his job in May, he has some ideas he'd like to explore. He sees a need to expand the daytime program at 'The support I've received since I came here has been outstanding. And it really hasn't been just talk - I've called and they've helped.'

Radcliff, while the evening program is near capacity and expansion may be necessary at Garden City Junior High School, which is next to Radcliff Center. Radcliff already uses some space at the junior high.

He is also looking at expanding course offerings in Plymouth, where Schoolcraft offers classes at Plymouth Salem High School.

The college also offers classes at the Summit on the Park in Canton Township, and Jenkins is looking at expanding offerings there to include more general education classes.

Radcliff's weekend college is growing and an expansion of that program looms in the future.

Any additions, however, will be gradual as he thinks Schoolcraft has a good handle on the people it serves.

"I don't believe we would make any major changes for at least a year," Jenkins said.

At Mott, Jenkins held a job somewhat similar to his new position, but he estimates about 80 percent of it involved training programs and 20 percent degree programs.

His new job is approximately the opposite, with 80 percent degree students and 20 percent in training programs.

In addition to course offering, Jenkins is also seeing through a renovation program at Radcliff. Work is being done now to improve the overall appearance of Radcliff - repairs are being made on the roof, and other building renovations are being completed.

All the work is part of a renovation plan which began several years ago. Radcliff is a different place compared to what it was just two years ago, Jenkins said. It's all part of a major initiative to improve Radcliff's stature in the community, he said.

It's also part of a plan to get Radcliff up to higher education standards, he said. "We want to make sure the facility is as good as our instructors or better," he said.

Jenkins likes the residential setting at Radcliff, and he likes the metro Detroit area.

While he is still living in Flint, he and his wife are planning to make the move to the Detroit area soon.

Jenkins is a graduate student at Michigan State University,

New dean: Scott Jenkins, new dean of college centers at Schoolcraft College, started out as a hourly employee in security at GM. He worked his way through night school, earning bachelor's and master's degrees. He is currently working on his doctorate at Michigan State University.

where he is working on a doctorate in college and university administration.

He holds a master's degree from Central Michigan University in education administration and a bachelor's degree from University of Michigan-Flint in sociology and corrections.

At GM he started out as an hourly employee in security. He worked through five years of commuting to a GM plant in Lake Orion where he was a first line supervisor and general foreman.

His goal was to work for GM for 20 years while pursuing his education and then to change careers. "We always wanted to raise our kids in one area," he said. Once the kids were grown he was ready to make a move. He has three grown children, ages 22, 24 and 27.

His opportunity came three years early. "It was one of those things I'd always planned," he said.

Getting his education took persistence and time, he said. He took classes around his work schedule - at night when he worked days and during the day when he worked the third shift.

At one time he traveled from Flint to Mount Pleasant four nights a week to complete his degree.

He's busy now with a new job, school and moving, but he lists his hobbies as tennis, basketball, roller skating, pool, and family outings. He also plays a little golf, which he jokes he's heard he will be expected to play now that he works at Schoolcraft.

Team spirit is something he's noticed already, he said. "The support I've received since I came here has been outstanding," he said. Many people have offered their help, he said. "And it really hasn't been just talk - I've called and they've helped."

GIVE IT TWO MINUTES

It is estimated that three out of four adults have bacterial infection associated with gum disease due to a buildup of plaque. If the milky buildup of bacteria-laden plaque is not removed from the teeth each day with brushing, it produces toxins that cause bloody gums and bad breath. In time, the bacteria plaque will pull the gums away from the teeth to form pockets that will fill with more plaque to cause trouble nearer the bone. The good news is that it only takes a minimum of two minutes of brushing to clean teeth properly. Studies show, however, that the typical American brushes for 37 seconds. According to the American Dental Association's Council on Scientific Affairs, this inadequate brushing time results in teeth that still have some plaque left on them after cursory attempts at brushing. Because the bacteria need a full 24 hours to reorganize themselves, a minimum two-minute brush daily is all it takes to keep them at bay.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Stockpile staples for no sweat meals

With the volume of cookbooks, press releases, newsletters and other food news that continually crosses my desk, one can get pretty bogged down just trying to locate the ingredients for "Lobster Cakes with a Three Pepper Relish and Papaya Mayonnaise."

I don't cook like that, never have, and while there are times when I might have to prepare something fancy, I do it with reluctance. During the summer, the last thing I want to do is shop for exotic ingredients, pull out my good cookware, and slave over a hot stove, timing everything to the "nth" degree. I want something light, something fresh, something fast. When the temperature is hovering around 90 degrees F, I only want to break a sweat making lemonade or something that can be chilled and eaten two days later. The recipe should include ingredients that I already have on hand either in the refrigerator or pantry. If this sounds like I'm asking for too much, it should also be somewhat healthy. Sounds like too tall a request? Hardly.

When unexpected guests drop by, or I feel like dining on the patio with one bowl and a hunk of bread, I always think of how easy it is to make hummus, tapenade or a simple plate of tomatoes, mozzarella slices, chopped basil, and a drizzle of olive oil.

Sensational staples

A drained can of chick peas from the pantry, a dollop of tahini (sesame seed paste) from the refrigerator and a splash of lemon juice all thrown into the food processor makes a meal that can be dipped with vegetables, spread on flour tortillas, served with crackers or tortilla chips. If there are some roasted red peppers or the remnants of another bean dish in the refrigerator, I might become more creative and combine the flavors and textures. I've made hummus with navy beans, black beans, pinto beans and a combination of those beans, all with great tasting results. Everyone has a can of beans on their shelves, right?

Whenever I shop at those trendy markets like the Merchant of Vino, Vic's, Papa Joe's or the Long Lake Market, I always pick up a jar of pitted black Calamatta olives. Again, tossed into a food processor with a handful of capers (buy the bigger jars; it's cheaper and they last forever) and a healthy splash of olive oil and you can feel like a guest in your own kitchen. With the emergence of Italian delis flourishing on all sides of metro Detroit I can hardly wait for the tomatoes to ripen in my garden. Soothsayers say that although everything is three weeks behind, the warm, wet spring should bring forth a bumper crop for backyard gardeners. I've already picked fresh basil and ground it up with pine nuts, imported Parmesan cheese, garlic and olive oil for a pesto that gave a plain box of pasta new meaning.

I always keep a standing supply of burpable containers and tight fitting jars filled with bulgur wheat, couscous, barley and other grains. Cold salads are tossed together in the time it takes the grains to soak, about 15 minutes, they are not only nutritious, but taste good too.

Last week I soaked some bulgur wheat and stirred in a jar of salsa, a handful of parsley from my garden, and some leftover mushrooms. I splashed them with a low-fat bottled Italian salad dressing, and by the time it took to heat a frozen pita in the oven to hot tenderness, the chilled salad was ready.

Baked potatoes

Whenever I bake potatoes, I always bake an extra half dozen or so and they end up in the vegetable crisper just waiting to be used. On days when I decide to grill, I brush an old metal pie tin with oil and fill it with shredded potatoes and a bit of finely chopped onion. This mélange sits on the grill surface, next to the steak, fish or poultry and turns into a crispy side dish. Looking for something a bit more exotic? I always keep a jar of dried mushrooms handy and after soaking them in some hot water for 15 minutes they usually end up chopped into a burger, steak, or tossed with potatoes.

What's that you say? How about something for kids? Who says frozen chicken tenders can't be grilled? Who says a raw potato can't be sliced with the skin on and grilled, all while being brushed with a low cal vinaigrette and then topped with a sprinkle of Parmesan or cheddar cheese? Ever roast broccoli, cauliflower or asparagus? Spray it with some broth or bouillon during cooking. Your kids will love it, and so will you!

THE QUAKER OATS COMPANY

Just for kids: These No-bake Oat Treats, made with your choice of raisins, mixed dried fruit, miniature marshmallows or candy pieces are fast to fix and positively delicious.

Be a cool cookie this summer

If the summer heat has wilted your interest in baking, think cool. Quick and easy recipes for hot weather treats will refresh summertime menus, and entertain your children.

Making cookies is fun, and a good solution to the "I don't have anything to do" of summer.

For nearly effortless desserts that are sure to refresh, don't overlook a favorite summertime duo, ice cream and cookies.

Peanut Butter Chipper Ice Cream Sandwiches pair an easy pat-in-the-pan peanut butter chocolate chip cookie with vanilla ice cream. Or bake your favorite cookie dough in a pizza pan, cut into wedges and top with scoops of ice cream and all the sundae shop fixings.

Here are some cool desserts to try:

NO-BAKE OAT TREATS

- 1 cup peanut butter
- 1 cup powdered sugar
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

- 2 cups oatmeal (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)
- 2 cups (any combination of) raisins, mixed diced dried fruit, coconut, miniature marshmallows, chopped peanuts, semisweet chocolate or peanut butter pieces, or mini candy-coated chocolate pieces.

Mix together first four ingredients. Stir in oats and remaining ingredients. Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto waxed paper. Store covered at room temperature. Yield about 4 dozen.

Recipe from the Quaker Oats Company.

PEANUT BUTTER CHIPPER ICE CREAM SANDWICHES

- 3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup peanut butter
- 1/3 cup (5 tablespoons plus 1 teaspoon) margarine or butter, softened
- 1 egg

- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup oatmeal (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)
- 3/4 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 3/4 cup miniature semisweet chocolate pieces
- 1 pint vanilla ice cream or frozen yogurt

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Beat together sugar, peanut butter, margarine, egg and vanilla until creamy. Add combined oats, flour and baking soda; mix well. Stir in chocolate pieces. Spread evenly into ungreased 13 by 9-inch baking pan. Bake 14 to 16 minutes or until edges pull away from sides of pan. Cool completely. Cut into 24 bars.

Place 2 tablespoons ice cream on top of one bar. Top with second bar; gently press together. Repeat with remaining bars and ice cream. Wrap individual sandwiches in aluminum foil or plastic wrap; freeze. Remove from freezer a few minutes before serving. Yield 12 ice cream sandwiches.

Recipe from the Quaker Oats Company.

NO-BAKE GRANOLA BARS

- 1/2 cup semisweet chocolate chips
- 2/3 cup raspberry jam
- 2 cups granola
- 1/2 cup toasted slivered almonds
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Grease an 8-inch square pan. In a small saucepan, cook chocolate and raspberry jam over low heat, stirring constantly, until melted and smooth, 2-3 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in granola, almonds, and almond extract.

Spread mixture evenly over bottom of prepared pan. Refrigerate until firm, about 1 hour, then cut into 9 bars.

Videos will get you hooked on fish

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

A lot of people, myself included, will order fish in a restaurant, but hesitate to prepare it at home. It's hard to tell if it's done. How many times have you poked and prodded fish cooking under the broiler or on the grill asking yourself — "is this opaque throughout?"

Who better to learn from than a certified master chef? "The popularity of fish has never been greater," said Certified Master Chef Milos Cihelka of Bloomfield Hills, who has produced a series of video tapes "From the Hook to the Cook," with Wild Harvest Video Co. of Orchard Lake. "Of course, preparing these foods in a healthier, tastier fashion will also make eating fish and seafood much more pleasant and beneficial."

Follow along step-by-step with Chef Milos, it's like having him alongside you in the kitchen. In his videos — "Cooking Freshwater Fish," "Cooking Saltwater Fish," and "Cooking Seafood," Chef Milos explains how to buy and prepare fish and seafood. Each video contains its own set of printed recipes. Individual tapes are $24.95 each, or $69.95 per set of three. Call 1-(800) 819-3799.

Besides the fishy stuff, Chef Milos explains basic things cooks need to know like how to make clarified butter. After watching his videos,

SCALLOPS SAUTEED WITH FRESH HERBS

1 1/2 pounds scallops
Salt and pepper to taste
Flour
4 tablespoons butter, clarified
1/2 cup chopped fresh herbs combined: chives, parsley, tarragon, chervil
Juice of 1/2 lemon

Prepare a large, stick-free skillet or two.

Dry the scallops, season them and roll in flour. Add butter to hot pans, then the scallops in a single layer and over high heat sear them quickly on all sides, just to heat through. Add the herbs and lemon juice, toss to coat.

Serve with mashed or boiled potatoes and a salad.

Healthier version: Replace clarified butter with 2 tablespoons canola oil. Omit flour. Serves 4.

SWORDFISH STEAK MARTINI

4 8-ounce swordfish steaks
1/2 cup dry vermouth
1/4 cup gin
Salt and fresh ground pepper to taste
3 tablespoons clear melted butter
1/4 cup chopped green olives

In a glass (or ceramic or plastic) dish marinate the swordfish in vermouth and gin, covered and refrigerated for two hours.

Remove, pat dry with a paper towel. Reserve juice. Preheat 2 non-stick skillets, add butter and place swordfish in. Over medium-high heat cook steaks until you see their juice rising on the surface, turn them over and finish on the other side. Do not overcook.

Place cooked swordfish on plates. Add marinating juice to the skillets and swirl around. Combine in one pan, add olives, reduce if necessary by boiling, then spoon over fish.

Serve with sauteed or boiled potatoes and a nice vegetable or salad. Serves 4.

From "Cooking Saltwater Fish" video.

WALLEYE SAUTEED IN HAZELNUT CRUST

6 walleye fillets, boned and skinned, 6-8 ounces each
Salt and pepper to taste
Flour
3/4 cup fresh bread crumbs
3/4 cup finely ground hazelnuts
1 egg, beaten with 2 tablespoons milk
1/2 cup clarified butter

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F.

Preheat 2 large skillets to medium hot.

Mix hazelnuts with bread crumbs.

Season fish and dust with flour. Dip it in the beaten egg, then coat with hazelnut and crumb mixture on both sides. Shake excess crumbs off. Heat the butter in pans, place fish in.

Brown nicely on one side, turn and brown the other side. Transfer fish to a cookie sheet, place in the oven for about 3 minutes.

You may serve it as is with lemon wedges. Serves 6.

Chef's Tips: To make fresh bread crumbs, trim crust off fresh white bread, place the white bread in a food processor or mixer and grind up.

To make clarified butter, place it in a tall pot over moderate heat and cook until it stops bubbling, then pour it into another container.

SUMMER FRUIT PIZZA

1 (20-ounce) package refrigerator sugar cookie dough
1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese, softened
1 cup powdered sugar
1 tablespoon milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons Fruit-Fresh Fruit Protector
2 quarts water
1 peach
1 apple
1 pear
1 banana
2 kiwi, peeled and sliced
1/2 cup halved red grapes
1/2 cup sliced strawberries
1/4 cup raspberries
1/4 cup blueberries

Cut chilled cookie dough into eight 1-inch slices. Press each slice of dough with hands into a 4 1/2-inch circle. Place shaped dough on an ungreased cookie sheet 1 inch apart. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 10 to 15 minutes. Allow cookies to cool on cookie sheet 1 minute. Place cookies on a wire cooling rack; cool completely. Baked cookies will be about 5 inches in diameter. Mix cream cheese, powdered sugar, milk and vanilla in a blender or with an electric mixer until fluffy. Chill.

Combine Fruit-Fresh and water in a large bowl. As peach, apple, and banana are prepared, place in Fruit-Fresh mixture to prevent browning. Dip peach in you'll feel less cautious about cooking fish and seafood at home.

"Cooking Freshwater Fish," begins with a lesson on preparing walleye sauteed with a hazelnut crust. Then Chef Milos takes viewers fishing, and explains how to prepare Steelhead trout outdoors.

Broiler flounder, salmon cutlets with Gremolata, and grilled tuna with Gazpacho sauce are featured on "Cooking Saltwater Fish," along with tips for buying fresh fish.

In "Cooking Seafood," the viewer is taken to a fish auction in New Bedford, Mass. and tours the M.F. Foley Company processing plant, the nation's leading fish wholesaler market to see how the pros buy, store and ship fish and seafood. You'll learn how to get the best value when buying scallops and shrimp, and how to cook soft shell crab, boil and broil lobster.

This is Chef Milos second video series. The first, "The Reward of the Hunt," included "Big Game Field to Table," "Venison Healthy & Taste," and "Care and Cooking of Gamebirds & Animals."

Wild Harvest Videos is working to develop a new series of half-hour TV programs with WTVS Channel 56 in Detroit for public television.

The new programs with a live audience will emphasize the cooking of fish and game with a strong slant on how to buy fresh ingredients plus tips on cooking in a healthy yet tasty fashion.

Chef Milos will film some segments on location in public markets to demonstrate what to look for when selecting the best cuts of meat, game, poultry and fresh fish, and how to select the best herbs, spices, fruits and vegetables.

HUMMUS

2 cups canned chick peas.

drained
2/3 cup tahini (sesame seed paste)
1/2 to 3/4 cup lemon juice

1 large clove garlic (optional)
Salt and pepper to taste
Combine all ingredients in a blender or food processor and process until smooth. Makes about 3 cups.

EASY PESTO

1 cup fresh basil leaves (flat leaf parsley can be substituted)
1/2 cup pine nuts.

1 clove garlic
1/2 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
1/2 cup olive oil

In a blender or food processor, combine basil leaves, pine nuts, garlic and Parmesan cheese and process until finely chopped and coarse. With the motor running, slowly drizzle in olive oil until a smooth paste forms. Makes about 1 1/4 cups.

Chef's tip: Try pesto over cooked pasta, or brushed on chicken.

Polanski wins title

Livonian Steve Polanski, who will be a sophomore this fall, carded a 75 to capture the Boys 14-15 age division at the Bel-Air Junior Golf Championship July 1 at the Pohl Cat in Mount Pleasant.

The event was part of the Power-Bilt Michigan Junior Tour.

In the Boys 16 and up age group, Dave Higham (Livonia Churchill) finished tied for fourth with a 75. Chris Kfehrer (Churchill) finished tied for eighth with a 77.

Ace golfers

•Dru Girard, 11, of Livonia, carded a hole-in-one on the 125-yard, No. 4 hole last week at Idyl Wyld. He used a 5-iron and shot 51 for nine holes in the Livonia Civitan Youth Golf League.

•In the same Civitan league, Lisa Lapenta, 16, of Livonia, aced the same No. 4 hole from 106 yards, using a 6-iron. Lapenta shot 49 for nine holes.

Titan golf outing

The Detroit Titans annual golf outing will be Monday, Aug. 26 at Fox Hills Golf Club in Plymouth. The event, which benefits the University of Detroit Mercy athletic department, starts with a continental breakfast at 7:30 a.m., followed by a shotgun start at 8:30 a.m. and a buffet lunch.

There will be prizes for first place, closest to the pin and longest drive, as well as door prizes and gifts for all participants.

Cost is $75 per person. For more information, call the UDM athletic department at (313) 993-1700.

Collegiate bat notes

•Livonia Churchill graduate Mark Rutherford, who will be a senior pitcher/designated hitter this fall at Eastern Michigan University, has allowed just one earned run in 26 1/3 innings for the defending champion Sandusky (Ohio) Bay Stars in the Great Lakes Wooden Bat League.

Rutherford has struck out 26 and walked just four with a record of 1-1. He is batting .306 as a DH.

•Eric Butler, a junior pitcher on Madonna University's baseball team, finished 14th in the final NAIA standings in earned run average. Butler's ERA was 1.78.

As a team, the Fighting Crusaders ranked ninth in the NAIA with a 3.29 ERA.

Dynamite roster

The Detroit Dynamite of the U.S. Inter-Regional Soccer League's Premier League (Northern Division) lists several players on its roster with Observerland ties including Dominic Vella (Livonia Churchill/University of Detroit Mercy), Jeff Thomas (Livonia Stevenson/UD Mercy) and Matt Quinter (Stevenson/UD Mercy).

The Dynamite play their home games at Rochester Adams High School.

Women's hoop tryouts

Madonna's women's basketball team has two remaining open tryout sessions scheduled for this month 8-10 p.m. Sunday, July 14 and 7-9 p.m. Sunday, July 21 at the Madonna Activities Center.

Youth soccer champs

Finishing with an 8-0-2 record while outscoring their opponents 36-10, the Livonia Youth Soccer Club Rockets, an under-12 boys team, capped their spring season by winning the Great Lakes Soccer League's Michigan Division title.

The Rockets, coached by Kevin Maillard and Michael Mireles, also finished second in the Canton Indoor League and Warren Spring Soccer Tournament.

Crusader AAU 11th

The Crusader Junior Volleyball Club's 18-and-under squad took 11th out of 53 teams in the National AAU Tournament, June 21-25, in Des Moines, Iowa.

Crusader AAU, coached by Tim Beardon (Wayne State) and Jerry Abraham (Madonna University), reached the quarterfinal elimination round before losing to No. 1 seed and eventual champion Spikettes (from Chicago, Ill.), 16-14, in third game rally scoring.

Decision pulls back into race

Decision Consultants stayed in the hunt in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League race with a 4-2 victory over leader Hines Park Lincoln/Mercury as E.J. Roman delivered the game-winning double.

Travel agents will have to wait awhile before booking the right Livonia Collegiate Baseball League party to Johnstown, Pa. for the All-American Amateur-Baseball Association tournament.

Decision Consultants, Inc., facing a must-win situation, kept their hopes alive by downing first-place Hines Park Lincoln/Mercury, 4-2, in a LCBL showdown Wednesday at Ford Field.

Hines Park remains in first place with a 17-2-1 record, while DCI crept closer to the league lead and a possible berth in next month's 20-and-under national tourney at 15-4-1.

The two teams meet four more times, including a double-header beginning at noon Sunday at Ford Field followed by another twinbill beginning at 5:30 p.m. Sunday, July 21, also at Ford.

"We have four more games with them (Hines Park) and if we win the rest we can control our own destiny," DCI manager Mike George said. "This was really do-or-die for us and it was a great win because we had three starters (Greg Ryan, Ryan Kelley and Darrell Rocho) all out of the lineup."

Hines Park coach Gary Pierce, meanwhile, is trying to avoid a repeat of 1996 when Hines Park went on an early-season tear, only to hold off DCI by one game in the final regular season standings.

DCI then carried its late-season momentum into the playoffs, winning the trip to Johnstown.

"It was a big game for both of us, but the good thing is we're still two (games) up," Pierce said. "All we have to do is split with them (DCI), and of course worry about Caesars (the LCBL's third team)."

After two scoreless innings, Hines Park put two runs on the scoreboard in the top of the third inning.

Brothers Joe and Brian Kalczynski each walked and scored on Scott Barrett's two-run double.

Poised to put another run on the board, Hines Park's Steve Hornberger was called out by the home plate umpire for tagging up too early from third.

The call incensed Pierce, who was eventually ejected for arguing the call.

"There's not really anything I can say about that," the Hines Park manager said. "We just didn't get the timely hit when we needed it."

DCI evened the count at 3-3 in the bottom of the inning when Joel Fabris and Eric Marcotte raced home on Chris DeShetler's two-run double.

DCI then chased Hines Park starter Mark Fleming in the sixth when Jason Rice doubled, Pete Quinn singled. Both runners scored on E.J. Roman's double.

"I thought Fleming pitched well, but he got the ball up and their eighth and ninth hitters got on a little too much," Pierce said.

Hines Park threatened in the bottom of the sixth, loading the bases, but reliever Luke Bonner, coming on for starter Joel Hillebrand with two-outs and a 1-0 count, retired Brian Kalczynski, who was a bit overanxious swinging at the first pitch, on an infield grounder for the final out.

Hillebrand worked the first 5 1/3 innings before tiring. He allowed three hits, six walks and fanned four. Bonner pitched to three batters, retiring two before giving way in the seventh to Mitch Jabczynski and Fabris, the latter gaining the save by getting the final out.

"That was a big out when Luke got Kalczynski," George said. "He (Kalczynski) is a great player and anytime you get him out it's a big bonus."

George wasn't hesitant about using his bullpen.

Bonner, who has been playing for Class A Birmingham Lynch and is now headed for the Ontario League, can make the potential trip to Johnstown with DCI because he made his four minimum required LCBL appearance.

"The nice thing now about having only three teams in the league is that you have more pitchers available," George said. "This worked out well for us."

O'Shea resigns from Churchill

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Citing increased responsibilities as women's soccer coach at Oakland University, Nick O'Shea submitted a letter of resignation as Livonia Churchill girls varsity coach Wednesday to new athletic director Marc Hage.

O'Shea, 36, leaves Churchill with an impressive 106-41-17 record in 10 seasons. He led the Chargers to a pair of runner-up finishes in the state Class A finals, 1987 and '88, his first two seasons. He won a total of two regionals, six districts and one Western Lakes Activities Association crown.

"It's really too difficult to both jobs in the spring," said O'Shea, who launched the OU's women's varsity program last fall. "It was cutting my spring season short. I was starting the day at Oakland, coming back over to Churchill in the afternoon, and then going back for evening practices at Oakland."

"I was in the car almost two hours and 20 minutes each day during the week and that wasn't at all productive."

O'Shea also oversees the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association's Girls/Olympic Development selection process and is an ODP regional coach (ages 15-16), which encompasses 13 states. He also is heavily involved in running summer camps.

"My only regret about leaving Churchill is that I would have liked to have won a title," O'Shea said. "We were in the finals twice and I thought this year we had a chance. Two of our three losses this year were to the teams in the state finals."

Churchill finished 12-3 this season, winning both the Western Division and the WLAA's first-place crossover game against Lakes Division champion Plymouth Salem, but the season ended on a sour note in the Plymouth Canton district semifinals when the Lady Chargers were eliminated by the host Chiefs, 3-2, in a double-overtime game that was played under the wrong OT format. Instead of going to a sudden-death format (which Churchill scored first), the two teams played it out under a pair of 10-minute periods.

Ironically, Canton went on to win the state title.

"We could have gotten it done had it not been for the fiasco we had in the tourney," O'Shea said. "But overall my experience at Churchill was rewarding, enjoyable and beneficial to my personal development and enhancement of my profession."

"What I'll miss most is dealing with the younger players, but I'll still be active with the ODP. I'm not leaving coaching."

Hage, who replaced the retired Don Albertson as Churchill's A.D. in June, said he will post the girls varsity soccer position sometime this week. (He also said he will begin interviews for the boys varsity basketball job in the middle of the month).

"With Nick's increased commitment to the A.D. (and the athletic department at Oakland), he felt it was time to step down at Churchill even though it was something he enjoyed and did a very good job at," Hage said. "I'm going to miss him and he's done wonders for our program. He's been a source of inspiration for many players and his knowledge and level of play will be hard to duplicate. He's a good person and good coach."

O'Shea is a graduate of Livonia Franklin and played collegiately at both Schoolcraft Community College and OU (where he earned All-NCAA Region II honors in 1983). He played professionally for Oklahoma City and Kalamazoo of the old American Professional Soccer League.

O'Shea began his high school coaching career in 1986 where he served as an assistant under Ed Dudek, who guided the Lady Chargers to the state championship.

"I felt I could have won a few more games at Churchill," O'Shea said, "But I tried developmental things, which a lot of high school coaches bypass in order to win."

"I tried to allow our girls to make decisions and make mistakes, and not fall into a pattern where they weren't learning."

Donahue adds another SC recruit

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

Slowly, surely, Glen Donahue is taking Schoolcraft College's men's basketball team toward his goal - a deeper, more talented group of Ocelots and, ultimately, a better record.

At present, size could be a problem, but the backcourt shouldn't be if the newcomers Donahue has coming in are as good as hoped.

"At guard, we have five solid players," Donahue said. "We've improved at depth and at quality of players."

Helping attain that goal are guards Pete Males, a 1995 Garden City graduate, and Tykie Reeves, from Willow Run. They join forward Kevin Melson, from Detroit Communication and Media Arts HS, and guard Justin Hoener, from Redford-Detroit Catholic Central, as SC recruits.

BASKETBALL

"He's an awfully good player," said Donahue of the 5-foot-9 Males. His work as a senior at Garden City would bear that out: Males averaged 16 points, eight assists, four steals and four rebounds a game, converting 50.2 percent of his floor shots, 46 percent of his three-pointers and 78.1 percent of his free throws.

The Cougars lost to eventual state quarterfinalist Wayne Memorial in the district final that season, but not before beating highly-touted Westland John Glenn, the Western Lakes Activities Association champion, in the opening round of the districts.

Reeves is a 6-1 off-guard whom Donahue hopes can supplement the offense. With Hoener and returnee Dwaun Warmack, both at point guard, and Stan Cavin, another returnee, at off-guard, SC should be set in the backcourt.

The frontcourt is another question, however. Rudy Hatfield, a 6-3 forward from Livonia Churchill; Bruce Goode, a 6-1 forward from Detroit Henry Ford; and Naron Burks, a 6-6 center/forward from River Rouge, return.

They'll be joined by the 6-6 Melson, a player Donahue is extremely high on. "I hate to compare him to someone like Vernon Carr," the SC coach said, recalling his former NJCAA All-American when he coached at Highland Park CC. "But he can do everything. He's really a good passer, he can run and he can jump."

Still, something is missing from the Ocelot mix. "Our offense is geared to a guy who can score inside," said Donahue. At present, that list is limited to Burks.

"I'd like to sign a good-scoring post player," the SC coach said. "It's just a matter of finding him."

Donahue would also "like to play 10, 12 players every half. And we're almost at that point."

Not quite there yet, but then again, Donahue's not done recruiting yet, either.

SANDLOT BASEBALL REPORT

Red-hot Barons capture 6th straight

The South Farmington Barons are a red-hot baseball team these days, due in large part to a pair of former Redford Catholic Central players.

The Connie Mack ballclub extended its winning streak to six games last week with Chris Karney (Northville) and Mike Daguanno (Farmington Hills) leading the way.

In a four-game span from Tuesday to Thursday, Karney collected 11 hits and 11 RBI. Three of Daguanno's six hits were home runs, and he also contributed 11 RBI.

Both recently graduated from CC and will continue playing next year at the University of Detroit.

On July 4, the Barons started the Firecracker Tournament in Warren with a pair of mercy victories to push their overall record to 12-2.

South Farmington needed only three innings to dispose of the Mount Clemens Reds, 18-2.

Karney went 2-for-3 and began the game with a 370-foot, leadoff homer.

"It was like the game was over," Barons coach Dick Miller said. "The other team completely collapsed. They were just demoralized after that first hit."

Steve Waller (Westland) invoked the mercy rule and ended the game with a grand slam.

Daguanno also was 2-for-3 with three RBI, and Shawn Wilson (Brother Rice) was 2-for-2, had two RBI and scored three runs. Ryan Rumberger (Plymouth Salem) also knocked in two runs.

The winning pitcher was Ryan Andrzejewski (Salem), who allowed just three hits -- one being a two-run homer -- struck out six and walked none in the abbreviated game.

The Barons stayed unbeaten with a 15-6 defeat of the Pennzoll Indians in four innings later the same day.

Daguanno slugged two homers -- in the first inning in which South Farmington scored 10 runs. He went 3-for-3 with six RBI and scored twice.

Karney batted 4-for-4 with two doubles, a triple and three RBI. C.J. Ghannam (Farmington Harrison) and Rumberger also had three hits each. Ghannam and Karney scored four runs apiece.

Waller pitched 3½ innings to earn the victory.

The Barons resumed play Saturday with the tournament continuing through Sunday.

On Tuesday, South Farmington whipped the Michigan Bulls 12-2 in a five-inning mercy behind the one-hit pitching of Marty Wilk (Farmington), another recent CC graduate.

"He's mixing up his off-speed stuff real effectively, and he's not giving up too many walks; that's the key," Miller said. "A lot of the kids in this league are fast-ball hitters. Anybody who can throw off-speed pitches can do well."

Karney had a triple, a home run and three RBI. His two-run shot in the fifth accounted for the final score. He also scored three runs.

Daguanno gave the Barons an early lead with a two-run homer, and Todd Miller's bases-loaded double was the key hit in an eight-run fourth.

Garet Burch (Farmington/CC) went 3-for-3 with two RBI. Wilk had two hits (double/triple) and one RBI. Burch also scored two runs.

Tom Marx (Farmington Hills/Brother Rice) started for the Bulls, and the Barons also faced Dearborn Divine Child pitcher Ryan Anderson in a 9-8 win Wednesday over the Ann Arbor Braves.

"It helped, the fact we had a rain delay in the fourth inning," Miller said, regarding the Tuesday game. "It was 2-2 at the time. They took Tommy out because his arm tightened up. If he had pitched the whole game, it would not have been 12-2.

"At this time of year, it's who has the most energy left in their arms. (The Bulls) were just a little short of pitching. We've been able to spread it out pretty well, and our kids have a lot left."

On Wednesday, the Barons rallied to score four runs with two outs in the bottom of the seventh inning and defeat the Braves at Eastern Michigan University.

That made Karney the winning pitcher. He worked the last three innings, holding the Braves to two hits, two runs and one walk.

Anderson wasn't the losing pitcher, going just four innings and allowing two runs on five hits.

In the seventh, South Farmington scored its first run on Ryan McGrath's (CC) single. The Barons stayed alive when Andrzejewski's fly ball was dropped in the outfield, allowing another run to score.

Karney, who was 3-for-4 with four RBI, followed with a two-run single to win the game for South Farmington.

David Viane (Farmington Hills/CC) was 2-for-4 with one RBI, and Andrzejewski also hit a two-run triple earlier in the game.

"It was a game of perseverance," Miller said, whose team is 5-2 in the Metro Eight Connie Mack Conference. "We played sub par as far as intensity and execution in the field. But we just hung in there."

"We try to stay close, catch the other team off guard and take advantage. That's what happened; the left fielder dropped the ball, and it opened the door for us."

Livonia team wins 8th straight game

The Livonia Baseball Club extended its winning streak to eight games Wednesday by defeating Wayne-Ford Civic League, 15-5.

LBC remains in second place with a 9-2 record in the Closed Division of the Little Caesars Amateur Baseball Federation (Mickey Mantle affiliation for 15-16 year-olds).

Brent Wojtyniak (Livonia Stevenson) went 3-for-3 to pace the winners, while Ryan Broderick (Stevenson) and John Ross (Livonia Churchill) each collected two hits.

Kirk Damas (Livonia Clarenceville) got the start and the pitching win for LBC. He allowed just one hit before running into control problems in the fifth. Steve Anderson finished up.

USA Bulldogs triumph

The 12-and-under USA Bulldogs won the Oscoda Bronco Little League baseball tourney last month by defeating the host team, 10-8, in the championship final.

Ryan Wroblewski hurled a complete game, striking out eight and walking only two.

The Bulldogs overcame an 8-2 deficit with eight unanswered runs over the final two innings.

USA scored five in the sixth as Eddie Conz delivered a pinch-hit RBI single followed by Leanne Long's RBI double.

Trailing 8-7 in the seventh, USA's Chad Rutherford walked with one-out and scored on Kevin McKee's RBI triple, followed by Craig Sapalak's game-winning RBI single.

Sapalak scored after advancing on a pair of wild pitches.

Wroblewski was 2-for-3 with RBI, while McKee added two hits.

In the semifinals, Conz pitched a one-hit, complete game, facing only three batters over the minimum in a rout of the Braves.

The Bulldogs collected 24 hits, led by McKee, who had four hits, including three doubles and three RBI; Eric Mancini, 4-for-5 with three RBI; Wroblewski and Andrew Miller, three hits, including a homer and five RBI each; Conz, three hits; and Long, two hits.

In the opening round, USA downed the White Sox, 10-1, as Sapalak had two hits and four RBI.

Other top hitters included Conz, two RBI; Miller and Long, two hits apiece.

Sapalak was the winning pitcher. He struck out four, walked three and hit one batter before giving way to Long, who worked the final two innings, fanning four.

Conz, the catcher, threw out three runners attempting to steal.

Other members of the USA Bulldogs include Cliff Carlson, Billy Marsack, and Ryan McKee. The coaching staff consists of Jim Mancini, Gene Long and Doug Miller.

Rams making strides in Adray Metro loop

"If the Adray Metro Baseball Association season ended today, the Michigan Lake Area Rams would be the league's qualifier for the All-American Amateur Baseball Association regional in Altoona, Pa.

Five of the eight AMBA teams are Class A affiliated with no age restrictions and are ineligible to play in the AAABA tournament. The remaining three are collegiate teams: The Rams, Adray Appliance and Sports Academy.

There is no post-season tournament in the Adray Metro, so whichever collegiate team finishes with the most points during the regular season gets an automatic berth to Altoona, Pa.

The top two teams from there advance to the AAABA national tournament in Johnstown, Pa., where the winner of the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League traditionally goes.

The Rams, with a 9-7-1 record and 18 points, were the top collegiate team in the Adray Metro Baseball Association after Wednesday night's 5-3 loss to Jet Box, a Class A team, at Redford's Capitol Park.

"It looks good for us," said Rick Berryman, the Redford Union coach who doubles as the Rams' coach. "I'm very pleased. I put a team together that's working very well together. We win on pitching, defense and timely hitting. That's their goal - to get to a tournament and keep playing."

Berryman would favor an automatic berth to Johnstown, but he isn't complaining about having to qualify in Altoona first.

"That's fine, it's the rules," Berryman said. "When I was a player, I went to Altoona once, Johnstown twice."

Through Tuesday's game, Redford Union graduate Jason Mitchell (Eastern Michigan) had a .327 average and led the Rams with 16 RBI and five home runs hitting in either the cleanup or fifth spot in the order.

Deandre Cooper (Allen Park Cabrini/Southern Colorado) was hitting .414 and Miller (Detroit Cass Tech/Grambling), the third batter in the order, was at .455.

Miller led the team with 11 runs scored and Mitchell was second with 10.

Speedy leadoff batter Schuyler

Doaks is the catalyst, leading the Rams with 14 stolen bases in 14 attempts. Not even a pitch-out had caught Doaks stealing second.

"They've tried that. It was fairly close," Berryman said. "Besides his speed, he has a variety of slides into the base."

Berryman said he heard about Doaks through Detroit St. Martin DePorres coach Mark Brown, whose team played RU twice in the regular season.

"Mark told me he plays plays short, center field and he's a good kid," Berryman recalled. "When I called him I said I need you to play center and he said OK. He plays hard, that's all you can ask."

Greg Rogers (Redford Catholic Central/Oakland University) started slow offensively, but now is hitting .275 and always doing several other things that go unnoticed. He also makes a great double-play combination at shortstop with second baseman Miller.

"The little things he does - he leads the team with seven sacrifices, makes things happen - not to mention he's an excellent shortstop with one error," Berryman said. "He and Miller turn the double play as well as anybody I ever had."

The third baseman is Dan Gillay (Ypsilanti Lincoln, Western Michigan University) is hitting .318.

The Rams' pitching staff is led by Jason Hoorn (South Lyon/Oakland) with a 4-1 record. He's also turned into a contributor at the plate, hitting .321 as a designated hitter. He has a 0.25 earned run average with 24 strikeouts in 27 innings.

The staff also includes Dave Susalla (Redford CC/University of Detroit Mercy), 2-1, 1-04 ERA; Brian Berryman (RU/University of Michigan), 1-1-1, 3.16 ERA; Mike Hrebenik (University of Michigan), 2-2, 3.86 ERA; and Jake Lawson (Farmington Hills Harrison/Oakland), 1-2, 2.28 ERA.

"They all take turns starting and relieving and picking up one another," coach Berryman said. "The whole pitching staff, I'm very pleased."

Catcher Mark Lantz (Lake Orion/Saginaw Valley) and Tom Hartley (White Lake/Michigan State) also have been regular contributors.

Coach Berryman said the team's attitude is great and so is their promptness, which is sometimes the biggest problem with having a summer-league team of college-aged players.

"For 6:15 games, everyone rushes a little bit because of work, and for Sunday 1 o'clock games, some of my kids are very religious and they scramble to get there from church," Berryman said. "They're unbelievably good about calling or communicating. They're terrific, the best group of kids I've had."

The Rams play their home games at Capitol Park and play at Wyandotte Memorial, Henry Ford Community College and MacMac Park in Windsor.

For those wondering, the home run fences at MacMac Park are measured in feet, not meters.

"It's close enough to the border, they can use feet," Berryman joked. "It's a beautiful field, well maintained."

The AMBA was originally supposed to be a merger of three leagues, including the LCBL.

That idea fell through just before the season started because of a disagreement between the leagues over rental fees and additional dates at Ford Field.

The proposed 12-team league became eight and Berryman is hoping all sides can get together and form one league next year.

The Rams get their chance to play at Ford Field against Jet Box at 8 p.m. Friday, July 19.

"I do this because I like kids," Berryman said. "My goal is to bring it back to how it originally was. I have no battle with anybody, no agendas, I'm not even mad at anybody. I'm determined to make baseball big in this area."

The Rams get to see how they stack up against the LCBL when they play LCBL member Hines Park Lincoln Mercury at 6:15 p.m. Monday, July 22 at Westland John Glenn High School. The LCBL started with four teams but is down to three with Michigan Honig's falling out.

Game summary

Hibernik (University of Michigan) suffered the loss against Jet Box, allowing five runs on five hits, struck out three and walked three.

Jet Box scored three in the third and never trailed again, but received a scare in the seventh.

The Rams loaded the bases in the seventh with walks to Hoorn and Gillay and a single by Miller.

Cooper was 3-4 with a run scored. Rogers was 1-3 with a run scored and Tom Hartley (White Lake/Michigan State) was 1-1, scored a run and had an RBI.

Lancers sweep by Monarchs

The Livonia Lancers got a no-hitter from Melanie Grieve in the opener en route to a double-header sweep of the Farmington Monarchs in Incredible Girls Fast-pitch Softball National League action last week at Churchill High School.

Grive struck out 10 and got offensive support from teammate Sarah Thiesmayer, who collected two hits and three RBI in a 17-0 (mercy rule) victory.

In a 17-10 win in the nightcap, Lancers catcher Jessica Roman threw out four runners and Michelle Voccoli added two hits, four stolen bases and solid defensive plays.

PANTHERS 8-9, LASERS 5-8: In a twin bill last week at Redford Union, the host Redford Panthers swept the Livonia Lasers, who dropped to 4-2 in the National League.

Lori Jendrusik was the losing pitcher in the opener, allowing 10 walks and two hits over four innings.

Jessica Sabbadin and Margaret Schultz had RBI hits for the Lasers. Jackie Ziem and Jendrusik accounted for the Lasers' other two hits.

In the nightcap, the Panthers rallied for two runs in the fourth inning to nip the Lasers in a game halted by time limit.

 Melissa Zawacki was the losing pitcher while Kelly Young and Sabbadin each knocked in a pair of runs.

LADYBUGS 12-15, GATORS 2-3: In American League action last week, the Livonia Ladybugs improved to 3-1 by sweeping the Livonia Gators.

In the opener, Lindsay Duprey reached base four consecutive times, while Ann Dufresne, Lauren Ross, Kim Giller and Jenette Bertrand tallied one apiece.

Chrissy Giller, the winning pitcher, allowed one hit and six walks over three innings (time limit).

Giller had two hits in the nightcap and Heather Yanka homered in the fourth inning to propel the Ladybugs in the nightcap.

Sara Knopsnider and Dawn Balko each reached base safely three times.

Yanka, who pitched the first four innings to earn the victory, and Giller combined on a no-hitter. They combined for six walks.

New movie 'Kingpin' aimed at Olympics

From the people that brought you "Dumb and Dumber," now comes another sure-fire smash hit from MGM/United Artists entitled "Kingpin."

You may have already heard or seen some of the early previews. If you were in downtown Birmingham last week, you would have seen the promotion group touring 18 cities coast to coast.

The objective is to promote the movie, but they are also using the visit as a means of gaining support for putting the sport of bowling into the Olympic Games.

There have been many efforts in the past to get full recognition by the Olympics and all have been shunted aside until now.

With the clout of MGM/UA, who knows?

The spokesman for the group was Calvert DeForest (aka Larry "Bud" Melman), who was out there autographing some posters and other mementos.

Maureen Schmidt and Herbie Gelman were in charge of the local scene. They are with the Bloomfield Hills advertising agency, Solomon Friedman Advertising, the local agency for the ad placement and promotion of the MGM/United Artists.

Dyan Sarnecky of Keego Harbor is a member of the crew that is touring the country. The tour makes stops at all the major bowling markets with the final destination being Atlanta, where according to Dyan The Olympic Committee will get our thousands of signed petitions to include bowling as an Olympic sport.

"Kingpin" will be released on July 26. Bowlers and non-bowlers alike will find this a most entertaining film, very funny, and a good Hollywood exposure for the sport.

•The precision Bowling Bags

Drill Team from Thunderbird Lanes in Troy were one of the highlights of the Fourth of July Parade in downtown Clawson last Thursday.

Back by popular demand, they went through a routine of marching drill team maneuvers complete with their specially made bowling shirts.

The team is comprised of Jean Castile, Elva Adkins, Susan Valentine, Janet Spears, Dee Dee Kibler and Lory Van Troostenbergh.

They were marching to the recorded music of Another One Bites the Dust and Bowling USA which is a takeoff on surfing USA, recorded by local band The Polish Muslims.

The team members are all on the staff at Thunderbird Lanes, but have done this on a voluntary basis.

I owe a correction to the Western Wayne Youth Travel League.

In a recent column about the three local youth traveling leagues and their first ever combined competition which took place last month at Cloverlanes, I inadvertently referred to them as the Wayne Westland Youth Travel League.

That was an error on my part, for they are in the same area as the Wayne Westland Men's Association.

The Western Wayne Youth Travel League will be holding its annual bowling clinic on Saturday-Sunday, Aug. 10-11 at Wayne Bowl on Michigan Ave.

The clinic is free to youths and adults and runs from 9 a.m. to noon each day. They will have an organizational meeting on Sunday following the clinic, so anyone interested in this league may attend.

One of their members, Tony Vitale from Canton bowled with the pros at Taylor during the Greater Detroit Open. The proud parents, Cheryl and Nick Vitale, watched as Tony rolled games of 222-194 and 201. Combined with 135 pins in handicap, he took first place in his junior pro-am squad.

HOCKEY

Wolves on tear, Goleniak nets 7 goals in win

Just three players scored goals for the Wolverines in their Metro Summer Hockey League match Wednesday. But that proved way too many for the Huskies to handle.

Paul Goleniak poured in seven goals - four of them in the first period alone - and Scott Lock netted four more to lift the Wolves to a 13-5 victory at Plymouth Ice Arena.

Paul's brother Scott also got into the scoring act with two goals. Scott added six assists, while Paul got two.

Lock, however, outpointed them both by collecting 10 in the game. He had six assists to go with his four goals.

The only others to get points for the Wolves were Jason Wesley, two assists, and Brian Mayville, one. The Wolves led 5-0 after one period and 6-0 early in the second.

The Huskies got two goals and one assist from Ben Blackwood; a goal and an assist from Dominic Catanzarite; two assists apiece from Brent Lafond and Brian Hannigan; and single goals from Dave West and Todd Kesler.

SPARTANS 5, LAKERS 3: Third-period goals by Mike Schmidt and Jacob Heikkinen allowed the Spartans to subdue the determined Lakers Wednesday at Plymouth.

The Spartans never trailed, getting goals from Larry Leo, Dave Esterline and Josh Wiegand in the first period to take a 3-1 advantage. The Lakers narrowed the gap to 3-2 after two periods on the second of Phil Saunders' two goals, then tied it at 3-3 on Jim Pietila's goal two minutes into the third period.

Schmidt and Esterline had two assists each and Wiegand one for the Spartans.

BRONCOS 8, BULLDOGS 7: A furious third-period rally by the Bulldogs fell short when Bill Trainor scored for the Broncos with 6:53 left to provide what proved to be the winning margin Wednesday at Plymouth.

METRO

Five second-period goals had enabled the Broncos to go up 6-2 entering the third. Brent Bessey, who had three goals and an assist in the game, scored twice in the second. Dan contributed two goals and an assist, with Kevin Bernard and Brian Consolino getting one goal apiece. Bill Trainor also had two assists for the winners.

Brian Tarsin ignited the 'Dogs rally with two goals and an assist in the third period. He finished with three goals in the game. Goals by Dave Bovol and Dave Elenich in a span of 3:09 allowed the 'Dogs to narrow the deficit to 7-6 with 7:31 still left.

Brent Thomas had two goals and two assists, Bovol had an assist to go with his goal, and both John Brodhun and Dustin Sventy got two assists for the 'Dogs.

WILDCATS 6, LAKERS 6: Bob Nagy scored twice in the last 1:20 to highlight a spectacular four-goal, game-tying rally in the final 1:57 for the Wildcats Tuesday at Plymouth.

Until then, the Lakers were seemingly cruising along to a victory. The second of Paola Decina's two goals had staked them to a 6-2 lead with 12:22 to go.

Grant Judd made it 6-3 with a goal for the 'Cats with 1:57 remaining. Nagy scored 37 seconds later to make it 6-4, and Anatoli Buliga tightened it to 6-5 with 20 seconds to play. Nagy got the tying goal with nine seconds left; he also had an assist in the game.

Other Wildcat goals came from Oleg Panasenko and Brian Alent. Judd also had one assist, and Victor Federov collected two.

Dave Daavettilla netted two goals and two assists to pace the Lakers. Ron Pietila added a goal and two assists, Decina had an assist to go with his two goals, and Jim Pietila also scored a goal.
