Schools wrestle rumors, fears

Rumors of bombs, shootings and hit lists proved unsubstantiated after investigations by Wayne-Westland school officials and police officers who partly blamed a media frenzy for escalating fears.

Swirling rumors of hidden bombs, impending school shootings and Internet-posted "hit lists" fueled fears among parents and students last week as Wayne-Westland district officials and city police tried to ease anxieties. The rumors proved unsubstantiated following investigations by school officials and police officers who partly blamed a media frenzy for escalating fears.

Television news cameras descended Friday morning on John Glenn High School as rumors of possible violence prompted many parents to keep their children home.

Residents want city to hang up on cell tower

AT&T's proposal to build a 160-foot cell tower on Westland municipal golf course property has some residents teed off.

"One of my biggest concerns is whether the value of my house will go down," said Kathy Bey, whose back yard faces the golf course.

Bey said she and other residents also question whether the cell tower could pose possible health risks to nearby residents.

A crucial vote looms Tuesday when AT&T's proposal comes before the Westland Planning Commission during a 7:30 p.m. meeting at City Hall.

Deputy Mayor George Gillies' said the cell tower would be built on the east end of municipal golf course prop-

Man suspect in local pair of larcenies

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER
dclem@oe.homecomm.net

Released early from Wayne County jail, a man accused of theft returned to Westland only to become suspected in a second larceny, police said.

The Inkster suspect has been arrested again, but Westland police say the second incident points out the perils of early release.

The 46-year-old man is suspected of seizing money from a Westland pharmacy on April 22 - a month after he was charged in a similar incident at a local Arbor Drugs.

Westland police Sgt. Roy Buresh said the suspect had been released early from Wayne County jail even though a local district judge had ordered him held in lieu of a $25,000 cash bond.

The suspect hadn't even received a trial date on the first charge when he was released from jail, only to become suspected in a second incident, police said.

Westland district judges have long complained that the bonds they set are often ignored when suspects reach the county jail. They say county jail officials blame the problem on overcrowding.

The latest saga started at 9 a.m.

If you've ever been surfing the World Wide Web and decided that everyone in the world has a Web site except you, here's your chance.

A new service being offered by the Observer Newspapers allows nonprofit community organizations to set up their own Web sites. And the best part is: It's easy and it's free.

"Mihometown.com is a new community Web site service designed to serve and promote community organizations in the state of Michigan," said Brion Roberto, manager of the Observer & Eccentric Enhanced Media Department. "We want mihometown.com to be a local hub for community information."

Using software developed by KOZ.com, the site allows organizations to set up sophisticated Web sites with just a few clicks of a mouse. You don't need to write code or know HTML. You simply connect to mihometown.com, click on "Create a New Site Now," and follow the on-screen instructions.

Training sessions are scheduled for 6:30-9:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 12, 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, May 15, and 9 a.m. to noon Wednesday, May 19, at CompUSA in the Novi Town Center. Each session will last two and a half hours, after which, Roberto said, you will be ready to set up your site.

The $15 fee includes training, materials and refreshments. You can fill out the attached coupon and send a check payable to the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers or register online with a credit card at this secure site <http://oeonline.com/mihometown> or call Jennifer Murray at (734) 953-2038 for more information. Space is limited.

After the brief training session, you can create a Web site complete with an online newsletter, a calendar of events, discussion groups and a live chat room. The site also includes a built-in search engine.

The sites can be customized by following on-screen instructions and can include graphics or pictures that you upload, feedback forms, and one-click e-mail to participants.

You can open your site to the public or password protect it so that only members or participants can access it. Or you can keep some areas public and make others private. It's all up to you.

Roberto said that while other services offer free Web sites, the mihometown.com site is able to serve community organizations and bring them all together on the main page. He compared that to the community news provided by the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

"We offer community news in our newspapers and our online services. Mihometown.com completes the service by offering groups the ability to promote themselves and by serving as a community resource for these groups."

The service is available for schools, PTAs, school clubs, libraries and government agencies, as well as such diverse organizations as churches, arts and culture groups, sports and recreation clubs and teams, alumni associations and so on.

Roberto said that groups that already have a Web site might want to set up another one through mihometown.com simply because of the sense of community of having many local sites accessible through one source.

"There's strength in numbers by combining many organizations in one place," he said. And he plans to promote the service through newspaper advertising and through the oeonline.com and observer-eccentric.com Web sites.

"The notion of 'Build your own Web site and they will come' is not working for many people," he said. "There are millions of sites out there and they aren't always easy to find."

erty on Merriman Road, south of Cherry Hill.

"It would be surrounded by trees," Gillies said of the tower.

Bey said residents have collected more than 200 signatures on petitions opposing the cell tower.

"Another one of the concerns I have is for the children in the area," Bey said. "To me, this tower is something they will look at and say, 'We're going to climb it.'"

"I think it belongs in an industrial area," she said. "I think it's going to be an eyesore."

Bruce Thompson, Westland planner, said AT&T could be joined by as many as two more cell tower users if the city approves the project.

Westland City Council members would decide the tower's fate if planning commissioners approve the project.

Planning department heads favor the tower.

"It does meet the ordinance requirements,"

Thompson said.

Gillies said AT&T's use of city land for its tower would result in financial gain for the city.

He estimated that AT&T would pay the city $28,000 in initial fees and then about $1,100 a month to continue operating the tower.

"That money would be put back into the golf course," he said. "We're going to make some major improvements."

Residents are expected to raise several issues during Tuesday's planning commission meeting:

- They want to know about liability issues if it were learned in years to come that the cell tower caused potential health problems.
- They oppose the tower being in view of their homes.
- They question whether some golfers might take their game elsewhere if the tower is erected.

March 15, when a man pried open a cash register at Arbor Drugs, 2651 S. Wayne Road at Glenwood, while a clerk was elsewhere in the store, police said.

The man, seen with a wad of cash in his hand, fled the store only to encounter police officers who arrived in time to chase him and capture him, a police report said.

Police found $569 on the suspect.

The man was charged with larceny from a building, a felony that carries a five-year prison term upon conviction.

He was jailed in lieu of a $25,000 cash bond and later ordered to stand trial in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Before his case ever moved through the higher court, however, the suspect was released only to become suspected in an incident that occurred about 9 p.m. April 22 at F&M, 35715 Warren Road.

In the latest incident, a man is accused of seizing money from a pharmacy cash register after an employee briefly walked away from the counter, a police report said.

The suspect escaped but was later arrested during a traffic stop in Inkster. Buresh said Thursday that charges for the second incident are pending.

"I think the biggest problem we're facing is rumors," Charlotte Sherman, assistant superintendent for general administration, said. "We have investigated literally every rumor that has been brought to our attention, and we have not been able to substantiate anything of a concrete nature."

Westland police officials placed as many as four officers in Glenn hallways as a security measure, and one officer patrolled outside on a bicycle, Chief Emery Price said.

Other officers stood inside Glenn's auditorium, where students on Friday watched visiting district judges handle Westland criminal cases during Law Day - an annual program that went on as scheduled.

■ 'We are on a zero tolerance policy for the discussion of violence.'

*Charlotte Sherman
assistant superintendent*

"We certainly have beefed up our presence in the school," Price said. "We have committed more of our personnel there until this reaction, this fear, kind of settles down."

Price described most threats of violence as insensitive "pranks and childish behavior" in the wake of a Colorado school massacre that left 15 dead.

Not taking chances

"The thing that we need to stress is that schools for the most part are safe," he said Friday. "That doesn't mean we aren't reacting (to threats of violence)."

Sherman confirmed that one bomb threat last week prompted school officials to call in officers with police dogs for a nighttime search of Glenn, a school of 2,100 students in grades nine through 12. Nothing was found.

"We are continuing to investigate all rumors, because we feel we need to be overly cautious in this time," Sherman said. "Unfortunately, our investigations continue the rumors. When we investigate, kids seem to think there's something to the rumors."

One Glenn student who pulled a fire alarm on Wednesday, prompting an evacuation, also was suspended and faces possible criminal charges, Sherman said.

On Thursday, Glenn and Wayne Memorial High principals sent letters home to parents to try to quash rumors and let them know that security has been increased.

The letters stressed that "no incident which would jeopardize the safety of your student has occurred at the high school."

Glenn Principal Neil Thomas and Wayne Memorial Principal Donald Chastain also advised parents to talk to their children and to advise them to report rumors to teachers or school administrators.

Some educators said they hoped the letters wouldn't fuel even more rumors of impending violence.

"Safety is our No. 1 priority, and I believe it's the No. 1 priority of our parents, too," Sherman said.

Promise to parents

"We have made a promise to parents, and we will continue to investigate any rumors even though we know that that may only further the rumors. We feel we have an obligation," she said. "There have been no incidents of threats to any students."

"The behavior is exemplary at this point," Sherman added. "The school is very orderly, very quiet. We have taken extra precautions in every single building."

Some rumors that sparked fears at John Glenn began to trickle into middle schools last week, indicating a widening sense of unease. Sherman said staffs at every school have reviewed emergency procedures and have been told to keep doors locked except for main entrances, especially during after-school hours.

Employees such as custodians also have been advised to report any object that looks suspicious "that doesn't belong in the school," Sherman said.

Despite all the measures to ensure safety, Sherman conceded that "the students seem anxious, the parents are anxious."

One Glenn secretary said Friday that telephones "are ringing off the hook" as parents phoned to say they chose to keep their students home.

School officials and police couldn't confirm reports of Internet postings of supposed "hit lists" that named students to be harmed. One secretary wearily remarked that a piece of crumpled paper in a classroom can fuel rumors of targeted students.

"We are on a zero tolerance policy for the discussion of violence," Sherman said. "We will not tolerate even joking remarks."

One school employee said privately that she had heard reports of some students missing school Friday not because they feared going to class - but because they wanted to attend beer parties. She said she had heard of two or more parties, but her allegations couldn't be confirmed.

Police, meanwhile, patrolled Glenn hallways.

Media factor

Educators and police officials, alike, assigned some blame to the media for fueling problems in the wake of the Littleton, Colo., shootings.

"We have a concern that the media, especially the television media, are heightening the anxiety by continuing to play up stories even when no violence has occurred," Sherman said.

Chief Price agreed and said, "We feel that as soon as the media gets off this for a week or so, this will die down."

Price conceded that threats of violence can't be ignored. "It only takes one or two of these kids who have severe emotional problems to carry out these (violent) fantasies."

"But," he added, "I think the media is feeding it."

Principals send letter to parents

Here's the text of a letter sent home to parents and guardians of students who attend John Glenn High School. The letter, sent Thursday, was signed by Principal Neil Thomas. Wayne Memorial High School Principal Donald Chastain sent a similar letter to parents.

It is understandable that our school staff, parents and citizens are anxious this week following the tragic circumstances in Colorado. The unsubstantiated rumors of potential violence along with the evacuation of this school caused by a student-initiated fire alarm on Wednesday have only added to the anxiety. The relentless media coverage of high schools throughout the state and country has further heightened the concerns of students and parents.

Please be assured that your children's safety is our number one concern. Last Tuesday, I met with our staff to intensify our security measures to protect our students and staff. We have been in contact with the Westland police on a daily basis to investigate any and all rumors. Additional security, including uniformed police officers, will be present in the building tomorrow (Friday) to relieve the anxiety expressed by many of our students. I am personally frustrated at the continuing flow of rumors. I know that youngsters, like most people, hear things and take them at face value; but the fact is, no incident which would jeopardize the safety of your student has occurred at the high school. These rumors remain unsubstantiated.

The high state of anxiety caused by the Colorado tragedy has created a fertile ground for rumor and innuendo in every school district. We've been told by the news media that parents are calling them instead of the school office to express concern over alleged incidents. Such behavior only diverts the attention of your school officials from the real task at hand - making our schools a safe harbor for our children. This behavior also increases the level of anxiety for all of us.

Please be assured that we have taken all of the precautions we can reasonably take, and we will follow through on anything that needs our attention. When you speak with your children, help them to understand that rumors should be reported to the proper authority - a teacher or an administrator. We appreciate your support.

last 72 hours," said Ken Watson, Livonia Public Schools superintendent Friday afternoon. "The last I heard there was no evidence that anything was found."

A locker search at a middle school turned up the drawing of a pipe bomb in a boy's locker. Livonia police searched the boy's house and a friend's house and found nothing suspicious. The student was suspended Thursday, according to John Kuenzel, the district's director of secondary instruction.

To ensure the district hears all the rumors and reports of potentially dangerous situations, the Livonia Public Schools is setting up a "confidential and anonymous" hot line. The phone number will be (734) 458-8880.

"Obviously we're very busy, but we want the input from people. It's our job to check it out and follow through," Watson said.

School administrators were in the midst Friday of preparing a letter including the hot line number that would be sent home to parents next week.

"We are going over the letter with board members now," Watson said early Friday afternoon.

Watson said the district's security director, Mark Schultz, who customarily works in and out of the middle and high school buildings, had also been circulating throughout the elementary schools in the past week.

The Livonia Police Department confirmed there had been an increased police presence around all four public high schools last week.

Watson noted that the district would take threats seriously: "We do intervene and do everything we can to protect the health and safety of our students and staff."

Rumors of a "disturbance" at Franklin High turned out to be false Friday. Watson said it turned out to be a "very quiet day."

Tim Smith, a reporter with the Farmington Observer, certainly has received his share of accolades and accomplishments this year.

Smith's book was published, in which he tackled the topic of premature babies, reliving his and his wife, Donna's, own personal experiences during the birth of the couple's now 4-year-old daughter, Elizabeth.

For his coverage of educational issues, Smith won a first-place award from the Suburban Newspapers of America.

On Thursday, Smith received the Journalist of the Year Award for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers from Philip Power, chairman of Hometown Communications Network, the company that owns the newspaper group.

Smith, 42, of Livonia, was honored for his exemplary coverage in his reporting on schools, police and fire departments for the Farmington Observer.

Smith was nominated along with Tom Hawley, photographer with the Observer Newspapers; LeAnne Rogers, reporter with the Garden City Observer; Larry McKee, photographer with the Lake Orion and Oxford Eccentric editions; and Pat Murphy, Oakland County reporter for the Eccentric Newspapers.

luncheon where he spoke to the Farmington Exchange Club and learned of the respect and admiration that the Farmington community had for Smith.

"He's an idea man with a gift of making that idea a reality," Power said. Power cited Smith for his educational coverage and sensitivity he showed in his approach to stories on a Wayne State University professor — a Farmington Hills resident — who was slain in his classroom.

Joanne Maliszewski, editor of the Farmington Observer, nominated Smith.

"He puts his heart and soul into every story, whether it's a big story or a little story," Maliszewski said. Smith also pays attention to detail and double checks his information, Maliszewski said.

Maliszewski commended Smith for his stories on block scheduling in Farmington schools. "It's so complicated, but he went through it with such great pains," Maliszewski said. "He talked with parents and students about it.

"That's his M.O. He takes what's happening and puts it into a human sense."

A 1974 graduate of Clarenceville High School, Smith received his journalism degree from Wayne State University in 1979. Smith has worked for the Observer & Eccentric since February 1986. Before Smith began covering Farmington in July 1997, he covered the communities of Southfield and West Bloomfield.

Smith thanked Maliszewski for her nomination, and showed appreciation for his co-workers.

"I've been here 13 years and a lot of people have helped me get here," Smith said. "We had five nominees, but it easily could have been 55. It's a great honor."

Smith added that the award shows that "hard work is rewarded."

"It means a lot to me that my peers have selected me for this honor."

Smith's book, "Miracle Birth Stories of Very Premature Babies," was officially released Friday.

Day of prayer Observances planned for May 6

On Thursday, May 6, area residents will join Americans across the country to "Light the Nation with Prayer" as part of the 48th annual National Day of Prayer.

Established by an act of Congress, the National Day of Prayer encourages Americans to pray for the nation, its people and its leaders.

Days of prayer have been called for since 1775, when the Continental Congress designated a time for prayer in forming a new nation. In 1863, Abraham Lincoln called for such a day, but it wasn't established as an annual event until an act of Congress in 1952.

The law was amended in 1988 to establish the first Thursday of May as the National Day of Prayer.

Plymouth-Canton residents and business people will gather for the ninth annual Community Prayer Breakfast 7:30-9 a.m. at the Summit on the Park, west of Canton Center Road and south of Cherry Hill Road.

Sponsored by the L.J. Griffin

■ Days of prayer have been called for since 1775, when the Continental Congress designated a time for prayer in forming a new nation.

Funeral Home, the breakfast will feature motivational speaker Carol Kent of "Speak Up With Confidence" seminars, which aim to help Christians develop communication skills, and "Resurrection" gospel band. Since 1986, the three-man group has performed at numerous events around the country.

Tickets cost $10 each while $80 reserves a table. Call (734) 495-9253 for reservations. At mid-day, the American Family Association on National Day of Prayer will sponsor the annual "Meet at City Hall" 12:20-12:40 p.m. at the flagpole at the Canton Township Administration Building, 1150 Canton Center Road. Call (734) 981-3442 for more information.

And Christ Our Savior Lutheran Church-Canton will have a prayer and praise service at 7 p.m. at the church, 46001 Warren Road, east of Canton Center Road.

Sponsored by the Board of Women's Ministry, the service will focus on the greatness of the Lord and petitions for the nation and its leaders, churches, the community and the family.

In morning, the Livonia Community Prayer Breakfast will celebrate its 25th anniversary 7:15-9 a.m. at the Laurel Manor Banquet and Conference Center, 39000 Schoolcraft.

Tickets cost $14 for adults and $10 for students and are available by calling Sally Butler at (248) 476-9427. Tables of eight are available.

Featured will be pastor and gospel singer the Rev. Wintley Augustus Phipps, who has performed at the Vatican, at the 1993 and 1994 National Prayer

Breakfasts and the Inaugural Breakfasts for Presidents Ronald Reagan and Bill Clinton.

A 1988 and 1989 Grammy Award nominee, he is the founder and president of the U.S. Dream Academy.

Livonia residents also are invited to "Meet at City Hall," 33000 Civic Center Dr. at Five Mile and Farmington roads, noon-1 p.m. to observe the National Day of Prayer.

Westland residents are invited to gather noon-1 p.m. at the flagpole at the Westland City Hall, 36601 Ford Road, for the observance, while in the evening, the film, "The Incredible Power of Prayer," will be shown at 7 p.m. at the Warren Road Light and Life Church, Warren at Farmington roads. The presentation is free of charge.

In Redford Township, residents will gather to sing songs and say prayers 12:20-12:40 p.m. at the flagpole at Redford Township Hall, 15145 Beech Daly Road.

Madonna ceremony to honor grads, special friends of school

More than 800 graduates will join the Madonna University alumni ranks on Saturday, May 8, during Madonna's 52nd commencement.

The ceremony is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. in Calhoun Hall at the University of Detroit Mercy in Detroit.

Nearly 600 students will receive a bachelor's degree, 209 a master's degree and others will receive an associate's degree or certificate.

Madonna University will confer posthumously an honorary doctoral degree in education to the foundress of the Felician Sisters, Blessed Mary Angela.

Benefactor Jean Corr and musical artist Noel Goemanne will also receive honorary doctoral degrees, while a distinguished alumnus award will be given to Arthur Lenaghan.

Madonna's degree to Blessed Mary Angela honors the centenary year of her death, her beatification by Pope John Paul II in 1993 and is in recognition of the 125th anniversary of the Felician Sisters in America.

Born May 16, 1825, Sophia Camille Truskowska, or Mother Mary Angela, as she came to be known in religious life, had a strong sense of compassion and brought together a group of dedicated women to respond to the church and the needs of the time. Mother Mary Angela provided education and training for the women who joined her in the charitable activities of caring for abandoned children, elderly women, and the fields of social work, nursing and education.

The date of Nov. 21, 1855, is considered the Founding Day of the Sisters of St. Felix, or the Felician Sisters, a name ascribed to them by the Polish people because of the sisters' devotion to this patron of children and of the sick.

Madonna University trustee Jean Corr, who is chief executive officer of Educational Bus Transportation, in Copiague, N.Y., will receive an honorary doctor of business administration degree.

A street sign bearing the name "John and Jean Corr" Drive, which leads to the entrance of Madonna University's Residence Hall, is indicative of the special place the Corrs hold as major benefactors of Madonna University.

John Corr, Jean's husband of 42 years, served on the board until his death in 1995. Strong supporters of Catholic higher education, the Corrs have made investments in Madonna University, including 10 annual scholarships for Madonna Students and a $400,000 donation for the renovation of the Residence Hall, which will be applied to a $1 million balance needed to complete the project and to receive the challenge grant of $350,000 from the Kresge Foundation.

Jean Corr graduated from King's County Hospital School of Nursing as a registered nurse and from Farmingdale Agricultural College, where she majored in beef cattle ranch management. She managed and operated a 500-acre purebred Charolais ranch for 20 years. A resident of Ocala, Fla., Corr is involved with the Catholic Church, schools and community organizations.

International composer, organist and choral director, Noel Goemanne was born in West Flanders, Belgium, in 1926, emigrating to the United States in 1952 and becoming a citizen in 1959. Goemanne is a graduate of the Lemmens Institute of Sacred Music of Belgium with postgraduate studies from the Conservatoire Royal De Liege and private study with composer Flor Peeters. Madonna University will bestow upon Goemanne a doctor of sacred music.

Among his published works are more than 200 original compositions: including 17 Masses, numerous piano pieces, anthems, motets, organ works and various arrangements of hymns and songs, including the Madonna University School Song, and a choral arrangement of Pachelbel's "Canon in D" which was featured in the film, "Ordinary People."

In 1974 the Manila Institute of Sacred Music (Philippines) presented Goemanne with an award recognizing his contributions to church music. In 1977 Pope Paul VI presented him with the Pro Ecclesia Medal.

Noel Goemanne served as organist-choirmaster at St. Rita's Church in Detroit for five years starting in 1955, and at Our Lady Queen of Martyrs Church in Birmingham from 1960 to 1968. He also was a teacher of piano, organ and harmony at the Palestrina Institute in Detroit between 1955 and 1968.

Presently Goemanne is the organist-choirmaster at Christ the King Church in Dallas, serving in that position for the past 27 years.

Novi resident Arthur Lenaghan, a 1975 graduate, who was instrumental in setting up the fire protection and occupational safety degree program, will receive a Distinguished Alumnus Award.

Novi's fire chief for the past 21 years, Lenaghan's leadership abilities were recognized early in his career when he was named Livonia's Fireman of the Year in 1974, receiving a special tribute from the state of Michigan.

While attending Madonna as a part-time student in the early '70s, the administration quickly recognized his talents. President Sister Danatha

“Do you know what to look for in an Assisted Living Community?”

Assisted Living Communities strive to provide the comforts and warmth of home: But which one is best for you? There's probably nothing more difficult than the life decisions concerning an aging loved one. How can we assure that our parents get the care they need, while still maintaining their individuality? As we face these issues, many of us experience self-doubts and even feelings of guilt. It's important to realize that you are not alone. We are all hoping to find innovative solutions to these challenges, and that's why Assisted Living communities were created.

But how do you know if an Assisted Living community is right for your mom or dad? If your parent needs help with certain daily activities and could benefit from a more social and lively environment, then you should consider Assisted Living. Residents receive help with daily activities, but are encouraged to remain as independent as possible. Above all, each resident is treated with dignity and respect.

Are all the services included? Three nutritious meals, private suites, safety checks, assistance with daily activities, as well as other services are included in a single monthly fee.

What types of activities are provided? A professionally trained and caring staff learns the preferences of each resident. Then they plan appropriate activities, such as bridge, crafts and gardening. They even offer a community van for scheduled local errands and planned off-site community events.

For more information, there's a resource you can call right in your area: Marriott has more than 120 Senior Living Communities nationwide and there's one right in Northville. Call 734-420-7917 to reach a Senior Living Counselor at Marriott's Brighton Gardens of Northville.

Granholtm announces new investigative unit

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK

State Attorney General Jennifer Granholtm will initiate a new "high-tech" investigative division within her office starting on Monday to pursue and possibly prosecute offenders who use the Internet to prey on children, steal identities or conduct other criminal activities.

Granholtm, who spoke Thursday at a breakfast to honor the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers "Journalist of the Year" at the Birmingham Community House, said the new unit will have three attorneys working with the State Police dedicated to pursuing Internet crime.

"We will let the bad guys know we are out there," Granholtm said.

Internet probe

While the Internet provides a wealth of information, authorities have scrutinized it for its potential harm to minors or the general public — whether it is a predator pursuing a minor or minors who decide to break the law themselves.

Granholtm said a staffer at her office who went on the Internet and posed as a 13-year-old girl received 14 "hits" or contacts from potential predators. That staffer also ordered beer from another Web site just by checking a box on a form inquiring whether that buyer was 21.

"No UPS person will check her ID," Granholtm said. A hate group now received over one million hits a year, she added.

Granholtm expects her staff to review whether Michigan needs additional legislation in its pur-

Fighting crime: State Attorney General Jennifer Granholtm talked about the new high-tech investigative unit Thursday at a breakfast to honor the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers "Journalist of the Year." The new unit will have three attorneys working with the State Police dedicated to pursuing Internet crime.

suit of Internet criminals and how to investigate identify theft.

"How do you trace that (crime) on the Internet?" Granholtm asked. "It's all part of our internal training."

Internal training

Starting July 1, an investigator from the attorney general's office will receive training from the U.S. Department of Justice for nine months in investigating computer crime.

Along with Internet crimes, Granholtm hopes to protect consumers from the following scams:

- Phony travel agents. Granholtm expected the travel agent who allegedly scammed Detroit area youngsters of money paid by them for Florida plane tickets to be arraigned Friday in Grosse Pointe;

- Credit report scams. People who have a heavy credit card load sometimes are approached by scammers, offering to fix a credit problem for $100;

- Scanner problems with merchandise at retail stores. "The item pricing law probably will be challenged in the Legislature," Granholtm said;

- Fitness clubs that set up a "gym" with a few exercise machines, sign up members and collect money, then leave town;

- Home repair scams, where a homeowner may be approached to pay a few thousand dollars for a "new roof" and the "roofer" then uses two buckets of tar and spray to "seal" the roof;

- Warrant complaints, in which hundreds of people may have problems with an appliance, such as a hot water heater with a defective dip tube, that won't voluntarily be resolved by companies, even if they aware of the problem. Granholtm is negotiating with an Ohio dip tube manufacturer for consumer reimbursement;

- Motor vehicle and dealer complaints. One old trick is the scam artist showing the car owner metal shavings from a transmission to convince him that the vehicle supposedly needs repair;

- Mail order and sweepstakes, particularly those companies that "guarantee" winners;

- Slamming, spamming and cramming. Utility companies that switch service providers for consumers without their knowledge, and unwanted e-mails from companies.

- Telemarketing. Calls from people seeking personal information, such as bank account numbers or Social Security numbers, "could be deceptive," Granholtm said.

Residents can contact Granholtm's office on the Internet by www.ag.state.mi.us or calling (517) 373-1110 or the consumer protection line at (517) 373-1140.

Local host families sought

International friendships can be made by hosting a high school exchange student from Spain, Mexico, France, Germany, Great Britain, Thailand, Japan or one of the former Soviet Union countries through World Heritage International Student Exchange Program.

Students are awaiting word on their host family for the 1999-2000 academic school year. Host families provide room, board and guidance to a teenager living thousands of miles from home. Students are well screened and are selected on the basis of academic performance, English proficiency, teacher recommendations and personal interviews. Couples, single parents and families with no children are all encouraged to apply.

Families may select the youngster of their choice from student applications, photo collages and biographical essays. For more information, call Hannah Walker at (734) 944-3213 or (800) 785-9040.

LEGAL
By Mark Slavens, P.C.
FOREWARNED?
These days, one need only look at the warning label on a consumer product to find out that the cape on a Halloween costume "does not enable user to fly". Those who are injured as a result of using a product may wonder whether such warnings enable manufacturers to avoid liability in the event a customer is injured. There is no clear-cut answer. Those who are injured as a result of using faulty products will find that their cases hinge on the particular facts of their cases. Additionally, the American Law Institute has issued new guidelines for tort law stating that companies need not warn customers of obvious dangers or inundate them with lengthy lists of possible ones.
HINT: About half of the companies that are taken to court by injured customers in product liability cases lose.

FOCUS ON WINE

RAY & ELEANOR HEALD

International wines have Michigan touch

When someone local, who cut her teeth in the wine business here, returns from Italy as a wine consultant, that scenario translates as international with a special Michigan touch.

This year marks Colleen McKettrick's 20th year in the wine business. With family home in West Bloomfield, she recently paid a visit to see her parents Ann and Bill McKettrick. She brought along a stellar list of wine clients for her CMK Consulting company, founded and incorporated in January this year.

We've known Colleen for most of the 20 years she's been marketing wine. She graduated from the University of Michigan in 1980, with degrees in German and pre-law and a minor in performance flute. She spent her junior year abroad at the Albert Ludwig University of Freiburg, honing her German language skills. Since then, she has become fluent in French and Italian.

Shortly after graduating, Colleen entered the wine trade, selling wines in Michigan, and making connections with European wine producers.

Natural career choice

"Entering this career was a natural," she said. "My junior year abroad piqued my interest in travel, culture, food and wine. If you add my interest in music, it all goes together."

After 11 years state side, Colleen had the opportunity to market abroad for Kuentz-Bas, a producer of top-flight Alsace wines. After three years there, she went to Italy and internationally marketed Tenuta dell'Ornelaia wines for nearly five years.

"I feel connected to Europe," she remarked. "I'm happy there. It's a challenge as a single woman to do what I do in the international wine scene."

"Over the years, travel opened new doors and I had a wealth of contacts and friends around the world. The decision to form my own company, independently consulting a small portfolio of selected wine estates, is a manifestation of my personal commitment to these relationships, developed over my years in the wine business."

The cover page of the CMK Consulting book of clients states Colleen's business and personal purpose best.

"Each estate exemplifies excellence and innovative winemaking; combines creativity with technical prowess and is a testimony to what passion can create, when from the vineyard to the cellar, no goal is considered unreachable."

Wine Picks

- Pick of the Pack: 1996 Matanzas Creek Winery Merlot $50, dynamic, bright red fruit with lots of oaks. Chocolatey notes in the finish complemented by toasty oak. Merlot at its best!
- Pair these chardonnays with pan-seared scallops for a deliciously simple dinner: 1996 Rosemount Chardonnay $10; 1997 Canoe Ridge Vineyard Chardonnay $18; and 1997 Ferrari-Carano Chardonnay $22.
- Zinfandels are great for early spring barbecues: 1996 Chateau Souverain Zinfandel $11; 1996 Pedroncelli Zinfandel $13; 1996 Geyser Peak Zinfandel $14; and 1996 Ferrari-Carano Zinfandel $17 are delicious and listed in a range from light to fuller-bodied.
- Proprietary wines are generally blends and do not include the varietals on the label: 1996 Rosemount GSM $19 gives you a hint that the blend is grenache, syrah and merlot; and 1996 Ferrari-Carano GSM $28 is burgundy, cabernet sauvignon and merlot.
- Best buys at $10 and under: 1996 Rosemount Pinot Chardonnay and Syrah, both $8.

Desserts

for spring

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER
kwygonik@ec.home.com.net

Simple, short, sweet — these are the things we like our dessert recipes to be. Most of us don't have time to fuss in the kitchen.

Relax this Mother's Day, prepare a simply luscious dessert for mom that didn't take all day to prepare, but looks like it did.

Peach Lattice Bars, a recipe from the Kretschmer Wheat Germ Kitchens, is elegant, yet easy enough for beginners. You can even make it ahead of time and freeze for later.

After making the dough, half of it is set aside for a topping. The remainder is simply spread into a baking pan.

The dough "base" is spread with peach or apricot preserves. Dough that was set aside is piped from a plastic bag with one corner removed into criss-cross strips on top of the preserves.

Rhubarb, one of the first fruits of the season, is ready to harvest. If you've got some growing in your backyard, and are hungry for something "Short & Sweet: Sophisticated Desserts in No Time at All," take a look at this newly published cookbook by Melanie Barnard, (Houghton Mifflin, Boston, New York, 1999, $25).

A James Beard Award winner, Barnard dedicated the book to her mom who "baked every day... and baked for love."

The book is a collection of elegant desserts, including some for rhubarb, that can be prepared in under 30 minutes with seven or fewer ingredients.

A columnist for Bon Appetit, Barnard doesn't believe it's necessary to bake everything from scratch.

"I take advantage of the high-quality refrigerated pie crusts, puff pastry, and phyllo dough that are available," she writes. "With them I can make pies and tarts in fewer than 30 minutes, including the baking time. Store-bought pound and angel food cakes become memorable when filled with jams or preserves."

Beginning with suggestions for stocking "The Spring: There's no need to worry about dessert when you make Peach Lattice Bars. These easy bar cookies can be made ahead of time and frozen.

Short & Sweet Basic Pantry," Barnard shares recipes and tips that lead to sweet success.

Photos by Ann Stratton enhance this delicious culinary package that is sure to delight the sweets in your life.

Back to the rhubarb, which, if you're like me, is ignored until the stalks are too big and tough to be good.

Harvest rhubarb in early spring when the leaves are fully developed. Don't cut the stems, break and pull stalks from the crown.

After harvesting, tightly wrap rhubarb stalks in a plastic bag. Rhubarb will last about three days in the refrigerator. Freeze for up to nine months.

You'll want to have some rhubarb on hand in late June when Michigan strawberries are in season. If ever there was a flavorful pair, it's strawberries and rhubarb.

By then, your rhubarb will be too tough to enjoy, and the strawberries will be perfect.

To freeze rhubarb, home economists at the Michigan State Cooperative Extension recommend choosing firm, tender, well-colored stalks with good flavor and few fibers.

Wash, trim and cut the stalks into 1- or 2-inch pieces in lengths to fit the freezer bag or container. Heat rhubarb in boiling water for 1 minute and cool promptly in cold water to retain color and flavor. Drain well.

For a sugar pack place raw or preheated rhubarb tightly into containers; cover with cold 50-percent syrup (1 cup sugar to 1 cup water). Leave 1/2-inch headspace. Seal, label and freeze.

Rhubarb is rich in vitamins A and C and a good source of calcium and potassium.

Whether you like your desserts cool, warm or frozen, Barnard has something that's sure to please and surprise mom. In addition to recipes and tips, the book is sprinkled with heartwarming anecdotes that will remind you of your family. Like the time you made your first cake.

See recipes inside.

Baking tips

■ Place the oven rack in the center of the oven when baking cakes or cookies. If the rack is too low the bottom will bake too quickly.

■ Cookies brown more evenly when baked on a flat shiny aluminum cookie sheet with no sides.

■ If a recipe calls for preheating the oven, allow 10 to 15 minutes to reach the proper temperature.

■ Always place cookie dough on cooled cookie sheets, otherwise the dough spreads and results in irregularly shaped cookies.

■ Remove cookies immediately from the cookie sheet or they continue to cook.

■ If you don't have enough batter to completely fill a cookie sheet, cover the unused space with an inverted baking pan. The pan will absorb the heat so the cookies don't bake too fast.

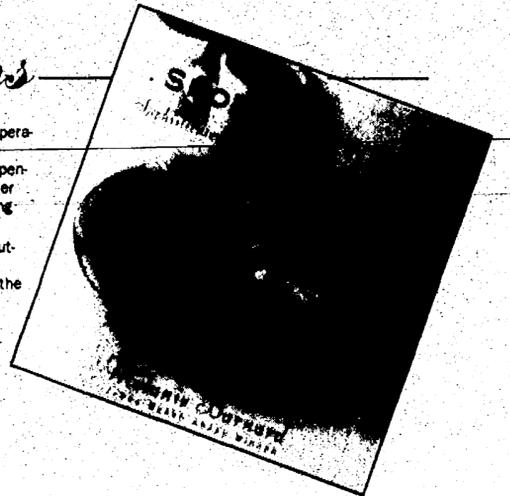

■ Warped cookware conducts heat unevenly so cheap pots, cake pans, muffin tins or cookies sheets are not a bargain.

■ When using glass cookware for baking, reduce the oven temperature by 25 degrees. Increase cooking time slightly to compensate. Glass retains heat longer than the average metal baking pan.

■ If your cake is done on the outside before the center of the cake you are probably using the wrong size pan or your oven temperature is too high.

Information from Lois Thieleke of Birmingham, extension home economist for the Michigan State University Extension - Oakland County.

Wheat, yeast, mold, milk make some people sick

Do you ever wake up with swollen joints, sinus pain and drainage, puffy eyelids, and/or overwhelming fatigue?

Could it be that spring is in the air along with the pollen that it brings? Or, do you have food allergies or intolerances that you may not be aware of?

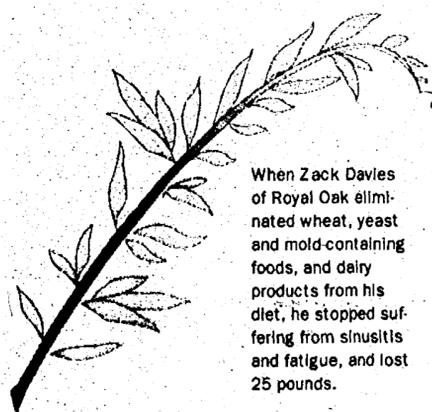

Some people are born with food allergies and eventually outgrow them, while others develop food allergies over time. A weak immune system can be the cause of many food allergies or intolerances.

The goal is to strengthen the immune system through proper diet, exercise and stress management in order to avoid reactions to common foods.

Common food allergens include wheat, yeast, mold, and milk. Let's explore how these foods affect various people, and how you can adjust your diet if one or more of these foods bother you:

■ Wheat — an allergy or intolerance to wheat can develop when you eat the same types of foods day in and day out. In this country, we overuse wheat, which is commonly found in breads, cereals and pastas. We sometimes ignore other grains, which can provide us with lots of great nutrients.

What's left to eat if wheat is in so many of our food products? Try other grains from around the globe such as quinoa, barley, spelt, millet, amaranth and kamut. These are grains of the ancients that are rich in B-vitamins, protein, fiber and trace minerals. Janet Styles of Plymouth was diagnosed with fibromyalgia, an autoimmune condition characterized by constant muscle pain, aching, stiffness, disturbed sleep, depression and/or fatigue.

When Zack Davies of Royal Oak eliminated wheat, yeast and mold-containing foods, and dairy products from his diet, he stopped suffering from sinusitis and fatigue, and lost 25 pounds.

Styles said she felt awful shortly after eating wheat products. When she eliminated wheat from her diet, her energy increased dramatically.

■ Yeast and mold — leavened breads and cake mixes contain yeast. Mushrooms, vinegar and vinegar-containing condiments, soured dairy products, alcohol, and aged foods contain yeast-like substances as well as mold.

You may think of mold as being an environmental problem only. However, mold-containing foods also include dried fruits, cheese, and pickled foods.

Try making your own pizza with soy or rice cheeses. A variety of wheat and vinegar-free condiments are available at your neighborhood health food store.

■ Milk — Many children are born with a milk-protein allergy which can cause severe intestinal problems. If left untreated, permanent damage to the intestinal lining as well as lactose intolerance can occur. Although still controversial, juvenile diabetes has also been linked to a milk-protein allergy. Recurring sinus problems may also be traced to milk in the diet.

If a soy allergy is not a concern, try soy milk, soy-cheese (including soy cream cheese), soy sour cream and soy yogurt. If a soy allergy is a concern, rice milks, cheeses, desserts and other rice products are available. Major grocery store chains are now carrying soy and rice products.

When Zack Davies of Royal Oak eliminated wheat, yeast and mold-containing foods, and dairy products from his diet, he stopped suffering from sinusitis and fatigue, and lost 25 pounds.

Although it may seem like a sacrifice, your health is priceless. Focusing on what you can eat will make you feel great when you wake up each morning.

PEACH LATTICE BARS

- 1-1/2 cups ground almonds
- 1-1/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup wheat germ, any flavor
- 1 tablespoon ground ginger
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 pound (3 sticks) unsalted butter, softened
- 1-1/2 cups powdered sugar
- 2 egg yolks, plus 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons grated lemon peel (2 to 3 lemons)
- One 18-ounce jar peach or apricot preserves

Powdered sugar for garnish (optional)

Heat oven to 350°F. Lightly spray a 13 by 9-inch baking pan with cooking spray.

In medium bowl, combine almonds, flour, wheat germ, ginger, cinnamon and salt; mix well. In large bowl, beat butter and sugar with electric mixer until creamy. Add egg yolks, egg and lemon peel; continue beating until light and fluffy. Stir in wheat germ mixture; mix well.

Place 1-3/4 cups dough into 1-gallon heavy-duty plastic food storage bag. Seal bag, squeezing out as much air as possible; set aside. Spread remaining batter with spatula onto bottom of pan.

Bake 13 to 15 minutes or until edges are light brown. Remove from oven. Spread preserves evenly over warm crust to 1/4-inch from edges. Cut a 3/4-inch opening in corner of food storage bag.

Squeeze reserved dough over preserves, forming 12 diagonal rows about 1-1/4 inches apart. Repeat in opposite direction, creating a lattice (criss-cross) pattern. Bake 33 to 35 minutes or until lattice is golden brown. Cool completely in pan on wire rack.

Sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar before serving, if desired. Cut into bars. Store tightly covered.

Cook's Tips: Ground almonds can be found in the baking section of the supermarket with other nuts used for baking.

To grind nuts, be sure nuts are at room temperature and grind small amounts of nuts at one time. When grinding whole nuts, first use the grating disc of the food processor; then switch to the metal blade and pulse until the nuts are finely chopped. When grinding sliced or chopped nuts, start with the metal blade and pulse. Do not overprocess; overprocessing will create an oily nut paste.

RHUBARB COBBLER

- 1 1/2 pounds fresh or frozen rhubarb stalks, thawed cut into 1-inch chunks (1 pound equals 3 cups chopped raw rhubarb)
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup plus 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 4 tablespoons (1/2 stick) unsalted butter, cut into small pieces
- 2/3 cup buttermilk

Preheat oven to 425°F. Generously butter a 1 1/2 to 2 quart shallow baking dish or a 10-inch pie plate.

Place the rhubarb in the baking dish and sprinkle it with 3/4 cup of the sugar and 1 tablespoon of the flour. Use a fork or your fingers to toss and mix the fruit, sugar, and flour, then spread it evenly. Bake for 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, in a food processor, combine 3 tablespoons of the sugar, the remaining 1 cup flour, the baking powder and the baking soda. Add the butter and pulse to make coarse crumbs. With the motor running, pour the buttermilk through the feed tube and process just until a soft dough forms, about 6 seconds.

Remove the fruit from the oven and drop the dough from a spoon on top of the hot fruit to make 6 mounds. Sprinkle the dough with the remaining 1 tablespoon of sugar and bake until the fruit is bubbly and the topping is golden brown, about 20 minutes. Serve warm. Serves 6.

Recipe from "Short & Sweet: 150 Sophisticated Desserts in No Time at All," by Melanie Barnard (Houghton Mifflin, 1999, $25)

STRAWBERRY-RHUBARB COBBLER

Filling

- 1 quart strawberries, halved or quartered if large
- 3 cups sliced rhubarb
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons raspberry liqueur or orange juice

Top Crust

- 3/4 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/4 cup whole-wheat flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoons sugar
- 2 tablespoons unsalted margarine or butter, cut into pieces

- 1 tablespoon nonfat plain yogurt
- 1-2 tablespoons skim milk
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon

Preheat oven to 400°F. Coat a 9-by-9-inch baking dish with no-stick spray.

To make the filling: Place half of the berries in a large saucepan. Add the rhubarb, sugar and water. Cover and cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, for 10 minutes.

Place the cornstarch in a cup. Add the liqueur or orange juice and stir until smooth. Add to the saucepan and cook, stirring constantly, for 1 minute, or until thickened. Stir in the remaining strawberries. Pour the mixture into the prepared baking dish.

To make the top crust: In a medium bowl, combine the all-purpose flour, whole-wheat flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, and 2 teaspoons of the sugar. Cut in the margarine or butter and yogurt until the mixture resembles coarse meal. Add the milk, 1 tablespoon at a time, and stir until the dough just holds together. Turn out onto a lightly floured surface and roll into a 9-by-9-inch square. Carefully lay the dough over the strawberry mixture.

In a cup, stir together the cinnamon and the remaining 2 teaspoons sugar. Sprinkle over the dough. Bake for 20 to 25 minutes, or until bubbling and the crust is golden brown. Makes 6 servings.

To illustrate, Colleen introduced us to an Italian wine producer we did not know — Fattoria Montellori in Tuscany.

Impressive Italian wines

The following impressive wines are available now in Michigan:

■ 1995 Montellori Vigne de Moro Chianti $12.50 is 90 percent Sangiovese and 10 percent Black Malvasia. Sporting bright red fruits and medium weight, Colleen said it pairs with antipasti such as bruschetta or green vegetables, chicken, pasta with red sauce or simple, rustic ragout.

■ 1995 Montellori Castelrapiti Rosso $22 is 75 percent Sangiovese with the balance Cabernet Sauvignon. This bigger-structured wine will pair with game birds or any mushroom dish.

■ 1995 Montellori Salamartano $42 showcases full-blown red fruit with the distinct scent of violets. An exceptional wine, half cabernet sauvignon, and half merlot, pairs with any full-flavored dish begging for a great red.

Among McKettrick's well-known clients from Italy are Roberto Anselmi, Fausto Maculan, Russis Superiore and Marco Felluga. Not abandoning her U.S. roots, Crichton Hall, Napa Valley, is also listed.

Matanzas Creek

Matanzas Creek, the Sonoma

County winery famous for its unctuous merlot among other fabulous wines has taken its lavender-covered winery grounds to food heights.

If Lavender Smoked Shrimp, Lavender Roasted Lamb or Lavender and Walnut Madeleines sound tempting, you might want to call the winery at (800) 590-6464 to order "Fragrant Harvest: Lavender Recipes from Celebrity Chefs" for $15, along with lavender spice mix and/or herb and spice blends to make these recipes in your kitchen.

The idea for the cookbook came from Matanzas owners Sandra and Bill MacIver's frustration with the lack of literature on the culinary uses of lavender.

Gallo family visits

On Wednesday, April 28 wine-maker Gina Gallo and winegrower Matt Gallo visited metro-Detroit and conducted a tasting at the Hyatt Regency, Dearborn.

Additionally, Matt presented Gallo of Sonoma wines at Birmingham's Merchant of Vino. Both Gina and Matt are the grandchildren of the late Julio Gallo who founded E.&J. Gallo winery with his brother Ernest in 1933.

Gallo of Sonoma was selected as Bon Appetit magazine's Winery of the Year and the third-generation Gallos were here to showcase their award-winning wines accompanied by hors d'oeuvres created by high-profile local chefs including Tom Murray, Giulio & Sons; Takashi Yagihashi, Tribute; Marshall Chin, Mon Jin Lau; Paul Grosz, The Whitney; Tim Voss, Forte; Jim Barnett and Frank Turner, Morels; and Greg Upshur, Too Chez. While we've recommended Gallo of Sonoma wines to readers for many years, we've not given you a third generation profile. Keep reading us; it will happen.

Wine Walk Around

You'll have the opportunity to taste over 350 wines judged by a panel of professionals and dine on great food from 12 area restaurants including Tribute, Steve & Rocky's, Fox & Hounds, and the Golden Mushroom Club at the Great Lakes Great Wine Walk Around, 6-8:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 12, Oakland Community College, Orchard Ridge Campus, (southwest of I-696, Orchard Lake exit), Farmington Hills, 3rd floor J-Building. Tickets are $40 per person. Proceeds benefit the scholarship fund for Culinary Arts and Hospitality Management Programs. Call (248) 471-8340 or (248) 471-7786 for order tickets.

Beefy pasta looks fancy, but it's not hard to make

AP - Here's a dish Dad and the kids may like to offer to cook for Mom on Mother's Day. Tomato, Beef and Bow Tie Pasta looks fancy, but it takes only about 25 minutes to get ready.

The techniques called for are as simple as boiling water for pasta, browning ground beef and tossing in fresh tomatoes. The details - the colorful arrangement on the plate, the sprig of fresh basil to garnish - make the difference. Plus the loving thought.

Older kids can help chop the tomatoes and stir the beef occasionally while it cooks. The little ones can toss in the basil and sprinkle on the finishing touch of cheese.

The pasta could be served with a salad made from bagged, pre-washed greens and followed by a dessert of fresh strawberries and Mom's favorite chocolates.

TOMATO, BEEF AND BOW TIE PASTA

1 pound lean ground beef
3 cloves garlic, crushed
2 cups chopped fresh tomatoes (see note)
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 cups uncooked bow tie pasta
2 tablespoons sliced fresh basil
3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
Fresh basil sprigs for optional garnish

In large nonstick skillet, brown ground beef and garlic over medium heat 8 to 10 minutes or until beef is no longer pink, breaking beef up into 3/4-inch crumbles. Pour off drippings.

Stir in tomatoes, salt and pepper. Cook over medium heat 5 minutes; stir occasionally.

Meanwhile, cook pasta according to package directions. When pasta is done, toss it with beef mixture and basil. Sprinkle with cheese. Garnish with basil sprigs if desired.

Makes 4 servings.
Note: A 28-ounce can whole peeled plum tomatoes, drained and chopped, may be substituted for the fresh tomatoes.

Early detection is your best defense against breast cancer

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON
kmortson@ec.eccentric.com

In 1998, Michigan had the eighth highest recorded number of new breast cancer cases in the United States and tied with New Jersey for the eighth highest breast cancer mortality rate, according to the American Cancer Society.

One way women can take a proactive role against the disease is to perform monthly breast self-exams that don't cost anything and can be done in the privacy of your own home. Another way is to have a yearly mammogram. Unfortunately there is a large population of women who cannot afford to have the exam and they face a nine percent lower chance of survival than women in higher income brackets.

An initiative, in its ninth year of operation, the Mother's Day Mammograms program founded in Pennsylvania by the Rite Aid Women's Health Foundation and sponsored by Rite Aid Corp., serves to "connect uninsured and low-income women with free mammogram services," according to Lisa L. Kirchner a Rite Aid spokeswoman.

The criteria to qualify is based on age (at least 40 years old), income level and insurance status. Women are encouraged to call (888) 748-3669 (RITENOW) to determine if they qualify for a free mammogram.

"The facts are clear. Early detection of breast cancer can save lives. In fact, when detected early, a woman has a 95 percent chance of survival," said Amy Johnson, executive director of The Rite Aid Women's Health Foundation. "But thousands of women cannot afford regular mammograms. The Foundation offers a solution by connecting uninsured women with healthcare providers who offer the screenings for free."

Redford resident Judy Timberlake knows all too well the benefits of having a regular physical exam. In 1989 a lump was detected in her breast during a routine check up. In her mid-forties, Timberlake says she was somewhat mindful of the importance of visiting her doctor regularly as she was treated in her twenties for a fibroid tumor in the same breast.

"When you're young you are aware but your not, of the importance of going to your doctor annually. Unfortunately you don't have that fear or awareness that comes with age," said Timberlake.

Her mother was also diagnosed in her mid-40s with breast cancer and lived to be 78. Timberlake said the likelihood of her daughter developing breast cancer has never been a significant issue but the 22-year-old has made a practice of visiting her doctor on a regular basis.

Timberlake says she's scheduled for her annual mammogram in two weeks at the Josephine Ford Cancer Center at Henry Ford Hospital where she was treated a decade ago.

After the lump was detected through a mammogram, the Redford 55-year-old says a needle biopsy was performed to confirm the diagnosis and she underwent a mastectomy to remove the cancerous breast.

"I went through six months of chemotherapy because there was some lymph node involvement," said Timberlake. 1999 marked the 10th year for her as a breast cancer survivor.

Turning the tables

The American Cancer Society reports that women have a 95 percent chance of surviving when breast cancer is confined to the breast and early detection is one of the best defenses against such a devastating disease.

"Women should faithfully see their doctor every year and perform breast self-exams," encouraged Timberlake.

Ford Motor Co. recently launched a new Web site in conjunction with the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation Race for the Cure® in Detroit (www.fordvehicles.com/fordforce)

"Ford Division is committed to the fight against breast cancer," explained Jan Klug, marketing communications manager. "We think we can make the most impact by helping educate women about the importance of early detection and treatment. This new Web site will help us achieve that goal in a fun and interactive way."

Two of the five options on the site include "Healthy Living" — a link to information on breast cancer prevention, detection and management in a question-and-answer format, articles on topics like "Foods that fight cancer" and "Making things easy for my kids when I'm in the hospital" are posted every two weeks.

A second feature "Interact with Friends" allows you to send a friend an electronic postcard that serves as a reminder to conduct monthly self-exams and the other card encourages the recipient to register for a Race in their local community.

Additional features coming soon include a tribute wall which allows you to honor someone you know who has been affected by breast cancer. There will be space to leave a personal message, post your own photos from local Races, participate in a virtual Race and visit the virtual Ford Race tent.

Raising awareness, celebrating life

The American Cancer Society's Relay for Life is coming to Livonia beginning at noon Friday, June 18 and will conclude the following day at noon at Stevenson High School.

Teams of 15 to 20 people from local businesses, churches, service groups and families will take turns walking, running or jogging around the track at the high school. The event includes a "Victory Lap" where cancer survivors are celebrated, a luminary ceremony in the evening to honor victims and survivors, and there is camping, food, and entertainment throughout the 24-hour program.

The Livonia Wal-Mart is participating in the event by sponsoring a team of participants. To become a member, contact team captain Karen at (734) 524-0577.

Now, mammogram results may be reported directly to patient

What do the results of your mammogram really mean? It can be agonizing waiting for the results of your mammogram, and once you get them they can be confusing. A new requirement regarding direct reporting to the patient may help to ease the process.

As of April 28, 1999, the Mammography Quality Standards Act (MQSA), includes "a summary of written [mammography] report shall be sent to the patient by the interpreting physician in terms easily understood by a lay person." The amendment to the MQSA applies to every patient who receives a mammogram.

"We are very excited to offer this service to our patients," said Sandy Zijsa, product line manager, Oakwood Breast Care Center. "It will certainly help them to understand and feel more comfortable with their results." Physicians are also pleased with the new direct reporting requirement. "We've shared samples of the letters with our referring physicians," said Zijsa. "They see it as a great way to improve communication with their patients and since the letter is in language that is easy to understand, the physicians feel it will help to put the patient more at ease."

Any summary that is sent with abnormal results will also include clear direction about the appropriate next steps to be taken. Results that are abnormal may be conveyed by a phone call, which will be followed by the summary letter. The referring physicians will receive an official interpretation of the results prior to the letter being sent to the patient.

Long QT is little-known heart abnormality

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON
STAFF WRITER

Public attention is being drawn to a little known condition called Long QT Syndrome that annually claims the lives of between 3,000 to 4,000 children and young people each year.

In an effort to raise awareness of the genetic cardiac disorder — an abnormality of the heart electrical system due to defects in the heart muscle cell structures — the Sudden Arrhythmia Death Syndromes (SADS) Foundation is promoting the week of May 3-8 as Long QT Syndrome Awareness Week.

The symptoms of LQTS include fainting, dizziness, palpitations and or seizures. Unfortunately some of the more mild symptoms are often blamed on low iron levels, fatigue or stress and further investigation isn't done or pursued by the victim or the medical profession according to Denise Falzon whose 19-year-old son died from LQTS in 1993.

"Brian collapsed and died with no warning during classes at Michigan State University on October 1, 1993. He was a gorgeous, healthy, vibrant 19-year-old and there was no explanation for his sudden and tragic death. His death certificate stated cause as sudden arrhythmia," said Falzon. "A year before his death he had a fainting spell, but doctors dismissed it because it happened during weight lifting."

Electrical defects in the heart muscle's cell structures predispose people with the condition to a rapid heart rhythm called "torsade de pointes" which leads to sudden loss of consciousness and may cause sudden cardiac death, according to the SADS Foundation.

Diagnosing the condition is done from a electrocardiogram (ECG). While the procedure isn't a regular test performed during a physical exam, Falzon said a family who has a history of LQTS should request the test or if a child or young person has experienced some of the symptoms such as loss of consciousness or dizziness the ECG should be a part of their medical evaluation.

"Please help the SADS Foundation prevent other families from being shattered and tormented by such a devastating loss," said Falzon who encourages families to take a more proactive role in their children's health if they have a concern that to them may seem somewhat insignificant.

The SADS Foundation reports that if a child has LQT each of their siblings has a 50 percent chance of also having it. Unfortunately, one-third of individuals who have Long QT syndrome never exhibit symptoms, and therefore the lack of symptoms does not exclude a person or family having LQTS.

Pet allergies nothing to sneeze about

Washing the family feline may not be the cat's meow in reducing allergy symptoms, say researchers at Henry Ford Health System.

According to a new study, a washed cat emits just as much allergy-causing protein 24 hours after a bath than it did before its bath. Therefore, contrary to popular belief, people allergic to cats are unlikely to see their symptoms relieved by washing the cat.

"For years, allergists have recommended cat owners wash their pets," said Dr. Michael Park, a fellow in the Division of Allergy and Clinical Immunology. "However, our study found that it probably won't make a difference — other than leaving you with a soggy, unhappy cat."

Those who can't part with the favorite kitty, or who simply want the family pet to be happy, should consider their allergies — here are a few things to keep in mind. If you have a male cat, make sure he is neutered. Allergy shots may be helpful for some people allergic to cats. Keep your bedroom a cat-free sanctuary. Wash your hands after petting a cat.

Have someone else change the litter box. Cat allergen, called Fel d 1, is a protein secreted by cats' sebaceous glands and found in their saliva.

In the study, researchers bathed cats in tap water for three minutes, followed by a three-minute rinse in tap water. Then they measured allergen levels by placing each cat in an enclosed chamber and sampling the air. "You'd have to wash your cat at least once a day to make a difference, and in reality, that's just not going to happen," said Park.

"Ideally, people with cat allergies should not live in homes with cats," Park said. "Cats can cause severe reactions. If a cat-allergic person exhibits an asthma-type reaction, the cat should be placed in a good home where no one has pet allergies."

Late payments

500,000 shut out from paying bills online

PC TALK

MIKE WENDLAND

If there was hope that people were finally going to embrace electronic banking via the Internet, those hopes have sure dimmed this past week.

That's because a big part of online banking failed big time for most of the week when hundreds of thousands of people using the two most popular financial programs were effectively shut out from accessing their accounts to pay bills electronically.

As many as a half-million people who had been going online to pay bills and electronically write checks were frustrated in using their online accounts. Either they would have difficulty logging on or, shortly after making a connection, would be booted off.

The massive disruption affected those who use the popular software packages Quicken from Intuit, and Money from Microsoft to pay their bills through the Internet.

Those two applications use the service of an online payment clearinghouse called CheckFree Holdings Corp. and it was a glitch in the CheckFree computer system that caused the problems. The system failure stemmed from CheckFree's changeover to a new transaction-processing system, according to Terrie O'Hanlon, senior vice president of corporate communications.

"We're working as diligently as possible to isolate the root cause of the problem," O'Hanlon said. "This is disappointing, obviously, but we're confident we'll identify the root cause and solve it."

That statement, however, brought little consolation for the estimated 500,000 customers who lost service. About 20 banks were also affected, though CheckFree would not identify them.

It couldn't have happened at a worse time, occurring right at the end of the month, when many consumers pay their bills.

CheckFree says it does not know when its service might return to normal. The CheckFree spokesperson said she did not know how many consumers' transactions had failed, or what percentage of transactions were being blocked by the glitch.

But a Quicken customer support representative told MSNBC, "As far as I know, it's affecting about every Quicken customer trying to do some kind of online banking."

"This is really bad," said Robert, from Dearborn, who e-mailed me earlier in the week about the problem. "I use Intuit's service and they tell me the clearinghouse can't say when the problems will be fixed completely. I've been writing checks. If they don't clear, I could be hit with late charges, plus suffer damage to my credit. This is ridiculous."

By Friday, the problems were still reported to be intermittent, with bill paying working some times, not working others. CheckFree, however, said it would be fixed by the start of the new week.

"We now believe we have developed what we believe will be the solution," the company's chief operating officer Pete Sinisgalli said in a statement.

But the glitch will only increase concerns about the reliability of the Internet for processing confidential financial transactions. While The U.S. Office of the Comptroller of the Currency estimates that there are more than 840 banks that now have Web sites, it has been tough for many to convince consumers to log on and handle their own financial transactions over the Internet. Surveys show the main reason for the reluctance is a lack of confidence in online security and reliable service.

On a related matter, the reliability of Internet auctions took a major spanking this week, too.

And so, presumably did a 13-year-old New Jersey boy who went on a $1 million electronic shopping spree on the Internet auction site e-Bay (www.ebay.com).

"I'm really not supposed to talk about it," the boy told his local newspaper. "I'm off the Internet now." During his eBay shopping spree, the Haddonfield, N.J. boy placed bids of $15,000 for a 1955 Ford convertible, $125,000 for a Superman comic, $900,000 for the bedroom set of Canada's first prime minister and miscellaneous bids for a physician's office clinic in Florida, two mobile kitchens for movie shoots and a Van Gogh painting.

Officials grew suspicious of the exorbitant prices bid by the boy and ended up calling his mother.

"I said he bought (the $600,000) bedroom suite and she said, 'I'm hyperventilating,'" said Internet Auction House owner Aubrey Garrett, whose company was selling the 1860s era bedroom suite owned by former Canadian Prime Minister Sir John MacDonald.

The boy's father wasn't pleased, either. "We're not looking at this as a funny story," he said, asking that reporters stop calling his home.

Meanwhile, how the bidding got so far is being investigated by e-Bay because, by policy, minors are not allowed to place bids. But spokeswoman Jennifer Chou admitted the company operates on an honor system, and anyone with a computer online can sign on. The Internet Auction House is considering legal action against e-Bay for failing to head off the prank. e-Bay officials said they had suspended the boy's account.

TAKEN TO HEART

An estimated 15% of American adults have cases of advanced periodontitis (gum disease) that puts them in danger of losing their teeth. And, there is more at stake. Research shows that people with periodontal disease are 1 1/2 to 2 times more likely to suffer a fatal heart attack and nearly 3 times more likely to suffer a stroke than those without gum disease. Studies also indicate that chronic oral infections can encourage the development of clogged arteries and blood clots. The culprits responsible for these effects are oral bacteria that enter the bloodstream. Because infections in tissues of the mouth are easily spread into the bloodstream, we all have good reason to practice good oral hygiene.

Chorus creates new twist on love story

Bob Taylor chuckles as he talks about re-writing the words to "Peg In My Heart," a take-off on the song "Peg O' My Heart," for the Renaissance Chorus's spring production May 8 at Mercy High School in Farmington Hills.

A spoof on the Frankenstein monster story, "The Ballad of Frank & Nellie: A Story of Love Alive?" is peppered with puns including a scene where Dragula reminisces about his lost love. (Oh yes, monsters are everywhere in this show written by Taylor.) A Westland resident, Taylor took the liberty of changing the names of classic monster characters such as Igor (Eager) and Dracula (Dragula). Frankenstein's Monster is now known as a friendly, singing Joe.

"I want the show to be entertaining. I did it to get a laugh," said Taylor. "Dragula is a feminized version of Count Dracula, he's dressed in drag."

Imagination inspires ideas

Taylor looks to his imagination for ideas. This is the second show he's written for the Renaissance Chorus of the Wayne Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America.

"The style is based on pre-published shows that the Society has available," said Taylor, a member of Kirk of Our Savior Choir in Westland. "I love Barbershop music, the sound of the male quartet. There's four parts: the lead covers the melody, the tenor carries the high note line, the bass is the foundation of the music, and the baritone, the toughest part, the part I sing."

"The Ballad of Frank & Nellie: A Story of Love Alive?"

What: The Renaissance Chorus of the Wayne Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America present a spoof on the Frankenstein monster story which intersperses songs such as "I'm Sittin' On Top of the World," "Are You Lonesome Tonight?" "Wait Till the Sun Shines Nellie," and "New York, New York."

When: 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. Saturday, May 8.

Where: Mercy High School, 29300 11 Mile Road at Middlebelt Road, Farmington Hills.

Tickets: $10 for matinee, $12 evening performance. To order tickets, call Jerry Bearish, (734) 427-9140 or John Lynn, (313) 937-1322.

New and improved

Difficulties with chorus members remembering their lines for last year's show about a man who found himself in an old library trying to trace his family tree led to changes for the spring production. Karen Pritchard, wife of chorus member Mark Pritchard, is lending the talents of students in the theater department she directs at Divine Child High School in Dearborn.

Pritchard, a Garden City resident, cast Matt Utter (Livonia) to play the Monster; Margaret Winowiecki (Redford), Nellie; Scott Gizicki (Detroit), Doctor Frankenfurter; James Evans (Wayne), Eager; Andrew McGuire (Dearborn), Dragula; Kevin Savel (Dearborn), Wolfman, and Jeff Zwal-

Sitting in the string section of the Livonia Symphony Orchestra, Nick J. Nagrant and his children blend in quietly with the rest of the musicians rehearsing for the final concert of the season May 15.

"String Genda"

What: A concert with the emphasis on strings. Guest violinists are Yuri and Dana Mazurkevich. Both studied at the Moscow Conservatory.

When: 7:30 p.m. Saturday, May 15

Where: Churchill High School Auditorium, 8900 Newburgh, (north of Joy Road), Livonia.

Tickets: $15 adults, $8 children under age 12. Call (248) 645-6666, (734) 464-2741 or (734) 421-1111.

Nagrant, a long-time Farmington resident, is quick to add the family is but one of six playing with the orchestra. (The Ford Motor Co. engineer and his four children shy away from being the only ones in the spotlight.)

Parents and children, husbands and wives — they faithfully meet at Churchill High School every Monday evening from September to May to rehearse for the regular season. Nagrant is the only original member left from the Oakway Symphony Orchestra founded by Francesco DiBlasi.

26 years ago. Oakway, short for Oakland and Wayne, was the name of the orchestra until 1988 when it became the Livonia Symphony Orchestra.

"As a result of the orchestra, I was introduced to the Madonna University music program," said Nagrant. "In 1981, I began studying for a music degree which I received in 1986."

Music education is important to Nagrant. Ever since he first started taking lessons in third or fourth grade, Nagrant said he has seen time and again the power music has to develop the mind and body. It's the main reason he started eldest son Nicholas P. playing violin in fourth grade.

Besides building physical and mental skills, early music lessons help train the ear. Nagrant, who began conducting choirs in the 1970s, says "learning pitch is important to singing acapella."

"By learning things at an early age, I wanted to give my kids the opportunity to have an easier time to differentiate pitches, to have that brain development for pitches," said Nagrant, director of St. Nicholas Byzantine Church Choir in Detroit. "The best instrument is a violin, not a piano, to differentiate pitches."

Nagrant's children — Suzanne Swanney, 26, Andrew, 23, George, 22 and Anne, 17, like their father, love playing the violin.

Suzanne was seven when she heard her father and mother Marianne talking about signing up younger brothers Andrew and George for violin lessons. Suzanne was playing piano at the age of 10, but she was an engineer at Ford Motor Co. Suzanne has played with the Livonia Symphony Orchestra for the past 10 years.

"I enjoy playing violin and it's a tradition for us to play our ethnic music — Carpatho-Rusyn," said Swanney, a Royal Oak resident.

Andrew began playing at age four. A substitute teacher for Farmington, Novi and West Bloomfield middle and high schools, Andrew, like his brothers and sisters, studied both traditional and Suzuki methods of violin. By the time they were in the school band, the boys played trumpet, the girls flute.

"I like it, I've enjoyed feeling a part of it," said Andrew.

George also started at age 4. He joined the Livonia Symphony because at the time he was taking trumpet lessons with DiBlasi. Anne, in addition to playing with the Livonia Symphony, is concertmaster for the Livonia Youth Philharmonic. Youngest son Michael, at age 11, is still too young to play with the Livonia Symphony, but is a member of the Livonia Youth Philharmonic.

The Nagrants are quiet and modest about being the largest family group in the LSO. They point to father and son Carl (French horn) and Mike Karoub (cello), mother Alicia Ledwon and daughter Halina McAlpine (violinists), brother and sister Leslie (violin) and John Kachnowski (trombone), and husband and wife violinists Tan Gao and Zhiling Zhang and Sharon (viola) and Tim (cello) Nicolai as other families who play with the Livonia Symphony Orchestra.

All in the family

In keeping with the family theme, the final concert features husband and wife guest violinists Yuri and Dana

Susan Cobb isn't ashamed of being a stay-at-home mom. In fact, after a divorce eight years ago, the West Bloomfield artist was determined to find a job that would allow her to stay home with two small children.

Cobb began creating colorful, contemporary area rugs cut from large rolls of carpeting purchased through an East Coast mill. On Mother's Day weekend, she and 299 other artists, will display their wares at the 18th annual Birmingham Fine Art Festival May 8-9 in Shain Park, and adjacent streets, in downtown Birmingham. The fest is co-sponsored by the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Center and the Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce with assistance from the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

Cobb had been a court reporter when she quit to raise a family. Out of boredom, she started painting clothing and exhibiting it at art fairs 15 years ago. It was during the time she experimented with paint on cloth that her color and design skills were shaped. Cobb's rugs are the perfect way to finish a room.

BOOKS

Premature birth inspires book of 'Miracles'

BY HUGH GALLAGHER
STAFF WRITER
hgallagher@oe.homecomm.net

On Sunday, Nov. 20, 1994, Elizabeth Ellen Smith entered this world 15 weeks early and struggling to survive.

Her parents, Tim and Donna Smith, were thrown into the anxiety and roller coaster emotions that confront the parents of very premature babies (micro-preemies).

For Tim Smith, a reporter for the West Bloomfield Eccentric at the time, and now for the Farmington Observer, his first concern was that of a worried father. It was only later that he realized his experience might help others.

"I wasn't going to write anything while she was in the hospital," he said. "I wanted to focus on her, on being a father. Then I saw the thumbs up photo and it was so dramatic, someone speaking to me, a spiritual thing. It was my duty."

That quick snapshot of little Elizabeth at 4 months old, a happy smile on her face and her thumb definitely giving a high sign, was the spark for a column, a series of stories on other micro-preemies and, now, a book, "Miracle Birth Stories of Very Premature Babies: Little Thumbs Up!" (Bergin & Garvey, $15.95 trade paperback).

And the message that Smith provides through his dramatic and sensitive stories of brave micro-preemies and their parents was summarized in that first column, "... good things can happen to premature babies with love, care, advances in hospital technology and the prayers and thoughts of many people, some of them strangers."

Smith wanted to reach a wider audience and provide a book for parents of micro-preemies that would be realistic, factual and encouraging. As many first-time writers do, he got his share of rejections from the big New York publishers he queried before being signed with the Greenwood Publishing Group. But he knew he had a good book and an audience.

With the help of Livonia's Laurie Blacker, of "Premie Stars," the March of Dimes WalkAmerica program, he made contact with parents of premature children through the Premie L on-line chat room. He asked if there was any interest in a book that focused on the stories of premature babies who made their way successfully through the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit.

"The common thread was that there was nothing similar to this book," Smith said.

This book is a compendium of stories, all dramatic, some at least in part heart-breaking but all offering hope in Mazurkevich. Livonia Symphony conductor Volodymyr Schesiuik grew up with Yuri. Both studied with the same violin professor in Lviv, Ukraine (formerly a part of the Soviet Union). Both Yuri and Dana are music professors at Boston University and winners of many international competitions.

"They're a very interesting family. They left the Soviet Union about 20 years ago," said Schesiuik. "Yuri played with the LSO a couple of years ago. He's a beautiful violinist. Not on any concert can you hear two famous violinists."

Schesiuik invites the Jewish community to attend the concert because he's programmed something special for them — Christopher Tew's "Rhapsody on Jewish Folk Songs" and Ernest Bloch's "Three Pictures of Hassidic Life." Tew, before moving to Tenn. with his wife Laura, was a violinist with the Livonia Symphony Orchestra. Concertmaster Kathy Ferris is soloist for "Rhapsody on Jewish Folk Songs."

This is the final salute to American composers featured by the orchestra this season.

"It's a tribute to my Jewish friends," said Schesiuik who immigrated to this country in 1991 from Ukraine. "Christopher Tew uses full orchestra sound. It's a popular Jewish melody. When it was played before people would sing it with orchestra."

This is the final salute to American composers featured by the orchestra this season. Besides Tew's work, the orchestra will play George Chadwick's "Serenade in F for String Orchestra."

"This season we wanted to show American music is not less than European music," said Schesiuik. "Written in 1890, there's no connection with Europe, no radio, no TV. It's a very special American feeling."

the last piece Cobb added to a room.

"I go into their homes then design it specifically for that person," said Cobb. "I love working with cloth. I work upside down and the surprise is when I turn it over and see the outcome. It's very exciting. It always makes people happy because it adds so much to their home."

Exhibiting

Cobb exhibits her rugs in several shows each year including the Ann Arbor State Street Art-Fair. Artists, like Cobb, love the Birmingham Fine Art Festival for a number of reasons, not the least of which is that the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Center takes no commission on sales. Artists do pay a booth fee, however.

"The Birmingham Fine Art Festival is the place to be seen Mother's Day weekend without walking the blocks of Ann Arbor," said Cobb. "It draws a very serious buying crowd and because of that it draws a lot of talented artists from across the country like Ann Arbor does. It's highly attractive for an artist to be in this show. The jury chooses what the public demands."

It is the jurors business to know art. Pam Hill of the Hill Gallery, Birmingham; Janet Torno, executive director of the BBAC; Ray Fleming, director of the Robert Kidd Gallery, Birmingham; Nicole Jacquard, metal-smith and jewelry instructor at the BBAC; John Stephenson ceramicist and University of Michigan professor emeritus, and sculptor John Cynar make their living by tracking the public's buying habits.

"We've increased the amount of artists in the last three years from 180 to 300, and 100 are new — they have never been in the festival before," said Jennifer Muir, BBAC special event coordinator. "We think that's because of our ranking (20th in the Fine Arts by the 1999 Art-Fair SourceBook) and artists feeling they do very well."

Community event

Muir is working with Birmingham gallery owners such as Ray Fleming, Elizabeth Stone and George N'Namdi for select galleries to open for business, noon to 5 p.m., Sunday, May 9. It is just one of the ways the BBAC is trying to involve the community in the festival.

BBAC instructors will lead children's activities such as painting a flower pot for mom. Once completed, instructors will place a flower in each. Other activities include T-shirt painting and ceramic clay work. For a small fee on Saturday, children may also paint a silk scarf for mom as a gift.

Award-winning works from BBAC's High School Competition will be on display on the Community House terrace. The exhibit features 87 outstanding student artists from 19 local high schools.

Community groups such as the Village Players, St. Dunstan's Theater Guild, Troy Community Chorus, and Troy Country Fiddlers will provide entertainment. Visitors will also be able to enjoy the sounds of the acoustic Hope Orchestra and jazz by The Warren Commission on the steps of city hall. Pandora's Puppets will delight young and old 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

"One of our goals is trying to increase awareness in the community about who the BBAC is," said Muir. "We're the ones who put on the spring art fair." Common Ground produces the fall art fair in Birmingham.

Founded 40 years ago, the nonprofit BBAC offers 125 art classes every semester, two children's summer art camps, and 18 exhibitions in three gallery spaces every year.

"The children's activities give an idea of what they can do at the BBAC," said Muir.

ley (Dearborn), Zombie. The students will miss from night but they don't seem to mind because fun is what this show is all about.

"It's a monster love story," said Pritchard, a teacher at Divine Child since 1978. "In spring, a young man's fancy turns to love, even monsters. There's a scene with the monsters reminiscing about how each lost loves."

Community involvement

Three times a year, about 100 students are involved with putting on productions at Divine Child. The chorus production is one of the many ways Taylor works to involve the students with the community. In addition to acting in the "The Ballad of Frank and Nellie," students helped a girl scout troop at St. Raphael's in Garden City earn their theater arts badge.

Chapter president Bob Wolf couldn't be happier about the chorus's affiliation with Divine Child's theater department. A Livonia resident, Wolf also chairs the chorus's Youth Outreach Program. This summer with help from the 35-member group, four students from the University of Detroit-Mercy will be able to attend a 4-day music camp in Muncie, Ind.

"We're trying to get into the schools and keep the children singing," said Wolf. "Music is a good foundation. If they're involved with that we're hoping it keeps them from getting into trouble."

The chorus doesn't stop at helping youth though. Year-round they give concerts at senior homes and churches. Proceeds from the two shows on May 8 will go to continue their work which includes supporting Heartspring, a Wichita, Kan. organization that helps children and adults with speech impairments.

In addition to "The Ballad of Frank & Nellie," the program will include performances by visiting quartets: "The Detroit Sound Company" and Sharper Image.

opposition to what Smith sees as the usual negative stories about premature births. When Elizabeth was born, the newspapers were covering the story of a doctor who pulled the plug on his infant son and many newspapers were running articles about the problems faced by premature babies.

"I wanted to show the other side, that it's not always total bleakness," Smith said. "A lot of families don't have that positive experience and I hope that I don't offend them."

The stories came from around the country and close to home. There is the story of Derrick and Torrey Scholz of Des Moines, premature twins who had to fight for every breath. Derrick came through, but Torrey did not. There's Mindy Hull, an accomplished young woman in her 20s who was born premature at a time when medical science wasn't as advanced. There's John Henry Kurtz, whose mother says she was visited by angels and who's faith carried her through continuing crises.

Each chapter tells of a different family and their struggles and triumphs. As a highly skilled reporter, Smith deftly weaves through a wealth of medical information within the context of each story.

"I felt people might get more from following a particular family all the way through their experiences," Smith said.

Smith's view is not Pollyanna. He realizes the immediate and continuing dangers for those born prematurely. He said lung and heart problems often plague premature children for several years. An eye condition called retinopathy of prematurity caused by being in an oxygen tent is also a common problem.

"I'm sorry for those cases that didn't turn out as my daughter's did or others in the book," he said. "Had my daughter taken a turn for the worse, who knows if I wouldn't have written about the downsides of prematurity."

Smith said other parents were eager to share their stories and especially with him because he had been through the same experience.

In an introduction to the book WDIV-TV anchorman Devin Scillian, the father of premature twins, writes about the camaraderie that develops among parents with a child in the NICU.

"Some parents would be open and some wouldn't," Smith said. "You got to know which ones you could talk with. Being side by side for months, you can't help but get to know them. You're going through something, the Preemie Club, I call it, a common experience, and you get to know each other. Even relatives can't understand what it's all about."

"Miracle Birth Stories" is a way to offer that needed support and understanding.

"If they can pick up a book and see someone else has been through it. That was my goal, to be cathartic, a resource for parents," Smith said.

He said he hopes the book becomes a fixture in NICUs. Smith said his religious faith was important to him during the down periods and especially the support of the Rev. David Brown of Ward's Presbyterian who baptized Elizabeth in the hospital.

Smith's book is a generally positive view of medical care and the dedication of doctors and nurses.

"Communication between doctors and parents is critical," Smith said. "Give caregivers a little slack. Parents need to be informed as much as possible and understand everything."

Today, Elizabeth, "Bizzy Girl" to her parents, is a healthy 4-year-old, with the usual childhood illnesses. She's doing fine, as her father knew she would. After all, Tim Smith was born in December of 1956 and wasn't due until March of 1957.

"Miracle Births" will be in bookstores beginning May 1. Smith will begin a round of book signings and radio and television appearances. In July he will be signing books at a conference in Chicago for the Alexis Foundation for Premature Infants and Children, headquartered in Birmingham.

The Cats of Our Lives

If you are a cat lover, this may be the book

The Cats of Our Lives: Funny and Heartwarming Reminiscences of Feline Companions
 Edited by Franklin Dohanyos
 (Birch Lane Press, Carol Publishing, $19.95)

By HUGH GALLAGHER
 STAFF WRITER
 hgallagher@oe.homecomm.net

The saying goes that there are "cat" people and there are "dog" people. Count me as a fence-sitter. Cats and dogs each have their own special personalities. But if dogs are treasured for their loyalty, dedication and affection, cats are appreciated for their "attitude." Dogs beg you to love them; you have to beg a cat to give you the time of day.

This book edited by Royal Oak public relations rep Franklin Dohanyos is a celebration of cats, and though some of these stories are warm and fuzzy, the general consensus is that cats make their own world and we're just intruders.

Dohanyos has created an amusing, touching and eclectic collection of short essays from people all across the country, some of them celebrities though not most and quite a few from metro Detroit. He also features poems, sayings, quizzes and cartoons, including those famous cats, Garfield, Felix and Socks.

One of the best stories is by Dohanyos' wife, Jean, who tells a story of sisterly rivalry and the difference between boy cats and girl cats with an ending that suggests cats aren't totally insensitive to human feelings.

Mitch Rosen of Redford tells an amusing story of his cat Maxwell Smart and his dad, who gets mistaken for a cat killer. Maureen Bond of Southfield writes about her cat Herman's penchant for pens.

Though most cats are thought of as combative, Judge David Breck, former mayor of Birmingham, tells a story about his cat Spooky and his talents for calming angry lawyers. As Breck puts it, "He's a great facilitator and he works for kibbles."

Ernie Harwell contributes the story of Patches, a cat with a nose for mischief who found his way up the chimney a couple times.

Oakland County Sheriff Michael Bouchard tells a funny story from his boyhood about a chicken snatching cat named Tiger II.

Celebrity contributors include Tippi Hedron, who goes for the big cats; columnist Dave Barry, who takes a newsman's dim view of those conniving cats; Don Knotts, whose cat Tatters gets tangled. Other celebrities include Carol Burnett, Ben Stein, Julie Newmar, Ron Schell and Gordie and Colleen Howe.

Jim Davis, who was made rich by his "Garfield," sums up the general view on cats: "Way down deep, we're all motivated by the same urges. Cats have the courage to live by them."

This is National Be Kind to Animals Week and it's a good time to hope your cat takes it in his heart to be kind to you.

Dohanyos will sign his book 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 5, at Borders Bookstore, 13 Mile and Southfield in Birmingham.

High-energy 'Fame' might live forever

"Fame - The Musical" continues through Sunday, May 2. Performances 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. at the Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts, 350 Madison Ave., Detroit. Tickets $27.50 to $50, call (248) 645-6666. For more information, call (313) 983-6611.

■ Basically, 'Fame: The Musical' is 'A Chorus Line' meets 'Welcome Back, Kotter.'

room, and on down the line. Each has dreams; most of their bubbles will burst soon enough.

Basically, "Fame: The Musical" is "A Chorus Line" meets "Welcome Back, Kotter." Where it soars is with its ensemble numbers, choreographed by the show's director, Lars Bethke.

The bodies explode across the stage as if one could control shrapnel. Where the production falls is with the obligatory ballads by almost every individual lead. Several songs could have easily been cut.

Standouts, however, include a Jennifer Holiday-type showstopper by Dionni Michelle Collins as Mabel, the overweight dancer; and "These Are My Children," a lovely anthem for teachers sung by Regina Le Vert as Miss Sherman ("These are my children/ My saving grace/ I see my calling/ In every face").

Dwayne Chattman (reading-challenged Tyrone), with his washboard abs and "all the right moves," was an audience favorite, as was a roof-raising drum solo by Amy ("Lamb-chope") Ehrlich.

The High School of Performing Arts is gone, but on stage, screen, TV and CD, maybe they're right: it just might live forever.

Miss Sherman, the homeroom teacher, glares at the line of fresh-faced freshmen and announces in no uncertain terms, "If you believe you're gonna live forever or envision dancing on tops of cars down 46th Street, you are humming the wrong tune!"

It's a cute gimmick that in "Fame: The Musical," the kids have all seen "Fame" the movie and will one day watch "Fame" the TV show. The stage version, then, is "real life" while the other versions are media fiction.

What all three versions have in common is Energy with a capital E. If they could harness what those 20 twenty-somethings put out on the Music Hall stage, we wouldn't be buying generators and stockpiling canned goods over this Y2K hysteria.

Educate yourself before collecting antique jewelry

THE JEWELRY LADY

DENISE RODGERS

Dear Jewelry Lady,

Is there anything besides mother's rings that we can buy our mother this year for Mother's Day? There are six children in the family, and she already has a mother's ring.

Devoted Siblings

Dear Devoted,

Good news! Jewelry designers work overtime coming up with ideas for devoted adult children to give their mothers.

Mother's rings, those wedding-band style designs set with the birthstones of a mother's children (and grandchildren) is a perennial favorite.

Other classic Mother's Day jewelry gifts include Madonna-and-Child pendants, children charms, some set with birthstones, and gem-studded or enameled baby-shoe charms.

Take a stroll through a couple of fine jewelry stores. I promise you'll find all kinds of tempting gifts. There's enough out there to bring out maternal feelings in all of us.

Dear Jewelry Lady,

When I shake my ring close to my ear. I can hear the stone rattle. Should I bend the prongs to make it sit tighter in the setting?

Handy Andi

Dear Handy,

While you may be a talented person, The Jewelry Lady doesn't understand why you would consider undertaking a task generally reserved for experienced bench jewelers.

My advice is to remove your ring, immediately place it in a secure plastic bag and drive directly to your jeweler. He or she will examine your ring under magnification and let you know whether the gem or mounting is worn or broken. If all is well, the jeweler will simply tighten the fit.

Keep in mind you may have to leave your ring for repair. It also might require prong re-tipping or replacement.

But unless you are an experienced bench jeweler in clever disguise, don't do this yourself!

Dear Jewelry Lady,

I really like antique jewelry, but I'm not really confident enough to buy it. I'm afraid I'll be taken. How can you tell an antique from a fake?

Novice Antique Buyer

Dear Novice,

If you are serious about buying antique jewelry or becoming a collector, you'll have to invest some time acquiring knowledge.

I suggest browsing the antique and collectible sections of your local library and at one of those oversized bookstores for reading material.

Go to flea markets, antique shows and jewelry stores with estate and antique jewelry departments, and ask questions.

Also, hold some pieces in your hands. Turn each over and look at the clasps and the backs of stones. Locate stamped markings and look at those.

In other words, give yourself a complete education, and when you are through, you will be ready to make your first purchase.

Your safest bet is to buy from an established jeweler with a good reputation, rather than from a dealer at a traveling antique show. If you second guess your purchase, tracking down such a dealer is much more difficult.

Don't forget to ask for written appraisals verifying age and value when making your purchases.

Only you will know when you have the knowledge and experience to make more daring purchases. So, do your homework, be prepared, and, most of all, enjoy the hunt!

Dear Jewelry Lady,

I want to find a perfect emerald with no flaws. One jeweler I visited told me such a stone would be extremely expensive. Is that true?

Seeking the Perfect Emerald

Dear Seeking,

Yes, it's true. Flawless emeralds are incredibly rare. Flaws are so common in the gem, jewelers and gemologists use the word "jardin," which is French for "garden," as a euphemism to describe them.

If you examine their flaws under a microscope, you'll see they resemble foliage.

Depth of color in emeralds also affects price and value. In fact, a flawless emerald stone with a deep emerald-green color may be more valuable than many like-sized diamonds.

MOTHER'S DAY Make It Special

BY NICOLE STAFFORD
SPECIAL EDITOR

Floral and feminine: Tiffany & Company's 18-karat gold, Dogwood jewelry collection, a gift she would never buy for herself, is available at the retailer's store at The Somerset Collection in Troy.

Gifts for Mother's Day abound, but when it comes to presents, mothers savor, more than anything else, ingenuity, thoughtfulness and nostalgia.

So, while you're doing your shopping for mom this week, keep in mind ways to personalize those stylish and sought-after items on her wish list.

You may even want to save a few dollars and a little extra time to buy a roll of floral wrapping paper or assemble your mother's favorite photographs in a photo album.

Gift of art: Give a one-of-a-kind gift - art from the Birmingham Fine Art Festival, which runs May 8-9 in Shain Park.

As always, jewelry, perfume and scented body products are items women rarely buy for themselves, but always enjoy receiving and having.

Particularly popular and in vogue this season is jewelry with a light touch.

Jacobson's in Birmingham, Rochester and Livonia carries a line of freshwater pearls - another trend this season - strung on transparent MicroCord, which gives pearls the appearance of floating on a woman's neck or wrist.

Available in white or gray, Jacobson's Honora freshwater pearl collection runs $90-210.

Also sprightly is Tiffany & Company's Dogwood jewelry collection, available at the retailer's store at The Somerset Collection in Troy.

Playing off the spring flower, the collection incorporates 18-karat gold, diamonds and cultured pearls, with pieces between $825 and $900.

While most women prefer particular fragrances, some like to try new ones. For those with moms willing to take a gamble, consider Neiman Marcus' new fragrance collection, S.T. Dupont Pour Bath favorites: Unique body products like these Portuguese soaps, herbal sea salts and tub tonic from the Union General Store and Sweetshop Cafe in Clarkston, make for great Mother's Day treats.

Femme.

Also, keep in mind most department stores and bath and body companies introduce new lines of scented products every spring.

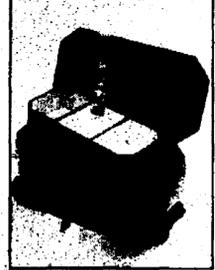

Hudson's new line, for example, is called Repose. The collection includes body washes, body sprays, bath salts, creams, potpourri, scented organza pillows, soaps and candles all in four different scents.

Citrus is Repose's dominant scent, and the collection's products are available singularly or in gift sets for between $4 and $55.

Other less obvious accessories that make for wonderful gifts and hit the mark this season include silk scarves, small purses with embroidery, beading and other embellishments, hair clips and headbands trimmed with faux jewels, sunglasses with pale-colored frames and tank shells in cotton, silk or knit blends.

Whatever the purchase may be, keep in mind your mother's taste, interests and style.

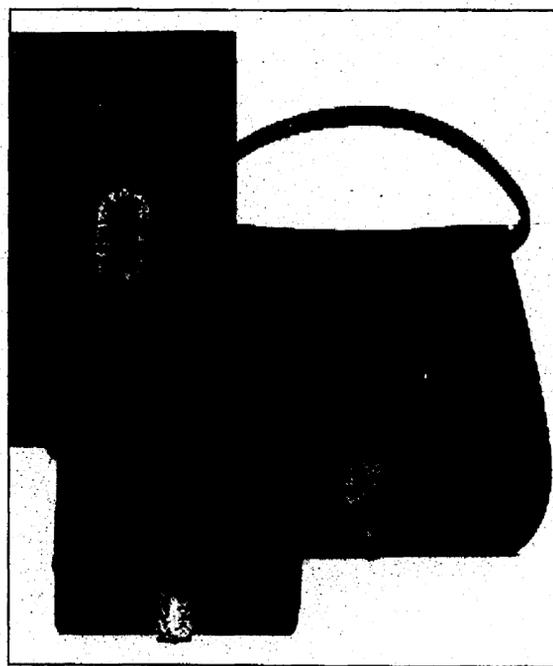

Most importantly, don't forget to devise a way to impart a few special thoughts.

Keepsake: Give a keepsake, like this wood jewelry box from Jacobson's. It may come as a welcome surprise.

Light touch: Jewelry with a light touch is particularly in vogue this year. At left, Honora freshwater pearls in white and gray from Jacobson's.

Details: Handbags with faux gems, beads and other details make for a personal but stylish Mother's Day gift.

Retail, style and special store events are listed in this calendar. Please send information to: Malls & Mainstreets, c/o Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 805 East Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009. Fax: (248) 644-1314. Information must be received by 5 p.m. Monday for publication the following Sunday.

Everyday jewelry

Steven Lagos talks about jewelry's new fashion role

Jewelry designer Steven Lagos, known for creating highly-crafted, fine jewelry suitable for everyday wear, recently visited Neiman Marcus at The Somerset Collection in Troy to speak with customers and present his new Arcadian Collection. We sat down with Lagos to ask him about his new pieces and jewelry's changing role in fashion and style.

Q: In your opinion, what is the role of jewelry in fashion today?

Lagos: Jewelry is interesting because it is not strictly a fashion item. The idea of women buying jewelry for themselves is really a new idea, something that has happened in the last 10 years. Prior to that, it was typically a gift type thing, and so it had a lot of other significance to it. Today ... I think fashion has been played down a lot, and jewelry has been played up a lot. So, as casual dressing has become more popular, all the accessories have become much more the fashion.

Q: Why do you think jewelry's role has changed?

Lagos: I think that there are cultural shifts. (There are) women in the work place in a much more significant way. ... The other thing that's happened is there's this whole other breed of jewelry, and it's one of things that we pioneered as a company. Typically, there was costume jewelry and there was precious jewelry. Now there's this whole big bridge market.

Q: Define your jewelry. What does it represent?

Lagos: It's about lifestyle. ... It's everyday jewelry. It's travel jewelry.

Q: Are there some jewelry elements that you think are particularly in vogue at the moment?

Lagos: I see the whole white thing as being a trend - the white topaz that we're doing so well with. Jewelry people want neutral right now. The hematite is doing really well right now, which is that silver-gray. Black is trending really strongly right now.

Q: How does your Arcadian Collection fit into those trends?

Lagos: There's a bit of nostalgia in it for me. ... Looking at where we are, getting ready for the year 2000 ... there's this whole thing going on - this idea of things becoming very modern and very streamlined. ... All the designers right now are prone to be very nostalgic. The Arcadian Collection is about heightened detail, it's anything but streamlined. It's very embellished, very feminine.

Q: What should women look for in jewelry today?

Recalling antiquity: Heavy on details, Steven Lagos' Arcadian Collection, available at Neiman Marcus at The Somerset Collection in Troy, is anything but sleek and modern. The designer says the pieces are nostalgic.

Q: What's the most important piece of jewelry for spring and summer?

Lagos: Jewelry, it's very personal. Women have, really, to do what feels right to them. ... A lot of it is how you are and how you put (jewelry) together.

Q: What's your favorite piece in the Arcadian Collection for a Mother's Day gift?

Lagos: I always think earrings are one of the most important pieces. A woman isn't necessarily dressed without earrings on. But I think pendants are very important right now.

Q: What's your favorite piece in the Arcadian Collection for a Mother's Day gift?

Lagos: I like hearts. I do a lot of hearts, and we've done an Arcadian heart. ... (Hearts) can be a little bit cliché and we try to make (them) fun.

Family finds adventure in rain forest of Costa Rica

BY ROGER WHEELER
SPECIAL WRITER

"What," begins the proverbial question "did you do over your Christmas vacation?"

"Well," I reply, in a voice tinged with the sly cleverness of someone about to give a completely unexpected answer, "over Christmas I... rode in an aerial tram through the top of a rain forest looking down on the vast multi-green carpet below; went horseback riding; took a river raft trip; watched beneath a star-filled sky as red-hot molten lava slid down the side of a volcano; strapped myself into a harness and cabled through the forest canopy; ate several delicious meals at a beautiful lodge 5,400 feet up in the mountains; witnessed a huge leatherback sea turtle laying eggs on a moonlit sandy beach; enjoyed a leisurely ride down a wildlife infested river, even seeing a baby monkey swimming for its life."

I went to Costa Rica.

My wife, Sharon, and adult son, Chris, and I were part of a 15-person tour, sponsored by the Detroit Zoological Society, in conjunction with the Park East tour agency, which after a circuitous series of airplane trips enjoyed 10 wonderful days in this sunny, congenial Central American country. Ours was actually one of two Detroit Zoo tours, exploring Costa Rica.

The zoo representative accompanying our group was Andy Snider, curator of herpetology (snakes and reptiles). Our trip was marked by adventure, ecology and pura vida (Costa Rican greeting meaning both hello and good-bye, but literally translated as "pure life"). All stitched together by long, bumpy, back bruising bus rides.

On our first day in Costa Rica, we were whisked off, early in the morning, to Braulio Carrillo National Park and its exciting new Rain Forest Aerial Tram, where we were loaded into a five- or six-person cable cars and launched into the vast multi-green. From our gliding perch high above the lush rain forest floor we had an excellent view of the flora and birdlife all around, as enthusiastically pointed out by our eager and knowledgeable naturalist guide.

The highlight of the trip was the sighting of a Great Curacao, large multi-colored turkey-sized birds. Our guide was visibly excited as he heard the word of the sighting, ecstatic as he found the Great Curacao and pointed them out to us and still trembling as he recorded the sighting in his bird book.

We first sighted the volcano through the dusty front windshield of our bus in the early evening haze of our first day in Costa Rica. As we bumped along the rough, washed out road, we first saw the volcano as a faint gray outline slowly emerging from the dust on the windshield. Later it came to dominate our forward vision, then our conscious thoughts; it was an ever-present hulk on our horizon, Volcan Arenal. It was often shrouded in mist.

We at last pulled into Las Cabanitas, past the open-air dining room and on to our rustic cabins amid a refreshing little rain squall. We ate dinner at 8:30 at a place down the road. Afterwards we went to a lookout point on the side of the road where we watched long, thin strips of molten lava emerge, slide down the silhouetted side of the volcano, separate and then disappear.

Gliding

We read that we might explore the rain forest canopy by gliding through it a hundred feet up using a system of harnesses and cables. Or, we could choose the "skywalk," a series of suspension bridges connecting the beautiful rain forest trails. I wanted to do both; either would be great, but the harness-and-cable option looked like the greater adventure.

We ascended into mountain higher than 5,000 feet. Even as we marveled at foggy-green panoramas, out toward the inky blue Pacific in the distance, I wondered whether we would get to Monteverde in time to register for the canopy glide. We dined on octopus and rice for lunch, went on afternoon tours and had an elegant dinner of garlic mussels and mushroom bisque with a delightful Chilean cabernet sauvignon.

Up the next morning, the eight gliders among us left early, taking our bus into town where we transferred into a faded khaki green Korean-war vintage army truck. At the canopy glide headquarters we were fitted with harnesses, equipped with a pulley and given heavy leather gloves.

We were led anxiously up an incline and along a lovely rain forest trail. We seemed too preoccupied, too tentative, too anxious to actually focus on our guide's descriptions of the flora all around us.

A great ride

At last we passed along a small wooden platform on the forest floor where our guide told us was where we would end up at the completion of our trek, as we rappelled down from the canopy above.

We shortly came to a huge strangled fig tree, which would be our passage up to the rain forest. The fig tree was hollow, and a rope ladder had been made inside. We climbed it about 80 feet. At the top we crawled out of the tree (still tingling) and onto a platform about the size of a diving board.

Right away we were tethered by a clip on our harnesses to a rope hanging loosely around the fig tree. My son Chris was the first of our group to go. Just one failed to make it; stopping short, dangling momentarily, then being rescued.

I knew I would go. It was my turn and I was on the edge of the platform. My legs shook as I followed the guide's instructions to hold onto the pulley with one hand. Put your hand over the cable I was told, so you can touch the cable to slow down. "Go when you're ready," the voice said.

Then I was gliding off into the lush multi-green. Moving about 10-12 miles an hour, my stomach finally caught up with me.

After that the glide was smooth, even exhilarating. I couldn't wait to do it again. We did two more glides before attaching to the descent rope and rappelling down to the forest floor.

The trip back to our lodge was marked by the familiar sounds of Elvis and the Beatles as we joined in an impromptu sing-along with the bus CD player. Still feeling good when we arrived at the lodge, I had an early brew, played two games of backgammon with our tour guide Omar and ordered sirloin steak Costa Rica style for lunch. We waited for the "skywalkers" to return. They finally arrived at mid-lunch, exploding into the dining room exclaiming: "Boy did we have an adventure!"

Rocks nip Spartans in Lakes showdown

Field events prove to be difference

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS TRACK

Plymouth Salem continues to be a worthy nemesis for Livonia Stevenson girls track.

The Rocks piled up an early lead in the field events Thursday and road the legs of sprinter Rachel Jones to hold off the host Spartans, 70-67, in a Lakes Division dual meet in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

"This is only the second (dual) meet our seniors have lost in four years," Stevenson coach Paul Holmberg said. "Two years ago we lost to Salem."

Stevenson, which defeated Salem last year, 77-59, but lost to the Rocks by one point in the WLAA meet, made a late charge but fell short by just three.

"We came out with only 15 points in the field events and we got way down right away," Holmberg said. "But we knew we'd be getting some points back."

Jones' victory in the 200-meter dash clinched the victory for Salem with a time of 26.9.

Jones also took the 100 in 12.7 and anchored the Rocks' victorious 400 (52.8) and 800 (1:51.0) relay teams.

"She (Jones) was outstanding today," Salem coach Mark Gregor said. "It was a competitive meet by both teams."

Tiffany Grubaugh added wins for Salem in the shot put (36-8) and discus (116-3).

Other Salem firsts were recorded by Brynne DeNeen, long jump (15 feet); Kelly VanPutten, pole vault (school record 8-0); Aisha Chappell, 100 hurdles (16.6).

Andrea Parker figured in four firsts for the Spartans, sweeping the 800 run (2:29.5) and 1,600 run (5:33.0).

She also teamed up with Katie Sheron, Jennifer Hardacre and Christy Tzilos for a first in the 1,600 relay (4:15.0). The foursome of Parker, Sheron, Tzilos and Sarah Kearfott also captured the 3,200 relay (10:16.4).

Other Stevenson firsts were garnered by Andrea Polasky, high jump (4-10); Tzilos, 300 hurdles (48.5); Hardacre, 400 (1:01.5); and Kim McNeilance, 3,200 (12:28.0).

Stevenson individual second-place finishers included Emily Yambasky, discus (100-1); Abbie Schrader, pole vault (7-6); Cassie Ehlerdt, 100 hurdles (17.1); Hardacre, 200 (27.5); Heather Vandette, 1,600 (5:36.0) and 3,200 (12:32.8).

Salem derails state champs, 1-0

GIRLS SOCCER

It wasn't a rocket, it wasn't a pretty set-up, it wasn't a singularly-determined play that provided half the answer to that end-of-the-season equation: Who will play whom for the Western Lakes Activities Association girls soccer championship?

It was the wind, as much as anything else.

And it was Plymouth Salem that rode that breeze into a berth in the WLAA finals, getting a wind-aided goal from Jeannine Edwards with just 1:20 left in the match to edge two-time defending state champion Livonia Stevenson 1-0 Wednesday at Stevenson.

"They knew we had to score to get into the (WLAA) finals," said Salem coach Doug Landefeld, whose team (now 4-3-1 overall) had struggled through much of the season — until Wednesday. "We've just been waiting for something to go our way."

It did. With the clock ticking away, the tide had turned; Stevenson had owned most of the play in the first half, but the Rocks — thanks to strong goalkeeping from Jill Dombrowski — had weathered it. A strong wind had aided the Spartans in that first half; in the second, it favored Salem.

The Rocks kept the ball in Stevenson's end of the field for the majority of the second half, but could not finish. Perhaps their best opportunity came with 26 minutes left, when Jami Coyle struck a pass from the left wing to Suzi Towne on the right. Towne's shot went high, however, bouncing off the football upright.

Then, with less than two minutes to play, Coyle put a restart into the box in front of Stevenson keeper Lesley Hooker. The ball bounced free and was finally volleyed out by a Spartan defender, but Edwards gained possession 30 yards away. Her hard shot was carried by the wind over Hooker's outstretched hand and into the goal, giving Salem the victory.

"We didn't deserve to win," said Stevenson coach Jim Kimble, his team now 6-2 overall. "We knew going in. We knew Doug would have 'em ready to play. He's a good coach."

"This turns their season around and it leaves us with a question: What will it take for us to go that extra step, and are we willing to do what's necessary to take it? Salem just outplayed us tonight — are we willing to do that?"

The win ended two years of frustration for the Rocks, who were pounded twice by Stevenson last season. Those games were decided in the first 10 minutes as the Spartans put multiple goals on the board.

Which made the opening minutes of Wednesday's game extremely important. "We tried not to mention it," said Landefeld. "Last year, after the first 10 minutes we were out of the game. But Jill (Dombrowski) played great in the first half tonight. She cleaned everything up. She kept us in it."

Madonna takes 3-of-4 in series with Tri-State Crusaders score 24-3 win in 1st game

COLLEGE BASEBALL

It was a wild, wild Friday afternoon of baseball for Madonna University and Tri-State University to conclude a home-and-home pair of doubleheaders played in two days.

The Indiana school exploded for nine runs in the second inning of the first game, then held off a late Madonna rally which saw the Crusaders score six in the fifth and two in the seventh to just fall short in a 13-11 loss.

Travis Steele went 3-for-3 with three RBI for host Tri-State (8-23). Todd Wilkins hit a home run and Mike Podleinst went 2-for-2 with two RBI.

Jason Brooks went 3-for-5 with two RBI for Madonna and Neil Wildfong went 3-for-4 with three RBI. Delano Voletti had two hits.

In the second game, Madonna took care of matters by batting around three times in the first inning to score 17 runs. The final score was 24-3 as the Crusaders went 3-1 in the consecutive doubleheaders.

Voletti went 3-for-3 with a home run, Aaron Shrewsbury went 3-for-5 and Daryl Roche hit a home run and drove in three runs. Madonna pounded out 20 hits in the second game to improve to 22-18-1.

Madonna is 12-18 in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference, while Tri-

State has a 6-12 league mark.

•MADONNA 11-8, TRI-STATE 4-2: The Crusaders went on the offensive Thursday afternoon with an 11-4 win over visiting Tri-State University.

Tri-State helped Madonna's cause, committing nine errors in the game.

Jason Brooks, Jeff Warholik, Neil Wildfong each had two RBI for Madonna while Aaron Shrewsbury, Nick Dedeluk and Todd Miller each had one.

Brooks and Miller were both 3-for-3 from the plate and each scored a run to lead the Crusaders' offense.

Mike Butler (4-2) pitched all seven innings for Madonna allowing four runs (three earned) on 11 hits while walking two and striking out four.

Madonna scored runs in each of its first four innings, including three runs in the first, to cruise to an easy win over Tri-State in the second game of the double-header.

Warholik went 2-for-2 with a home run and led the team with three RBI in the win. Shrewsbury, who went 2-for-3, also had a home run and two RBI.

Eric Williamson allowed just three hits and two runs in seven innings pitched to improve to 2-1 on the season.

Franklin baseball team suffers heartbreak in 14th, 4-3

Plymouth Canton and Livonia Franklin played a thriller of a doubleheader Friday — and they did it in just one game.

The host Chiefs went 14 innings before Bryan Kay led off the inning with a solo home run to give Joe Cortellini the win for a fine six-inning relief job in a 4-3 triumph.

"It was a shot," coach Scott Dickey of the Chiefs said. "You knew it was gone right away."

Franklin scored twice in the top of the fourth to take a 3-1 lead but Canton tied it with a run in its half of the fourth and then again in the fifth. It stayed that way until Kay's home run.

Ben Tucker started for the Chiefs and gave up five hits over eight innings, striking out eight and walking five. Cortellini gave up just one hit and walked one in his six innings.

David Ward went the first 11 innings for Franklin before being relieved by Dan Horning. The Patriots scored their runs in the fourth on three wild pitches.

Tom Jones had two hits for Franklin, which has lost six one-run decisions in a 1-7 season. Mike Franklin, the losing pitcher, contributed three hits.

Canton (11-1) got two hits from Andrew Copenhaver, including a double. Steve Lueck went 3-for-5 with an RBI and Phil Ross went 2-for-4 with an RBI.

The Chiefs are 5-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association and 2-1 in the Western Division.

•STEVENSON 6, W.L. CENTRAL 2: Mike Byberg and Roy Rabe combined on a four-hitter Friday to boost host Livonia Stevenson over .500.

The Spartans improved to 5-4 with the victory and are 2-1 in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association. Walled Lake Central is 4-7.

A four-run third carried Stevenson to a 6-0 lead and Byberg pitched five innings of three-hit shutout ball before turning the game over to Rabe. Byberg struck out three and walked two.

Rabe gave up single runs to the Vikings in each inning he worked but only allowed one hit.

Joe Higgins pitched a four-hitter for Walled Lake Central, walking five and striking out four.

Steve Anderson did the damage for the Spartans, going 2-for-2 with a double and driving in two runs.

•HARRISON 8, CHURCHILL 6: It was Brian Nelson's turn to be the hero for Farmington Harrison.

Nelson's one-out RBI double in the top of the seventh Friday broke a 6-6 tie and lifted the Hawks (5-3) to their WLAA win over the host Chargers (5-4).

Harrison is unbeaten in three Western Division WLAA games while Churchill is 1-2.

Joe Ghanam improved to 3-0 with the help of the rally. He was touched for 10 hits and walked three in seven innings, but struck out four.

Josh Odum belted a leadoff home run off Ghanam in the sixth to trigger a three-run rally which gave Churchill a 6-5 lead. He also had a double and single and scored two runs.

Justin Draughn worked 6½ innings for the Chargers, who made four errors, allowing six hits. Only two runs off Draughn were earned.

Dave Wasil had three singles and drove in two runs for Churchill while Rick Strain had two hits.

An error permitted Lou Hadley to get on base in the seventh. He stole second and scored the tying run on a single by Blake Boesky. Nelson's double scored Boesky and he scored an insurance run on Blake Ashley's RBI single.

Dave Pesci had an RBI on a squeeze bunt for the Hawks and Kevin McVay had an RBI single.

•SALEM 4, JOHN GLENN 2: Single runs in the fifth and seventh innings Friday added up to a single win for visiting Plymouth Salem.

Jason Lukasik, 3-2, limited Westland John Glenn (4-5) to just three hits, surviving five walks and striking out eight as the Rocks (6-7) improved to 2-1 in the Lakes Division of the WLAA. John Glenn is 1-2 in the division.

Mike Swafford worked 6½ innings for the Rockets, striking out six and walking five. Dale Hayes finished up.

Nick Eicher got two hits for Salem, as did Mike Hoben and Joe Rizzi.

Justin Fendeleit and Dan Fedulchak each had an RBI single for John Glenn.

Richard Stankov's two-out single scored the go-ahead run in the fifth. Geoff Bennett's RBI groundout brought in the insurance run in the seventh.

•CHURCHILL 12, W.L. CENTRAL 1: Andy Shoemaker scattered four hits over six innings Wednesday to tame the Vikings.

Seven runs in the fifth broke open a 2-1 game for the Chargers, who took advantage of six Walled Lake Central errors. Shoemaker walked three and struck out two.

Joe Strain had three hits and scored two runs for the Chargers, as did Eric Lightie. Josh Odum went 2-for-4 and Brad Bescoe had two hits.

•LIGGETT 5-16, LUTHERAN WESTLAND 1-6: Grosse Pointe Woods University-Liggett (6-4, 3-1) came away with the Metro Conference sweep of a twinbill Friday against visiting Lutheran Westland (4-4, 2-2).

Jay Minger tossed a four-hit in the opener, while Brent Habitz, who worked six innings, give up eight hits and five walks, suffered the loss.

Ryan Schafer had two hits for the winners. Tom Habitz knocked in Brad Nollar with the lone Lutheran Westland run in the opening inning.

Liggett scored 10 times in the fifth inning to complete the sweep of the doubleheader as A.J. Stachewski went 3-for-4 with a double and homer.

Anthony Legree was the winning pitcher, while John Basley took the loss. Gordie Engel, Charlie Hoelt and Brent Habitz each collected two hits in the loss.

Lutheran Westland started its three-game losing streak Wednesday with a 17-14 loss to visiting Harper Woods.

Harper Woods out-hit the Warriors, 19-16.

Hoelt, who worked six innings, suffered the defeat.

Brent Habitz went 3-for-5 with two RBIs, while Ian Mackenzie contributed two hits and three RBIs. Mike Boyer also went 2-for-2 with an RBI and run scored.

•REDFORD CC 19, STEVENSON 9: Cousins Casey Rogowski of the Shamrocks and Spartans' junior Brad Buckler each hit a home run Thursday in a slugfest won by host Redford Catholic Central, the state's top-ranked Division I team.

The non-league game was called after six innings due to the 10-run mercy rule.

Rogowski hit a solo homer to lead off the sixth inning. He also walked twice and was hit by a pitch, scoring four runs.

Buckler hit a three-run homer in the fifth, a mammoth shot that followed singles by Dan Wilson and Roy Rabe.

CC out-hit Stevenson, 13-12, and each team committed five errors.

Stevenson scored a pair of unearned runs off CC starter Mark Cole in the first inning before the Shamrocks responded with five in their half of the first and six in the second for a commanding 11-2 lead.

CC junior Matt Loidas raised his average to .555, going 4-for-5 with nine RBIs, hitting a three run homer, a bases-loaded triple and RBI single.

Bob Malek contributed two hits, including a double, and two RBIs. Mario D'Herrin had two hits and one RBI.

Rabe led the Spartans with three singles. Wilson and Matt DiPonio had two hits each.

The Shamrocks, 11-0 overall, pitched Brent Schoenbach (the winner), Dave Lusk and Malek after Cole left following the second inning.

Jon Ritzler started for Stevenson and was the pitcher of record.

•CANTON 8, JOHN GLENN 7: There was just too much Joe Cortellini Wednesday for Westland John Glenn.

Cortellini doubled home the winning run in the top of the seventh inning and then got the last out of the game to preserve Jon Johnson's victory to lead the visiting Chiefs to their 10th win in 12 games.

Dave Mijal was the losing pitcher, going 4½ innings and allowing three earned runs.

Dan Fedulchak had two hits for the Rockets and Brian Reed had two hits plus an RBI.

Bryan Kay had two hits for Canton. Johnson (4-0) struck out four and walked three while scattering nine John Glenn hits.

A walk and a sacrifice set up Cortellini's gamewinning hit. Canton only had five hits in the game.

•SALEM 6, FRANKLIN 4: The Rocks erupted for five runs in the third Wednesday and the twosome of Chris Trott and Adam Kolb held the Patriots off the rest of the way.

Sophomore Trott scattered six hits over five innings. He fanned five and walked two for host Salem.

Kolb gave up the final two runs in the sixth but pitched a scoreless seventh to preserve the victory. He allowed five hits.

Joe Rizzi had two hits, including a two-run double in the third. Jason Lukasik also had a two-run double in the third. Chris Lampe and Corey Whacker each went 2-for-3.

Losing pitcher Tom Jones went 3-for-3 with an RBI for Franklin, including a double. Ryan Tracy had a double and scored a run while David Ward doubled in a run.

A pair of double plays got Salem out of two jams during the game.

•WAYNE 12, EDEL FORD 2: Freshman right-hander Ryan Ybarra pitched the Zebras to the Michigan Mega Conference White Division win Wednesday over host Dearborn Edsel Ford.

Ybarra held Edsel Ford to a pair of singles and a pair of doubles Wednesday in his three-strikeout, no walk performance. The game was halted after five innings due to the mercy rule.

Ybarra also singled to drive in a run for the Zebras while junior outfielder Jon Judd had a double and triple good for four RBIs.

Scott Teasdale drove in a run with a pair of singles and scored three himself while Chuck Nelson weighed in with a pair of singles.

Wayne is now 2-2 in the Mega White and 2-7 overall.

A five-run fourth inning expanded a 3-2 Zebra lead. Edsel Ford made four errors.

•FAIRLANE CHRISTIAN 10, HURON VALLEY 0: The winless Hawks were limited to four hits in their third game of the season, their first in Michigan Independent Athletic Conference competition.

Pat Hoepner was on base three times via a hit, walk and fielder's choice against Dearborn Heights Fairlane Christian.

Alan Kleinke was the losing pitcher, going all six innings in the mercy shortened contest. He walked seven, struck out seven and gave up seven hits. Two of the 10 runs he allowed were unearned.

RECREATION AND BOWLING

Top bowlers: Leading the way in the Queens Tournament recently in Battle Creek was (from left) first-place finisher Novella White of Detroit, runner-up Julie Wright of Farmington Hills, third-place finisher Lisa McCarty of Westland and fifth-place finisher Marianne DiRupo of Dearborn.

All-Star Bowlerettes dominate Queens tourney in Battle Creek

How sweet can it get?

The answer to that question took place in Battle Creek last weekend as many of our local lady bowlers took part in the Michigan 16th annual tournament in Battle Creek.

AL HARRISON

They not only participated in this most prestigious event of the year, they came back loaded with cash prizes for having rewritten several tourney scoring records.

The top production came from the All-Star Bowlerettes League from Livonia's Cloverlanes.

Local women dominated the final standings with Novella White of Detroit finishing in first place, worth $4,000, a tiara, and a plaque.

Second place went to Julie Wright of Farmington Hills, who was nothing short of spectacular with a 300 game along the way, and bowling a total of 24 games to reach the finals. Second place money was $2,000, which Julie will spend wisely, according to her dad, Ed Wright.

Lisa McCarty of Westland took home $1,000 for finishing third, and Marianne DiRupo of Dearborn pocketed $800 for fourth place.

Others from Observer & Eccentric cities who were among the top echelon were Angela Wilt of Westland who rolled her first-ever 300 game during the qualifying rounds.

It would be remiss on my part not to mention the great performance of Cyndi Black from Taylor.

Her 300 game helped her achieve an 815 series. It was Cyndi's first 300 in adult competition, and also her first ever 800 series.

Aleta Sill did not make it to the finals even though she, too rolled a 300 game in the qualifying rounds.

Kristi Troy of Westland survived the qualifying rounds, as well as Cheryl Stipack of Redford (1984 winner) and Belleville's Lisa Bishop.

Another 300 was bowled by Heather Judge-Owen of Waterford.

Other Bowlerettes members who finished well but did not make the cut, were Jeannie Gebbia of Garden City, Tina Judy of Westland, Tracey Wade of Lansing, Darlene Dysart, Sandra Winbigger (1996 winner), Marti Marshall and Carmen Allen.

It was interesting to note that three of the top five came up through the Sunday Youth Classic travel league (SYC) — White, Wright and McCarty.

Most of these ladies started out very young, received proper training, and are now sitting pretty in the world of women's bowling.

Jerry Bazner is the secretary of the St. Linus Classic League which bowls at Garden Lanes in Garden City.

Jerry faithfully calls me every week with scores for the honor roll section.

This week, there were two 300s — the first by Jerry's son-in-law, Mike Baldwin.

I was not sure that he had the correct week, for it was Mike the previous week with a perfect game also. According to Jerry, Mike was complaining that he would probably never get a 300 game, but Jerry kept reassuring him and to said "keep on trying."

Father-in-law advice is usually the best advice of all.

The Greater Detroit Bowling Association and Turbo 2-N-1 Grips present the seventh annual Senior Masters Championship Tournament beginning Saturday, May 1 through May 9.

Có-sponsored by Ansara's Big Boy restaurants and Red Robin restaurants, DiLaura Brothers, Thunderbowl Lanes and Eastown Printing.

The event offers $1,500 first prize plus award, second prize amounts to $1,000 and better than one out of four bowlers will receive prize money.

This event is American Bowling Congress sanctioned and open to GDBA members at least 50 years of age as of May 1, 1999.

The tournament is limited to the first 160 entries and bowlers may try to qualify for TEAM USA while bowling by paying the additional fee of $10. This event will be held at Parkway Lanes in Trenton. For information, call the GDBA at (810) 773-6350.

Best wishes to O&E staff writer Tim Richard on his retirement after 32 years as our Lansing correspondent covering the State of Michigan political and government scene.

Tim was very helpful to me when I covered the bowlers fight against the Michigan Liquor Control Commission when they tried to suppress our bowling jackpots.

We won the battle with words and a heck of a lot of popular support from the bowlers in Michigan.

He also ran an editorial on the subject which helped to influence the legislators in our favor. The bill passed and the bowlers prevailed. Thanks again, Tim.

Pro shop operator offers advice on purchasing the perfect ball

Bill Zacheranik runs the Z & Z Pro Shop at Mayflower Lanes in Redford, with a little help from his dad, Rich Zacheranik.

Rich discusses the new balls that are out there on the market, for this is an ideal time for a bowler to reload his or her arsenal.

Getting a new ball at this time gives one the opportunity to get in some good practice sessions where there is no pressure to bowl for a score.

It is good to get focused on the coverstocks of the new balls, some are more aggressive than others and some are a lot more tame.

It is a good idea to seek the advice of the pro shop operator as to which type of ball will fit in with your type of game.

If you plan to join any certain league in a particular house, what are the usual lane conditions, and for when they are on the lanes.

There are two direct opposite types, the highly polished pearlized resin kind versus the dull finish reactives and then there are the proactives that are a more recent development.

Another new innovation has been the development of Mica,

Bill Zacheranik Z&Z Pro Shop-Mayflower Lanes

which is ingrained in the balls surface for even greater traction, even on heavily oiled lanes.

Mica is supposed to hook early and still be strong on the back end and most of them will do that.

Even with these high powered balls, you have to be strong enough to throw something like that and keep it in play. So many balls, so many different styles of bowling, therefore these balls are not for everybody.

But that is where your pro

PRO TIP OF WEEK

shop comes in. He should be able to match the equipment to the type of delivery you use.

For some, a pearlized resin ball would give someone an advantage as you can get more control, and more control means more strikes.

Some of the balls I recommend are the Triton KO Punch, the 3D Offset Hammer and the Sledge Hammer.

Many of these are pretty tuneable as well because you can polish them or sand them dull. It all depends on the lane conditions, which will ultimately dictate what you will throw.

The Pro-Actives are able to hook early, even in oil, get down the lane well and still be strong at the back end, but you would not want it on a dry lane condition.

If you prefer a ball that will go long and finish hard at the back end, then a pearlized reactive resin or highly polished reactive will do the job.

Best advice of all, see the pro shop operator, they keep up on all the latest developments and will steer you in the right direction.

Early spring signs

Despite the chaos in the world and the stress life presents, it's comforting to me to know that the natural world has an order, time-table and beauty that is dependable.

NATURE NOTES

TIM NOWICKI

Early spring is the time to walk the woodlands.

Sunlight beams to the forest floor and warms all the creatures under the leaves of fall.

Under those leaves worms wriggle out from the soil, sow bugs find moist areas from spring rains and millipedes curl up when the are exposed.

All these little creatures that live under the leaves were dormant until the sun warmed them up.

Beneath logs, salamanders join the others that live in leaf litter. When the warm spring rains arrive, they emerge from their winter dormancy.

Red-backed salamanders are the ones I find most often, but one log I overturned proved to be a real bonanza.

I found both the red-backed form of the red-backed salamander and the gray colored form. They are the same species, just different colors.

But the prize was a blue-spotted salamander under the same log.

Blue-spotted salamanders are about three times the size of a red-backed salamander. In all, I found five salamanders under one log. As always, I put the log back were it was originally. Salamanders, worms, sow bugs, millipedes, as well as, wood frogs, chorus frogs, spring peepers and mourning cloak butterflies, are all early arrivals to the spring forest.

They will find just a few wildflowers emerging and blooming during their early appearance.

Skunk cabbage flowers were blooming when snow was on the ground in late winter and early spring.

Now that other plants have started to flower, skunk cabbage flowers are withering and sending up large, bright green leaves that accent the browns and grays of the wet forest areas.

Fortunately the hepatica is blooming and adding colorful accents to the forest floor. Despite the electric blues, purples and whites of hepatica flowers, they can be overlooked.

Sometimes the plants are scattered and small, but once you see them I think you will agree, they are gorgeous.

Hepatica has fuzzy stems and sepals which gives a delicate appearance surrounding the bright colorful petals. They grow low to the ground in rich soils of forests.

The name hepatica comes from the color and shape of the leaves, which are often hidden. Their leaves can be a brownish-green color and are three-lobed, like the liver. It was once used as medicine to cure liver ailments.

Together with spring beauty and trailing arbutus, hepatica and other early forms of life emerging in spring, assure me that everything is on schedule and normal.

Ferguson earns trip

After a nine-year absence, Livonia resident Art Ferguson III has earned a trip back to the prestigious BASSMASTER Classic.

OUTDOOR INSIGHTS

BILL PARKER

Ferguson, who fished in the Classic in 1990, earned a berth in this year's tournament by winning the Northern Division championship in the Wrangler/B.A.S.S. National Championships last weekend on the Red River in Shreveport, Louisiana.

The Federation is divided into five geographical divisions - Northern, Southern, Eastern, Western, and Central. The top angler from each division at the national championship advances to the Classic.

Ferguson was seventh overall, but first among Northern Division competitors with a three-day limit of 15 fish that weighed 39 pounds, 5 ounces.

"I'm real excited," Ferguson said. "This is something I have been shooting for for the last two years and I finally made it — that's step number one. Step number two is to win it. I feel pretty good about it this time. I'll have plenty of time to pre-fish it and I've already fished that water. I have a one-in-41 chance to win it so I think my chances are pretty good."

At the Wrangler/B.A.S.S. National Championships, Ferguson caught most of his fish in shallow flats adjacent to deep creek channels in the back oxbows of the river. Pitching Gambler Dion's Classic twin tail grubs and casting Terminator Titanium spinnerbaits, he managed to boat a total of 35 keepers over the course of the three-day tournament.

"This was the highest pressured tournament of my career," he said. "I really wanted to make the BASSMASTER Classic and it was a very close tournament with a lot of good fishermen and big fish biting. It's the biggest accomplishment of my career and I'm looking forward to going to New Orleans and fishing in the Big Show."

This year's Classic is slated for July 29-31 on the sprawling Mississippi River delta. The weigh-ins will be held inside the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans.

Ferguson was one of the youngest anglers ever to qualify for the Classic when he earned a berth in 1990 at the age of 24, again by winning the Northern Division at the Federation's national tournament. Now Ferguson, who is also competing in the K-Mart BASSMASTER Top 150 tournament trail, has a chance to become the first angler to qualify for the classic through both the Federation and the Top 150.

He's currently in 37th-place in the Top 150 with one tournament remaining - the Megabucks Tournament this weekend on Old Hickory Lake in Nashville, Tennessee. The top 20 anglers in the Top 150 trail at the conclusion of seven qualifying tournaments earn a berth in the Classic.

"I'll need a top-10 finish in Nashville, but I want to be the first one to double-qualify through the Federation and the Top 150," he said.

Ferguson, a 1983 graduate of Rochester Adams High School, has been a professional bass angler and guide for the past 12 years. He runs a local guide service here in Michigan during the summer (810-997-7702) and guides on Florida's Lake Okechobee out of Roland Martin's Marina during the winter.

Ferguson also fishes in dozens of local and national bass tournaments over the course of the year. It cost him nearly $25,000 to fish in this year's K-Mart BASSMASTER Top 150 tournament trail, but a large portion of that expense has been off-set by the support of sponsors such as the Marathon Oil Company, Triton Boats, Mercury, Terminator Titanium, Jan's Sport Shop, and Wrangler Rugged Wear.

"I went broke in 1990, '91 and '92, trying to fish the circuit," Ferguson said. "The only way I could do it is with the help of my sponsors. They have been great."

Ferguson was headed to Nashville earlier this week to pre-fish for the Megabucks Tournament. He'll return to Michigan in mid-May and fish local waters until the pre fishing starts for the Classic.
