PLACES & FACES

Storm help

After the recent series of storms striking south-east Michigan, All-Star Karate Family Center in Westland is helping.

The business hosted a car wash yesterday with proceeds going to the American Red Cross and other disaster relief agencies. Sam's Club donated water and space for the fund-raiser.

The center is also accepting donations through this week for the storm relief. Anyone interested in donating should call (313) 467-5127.

Striking out for fun

Two business events are on tap in the coming weeks, including:

■ The Westland Chamber of Commerce is hosting a Bowling Bash on Friday, Aug. 1, with registration at 6:30 p.m., dinner at 7 p.m. and bowling at 8 p.m.

Tickets are $8 per each or $16 per couple and include three games of bowling and shoe rental, as well as dinner and door prizes.

Chamber members are encouraged to bring guests to this summer after-hours event and reservations are required.

■ This Tuesday, July 15, the chamber hosts its monthly luncheon at the Hellenic Cultural Center at 11:30 p.m. with PGA Golf Professional Dave Toth of the Michigan Golf Center in Inkster speaking. His topic will be "Power Golf for Power Business."

Call (313) 326-7222 for information or reservations for either event.

Senior open house

The Golden Agers, a new senior program, will host an introductory open house for Westland-area seniors 1-2 p.m. Wednesday, July 30, at the Salvation Army, Wayne-Westland Corps Community Center, 2300 Venoy, Westland.

The open house is designed to introduce this new program to the community. There will be free refreshments and transportation will be provided to those who need it. Call and reserve your seat by July 23. For information, call Shabaura Cobb at 722-3660.

Children's series

A children's concert series continues for the next few weeks at the William P. Faust Public Library of Westland, located on Central City Parkway north of Ford.

All performances start at noon and are free. The series is sponsored by the Westland Community Foundation.

On July 19, Ben Spitzer will perform magic with his juggling bear. July 26, Dr. Zap will offer an entertaining science show. On Aug. 2, Clowns Around Redford will perform and on Aug. 9, Magician Randy Shaw will entertain.

Pot of school money declines

Wayne-Westland schools will get some extra money — but not as much as they hoped for. Politicians are debating just why state lawmakers voted the way they did.

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Wayne-Westland school district coffers will be boosted by $6 million over three years unless Gov. John Engler vetoes a special allocation approved Thursday by state lawmakers.

The money will help Wayne-Westland officials combat a severe budget crunch, but it is far less than an earlier-proposed allocation of $20.8 million over eight years.

Three other districts will now receive the same special allocation as Wayne-Westland, under a deal reached last week by House and Senate negotiators.

The $14.8-million gap between what had been proposed for Wayne-

Westland and what the district will actually receive fueled political criticism.

State Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton Township, who lobbied for $20.8 million over eight years, blamed state Rep. Tom Kelly, D-Wayne, for allowing the $6 million amount to emerge from a House-Senate conference committee.

Both lawmakers represent the Wayne-Westland area.

"To have the representative from that area pull the rug out from under that ($20.8 million) plan, I'm mystified," Bennett told the Observer Thursday during a telephone interview from Lansing. "I am absolutely perplexed why he did that."

But Kelly said the entire plan could have been scrapped unless legislators agreed to the newer proposal, which also provides $6 million over three years to the financially strapped districts of Flint, Chippewa Valley and L'Anse Creuse.

Bennett's original plan called for a special allocation for districts that lost more than 9 mills of school funding in the wake of Proposal A, a tax-slashing plan approved by Spanning generations: Ten-year-old Briane Ritchie and her friend Marie Jones, 95, visit at the Hope Care Convalescent Center on Cherry Hill in Westland.

Youngster offers special friendship

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON
STAFF WRITER

Briane Ritchie visits with friend Marie Jones nearly every day of the week — sunshine or snow.

Their relationship is simple. Neither asks much from the other.

Every so often, words aren't even spoken, it's just each other's presence that matters. Briane occasionally accompanies Marie to a party or fetches a candy bar for her when the time is right.

While Briane's kind nature is admirable but not unique, what makes these acquaintances so different is their age.

Briane is 10 — Marie, 95.

Their friendship developed out of happenstance, said Briane's mother, Nancy Williams, who made an effort several years ago to enroll her daughter in an adopt-a-grandparent program.

"She doesn't have any grandparents but wasn't too keen on the idea of the program, either," said Williams. "But I know how important it is to have grandparents."

The Westland mother said it was an unexpected inquiry from her daughter that prompted her first visit to Hope Care Convalescent Center in Westland.

"She asked me one day if she could go over to the nursing home," said Williams, of the Cherry Hill Road senior care facility that is located adjacent to the young girl's back yard.

Westland boy uses 'imagination' to name playscape

BY CASEY HANS
STAFF WRITER

Westland's fall playscape construction project now has a name, thanks to 7-year-old Ben Maple of Westland.

The Wildwood Elementary second-grader was the author of the winning name for the project, which is now known as the "Imagination Play Station."

The playscape project will be built from Sept. 9-14 in Westland's Central City Park behind city hall. A corps of community volunteers will construct the wooden, 30,000-square foot play area — much larger than any similar project constructed in the area.

The name was selected from four finalists at the Westland Summer Festival where organizers held a "Name the playscape" contest. More than 100 kids submitted suggested names, which were narrowed down to four finalists by the playscape organizing committee.

Other suggested names which were finalists included: "Magical Maze" submitted by Ashley Heim, "Adventure Kingdom" suggested by Jillian Moore and "Playmania" which was an idea from Anthony Javello.

Visitors to the festival were able to "vote" by putting money into canisters marked with the respective names; the name earning the most money for the project was selected. Not only did this provide a name for the project and involve the public in the naming, but was a fund-raiser for the playscape as well, said Kevin Kreis, public relations coordinator for the project.

For the winning adventure playground name, Ben Maple won a new mountain bike — one that's a little large for his 7-year-old frame. He said he plans to get a lot of use out of it next year, after he grows a bit. He plans to donate his old bike "to someone who needs one."

He's also excited about participating in the playscape project with his family and encourages others to do the same.

"I hope that they will come out and help build it," he said. "I'm should do the (legislative) job without being patted on the back, and I disagree," Barns said. "He worked extremely hard for libraries."

In naming the library in February of 1995, the Westland City Council described Faust as "a man who continuously gave of himself to help people."

DeHart also commended Faust's efforts to build the state library.

"William Faust was a great supporter of the state library, and he was responsible for securing the funding and encouraging the building of our state library," she said.

The library is located two blocks west of the Capitol Building.

DeHart led the charge for the name change by introducing an amendment to a Senate bill that has won passage in both state houses.

"I am pleased my colleagues supported my amendment and recognized the great contributions William Faust made during his public service career," DeHart said. "Renaming the state library is a gesture of our respect for him."

An Indiana native, Faust moved to Lansing as a boy and earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan and a master's degree from Eastern Michigan University.

Faust was first elected to the state Senate in 1966 and became the Senate majority leader in 1976. He became the Senate minority leader in 1984 and stepped down from office the following year.

He previously had served as Incinerator meeting draws 50

BY DONNA MULCAHY
SPECIAL WRITER

About 50 people concerned over the Central Wayne County Sanitation Authority's proposed incinerator expansion had an opportunity to ask questions during an informational meeting at Inkster High School Thursday evening.

The Dearborn facility currently serves Westland, Garden City and three other communities. The session was hosted by the Air Quality Division of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, which will make a decision about whether to issue a permit for the expansion.

In three and a half hours of sometimes technical questioning, resident Jane Bradley brought the issue home.

What kind of education do the decision-makers have and how qualified are they to make this decision? asked the Inkster resident.

Automakers, she said, have been producing cars for more than 100 years and yet they still recall hundreds of thousands of vehicles every year.

"So what assurance do we, the public, have that we won't be violated?" she asked.

Robert Sills, a toxicologist with the Air Quality Division, explained the qualification and said decisions are made conservatively.

"There's still a lot that we don't know about some chemicals and chemical interactions, because the science just isn't there," he said. "Because of our uncertainties, we always try to err on the side of caution."

Proponents of the expansion claim new air pollution controls would make the air emitted from the incinerator's smokestack cleaner than ever before.

Opponents worry that higher concentrations of some pollutants would escape and harm humans, plants and wildlife, and that the expanded incinerator could attract garbage from other states.

The purpose of Thursday's meeting was to help citizens prepare testimony for the final public hearing on the expansion issue, which will be held by the DEQ at 7 p.m. July 29 in the auditorium of Inkster High School.

The school is located on Middlebelt, just south of Michigan Avenue in Inkster.

The public hearing will offer a chance for citizens to make comments on why the DEQ should or should not grant the combined federal and state installation permit necessary for the expansion.

"We know this is a very controversial issue," said David Yanochko, acting supervisor of the state Air Quality Division's permit section. "We wanted to make sure that citizens had the opportunity to have all their questions answered before the public hearing, to help them prepare their testimony for that hearing."

Oral comments will be transcribed by a court reporter. Written comments can be dropped off at the public hearing or mailed to the DEQ by Aug. 12. They should be sent to the Permit Section Supervisor, Air Quality Division, Department of Environmental Quality, P.O. Box 30260, Lansing, Mich. 48909-7760.

Comments and responses will be published in an official report for Dennis Drake, chief of the Air Quality Division who will make the permit decision.

He was in the audience Thursday.

"I'm going to reserve judgment on this until I hear what people say at the public hearing, and until I read the report," he said.

He said he could make his decision as early as August.

His options include: granting the permit application, denying it, or granting it with extra conditions attached. Any decision could be appealed through the state or federal court system.

If Drake grants the permit, it doesn't necessarily mean the construction would start right away. But Thomas Barnett, project manager for the Central Wayne Energy Recovery Limited Partnership, said his company naturally wants construction to begin as soon as possible.

"We think the decision will go in our favor. It's possible that it may be delayed for a while, but we think that ultimately, it will go in our favor," Barnett said.

Many questions asked at Thursday's meeting had to do with things that the DEQ is not interested in: the cost of incineration versus landfills, the need for the expansion, and the profitability of it.

The DEQ is only concerned with how well the equipment and procedures outlined in the permit application would meet current state and federal air quality regulations.

Officials said Air Quality Division staff have concluded pollution levels generated from the smokestack in the future would not be dangerous to humans, wildlife or the environment.

Man to stand trial for rape of 23-year-old woman

A Westland man has been ordered to stand trial for allegations that he sexually molested a woman who lives a few streets from his Norwayne area residence.

Franklin Paterno Jr., 40, of Lydia is accused of molesting a 23-year-old woman at her Mackinac Court residence, Westland police Sgt. Terry Donohue said.

Paterno was ordered to stand trial for first-degree criminal sexual conduct after he waived a preliminary hearing Thursday in Westland's 18th District Court.

The incident allegedly occurred about 3:40 a.m. May 26 after the woman was dropped off at her residence by a friend who works with her at a Wayne bar, Donohue said.

The victim told police that she had gone to sleep only to be awakened by a suspect who had entered her residence, climbed into her bed and started performing oral sex on her, Donohue said.

The victim's 21-year-old sister also was sleeping in the same bed at the time. The suspect fled the scene after the victim began kicking at him.

Paterno was arrested about a month later after the woman reported seeing a man whom she identified from the incident walking on a Norwayne street, Donohue said.

She had seen the same man standing in front of her residence on the night she was molested, Donohue said.

Paterno is jailed in lieu of a $25,000 cash bond as he awaits trial.

Michigan voters in 1994. Only Wayne-Westland would have qualified.

But House-Senate negotiators changed the plan as they hammered out a larger $9 billion spending bill that won approval Thursday in the House and Senate.

Kelly said lawmakers had to accept the amended plan — which will give Wayne-Westland an extra $6 million over three years — or risk losing all of the special allocation.

"It would definitely have been lost," Kelly said Thursday during a telephone interview. "It was either all or nothing."

Under the new plan, Wayne-Westland will receive $2 million a year for three years beginning in 1997-98. Bennett said his proposal would have pumped $4 million into local coffers in 1997-98, gradually reducing the amount over eight years.

Bennett said he believes that Kelly and other Democrats diluted his plan simply because they didn't want Republicans to receive credit for helping financially strapped districts such as Wayne-Westland.

Bennett said the special allocation now rests with Engler, who has line-item veto powers.

"Anything is at risk, but I've worked very hard to convince the governor that this (extra money) is the right thing to do for Wayne-Westland," Bennett said.

Kelly said the $9.2 billion public education budget is about $20 million above the targeted amount.

Meanwhile, Wayne-Westland also will receive a $154 per-pupil increase in its state foundation allowance, according to documents supplied by Kelly's office.

Wayne-Westland received $5,729 for 1996-97, compared to $5,883 that will be received for 1997-98.

Top Westland cops say goodbye after years of police service

Deputy police chief retires

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

John T. Reddy Jr. refused to let major crimes remain unsolved during his 30-year police career.

"He wouldn't let the detectives forget about a case," said Westland police Lt. Marc Stobbe said. "He would keep on coaxing, and it worked."

Stobbe should know. Seven years after a Westland woman disappeared, Stobbe learned that she had been slain and dumped in a landfill after he resumed questioning of a suspect who finally confessed while serving life in prison for another murder.

Stobbe solved the case in 1993 after being urged by Reddy to renew the investigation. "I still get calls from the victim's family, thanking me," Stobbe said. "They had gone seven years not knowing what happened to her."

Reddy's persistence, expertise and compassion will be missed by his colleagues. At age 56, he retired Friday as Westland deputy police chief — a position he occupied for five years after climbing the ranks.

Reddy, a Westland resident, spent his entire police career in Westland after being hired as a rookie in May 1967.

"John is unique in every aspect of police work," Chief Emery Price said. "He's been just a super, very dedicated officer, and he's been great for this department. I certainly hate to see him go."

Criminals simply couldn't deter Reddy from investigating his cases. Price recalled a shooting suspect who grew so weary of Reddy's intense questioning that he stretched out on the floor of an interrogation room, as if to fall asleep.

"John just laid down next to him and kept on talking," Price said, with a laugh.

Reddy's compassion for his colleagues had a lasting impression on Sgt. Michael Terry, who remembers being visited by Reddy in 1980 while recovering in a hospital from gunshot wounds. Terry had been shot during a confrontation with a suspect who, in the end, was killed by Terry's partner.

"It was a scary time for me and my family," Terry said. "Reddy came to interview me in the hospital, and I'll never forget his compassion. I'll always be grateful to him for the compassion he showed me and my family."

Reddy has received numerous awards for his service; his peers and supervisors named him Police Officer of the Year in 1991. Highly decorated and highly educated with a master's degree, he nonetheless shuns the spotlight.

"He's one of the most highly decorated officers in the department, and he's one of the most modest people I've ever seen," said Stobbe, a 19-year employee of the department. "John Reddy has been my mentor since I was a rookie."

Reddy grew up in Wayne, one of 11 children born to May Reddy and the late John Reddy Sr., who worked for Ford Motor Co. His brother Michael, Westland's fire chief, has the utmost respect. "John is a tremendous brother," the fire chief said, "and he has been a great employee for the city of Westland."

Daughter Sheri Smith recalled her father's dedication to police work when she was growing up.

"He was definitely an overachiever," she said. "He always worked all of the overtime he could pick up."

John Reddy and his wife, Shirley, also have two other adult daughters, Sheila Larimore and Nicole Reddy, two grown sons, John and Richard, and eight grandchildren.

An avid weight-lifter who served in the military, Reddy still takes his exercise seriously. In his younger days, he also dived in boxing. Chief Price jokingly refers to Reddy as "canvas back."

"He was on the canvas a lot," Price said.

Late in his career, Reddy has been deeply involved in establishing training programs for Westland police officers, Price said. He has helped train officers for everything from self-defense to report-writing.

"It's a better department because of him," Price said.

In his final days on the job, Reddy wouldn't talk with his colleagues about his departure. He wanted to leave quietly, without fanfare.

"He's a private guy," Michael Reddy said.

Price had another theory. "He's having a tough time leaving, and this is his way of hiding it."

Reddy declined to be interviewed by the Observer, although he had positive relations with the newspaper and helped when he could with stories. He apparently believed he could retire without being recognized for making the Westland Police Department a better place.

Sorry, John.

Retirement bookmarks chapter in city history

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON
STAFF WRITER

When police Lt. Robert (Bob) Barthold retired July 7 from a department he has served for more than 30 years, a chapter in the history of the Westland Police Department closed.

Barthold, 61, is the last of the original 33 officers sworn in to establish the first police force in the city of Westland, and one of only three rookies hired in the fall of 1966.

"He's the last of the originals to go and stuck it out to be the last," said his wife, Shirley Barthold. "He thought about retiring in January but decided to wait and be the final one."

Being last is something Barthold is not accustomed to as he has maintained a distinguished career in law enforcement since he was sworn in as a patrol officer, Oct. 21, 1966, at the age of 30. Over the next three decades, Barthold was involved in the investigation and closure of thousands of cases from petty crimes to murder.

Westland police Chief Emery Price, who was Barthold's partner in the violent crimes division of the detective bureau, said his longtime friend is a revered veteran of the police department and will be greatly missed by the entire staff.

"I've known Bob all the years I've been here," said Price. "We worked together as partners in the detective bureau and he definitely made the job interesting."

One of the most unusual cases Barthold was involved with included the surveillance, investigation and arrest of seven individuals involved in a major theft ring operating from Ford Motor Co.'s Michigan Truck Plant and the Wayne Assembly Plant.

In July of 1976, Barthold (a sergeant at the time) received special commendations from Ford Motor Company and the Westland Police Department for the role he played with seven other law enforcement officers in the recovery of $76,000 worth of stolen automobile parts stolen from the Wayne facilities.

"Sgt. Robert Barthold, (one of the detectives) assigned to the case, was instrumental in directing the very successful and lengthy surveillance performed," said W.H. Corrigan, Ford Motor Company security department manager.

Barthold also took part in the investigation of the 1989 failed murder-suicide of a Westland woman by her sister and father who alleged she was "too fat" and was running up high medical bills.

The father and daughter successfully shot the 360-pound woman in the head, but the two bullets did not cause her death, and she ordered the pair to drive her to the hospital.

In a 1989 newspaper interview, Barthold said the suspects not only drove the injured victim to the hospital but confessed their crime, adding they had intended to take their own lives following the woman's murder.

In addition to his in-field experience, Barthold has completed extensive educational training in homicide investigation, explosive response training, fire/arson investigation, suicide prevention, crime analysis and defensive tactics, as well as receiving an associate's and bachelor of science degrees from Madonna University.

"I admire his dedication, the impact he has had on the department and the fact that he's done something with his life that he enjoys," said his wife.

Married in 1958, Barthold and his wife are the proud parents of five adult children: daughter Rhonda and son-in-law Phil Hotz; son Dale and daughter-in-law Cheryl Barthold; son Kevin; daughter Kimberly; and daughter Wendy and son-in-law Sam Taha.

The couple also has two grandchildren: Alexis Hotz and Layla Taha.

Shirley said she and her husband look forward to traveling and spend time with their family. "We'll see what suits us best and possibly pick a winter haven, somewhere warm."

Recently, Barthold received two letters of commendation from state Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton, and President Bill Clinton — two acknowledgments he can add to dozens he's received since 1966, including being named the first Westland Police Officer of the Year in 1986 and receiving the honor again in 1991.

"Bob is a great guy and I hate to see him go," said Price. "He will be missed by the entire department."

Local students prepped for summer cyber cruise

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

Wayne-Westland and Garden City youngsters will be able to travel through cyberspace this summer by surfing the Net, sending E-mail and videoconferencing as part of a program designed to teach kids about the fascinating world of computers and technology.

"Students will be working in teams" from Wayne-Westland, Garden City, Birmingham and Oakland Community College through the Internet, said Tom Cleavinger, vice president of Troy-based MST TechnoKids, which provides the computers, software, curriculum and teachers for the K-6 summer enrichment program. "The interesting thing is the kids will be learning about each other and working in teams without ever meeting one another face-to-face. It all will be done over the Internet."

That doesn't mean the students won't be seeing each other.

"Part of the TechnoKids Computer Camp will involve students using quick cams - eyeball cameras placed on top of computers - which will be used for videoconferencing," said Cleavinger. "We'll also be helping them create a Web page, send E-mail, plus build a motorized Lego robot and program it to do things with the help of a computer."

"The camp can get very intense for a youngster, so we added a number of other activities to keep their interest high," said Cleavinger. "We use magic tricks to learn science and go outside to play soccer or basketball."

Cleavinger said all the teachers and computer instructors are Michigan-certified and have a technical background. Each class has a ratio of one teacher for every 12 students. There is one computer for each two students in the camp.

The week-long class begins tomorrow, July 14, with sessions from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The cost of the five-day program is $160.

For information concerning the TechnoKids Computer Summer Camp call Joan Emrick at (313) 422-7198.

excited about building it. My dad's going to hammer, because I can't." Ben also donated some of his waffle blocks and some videos to be used in the child care tent.

Mom Vicki Maple said the family, including herself, Ben and dad Neil, brainstormed ideas around the kitchen table before Ben decided on the original name: "Imagination Transportation Play Station," which was eventually shortened to "Imagination Play Station."

Also an avid supporter of saving the Sassafas Trails property in Westland, Vicki Maple said projects like this are important.

"Sassafas and the playscape are all things for kids for the future," she said. "We're very proud to see that happen. The playscape's going to be so wonderful for generations to come."

Kreis said that architectural firm of Robert Leathers recently visited the group and was pleased with the progress being made. "He said we're pretty close to being on schedule," Kreis said. "We're on target."

Organizers have said they will need some 5,000 volunteers over the six-day period for what they say will be the largest playscape in the state.

Kreis said about 150 people signed up during the Westland Summer Festival to volunteer their time for the project, but many more will be needed. The group is also seeking people to donate the use of their power tools for the project; tools will be inventoried and returned after the work is done.

Volunteers can work any day from 8 a.m. to noon, 12:30-5 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. to dark.

For information about the Imagination Play Station project or to volunteer your time or materials, call Kelly Furtaw or Kevin Kreis at (313) 467-3198 or John and Annette Mason at (313) 728-9147.

Playscape group plans fund-raisers

The Playscape committee is also continuing a number of fund-raising efforts throughout the summer:

■ On Wednesday, Aug. 6, an Open Bid Auction will be held at the Westland Friendship Center on Newburgh south of Ford from 6-10 p.m. The $20 per person cost for the fund-raiser will include a free coupon book of discounts to businesses in the Westland area. Some of the items to be auctioned include a balloon ride and pies from Baker's Square.

■ On Tuesday, Aug. 5 at 7:30 p.m., the Playscape committee will hold a meeting at the William P. Faust Public Library of Westland, Central City Parkway south of Warren Road. Anyone interested in volunteering time or materials or simply receiving an update on the project may attend.

■ On Sunday, Aug. 24, the group will host a "Cowabunga" Playscape Festival at Central City Park from noon to 4 p.m. which will include a variety of family entertainment. Included in the festival will be a "cow chip bingo" where square plots in a fenced area will be sold, and a cow set loose. On whatever squares the cow "drops" will be the winners. First "drop" will earn $500 cash, second a color TV and third will be four tickets to the Canton Comedy Castle. Plots will cost $10 each or three for $25.

Today's Observer carriers are tomorrow's business leaders.

Did you know that our carriers are in business for themselves? We call them Junior Merchants and they are committed to getting the fruits of a lot of people's labor on your doorstep twice each week. And, like business people everywhere, their goal is customer satisfaction. But their job doesn't end there. Other business skills include keeping accurate records and reporting information on time.

There are a lot of famous names in the Newspaper Association of America's Carrier Hall of Fame—three presidents, Hoover, Truman, and Eisenhower. There are spiritual leaders, Norman Vincent Peale and Martin Luther King, Jr., there are astronauts and poets and entertainers. All of them recognizable not only for their talent, but for their values and character.

We think a carrier route is an excellent way to learn responsibility, respect for others, and a sense of what it takes to earn a dollar these days. If you agree and would like to put your son's or daughter's name on our waiting list to become a carrier, give us a call—who knows? Between us, we may be giving the world another president or poet.

Briane remembers the day: "August 21, 1993."

"I went up to one of the nurses and asked them if there was anyone I could meet that didn't get a lot of visitors," said Briane. "I was scared, though. I didn't know what would happen, but I knew it would be a nice thought and a way to make new friends."

Briane, who said Marie is "kind of like her grandma," has been sharing quiet conversation and an occasional peanut butter and jelly sandwich with Marie ever since.

A snowy-haired, delicate woman whose spoken word barely reaches above a whisper, Marie said she finds Briane to be a "breath of fresh air." The elementary school fifth-grader dotes over her elderly friend with all the care and attention you would expect from a real granddaughter.

"Sometimes I help her cut up her food, fill the water pitcher in her room or we go for a walk around the nursing home," said Briane.

Bound to a wheelchair after an unlucky fall in her home, Marie says she enjoys the trips around the convalescent center with real nice to help old people — and when you really get to know them, they're like your grandparents."

The two young girls have come to learn many things from their visits to the nursing home, including seeing the elderly for who they really are and putting aside any misconceptions they might have had in the past.

"There's nothing wrong with old people," said Briane, "we're all the same we just have different problems. There's no reason to make fun of them because one day we'll be here in their place."

Mature beyond her years — it's easy to see how Briane charms her golden-aged friends with her innocent smile and the welcome reminder she bears of an age they long to relive.

Wrapping up their visit, Briane gently pulls Marie back from the table and asks where she'd like to go. "Back to my room."

"Do you know where...," begins Marie who is interrupted by Briane.

"Yes, I know where we're going."

Road repair package eludes lawmakers

STAFF WRITER

Parked on a trailer outside the State Capitol in Lansing last week was a trailer with a flashing sign that said, "Just Fix the Roads."

Sponsored by a coalition of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, Michigan Manufacturers Association and 98 other groups, the sign summed up what the Michigan Legislature failed to do in an entire week of back-room negotiations. Instead:

■ Senate Republicans had an agenda dominated by cutting the overall tax load.

■ House Democrats had an agenda dominated by tax breaks for college tuitions and child care.

They will try again Tuesday with a second week of overtime sessions. It will be harder than ever. "We'll be down some members," said Rep. Deborah Whyman, R-Canton, ticking off a list of lawmakers who are scheduled for family trips, children's weddings, anniversaries and the like.

In a nutshell, the Senate passed a package of bills featuring a net tax reduction over five years, but the House passed only one in return.

Senate OKs bills

The Senate's package called for:

- Increasing the state gasoline 4 cents per gallon effective tax Aug. 1. The diesel tax was not changed. A bare minimum of 20 senators voted yes.

- Cutting the 6 percent sales tax on gasoline to 4 percent over four years. The rate would fall to 5 percent on the first day of 1998, 4 percent in 1999, 3 percent in 2000, and 2 percent in 2001. That final 2 percent is constitutionally dedicated to public schools and wouldn't be lowered.

- Cutting the personal income tax by raising the per-person exemption $100 next year. Currently the exemption is $2,500. It is indexed to inflation and is scheduled to go to $2,600 next year. With the $100 increase, the new exemption rate would be $2,700 per household member. The House also passed this bill.

■ '(The state takeover of county and local roads) was opposed in all four caucuses.'

Robert Geake

Takeover killed

The Senate killed portions of SB 303 that would have allowed the state to take over control of 9,200 miles of county and local roads. The takeover, sought by Gov. John Engler, never came to a vote.

"It was opposed in all four caucuses (House and Senate, Democrat and Republican)," said Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville.

"It's a shell game. I'll never vote for it," said Rep. Tom Kelly, D-Wayne.

"I have no problem with giving maintenance of some local roads to the state," said Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham. "But should Maple Road be made six lanes? Should there be capacity changes, curb cuts, new speed limits, traffic lights? Those should be local decisions."

Fuel tax key

The key bill was HB 4832, the fuel tax hike, which passed with 19 Republican senators and one Democrat. The House has yet to vote on it.

Two senators were absent, including Gary Peters, D-Bloomfield Township. His absence had the effect of a no vote — which was how he had planned to vote anyway. His staff said he departed late Wednesday on a long-planned family trip.

Two Republicans, including Loren Bennett of Canton, voted no.

"I have said from the beginning that I will not support a tax increase for Michigan residents," said Bennett, "and I intend to keep that promise. Higher gas taxes are not the answer to fixing Michigan roads. We need to look more closely at reforming the transportation system."

Bennett boasted that he won an amendment to SB 303 that "compels counties and townships to sit down together and decide how best to fix the roads. It is important that townships have a say in how road funds are allocated."

Bennett's defection had been predicted two days earlier by Peters. "It looks like they'll have to put up 20 votes themselves. I may be Bennett. That's the seat they're trying to protect."

Bennett's seat had been held by Democrats for 30 years until he won it in 1994. It is considered "leaning Republican" in the recent issue of Inside Michigan Politics newsletter.

Net tax cut

Sen. Dale Shugars, R-Portage, said the net effect of the Senate package, after four years, would be a $110 million tax cut. In those five years:

- The higher gasoline tax would yield $950 million.

- The sales tax cut on gasoline would

STAFF WRITER

Community colleges will get 3.4 percent more than last year.

The House and Senate put the finishing touches on the $276 million compromise package before its Fourth of July break and sent it to the governor.

It stripped out language that would have prohibited use of college funds for employees' or dependents' abortions, replacing it with a non-binding statement of the Legislature's "intent" not to fund abortions.

That result had been predicted publicly by Reps. Tom Kelly, D-Wayne, and Hubert Price, D-

Pontiac. Most lawmakers saw the anti-abortion language as interfering with the elected boards' right to govern and unions' right to negotiate wages and fringes.

Here is how some area colleges will fare in the next fiscal year:

- Oakland Community College — $19.8 million, up 3.1 percent from the current year.

- Schoolcraft College — $10.6 million, up nearly 6 percent from the current year.

- Wayne County Community College — $15.9 million, up 3.2 percent.

- Henry Ford, Dearborn — $19.2 million, up 4.3 percent.

- Lansing, $28.9 million, up 4.7 percent.

The House passed its more generous version May 13, and Senate action followed early in June, but negotiators waited until the last minute to put forth a "conference report" to reconcile the differences.

The House vote was 97-1 with 12 absent, and the Senate vote was 32-4 with two absent. All area members voted yes.

Among the Senate protest votes were Dale Shugars, R-Portage, sponsor of the anti-abortion amendment, and Joel Gougeon, R-Bay City. "What we passed from the Senate," said Shugars, "was changed from that no money could be used for abortion to the intent of the Legislature that the money would not be used for abortion."

The final bill required each college to report to the Legislature and Department of Education by Nov. 1 on Indian enrollment and the number of Indian tuition waivers each term and the monetary value of those waivers.

In other action, the House approved 99-0 a bill broadening the powers of community college boards. House Bill 4654 would:

- Grant boards "implied" powers incidental to it expressly granted powers.

- Remove a requirement that community college boards hold their organizational meetings on the first Monday in July and allow them to organize at the first regular meeting date.

- Allow boards to delegate to the chief executive officer the powers to hire, pay claims, purchase and acquire personal property, and invest college funds.

Sponsored by Rep. Clyde LeTarte, R-Jackson, a former community college president, the bill goes to the Senate, where action isn't expected before the fall session.

County parks offer music, puppets and movies

Wayne County parks' Children's Evening Out series continues this Tuesday at Nankin Mills Picnic Area in Westland with Chautauqua Express, a musical and entertainment show that encourages audience participation.

Children and audience members will be participating in dancing and playing musical instruments as one-man band Guy Louis performs at Nankin Mills. Louis, a member of the Michigan Touring Arts, plays all of his instruments in his performances, except for the ones he passes out to audience members.

"A big part of our children's concerts are shows that allow kids to become actively involved in the performance," said Edward McNamara, Wayne County executive. "Our parks staff has taken great care to find performers with great track records for entertaining children."

The show begins at 6:30 p.m. Admission is free. Nankin Mills is located on Hines Drive, just east of Ann Arbor Trail in Hines Park.

Area residents can bring a picnic basket, or purchase dinner from concession stands at the movie or at any of the upcoming park events. The Summer Entertainment Series is funded by the 1/4 mill parks millage.

Giant video projection in full color shown on a 300-square-foot screen and stereo surround sound will set the stage for Movies in the Parks — a series of three family movie screenings at three of Wayne County's parks.

Parks officials have rescheduled "101 Dalmatians" for July 23 as part of that series at Nankin Mills. The movie, rated G, was originally scheduled for June 25, but was canceled because of rain.

Admission is free. Movies begin at dusk. Nankin Mills is located east of Ann Arbor Trail on Hines Drive.

Other movies that are scheduled include:

■ Toy Story, rated G, Wednesday, July 30, Elizabeth Park, east of I-75, south of West Road, off Jefferson, Trenton.

■ Fly Away Home, Wednesday, Aug. 27, Bell Creek Park, corner of Five Mile Road and Inkster, in Redford.

County parks also will be sponsoring other family entertainment series in the upcoming weeks.

Other shows in the Children's Evening Out series include:

■ Ben's Un-Bear-lievable Show, Ben Spitzer and sons will give an entertaining and educational performance with amazing and hilarious juggling and magic routines with lots of audience participation. Tuesday, July 22, Hines Park, Waterford Bend Area, Northville Road, north of Six Mile in Northville.

■ Maureen Schiffman and Coco, Travel with Maureen through a musical jamboree as she involved her audience in song, movement, puppetry and storytelling. See Coco, her well-loved, kazoo-playing monkey puppet. Aug. 5, Elizabeth Park, Trenton, East of I-75, south of West Road, off of Jefferson.

All Children's Evening Out performances start at 6:30 p.m.

The Concerts in the Parks series will feature six concerts at six different park locations and a variety of jazz, country, top 40 and opera artists.

Music will fill the air in the parks at these free events. All performances are scheduled to begin at 7 p.m.

Acts scheduled include:

■ Carl Michel Quartet, listed in Cadence magazine review of jazz and blues for the group's creative improvised music. The guitar, sax, bass and drum quartet performs original compositions on Thursday, July 17 at the Warrendale Area, Hines Park, in Dearborn Heights.

■ Amigo Latin Jazz 'All Stars, Latin rhythms blend with the sophistication of jazz harmonies, with a little Motown funk mixed in. They deliver an exciting well-paced show that appeals to listeners and dancers alike. Music will be performed on Thursday, July 24, at Bell Creek Park, Redford.

■ Verdi Opera Theatre of Michigan, five musicians perform arias, duets and quartets from the operatic literature of Verdi, Puccini, Rossini and Mozart. They sing on Tuesday, Aug. 12, at the Warrendale Area, Hines Park.

■ The Gratitude Steel Band, a nine-member group performs calypso, reggae and pop music. Musicians perform Thursday, Aug. 14, at the Nankin Mills Area, Hines Park.

Jazz fans can enjoy an extra day of Jazz on the River at the county's Elizabeth Park in Trenton. This event made its debut in 1996 and was so well received it has been expanded to two days — Aug. 16 and 17.

Saturdays and Sundays in the park in Hines Park also will continue through Sept. 28.

Six miles of Hines Drive between Ann Arbor Trail and Outer Drive will be closed to motor traffic every Saturday and Sunday between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. so bicyclists, roller bladers, joggers and walkers can enjoy Hines Park.

For a complete 1997 events schedule or information on other parks programs and facilities, call the Wayne County parks office at (313) 261-1990.

save drivers $910 million.

■ The higher income tax exemption would save families $150 million.

"(Senate majority leader) Dick Posthumus was insistent on that," said Shugars.

In the first year, there would be a $90-million net tax hike — $190 million more for gasoline, $30 million less for income taxes and $70 million less for sales tax on gasoline.

Dems' plan

House Speaker Curtis Hertel, D-Detroit, on July 8 announced his caucus would support a 4-cents hike in the gasoline tax — on these conditions:

■ A reduction in the personal income tax rate from 4.4 to 4.325 percent, saving the average family of four $26.25. Statewide tax cost: $122 million.

■ Expanding the college tuition tax credit from a maximum of $250 to $500. Savings to families of college students: $36 million.

■ A child care income tax deduction of up to $5,000 per child for working parents. Tax savings: $17 million.

Total one-year tax cuts under the Democratic plan: $175 million versus $190 million increase in the fuel tax.

Hertel said his plan was backed by County Executives Ed McNamara, a Wayne County Democrat, and L. Brooks Patterson, an Oakland County Republican.

'Breakdown'

Two lawmakers said part of the breakdown had to do with communications to the Senate Democratic caucus.

"If the governor were serious, the dialog would be there," said Senate minority leader John Cherry, D-Clio. "Our conclusion is that they're not serious about getting out of here."

"Their feelings were hurt," said Rep. Andrew Raczowski, R-Farmington Hills, of the Senate Democrats. "We had a deal, but the deal broke down. Senate Democrats felt communications to their lines weren't there."

Raczowski had a list of amendments, including improved revenue sharing for local units. "But we never got to vote," he said.

Raczowski promised to attend Tuesday's session but hoped it will be short because he has been accepted to a University of Virginia program for emerging political leaders.

GETTING INTO A SCRAPE

An estimated 75 million Americans suffer from chronic bad breath. In nearly all these cases, the problem stems from an overabundance of anaerobic bacteria that subsist on the protein left in the mouth after eating. In the process, they produce potent gases known as volatile sulfur compounds (VSCs) that give off a rotten-egg odor. These bacteria lurk beneath the mucous and debris at the back of the tongue, as well as in gum pockets around the teeth. While most of us use dental floss to rid ourselves of these bacteria between teeth and gums, few of us remove what amounts to virtual bacteria compost piles from our tongues. All it takes is the inverted miniature shovel known as a tongue scraper to remove the offending anaerobic bacteria and expose them to the oxygen that kills them. Tongue scraping is the first step toward clean-smelling breath.

Smoke signals spirit of summer

My fondest childhood memories were those eternal summer days where it seemed to never become night ... and the smell of barbecue. I remember I could smell that distinctive aroma down the street at a small corner park where neighborhood children would gather religiously every afternoon to play.

My mother would stand on the front lawn and signal me home. As I biked toward home, I could smell this wonderful scent, which seemed to contain the entire spirit of summer. As I made my way down what seemed to be "the longest driveway in the world," I gazed upon the old red brick barbecue with missing bricks and patches of black - a collection of many summers past.

Dad would be standing there in a faded blue striped apron and an assortment of very important rustic looking equipment, all of which seemed to make this whole magical process transpire. Ingrained in my memory is the scratched-up tin shaker from where magic dust would emanate and settle upon our burgers and steaks.

In later years it struck me as ironic that a man who never mastered the art of toast could be the chef of such a master food plan. It must be part of the male realm which I still don't quite understand.

Barbecuing has jumped light years since my childhood, with hundreds of widgets and gadgets to choose from. Special baskets for fish, ornate metal skewers, so many flavors of wood chips that I sometimes think that I turned down the fragrance aisle. Even dad recently replaced the old brick grill with a King Cooker #3 that has a side burner. It's all quite confusing! As for me, summer still means simplicity, and less is more. I'll keep my $150 Weber that I stoke with real hardwood briquettes.

With summer grilling it's important to use your imagination - don't get stuck in hot dog land forever. With such an array of interesting foods to choose for the grill - fish, shell fish, poultry, sausage, vegetables, game, pork, many fruits, sauces and unique condiments, the possibilities are endless.

Barbecue tips

- Approximately 30 coals, on an average, are needed for a successful barbecue.
- Start charcoal 30-40 minutes before you plan to cook.
- The best, and most economical way to start charcoal is in a chimney starter; about 15 minutes for hardwood; 20 minutes or so for standard briquettes. You will end up with a glowing stack of charcoal.
- Aromatic wood chips such as hickory and mesquite are an especially good idea when using a gas barbecue. Let the chips soak for at least 30 minutes, drain and place 1-2 cups in heavy duty foil to make a small, open pouch. Place on grill stones before heating grill. For regular charcoal grills, scatter freely over briquettes.
- A simple way to test the heat level is to hold your hand five inches above the coals. If you can hold it there for only one or two seconds, you have a very hot fire, 3-4 seconds a medium fire, and 5-6 seconds a low fire.
- Fish and seafood fare well with lighter scented wood chips such as apple, peach or cherry.
- Don't apply sauce until product is almost done to prevent burning.
- Place thicker food on the grill rack raised to the highest setting so meat can cook slowly.
- About 6-8 minutes is sufficient for turning most foods.

Local experts

- Chef Denise Caudry of Travis Point Country Club in Ann Arbor recommends:
 - Using grill baskets for vegetables so they don't fall through the grate.
 - Clean grates and a hot grill are a must.
 - Start your product skin side down, as a rule of thumb.
 - Steak fish such as swordfish are great. Don't forget a little spice rub, and don't overcook.
- Seafood is nature's fast food, having an average cooking time of 10 minutes per inch. Kevin Dean, who owns Superior Fish in Royal Oak with his brother Michael, recommends trying Monkfish (known as poor man's lobster) on the grill. Fish steaks such as halibut, tuna and swordfish are always a crowd-pleaser. Don't forget a little spice rub, or marinade. Citrus flavors seem to be hot.

You don't need a stress pill to become a cool cat

By PEGGY MARTINELLI-EVERTS
REGISTERED DIETITIAN

"Take a chill pill" is a common phrase, but while there may be plenty of reasons for stress, hold on!

Before you take an anti-stress pill, vitamin, mineral supplement, or any medication touted to relieve anxiety, look at what's stressing you out.

We all need a certain amount of stress in our lives to motivate us, to learn, to grow, to change, to solve problems, or take action. Stress is one emotion that gives life depth, flavor and variety.

The only complete freedom from stress is death. It is our response to stress that turns this vital force into a health-threatening "distress." Stress, in itself, is neither positive or negative, it just is.

Research on stress shows that people who have the highest risk of experiencing the negative outcomes of stress are "high responders." They experience any negative emotion more intensely than others. Any little hassle or new situation touches off a negative stress response.

Our reaction to stress is really quite predictable.

First there is alarm. Our body prepares for fight or flight. The heart races to pump blood faster, digestion is slowed or interrupted, the senses are piqued.

Next comes resistance. Our body attempts to repair the damage caused by stress.

Then finally, there is exhaustion when our body looks for relief and rest from stress.

In the short term, stress does not seem to cause problems. However, long-term, unabated stress can cause indigestion and insomnia to become chronic, and strain our heart.

Stress can affect our nutrient status in a number of ways. It changes the level of certain hormones that play a role in regulating the metabolism of nutrients such as glucose. Stress also affects how calories are utilized by the body and may increase the excretion of certain vitamins and minerals.

People handle stress in a number of ways. To cry, scream, run, dance, rest or take a bath are all constructive. To overeat or drink too much coffee or alcohol can be destructive.

Here are some things you can do to help relieve stressful situations, handle stress in a positive and productive manner and minimize any negative effects:

- Eat more fruits, vegetables and grains. High fiber can help improve digestion which may be impaired by stress.

- Remember, supplements will not make up for a poor diet. If you are thinking about taking an anti-stress supplement, be sure that it doesn't contain more than 200 percent of the recommended daily allowance. This is especially important with fat-soluble vitamins A, D, E, and K. Plus excessive amounts of certain minerals can actually cause deficiency states of other mineral. For example, excessive zinc can cause iron and copper deficiency. So be careful. Vitamin and mineral concoctions aren't regulated like drugs, but they can cause serious toxicity if abused.

- Follow the food guide pyramid. The better nourished you are before you enter a stressful period, the better you will be able to handle it without getting sick. Watch out for too many foods from the tip of the pyramid. It is ironic that "stressed" is desserts backward.

- Limit caffeine. Caffeine is a known cardiac stimulant, just what you don't need. The same goes for tobacco and alcohol.

- Stock an anti-stress pantry. Keep pasta, grains and breads on hand. Because complex carbohydrates take longer to digest than simple sugars, they may help you keep your moods on an even keel.

- Eat breakfast. It may be that the simple act of eating releases substances in the brain that calm the body.

- Use the magic of movement. Exercise is a great stress reliever. Movements help our bodies release endorphins, the natural "feel good" hormone.

- Be sure your diet includes foods high in folic acid. Dark, leafy vegetables such as spinach, okra, kale, collard greens and turnip greens are good sources of folic acid. Orange juice is also good. Folic acid may help alleviate depression.

- Get control. Avoid over-generalizing and blowing things out of proportion. Learn to accept mistakes and tolerate a certain amount of disorder. Be reasonable, delegate, adopt a problem-solving approach.

- Get over it. Sometimes there is no perfect solution, so don't blame yourself. Seeing problems get resolved in 30 minutes on TV really does trivialize and undermine our complex life experiences. Realize that it doesn't happen that way in the real world.

- Step back. Keep a stress diary and record times when you are anxious or stressed. Figure out what forces really push your buttons, then work on breaking your response. Verbalize your fears, use your support systems, distract yourself, add a little humor to your life.

- Like yourself. Try to realize that no one is perfect. Accept your weaknesses and learn to live with what you can't change. You've only got so much time. Enjoy it.

Get into the swim with tuna

MURIEL G. WAGNER

Summer is here - much to my discomfort. I reveled in the cooler than normal temperatures of May and early June. This quirk, though it makes me suffer in the heat, does have a positive side. It prompts me to develop and revise recipes, not only to modify fat and calories, but to keep shopping and kitchen time to a minimum.

One of these recipes is my version of Tuna Nicoise. This is a hot weather treat can be prepared ahead of time in about 10 minutes, and keeps in the fridge two or three days. Like spaghetti sauce, the flavor improves overnight.

Those 90 degree F. days with high humidity to match are less disconcerting when a delicious low calorie lunch or dinner is waiting in the fridge. Crispy French bread or rolls and a cool slice of summer melon topped with fresh seasonal berries are delicious accompaniments.

The recipe for Tuna Nicoise is said to have originated in Nice, France, as you might guess from the title. It is usually made with anchovies. These are too fishy and salty for most people's taste, but if you like them, they can be added after draining and rinsing. Blot the excess oil and water with paper towels. Even though anchovies have a high salt content, they also have a lot of those healthful Omega-3 fatty acids that lower triglycerides and cholesterol.

Most Nicoise salads are characterized by potatoes, green beans, and a vinaigrette dressing. These are part of my recipe, too, but I've substituted a ready made fat-free Italian salad dressing with added capers, wine, garlic, vinegar or fresh lemon juice and a dried herb blend to improve flavor, but not increase fat.

Capers are little flower buds preserved in vinegar. They're expensive, and can be omitted without serious damage to flavor. When fresh herbs are available, I like to substitute two tablespoons each of fresh oregano, basil and thyme for the dried herbs. Sprinkle the herbs over the salad at serving time.

Potatoes for the salad can be cooked in the microwave with the skins left on for added fiber. Add blanched baby carrots, fresh cucumbers, and/or seeded plum tomatoes if the spirit moves you. It helps to increase your intake of those cancer fighting carotenoids. Do leave the vegetables and tuna in larger pieces, and only cook the vegetables until they're crisp and tender. You want to be able to distinguish the salad components - not have mush.

Because of my Nicoise recipe, company luncheons or dinners are no sweat. My Tuna Nicoise Elegante is made a day ahead with fresh grilled tuna, water

TUNA NICOISE A LA WAGNER

- 4 small, unpeeled redskin potatoes, cooked and sliced
- 1/4 pound whole green beans, cooked to crispness
- 1 fresh red bell pepper, cut into rings
- 1 medium red onion, sliced thin into rings
- 10 small yellow pickled peppers, halved, stemmed and seeded
- 2 cans (6 1/2 ounces each) White Albacore Tuna, water-packed, rinsed, drained and chunked
- 1/3 cup fresh parsley, chopped
- 1 cup vinaigrette dressing (recipe follows)

Combine potatoes, green beans, red pepper, red onion, peppers and tuna in a large bowl. Pour the fat-free vinaigrette dressing over mixture. Cover, and marinate four hours or overnight in the refrigerator. The flavor improves with longer marinating. Serve on Romaine, Boston, Bibb or leaf lettuce, garnished with fresh tomatoes and chopped parsley or other fresh herbs. Serves 4.

VINAIGRETTE DRESSING

- 8 ounces fat-free Italian salad dressing
- 2 tablespoons capers, rinsed and drained
- 2 tablespoons dry white wine (optional)
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice or balsamic vinegar
- 2 tablespoons dried Italian seasoning

TUNA NICOISE ELEGANTE

To make the salad into a more elegant dish for company, or just to treat yourself, add a can of water-packed, drained, quartered artichoke hearts, sliced black olives, and one tablespoon capers, drained. Then grill one pound of fresh tuna to substitute for the canned fish. To grill the tuna, brush with Worcestershire sauce and place on a clean, hot grill brushed with oil. Grill 10 minutes per inch of thickness, turning once.

Fight stress with low-fat spinach lasagna

See related story on Taste front. Recipe compliments of Peggy Martinelli-Everts, registered dietitian, and director of clinical operations for HDS Services, a Farmington Hills-based food service and hospitality management company.

This recipe is sure to be a stress reliever. It tastes great, is low in fat and high in complex carbohydrates, which can fight stress.

It also contains a healthy dose of spinach, which is high in folic acid, a nutrient that may help prevent certain forms of depression.

LOW-FAT SPINACH LASAGNA

10 ounces lasagna noodles (about 2/3 of a 16 ounce package)

Cream sauce

1 cup non-fat dried milk powder
1 teaspoon dried onion flakes
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon vegetable soup base (I use Momi's)
2 cups cold water

Spinach mixture

10 ounce package fresh spinach, wash, shake dry.

1 medium Vidalia onion, chopped

1 teaspoon olive oil
2 teaspoons basil
1 teaspoon oregano
1 teaspoon thyme

Filling

1/2 cup Parmesan cheese
15 ounce container low-fat cottage cheese
1/2 cup low-fat mozzarella cheese

Topping

1/4 cup Parmesan cheese

Cook noodles in very large pot of boiling water until tender; they will cook more in the oven.

Spray a 9 by 13 by 2 1/2-inch baking dish with nonstick cooking spray. Preheat oven to 350 degrees F.

For the sauce, mix together dried milk, onion flakes, cornstarch and vegetable soup base in a saucepan. Add cold water and stir until dissolved. Stir constantly over medium heat until thick, remove from heat.

saute onion and spices until onion is translucent. Add spinach, which is still damp from washing. Cook just until spinach is wilted, drain liquid.

To assemble, place a thin layer of cream sauce on bottom of baking dish, and then a layer of noodles, lengthwise. Keep the best of the noodles for the top and use broken pieces in the middle. Each layer of noodles should lie crosswise to the one below it.

On the layer of noodles, spread the first layer of filling, then some spinach mixture and cream sauce and then the noodles again.

Repeat this until you are out of spinach and filling, reserving the best noodles for the top layer and some cream sauce to cover the top noodles. Then sprinkle Parmesan cheese over cream sauce. I like to sprinkle a little basil on top too for flavor and color.

Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 to 45 minutes, then let stand 10 minutes before cutting. Serves 12.

FISH MARINADE

1/2 cup olive oil
1/2 cup fresh orange juice
1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
1/4 cup pineapple juice
1/4 cup soy sauce
1 small red onion, sliced thin

6 garlic cloves thinly sliced
Juice of 2 limes

1 teaspoon lemon zest
1 teaspoon lime zest
2 tablespoons chopped cilantro

1/4 teaspoon crushed mixed peppercorns

Combine ingredients. Marinate fish for 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 hours. Great with swordfish, tuna, monkfish, scallops and shrimp.

SOUTH OF THE BORDER RUB

1/4 cup cumin seed
2 tablespoons coriander seed
2 tablespoons chili powder
2 teaspoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons Kosher salt
2 tablespoons cracked black pepper

1 teaspoon cinnamon

1 tablespoon cayenne pepper

Toast seeds and grind in a spice grinder. Add remaining ingredients.

Great for beef, poultry and hardy fish such as swordfish or tuna. Rub on 15 minutes prior to grilling.

ute, Forte, and Too Chez - says you can take your barbecue in an Asian direction by marinating beef, pork or chicken in equal parts of soy sauce, maple syrup and sesame oil.

The length of time you marinate your product will range from 30 minutes to 3 hours. Add some hoisin sauce to regular barbecue sauce for a different flavor.

Chef Chris Cook of 2 Unique says veal chops are awesome on the grill rubbed with a little olive oil and garlic and topped with a bit of fresh tomato sauce after cooking. Don't forget the Merlot!

He also recommends marinated pork tenderloins sprinkled with a little balsamic vinegar, orange, lemon, and lime juice, fresh herbs, salt and pepper. Summer never tasted so good.

Grill Vocabulary

Wood Charcoal - Is simply wood burned in the oven to dry which makes it burn more intense than new wood. Due to its porous nature it ignites and burns quickly.

Charcoal Briquettes - Are sawdust of fine wood chips or other pulpy materials dried in an oven and compressed into neat squares. There is a wide variety, and various quality levels are available.

Mesquite Wood - Is twice as hard as hickory or white oak. Mesquite grows in very thick thatches mainly in the Southwest, Mexico, Peru, Argentina, Chili, India, South Africa and Australia. It comes in the form of solid wood fuel or in its byproduct, wood chips. Mesquite is available in many flavors, and imparts a unique flavor to any barbecuing endeavor.

Wake-up to rich pineapple coffeecake

AP - Pineapple Right-Side-Up Coffeecake is moist and rich-tasting. Each serving has 304 calories and 3 grams of fat. The recipe is from Anne Fletcher's "Eating Thin for Life" (Chapters Publishing, $24.95/hardcover).

PINEAPPLE RIGHT-SIDE-UP COFFEECAKE

2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
1/4 cup light or dark brown sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-3rd cup pecan or walnut halves (about 1.3 ounces), chopped
20-ounce can crushed pineapple in its own juice

Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Place rack in center of oven. Coat bottom and sides of a 9- to 10-inch springform pan with nonstick cooking spray. Set aside. In a large bowl, stir together all dry ingredients, including nuts, until well mixed. Add pineapple and juice. Stir gently with a wooden spoon just until moistened; do not overmix. Pour into prepared pan. Bake in preheated oven for 50 to 55 minutes, or until a toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool for 10 minutes on a wire rack. Run a knife around edges of pan to loosen. Release sides and continue cooking. Serve warm, or at room temperature, or chilled. Makes 10 servings.

Pair fresh fruit and meat for fabulous entrees

Combining meat and vegetables in an entree is nothing new. Pairing fruit and meat, however, is somewhat of a novelty. Since variety keeps healthy menus interesting and appetizing, take advantage of summer's bounty and create dishes that bring out the best in lower fat meats by providing wholesome nutrition and mouth-watering flavor of the summer's fresh fruits.

The next time you fire up the grill, summon up a taste of the islands by making swordfish and tropical fruit kebabs. Thread skewers with swordfish steaks, cut into 1-inch cubes, star fruit slices, pineapple cubes, and cherry tomatoes. Brush each kebab lightly with olive oil and grill about 3 minutes per side. During the last 2 minutes of cooking, brush the food with a glaze made by pureeing 1 large peeled, pitted and quartered peach, 3 tablespoons of soy sauce, 2 tablespoons of hoisin sauce, 2 tablespoons cider vinegar, a teaspoon of sugar, a teaspoon of sesame oil, and a teaspoon of finely grated fresh ginger. Serve the kabobs over rice pilaf or quick-cooking couscous.

Summer plums add rich flavor and moist flavor to roasted chicken. On a rack in a shallow roasting pan, begin cooking a 4 pound chicken. Twenty minutes before the bird should be done, add 12 firm ripe plums, halved and pitted, to the pan, turning once. Serve slices of chicken with the plums and a savory sauce made by simmering the defatted pan drippings, 1/2 cup apple juice, 1/2 cup chicken broth, and 1/4 teaspoon ginger.

When it's too hot to cook, cool off with summer salads brightened by summer berries. Chicken salad sparkles with the added flavor provided by fresh raspberries. Start by grilling boneless, skinless chicken breasts and cutting them into thin slices. Toss mixed salad greens and raspberries in a large bowl with a blueberry vinaigrette, and divide the greens among dinner plates. Place chicken slices atop the salads and sprinkle with ground, toasted hazelnuts.

Instant fruit fix-ups can add a sparkling accent to almost any dish: dried fruit provides a mellow sweet flavor to meat stew; diced cantaloupe adds freshness to curried chicken salad; coarsely-chopped peaches or pears mixed in tomato salsa can make grilled fish more exciting.

Here's a recipe to try. CHICKEN AND FRESH GRAPEFRUIT STIR-FRY

- 1 grapefruit, peeled
- 1 can (8 ounces) pineapple chunks
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon reduced-sodium soy sauce
- 2 boneless, skinless half-chicken breasts
- 1 medium clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon vegetable oil
- 1/4 pound snow peas, trimmed
- 2 green onions, sliced diagonally

Peel and section grapefruit over bowl; reserve juice. Drain pineapple well, reserving juice. Combine juices and add enough water to equal 1 cup liquid. Combine with cornstarch and soy sauce.

Rinse chicken breasts and pat dry; remove any excess fat. Cut into thin strips. In large non-stick skillet, sprayed with non-stick cooking spray, stir-fry chicken with garlic in oil over medium-high heat for 5 minutes, or until lightly brown. Add the snow peas and cornstarch mixture and cook,

Colorful salad great warm weather dinner solution

AP - Salads are great warm weather meals. They're quick to fix and can be prepared with ingredients that are already in the refrigerator.

The following recipe for Grilled Chicken and Spinach Salad combines crisp spinach leaves, grilled chicken and tangy dried tomatoes with a flavorful bacon dressing.

GRILLED CHICKEN AND

SPINACH SALAD

For the Bacon Dressing:

- 1 cup dried tomato halves, snipped into thin strips
- 3 slices turkey bacon, cut crosswise into 1/2-inch strips
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 3 tablespoons minced onion
- 3 tablespoons balsamic vinegar

Garlic salt and pepper, to taste

For the Salad:

- 4 boned and skinned chicken breast halves
- 1 1/2 teaspoons olive oil
- Garlic salt and pepper
- 8 cups lightly packed, trimmed spinach leaves
- 2 medium tomatoes, cut into wedges

2 cups sliced mushrooms

In bowl, cover dried tomatoes with hot water; set aside 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, in medium non-stick skillet over medium heat, cook and toss bacon 5 minutes. Add oil and onion to skillet. Cook just until onion wilts. Mix in vinegar. Cook 1 minute. Mix in dried tomatoes with 3 tablespoons of their soaking water. Season with garlic salt and pepper. Set dressing aside.

Rub chicken with oil and season with garlic salt and pepper. Grill or saute in nonstick skillet over medium heat, about 10 minutes, turning once, just until juices run clear when the chicken is pierced with a knife point. Slice chicken across the grain.

Meanwhile, in a large bowl, toss spinach and chicken with Bacon Dressing; divide equally on four dinner plates. Top with tomato wedges and mushroom slices. Makes 4 main-dish servings.

SHOPPING CENTERED

Thom Leffler

Not all shoppers want true service

BY THOM LEFFLER
GUEST COLUMNIST

Service is alive and well in retail stores today— you just need to know where to find it. And that depends on the kind of shopper you are.

As a long-time specialty store retailer, I've found that there are three basic types of shopper:

1. The traditional shopper. This customer needs to be waited on and wants to enjoy the shopping experience every time. They want to be known by name. They want to be asked if they need a beverage while shopping, if they want their coat hung, if their family is well — and this is before you get into their shopping needs for that day.

Time is not an issue for this type of shopper, and there appears to be fewer of them today.

2. The time-starved shopper. There is never enough time for shopping, so five minutes to do an hour's worth of shopping is all that's scheduled. These folks have the interest, the need, and the economic ability to shop, but they want someone to take care of this function for them. They look for stores they can trust to take over the task.

They believe that they may pay a little more, but it is worth it in the long run.

3. The know-it-all. These shoppers believe they know more than anyone in the store. They believe that they do not need assistance. Even when it is their first time in a store, they know where everything is in the store. They try to never succumb and ask for help.

The chain stores provide them with an acceptable quality level and they don't require, nor should they expect, high levels of service. They are not time-starved because they will never rely on a sales person to fulfill their shopping needs.

However, if you want your own look, want to develop a unique and personal style, you must visit specialty stores and build a relationship with someone who will look out for your needs.

Specialty stores pride themselves in building relationships. They care about their customer and meeting his or her merchandise needs. And it's all because they want this shopper to come back again and again.

Chain stores are there for a quick sell. Remember, most of the time, chain store sales persons are not long-term employees, they may work on commission, so they jump on you when you walk in the store. That's not service. They don't want to build a relationship. They want to sell you something and go on to the next person.

Sometimes, however, a little guidance is necessary to make a smart decision and specialty shops offer that service. After all, they are usually owner-operated and personally do the buying and selling of the product. They know their merchandise.

What about the shopper who visits the large chain stores that specialize in one type of merchandise?

Any shopper expects them to have a complete selection and great prices. But a traditional or time-starved shopper looks for good choices and expects some assistance which isn't available. They don't want to waste their time looking in row after row after row and then settling for an item that's not exactly what they had in mind.

These "big box" stores usually have enough of a selection to satisfy the know-it-all shopper who does not require service for any shopping decision.

Service is alive and well once you know the type of shopper you are and that will determine then, the kind of store that you require. Now your shopping experiences will only be pleasant ones.

'Women's' shops meet special needs

BY DONNA MULCAHY
SPECIAL WRITER

Women want to look and feel beautiful, no matter what their size or health condition.

That's the philosophy behind Women's Health Boutique in Lathrup Village, Annette's Unique Boutique in Troy, and Bobette Lingerie Shop/Always Summer Swimwear in Waterford.

All three shops specialize in products and services for women with breast cancer, such as post-mastectomy prostheses, bras, and pocketed swimsuits.

But they also carry lingerie, peignoir sets and swimsuits in regular and difficult-to-find plus sizes, bras in sizes 32 AA to 54 I (except for the Women's Health Boutique, which goes up to size 52 H), maternity lingerie, fashionable and functional men's and women's undergarments for people who have incontinence, wigs, hats, head scarves and wraps, bathing caps and a variety of gift items for women.

Each of the stores has certified prosthesis fitters. Women who are shopping for regular bras are also measured to make sure that they get the right size.

In addition, all three stores have a feminine decor and soothing atmosphere to enhance the shopping experience.

Annette's Unique Boutique

Annette's Unique Boutique, owned by Annette Newman, opened in Sterling Heights in 1989. Two years ago it moved to its larger present location at 3646 Rochester Road in Troy.

The store offers many special services, including a new Lymphodynamics Treatment Center, run by a registered nurse, for women who suffer from lymphedema, and a free Breast Prosthetic & Wig Bank, filled with donated items for women who need but can't afford such products.

On the third Thursday of every month, Annette's offers a free, "Look Good...Feel Better" program, which is co-sponsored by the American Cancer Society. The program, which can accommodate 10 people at a time, helps women who are undergoing appearance changes due to cancer treatment.

Shoppers can receive a Gentle Touch Healing Massage in a private room or partake of free refreshments. The boutique has a seamstress on site, a resource center that offers support group information, and a variety of angel merchandise.

The store also carries workout wear in full and extended sizes. Bathing suits go up to a 32 dress size and run about $80. The store carries girdles up to size 64 and garter belts up to a size 5X, to give you an idea of the variety of sizes offered. For more information about Annette's Unique Boutique, call (248) 680-1600.

The Bobette Shop

The Bobette Lingerie Shop opened 63 years ago in Pontiac. Harriet Dunsky bought the store 13 years ago and moved it to its present location at 945 W. Huron in Waterford. She also added Always Summer Swimwear to the company's name.

In March Dunsky added 1,000 square feet to her 3,000-square foot store by acquiring the office space next to hers and knocking down a wall. Dunsky turned the new space into a full-service wig salon with two private fitting rooms.

She carries a wide variety of wigs, including "skin tops," wigs, where underneath the hair in front, it looks like the wearer's own scalp. Wig prices range from $50 to $400, but some custom wigs can run higher.

Dunsky carries bathing suits in sizes 6 to 54, and they range from $50 to $100. She also carries cover-ups and swim shoes. Bathing caps range from $12 to $25. For more information, call (248) 681-2727.

Women's Health Boutique

Unlike the other two stores, Women's Health Boutique, located at 26612 Southfield Road in Lathrup Village, is part of a chain of franchises. The store is owned by Barbara Milinko, who opened it in April 1994.

Some of the neat things carried by the store include: lightweight, aluminum hand-painted canes, $30; angel gifts; and the WHB line of skin care products which contain no fragrances or oils to block pores. The Proper fittings: Following surgery, childbirth, illness, or sudden weight changes, women have need of merchandise that could be classified as both "medical supplies" or "specialty items." Retailers sympathetic to these tumultuous life times have designed unique shops that provide the merchandise in surroundings that are both feminine and confidential.

line includes special creams that can be applied to radiation burns to promote healing.

The store also carries non-prescription compression hosiery, which provides varying degrees of compression up the leg, with the greatest pressure being around the ankle. The hosiery, which keeps blood circulating properly throughout the leg, is great for waitresses and women who are on their feet all day, and it can help prevent the spread of varicose veins, said Connie Koss, store manager and certified compression therapist.

A pair of compression pantyhose costs about $18.50, but they can last several months, Koss said. Knee-highs are also available.

For more information about the Women's Health Boutique, call (810) 552-0606.

Editor's note: Next week Donna Mulcahy looks at the quest women's health care stores have begun to become accredited.

Where can I find?

Readers called in the following information for shoppers:

• One expert said to remove oil and rust stains from garage floors or driveways, mix one-third part muriatic acid with two-thirds part water, brush it over the stains, then hose off the mess. He buys the acid at ACO Hardware stores.

• Callers offered their no-longer needed salad spinners, Anne Klein II colognes, rabbit hutches, "Serious Leisure CDs" and cookbooks to the searchers and phone numbers were exchanged.

• The long-sought pattern for the round dish cloth made of cream and sugar yarn is printed at the bottom of this column. We got copies of several versions and chose the simplest. A big thanks to all the kind knitters who sent in their patterns.

• A variety of toothbrushes can be found at F & M stores according to a reader who said she's even seen brushes with "ultra-soft" bristles and bristles for "sensitive teeth."

We're still looking for:

- Blueprints for wooden Adirondack chairs for "Kevin" of Canton.
- A copy of an old children's book from the 1960's (was it a Golden Book?) called "Hum-um-um The Hamster" for Jenny Leffler's granddaughter.
- Another old children's book, "Shy Trunky" for "Donna" of Redford.
- A toothbrush for gentle, sensitive teeth (preferably by Oral B) for "Gail."
- Stamp embroidery products for tablecloths, napkins, pillowcases etc., NOT counted cross stitch for "Kathy."
- The Diet Exchange Book, published years ago by the Diet Centers of Canada, for "Pat."
- A copy of the song "Someone Who Believes In You," from the Date With An Angel soundtrack for Cindy of Canton.

If you've seen any of these items in your travels, let Malls & Mainstreets know and we'll print the answers. Please call (248) 901-2567 and relate your message and phone number slowly and clearly!

Paws for a visit

Hudson's stores present the Detroit Tiger Mascot "Paws" for visits and pictures with shoppers. Look for him on July 19 at Twelve Oaks, Novi from noon to 1 p.m.; on July 20 at Westland from noon to 1 p.m.; and on Aug. 23 at Lakeside in Sterling Heights from 3-4 p.m.

Store relocates

Sheets, the ultimate paper store, has moved from S. Washington to 210 Studio A West Sixth Street in Royal Oak. According to owners Ellen Shook and Tim Markaity the shop has more than 500 different decorative paper in stock, envelopes, ribbons, journals, pens, seals and paper weights in stock. Reach them by calling (248) 541-5630.

New photo concept studio

Everything Digital, the first retail digital photography studio in Oakland County to use digital cameras and computers to capture images, according to president Jim Hendin, is open at 4550 Dixie Hwy. in Waterford.

Traditionally film and chemicals were needed to produce a photograph, but ED has simplified the process using a digital camera, computer disk and special software. A photo can be processed instantly and retouched without the subject returning to the studio.

We went looking for a mortgage and found a way to save $55,000.

Introducing the Tailored Home Loan™ Only from Michigan National.

You've always thought of a mortgage as a way to borrow. Well, start thinking of it as a way to save.

Our unique new Tailored Home Loan offers you affordable, flexible payment options that can save you thousands of dollars in interest — up to $55,000* for example, over a typical 30-year home loan. You can also cut more than ten years off your mortgage. It's easier than you think, and we'll show you how.

The fact is, you can literally design your mortgage to fit your needs, then change it as your life changes. You can:

- Choose your own payment due date
- Switch between adjustable and fixed rates of interest
- Use the extra principal you pay without refinancing

Call us today for an appointment, and we'll show you how many home loan options you really have. From the home of creative mortgage choices, Michigan National. Solid Thinking. Smart Ideas.

Coveted booth yields dividends

The Ann Arbor Art Fairs draw droves of artists because it's a best-seller. On average, 10 times the artists apply for available booths making Ann Arbor one of the most competitive and coveted art fairs in the nation.

Barb and Alan Gibson of Livonia return to Ann Arbor year after year. Barb began their "Clay by Gibson" business nearly 30 years ago after graduating with a master of fine arts degree from the University of Michigan. The mother and son clay artist team will exhibit in Dallas, Miami, New York and two dozen other cities by the end of 1997.

Exotic Beauty: Walt Cole will exhibit wood, lathe-turned vessels, some with brass accents, in the State Street Area Art Fair—booth 633 in Ann Arbor.

When we showed our work in a fair at Penn State earlier this year, it was slow during the week, but took off after the alumni arrived for the weekend.

Alan and Barb Gibson expect to sell a lot of their 14- by 14-inch wall sculptures in Ann Arbor and to receive future commissions for larger scale works for homes and businesses. Jewel tones, purples, teals and earth tones of golds and tans ensure that the work is in step with current decorating trends.

"We try to utilize a variety of color schemes and a lot of different textures. A lot of people actually have trouble telling what material it's made out of because of all the different textures," said Gibson.

Sign of accomplishment

Walt Cole, who will exhibit in Art in the Park in Birmingham in September, found Ann Arbor profitable during his first show there last year. Cole began turning bowls in their abstract contemporary clay wall sculptures will be on display in booth 412 at the Summer Art Fair.

"Why exhibit in Ann Arbor? Because you're drawing from five states," said Alan Gibson. "You get a lot of the best artists exhibiting there and people throng to it."

Gibson said that arts fairs held on campuses, like the University of Michigan, generally attract large crowds.

"Partially, it's people who went to school at U-M and come back at show time. The fairs are usually held at the same time as reunions.

Ann Arbor's all fair in art and shopping

More than 1,000 artists will take to the streets of Ann Arbor July 16-19 for one of the largest, and most respected, art fairs in the country. The Ann Arbor Art Fairs span 24 blocks and offers an array of paintings, pottery, photography, sculpture, wood, glass, fiber, folk art and toys.

The arts extravaganza, expected to draw 500,000 visitors, adds a festive atmosphere to the streets of Ann Arbor during the dog days of July. Fairgoers will not only be treated to the visual arts, but live entertainment and food ranging from Indian to Italian.

You'll find musicians, jugglers, magicians, dancers and other performers scattered throughout the fair site. Nearly 100 downtown restaurants and temporary food booths will offer a bevy of foods for the most discriminating of taste buds.

The fair is really three separate art fairs in one, each showcasing a diversity of styles and media. Here's a guide to what each offers:

Ann Arbor Street Art Fair

The original Ann Arbor Street Art Fair, begun 38 years ago, was selected as the number one art fair in the country by the National Association of Independent Artists in May.

According to executive director Susan Froelich, a group of arts supporters founded the fair as a special activity of their annual sidewalk sales. Due to the overwhelming response the public and artists demonstrated for the fair, the sidewalk sales now continue as an aside.

"The fair was two days long when it first started," said Froelich. "Artists could show up and stay only a few hours if they wanted. They didn't have to pay anything. After two years, they began to jury."

New work is constantly being sought to keep the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair fresh and vital. This year 190 artists from 36 states were selected from 2,000 application entries. Ten University of Michigan student artists and 14 artists from the Ann Arbor Potters Guild will also exhibit.

"It's dependable quality because of the intense jurying system," said Froelich. "We look for cutting edge, an adventurousness from the applicants out there, but we also have some traditional crafts."

Each year the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair features demonstrating artists so that fairgoers might obtain first-hand knowledge of the process from concept to final product. This year, media include everything from oil painting and assem-

ARTIST PROFILE

Art stories: Richard Culling brings oil paintings featuring European street scenes and mysterious themes to the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair. His work is being exhibited throughout Michigan in "The New Regionalism," a survey of contemporary art by Michigan artists, which distinctly shows a regional spirit. The exhibition, curated by Michael Hall, originally was shown at the Detroit Artists Market last fall.

Streetscapes capture painter's imagination

Editor's Note: Each year the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers features local artists exhibiting in the Ann Arbor Art Fairs. This time we chose a painter who exemplifies the innovative and creative work going on in our area. See related story inside.

Richard Culling is a struggling artist. Seven days a week he works in his Livonia studio painting stories. European street scenes and Detroit construction themes tell of life and growth. Painted collages of surreal figures, animals and objects create mystery.

The richly colored oils represent two different avenues of work, but all tell a story. The European street scenes, completed in the last two months after a six-week trip to Belgium and England, are more obvious in intent. Collages, like "Wisdom and her Children," leave content to the viewer's imagination.

"I expect the street scenes to be better received because it's easier to like something you can relate to," said Culling. "I hope people will find them interesting. You can look at it a while without getting bored. And usually, if I find it interesting, other people will."

Culling looks through art history books for ideas. Rembrandt's dark palette is to his liking. In fact, the influence of several of the old masters shows in Culling's work: Raphael, Giotto, Da Vinci, Cezanne and Philip Guston. At one time or another, Culling has considered these artists the greatest of all time.

1989. The Redford resident will bring wood lathe-turned vessels to the State Street Area Art Fair — booth 633 on William between Thompson and Maynard.

Cole uses a variety of woods ranging from box elder to exotic African wenge and purple heart to create the elegant vessels in his studio called "Art from the Woods."

"I did better than any fair I've been in the last five years including those in Franklin, Royal Oak and Meadow Brook," said Cole. "It's an accomplishment for me to be in Ann Arbor. It's a pretty high prestige show to get in."

Ray Doan looks forward to exhibiting his scenic and wildlife photography in booth 240 of the Summer Art Fair. Doan exhibits in about 12 shows a year including Muskegon, Flint, Dearborn, Royal Oak and Art in the Park in Plymouth.

"I wanted to be in the Ann Arbor Art Fair because it's one of the best in the country, meaning it sells the most," said Doan, a retired General Motors engineer, who spends the summer in Livonia, winter in Florida.

Trips to Antarctica produced some of his most interesting and saleable scenes, but shooting polar bear in the Canadian Arctic and spending a month on a Russian icebreaker to photograph emperor penguin rookeries have proven fruitful as well.

The Ann Arbor Art Fair runs July 16-19.

dominate Culling's palette. Whether it's a group of tourists walking down a Belgian street or a Detroit building in progress, Culling loves color and uses it to draw the viewer's eye around the canvas. The purple light of the sky above a Moroccan beach echoes in fish perched below.

Architecture, and the construction of buildings, rather than the finished product, intrigues Culling. He finds the unusual interesting, but also everyday sights we take for granted. Little things like raindrops on a car windshield is what captures his eye. The impression they leave ends up in his paintings.

"That's what is cool about a painting," said Culling. "It's not like a photograph. It's puzzling."

Culling's paintings come slowly. He likes to build up the oil paint in layers. Some of his older paintings took one year to complete. It's hard to make a living by selling only a painting or two or year.

Through the years, Culling has worked as a hair stylist and a manager at a framing shop to support his painting habit and cover daily living expenses. It's not as if Culling was unable to support himself in any other way. He has a master of fine arts degree from the University of Michigan School of Art and has taught acrylic and oil painting at Paint Creek Center for the Arts in Rochester.

Several grants during the 1980s, including the Guggenheim Memorial Foundation Award for Painting and two Michigan Council for the Arts Creative Artist Grants, allowed Culling to devote himself totally to his art.

Culling began painting at age 18. He is now 46. Does he worry about how he will sell his work in the future?

Of course, but he'll get by. Culling has been selling his work at galleries for nearly two decades and most recently was represented by the Xochipilli Gallery in Birmingham until it closed. Making a living is definitely the reason behind showing his work in the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair.

"It's a way to show my art and to make contacts," said Culling. "I'm nervous because I've never done the fair before, and I'm not good at taking criticism. But after Ann Arbor, I'll know what sells."

If the works fail to sell in Ann Arbor, Culling is determined to do whatever it takes to continue painting his dream.

Culling's booth (A-167) can be found on East University at the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair.

blage to woodturning, silver casting, hand spinning and drawing.

Look for Birmingham artist Peter Gilleran, who will demonstrate drawing at 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. in booth A179 during the fair.

Families will enjoy visiting the free children's art activity center, run by art teachers from the Michigan Art Education Association, on Church Street (one-half block south of South University) operating 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday, July 16, to Saturday, July 19. A variety of performers will delight crowds on Church Street, north of South University, and at the intersection of South University and East University.

A very important part of the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair is the volunteer help necessary to staff the information booth and give artists a break during the fair. Volunteers are still needed. Call (313) 994-5260 to lend a hand.

State Street Area Art Fair

The State Street Area Association, which includes members from local businesses, began and continues to sponsor the State Street Art Fair, now in its 30th year. A nine panel jury selects contemporary and traditional art, including glass, painting, ceramics, photography, fiber and wood.

"It went from 30 artists in a tent on State Street to 285 artists on five streets," said Kathy Krick, fair director.

Fifteen years ago, a more sophisticated jury system initiated on-site judging. Two-thirds of the artists are invited back based on the points awarded by nine jurors during the fair. This year, 1,400 artists vied for the remaining 90 spaces.

"We have both cutting edge and real traditional art, and even the prices cover a whole range," said Krick. "What sets us apart is the fact we have 14 categories of art and a central location. You can't walk through the fair without going through the State Street area. That accounts for high sales. The artists do very well."

Entertainment stages are located throughout the fair and at Liberty Plaza on the corner of Division and Liberty.

Summer Art Fair

According to director Shary Brown, the Summer Art Fair was begun as a protest of sorts by a group of University of Michigan art students and Ann Arbor community artists as the Free Arts Festival. That early group of artists eventually became The Michigan Guild of Artists and Artisans, organizers of the Summer Art Fair.

"It was started because there wasn't space for all of the local artists to participate in the other two fairs," said Brown of the festival. "It was first come, first served, very casual. This was the early '70s. It was the heyday of the hippies. It was evocative of the time."

The 27th Summer Art Fair is the largest of the three fairs, boasting more than 540 artists who specialize in contemporary American art and fine crafts ranging from traditional baskets and pottery to gold and gemstone jewelry, sculpture, photography, fiber arts, toys and glass.

"I think that what makes the Ann Arbor Art Fairs so great is what the different fairs offer," said Brown. "The Summer Art Fair has a wide range from more traditional to very contemporary, challenging work."

The Imagination Station, a free art activity center for the family, is at Liberty and Fifth. Kids of all ages can create projects from beaded necklaces to fish kites and sun visors. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday to Friday, July 16-18, and until 5 p.m. Saturday, July 19.

Artists (from Michigan, Illinois and Ohio) will discuss their techniques and creative process while demonstrating ceramic tile making, silk painting, photography and wheel thrown pots in the tent near the corner of Main and Liberty Streets.

An eclectic mix of street performers from The Chenille Sisters to George Bedard and the Kingpins will entertain at the corner of Main and Liberty. The Guild teams up with WEMU (89.1 FM), Eastern Michigan University's public radio station, to present the performances scheduled 1-8 p.m. Wednesday through Friday, July 16-18, and 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, July 19. WEMU will broadcast all performances live to an eight-county area including Wayne and Oakland.

Trinity hosts arts conference

Trinity House Theatre's Arts Conference 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, July 26, features British theologian and philosopher John Peck who will explore issues of integration of faith and art with the Christian community.

Trinity House founder Paul Patton, executive director James Leach, and painter Patricia Groenenboom are also participating in the conference. Works by local artists will be shown.

The conference costs $25 in advance, or $30 at the door if seats are available. For reservations, call (313) 464-6302. Trinity House Theatre is at 38840 W. Six Mile in Livonia.

Also of note: Openings are still available for Trinity House Theatre's Summer Apprentice Program for kids 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday to Friday from July 28 to Aug. 15. Cost is $245 if paid by July 28, $270 if paid weekly. Deadline to register is Wednesday, July 16. For more information about the apprentice program, call (313) 538-5973.

Peck is founder of Greenbelt, a Christian arts festival in England which draws more than 20,000 persons annually, and a participant in the International Christian Artists Seminar in Holland. He will discuss art in the service of the kingdom of God and making a Christian critique of a work of art. Patton will speak on the idolatry of celebrity. He is the winner of two national playwriting awards and a National Religious Broadcasters award for a radio script. Groenenboom will join other speakers in a panel discussion of artistic integrity.

FINE ARTS

Deadline pays dividends for Birmingham printmaker

BY FRANK PROVENZANO
STAFF WRITER

Marianne Hall gave herself a deadline.

She figured it was a good way to say bye-bye to endlessly mundane distractions. "Later" to whatever got in the way from climbing the steep three-floors on her way to her studio in southeast Pontiac.

So she filled in an application, put several slides of her exquisitely earthy printmaking in an envelope, and sent them for consideration by the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair jury.

And then, like most artists anticipating judgment on their work, she waited and rationalized.

"In the summertime, sometimes I'm content just looking at the backyard," said Hall with typical understatement.

But this week, Hall will have to set aside watching the grass grow, and the long list of chores that need to be done, before she sells her house.

From more than 2,000 entries from around the country, Hall of Birmingham is only one of 94 artists selected for the original Ann Arbor Street Art Fair — one of three concurrent street exhibits.

It's Hall's first appearance at the southeastern Michigan art fair extravaganza, considered one of the top three outdoor shows in the country in terms of attendance, amount of purchases, and number of widely respected artists.

In contrast to the modest attendance at her recent exhibits at the Ann Arbor Art Center, Oakland Community College and Paint Creek Center for the Arts, Hall should expect a human wave of shoppers of all stripes to pour by her artful tent.

"For some artists, there's a stigma for being an 'art-fair artist' rather than being in a gallery," she said. "But I'm really excited about going to Ann Arbor."

Friends and relatives have agreed to help out with the grueling schedule of four 14-hour days of setting up, standing guard and making sales at the tent.

But another deadline hovers before Hall sets up a tent along University Street in downtown Ann Arbor.

Right up until this Wednesday's art fair opening, Hall will be busily assembling frames to complement her organic, simple and direct shapes inspired by primitive African art and a desire for spiritual wholeness. Most recently, Hall has moved away from abstract forms and captured the sensuous shapes of the human figure.

Yet for someone with a steady hand, clear vision and a demonstrative talent as a sculptor and painter, Hall appears less than confident about the broad appeal of her art. "I know only a few people will stop and really look," she said.

But these days, that's ok. There was a time when being an artist was only a hope that she kept to herself.

Quick to laugh with a self-deprecating wit, Hall often resorts to understatement as a defense against obtrusive criticism. Her vulnerability is a two-edge sword: it helps her remain sensitive to create art, but sometimes fuels her anxiety about the possibilities of her work being shown at galleries. "One gallery told me to come back when my work was about something," she said.

Since an early age she remembers wanting to be an artist, but being told that "it wasn't practical." Despite winning art awards throughout junior high and high school, Hall found little encouragement.

After her first marriage ended when she was in her mid 20s, Hall enrolled in Wayne State University's fiber program. At the time, she was weaving, sewing and working as a grocery store checker to support herself and young son.

After exploring photography, painting and sculpture, Hall settled on printmaking. "I'm a tactile person," she said. "I love earthiness. I must have been a grave digger in a past life."

Hall noted two of her four siblings are also artists. "Maybe being an artist is in my family after all," she said. "My mother's parents were tailors. My parents were sort of frustrated artists. My mother was a quilt maker, and my father built book shelves and was a handyman."

With current husband Erik Thorsrud, Hall has traveled extensively to Asia and Europe, collecting various materials along the way. Hall used an extremely fine paper from Korea in "Gaia's Scream," a quilt-like assemblage of provocative images of ecological degradation with the accompanying phrase "What will we do?"

While for the most part, Hall's art is intensely personal, there are signs that she's expanding her printmaking repertoire. "I want to remove the borders on my current work," she said. "That would be a new freedom."

Last year, Hall joined a contingent of local artists who've migrated to Pontiac where they've found affordable studio space, camaraderie and a burgeoning art gallery scene. Hall shares her well-lit studio in the St. Frederick's School building with acclaimed printmaker Helen Febbo, an instructor at the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association.

At 46 — having undergone a "spiritual awakening" when she turned 40 — Hall has a newfound passion for life and a deep faith in the philosophy that the rest of your life begins today. Perhaps that's why for Hall, the trek up those steep three flights of stairs to her studio never looked so inviting.

Deadline pressure? Think again.

BOOKS

True story really wild

How It Was With Doms
By Xan Hopcraft and Carol Cawthra Hopcraft
(Margaret K. McElderry Books, 1997, $19.95)
BY ESTHER LITTMANN
SPECIAL WRITER

ESTHER LITTMANN

Imagine having a grown leopard as your companion. Picture lying on his flank or strolling by his side. That's what Xan Hopcraft experienced, the 12-year-old co-author of a children's book, "How It Was With Doms."

Just before Xan was born in Kenya, Africa, his parents adopted a tiny leopard cub, no bigger than a kitten. They fed it cow's milk laced with vitamins and raw eggs and protected the cub from disease by keeping it at home.

After 3 months, Doms (a nickname for small boy cheetah) lived outdoors and slowly learned to hunt for his own food.

CAROL CAWTHRA HOPCRAFT

Cuddly companion: Xan Hopcraft remembers his friend Doms, a leopard, in "How It Was With Doms."

But he never strayed far from the Hopcraft farm, providing the family with entertainment, companionship, beauty, and insight into the mysterious world of the animal kingdom.

When Doms died at the age of 7, the Hopcrafts' loss was so great that Xan and his mother, Carol Cawthra Hopcraft, decided to collaborate on a book that memorialized their pet's special attributes and adventures. The outcome is "How It Was With Doms," written from a young person's perspective and illustrated with Xan's drawings and Carol Hopcraft's colorful wildlife photographs.

This true story of a wild animal and his intimate, loving relationship with a human family, will be enjoyed by children and adults alike.

Meet Xan and Carol Hopcraft at Barnes and Noble on Telegraph Rd. in Birmingham 11 a.m. Saturday, July 19, during Children's Story Hour (810) 640-4209.

Esther Littmann is a resident of Bloomfield Township. She is a private tutor with Una Dworkin and Associates. You can leave her a message from a touch-tone phone at (313) 953-2047, mailbox number 1893.

TRAVEL

Business trip to South Africa is an eye opener

BY RICHARD BOBOSKY
SPECIAL WRITER

I left Detroit Metro flying into New York at JFK with a connecting flight to SAA (South African Airlines).

A little nervous as I tend to be when flying, maybe it's just a fear of the unknown, or just being away from what is comfortable for me. I was eager to see South Africa and meet the people, as I have done in South America and in the Middle East. I always try to see the similarities and the differences to Michigan.

I had a 14 hour flight ahead of me with a single stop for 40 minutes in the Cape Verde islands. With a six hour time difference and the long flight, I knew this could turn out to be a grueling trip. But I was optimistic that seeing the African continent for the first time was going to be interesting. Flying corporate business class made the trip much more enjoyable.

Seven hours after Cape Verde, we were over South Africa. The temperature was 68 degrees and it had been rainy and overcast. The houses below were similar to a farm community. The pilot told us that the winter season in South Africa was approaching. I thought if the 60s was winter, bring it on.

Here I was in Africa, so where are the lions, elephants, Tarzan. The jungle I stepped into was a sea of people holding up signs with names on them for airport pickup services. I eventually found the person who was supposed to pick me up and I was on my way. Back to the jungle, I got out into the parking lot and things look like any other sea of asphalt parking lot at a large airport in the United States. Except they were driving from the passenger side of the car and on the "wrong" side of the road. I arrived at my hotel a little confused about which side of the road was which, but I made it just the same.

My hotel was in Sandton City, a suburb of Johannesburg. The Sandton City mall across the street from my hotel is said to house the greatest concentration of wealth in Africa. I stayed at the Holiday Inn Garden Court for $80 a night. The currency is the Rand with an exchange rate of 3.89 to 4.45 depending on where you exchange your money.

The business I was working at was in a small town to the south and east of Johannesburg called Germiston. The town appeared to be what I would consider blue collar, a working man's town. Germiston has a lot of auto-related businesses.

On the way to the dealer, we passed what appeared to be a camp of some kind, smoke rising up from wooden shacks made of everything from old street signs and billboards to bricks and sheet metal. The people at this squatters camp, mostly women, were gathering water at a well at the entrance and carrying pails and containers on their heads filled with water back to these makeshift homes. I wanted to get out and take pictures but I was advised not to by my co-worker who had been living there all his life. He said crime was an issue. People are flocking to build these camps on vacant land because they have come here from neighboring countries and have no place to live and cannot afford rent. The squatters camp was near a gold mine.

Local news accounts show a large increase in violent crimes like car hijackings and rape. The police seem to be non-existent. I personally didn't feel unsafe or threatened.

The overall infrastructure seemed intact and the roads and buildings are nice. The food at the restaurants was good.

Mass transit can be a problem in Johannesburg. The taxi drivers have small vehicles, so there is a market for vans or combies as they are called.

On the weekend, I couldn't work, so I finally got a chance to see the real jungle. I caught a tour bus to the Pilanesburg National Park. It cost 450 Rand (about $90), a bit pricey but it included lunch and included Sun City and the Palace Hotel. Pilanesburg in South Africa's third largest park, nestled in the crater of an extinct volcano with a sprawling 338,540 acres stocked with 7,000 animals. This park has what is known as the "big five," lion, elephant, rhino, buffalo and leopard. On our "safari" we only saw three: rhino, elephant and buffalo. The following day I got to see the lions at a

The disappointing thing is you can't see the elephants up close, but the tour guides were very knowledgeable.

Sun City wants to be the Vegas of South Africa. The Palace of the Lost City Hotel is a fantasy hotel that cost 5,000 Rand a night. You can have your own floor wings that accommodate you and your guests. The Desert suite even comes complete with sand. The hotel grounds are the ultimate in excess, everything used to build this $250 million structure was made in South Africa by 5,000 workers that worked around the clock for 19 months to build it. The elephant courtyard has tables and chairs with elephant heads and tusks and pictures of elephants everywhere. The hotel also has wave pools, a 24 hour casino and a volcano bridge.

The last place I planned to visit was downtown Johannesburg. My taxi driver, a Russian, thought I was a nut case for wanting to go downtown. His name was Boris and had been an engineer in the building trades in Russia and came to South Africa when he married a South African woman in 1990.

Boris told me he was armed and would take me to Alexandra where there was a squatter camp near the downtown. He said he felt things could erupt in South Africa if changes aren't made.

As we cruised the streets, we saw people selling drugs, shoes, whatever you wanted to buy. When the Mercedes taxi rounded a corner, people would spring to their feet and whistle to us as we passed. Much of the commercial trade has move to the suburbs. The banks remain but many people are forced to barricade themselves in order to survive.

This situation is not different from any big city in the United States or other cities in the world I have seen. The crime is an issue but laws can change and I think if you walk with a purpose and be careful and smart you can avoid most problems.

The people in South Africa must get involved to make change, find something that works for everyone. I think South Africa has so much to see and do, it was a great opportunity for me to see and I would love to go back and take my family on vacation. Maybe next time I can see Cape Town.

Park view: The rugged landscape of South Africa's Pilanesburg National Park is a contrast to the crowded cities.

HOLLY FESTIVAL

Holly, Mich., is the location for the fourth annual Seven Lakes State Park Balloon Race, July 18-20. Seven Lakes State Park, host of the yearly event, is accessible one hour from Detroit and 15 minutes from Flint. A Michigan State Park Motor Vehicle Permit is all that is required for entry. Featured at the event are the daytime activities at the park of swimming, hiking, biking, fishing and just plain relaxing.

Michigan Balloon Corp., coordinator of the event, plans to offer tethered balloon rides at approximately 7-9 p.m. each evening. The tethered rides take passengers up approximately 50-100 feet in the air and back again. For those interested in actually taking flight, Champagne Hot Air Balloon Flights are available. Mass ascension of the balloons takes place at 7 p.m. each evening.

U.S. archery update

The entries keep pouring in.

The National Archery Association of the U.S. received 13 registrations from the Mexican Archery Federation to compete in the 113th U.S. National Target Championships Aug. 3-8 in Canton.

Among the four women and nine men on the Mexican team are 1996 Olympians Marisol Breton and Andres Anchondo.

Scheduled to appear for the U.S. men is Justin Huish, a double-gold medalist at the '96 Olympics and currently ranked ninth; Butch Johnson, ranked 16th; and Rod White, No. 38, will compete.

Huish, Johnson and White, the same team that won the gold medal at last year's Olympics, won gold again at the Moscow Grand Prix Archery Tournament, held July 1-6 in Moscow.

Mariner prospect

Scheffer starts to blossom after 4 years in minors

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

He's situated in the desert. It's a hitters paradise of sorts.

But Westland John Glenn High product Aaron Scheffer, a pitcher with the Lancaster JetHawks of the Class A California League, seems to be able to adapt to the unusual climate and the tough conditions.

"Oh, God, it gets hot here," the 21-year-old Scheffer said. "It's about 102 (degrees) right now."

That's the morning temperature reading in Lancaster, a city of 97,000 located 30 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

The 6-foot-2, 205-pound Scheffers, now in his fourth season in the minors, has quietly worked his way up to the Seattle Mariners' top Class A club. He is only two rungs away from making top of the Major League ladder.

Scheffer is progressing nicely, an 8-2 record (with three saves) and a team-high 74 strikeouts in 62 innings. He's settled in as a middle reliever and closer.

But his earned run average hovers around 6.00, not good by usual baseball standards.

There's a catch, however.

"The wind blows out every single night, you don't worry about ERA," Scheffer said. "This park is so tough to pitch in. It has the highest run production in professional baseball, even higher than Coors Field (in the high altitude of Denver, Colo.)."

JetHawks' pitching coach Jim Slaton, who Tiger fans may remember in 1978 and 1986, can attest to the conditions. He grew up in Lancaster.

"There's the low desert, which is Palm Springs, and then there's the high desert where I'm at," Slaton said. "The wind blows out quite a bit."

"Usually you'll see seven home runs a game. We were down once 17-7 in the eighth inning and came back and scored 12 runs. We ended up winning 20-17."

"It's tough to evaluate pitcher. They give up seven runs, but usually two or three homers are wind-blown. That makes it tough. I have to point that out when I'm sending out my scouting reports.

JetHawks' reliever: Aaron Scheffer, who prepped at Westland John Glenn, is 8-2 with the Class A Lancaster (Calif.) JetHawks.

"It does, though, teach you to pitch down in the strike zone."

Slaton says Scheffer, who relies on a slider, fastball and change-up, averages in the neighborhood of 88 MPH.

"He's right in the Big League average and he'll top out at 91," said Slaton, who pitched in the Majors for 15 seasons. "Aaron is well over 200 pounds and a good-sized kid. He's a three-pitch pitcher."

"He has an average fastball, but when he throws it right, he has good movement."

Scheffer was tried as a starter coming out of spring training, but felt more comfortable coming out of the bullpen.

"Whenever I'm needed," Scheffer said. "I usually pitch in the closer games."

"My slider is my out-pitch. I just have more confidence in it. I've been able to develop a pretty good change-up. But I need to establish my fastball a little more and try and be more consistent around the plate — hit the spots more."

Slaton, who coached last season for the Chicago Cubs' farm club, Daytona Beach of the Florida State League, likes what he sees in Scheffer.

"Aaron's a very good competitor, he wants the ball," the pitching coach said. "He enjoys pitching and he wants to learn. Sometimes he gets frustrated and loses his composure, but the more experience he gets, and if he keeps working hard, the better he'll get. He's still young. And if he keeps his head on straight, he's got a chance to pitch in the Majors."

The JetHawks finished 33-37 during the first half and have started out 13-7 (as of Thursday). The team, with a brand new stadium, ranks second in the California League in attendance, averaging almost 4,000 per game.

The JetHawks are managed by former Boston Red Sox shortstop Rick Burleson.

"He likes to win," Scheffer said. "He's a competitor, for sure. He gets very upset when we lose."

Scheffer, who has made minor league stops in Arizona, Washington and Wisconsin, is adjusting to the California lifestyle.

"The people are a little bit different," he said. "It's like a suburb. It's kind of dull here. We do some promotional things like signing autographs in front of the ballpark."

"On my free time I'll go to Manhattan Beach. The bus rides aren't bad. It's a commuter league, one hour trips for the most part. All

Pick of litter: Blame those muffs on that unlucky cat

I'd be the last guy to say I was superstitious.

Sparky Anderson never stepped on a chalked line.

And you know what they say about black cats.

Maybe that's why if I had my pick of the litter, I'll take a dog anytime.

Plus, I'm allergic to cats.

Where is all this leading?

After a sound eight-hour (plus) sleep the other day, I contorted out of my rack Thursday morning, opened my bedroom door, only to be greeted by a black cat, perched at my feet.

I know this stray culprit. He sneaks around my condominium complex day and night. He'll jump on the hood of your car, jump in your trunk or slide through your front door when you're not paying attention.

He's harmless, of course.

Once I made my move, he was out my front door in a hurry. I wasn't in the mood to offer him some two percent milk.

Do black cats, indeed, bring bad luck?

Now, but I had to wonder.

Voice mail at the office is good and bad.

It weeds out the bad calls, but it sometimes misses the good ones.

I made a couple big goofs in Thursday's paper, maybe not as severe as a headline my former boss, a good-hearted and quality journalist, once wrote: "Suicide victim in serious condition."

But after nearly 19 years on the sports beat, I've learned once you make a mistake, you're going to hear about it.

It's been awhile since I was called "an idiot." The caller, however, failed to leave his name and phone number.

Seems I drew somebody's ire from Clarenceville High School.

No excuse, I made a Cardinal sin in a story about the new Clarenceville athletic director Harold Makinen. I had written that David Kamish, who retired last year, was still the superintendent of Clarenceville schools. Of course, I knew better. It was Tom Tattan, the guy who discussed a joint assistant principal/athletic director position before Leo Kinsella's retirement.

Why did I think Kamish was still in charge? The 1996-97 Michigan High School Athletic Association School Directory said so. (How about a bit part in the movie "Dumb and Dumber," Brad?)

But as far as this guy was concerned, I committed an aggravated assault on his school. He went into a tirade about my lack of knowledge or concern about Clarenceville, going as far to say he was going to start a petition drive to get me off their sports beat.

And if that wasn't bad enough, another lady informed me by voice mail that I had omitted her son's name as a member of the Region II champion Birmingham Blazers, which has qualified in the under-16 age division for the U.S. Youth Soccer Association Nationals later this month in Phoenix, Ariz.

She did leave her name and phone number and I called her back Friday. She was very nice. I apologized and said I would run a correction, even though it was an inadvertent omission my part (isn't that what referees say when they make a bad call?).

Like the Clarenceville faux pas, it was nothing intentional, nothing personal.

I'd like to blame that black cat for my mistakes.

Perhaps my vacation couldn't come at a better time.

intensity," said Alexander of Roy. "He'll give us what we need: He'll clog up the middle. I figure he'll improve our defense 30 percent."

With only two contributors gone from last year's squad — keeper Mike Schroeder and forward Jason Stempien — it won't be easy to find playing time for newcomers. Roy, however, figures to get his minutes, said Alexander.

"He'll probably step in and play 90 minutes a game," the Madonna coach said, figuring Roy will be either a stopper or a defensive midfielder.

Roy isn't the only defensive stalwart the Crusaders are bringing in. There's Jim Misajlovich, another Stevenson grad who figures to be a marking back. "He's a solid defender," said Alexander.

Then there's Jeremy Gunden, a transfer from Goshen (Ind.) University who will play sweeper or some other defensive position. Gunden, whose hometown is outside Toledo, has sophomore eligibility.

To help fill the spot vacated by Schroeder's graduation, Alexander signed Robert Euashka, from Grosse Pointe South. With two other experienced keepers returning, however (David Hart and Mark Zathey), Alexander figures Euashka to probably be a back-up this season.

The defense will be strengthened further by the addition of two players with sophomore status. Jason Haziński, from Redford Thurston, started at sweeper two years ago but sat out last season for disciplinary

Alexander adds more depth, help on defense

Last season, Madonna University was an offense to soccer in the NAIA.

This fall, the Fighting Crusaders plan to add defense and depth to their list of attributes.

Not that they were all that bad in 1996. When a team goes 14-4, it must have a lot of good stuff going for it.

Offensively, Madonna did. The team ranked fourth nationally in the NAIA in goals scored per game (4.12 average).

But there were some defensive problems, particularly when injuries and other problems set in. It showed in the Crusaders' 6-4 loss in the NAIA Sectional final.

Coach Pete Alexander, who has virtually been Madonna's only coach in its three-year history, has done some aggressive recruiting to rectify his team's shortcomings.

And it's paid off.

"I wanted to have a team that could compete for a national title within five years," said Alexander. This team appears strong enough to approach that level: "We'll be a much better team than we were last year."

The top Madonna recruit, according to Alexander, is defender Jason Roy, who helped guide Livonia Stevenson to the Class A state title last November.

METRO LEAGUE

Tied in knots
Broncos, Wildcats settle for deadlock

In a battle waged throughout all three periods, it seemed only fitting that Thursday's Metro Summer Hockey League game between the Broncos and the Wildcats end in a 3-3 tie at Plymouth Ice Arena.

Both teams had leads, with the Broncos up 1-0 on a goal by Ben Blackwood after one period before falling behind 2-1 late in the second. Scores by Chris Scaglione (Beverly Hills) and, with 2:42 left in the period, David Guidi put the Wildcats in front.

The Broncos retied it at 2-2, however, before the second period ended when Tad Patterson (from Canton) scored 30 seconds after Guidi's goal.

Jason Cannon gave the Broncos a 3-2 lead with 11:50 left in the third, but the 'Cats fought back again to knot it at 3-3 on Greg George's goal with 8:50 left.

Scaglione and George each had a goal and an assist for the Wildcats. Cannon had a goal and an assist for the Broncos.

John Trainor (Canton) and Casey Ostig (Troy) split time in goal for the Broncos; Brian Gray and Larry Jesue were in the nets for the Wildcats.

The tie was the first this season in the MSHL.

•WOLVERINES 9, SPARTANS 5: On Wednesday at Plymouth, seven different players scored goals for the Wolverines as they pulled away to the victory over the Spartans.

Jay Storm led the Wolves with two goals and three assists. Abran Smith (Redford) added two goals and an assist, and Michael Murphy got a goal and four assists.

Keith Pietila and Jim Pietila each had a goal and two assists, and Jake Heikkinen and Tom Balamucki each scored goals. Tom Kastamo and John Fontana (Livonia) got two assists apiece.

For the Spartans, Kirk Gurney scored twice, Bobby Davis had a goal and two assists, and both Ryan Gauthier (Canton) and Ryan Davis got a goal and an assist. Chris Hassett had two assists.

Art Baker and Jim Sexsmith split time in goal for the Wolverines; Gary Rye was in the net all the way for the Spartans.

•LAKERS 16, BULLDOGS 4: This MSHL game, played Wednesday at Plymouth, was over quickly.

The Lakers built an 8-0 lead before the 'Dogs' Chris Smith scored in the last minute of the first period. The gap grew to 11-1 late in the second period, as six Lakers scored two or more goals.

Leading the Lakers' point parade were Jason Couture, with four goals and two assists, and Troy Taylor, with three goals and five assists. Bill Tucker added three goals and an assist, and Eric Evans and Scott Kale had two goals and an assist each. Darin Evans also scored twice.

Jay Vancik (West Bloomfield) added four assists, Chris Yockey and Chris Chaka chipped in with three assists apiece, and Jason Larys, Mike Klingner (Southfield) and Mike Chaka each had two.

Mike Noel got a goal and two assists for the 'Dogs. Smith had a goal and an assist, and Jeff Posuniak (Westland) and Rocky Molinaro both scored goals.

Rick Marnon (Canton) was in goal all the way for the Lakers; Bob Harrison was in the net the entire game for the 'Dogs.

Livonia Travel eyes league title

Livonia Travel, a 16-year-old Mickey Mantle team in the Little Caesars Amateur Baseball Federation, earned a runner-up finish in the Firecracker Classic held Fourth of July weekend in Sterling Heights.

Livonia Travel lost to the Kentucky Colonels, coached by ex-Detroit Tiger pitcher Walt Terrell, in the championship final, 6-4.

In the semifinals, Livonia Travel downed the Steele's Michigan Tigers, 7-4, as Jon Ritzler (Livonia Stevenson) pitched a complete game.

In round-robin action, Livonia downed the Oakland County Mariners, Michigan Indianas, Madison Heights Black Sox, Macomb County Baseball and played to a 3-3 tie with Cincinnati Towne Properties (halted by a curfew).

Five players were named to the all-tournament team from Livonia Travel including Roy Rabe (Stevenson), who was 10 for 21 at the plate; Casey Rogowski (Redford Catholic Central), eight for 22; Bob Malek (Redford CC), nine for 23; Dale Hayes (Westland John Glenn), eight for 20; and Ritzler.

Livonia Travel enters its final week of league play tied for first place in the Open Division of Little Caesars with a 16-2 record.

"We are positioned right where we want to be for the last week of the season," Livonia Travel coach Bill Rabe said. "Our guys have done an outstanding job. The coaching staff marvels at their commitment to the game. We have played 40 games in 36 days with no time off after their high school season. Every day they come to play."

The pitching staff has been led by Hayes (6-0), Rabe (8-2), Ritzler (5-3) and Derek Fox of Farmington (5-1).

The team hitters have been 6-foot-4, 255-pound first baseman Mike Fisher (Farmington Hills Harrison), who is batting .515 with seven homers; Malek, .411; Rogowski, .400; and Rabe, .397.

The catching duties have been split between Chris Woodruff (Redford CC) and Brandon Gajda (Stevenson).

Livonia Travel (35-5 overall) wraps up its regular season this week with three games — 6 p.m. Monday vs. Plymouth Canton; 8:30 p.m. Tuesday vs. Detroit PAL — both at Livonia's Ford Field; and Thursday vs. Team Michigan (site to be determined).

SANDLOT BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Livonia Adray wins, 8-5

This must have been what Livonia Adray coach John Moraitis had in mind when he picked his team.

Adray, playing with its entire roster for the first time since opening day, beat the Windsor Selects, 8-5, on Wednesday in an Adray Metro Baseball Association game at Livonia's Ford Field.

Unfortunately for Moraitis, he doesn't expect the perfect attendance to last.

At least he hasn't had any forfeits like a few years ago.

"They've got dates, do this, do that," Moraitis said. "They've got obligations besides baseball. In general, it's been better than three years ago when I had two forfeits."

The win improved Adray to 8-13 overall for 16 points, six behind first-place Michigan Lake Area Rams in the Collegiate Division. What makes the deficit harder to overcome is the Rams (11-7) have played three fewer games than Adray.

Moraitis is hoping there is still time to catch the Rams whom Adray has beaten twice already.

"Their top four guys really hit the ball," Moraitis said. "We've got to play them again and other teams can beat them. I beat them twice."

The Selects jumped to a 5-0 lead after 1 1/2 innings before being stalled by Adray relief pitcher Nick Neuman, who earned his first win.

Starter Sean Harrington allowed three runs on five hits in one inning. Neuman earned his first win by scattering five hits and walking six while striking out seven.

Adray collected 11 hits, including two each by Bill Kish and Kish and Wozniak also had two RBI apiece.

Adray scored six runs in the second and one in the third.

In the second, Kish hit a home run following a walk to Aaron Cagnon to cut the deficit to 5-2. Aaron Racey doubled and Wozniak singled to make the score 5-3.

Following a single by Tony Dattilio, Justin Ishbia contributed a two-run single to tie the score. Kevin Uzarski scored the eventual winning run after receiving a walk and making his way around the bases on a stolen base, ground out and wild pitch.

In the third, Jason Steucher singled, went to second on a throwing error and scored on Wozniak's single.

In other action:

•RAMS 10, STARS 7: Wednesday's game at Windsor's Mic-Mac Park looked errily like the last time the Rams played there.

Then came Jason Hoorn to the rescue.

Hoorn came in to get the last out with the tying run at the plate and two runners on base in the bottom of the seventh inning, allowing the Rams to escape with a three-run victory.

Until Hoorn's appearance, the game was looking a lot like the game played on June 30 when the Windsor Selects rallied for a 12-11 victory with six runs in their last at-bats.

Rams' starter Tom Willerer allowed only one hit through four innings. He was removed, however, because he had reached his pitch limit after pitching long in relief a few days earlier.

The Stars mounted a comeback against Rams' relievers Johnny Rogers and Rickey Miller, before Hoorn came in to get the final out.

Rogers allowed five runs on two hits and four walks. Miller gave up two runs on four hits and three walks.

Schuyler Doakes (who else?) led the Rams with four hits, all singles, and four runs scored. He also was hit by a pitch to reach base.

Greg Rogers (Redford/Catholic Central/Oakland University) was 2-for-3 with three runs scored, an RBI and stolen base.

Brian Issitt was 2-for-3, both hits being doubles, with five RBI. He also had a sacrifice fly.

Eric Pierce was 1-3 with two runs scored and he also started a double play that he turned with Rogers, the shortstop.

Bob Hamp had an RBI on a groundout.

the teams are in California. You get to go home and sleep in your own bed a lot, which makes it nice."

His daily routine consists of waking up (mid-morning), working out in the weight room, arriving at the park around 2 or 3 p.m., stretching and running (usually 10 laps around the park) before getting ready for the ballgame. Scheffer also gets to take batting practice with the rest of the pitching staff on occasion.

"I just try to get better each day," Scheffer said. "I'd like to go to (Class) AA next year, but I can't control that. I'm still young. I think they like what I've got. I have to be patient."

The 140-game season, which does take a toll on the body, ends Aug. 31.

He looks forward to returning home to be with his mother (Sue), his father (Larry) and older brothers Lawrence, a former baseball standout at the University of Detroit Mercy; and Chris, who played football at Central Michigan; not to mention his girlfriend Alissa Enriquez, a Glenn grad as well and a student at the University of Michigan.

"I definitely miss my family, my brothers and my friends," he said. "But I don't mind it. Being away the first year (in the minors) was the toughest, but now I'm adjusting to it."

SENIOR OLYMPIC RESULTS

Area athletes bring home gold

Nearly 1,000 athletes participated in the 18th Michigan Senior Olympics Games, held June 24 in Frankenmuth.

This was the third year the event has had a dramatic increase in participation.

"The games were wonderful and the Frankenmuth Local Organizing Committee deserve a lot of credit for putting on such a well-organized game in their first year," MSO Board Chairperson Marye Miller said. "Everyone had a great time."

The turnout for next year's games, which will be a qualifier for the 1999 National Senior Games, should easily surpass 1,000, according to MSO Director Bill Sharpe. The Senior Games will be held in Walt Disney's new sports complex in Orlando, Fla.

This year's turnout at the MSO was larger than any previous non-qualifying year.

"We expect to see a steady increase in games participation," Sharpe said. "Next year is a national qualifying year, if the trend continues at the current rate we could see 1,350 to 1,400 participants in 1998. Some are predicting over 1,500."

A few rain showers interfered with the Games but they did not dampen the enthusiasm or competitive spirit of the athletes, according to Sharpe.

Following is a list of Observer-land participants and where they finished in their age group at the MSO:

1996. "I told them right after the season I had other things to do," Denison said Friday. "I needed to spend more time with my family and maybe it was best I take a couple of years off. Coaching was a hobby of mine, but I had a lot of sleepless nights and anxieties. I thought it was best to let it go at this time."

Denison teaches at Howard Elementary School in Dearborn.

"I had a problem getting out of school before 4 p.m. and it wasn't right for the girls to wait that long for practice to start," Denison said. "I got discouraged. I don't like to quit on a situation like this. It was tough being patient."

"I have a lot to learn. Maybe by watching and being an assistant in a good program would have been of benefit to me."

Word has it that Joel Lloyd, who was Chuck Henry's assistant for the Wayne Memorial boys basketball program, has been running the summer girls program at Glenn.

It seems to be the logical choice.

I would be remiss in saying that Denison was a good man who called in his scores faithfully, win or lose. He handled things with class, even in defeat.

*Guess who's back in coaching?

"Mac" is back!

Jim McIntyre, the longtime Livonia Stevenson High boys who retired two years ago, has surfaced as the varsity boys basketball coach at Hartland (where he resides).

Wonder if Hartland will now officially become an adjunct member of the Western Lakes Activities Association?

*I've found out recently that former Schoolcraft College All-American and former Baylor University standout Carlos Briggs will be interviewed Monday for the vacant men's basketball job.

Briggs, who earned his degree at Baylor and played professionally in the Philippines, is coaching and teaching at a high school in Waxahachie, Tex. (located just south of Dallas).

Is Schoolcraft finally ready to make a financial commitment to men's basketball, Mr. (Conway) Jeffress?

Let's hope so.

reasons. "He's matured," said Alexander. "We're excited to have him back. He's got to come in and win a job, though."

The other defensive addition is transfer Mark Garrett, who played in high school at Plymouth Christian Academy. Garrett will be a help on both defense and in the midfield.

Other veterans Alexander will have returning after missing significant portions of last season due to illness and injury are midfielder Charlie Bell and sweeper Keith Gniewek (Plymouth Canton). Bell broke a toe and it got infected; he had to undergo several operations and ended up with a medical redshirt for last season.

Gniewek, whose natural position is marking defender, moved to sweeper to fill the void created by Hazinski's loss. He started until late in the season, when he was sidelined by mononucleosis.

Additions in the midfield and at forward are Iffi Amene, a transfer from University of Detroit Mercy who never played there; Scott Roberts, a transfer from NCAA Division III power Calvin College; Kevin Gniewek, Keith's younger brother from Plymouth Canton; Derrick Myers, from Vicksburg; Perry Smallwood, from Lakeland HS; and Zach Wilkinson, from Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard.

Even with most of the offense returning, Alexander added some top-notch talent in Amene, Roberts and Gniewek. Amene is from Nigeria and is "unbelievably fast," the Madonna coach said. "He will be a forward. He's a very direct player, he likes open space. He'll be a long-ball threat."

Roberts, who will have sophomore status, can play either forward or as an offensive midfielder. "He's a goal-scorer, he can put the ball in the back of the net," said Alexander.

Gniewek played on Alexander's club team and has the ability to play forward or midfield, too. "He's going to play," promised the Madonna coach.

When, however, is another question. "We didn't lose a lot in our goal-scoring ability, and we were fourth in the nation," he pointed out.

Myers and Smallwood are in a similar position; they'll have to earn their minutes. Wilkinson, a midfielder, "is probably one of the most skilled players we have coming in. He gets the job done. He has an unbelievable touch on the ball."

"I don't know if he can crack the starting lineup. I'm not sure anyone can but Jason (Roy). But he'll play."

Alexander's roster at present numbers 27, and there are two others that may transfer in. So Alexander won't be hurting for depth.

"We had a great recruiting year, I think," he summarized. "Things are starting to happen for us. We'll just have to see if we can improve on what we've done."

Finesse captures Smokey Baker tourney

The tournament championships keep coming for the Finesse 14-under girls softball team, and none were any more impressive than the one over Fourth of July weekend.

Finesse won its fifth-straight tournament, the Smokey Baker All-American National Invitational Tournament, the second-largest in the country. The only tournament that carries more prestige is the United States Slow-pitch Softball Association National World Series held later this month.

Finesse was the only team of 65 in five age divisions to go through the Smokey Baker Tournament without a loss.

mention.

Finesse, now undefeated in 21 tournament games, won four games by a combined score of 69-15.

Kilburn led Finesse with a .733 batting average (11-for-15) with eight RBI.

She had two home runs. Kovacs was 10-14 for a .714 average and Massey, who batted .615 (8-13) led with 12 RBI. Spencer batted .643 (9-14) with a team-high three homers.

Team members also included Amanda Kinney, Melanie Stack, Jennifer Stone, Danielle Dickinson, Angela Bako, Crystal Little, Rachel Elbon, Amy Paling, Jodi Reed, Heather Duff, Andrea McMillan and Julie Stoll.

Finesse played last weekend at the state tournament in Rochester Hills. Finesse was state champion in three of the last four seasons.

Knights sweep pair

Kristin Derwick, Christine Fones, Jenny Stralko and Adrienne Doyle each collected two hits as the Livonia Knights won the first game, 11-1, en route double-header sweep Thursday of the Plymouth Commanders in Incredible Girls Fastpitch League action at Churchill High School.

Stralko's three-run double in the first sparked the win.

Doyle, the winning pitcher, struck out five, allowed just two hits and did not walk a Commander in five innings.

The Knights also won the nightcap, 15-0, as Anne Fenne, Fones and Aubrey Gularski each knocked in a pair of runs.

Sarah Hennessey also went 2-for-3 with a double.

Doyle and Gularski combined on a one-hitter in the second game.

The Knights are 7-2 overall.

The Livonia Lasers and the Walled Lake Braves split a double-header in the Incredible Girls Fastpitch Softball League Thursday at Franklin High School.

The Lasers won the opener, 12-4, as Kelly Young, Andrea Kmet and Jackie Ziem each had RBI singles.

Winning pitcher Lori Jendrusik worked the first three innings. She struck out eight, walked one and allowed just one run on one hit. Kmet finished up.

In the nightcap, the Braves defeated the Lasers, 5-0, on a five-inning no-hitter by Mickey Spisz (North Farmington).

Spisz struck out three and allowed just one Lasers base-runner, a hit-batsman. Kmet, who took the loss, gave up eight hits, five walks and all five runs. She struck out eight.

The Lasers are 9-4 overall.

NOTICE OF EXTENSION OF AIR POLLUTION COMMENT PERIOD AND SCHEDULED PUBLIC HEARING

The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality and Wayne County Air Quality Management Division are holding an extended public comment period until August 12, 1997 and a public hearing on July 29, 1997 to afford all interested citizens the opportunity to comment on their staff's analysis of a Permit to Install application submitted by CENTRAL WAYNE ENERGY RECOVERY, L.P. for the installation and operation of the proposed modifications to the existing municipal waste incinerators, including the upgrading of the incineration equipment, the addition of the boilers and generators to produce electricity for sale, the reopening of the third unit which has been inoperable, and the installation new air pollution control equipment, for the facility located at 4901 Inkster Road, Dearborn Heights, Michigan. It has been preliminarily determined that the modifications will not violate any of the Department's rules nor the National Ambient Air Quality Standards. The facility will not consume more than "2.3" percent of particulate, "5.1" percent of sulfur dioxide, and "2.6" percent of nitrogen dioxide of the federal Prevention of Significant Deterioration Air Quality Increments. (THESE VALUES WERE INCORRECTLY LISTED IN THE PREVIOUS NOTICE.)

This proposal is subject to the federal Prevention of Significant Deterioration rules and regulations for sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxides. During the evaluation of the Best Available Control Technology for these pollutants, the environmental impacts of the following toxic air contaminants were considered: hydrogen chloride, sulfuric acid, total fluorides, arsenic, cadmium, chromium, mercury, dioxins, furans, and benzo(a)pyrene.

Copies of the Department and Division staff's analysis and proposed permit conditions are available for inspection at the following locations, or you may request a copy be mailed to you by calling 517-373-7035.

RECREATION

NOWICKI

There seems to be an abundance of dragonflies this summer. I've not taken a formal survey, but every field I walk through has dragonflies dashing and darting in every direction.

In Michigan, there are reported to be 150 different kinds of dragonflies. Dragonflies are those insects that rest with their wings stretched out like an airplane on the runway. Damselflies, which are often misidentified as dragonflies, rest with their wings folded together over their back, or just slightly spread, but never opened flat.

Dragonflies spend most of their life as a nymph in the water. Eggs laid by females may be attached to submerged vegetation, or they may float to the bottom. Nymphs hatch and grow by feeding on other smaller aquatic animals. Some nymphs may remain a nymph for a couple summers in order to mature.

Once mature, the nymph will emerge from the water on vegetation projecting from the water. Their hard exoskeleton will split along the back, eventually emerging as a winged adult, which clings to vegetation until its wings enlarge and its body hardens.

Dragonflies are all basically the same shape, but there are some subtle differences. The larger darners are very colorful with eyes, so large that they touch each other on the top of the head. Green darners have a long beautiful green abdomen and a blue thorax where the wings are attached.

Clubtails have a swelling at the end of their abdomen.

Skimmers are medium sized dragonflies. Some of the more striking ones in our area are those colored red. Very striking red or scarlet is evident when they land in the sun.

A friend of mine was hiking and saw one of the red skimmers eating a deer fly it had just captured. Dragonflies are excellent aerialists because they need to catch insects that are also very good aerialists.

Some of the dragonflies have rear wings that appear swollen near the base. These are sometimes called "saddlebags." One species has a red body and dark patches highlighting the saddlebags.

At Heritage Park in Farmington Hills I captured a beautiful dragonfly with a calico-like pattern that turned out to be a Halloween pennant.

It was an orange-amber color with darkened spots on its wings and amber and black on its abdomen. I removed it from the net and examined its delicate wings and striking pattern.

After the group I joined had all seen it, I let it go. It flew to a lady standing nearby and landed on her shirt near the base of her neck. With wings outstretched, it looked like she was wearing a bow-tie. After a few moments of regaining its composure, it flew away.

Between butterflies, dragonflies and flowers, the meadows are great places to walk these beautiful summer days.

HARRISON

August 18 is a date to remember for those bowlers who wish to take part in the 61st annual John Gavie Invitational Tournament at Thunderbowl Lanes in Allen Park.

The event is open to teams from all leagues in the men's, ladies or senior men's categories.

There will also be a few challenge events going on at the same time including the East Side Senior versus the West Side Seniors; Greater Detroit Bowling Association and Detroit Women's Bowling Association hall of famers; and our course the illustrious press squad, which will take on the challenge of trying to avoid finishing dead last.

The Gavie has been considered the kickoff for the new season. It originated by Gavie in 1937.

In early year, the event was held in conjunction with the Michigan State Fair.

Things were a lot different back then. There were parades on Woodward Avenue. The contestants came out of the all-star teams from the 1930s and 40s (when the likes of Joe Norris dominated the sport).

This event was described by Columbia 300s' John Jowdy as "the largest one-day tournament anywhere in the world."

It is a matter of prestige to compete in the Gavie as opposed to vying for prize money because it features a great variety of teams from leagues throughout the metro Detroit area.

The entry fee is $75 per team for all divisions. The senior division will be scored on a handicap basis.

Any non-sanctioned team may enter by purchasing an affiliate membership or by paying a participation fee.

This year's tournament is being dedicated to Eric Bogedin, Henry Mistelo and Roger Robinson, all of whom are bowling proprietors. The trio has continued to contribute their efforts over the years on behalf of the Gavie.

Thunderbowl Lanes, which recently underwent an ownership change, has hosted the event the past 36 years.

The transition has been smooth as George Prybyla has turned over the helm to Jim Strobl.

Good thing for all that George will remain for awhile in an advisory capacity. His guidance is appreciated by everyone as long as he is around.

The tradition of the Gavie runs deep.

Many of today's participants will follow in the foundation set years ago by the legendary names of days of yore including Norris, Fazio, Golembiewski, Lindemann, Lubanski, Young, Ode, Upshaw, Paulus, Joseph, and of course, Gavie himself.

So don't forget Aug. 18.

Opening ceremonies begin at 7 p.m. followed by the thunder of balls crashing into pins signifying the official start of another new season.

For entry forms or more information, call (313) 928-4688.

MOUNTAIN BIKING CYCLING WITH AN ATTITUDE

BY BRUCE KERRY
SPECIAL WRITER

Summer is in full swing. For those who are looking for exercise and fun, mountain biking is well-worth a try.

Imagine for a minute that 10-speed that we rode down the street to our friend's house.

Now take that Schwinn and widen the tires, turn the handlebars up, redesign the frame a bit, add a few gears and give it a little Superman strength and now you have a mountain bike.

This bike has the capabilities to go where no 10-speed would dare. Whether it's through the mud, over the rocks or just down the road, this bike is the superhero of cycling.

The cost

Like many other sports, mountain biking can be costly to start, but rather inexpensive to actually participate in. Mountain bikes generally range in price from $250-$3,000, depending on the rider's intentions.

Realistically speaking, a well-performing off-road bike will not cost less than $500.

The frame is the backbone of a mountain bike and generally the material determines cost and performance. The most inexpensive and lowest performing material is high-tensile steel.

These bikes generally are designed for on-road use but can hold up to very limited off-road use. Chromoly steel is designed to be a happy medium, in price and performance, between high-tensile steel and more expensive materials.

Another advantage to chromoly steel is its ability to be easily repaired.

The most popular material for mountain bikes is aluminum.

Considered advanced technology 10 years ago, aluminum has become the preferred material for regular riders. It's very light but its drawback is that it takes a thicker diameter to withstand the pressure.

Another drawback is that aluminum tends to lose its strength with age.

Gaining popularity are carbon fiber and thermoplastic bikes. Carbon fiber bikes generally are expensive but are among the lightest available.

Thermoplastic bikes are very few and far between but it is generally used to make inexpensive bikes. The most exotic material is titanium. It's the most expensive and is virtually a magic material. Titanium could last the life of a rider.

Safety gear

One necessity that's essential is a helmet. Modern helmets are designed for comfort without compromising safety. Ventilation, protection for the back of the head, and a snug, but not tight, fit are things to look for.

For those looking to accessorize the sport offers an abundant amount of gadgetry. Among those are: gel-filled grips, rear-view mirrors, mileage computers, global positioning systems and ergonomically correct seats.

The right size bike and other accessories are essential for a fun and safe ride.

Where to go

Mountain biking can be performed almost anywhere. Locally, trails are available at Kensington Metropark, near Brighton, Pinckney Recreation Area, between Ann Arbor and Pinckney and Maybury State Park in Northville Township.

Increasingly popular destinations are ski slopes, without the snow of course.

Like any other sporting activity, it is essential to know your limitations and to be physically capable of performing the activity.

Stretching is also very important because pushing the limits can lead to injury. First-aid kits are always an added bonus. Being prepared for the worst is always a good idea.

Mountain biking can spice up those weekend getaways. The popularity of this sport has been high for years and is still growing. So put on a helmet and get those wheels turning.

Happy trails

For those looking for easier riding, the state has four parks with more than 100 miles of wide, smooth trails renovated from old railroad tracks.

These trails are referred to as Michigan's "Rails to Trails" State Parks. Motor vehicle permits aren't required to enter the linear state parks.

There is a daily trail fee of $2 per person/$5 per family or an annual trail fee of $10 per person/$25 per family.

Here's a list:

■ Hart-Montague Trail State Park, Mears, 24-mile asphalt bike path, passes through rural, forested lands. Scenic overlooks and picnic areas are located along the trail. The trail is accessible from Hart, Montague and communities between these two cities along U.S. 31. Call (616) 873-3083.

■ Kal-Haven Trail State Park, South Haven, 34-mile crushed limestone slag path connecting South Haven and Kalamazoo. This trail meanders through wooded areas, past farmlands and over rivers and streams. Trail highlights include a camelback bridge and a covered bridge. Call (616) 637-4984.

■ Lakelands Trail State Park, Pinckney, a 13-mile crushed slag trail, connects Stockbridge and Pinckney, passing through wooded areas and rolling farmland. It offers a view of the surrounding wildlife, birds and plants. Hikers and horseback riders also use this trail for recreation. Call (313) 426-4913.

■ White Pine Trail State Park, Baldwin. This gravel and crushed rail cinder trail is 76 miles from Cadillac to Big Rapids. Call (616) 745-2888.

STATE PARKS

If you love mountain biking, then Michigan State Parks are for you.

In the Lower Peninsula alone, there are more than 140 miles of mountain bike trails at 17 Department of Natural Resources State Park and Recreation Areas.

Here's a list provided by the state Department of Natural Resources:

■ Hartwick Pines State Park, Grayling, 15 miles of varied terrain with an opportunity to appreciate wildlife. While biking through pines and open fields, it's easy to spot deer, turkey and partridge. Call (517) 348-7068.

■ North Higgins Lake State Park, Roscommon, 10 miles of mild terrain with natural surface allows for a leisurely ride through fields and forest. Call (517) 821-6125.

■ Rifle River Recreation Area, Lupton, five natural-surface trails from just under a mile to 7.4 miles in length. The terrain is easy to moderate and goes through wooded areas. Call (517) 473-2258.

■ Bald Mountain Recreation Area, Lake Orion, more than 15 miles of natural-surface trails through shady, woody areas and open fields. Call (248) 693-6767.

■ Bass River Recreation Area, Grand Haven, three miles of mountain bike trails with natural surface. Call (616) 798-3711.

■ Brighton Recreation Area, Howell, 12 miles of mountain bike-terrain ranging from easy to difficult. Natural surface with irregular ranges of hills is a challenge to avid bikers. Call (810) 229-6566.

■ Fort Custer Recreation Area, Augusta, 22 miles of natural-surface mountain bike trails. Terrain ranges from easy to difficult. One of the four trails offers a great view of Eagle Lake. Other trails wind through wooded areas and have challenging hills. Call (616) 731-4200.

■ Highland Recreation Area, White Lake, four natural surface trails ranging from 2.4 to 5.9 miles. Each trail is specifically designed for a certain skill level ranging from beginner to advanced. Call (248) 685-2433.

■ Holly Recreation Area, Holly, 5-mile trail with natural surface and a variety of boardwalks. Trail goes by scenic Holdridge Lake. Terrain varies in degree of difficulty. Call (248) 634-8811.

■ Ionia Recreation Area, Ionia, a 9-mile mountain bike trail with natural surface. One trail loop is for beginners, and the other trails are for experienced bikers. Call (616) 527-3750.

■ Island Lake Recreation Area, Brighton, 14 miles of natural surface mountain bike trails with diverse degrees of difficulty and terrain. Call (810) 229-7067.

ON THE RUN

The marathon training clinic on running in heat will be repeated at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Total Runner's Southfield outlet, Northwestern Highway and 12 Mile roads.

Total Runner's Southgate Store will hold a marathon clinic on nutrition beginning at 7 p.m. Tuesday, July 29.

For more information, call (313) 282-1101.

NICE COURSE: The Fourth of July race put on by Bill Hill and the Whitmore Lake Kiwanis Club was pure joy.

Unseasonably cool temperatures, however, may have had something to do with it.

The old 10-kilometer course, which wound around the lake, was replaced by a new and improved 12-kilometer (7.45 miles) course (west of the lake).

The 12K was a flat and fast course run primarily on dirt roads. The finish ended up on the high school track.

Although the turnout at Whitmore Lake seemed to be down, it still attracted a quality field.

Many runners migrated north July 4 to Frankenmuth for the 20K and 10K races.

Word leaked out that Redford's Tim Emmett, who was third overall, missed the 20K masters mark by only 20 seconds. Emmett was in 1:09 range.

BRAD

Hot weather running.

All it really takes is a little common sense.

I was able to attend the latest marathon training session, conducted by Roger Sheldon and David Howell, at Total Runner outlet in Southgate.

The two offered simple, but sound advice for those concerned about maintaining their marathon training throughout the hot summer months.

"Drink at the start, a tall glass of water each, 35 to 40 minutes the day of or the day before you go on a long run," Sheldon offered. "When you get dehydrated, your muscles don't function as well. The blood does not flow as much."

"When you generate heat, you lose potassium. Drink water. Cool water is absorbed more quickly."

Runners often lose six to 12 ounces of fluid every 20 minutes of running. It's important to drink fluids every 20 to 30 minutes along your running route.

To determine if you're hydrating properly, weigh yourself before and after running. You should drink one pint of fluid for every pound you lose.

Indicators that you are running dehydrated are a persistent elevated pulse rate after finishing your run, and dark yellow urine. Keep in mind that thirst is not an adequate indicator of dehydration.

Here are some other tips for hot weather running:

- Change the time of day (early morning or late evening preferable);
- Run in the shade whenever possible; avoid sun and blackout;
- If you are going to be exposed, apply at least a No. 15 sunscreen;
- Wear sunglasses to filter out the UVA and UVB rays;
- Wear a hat to absorb the moisture;
- Run slower;
- Dress properly (cotton, white colors absorb sweat well);
- Stash water along your route (store bottles in the freezer the night before);
- Don't take in too much salt or consume drinks with high sugar concentration.

Obviously, if you become dizzy, nauseated, have dry skin or the chills, stop immediately and try to get fluids.

Heat stroke is when the body temperature rises dramatically, vision is blurred, the mouth is parched.

Children should limit their running in the heat due to their lower tolerance of heat.

Cool down afterwards with a sponge and drink plenty of fluids. Something such as Gatorade is great, according to Sheldon.

NEW HOMES

Selective builds new model at Maple Creek

Large, luxury detached condominiums and plenty of children already in the neighborhood bring buyers into the Classics II section at Maple Creek.

The subdivision, developed and built by the Selective Group, is off Maple between Orchard Lake and Farmington roads in West Bloomfield.

Maple Creek will contain 262 lots when completed. It's more than 70 percent sold now.

Purchasers can choose one of Selective's 11 floor plans in Classics II or buy a lot starting at $190,000 and bring in their own builders as long as plans meet architectural standards.

"People are buying a little bit of everything," said Wendy Bratt, sales counselor. "The like the fact it's a planned community, a family community. People come in seeking out the West Bloomfield School District."

"They do like the variety of homes," Bratt said. "They like seeing a neighborhood feel, kids out on the sidewalk, ambience. They like the feel of community."

"Each cul-de-sac has its own sports thing," said Ellen Whitefield, vice president of Selective's new homes center operations. "Kids can play outside and you don't have to worry."

"Mothers don't have to get in a car and drive children to keep them occupied," Bratt added. "This is the home they always seem to say I want to be in for the next 10 to 15 years."

"We have a lot of professional people, a lot of entrepreneurs who own a business, executives, doctors, lawyers," said Tim Stapleton, Selective Group president. "We allow a lot of customization. We're pretty flexible."

Base prices range from $379,900 for a colonial of about 3,200 square feet with four bedrooms and 2-1/2 baths to $484,900 for a colonial of 4,500 square feet with four bedrooms, three full baths and two half baths.

A three-car garage, air conditioning, fireplace, first floor laundry, whirlpool tub in the master, and a basement are included at base price in all plans.

Also included at base price is an alarm system, 25 recessed lights, ceramic/wood floor in the kitchen and nook, a double oven, cooktop, microwave and dishwasher, plus an alarm system.

Exterior materials must be brick, stone or wood siding. Vinyl and aluminum aren't allowed. Contemporary outside architecture is out for those who want to design and build their own houses. Minimum living area is 3,200 square feet.

A new floor plan, a colonial of 4,200 square feet with four bedrooms, three full baths and two half baths has been prepared for the current phase of the development.

The two-story foyer showcases a curved staircase with an art niche.

The main living area features a dining room, living room, library, family room with two-story ceiling and a kitchen/nook/hearth room.

New offering: This colonial with four bedrooms, three full baths, two half baths and plenty of amenities within 4,200 square feet of living space is Selective's latest plan at Maple Creek.

The kitchen contains an island/breakfast bar and walk-in pantry. A tub and cabinets are in the pantry.

A pool, playground, bathhouse is under construction at Maple Creek. The plan is to finish those amenities this year. Maple Creek is serviced by city water and sewers. The sub has sidewalks.

The property tax rate is $30.95 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value. That means the owners of a $425,000 condo there would pay about $6,575 the first year.

The annual association fee is $380.

Ari and Pam Freed bought a colonial in Maple Creek for themselves and sons, Evan and Derek.

"I think it's a great area for kids," Pam said. "It's just wonderful here, a lot of young families. That's the number one reason, I think, people with children move here. A lot of neighborhood kids get together. We like that there's sidewalks through the whole sub."

The colonial has four bedrooms, three full baths and two half baths.

"It's very practical," Pam said. "I love the huge, walk-in closet. I like the two baths other than the master upstairs so the kids don't have to fight over the bath."

"I was able to make changes to make things the way I like them. It makes it a lot easier," she said.

Beth and Bob Borson, along with children Lauren, Adam and Josh moved into a Cape Cod.

"We wanted to move into a larger sub that was more of a community," Beth said. "I really wanted a first floor master. I have three kids and it was an opportunity to have our living quarters and giving them living space upstairs."

"I think Selective really works on customer service," Beth said. "They're really organized."

The sales model at Maple Creek, (810) 626-0770, is open noon to 6 p.m. daily.

Home designers find that walls are made for touching

FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

Designers are looking beyond paint and wallpaper for decorative interest on the walls.

"Visual warmth and textural contrasts are in," New York designer Michael Love says, "and wood, stone and fabric offer them in spades."

indecisive.

Stone is eternal, and wood is almost as indestructible. And fabric is surprisingly durable if it is tightly woven and in a color that won't show dirt.

Charles Gandy, an Atlanta designer, says the textures appeal to the cult of personal decorating which is hot right now.

"When you use something other than paint, it shows you have gone that extra mile," Gandy says.

The popularity of 18th- and 19th-century English and European styles contributes to the desire for wood paneling and fabric walls. And the interest in things rustic leads to the use of stone.

Because it is heavy and bulky, natural stone is hard to work with. Therefore, Gandy selects stone tiles or faux stone, a composite that is lighter than the real thing.

Fabric can add visual softness and elegance and act as a buffer against noise. It is also versatile. A French toile de Jouy or a light floral print will create a feminine bower. Dark velvet, corduroy, plaid or tweed produces a masculine setting.

Textured walls cost more for material and installation than more traditional coverings.

"But," Love says, "I would rather have clients put more money into the backgrounds and less into the furniture because the background is what gives a room character, especially a smaller room lacking architectural detail.

"Look at old houses. If you took every stick of furniture out, the rooms would still be interesting. It's like a well-cut suit. The only accessory you need is a pin on the lapel."

For low-budget projects such as rentals, Love offers two ideas for do-it-yourselfers. One is to nail ready-made bamboo blinds to a wall. The other is to use sisal. Both have a natural, textured look but are relatively inexpensive and easy to remove.

Los Angeles Millicent Gappell says the preference for natural materials has grown with focusing more on the home as a haven.

"It's a tough world out there, and natural materials renew our spirit," she says. "Natural materials may be more expensive to buy and take more effort to install, but I don't know of any man-made products that get more beautiful as they get older and last for such a long time."

When Gappell rebuilt her home after the 1994 Los Angeles earthquake, she put California redwood and fabric on the walls and granite on the floors.

"The walls look gorgeous, but mainly I wanted to provide some acoustic controls, a necessity since I also replaced carpeting with granite floors and have no draperies because the views are so great."

Some common plants can be frightening

By LEE REICH
FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

Keep out of the garden!
This warning might be meant for horseradish, mint, garlic chives and other incorrigible plants that can take over a garden. Unless these plants are watched very carefully, the best place for them is a patch defended by a lawn mower, or a semi-wild back corner of your yard.

Horseradish is one of the worst offenders. Once this plant takes hold, it is almost impossible to remove from the garden. The most thorough digging will not remove every bit of root, and even the smallest bits of root will only resprout.

Try starving the roots out by repeatedly cutting off the leaves. New leaves just keep pushing out, but three years of diligence might be needed before you can get rid of this plant.

Be careful even about throwing old horseradish pieces into the compost pile. Perhaps the traditional method for discarding quack grass should be applied to horseradish — pull it up, burn it, then spread the ashes where you are sure you'll never want it to grow.

Garlic chives is another plant that can be frightening. One plant allowed to self-seed will be surrounded by hundreds the following year. This would not be so bad, except that the seedlings cling tightly to the soil and the straplike leaves are slippery and snap when you pull them — leaving the roots intact to resprout.

You could snip off the flower heads so seeds do not form, but most gardeners want to see the pretty flowers at least as much as they want to taste the garlicky flavor of the leaves.

Mint is almost as bad as horseradish. Whenever you see a sprig of mint poke up through the ground, rest assured that there is a foot-long underground stem pushing out from which will sprout new sprigs. The only way to rid an area of mint once it has established is by tracing the courses of these underground stems and combing them out of the soil.

Horseradish, garlic chives and mint are not the only unruly garden plants, of course. Be especially wary of any plant that spreads where you can't see underground. Or any plant whose stems arch to the ground and root. Tansy and yarrow spread both of these ways. The way to keep these plants from spreading too far is to hack back their tops and chop back their roots every year.

Beware also of plants which, like garlic chives and horseradish, either self-seed too readily or repeatedly sprout from root pieces. You need to plant dill and borage only once; from then on, your job each year is to remove excess self-sown plants rather than sow new plants.

These seedlings, unlike those of garlic chives, are easy to uproot — so with a little diligence they never get out of hand. Jerusalem artichoke plants repeatedly sprout from even the smallest tubers left in the soil. But the plants just keep sprouting — not really spreading — so it rarely becomes as weedy as horseradish.

With any of these unruly plants, choose the site carefully and keep an eye on them. All have assets to offset their bad behavior: the yellow, buttonlike flowers and pungent aroma of tansy; the garlicky flavor and starry white of garlic chives; the pungent, sinus-clearing flavor of horseradish.

Such plants dramatically demonstrate that a weed is merely a plant in the wrong place.

Good glues make for the best results

By POPULAR MECHANICS
FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

Many fine woodworking efforts and repairs on furniture have been spoiled because the person who did the job simply did not know how to work with glue. Two good wood glues we recommend to get the job done are white glue and carpenter's aliphatic resin glue. Both have superb holding power, but white glue gives you a bit more working time than the professional carpenter's glue.

The single biggest error in gluing wood is to use too much of the stuff. Excessive glue actually produces a weaker joint. The correct way to use glue is to spread a thin layer on both surfaces to be joined, let the glue get tacky to minimize sliding action and then press the pieces together. Except for contact cement, you should apply clamping pressure immediately and let the piece rest at least 24 hours.

Wiping off the excess glue that squeezes out of the joint is the wrong thing to do as there will be an almost invisible layer of glue left on the soft and absorbent wood surface. You may not be able to detect it before staining or otherwise finishing the piece, but watch it pop up as soon as stain is applied.

The correct method for removing excess glue from a joint is to let the welt of glue dry untouched. Then, carefully remove it with a razor-sharp wood chisel, bevel edge up. Hold the blade edge at a slight angle to the glue line to remove flakes of hardened glue as you slice them off the joint. Follow up by sanding the joint with a piece of 120-grit paper backed up by a wooden block.

Glue spots on your projects can be another problem. They commonly appear when you get glue on your hands and transfer it to the project. Your obvious reaction is to wipe your fingers either on your trousers or on a rag. Unfortunately, this generally does not remove all traces of the glue from your hands. Perspiration may keep it from drying and so whenever you touch the workpiece, you risk contaminating it with glue. And this is probably the biggest reason for those ugly white spots on shop-made furniture.

Glue left on the surface of the wood acts as a sealer. This means that the stain won't penetrate the wood in these areas. One trick some pros use to keep their hands both dry and free of glue is to put a box or can of sawdust in a convenient spot on the workbench before gluing. Then, as they work, they frequently pick up a small handful of sawdust, rub it between their hands and discard it into a trash barrel. The dust acts like a blotter to keep their hands free of spot-producing glue.

Once glued, the workpiece should be held together tightly while the glue sets. A wide variety of clamps can be used to handle this part of the job, or you can improvise. By padding the work, you can weight it with heavy books or even a cement block. The trick is to set up your jury-rigged clamping arrangement and then depart, leaving the work to dry without vibrations from working on other parts of the project or accidentally bumping into it.

For smaller clamps, there are a number of make-do systems that work. You can cut sections from an old inner tube to make oversized rubber bands to hold parts. Spring-loaded clothespins make fine small clamps. Other alternatives in this area include locking pliers or even ordinary pliers with a couple of rubber bands wrapped around the handles to provide the squeeze.

Informed decisions make home remodeling easier

From kitchens and bathrooms to living rooms and bedrooms, people are remodeling their homes to make the interiors more beautiful and more functional. They're adding style room by room, but it's not always easy. With the variety of products and materials available, deciding what they want and understanding how to install it themselves or knowing how to explain it to the contractor can be a project in itself.

Talking with experienced professionals and reading home-improvement books can help people make an informed decision. In Home Magazine's "How Your House Works" (Ballantine), Don Vandervort explains a home's many systems, from pipe schemes and electrical systems to architectural style and inner surfaces. When discussing the home interior, he covers such topics as moldings, cabinets and countertops, providing information people need to create beautiful homes.

Moldings - Both decorative and functional, moldings add style to a room while hiding the joints between walls and floors, ceilings, doors and windows. They are made in many patterns from a variety of woods. They can be used individually or in combination to create a variety of styles. New moldings are sold at lumberyards and millwork shops. With large selections available, these are the best places to look for moldings. Hardwood moldings that are meant to be stained or finished naturally are relatively expensive. Paint-grade pine or fir moldings are less expensive. There is also a variety of ready-to-paint decorative moldings made from high-density polymers. Most moldings are nailed in place with finishing nails.

Cabinets - A key contributor to a room's appearance, cabinets are made from a range of materials, from hardwoods and laminates to veneers and painted particleboard. There are two types of cabinet construction: face frame and frameless. Face-frame cabinets have a frame around the front of the cabinet.

Frameless cabinets don't. Because a face frame adds rigidity to the construction, it usually won't have a top panel or a full back; or the back will be quite thin.

Countertops - Countertops are made from materials that are durable and easy to maintain. Most combine a base of plywood or particleboard, which spans across the top of the cabinet, and the finish surface material, as well as the adhesive to attach the surface to the base and keep it impervious to water and stains. The surface material chosen depends upon a homeowner's budget and the appearance and qualities needed. Hardwoods applied in a butcher-block fashion make handsome, durable countertops in some situations, but they can warp, scorch and allow bacteria to grow. Inexpensive and durable, laminates come in hundreds of colors and patterns. However, they can be scorched by hot utensils, they show scratches, and they're not suitable as cutting surfaces. Ceramic tile is extremely durable, easy to clean and scorchproof. A relatively new countertop material, solid surfacing is durable and offers seamless, easy-care surfaces that often have a stone look. However, installation requires a professional.

People should understand the advantages and disadvantages of the home-interior options available and know what they want before beginning a remodeling project. It can make the work so much more smoothly and give them the home of their dreams. H964603

Because kids can't fly: window safety

SPECIAL WRITER

According to the National Safety Council, more children die each year from injury than from all childhood diseases combined. Most of these injuries occur in the home. Sadly, many of them could have been prevented.

Unfortunately, the safety issue doesn't have one simple solution. Like electricity, water, stairways and other vital aspects of the home, we take windows for granted. They make our lives better, but they can present potential hazards under certain conditions.

Develop a family emergency plan to make sure family members know how to escape through any code-required emergency exit window or accessory.

You must be able to open windows in an emergency. Do not paint, nail or weatherstrip them shut.

Do not remove cranks from casement and awning windows.

Keep children's roughhousing away from windows and patio doors. Falling through a window could cause serious injury or prove fatal.

Consult your local police and fire departments regarding home safety awareness and security tips.

Learn to recognize hazards and prevent injuries. What looks "normal" to an adult may be deadly to a child.

Whenever small children are around, close and lock windows. If you need ventilation, open the windows that are out of reach of children.

Do not place furniture near windows. Children with their boundless energy, love to jump on beds and climb furniture and they can quickly reach window ledges or sills and fall.

Keep window treatments (blinds, cords, drapes, etc.) out of children's reach. They may injure themselves when climbing or be strangled. Climbing on radiators, especially those in front of windows, can also be dangerous for kids.

Keep children away from open windows and don't allow them to lean on the insect screens. Don't depend on these screens to keep your child from falling out of a window.

Don't leave young children alone.

MEDICAL BRIEFS

Summer fun

Summer camp conjures up scenic and serene pictures of campfires, hiking, boating, storytelling and roasting marshmallows. A special bereavement camp will offer families a weekend in August filled with traditional camp activities, along with the opportunity to share their experiences in dealing with terminal illness.

Explorer Camp is a weekend camp for parents and children designed jointly by Angela Health Care and the Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute. Camp will be held Aug. 22-24 at Camp Tamarack near Holly, Mich., beginning 6:30 p.m. Friday through noon Sunday. Family bereavement issues will be addressed by caring, professional counselors trained to provide support and guidance for family members who have experienced the death of a loved one.

"The staff and volunteers are so helpful and compassionate," said Ellen Kennedy, a parent who attended last year's weekend camp. "It was a great group of parents and children, and the activities were well-balanced and very meaningful."

Camper Holly Iguchi, 8, gives high praise to the camp, recommending it "more than Cedar Point."

The fee for the weekend is $80 per family, which includes all lodging and meals. Scholarships are available at a family's request. For additional information, call Karmanos Cancer Institute at 1-800-527-0266 or Angela Health Care at 313-464-7810.

Vision treatment

The Vision Institute of Michigan, a national leader in the treatment of diseases and surgery of the eye, has been using topical anesthesia for cataract surgery rather than the popular method of needle injection behind the eye.

According to Dr. Lawrence M. Loewenthal, founder and president of the Vision Institute, and his partner, Dr. Jay I. Novetsky, the use of topical eye drops for cataract surgery in conjunction with an IV solution allows for a quicker recovery of vision for the patient with potentially less side effects.

The institute maintains an office at 31186 W. Warren in Westland, which can be reached by dialing (313) 525-2229.

"Use of a needle injection behind the eye requires the patient to wear a patch for a period of time after surgery. However, with eye drops the patch is no longer required, allowing patients to drive themselves to the office the next day for their followup appointment," Loewenthal said. "With eye drops, the patient experiences no pain and can already begin seeing from the operated eye the same day as surgery is performed."

"Use of the needle injection (peri-bulbar) may cause rare complications to occur, such as double vision, penetration of the globe, optic nerve damage and a droopy eyelid. With eye drops, these problems are eliminated."

Prostate program

There's no denying it: Early detection and education continue to be the best medical weapons in the battle against prostate cancer. And the results of the Health Development Network at Botsford's seventh annual Prostate Health Awareness Program in May give some of the best evidence to date that awareness is the first step in living longer, healthier lives.

Of the 501 men who participated in Botsford's free education and screening program, 126, or 25 percent, were found to have abnormal results in either the prostate-specific antigen (PSA) blood test or the digital rectal exam performed by urology attending physicians or residents.

"Individuals and their physicians were apprised of the results immediately after the screening," said Dr. Steven Roth, D.O., Botsford board-certified urologist. "We follow up with the patients by phone in three months to insure that they were seen by a physician for further examination and testing and to determine the results of additional examinations."

Digital rectal exams and PSA blood tests are the most accurate way to detect prostate cancer now, said Roth, who is director of Botsford's urology residency program.

There are usually no symptoms to early prostate cancer. Symptoms of late prostate cancer can include difficult and/or painful urination and persistent pain in the back, hips, pelvis or thighs. A family history of prostate cancer may also increase the odds that a man will get the disease.

CONFIDENCE OR CONCEIT?

BY DIANE GALE ANDREASSI
SPECIAL WRITER

Doctors wield a lot of clout, making life and death decisions about you and me. But do they take themselves too seriously? Are they arrogant, aloof and indifferent?

An informal survey of area residents yielded different opinions. Most said their doctors were down to earth and earned the respect they receive. Others found flaws. They examined how we treat our doctors and how they treat us.

"They need to take more time to look at a person rather than being in a rush," according to Rosland Burk of Canton. "It seems they don't take the time to really look."

Dr. Alan Weder, who teaches, treats patients and does research in the University of Michigan internal medicine department, blames insurance companies and health provider corporations for making doctors seem cold and impersonal. He does, however, see a basis in the arrogance label.

"The perception is probably generally true that there is a certain arrogance that comes with the territory," he said. "Physicians are invested with a tremendous amount of authority in people's lives."

Patients are exceedingly vulnerable, providing doctors with personal information and access to their bodies in a way that no one else has. "This leads to an incredibly unequal relationship."

Some residents who were called randomly said the grueling education and practical experience doctors endure earns them respect.

"When you put that much time into college you have a right to be a little arrogant," said Joy Bunker of Westland.

No bad experiences

Frances Farthing of Garden City had similar sentiments: "I don't think doctors are arrogant. I've never had any bad experiences. I think they're proud people and proud of their profession and maybe they do feel a little different. They've worked hard to be this doctor and I think it's justified in one manner of speaking, but I wouldn't say in everything concerned."

Nancy Shook of Livonia noted: "They are a lot better educated than most people." But, Shook said, she never met a conceited doctor.

Requirements for medical doctors generally entail four years of undergraduate work and four years of medical school, including two years of studying and two years of clinical work. After graduating from medical school they complete a one- to seven-year residency depending on the specialty.

Other patients who were surveyed appreciated the extensive education, but thought once doctors take the Hippocratic oath they become obligated to share the knowledge.

"I think they should be more or less servants of the people," said Joyce Caesar of Plymouth Township. "They are to provide us with the information and health benefits that make life easier."

Rex Siburt of Garden City said the doctors he has are down to earth and he doesn't believe they should be treated differently. "They're people just like everyone else," he said.

Evelyn, a Westland resident who wanted to remain anonymous, said most doctors are compassionate. "I've had doctors call me after hours, because a report came in and they wanted to say that everything was OK."

David Lacy of Livonia said doctors don't explain everything they know about various illnesses and treatments to patients. "I feel they withhold information from the public and to me that's arrogant," Lacy said. "I think they do hold themselves to a higher standard than the rest of the public and they deserve to, because it takes a lot of education, time, patience and effort to become a doctor. And it takes a special person to absorb the information and use it properly."

Some of the residents surveyed said doctors are no different from people in other professions, some are cold and conceited and others are compassionate and congenial. A man who answered the telephone at a Livonia residence, but asked to remain anonymous, said "It varies just like everyone else."

Kristin Colligan, staff associate for the University of Michigan Medical School, is the daughter, sister and niece of physicians. She agrees that it depends on individual personalities.

"I don't think it's fair to label a group whether they're physicians, attorneys or a minority group," she said. Colligan, added however, that the intense training doctors complete spawns confidence, which is sometimes interpreted as arrogance.

"They are overwhelmed by it and put through a rigorous challenge. They are also so very busy."

Patricia Fecarotta of Plymouth and Jonathan Kopchia of Westland felt similarly. Fecarotta said: "The doctors I've met have been very pleasant and nice. It's possible in every profession to get some who are arrogant."

Kopchia said: "It depends really on the personality. I think the profession lends itself to people becoming like that, but I can't make a generalized statement that most are like that."

Physicians are seen as technicians, Weder said. "You come to me and I'm supposed to pull a rabbit out of a hat and fix you," he said, adding that insurance companies take away the decision-making relationship between patients and doctors by placing limits on procedures and treatments. This leads to an emphasis on cost-effectiveness.

"When I started out, my primary role was to be a patient advocate and to try to do the best thing for the patient. The money issues are always in the back of your mind," Weder said. Doctors are spending a lot more time filling out forms.

"There's no doubt that doing all this kind of work takes away from the ability of physicians to focus on the primary issue of patient care," he said. Patients view these constraints as a coldness or a sense of distance from the doctor.

Also, patients switch doctors a lot more frequently today for varied reasons, including changes in insurance coverage. Years ago, people stayed with the same doctor until one or the other died.

To help new doctors overcome these obstacles, students are taught bedside manner.

"The majority who graduate from medical schools are going to be working in an HMO or somewhere that is heavily flavored by that sort of practice," Weder said. Students are leaving school with tremendous debt, limited specialty options and a cynical attitude.

"It's difficult to look down the road and see a rosy picture for the medical profession," he said. "We try to teach them human elements that were taken for granted in the old days."

Technique helps doctors fight malignant melanoma

This year, approximately 38,300 people in the United States will be diagnosed with malignant melanoma, a potentially deadly form of skin cancer. Although surgery is the most effective treatment for existing melanoma, the extent of the surgery depends upon the spread of the disease to the lymphatic system.

Lymph node mapping with the Neoprobe 1000 is a new technique which allows physicians to evaluate potential tumor drainage and malignancy prior to surgery, allowing for less radical and more effective surgical treatment.

The Neoprobe 1000 is a small,

The Neoprobe 1000 is a small, hand-held radiation detector the surgeon can use to trace the path of a radioactive agent injected at the site of the cancer.

hand-held radiation detector the surgeon can use to trace the path of a radioactive agent injected at the site of the cancer. The radioactive agent follows the lymphatic flow of the body from the tumor site, allowing the physician to locate the first lymph node where the cancer would spread.

In a minimally invasive surgery, the surgeon can use the Neoprobe device to find that first lymph node so it can be removed and tested for cancer. Locating and evaluating the first lymph node gives a good indication of the disease status of the rest of the lymph nodes with minimal surgery.

Previously, the surgeon would have to remove all the lymph nodes to evaluate the lymph system. With the Neoprobe, if the first node proves negative for cancer, as it does in approximately 80 percent of the melanoma cases, the patient is spared further surgery. At the same time, a positive finding helps identify the approximately 15 percent of patients who would benefit from removal of all the lymph nodes in the affected nodal basin.

dures, patients with cancer-positive lymph nodes would receive chemotherapy with alpha-interferon, which could significantly increase their long-term survival.

The alternative technique, regional lymphadenectomy, is costly and is associated with a great deal of pain and potential disfigurement for the patient. Identifying patients whose cancer has not spread with the Neoprobe saves those patients the expense and discomfort of unnecessary surgery.

Cancer is the No. 2 killer in the U.S., and malignant melanoma is the fastest growing type of cancer. It is most common in middle-aged and elderly people with fair skin and a history of extensive or damaging sun exposure.

Lawsuit challenges the concept of 'free linking'

EMORY DANIELS

ONLINE

Webmasters throughout the world, amateurs and professionals alike, have to date enjoyed the freedom to place on their Web site a link to another site.

More often than not, the link is placed without asking permission of the other site. When permission is asked, it's just a matter of courtesy.

The culture of the Internet has been to make material freely available to others. Early Net citizens felt it was more important to share discoveries with others than to claim a proprietary interest for the sake of profit.

So when the Mosaic and Netscape arrived, the culture of the Internet automatically extended to the Web. The Web was part of the greater public arena of the Internet and the idea of one Web site having legal rights which prevented others from linking to it was not seriously considered.

And then along came the newcomers. And now a lawsuit has been filed between two major parties on the Web—Microsoft and TicketMaster—challenging this notion of "free linking."

The ticket distribution giant, TicketMaster, filed the lawsuit, claiming that Microsoft engaged in online robbery by providing a link to TicketMaster's Web site from Microsoft's Seattle Sidewalk site without permission.

If TicketMaster wins, and a precedent is set, online transactions could lose their value to prospective Internet vendors. "The World Wide Web has fast become an invaluable resource for business owners, and their businesses have prospered based on their ability to connect with customers they otherwise could not have tapped," says Josh Linkner, president of Bloomfield Hills-based Globalink New Media.

Linkner explains a decision favoring TicketMaster would have an extremely detrimental effect on the Internet industry, and that an Internet "patrol" would be needed to enforce the ruling.

"Even if the industry devised a code of ethics, how would it be enforced? Would someone—such as a government agency—have to physically 'watchdog' the Internet?" asks Linkner. "This is, after all, the World Wide Web. The First Amendment holds for all forms of communication; the Internet is a medium where information is disseminated and as such, deserves equal protection to traditional forms of media."

The lawsuit has news groups and list-serv discussions abuzz with speculation on the merits of the case and implications if TicketMaster prevails. Before worrying too much about implications, let's wait first to see if the lawsuit proceeds very far in court.

Web Jewels

Speaking of links, here are some sites you can visit if you need to beef up your home page with links. As of now, it's still legal.

■ Librarian Donna Waire points to a new Web site to locate federal statistics, FEDSTATS at <http://www.fedstats.gov>. The site makes available statistics from more than 70 federal agencies. Now, Internet users can find the authoritative information they need without having to know in advance which agency, or agencies, produce the data. The site is was developed as a multi-agency effort led by the Federal Interagency Council on Statistical Policy. Information can be searched through: an A to Z index with 275 categories; a keyword search capability that searches agency Web sites linked to FEDSTATS; or by "fast facts" linkage to frequently requested tables from the Statistical Abstract, as well as direct links to agency contacts, news releases, and sources.

■ The Neurology Forum, sponsored by the Cleveland Clinic, opened March 1 on the Web at <http://www.medhelp.org>. The Neurology Forum was made available to the public via the Med Help Network at <http://www.medhelp.org>. Patients and consumers can ask questions or make comments about neurology. Professionals from the Cleveland Clinic will regularly monitor the forum and answer to medical questions in lay terms.

Med Help International has created one of the most comprehensive consumer health information sites to help those in need of medical information and support in language they can understand, regardless of their economic status or geographic location. The Med Help Network gets more than 200,000 hits a month.

■ Net Announce at <http://www.erspros.com/net-announce/> is a twice-weekly newsletter, available free both on the Web and via E-mail. The newsletter consists of reader-submitted articles about Internet events and Web sites and other Internet resources of interest. Anyone can submit articles about information, events, new sites, updates and announcements. But not every article is published. Net-Announce's archives are searchable and you can browse Web archives from the last day, week or months dating back to its first issue on Oct. 16, 1996.

■ Human Radiation Experiments at <http://www.ohre.doe.gov/> is a site created by the Office of Human Radiation Experiments which was established by the Department of Energy in March 1994 with a mandate of telling the agency's Cold War stories of experiments using radiation on human subjects. The site features summaries of more than 150 such experiments, as well as 225 additional studies covering the 1940s to early 1970s.

Homes in Windridge offer style & location

WINDRIDGE

Seven Mile
1/4 Mile W. of Haggerty
Northville Township

S.R. Jacobson
From $300,000

Families love coming home to Windridge, a fresh community offering the area's best new home plus the highly regarded quality of life found in Northville Township.

At Windridge, the innovative floor plans from S.R. Jacobson Development Corp's "Gold Series" artfully blend traditional styling with the best new contemporary concepts, for homes that accommodate today's multi-faceted lifestyles.

Three and four bedroom designs feature all the extras families want: rooms for formal and informal living, spacious kitchens and sun-filled nooks, family rooms with fireplaces and soaring ceilings and private master suites with luxurious baths.

Streetscapes in Windridge are spectacular with homes painstakingly placed within the naturally wooded landscape and featuring three-car, side-entry garages for beautiful front elevations.

At Windridge, floor plans range from approximately 2,600 square feet to more than 3,000 square feet with dramatic interiors that include all the extras you'd expect to find in much more expensive neighborhoods.

The subdivision is in the Northville School District and near to boutiques and antique shops. It is convenient to I-275, I-96 and I-696.

*Three acres

OPEN SUNDAY 1-4

8223 Ann Arbor Road
Plymouth, MI

Offered at $369,900

This quality-built, two story Colonial was built in 1989 and is constructed of brick and cedar. Attractive courtyard effect in front. It is just ten minutes away from downtown Ann Arbor and Plymouth. It is located in the highly-rated Ann Arbor school system.

A Dramatic two-story entry with leaded, beveled door and side lights. A magnificent formal living-dining room combination with pan ceiling. Beautiful bay-window to the front and Anderson doorwall to the deck. Panoramic view of the lake from 9 windows.

Gathering room and kitchen are all in one room, custom eating island, corner sink with two windows overlooking the lake, recessed lighting, oak cabinets with pull-out trays, ceramic tile throughout. Beautiful marble fireplace, stained crown moldings.

The master suite has double entry doors with a view of the lake from two windows. Spectacular master bath with Jacuzzi, separate shower, and double sinks.

This three acre parcel includes one acre of a spring-fed, sandy bottom lake, 20 feet deep and abounding with fish. Activities relating to the lake, during season, include swimming, boating, fishing, scuba-diving, ice skating and cross-country skiing.

By Sheryl Silver, Career Source

Intense demand and a shortage of qualified candidates have made a growing number of employers receptive to hiring information technology (IT) professionals with "homegrown" expertise in sought-after technologies. "IT talent is scarce," says Glenn Swanson, vice president of technology for Hutton, Barnes, & Associates, a search firm in Sherman Oaks, California. "Particularly in Southern California and Silicon Valley, employers can just not find enough people. Recruiting is at a fever pitch."

As a result of that circumstance, says Swanson, "anyone who can demonstrate proficiency in programming languages like Java and C++ or with Windows NT, will be considered. That's how strong the market is."

Swanson clarifies that if someone has no prior work experience, as might be the case with recent college graduates who have homegrown skills, they may initially be brought into an internship program. "However, someone with 2-5 years work experience programming in C, for example, who picks up C++ on their own, that person is very marketable," says Swanson.

The same phenomenon is being observed in other major technology centers around the country. Ira Broadman, director of staffing for International Management Consulting Inc. (IMCI), a systems integrator and developer of telecommunications products in Vienna, Virginia, confirms, "Employers are more receptive to homegrown skills today because people with formal training and on-the-job experience in certain technologies are hard to find. And everyone is competing for them."

Besides the immediate value expertise with a particular technology provides a company, Broadman says homegrown skills demonstrate other important qualities employers want. "It's the enlightened manager who looks for the person who can quickly learn new concepts—new principles and practices in software engineering—new principles and practices in software engineering—because there's always going to be something new to learn," he says.

Swanson and Broadman both encourage IT professionals to market their self-taught skills as part in their skill set when job hunting. "If, for example, someone picked up C++ or Smalltalk on their own and can demonstrate that they conceptually understand object technology, they should market that," says Broadman.

Patti Hiegesell, human resources manager for the U.S. headquarters of HSO Business Systems, a global ERP software consulting firm, agrees, and notes that even unpaid experience utilizing homegrown skills can enhance a candidate's marketability. "New grads who may have used their skills during an internship or summer job working with an organization like Andersen Consulting, or more seasoned professionals who have done some pro bono or consulting work for associations, should definitely highlight that experience," she says. "And one thing I can't stress enough is that people should show these skills on their resumes. They can mention them in their cover letters, but they should also include them on their resumes, either in a 'Technical Skills' section or under the heading 'Other Professional Experience.'"

Swanson agrees that homegrown skills should be mentioned in resumes, but doesn't think people should go out of their way to highlight them as "self taught." "On the resume, they should list the hardware they're familiar with, the different platforms," he says. "They should also list the software and programming languages, but not differentiate those that are homegrown. The idea is for them to get their foot in the door." For those who worry that this approach may seem misleading to employers, Swanson says, "As long as candidates can demonstrate they're proficient with a technology, they won't be viewed as having misrepresented or overstated their skills."

Broadman agrees. The key to making the most of such abilities, he says, "is being able to effectively answer questions about the technology during interviews."

Finally, besides greater receptivity to homegrown skills, Swanson says the current scarcity of people with expertise in certain technologies has made employers more flexible when it comes to college degrees. If someone can demonstrate proficiency in sought-after technologies, he says, "they'll be marketable even without a formal degree."

Doctors make certain that we're productive

By David Graulich, Tribune Media

If you want to get some work done, make a doctor's appointment. That insight dawned on me last week, while I was sitting in a doctor's waiting room. I brought a thick folder of dull but necessary business reading.

Sure enough, I read the whole folder amid the ever-so-jolly ambience of the waiting room, whose decor reminded me of a Howard Johnson's motel lobby (circa 1971). My fellow patients-in-waiting were immersed in briefcases, binders, yellow markers and paperwork. My wife had a similar experience recently, when she plowed through stacks of work while waiting 20 minutes for a five-minute consultation. We should be appreciative of doctors, who have provided us with a highly productive place to concentrate on work. How else can you explain the typical doctor's office procedures?

For example, there is the little matter of punctuality. You leave work early for your 3:30 appointment and arrange for someone else to pick up your daughter at the day-care center.

But a 3:30 appointment means you see the doctor at 4... or 4:30... or maybe 5:15. We're conditioned to mutely accept this infuriating tardiness, which we wouldn't tolerate at our companies. But now I understand. Doctors do this intentionally, because their patients are getting so much work done in the waiting room.

There are other clever touches that enhance your productivity. Doctors don't want you to be distracted by light reading, so they make sure the magazines strewn around the waiting room are 1) ripped and soiled and 2) ancient.

Doctors realize that you may get bright ideas about work in the great outdoors, so they reserve the closest parking spots for themselves and allow you, the customer, to park far away and hike back to their office.

Doctors don't want you to feel obliged to make small talk with the staff. So they place their personnel behind a Plexiglas window and train them to ignore you while they talk on the phone and do "filing." Should you desire to use the restroom, you can tap on the Plexiglas like a monkey until they notice you and bequeath the lavatory key upon you.

And if you get restless, a nurse thoughtfully moves you from the Big Waiting Room to the Little Examination Room With No Ventilation, where you wait some more. Don't forget to bring your work with you, unless you prefer to gaze at the explicit diagrams of diseased organs that hang on the walls of the Little Examination Room.

Yes, the working people of America owe an enormous thank-you to doctors. They've deliberately made our experience as health-care consumers tedious, disagreeable and degrading—so we'll have a great place to do our work.

Hiring friends should spur ethical inquiry

By Lindsey Novak
Tribune Media

Q: My husband worked as a file clerk for six months. His performance was deemed satisfactory, and he was liked by fellow staff members. When a new office manager started, problems arose over petty disagreements, and she began yelling at my husband in front of his co-workers. Then he was fired.

This manager told him that his work performance was better than average, but that she didn't think they could work together due to their differences. Several other employees have resigned because of this woman, and we found out that she has hired her friends in their places. Can someone fire a person over personal differences? And isn't it wrong for her to hire her friends?

A: Yes, people can be fired because of personality clashes. Getting along with your boss is crucial if you want to succeed in any job. But hiring friends to fill the vacancies seems a bit suspicious.

Most companies conduct exit interviews, in which the employee is given a chance to speak up about why he or she is leaving. If your husband and his co-workers who quit explained in their exit interviews that the manager was creating a hostile work environment so employees would quit, the company should have looked into her work ethics. If no one informs the human resources department or upper management, they may turn the situation around and think this manager is a great resource for hiring good employees. And if her department's productivity increases or at least stays the same, she may actually be rewarded with bonuses or a finder's fee for ringing in good employees to the company.

UNFORGIVING CO-WORKER LOSES BOSS'S RESPECT

Q: Three years ago my co-worker overheard me saying something negative about her. I apologized profusely several times, but she turned her back on me. I sent a letter of apology to her home, but she never acknowledged it. She has transferred out of my department, but I still run into her in the parking garage and other common areas at work. I always say hello; she always turns her head. She will not even get on the elevator with me or enter the coffee room if I'm there. My boss is aware that I have endured this treatment every day for three years and just keeps telling me to ignore her. Isn't there some kind of code of decency she should be told to follow?

A: As kind and as polite as we try to be, we are still human and make mistakes, as you did by talking negatively about her in the office. You did the right thing by apologizing and remaining friendly, despite her behavior. If she is unforgiving and chooses to continue suffering, let it go. It sounds like your boss no longer respects this woman, as evidenced by the advice to ignore her. If the situation affected either your or her performance on the job, or if she were overtly abusive to you, your boss would probably handle it differently.

TO THE READERS: After the many lawsuits that companies and managers have experienced, is sexual harassment still present in the workplace? If so, is it more subtle? Write about your past and present experiences, and the changes you are seeing at work.

Lack of communication, in work as in travels, can result in pitfalls

By Alice Bredin,
Tribune Media

I just returned from a trip to Spain during which I noticed something interesting about some American tourists. They would start speaking English to waiters, store clerks and hotel staff without even asking the person whether or not they spoke English.

They appeared to assume that because they spoke English, these people would as well. The same mistake is often made in business, when business owners assume clients are seeking the same language they are.

On my trip, it seemed inconceivable to me that the tourists had not even made the effort to use the simple phrase "Habla Usted Ingles?" (Do you speak English?). I am sympathetic to the pain of trying to speak a new language. It requires significant effort and most of us feel self-conscious about the way we pronounce foreign languages.

As Americans, we are also used to speaking English because, unlike Europeans, we can travel for miles in most directions and still find English-speaking people. Even given both of these facts, the actions of these tourists indicated self-absorption to me and a lack of perspective about the fact that the world is full of many people who do not speak our language.

It is also easy to lose perspective when it comes to working at home. Just as travel broadens your world view, getting out of the home office provides an important perspective on your clients or customers - a point of view that's necessary for your home-based business to thrive.

Without this expanded view you could be speaking the wrong language to communicate with your clients or customers. Customers who cannot understand you will be reluctant to buy from you.

The classic example is the technology industry, where people who understand how a product works often try to sell customers based on that information instead of on the time-saving or money-saving benefits customers really care about. This misunderstanding, however, can happen in any industry.

To determine if you are speaking the same language as your clients ask yourself the following questions:

• Do you use acronyms frequently? You may be in the habit of using acronyms without defining them because you do this as a matter of course with your staff or peers. While this may be effective in your business, you will be perceived as a bad communicator if you use uncommon acronyms with customers. Likewise, if your clients regularly use acronyms, be sure to incorporate them into your written and verbal communication.

• On what are you basing your assumptions about the customers and clients of your home-based business? A common mistake is to base perceptions of customer needs on your needs. This tendency is exacerbated when you work at home because you may not often see your customers face-to-face.

Ask yourself if you make decisions about new offerings, marketing and service on customer feedback, or on your hunches and personal preferences. If you have been going on hunch, start asking your clients and customers more questions about their concerns, objectives and preferences.

An easy way to broaden your world view is to ask clients at least one question about their preferences every time you talk to them. If this isn't practical, set a goal each week for a number of inquiries you will make.

• Do you understand the culture to which you are selling? In order to sell effectively to your customer base you need to know what they value. You may be selling to a corporation where appearance is crucial or where personal bobbies knit the staff together. On the other hand, your target audience may be people who are so tight on time that they like to get right down to business without a lot of small talk.

• Do you get out of your home office at least twice a week for business interaction? This is the minimum needed to keep in touch with the culture of corporate clients, your industry and the pulse of your customer base.

Just because something is old doesn't mean it isn't valuable.

I can relate to that. Maybe that's why I'm never in a rush with these old guys. Standing out a dent here and there, restoring the gears...soon I'll have all the time in the world for them, just like they have for me. That's the beauty of retirement. And now that it's almost here, I'm grateful that I started planning early — with U.S. Savings Bonds. I started buying Savings Bonds when I got my first real job, through a Payroll Savings Plan. I put aside something every payday. And little by little, it really added up. Bonds are guaranteed safe, too, and earn interest up to 30 years.

In a few more years, you'll find me out here in the workshop more and more, fixing a hinge or polishing a case. I know that there's a lot of life left in these old guys. I can relate to that, too.

Ask your employer or banker about saving with U.S. Savings Bonds. For all the right reasons

CREDIT REPRESENTATIVES

Full-time, Temporary Positions Available in Ann Arbor!

Right now, AT&T, the global communications leader, seeks FULL-TIME, TEMPORARY CREDIT REPRESENTATIVES IN ANN ARBOR to handle customer service telephone inquiries. Strong communication and customer service skills, and the ability to use a computer terminal to input and retrieve data are required. You must be available to work a 40 hour work week Monday - Friday, 3:30pm - 12:00midnight and Saturday 11:30am - 8:00pm. These temporary positions will begin on the 2nd week of July and last until approximately December 1997.

In exchange for your talents and dedication, we offer a competitive starting salary of $7.60/hour with raises every six months and benefits including paid vacation and holidays.

Ready for new challenges? Just apply in person at the AT&T Facility on Monday, July 14th at 9:30am or 1:00pm at 2350 Green Road (US 23 at the Plymouth Road exit) in Ann Arbor.

An aptitude test will be given. Please bring a picture ID and allow 2 1/2 hours for processing. An EOE.

MOLDING TECHNICIAN

It takes talent, determination and uncompromising commitment to quality to become an automotive supply industry leader. At JAC Products, we've done that with an innovative management structure that works in tandem with our employees. We are currently looking for a Molding Technician, for our 3rd shift, to join our Ann Arbor based company.

You will apply your skills to a variety of areas in this position. Familiarity with plastic injection mold machinery, and material compounds is required. In addition, experience with microprocessors, troubleshooting processes and a strong mechanical background are necessary.

JAC Products offers attractive salaries/wages and benefits. For immediate consideration for this opening on the 3rd shift, please forward your resume and salary requirements to: Human Resource Department, JAC Products, Inc., 1801 E. Ellsworth, Ann Arbor, MI 48108. An Equal Opportunity Employer.

Spunky Isuzu Oasis a nice surprise

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti NewsFeatures
All right. You guys already know I'm not the biggest fan of the vast choice in minivans out there.
And that's why the 1997
Isuzu Oasis LS actually surprised me.
It's got a strong engine.
It's got spunk.
It's quite versatile.
It's not real big.
It hauls seven comfortably.

Even has four doors.
This Oasis has quite ordinary styling, which is good because it really doesn't stand out in the crowd. It reminded me a lot of Honda's minivan, but that could also be because of the four doors. Real doors, that is — not the sliding kind, but the car door kind.

The second set of doors are large to let even bigger people in and out easily. They're quite lightweight, as well, cuz even my 3-year-old, Becca, could open and close it with ease.

The first — and second — set of comfortable seats are captain's chairs. The third set are bench seats that can seat three and can also be folded away and stored in the recessed floor.

Even with the seat up, the recessed floor is an added convenience because it can hide your belongings nicely and is below the hatch's window.

Speaking of the hatch, it is large. Deceivingly large, too. It swings way out, and when you're closing the hatch, it can come down fast — I clunked Becca's head accidentally because she was too close to the car. I had thought she was far enough

The Oasis is powered by an aluminum 2.2-liter single overhead cam, 10-valve 4-cylinder engine that provides a healthy 140 horsepower.

away that it wouldn't hit her, but it did. A few tears, but no harm done.

The captain's chairs and the rear bench can be removed, which will give you more than 100 cubic feet of cargo space, if you need that much.

Side-to-side, the rear opening is about 4 feet across. Why would I know that? I wanted to bring home a pine playhouse that weighed a ton for the kids and it wouldn't fit — just 3 extra inches was all I needed.

If the playhouse wasn't wooden, I could've strapped it to the standard roof rack, which holds 150 pounds. I would've been about 50 pounds over.
The good news is I got it home with help from my neighbor, Marty, and his full-size Dodge Ram pick-

The interior of the Oasis, with its double set of captain's chairs, allows free movement around the cabin. Standard equipment includes a rear climate-control system complete with controls so rear passengers can fool with it and adjust it to their particular liking.

Instrumentation is clear and concise. Simple to understand. Simple to use. Climate control and stereo controls are in the center. There are cupholders, storage bins and pockets throughout the interior of the Oasis to shove all kinds of things into.

A neat idea was put into place in the Oasis. The rear-seat passengers are 3 inches higher than the front-seat passengers. This "rising" floor plan — which essentially amounts to stadium seating on wheels — allows better visibility for all passengers.

Now everyone can clearly see how you're driving and how fast you're going. If your mother-in-

The Chevy Astro and Full-size Chevy Van Conversion Vans: American travel has come a long way from a canoe and two paddles. Meet two American explorers who can help you discover new places while the kids watch their favorite video. Choose the Chevy Astro Conversion Van if you want a mid-size van that can seat up to seven in living room luxury or tow up to 5500 lbs. besides. If you travel so often that toll takers know your name, you might prefer the Full-size Chevy Van Conversion Van. No matter which you choose, and whether your trip lasts a day or a year, both are incredibly comfortable, amazingly dependable and easy to maintain, thanks to a Vortec engine that doesn't need its first scheduled tune-up for up to 100,000 miles! Which means the next time you leave home you don't have to come back for a long, long time. See your local dealer today.
