BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

A proposal to build an upscale recreation center and a new city hall should be placed on the Nov. 2 ballot for Westland voters to decide, some council members say.

Councilman Glenn Anderson on Monday called for a referendum on the issue, saying city leaders shouldn't rely on a poll of 600 residents that indicated support for the plan.

"The only way this council and mayor will know whether the taxpayers of this community support this project is to ask them - not 600, but all of them," he said.

 Anderson unveiled his plan during a meeting that marked the council's first serious discussion about a possible ballot question on new city buildings.

Anderson said council members · shouldn't embark on "one of the largest municipal improvements in the history of the city" without asking residents who will pay to maintain the buildings.

Neighbors reach accord in bus flap

BY DARRELL CLEM

No-parking signs that stirred a bitter neighborhood dispute near a north-side school bus stop are coming down.

Westland City Council members Monday agreed to remove the signs after neighbors on Ravine - a dirt road south of Joy - chose to police themselves.

Once-feuding neighbors learned that they can resolve issues without city interference.

Ravine resident Virginia Klein said. "We can, if we are encouraged to talk to each other, resolve issues," she said. Many parents became angry last fall when the city erected no-parking signs to ease traffic congestion on Ravine, near a school bus stop at Joy Road.

The city installed the signs following complaints from corner homeowners Larry and Peggy Sullivan, who said vehicles created unsafe conditions by crowding along Ravine near the Livonia district bus stop.

The Sullivans also notified the city about their property being damaged by vehicles trespassing on their land.

Angry parents fired back that they wanted to ensure their children's safety by driving as close as possible to the bus stop and by waiting with the youngsters until their transportation arrived.

But critics said the parents appeared to be using the Sullivan property for social get-togethers when taking children to and from the bus stop.

To convince city officials to take down the no-parking signs, parents earlier this year indicated they would obey rules by parking at least 30 feet from a Ravine-Joy stop sign and by not blocking the Sullivans' drive-

City officials agreed Feb. 1 to remove the signs altogether if Ravine residents for three months proved that they could restore neighborhood harmony. Residents kept their promise to pelice themselves.

"I think everybody has made remarkable strides." Westland police Sgt. Peter Brokas said Tuesday.

His traffic bureau had been in charge of enforcing rules on Ravine.

Council members Monday said they're pleased the situation is resolved. "I think it worked out for the better,"

Westland Councilman Glenn Anderson Westland police Chief Emery Price commended Klein for accepting a leadership role in resolving the neighborhood dispute. "If every neighborhood had a Virginia Klein," he said, "it would solve a lot of our

Lowe's a possibility for long-vacant site

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER delem@oe.homecomm.net

City leaders are hopeful that a major home improvement company will move to the site of the former Source Club on the southwest corner of Warren and Newburgh roads. Mayor Robert Thomas has announced that Lowe's is "interested" in the site where the Source Club building has stood vacant about five years.

Beyond that, officials have said little about a possible Lowe's store coming to Westland. The company sells lumber, tools, appliances and home decor items, among other merchandise.

Thomas, presiding last week over a public hearing about proposed new city buildings, made his comment in passing.

He couldn't be reached later for further comment, and other administration officials have since chosen not to elaborate on the brief remark.

"I'm going to have to beg off on that one," Economic Development Director Scott Veldhuis

A secretary at the city's Economic Growth Center on Marquette said Tuesday that no one there could even say how long the Source Club has been closed.

Lowe's is described as one of the world's largest retailers of home improvement products, with more than 525 stores in 37

Its most recently reported annual sales top $10 billion. The company is based in North Wilkesboro, N.C.

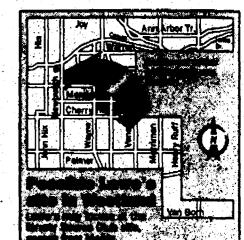

Contacted there on Monday, Lowe's real estate manager Wade Laufenberg declined to discuss a possible move to Westland.

"I can't comment on anything we might be doing in Detroit, he said, adding that he meant "the entire metro area."

It wasn't even clear whether Lowe's would occupy the existing Source Club building or tear it down and build anew.

One city council member questioned why the possible Lowe's deal suddenly became so hushed in the wake of the mayor's brief remark,

"I believe that if the mayor made a public statement, then certainly the residents of our community could be deserving of an acknowledgment of what's going on - and how residents and other city people can assist," Councilman Richard LeBlanc

"As the largest vacancy in town," he said, "we all want to see something done with that

Celebration helps teensbecome involved at Wayne

BY BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER bemons@oe.homecomm.net

The transition from middle school to high school can often be overwhelming, even frightening.

But Wayne Memorial High School hopes to change all that by welcoming next fall's incoming class with open arms in staging its first-ever "Celebrate Wayne Day" on Tuesday, May Nearly 600 eighth-graders from Franklin, Adams and Stevenson middle schools will receive the red carpet treatment.

Duke basketball player Shane Battier, a Rhodes Scholar candidate, will also speak to middle schoolers during morning and afternoon orientation sessions about the value of extracurricular activities and their relation to school.

-Booths, created solely by the high school students, will display 51 different student and extracurricular activities inside the school's media center.

The booths range from football, to forensics, to the D.A.R.E. program, to various after-school clubs including newspaper, skiing, Spanish and robotics.

"This was born out of our ninth-grade initiatives program established by our superintendent of schools, Dr. Greg Baracy," said Bill Gray, Wayne High's school psychologist, who came up with the idea for "Celebrate Wayne" along with the school's Student Senate. "We saw the need because many of our ninthgraders are having a difficult transition from middle school to high school as related to school achievement, school attendance and involvement extracurricular activities."

Once middle school students get off the bus, they'll be greeted by the high school color guard with the marching band serenading them with the Zebras' fight song.

"This whole activity is studentdriven," Gray said. "They will be presenting these booths, encouraging and teaching students as far as who and why they should be involved.

"We'd like to do this annually." On Tuesday, May 11, Wayne's ninth-graders will get a sneak preview of the expo during third, fourth, fifth and sixth hours.

The middle school students will also receive a school tour and meet the 6-foot-8 Battier, the College Defensive Player of the Year who helped lead the Blue Devils reach the NCAA final against Connecticut.

Battier will speak to students in the school auditorium. (Sessions will run from 9-11 a.m. and noon to 2 p.m. with a lunch break in between.)

"Celebrate Wayne" will also involve parents, who will be invited back to tour the school and see the activity booths 6-8

Activity booth presenters, however, will not be finished following the day-long festival.

"Students and teachers involved with this project will meet again during the summer for a picnic," Gray said. "They will be doing follow-ups, sending postcards and making phone calls to the kids who have shown interest in the various activities.

"We believe there are some good things going on at Wayne.

"It's along the lines of the service learning projects where kids are taking more responsibility for themselves."

Helping to coordinate "Celebrate Wayne" are Principal Don Chastain, along with Assistant Principal Christine Bak.

"This is a total staff and student effort to make this happen," Bak said. "We're selling our school and the kids are playing an important role.

"We're trying to tap into their interests. Then, we'll contact them over the summer. And when they get here in the fall, we'll make sure somebody here will be looking out for them and helping to support them."

A $4,500 grant from Lynn Malinoff of Drug Free Schools helped make "Celebrate Wayne" possible.

Several faculty members, who are active in Teachers for Social Responsibility, have also assisted in the effort including Louise Hart, Fran Grossman, Pam Ruokalainen, Joe Nowaske, Julie Klahunde and Leslie Rosaen.

"We felt that many ninthgraders weren't prepared when they got here, and we're trying to do something to make it better," Bak said. "Plus, there is a direct correlation between after-school activities and academics. We find that kids involved after school generally have a much higher grade-point average. The success benefits are enormous.

"They'll also take more pride in their school."

Join in: Art club members Brian Sasanas and Jennifer Curtis will take part May 11.

Councilman Richard LeBlanc ioined Anderson in supporting a ballot question and said, "I think it's very good timing."

Anderson said placing a ballot question on the Nov. 2 ballot wouldn't cost any extra money because the city already has a council election to decide.

President says yes

Council President Sandra Cicirelli said a ballot proposal on city buildings could boost voter turnout.

"I certainly would support that," she said. But Councilman Charles Thomas had hoped for a site behind a Kroger-anchored strip center at Ford Road and Central City Parkway, but land owners want nearly $4 million - more than twice what city officials say it's worth. Thomas has labeled negotiations "dead."

On Monday, Griffin still voiced support for using TIFA dollars to construct new buildings, which he said the city needs to be competitive with Canton, Livonia. Dearborn and other communities.

Otherwise, he said, "We're doomed to lose our citizenry and lose some of our housing values."

Council members Sharon Scott and Justine Barns, who missed Monday's meeting, also have voiced strong support for new city buildings.

to submit to voters. Some council members had doubts that they could ask voters for an advisory opinion on new buildings - since a tax increase wouldn't be part of the ballot question.

They also want to study whether they have enough time to go through the legal steps to place a question on the ballot.

Thomas has called for new buildings to replace Bailey Recreation Center, 20 years old, and City Hall, more than 30 years old. The mayor has labeled both existing building inefficient.

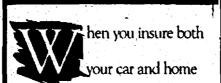

Anderson's proposal for a ballot question came six days after a public hearing on new buildings drew only 60 people - many of them city employees and parks advisory board members.

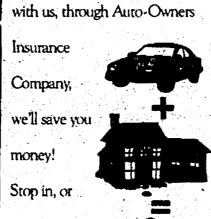

"I would like to have heard more from the average person in the community," Anderson said. Cicirelli echoed that she was "displeased with the turnout."

Robert Kosowski said officials On Monday, Cicirelli asked city attorney Angelo Plakas for tried to draw a larger audience an opinion on whether Anderby announcing the meeting in som's ballot proposal is sufficient newspapers, schools and on the municipal cable channel.

LeBlanc said that, during the hearing at John Glenn High, he was surprised to hear Thomas suggest demolishing the Bailey Center.

"I think it would be a crime to tear that building down (after) 20 years," he said.

A poll of 600 residents in January found that 67 percent of Westland residents who use the Bailey Center say it meets their needs.

The same survey, also found that 83 percent of city residents support building a new recreation center, although only 51 percent said they were "very" supportive.

Some city leaders said they were upset by comments made during the April 27 public hearing - particularly by parks advisory board member Patricia Sawyer.

Sawyer said she goes to Livonia for recreation and added, "Where recreation is concerned, I think Westland is Wasteland,"

LeBlanc questioned why administration officials running the meeting didn't rebuke a parks advisory board member for making such comments.

Kosowski, parks director, said he also was "offended by that comment" but didn't want to curb free speech.

However, a report from doctors prompted Westland District Judge C. Charles Bokos to rule last week that Stout is competent - a decision that cleared the way for today's preliminary hearing, a court clerk said.

According to police, Stout's behavior has been combative at times. During his initial arraignment in district court, he became angry and began resisting the proceedings, forcing police and security officers to wrestle him under control, Terry said.

between helping some 16 people with designs midway through the program. Designs included dinosaurs, aliens, rainbows "and stick figures of Mom and Dad. Lots of those today."

Nearby, Jim Gilfix of Westland was helping friends to fly kites. He finds kite flying helps him cope with the stresses of his job as a social worker at the Wayne County jail.

"I'm a weekend clown and balloonist. Sometimes kites," he good tail. Today, I brought 17 of if it was a little more breezy, my kites, not quite all."

Saturday wasn't particularly windy, which made it more challenging to get the kites aloft. The delta kite was best for the day, "sort of like the basic batwing," Gilfix said. "They could stay there for days as long as the wind stays."

The park was full of people enjoying spring's arrival, including many playing on the Imagination Playstation. This is the second year for the kite fly, which drew many Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts last year, Williams said.

One of this year's younger participants was Benjamin Miskulin, 7, of Garden City. He agreed it was "kind of neat" to see the kite in the air. The Henry Ruff Elementary School second-grader added he'd rather fly a kite than go to school. He chose aliens for his drawing.

John Dely of Westland brought his own kite. "I've been trying to get this kite aloft for the last hour and a half," the Westland Meijer employee said.

He bought the kite at Meijer said. The key to flying high is and had heard about the kite fly "different kinds of kites and a , through family. "It'd be better off Dely said.

He's found the art of pulling the string and working the kite from left to right is the key. "I love it because I'm a nature person," he said of kite flying. "I'm a free-spirited individual."

Another adult enjoying the kite fly was Connie McClatchey of Ann Arbor. "It's wonderful, it's fun. It's really fun," said the selfemployed tailor, who came to the event with Gilfix. She didn't do much kite flying as a child, but "The kites are much better than when I was a child,' McClatchey said.

Wayne County joins drive to aid Kosovar refugees

A call for help from Cardinal Adam Maida has prompted Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara to step forward to help lead a local humanitarian effort to send blankets and relief aid to Kosovar refugees.

In the past month, more than 600,000 Kosovar residents have been displaced from their homes in Europe. McNamara, who served in World War II, and Maida conferred about what could be done locally to ease the suffering of refugees.

. "We are troubled by the agony and despair being endured by the thousands of refugees coming out of Kosovo," said McNamara, who announced the relief effort at an afternoon press conference on Wednesday. "This is a time for people of good will from Wayne County and the entire region to come to the assistance of suffering people."

McNamara contacted mayors, supervisors and police chiefs throughout Wayne County and they have agreed to have donation boxes placed inside each city's police station. "We wanted to make the dropoff points convenient for people," McNamara said.

Residents are being asked to drop off either new blankets or a check made out to one of the relief agencies listed below by Tuesday. Donated blankets should be new for sanitary reasons. Reasonably priced blankets are available at a variety of local stores.

Archdiocese of Detroit, Lufthansa Airlines, British Airways, Northwest Airlines and GeoLogistics Americas Inc., a freight forwarder and customs broker which has offered to ship the blankets at the end of the drive. Also contributing to the relief effort are all of the Wayne County employee unions whose members have volunteered to pick up the donations and deliver them for shipping.

Maida said the archdiocese appreciated the assistance of Wayne County residents in the relief

"The Catholic community is very concerned about the condition of the Kosovo refugees and I assure you the money and material donations will reach the people in need," wrote Maida.

Cash donations are also being encouraged and

Teaming up with McNamara are WJR-AM, the citizens are being urged to make checks payable to either:

McNamara said he was encouraged by the "wonderful cooperation" Wayne County was receiving from mayors, city and township officials and law enforcement agencies in all 43 of Wayne County's communities.

Parks plan nature hike Saturday

Discover the fascinating world of woodland spring flowers on a floral fantasy hike through the Cowan Section of Holliday Nature Preserve 1:30 -3:30 p.m. Saturday.

The program is offered through the Nankin Mills Interpretive Center and has been made possible through funding from the parks millage.

"Participants can expect to learn about the rich folklore surrounding woodland spring flowers and how their use helped shape the United States. The hike, approximately one mile, will highlight wildflowers growing in the preserve, including trillium and skunk cabbage.

Suitable for ages 8 and above, the cost is $1 per person and advance registration is required. This hike is not suitable for strollers, as some areas of the trail may require some climbing and balancing.

Participants are to meet at the north end of the Service Merchandise parking lot off Central City Parkway, across from Wildflower Road in Westland. For more information, call (734) 261-1990.

"It's allowing them to keep money that they've agreed to pay the city," Councilman Glenn Anderson said.

But Gilbert and Councilman Charles "Trav" Griffin said the proposal would protect lowincome housing that officials say is becoming increasingly scarce in Westland.

Otherwise, Griffin said, "We'll lose a lot of those good people who quite frankly don't have the money to live someplace else."

Gilbert said the city could control how Norris partners spend the money, although he mentioned possible projects such as landscaping, playground equipment, trash collection, lighting and decorative facades.

"What I think we would do is perpetuate the attractiveness (of Norris Apartments)," Gilbert

The proposal would take money away from other possible housing plans, but Gilbert said it would benefit 60 tenants.

Gilbert conceded that Norris partners "are kind of reneging a little" on the earlier agreement, but he said they - not the city had originally suggested the annual payment plan.

Anderson didn't rule out supporting the Norris proposal but said he will have to be convinced that it is the right decision before he would vote in favor of

Norris Apartments sparked controversy a few years ago when some council members and city residents said the partners appeared to be receiving special consideration.

Partners included Makino and two then-officials of the Westland Fire Department, Chief Michael Reddy and Assistant Chief George Riley. Reddy and Riley have since retired to pursue business interests such as a restaurant and bar.

Some former tenants of Makino's other properties also had criticized her as a landlord. The criticism eventually subsided, however, and the Norris development has since drawn mostly glowing praise - even from onetime skeptics.

Councilman Charles "Tray" Griffin favors proposal

Schoolcraft trustees OK tuition hike starting fall

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK STATY WRITER kspramcsyk@oc.homecomm.net

Schoolcraft College students will be paying more for tuition this fall.

Trustees approved a $1 increase per credit hour for the college district residents on April 28, along with hikes of $2 for out-of-district students and $3 for cut-of-state residents.

This is the sixth consecutive year in which trustees have approved a tuition increase.

The board also approved a $43.7 million budget and the unchanged millage rate of 1.8521 mills. With residents' taxable value increases capped at the inflation rate, that will mean their property taxes will grow at Tuition will cost $53 a credit hour for district residents, while nonresidents will be charged $78. Out-of-state residents must pay $116 per credit hour.

The college district includes school districts of Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth-Canton and part of Novi school districts. Students who live in those districts and take 15 credits of classes can expect to pay $636 this fall, up from this year's Butch Raby, Schoolcraft's vice president for business services. told trustees the increase puts Schoolcraft slightly over the average for community college tuition.

For 15 credit hours and a four-class load of English, math, science and a sociology classes, Schoolcraft had a $880 cost with the hikes, which included lab fees, Raby said.

While tuition at Henry Ford, Delta and Macomb community colleges cost more for these average class loads, Schoolcraft is more expensive than Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne County community colleges.

Trustee Brian Broderick asked how the rate per credit hour compared to those schools. Raby said the average was about $53.43. "So our rate ($53) fit in comfortably," Raby said.

Schoolcraft gets 41 percent of its revenue from property taxes. 31 percent from tuition, 26 percent from the state and 2 percent from other sources.

SMART posted increased ridership at height of last winter's heavy snow

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK STAFF WRITER

kabramczyk@oe.homecomm.net

January's heavy snow turned buses into a more appealing ride for area residents, according to SMART (Suburban Mobility Authority of Regional Transportation) officials.

We thought January ridership would be less than 1998. but it was up 1 percent," said SMART General Manager Dan Dirks.

In fact, SMART experienced one of its best weeks ever for ridership during the last week of January with 210,000 customers, Dirks said recently at a meeting with the Conference of Western Wayne.

CWW is a legislative consortium of elected officials from Belleville, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Garden City, Inkster, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth, mouth, Redford, Sumpter and Van Buren.

Garden City, Livonia, Redford and Westland voters are levying a one-third mill tax for SMART. which also costs the owner of a $100,000 home with a taxable value of $50,000 about $16.50 a Approximately 9 million riders rode SMART buses in 1998, up 1 million from 1997. Dirks expects that number to climb to 10 million this year.

While those numbers are significant, what the riders mean to Michigan businesses may be more important to their bottom

Dirks said SMART had recognized and cited Kmart officials for their instrumental efforts in last year's successful tax campaign. Dirks told Kmart that a Michigan Transit Coalition Sur-

Canton, Huron, Northville, Ply-tomers and employees rode buses to Kmart stores annually. With each ride calculated at a conservative $10, that would result in $5 million spent at Kmart.

Others shared in the SMART buses' transportation to bring employees and customers to retail businesses: Wal-Mart, 300,000 people, $3 million spent; Meijer, 900,000, $9 million spent. Grocery stores, 1.3 million, and $13 million spent.

Dirks acknowledged that they must market SMART as an important cog in the economies of local communities. SMART has 30 connector buses in Wayne County, 70 in the tri-county region and over 120 planned to be bought in tri-county region.

"SMART feels we are joining hips to the community," Dirks said. Livonia Mayor Jack Kirksey was receptive to expanding of college centers, said the event gives Schoolcraft an opportunity to showcase its public safety department.

"The combined graduation shows in a grand way the resources we have at Schoolcraft which relate to public safety training," Pearce said.

"It sends a message to the community that we have a fullservice department that takes into account all aspects of public safety. By showcasing it, we hope to generate added interest in the programs."

host of outstanding teachers. Our Academic All Stars were generous in their words of praise for the teachers who significantly impacted their lives.

Platte said his first trombone teacher. David Jackson, taught music with joy and enthusiasm. He not only made Platte a better trombone player, but showed him "how to enjoy making music."

For Anne Margaret Nagrant, a senior at Mercy High School in Farmington Hills, teacher Louise Scudlo challenged her "to strive for perfection in everything."

Thomas Habitz, Jr., a senior at Lutheran High School in Westland, said his eighth-grade teacher, Mark Baumgartel, "taught me discipline and a love of learning."

Clifford P. Bracey, a senior at Franklin High School in Livonia, taught him lessons for life. "She taught me tact, inspired me to become more involved, and instilled more confidence in me through her constant support."

Parent praise

When it comes to their children, our Academic All-Stars' parents deserve A's for effort and achievement.

Leung said his mother taught him "all this stuff" before he went to high school. He knew algebra before he studied it in class. "My parents had very high expectations for me."

Alison Chambers, a senior at. Garden City High School, said her parents always expected her to do her best. No hard-toenforce rules, just expectations. "They trusted me."

said teacher Wilma Wagner cannot pinpoint just how she and her husband, Alan, contributed to their daughter's academic success.

"We're not one to do their work for them, but if they needed direction we pointed them to the resource."

Debbie Braunstein said she didn't ban television or set up a special study room. However, the Braunsteins are a family of readers who expected homework to be done after school and kept their children involved in lots of extracurricular activities.

Congratulations parents and teachers. Your children and students reflect your input. Evan Leung summed up the perspective from which our Academic All-Stars face the future:

"I feel proud of myself. I know Debbie Braunstein, mother of myself. I can push myself past my limits."

College degree

Diploma is just the beginning for these ambitious grads

When Janet Ruth Elliott graduates from Schoolcraft College Saturday it will be the culmination of an effort that began in 1978.

Elliott along with Cathy Habbert of Garden City, Brenda McPherson of Redford Township, Angela Lorentz of Livonia and Stacy Morris-Lorentz of Garden City have special stories to tell about how their quest for an education has changed their lives.

Elliott is serving on the committee for her 50th high school class reunion. She graduated from Plymouth High School in 1949, raised five children and ran her own cake decorating business. When her first husband died in 1970, she had 12-15-, and 16-year-old sons at home and an 8-year-old daugh-

To help support the family, she went to cosmetology school, and after she remarried in 1976, she began to think seriously about getting an associate degree. She enrolled in college in 1978.

Elliott attended a number of area community colleges, taking classes here and there, and spent six years caring for her second husband, who became quite ill and subsequently died.

"Finally, two years ago, I figured I have the credits. I might as well finish up," she said. Some of her 13 grandchildren ask her, "Grandma, why do you go to school? Why do you get up so early when you don't have to?"

"I tell them if you don't set a goal, where are you going? You are just stagnant. I see too many people my age who just complain about their aches and pains. I've gone through heart surgery, but you go on with your life, forget your problems and make the best of it.'

Getting her degree is a source of both relief and satisfaction, but Elliott has already set herself a new goal. She will sell her condo in Westland, buy a new one in Howell and move there. Of course, that's close to Lansing Community College and Michigan State Universi-

"I imagine I will keep taking classes," she said. "I find studying very satisfying."

Dream come true

Cathy Habbert, who will receive her associate degree in nursing Saturday says she "wanted to be a nurse all my life, but never did anything about it."

It has taken her six years to complete the program, and she admits to being "absolutely pooped," trying to juggle studies, children, working and life during those years.

Habbert graduated from Garden City East High School in 1979 and married. She worked for a bank for several years, but never enjoyed it. When her marriage broke up. she asked herself if she really wanted to go back to the bank. The answer was no. With her children aged 16 months and at Schoolcraft.

"I was scared to death," she . I would be overwhelmed." recalled. "I said, 'What am I getting myself into? I will never be able to do this.' I had to go back and refresh my math skills, take basic biology and complete a number of prerequisite classes. There was a whole lot I didn't remember, but I've been able to stay on the dean's list almost all the time."

She took two or three courses each semester, went to school four days a week, worked the other three days as a nurse's aid in oncology at Garden City Hospital, and studied at night after the children were in bed,

"I don't think about it. If I did.

During her schooling, she received child care payments, food stamps and Medicaid. There were problems with the Friend of the Court, and only help from the Women's Resource Center saved her child care payments from being cut off. She lost her Medicaid benefits because she made $10,000 one year, while supporting a family of three.

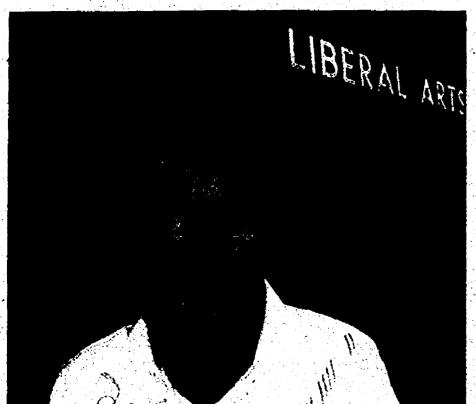

"Many times I felt discriminated against because of having food stamps or Medicaid," she said. "I don't ever want to be there again."

Habbert hopes to get a job at if she could keep her eyes open. Garden City Hospital as a full-time registered nurse. If she does, she knows she will not . begin on the day shift. "I have two children. I will do what I have to do. My goal is to support my kids and be comfortable."

Hard work pays off

Brenda McPherson of Redford Township is a study in contradictions, a real contrast between the "then" and the "now." Then she was so scared, she had to have a friend walk her to her first two classes. Now she vows to strut across the auditorium floor to receive her degree at Schoolcraft College commencement. Then she was intimidated, even by words. Now she works as a prison guard in a correctional facility housing 1,200 men. Then she had a 1.8 grade-point average. Now she has a solid 3.4.

McPherson was not a good studeat in high school. She worked full-time the last two years and graduated with a 1.8 grade-point average. She married and was a "demestic engineer" for 20 years. When her husband left her, she had nowhere to go, no job skills, no benefits and no retirement fund. "I was not a fighter," she said. "Words would scare me."

A friend told her she had to do something for herself and had to get more education. The friend had heard of Schoolcraft's Chocolate Chips to Microchips program for displaced homemakers, and literally walked her to her first two classes. "I actually was that scared to do for myself;" she

"In the program, I learned the new words. Instead of driving the kids. I was a chauffeur: instead of keeping the checkbook, I was managing the money. Here I thought I didn't know anything. It, opened up a whole new world for me. I even learned to do the hustle. I could never dance before. I learned I had rhythm."

McPherson stayed at Schoolcraft and chose a criminal justice curriculum. She took whatever

"I said I'd take it. I had never been in a prison and had no street smarts," she said. Now she has been a corrections officer for three years, bought her own home, and resisted the temptation to quit her education and concentrate on the job.

"With a job, there is advancement," she said. "With' an education, there is more advancement." This past year has been the most difficult because she switched to working midnights so she could fit in her last set of

"I'm scared to death of succeeding, of finishing," she said. "I'm still trying to adjust to doing for myself. I'm scared but so excited. It actually makes me stutter." McPherson isn't finished yet, however. Her next goal is a bachelor's degree, so she can be promoted, get better pay and become a parole/probation officer for juveniles.

But first, she has to strut across the floor at commencement and take hold of her degree.

Sisters graduate

Stacy Lorentz-Morris of Garden City is four years older than her sister, Angela Lorentz, so it came as a bit of a surprise when they discovered they would be graduating together from Schoolcraft College this May. "Last fall Stacy said she would graduate this spring, and I told her I would too," said Angela, a Livonia resident. "She said, 'You can't. You're my little sister."

Stacy was in college when Angela graduated from high school, but set aside her studies for a time to marry and have a child. When she started school again, her little sister had caught up.

"We had political science together, and the teacher thought we were twins," said Stacy, who is studying to be a registered nurse and works at Oakwood Hospital: "I could give her pointers, tell her about the instructors and which classes were easy. Her fiancé graduated from Schoolcraft last year, so he could point out things. We all worked together and wrote papers together. I would call up her fiancé and ask him what he did for a particular class. It was Stacy plans to earn a bachelor's degree at Madonna University, and Angela said her sister initially got her interested in the medical field. Angela will continue at Wayne County Community College, studying to become a dental hygienist.

"Being with Stacy in college made me take her a little more seriously, and she took me a little more seriously," said Angela. "We've always been close friends, but this was a different side of her I got to know."

The sisters plan to walk together in the commencement procession, and celebrate at a family dinner after the ceremony. Angela says when they finish their next degrees, they plan to join another sister and all three will go on a cruise.

"There was a lot of cooperation between us," said Stacy. "That's what you want to do - help each.

Court orders interest on delinquent child support

By TIM RICHARD STATE WRITER trichard@oe.homecomm.net

Three bad things can happen to a dad who skips town and doesn't pay child support:

He can run up an $89,000 debt, as did Patrick J. Law of Ferndale.

■ He can be sent to prison for two years, which Law has served.

■ And now the state Supreme Court says Law must pay 15 years interest on the debt, telling Oakland Circuit Judge Steven N. Andrews to calculate the amount.

Justice Taylor

"We hold that a trial (circuit) court does have the authority to award interest under the Crime Victim's Rights Act," wrote Justice Clifford Taylor in a 6-0 deci-

"Money has a 'use value' and interest is legitimate element of damages" to "compensate a party for the lost use of funds." said Taylor, quoting an earlier decision. He also cited federal appeals decisions and state courts in Alaska and Colorado.

Judge Andrews had rejected the claim for interest from 1979-87 because the judge in the Laws' divorce case hadn't granted it. A Court of Appeals panel upheld him. A member of that panel was Marilyn Kelly, who was elected to the Supreme Court in 1996. Justice Kelly took no part in the Supreme Court deliberations.

Appealing to the Supreme Court was Oakland Prosecutor David Gorcyca. Handling the appeal was assistant Marilyn J. Day. "He (Law) never responded to our appeal," Day said.

Law pleaded guilty to desertion and abandonment, was sentenced in 1992 to two years in prison and ordered to make restitution, Taylor's opinion

Day said Law was in Arizona for 10 years. His ex-wife was a White Lake Township resident who since has moved to Ohio. From May 1979 through July 1992, Law was supposed to pay $43 a week. He also was to pay nearly $42,000 in medical costs arising out of his daughter's injuries in an auto accident.

"He's paying $146 a week now," Day said. That could increase after the circuit court adds in the interest.

In reversing Andrews and the Court of Appeals, the Supreme Court said interest could be ordered because Law was being prosecuted under a criminal statute, the Crime Victim's Rights Act.

That act includes "the right to restitution." Said Taylor: "The term restitution is understood in Michigan to include interest

Tax cuts iffy

State Treasurer Mark Murray would like to appeal a case won by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. (now Ameritech), but the Supreme Court recently denied leave (permission) to appeal.

The Court of Appeals last year ruled in Bell's favor, saying the state Treasury should refund $4.6 million in use taxes Bell paid on tax-exempt equipment. The equipment was exempt because customers ultimately paid the tax on their phone bills.

The Court of Appeals also said Bell didn't have to pay $2.7 million in taxes on uncollectible bills because the tax was levied on the customers, not Bell. The April 1998 opinion was written by Judge Robert Young Jr., now a Supreme Court justice, and joined by Judge Roman Gribbs of Northville and Barbara Sawyer.

"In addition to the tax policy implications," Murray said, "the fiscal year 1999 impact would be the loss of additional revenue we are collecting due to Michigan's strong economy." Murray did not give a dollar figure for the amount of the loss.

So Murray is asking the Legislature to make repairs in the use tax law.

AAA opposes legislation to increase truck speed

AAA Michigan opposes HB 4377, which would amend the Michigan vehicle code to increase truck speed limits to 70 miles per hour on 1,592 miles of Michigan freeways. The measure would also raise the current speed limit for both cars and tors.' trucks on U.S. highways, and state trunklines that are considered all-season truck routes from 55 miles per hour to 65.

"Lawmakers should consider the latest vehicle speed differential research," said Jerry Basch, manager of Community Safety Services for AAA Michigan. "An appropriate speed difference between cars and trucks should always be maintained since trucks' extended stopping distances, heavy weights and large size, devastating crash potential and lane limitations make higher speeds for trucks unsupportable. And speeds on all two-lane roads should be maintained at no more than 55 mph. We know that an increase in speed would guarantee an increase in injuries and fatalities."

Information provided by the Michigan Truck Safety Commission (MTSC) shows that the stopping distance on dry pavement for a large truck traveling 60 mph is 350 feet -- more than the length of a football field. If it were going 10 miles per hour faster, the stopping distance would increase about 80 feet.

"Proportionally, too many trucks are involved in fatal crashes due to their size, weight and other factors. One out of eight U.S. traffic fatalities -- or more than 5,300 deaths -- in 1997 involved a large truck," said Basch. Of those, 78 percent were occupants of the other vehicle. In addition, large trucks are much more likely to be involved in fatal multiplevehicle crashes, as opposed to a fatal single-vehicle crash.

Lower speeds reduce the severity of a crash and, more importantly, give valuable seconds to prevent accidents from driver error. Regardless of who makes the error, all drivers and especially professional truck drivers - given additional time, can take evasive action to pre-

"This legislation would begin to unravel a decade's worth of work that has positioned Michigan as a leader in truck safety," Basch said.

Schoolcraft golf tourney to raise money for student scholarships

Play a little golf and help college education.

The Schoolcraft College Foundation's 16th annual Golf Tournament is scheduled for Monday, June 7, at Pheasant Run Golf Club in Canton.

The tournament helped the foundation award more than 400 scholarships to Schoolcraft students last year.

Golfers can aim to win the longest-drive or closest-to-thepin contests. They can drive home in a new car after a hole-in-one or collect an extra $5,000 for winning the Putt for Dough contest.

Between events golfers can use the recreational and exercise facilities at the Summit on the Park Conference Center. End the day with a meal prepared by the Summit staff and a live auction.

Golfers will have golf packages from which to choose. For $1,000, the President's Club Package offers 18 holes of golf and a cart for four, sponsorship sign at the tee, preferred golf time, lunch, golf clinic, tournament bag tag, use of Summit, door prizes, contests, full-course dinner, auction participation and recognition in Schoolcraft publications. Morning golf packages at $175 and afternoon packages at $200 will be offered. These include 18 holes of golf and cart, lunch, golf clinic, tournament bag tag, use of Summit, door prizes, contests, fullcourse dinner and auction participation.

A hole sponsor package for $300 can be purchased, which provides a scholarship sign at the tee and recognition in Schoolcraft College publications. A dinner only package for $35 includes door prizes, a full-course dinner and auction participation.

The auction will include: A weekend getaway for two to one of Michigan's premier golf resorts

Four University of Michigan football tickets for either Sept. 4 when the Wolverines play the University of Notre Dame Fighting Irish or Nov. 20, when the Buckeyes of Ohio State University visit Ann

State business programs qualify for national innovation award

Two programs administered by the Michigan Economic Development Corp. have been named semifinalists in the Innovations in American Government awards competition.

The Michigan Renaissance Zone program and the Michigan Virtual Automotive College (MVAC), along with 96 other programs, have been chosen to advance to the semifinalist round. The semifinalists represent seven percent of the total pool of 1,609 applicants.

"This is a great honor for us. We believe that our programs are exceptional, but it's always nice to find out others do, too," said Doug Rothwell, president and CEO of the Michigan Economic Development Corporation.

Michigan's Renaissance Zones are 11 geographic areas of the state designated as virtually tax free for any business or resident presently in a zone or moving into a zone. The zones are designed to provide selected communities with the most powerful market-based incentive virtually no state or local taxes - to spur new jobs and investment. To date, the zones have attracted 76 projects and more than 4,500 new jobs to some of Michigan's most economically distressed areas.

"Offering tax-free status is a powerful tool. Both blighted urban areas and struggling rural areas have been positively affected by the zones," said Rothwell. "Renaissance Zones have brought life back to communities that have had some trouble attracting new busi-

The Michigan Virtual Automotive College was established in 1996 by the State of Michigan, University of Michigan and Michigan State University in partnership with the automotive industry as a non-degree granting institution. It was created to respond, in part, to the automotive industry's need for employees that are educated and trained in manufacturing foundational skills, quality standards and new technological advances in auto manufacturing.

MVAC differs from traditional education in that it uses alternative forms of training, including through the use of the Internet, video, video conferencing, satellite, CD-ROM and on-site instruction at business sites. Today, it is a division of the Michigan Virtual University, which was created in 1998 as part of the Governor's 7-Point Michigan Technology Empowerment Plan to increase the role of technology in the classroom.

"With changes in technology every day, it is important to keep Michigan workers on top of the new advances," said Rothwell. "MVAC is not only benefitting employers by helping them educate their employees, it is also giving our workers skills that make them more valuable."

Innovations in American Government, which was started in 1986, is sponsored by the Ford Foundation, and administered by Harvard University's John F. Kennedy School of Government in partnership with the Council for Excellence in Government.

Award semifinalists were selected according to four criteria; originality of the approach; effectiveness in addressing important problems; value of services to clients; and the potential for replication in other jurisdictions.

In October, 25 semifinalists will move on to the finalist round. After the finalists host a two-day site visit by an innovations evaluator and make a brief presentation before the national selection committee in Washington, D.C., 10 will be selected as winners and will receive a $100,000 award from the Ford Foundation.

The remaining 15 finalists will each receive $20,000.

SC commencement crowd to hear Granholm

Almost 1,100 students will graduate from Schoolcraft College this year. Approximately half will enter the job market while the remainder continue their studies toward a bachelor's degree, according to a college spokeswoman.

The 34th annual commencement ceremonies will take place at 6 p.m. Saturday in the Physical Education Building on the Livonia campus, 18600 Haggerty Road, between Six and Seven Mile roads.

Keynote speaker

Jennifer Granholm, Michigan's new attorney general and the state's first female attorney general, will deliver the commencement address.

Granholm will receive an honorary degree along with Robert and Beth Beson. The Besons are active supporters of community college education and Schoolcraft College. Robert Beson is founder and former owner of the Phoenix Group, Inc.

This year's recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award is attorney Mary Jane Bevelheimer of Plymouth.

Granholm made history in November 1998 when she was elected the state's first female attorney general.

A Northville Township resident, she graduated from the University of California at Berkeley with a perfect academic record and graduated with honors from Harvard Law School. She clerked on the Federal Court of Appeals for the Honorable Damon J. Keith and was a federal prosecutor in the U.S. Attorney's Office, achieving a 98 percent conviction rate.

She was rated as "outstanding prosecutor" by the U.S. Department of Justice each year she brought against the county. served as a prosecutor. In 1994, she became the first woman and youngest person appointed Wayne County Corporation Counsel, overseeing 75 employees, 2,000 cases a year and an annual budget of $9.5 million. Her office reduced by 87 percent the money Wayne County taxpayers paid to defend lawsuits

College supporters

Robert Beson founded the Phoenix Group, Inc., an international customer communication company in Farmington Hills. The firm was ranked as one of the top 100 fastest growing companies in Michigan for three years, and has offices in Europe, Canada, South America and the Caribbean. With more than 700 employees and sales-approaching $50 million, Beson sold the company in 1997.

He served on the Schoolcraft College Foundation Board of Governors for four years and has been a generous contributor to student success. Under his auspices, the Phoenix Group donated professional time and talent to the success of a Foundation campaign. He is an alumnus of Delta College and the University of Michigan.

Beth Beson is active in the Northville Public Schools and Catholic Central High School Parent Associations. The Besons are advocates of community college education and consistently have supported Foundation

They recently established the Robert and Beth Beson Scholarship, specifically to help students who have interrupted their education and are returning to college.

Distinguished alum

Bevelheimer, defines the Human Potential Seminar at Schoolcraft College as a turning point in her life, giving her the impetus to go back to school, become an attorney, practice law and work as a public defender.

She began her professional career as a registered nurse, married and had six children before moving to Michigan from Nebraska. In 1973, she attended the Human Potential Seminar, which provided the incentive to enroll in Schoolcraft. She earned an associate degree in 1977, and went on to the University of Michigan and the Detroit College of Law.

During her years as a law student, Bevelheimer became a single parent, renewed her license to practice nursing, worked parttime and cared for three teenaged boys. After completing her law degree in 1984, she continued to work as a nurse while she looked for employment as an Attorney Nevin Rose hired her to do public defender work and in 1988 she became a partner in the firm of Rose and Bevelheimer, PC. Currently, she practices general law and public defender work from her office in Westland. She is a confirmed believer in Schoolcraft College, its programs and services. In her practice, she often refers clients to Schoolcraft College, in particular the Women's Resource Center, where they can learn to. make the transition from home: to the paid work environment.

Her path to her present careas is a success story that reminds. us we can all reach our goals in; spite of barriers and delays.

Job outlook 'very good' for grads with skills

The job market continues to be very good, especially for graduates with good communication and computer skills, says Donna Nordman, coordinator of the Career Planning and Placement Center at Schoolcraft College.

Starting salaries have risen to the mid-$30,000 for technical positions. Nordman said companies offer graduates additional incentives in this tight job market.

"One company recently opened in Novi, with a position for a customer service rep," she said. "The starting salary was $25,000, and the benefit package included full health and dental coverage, as well as tuition assistance and vacation time available immediately."

The biggest need is for graduates with computer skills, whether they are seeking employment in business or a technical field. Nordman said jobs in the business world include customer service representatives, administrative assistants and help desk support positions.

Technical positions include drafters, engineering assistant technicians and service technicians. Auto suppliers are hiring, but Nordman said students need to be familiar with quality stan-

"Most of the jobs we list will supply some on-the-job training," she said. "Employers ask that graduates have the course skills. and they will teach what needs to be done for their specific industry."

Expo to focus on helping vets find new jobs

The Michigan Department of Career Development will host Employ-A-Vet Expo '99 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 12, at the Detroit Light Guard Armory, 4400 E. Eight Mile Road, Detroit.

Employers will be there with jobs openings for programmers, system engineers all areas of management, marketing, communications and many other

Those attending are asked to bring several copies of a resumé and be prepared for on the spot job interviews. Experts will be on hand to help veterans and provide other support services.

Westland Observer OPINION

36251 SCHOOLCRAFT, LIVONIA, MICHIGAN 48150

Safe schools

We all need to work together

chool safety is a big concern to everyone from educators and parents to other community residents. And, lately, rumors of possible violence have been rampant in local schools.

An evacuation at John Glenn High School followed the pulling of a fire alarm last week. The student involved was suspended and faces possible criminal charges. Many are nervous in the wake of the murders at Columbine High School in Littleton, Colo., and other school tragedies.

Rumors of threats to safety are a perennial problem and have prompted letters sent home to parents. In Livonia, a school hotline has been set up to deal with rumors and to take information on potential safety threats.

Part of school officials' frustration comes from intense media interest in school incidents. Television cameras camped outside of John Glenn High School on Friday to pursue a story based on rumors – just that – of possible violence. School officials say their efforts to restore post-Littleton calm have been made more difficult. Responsible media behavior is certainly called for, along with appropriate student behavior.

Il Local school officials and police appear to be doing what they can to respond to threats of violence. They say every rumor has been investigated.

Calling in a bomb threat or other such action is cowardly and cannot be excused, no matter how young the student. When public safety is involved, the additional efforts of law enforcement, through beefed-up patrols, deserve support and respect.

Local school officials and police appear to be doing what they can to respond to threats of violence. They say every rumor has been investigated. Even so, many Glenn students missed school Friday because of mere rumors of violence.

One of the lessons of the Columbine tragedy is that any school could become the target of violence. We all have an interest in seeing that it doesn't happen here. Let's take care of each other, avoid spreading rumors and work with school officials to see that learning takes place.

They include future doctors, engineers, teachers, scientists, computer experts, music-makers and a journalist or two. You'll find young men and women who plan to change the world.

Take a good look at the young men and women who continue to have great expectations for their generation. And in spite of all the tragedy the world hands out, these young men and women retain the optimism of youth.

The 17 winners and 31 runners-up are about to complete their high school careers and head for colleges here in Michigan and across the nation.

They are to be congratulated. They represent the young people our high schools, communities and parents most often deliver.

The 1999 team is headed by Katherine Anne Braunstein of North Farmington High School. Braunstein scored a perfect 1600 on her SAT.

Other team members include: Nathan Platte of Catholic Central, Peter Lin of Livonia Churchill, Kenneth Tseng of Livonia Churchill, Robert Lillibridge of Livonia Churchill, Jarret Kuo of North Farmington, David Hansen of Thurston, Valerie Taylor of Plymouth Canton, John Gardai of Catholic Central, Ariel Shwayder of Harrison, Emily Yambasky of Livonia Stevenson, Jeanne Whalen of Ladywood, Evan Leung of Plymouth Salem, Kevin Wilson of Livonia Franklin, Lisa Wuerth of Thurston, Samip Mallick of Plymouth Canton, and Matt Nizol of Livonia Stevenson.

As we reflect on the recent tragedy in Colorado, it's important to listen and hear what a few of these bright, high-achieving students think their generation will accomplish.

Katherine Braunstein expects her generation to redefine society's moral foundation by building strong marriages and demanding a "high moral code" from politicians.

"This resurgence in somewhat old-fashioned values will be an attempt by my generation to give our posterity an even better standard of living than we have today."

About the future, Nathan Platte says, "While I believe my generation has the drive to push through today's boundaries to set new standards, I also feel this generation has a unique sensitivity towards life and the world in which we live.

"Thus, I feel this generation will both pioneer new frontiers in the realm of space and work harder than ever to protect and conserve the environment and resources of the precious planet on which we live."

Kenneth Tseng is confident his generation will expand technology in a way that benefits all mankind. "I expect that we will discover a cure for cancer."

John Gardai is a man of firm conviction when it comes to his generation's future. "My generation will give this nation a new sense of morality and ethics."

Emily Yambasky's generation and technology are forever linked, she said. "We are the first generation to have grown up with advanced technology, and it has become a part of our lives. This early knowledge will help us develop fully the technology we have come to depend on."

Jeanne Whalen says her generation is very diverse. "I expect we will contribute many new perspectives and ideas to society along with unique methods for attacking the world's problems."

Evan Leung hopes his generation directs its "open-mindedness" in a positive way to new information and other cultures; he said he is mindful of its acceptance of sex and drugs.

"However, that doesn't mean that I think my generation will contribute little or meaningless things. I think because we are humans, we have the capacity to create great things, but as I see that won't be happening until my generation straightens out."

Samip Mallick has simple, but profound, expectations of his generation: "Hopefully, an increase in civilized, learned and philosophical behavior."

We salute our 1999 All-Stars and wish them well as they head on to new challenges.

Preventing tragedies

After watching numerous talk show hosts and their guests attempt to unravel some kind of explanation for the Colorado high school massacre, I offer the true dilemma of the American public school system. It's not the three R's missing – it's the three P's.

1. Prayer. By removing prayer, students have no moral compass to mold their value system. If there is no God, then there are no absolutes of right or wrong. As a result, rebellion reigns and no respect for authority exists.

2. Paddle. Paddling, the liberal pundits say, is child abuse. I declare not using the rod of correction in the nonviolent appropriate way is child abuse. We Baby Boomers not only got a few swats at school but at home as well. There is no real fear of punishment today.

3. Purity. What happened to the modest dress of girls and the clean-cut look of boys? Girls, in numerous cases, are scantily elothed while boys wear red-spiked hair, earrings and shirts with some barbaric-looking rock star on the front.

What type parent allows his child to appear in such manner? The same one who has abandoned prayer, paddling and purity. Perhaps the three P's properly and lovingly instilled in America's homes today could have prevented these recent school tragedies.

Apology to readers

We understand that the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers received several complaints concerning the explicit nature of our advertisement in the April 1999 issue of the Home Spotlight.

Herald Wholesale regrets any inconvenience or anguish that this ad may have created. This effect was entirely unintentional. The European manufacturer who provided the picture stated that they "apologize for offending any potential customers due to the extremely explicit nature of this European advertisement."

Again, all parties involved apologize for the indiscretion and will not publish this advertisement again as it is not acceptable for our marketplace.

Wrong war, wrong time

President Bill Clinton's sudden war with Yugoslavia is so strange as to seem almost surreal.

With one stroke, Clinton has created a Pan-Slavic unity in the old Soviet bloc that Stalin could only dream about.

With one stroke, the Cold War flames have been rekindled. Our embassies now attacked, even as we bomb.

We approach the new millennium in a few months with stock markets overvalued, currencies in chaos, computers crashing, China looming and Japan and Europe tying themselves into economic pretzels to survive.

We all know that Clinton is a chance taker – even to the point of being, at times, danger-ously self-destructive. Is this to be his long-sought legacy?

Why do we need this war? Why now?

For as long as I remember, tobacco products had the warnings on them. The government has always taxed them. Now they say that the gun makers are to blame for people getting killed with guns.

When are they going to say that people are unhealthy because of fatty fast food and sue them? We the people need to make our government stop this now.

a time to love, and a time to hate. a time of war, and a time of peace. (Ecclesiastes 3).

Now, the time has come to give two wonderful people the words to speak on their behalf, namely Justine Barns and Charles Pickering, who have diligently served the city of Westland and the state of Michigan. They both will be missed very much.

I had the extreme pleasure of being an intern with Justine in Lansing. I was shown every courtesy, from sitting in session at the Capitol and being introduced to lobbyists, who wanted certain bills passed. If Justine did not approve of what they were attempting, she quietly listened, but made no comments. It was a rewarding experience that I will always treasure, and it was time well-spent in learning for me. It has been told that there are only two things we must learn in life - one is to grow older gracefully, and to learn to step down from higher places, which Justine has done. #### POINTS OF VIEW

DeVos seeks public money for religious schools

ell, the cat is four-fifths out of the bag. The Religious Right (not to be confused with conservatives) is coming out for parochiaid - state money for churchrelated schools.

It has been a stealthy process, for the Religious Right is not especially courageous about stating its goals openly. It was Ralph Reed, then of the Christian Coalition, who used the term "flying under the radar" to describe the tactics of those who want government support of their religion. Theirs, not necessarily yours.

To review: Michigan voters in 1972 amended the state constitution to prohibit any form of state aid to private and sectarian schools. Since then, there has been a series of efforts to weaken that rule:

■ Special education – All kids get services, whether in public or private schools or even the misnamed "home" schools. Attorney General Jennifer Granholm even opined that a girl in a nonpublic school must get occupational therapy in her school; she can't be required to travel to a Head Start

College work - A high school student wishing to take college classes can take, as they say, his state aid with him to the college of choice public or private.

■ Charter schools – Many are built around "ethnic" and "cultural" themes, but sectarianism isn't far below the surface.

■ Scholarships - About three years ago, the RR started a program of seeking private contributions to a fund that would pay tuition for "poor" kids to attend private and parochial schools. Former state Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, gets credit for immediately spotting the trick. The next step, she predicted, would be state-paid tuition grants for poor kids to attend private schools.

■ State-paid tuition grants -Amway heir Richard DeVos last month announced a petition drive to amend the constitution to do precisely what Berman predicted. The cat is four-fifths out of the bag.

As I read the news accounts, the "scholarships" would go to students in a few dozen selected school districts. Even if voters were conned into buying the scheme, two things are very wrong with it:

First, the U.S. Constitution requires "equal protection" of the laws. One can't give state money to kids in Detroit and Inkster and ignore those in Freesoil and Pickford.

Second, whenever you give any benefit to one group, everyone will want it. Who says the cutoff point is $20,000 income? Let's make it $25,000; or $40,000; shucks, let's give it to everybody.

DeVos is the husband of Betsy

I I watched Dick DeVos in the two years he was on the State Board of Education. He had an improper habit of veting for school property transfers if the parents wanted them, and the heck with the impact on the districts, the bus lines, the tax base, any court orders affecting segregation:

DeVos, state Republican chair. She hasn't a good word to say about public schools, PTA or anything associated with them. I watched Dick DeVos in the two years he was on the State Board of Education. He had an improper habit of voting for school property transfers if the parents wanted them, and the heck with the impact on the districts, the bus lines, the tax base, any court orders affecting segregation.

Many of us expected this churchaid gimmick to surface in 1998. It didn't, apparently because Gov. John Engler didn't want to see it as a campaign issue, though he probably favors it. Engler won't be running forstate office in 2000.

Instead, Engler is trying to slip through a batch of bad policies to let people enroll kids in nonpublic schools but get the advantage of public school sports, bands and clubs. Another bad Engler idea is one school district set up a "satellite" operation in another district.

The DeVos gimmick is clothed in rhetoric about "kids first" and "choice." The true agenda, ever since the battle of 1972, has been to get public tax money for sectarian schools. Their goal is state support of religion, as if the tax-exempt status, the freedom from MEAP tests, the loose reporting requirements and zoning protections weren't enough.

awyers, guns and money

never expected to write this column. For years. I've had it in for the trial lawyers, who I've always regarded as little more than ambulance chasers with a vested financial interest in bringing frivolous lawsuits. But I've changed my mind about trial lawyers - at least some — and I'm obliged to explain why.

It all has to do with the way the trial lawyers have functioned to loosen up our political system; a sort of laxative for stopped-up politics.

In the absence of any meaningful campaign finance reform, our political system remains infested with special-interest money. Politicians interested in getting re-elected solicit big contributors such as the tobacco companies and the gun industry.

The big contributors, having contributed, naturally expect some return on their investment. This means that when legislation comes up that hurts their interests, lobbyists pay calls on elected officials reminding them of past contributions and suggesting it's time to fulfill their part of the bargain.

And guess what? The offending legislation

Although we like to say we are a democracy, in practice our politics often work as a plutocracy, "a government or state in which the wealthy rule," according to the dictionary. In our case, "the wealthy" consist of special interests that understand how a few million contributed here and a few million there can thwart public opinion and get their way.

It is the plutocratic workings of our politics, for example, which enabled tobacco companies that contributed millions and millions of dollars to scuttle forever legislative attempts to restrict or outlaw cigarette advertising designed to book kids. While public attitudes overwhelmingly favored restrictions on smoking and cigarette advertising, big tobacco money stuffed up the legislative process for years and years. What finally loosened up the process? The trial lawyers, that's who. They had been going after the tobacco companies with wrongful death and damaged health lawsuits for years and years, always failing but keeping at it. Finally, the attorneys general of the various states around the country who have been spending billions of taxpayer dollars treating illnesses caused by smoking finally joined in. And suddenly, the financial resources of the tobacco industry were equally matched by the trial lawyers and the attorneys general. They joined forces in the final big lawsuit that scared the tobacco industry into settling out of court by paying billions of dollars to the states and agreeing to restrictions on cigarette advertising. What the political system could not or would not do finally got done by the trial lawyers.

We now see exactly the same process starting over again, this time involving gun manufacturers and the National Rifle Association.

For years and years, the NRA terrorized lawmakers, bottling up attempts to regulate the sale of guns or require safety mechanisms that allow guns to be fired only by their legitimate owners. This in the face of overwhelming public attitudes toward guns that are much like public attitudes toward smoking: there are too many guns and the gun makers aren't serious about doing anything to make their product safe.

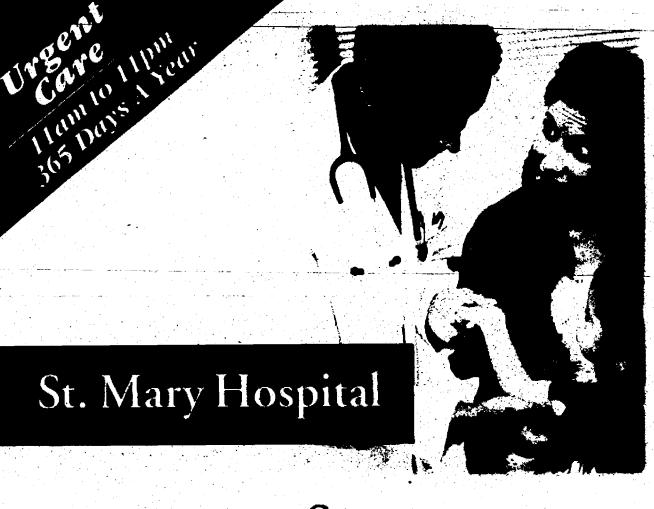

Enter the trial lawyers. By inventing a novel legal theory - "Through a calculated strategy of willful blindness, the defendants exploit, rely upon, and help to maintain an active illegitimate secondary market in firearms", according to the suit filed last week in Wayne County Circuit Court by Detroit and Wayne County - the legal process is being deployed to unstop a political system that would not act.

Detroit-Wayne County joins six other local governments - Cleveland, Chicago, New Orleans, Miami-Dade County, Atlanta and Bridgeport, Conn. - in suing the gun industry.

I have no idea whether these suits will eventually succeed. But I see a pattern beginning to unfold: A political system that cannot or will not respond to public outcry can be bypassed by recourse to the legal system.

The next target? Your guess is as good as mine. But most folks consider the entertainment industry to be all-powerful. And well, well. Now comes Geoffrey Fieger, suing the folks who run the Jenny Jones show, alleging the show was the proximate cause for a mur-

Childhelp offers tips to protect children

According to national statistics, every 10 seconds a child is abused. Each year, more than 3 million child abuse reports are made.

The following tips can help protect your children - or those you care for - from becoming one of the statistics, according to Childhelp USA.

The organization, which is observing its 40th year, recommends that parents:

Never discipline your child when your anger is out of con-likes of Edger Allen Poe and Mary Shelley.

Goth was reportedly resuscitated in the late 1970s and early 1980s when bands like Bauhaus, Siouxsie and the Banshees, the Damned and the Sisters of Mercy stepped on the stage with their brand of dark, brooding music that often reflected feelings of loss, abandonment and isolation.

More than that, goth is a way of life for some 15- to 30-yearolds. Baggy black clothing is encouraged so people will be thought of for their minds, not their bodies. Sunlight is discouraged.

"I guess the goth culture really comes from a sense of growing up alienated, having a love of things that are a little bit on the dark side, as far as our poetry and things like that are concerned," said Patrick Hogan of the Detroit-based bands Dragon Tears Descending and Rogue Angel Seven. "It was more generally accepted 100 years ago than now. It provides a place for a lot of creative people to have a point for art.

"(Plus) City Club is one of the safest places you can go on a Saturday night."

Doesn't add up

None of this, Kristen said, adds up to murder.

"I was disgusted." she said when she heard that Klebold and Harris were called goth. "Just blaming it on like superficial things kind of bothered me. They should focus the blame on more things, like things that actually matter other than, like 'Marilyn Manson's music made them do it.'

"I think maybe it escalated their views on a lot of things but I don't think it was the cause. We've talked about this in almost all my classes, and most of the kids feel the same way about it. It wasn't those superficial things that made them go out and massacre students."

Instead, Kristen and her peers believe it is a "collection of a lot of things, like them being made fun of, and probably not having a very good home life. Some people could say that they seemed happy but you never know. Teenagers are really impressionable so it could have been like small things, like their parents didn't make their favorite dinner."

"Teenagers obsess about a lot of small stuff," she added. "If you're already unstable there's a lot of things that could contribute to it, but they don't necessarily cause it."

Nevertheless some of Klebold and Harris' favorite bands like Marilyn Manson, KMFDM and Rammstein received a fair share of the blame. Out of respect for the murders, Manson said, he postponed the last five dates of his band's tour.

Hammering home the point that Klebold and Harris weren't goth, Hogan explained that Marilyn Manson isn't a goth band. Manson leans toward the industrial side of music, he said.

According to Ed Altounian of the industrial band Glitch, goth music primarily involves acoustic instruments while industrial music is heavier, incorporating samples and "rare sounds that you don't hear in everyday top 40 music."

Jon Ameel, also of Glitch, said he's frustrated that "intense music" always gets the blame.

"If somebody commits suicide or whatever, why is it whenever somebody happens to listen to an intense style of music, all of a sudden it's the music's fault? Why don't we see news reports about hillbillies holding up liquor stores and getting in bar fights, and them (cops) going out and investigating Conway Twitty?" said Ameel, who works at a physics research laboratory.

Altounian added that it shouldn't matter which bands Klebold and Harris listened to, or whether they were goth or not. It comes down to the parents and the teens' psychological conditions.

What it really comes down to, is they took the music and interpreted the music the way they wanted to," said Altounian, a Westland resident.

don't realize is there's a great amount of great contemporary music out there that sounds a lot like they hear on secular stations all the time. It has a message. It's fun to listen to.

"It brings to the table a lot of the same things that secular music brings. The only difference is the music is positive."

"Cross Trax" play list includes modern acts like Jars of Clay, Rebecca St. James, Newsboys, Jennifer Knapp, Sarah Masen of Royal Oak and Plumb.

"It's very mainstream and it's really targeting females just because The Planet (the nickname for WPLT), their big target is 18-34 females," Christian said. "The main thing is we want the show to sound like the radio station does all week. The difference is the music is Christian music on our show."

Like many of the bands coming to town this month, Christian doesn't get preachy on his radio show.

"I don't stand on a soapbox and tell people about Christ," he said. "I let the music do that. I talk about the artists and about some of the things that are going Christian attributed the newfound professionalism of Christian music to its recent increase in popularity.

"The music is so good that you can't avoid it. I think possibly a lot of that is people get fed up with all the negative music and those kinds of things," he said. "I

"We thought The Devil Is Bad was really catchy and lots of kids would like it," Hellman said. "We thought it might do well on the charts but we didn't think it was going to be Modern Rock/Alternative Recorded Song of the Үеаг."

He grew always suspecting that he would play clarinet in a symphonic band or sax in a rock and swing band.

Hellman said, "I think we do a terrible job, actually. We always screw up a lot. Everybody seems to think that we do a really good job of carrying over musically. But we make up for our mistakes by putting on a good show."

WESTLAND DOWNTOWN DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

Westland Downtown Development Authority is requesting proposals to provide general renderings of commercial buildings and landscaping in the D.D.A. district. The purpose of these renderings is to provide building owners or tetiants a conceptual idea of the visual impact of reconstruction. The rendering is intended to furnish a fermet that provides a consistent frontal design throughout the commercial corridors of Westland. A knowledge of the architecture in an este-oriented situation and a knowledge of the community is essential to the idea of a coordinated visual appeal of the commercial buildings. Most rendering will involve designs of single building fronts (30°s40°). A few may havelve multiple fronts.

The proposal should centain the following information:

Rev. Mack joins St. John's Episcopal

St. John's Episcopal Church in Westland recently installed the Rev. Arthur Mack as its new pastor.

Mack comes to St. John's from Trinity Episcopal Church in Lancaster, N.Y., filling a more than two-year-long vacancy following the death of the Rev. Raymond Zips in 1996.

The Rt. Rev. R. Steward Wood Jr., bishop of the Diocese of Michigan, led the celebration. His chaplain was the Rev. Beverly Moore Tasy, rector of St. Clement's Episcopal Church in Inkster. The interim pastor, the Rev. Paul Hiyama, preached during the service.

Representing the Westside Area Council were the Rev. Daniel Appleyard, rector of Christ Church in Dearborn, and the Rev. William Lieber, rector of St. Christopher/St. Paul Church in Detroit.

The oldest of seven children,

Rev. Arthur Mack

Mack grew up on a dairy farm in upstate New York. He graduated from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., in 1964, and Artillery in Hawaii, Vietnam and Oklahoma.

While at Fort Sill, Okla., he was called into the ordained ministry, studying for three years at the General Theological Seminary in New York City.

He spent six years on active duty as an Army chaplain, serving congregations at Fort Monroe, Va., and Fort Richardson, Alaska. He also served as an Army reserve chaplain for 17 years and saw active duty with a hospital unit during the Persian Gulf War.

In addition to Trinity, he has served at St. Paul's Cathedral in Syracuse, N.Y., Trinity Church in Lowville, N.Y., and Epiphany Church in Sherburne, N.Y.

He built up two congregations from scratch on small military bases. He also revitalized the cathedral church school with pastoral visits to homes, served in the U.S. Army improved teacher training and morale and increased concern for the children's attendance and joy in wormip, Marked, Mack and his wife, Susan, have two children, Kara and Dan, who attend Marshall Middle School in Mettland. He also has two www children, David and Andrew, by a former marriage. They are serving in the U.S. Army in Germany.

"Having devoted considerable study and practice devoted to the ministry of healing, I believe that God desires both good health and wholeness for people, Mack said, St. John's has been a part of the Wayne-Westland Community for almost 100 years. The congregation started as a mission in Wayne in 1901 and reached parish status in 1943. It moved to its current Wayne Road site in Westland in 1956.

Merriman Road ready for team

The mationally recognized Power Team is coming to Merriman Road Baptist Church Wednesday-Sunday, May 19-23.

The Power Team is a group of world-class athletes who combine great exhibitions of strength, power and speed with a message of inspiration and motivation.

During nightly performances at the church, 2055 Merriman Road, Garden City, the team members give individual Christian testimony while using feats of strength as not only a tool to draw people in, but as an illustrated sermon.

"This is going to be one of the biggest and most powerful events ever to hit this community," said the Rev. Wayne Parker, pastor of Merriman Road Baptist Church. "We're taking a stand in our community and we're hoping that literally thousands will come to hear this great message of hope."

In addition to the nightly performances, the Power Team will conduct assemblies in at least seven area schools. During the school assemblies, the men perform feats of strength to gain the students' attention, then deliver their message.

Team members talk about the danger of drugs, alcohol and AIDS. The team also tells how each student has value and how each should never give up on individual goals and dreams. • (734) 421-0472.

The team has performed in more than 40 countries and at more than 7,000 public school assemblies. The Power Team's television show, "The Power Connection," airs weekly on the Trinity Broadcasting Network.

For more information about the Power Team's visit, call Merriman Road Baptist Church at

Taormina is fast learner in triathlon

The triathlon news was significantly better Sunday for Livonian Sheila Taormina.

Only a week earlier, the 30-year-old Taormina succumbed to dehydration under the 90 degree heat less than a quarter-mile from the finish line in the St.-Anthony's Triathlon held Saturday afternoon (April 25) on The Pier in St. Petersburg, Fla.

After taking two IVs to regain her strength that day, the Stevenson High product immediately went back to training and was at it again Sunday in Austin, Tex. competing in the Bally's Total Fitness, a U.S. Triathlon Series event.

Taormina finished second in the female pro division with a time of 2 hours, 12 minutes, 56.9 seconds. She took home $750 in prize money and also earned additional $250 for the fastest swim.

"I was not in racing shape because I was still hurting from Florida," said Taormina, who completed a 72-mile train-

Olympic gold medalist in the women's 800meter freestyle relay in 1996 at the Atlanta Games.

Taormina was second in the women's division behind 24-year-old Julie Ricketts, a Great Britain transplant who competed for Louisiana State University.

Rickett's total time in the 1,500-meter swim, 24.8-mile bike and 6.2-mile run was Taormina's times were 21:34.2 in the swim: 1:10:18.4 in the bike (19.62 MPH): and 39:18.4 in the run (6:33 per mile).

At St. Anthony's, 1995 Hawaii Ironwoman champion Karen Smyers fought off a strong challenge by Taormina, overtaking her in the third loop of the 10K

But the heat was was just too oppressive and despite being disappointed at not finishing, Taormina was upbeat about the experience. She learned some valuable lessons in only her fourth race of the year.

Things like wearing a hat during the run to block the sun and implementing drafting strategy on the bike were two items that will not be overlooked in the Taormina, who has an eye on next year's Olympic Trials, will compete again in a U.S. Triathlon Series race Sunday, May 23 in San Dimos, Calif.

With the help of coach Lew Kidder and training partner Karen McKeachie, a veteran age-group competitor, Taormina is certainly making great strides and could be a force to be reckoned in the new Olympic event by this time next year.

Remembering Scicluna

Who wasn't touched by the tributes made last week on behalf of the late Paul Scicluna?

The 57-year-old Eastern Michigan University women's soccer coach was tragically killed in a one-car accident (April 25) while returning from a recruiting trip in Ohio.

Scicluna's influence on the soccer world reached far and wide.

Nearly 1,000 gathered April 28 at "The House that Paul Built," Total Soccer, the full-sized soccer indoor complex in Wixom.

"He turned his dreams into reality," said friend and co-club coach Paul Dugan. "He believed people needed a place to play year-round.

"There was also an instant bond with the people he met and the players he coached. His love the game was infectious."

Said former Livonia Bentley High player Amy Weber: "He was my hero. It took this tragedy to make me the person I am today.

Added friend and longtime club coach Tom Coyne: "He was the maestro of results, the wind beneath our

Another former player from EMU, Michelle Fatute: "He taught good traditional values. He touched so many lives. He was just a class act."

And then there was close friend Rich Azanger: "Paul brought out the best in all of us. It's better to give than receive, and he lived it all the Plymouth Salem is still the team in Observerland boys track and field the team others are still trying to catch and emulate.

the annual Observerland Relays and won their third title in four years Saturday night at Redford Union's Kraft Field.

Salem won six events and finished 17 points ahead of Livonia Churchill, the runner-up for the second year in a row, 89-72. The Chargers were much closer than the 58% points that separated the teams last year. "We like the fact Plymouth Salem has an outstanding program, to the point we aspire to be as good as they are," Churchill coach Rick Austin said. "If not for them and the great competition, I don't think we'd be the team we Salem. "That's our ultimate goal. You have to respect Salem and its coaching staff for the great run they've enjoyed.'

Salem, which has won six times overall - five in this decade, was most dominant in the distance events.

Nick Allen, Bobby Cushman and Jon Little combined with Manvir Gill to set a meet record in the 6,400-meter relay (18:06) and with Trevor Davis to win the 3,200 relay.

Salem's Matt Anderson, Andy Gabriel, Craig Little and Donnie Warner began the finals of the running events with a victory in the distance medley relay. "They worked hard to get there, and they know what it takes to win," said pitched well enough to win vs. Canton.

Salem coach Geoff Baker of his distance crew, adding there was much more to the Salem victory. "I thought we had a good, solid, team performance today."

The Rocks, led by Gabe Coble's meetbest jump of 20-5, won the long jump The Rocks repeated as champions of, with help from Pat Johnson and Ryan Silva and scored in every field event but the pole vault.

"We had to doctor our sprints because our best sprinter (Mike Shull) was out (with a strained hamstring)," Baker said.

Salem accomplished that by putting other people in certain spots," he added. "It shows we do have a little depth in the sprints; we're not just a distance team."

Gabriel, Mark Sheehan, Chris Mason, who was sixth in the 100 dash, and Coble won the sprint medley. The Rocks also were third in the 400 relay and second in the 1,600.

"The sprint medley (win) was kinda unexpected," Baker said. "We put good guys in there, and we thought we'd place. That was a good win."

The coup de grace was Salem's victory in the shuttle hurdle relay. With points from that event, the high jump and pole vault outstanding, the Rocks had an insurmountable, 79-58 lead over Churchill.

But the Rocks won that event, too, with the team of Dave Clemons, Rob Showalter, Silva and Ryan Thomas by less than half a second over the Charg-

"I was a little nervous," Baker said when he heard the meet officials call for a re-run in the shuttle hurdles, "but it wasn't our heat; so we kinda lucked

Plymouth Canton comes through, averts upset bid by Churchill, 3-2 BY C.J. RISAK cjrisak@oe.homecomm.net Plymouth Centon is supposed to win. That should be clearly understood. The Chiefs won the Western Lakes Activities Association softball title last season and advanced to the Class A semifinals before falling, and nearly everyone from that team is back. Their record — 14-2 overall — may indicate they've lived up to expectations, but don't be fooled. It hasn't been easy this season. Monday's home game against Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division rival Livonia Churchill is a case in point. Canton had to battle back to get a 3-2 victory, scratching out an unearned run in the bottom of the sixth. Anna Keil, a pinch-hitting menace of late for the Chiefs, came through in the clutch with a two-out, run-scoring double that delivered Angie Neu (who reached base on Churchill infield error) with the game-winner. "We played some good defense," said Churchill coach Dana Hardwidge. "I hate to see it end on a play like that (an error). I thought (Adrienne) Doyle pitched well, she did a good job mixing it up.

"We're fighting for consistency right now."

Which brings more sharply into focus Canton coach Jim Arnold's frustration with his team. Churchill is 5-7 overall, 0-4 in the division. It's a team the Chiefs' coach believes should be handled more easily.

"We just seem to play real well against the good teams, but not so well against the not-so-good teams," he said. "At least it seems that way. I don't know why. We try to tell them anybody who beats us, it's going to

What frustrated Arnold was the Chiefs' performance against Churchill came after they had played so well in winning the Temperance Bedford Tournament Saturday. Canton's pitching ace, Gretchen Hudson — who missed 10 days with a sprained knee - was on target in a 2-0 win in the title game against the host Kicking Mules. Hudson fired a no-hitter, walking one and striking out nine — including fanning the side in the second inning on nine pitches.

"I thought that would be a great confidence builder," said Arnold of the tournament win. But on Monday, it was the Chargers who seemed to want it more.

Canton took the early lead, getting a run in the first inning on a single by Paula McKernan, a stolen base and Christina Kiessel's run-scoring base hit. But Churchill answered with two runs in the third on a rally initiated by two errors that allowed Sarah Hen-

"We had a good scare going," Baher said, adding Salem was disqualified in the 800 relay and its offer didn't get checked in on time. That brought us back to people and started making us nervous."

There was only a one-point difference between the Rocks and Chargers at that point.

"We knew we still had some good events to come," Baker said, "but anything can happen - a dropped baton or an injury.

"In the shuttle hurdles, our leadoff guy (Clemons) had a strained hamstring, and we weren't sure he was going to be able to go. If he goes down, there's no points for us there. That's 10 for (Churchill) and a 20-point swing,"

Churchill was led by Kearney, who won the individual high hurdles, anchored the winning 800 relay team, led the Chargers to a second-place finish in the shuttle hurdles and helped Churchill get third in the 1,600

"I'd like to congratulate my team; they're having a very good year," Austin said. "Jason Richmond was coming off an injury and turned in a PR in the 1,600. Ryan Kearney ran super again. As Ryan goes so does our team.

"I'm very proud of all our kids, because they believed they could come here and score a lot of points and make it an interesting meet.

"I'd like to congratulate Geoff Baker and the Salem track team for demonstrating once again, with their super performances in just about every event, why they should be Observerland champi-

Marlins' offensive assault topples Ladywood in pair

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS SOFTBALL

Farmington Hills Mercy rallied twice in the late innings Tuesday to sweep a make-up girls softball doubleheader from host Livonia Ladywood, 16-6 and 11-9.

In the first game, the Marlins scored six times in the fifth inning to erase a 3-2 deficit, and they put the game out of reach with an eight-run sixth.

Both teams had 12 hits. Mercy's Erin Howard struck out five and walked none. The Marlins had eight walks from Ladywood pitcher Rebecca Paw-

Mercy is 4-2 in the Catholic League Central Division and 12-6 overall; Ladywood, which lost a pair last Thursday to visiting Birmingham Marian (8-2 and 12-4) is now 5-10 overall and 0-6 in the Lauren Monterey, Erin Carson and Nuverre

Naami had two hits apiece to lead Mercy. Carson and Naami also had two RBI each; Carson scored three runs and Naami two. Melanie Grewe and Becky Mitchell hit safely three times each. Grewe's hits included a pair of triples, and she drove in two runs. Sarah Thiesmeyer had two hits and one RBI. In the second game, the Marlins scored five runs in the sixth inning to take a 10-9 lead and added one more in the seventh.

Mercy had a 10-8 edge in hits. Megan Fediuk was the winning pitcher, striking out eight and walking two. Michele Moros went six innings for Ladywood and took the loss.

Carson was 3-for-5 with two RBI and scored two runs. Monterey and Naami had two hits apiece; Monterey had three RBI, and Naami scored three runs. Marissa Lawrence also had three RBI.

Grewe had another three-hit game, which included a pair of doubles. Her RBI total was three. Gen Dudas (triple), Thiesmeyer (double) and Margaret Day (double) added two hits each.

•W.L. WESTERN 6, FRANKLIN 2: Angie Balconi tossed a five-hitter Monday to keep the Patriots winless in four WLAA games.

The left-handed Balconi walked one and struck out five as Walled Lake Western raised its Western Division WLAA mark to 3-1.

Tara Muchow was the losing pitcher, walking six and giving up four hits. She struck out seven but hit three batters as Livonia Franklin dropped to 7-8.

Western scored three in the first and three in the fourth while Franklin picked up both its markers in the sixth on RBI singles by Kelly Young and Amy Sandrick: • SALEM 6, STEVENSON 4: A three-run rally with twoout in the top of the eighth inning carried WLAA Lakes. Division leader Plymouth Salem (8-7, 4-0) to the victor Monday over Livonia Stevenson. A single by Jen Allen, a triple by Katle Kelly, followed by a wild pitch and an Amanda Sutton single gave the Rocks the win.

Sutton, the winning pitcher, went 3-for-5 with a pair of doubles. Shae Potocki added three hits.

Kristi Copi led Stevenson (3-7, 1-3) with a pair of hits, while Katie King added an R8I double. LeAnne Schraufnagle, who along with Sutton worked all eight innings, was the losing pitcher. •LUTHERAN WESTLAND 5-15, LUTHERAN EAST 3-20: Katle Heiden scattered four hits, walked two and struck out five Monday in pitching the Warriors to the Metro Conference win in the first game of a doubleheader. The second contest was a non-conference affair so the two coaches experimented. Heather Rose was the losing pitcher as Lutheran East pounded out 18 hits to 14 for Lutheran Westland.

Sarah Marody had three hits with an RBI white Stephanie Lynch had two doubles, a single and two RBs. Sharon Greer hit a pair of solo home runs, Helden had two triples and Liz Unger had a pair of singles.

In the opener, Helden had two of the four hits the Warriors got.

Lutheran Westland is now unbeaten in four Metro Conference games and 6-4 overall while Lutheran East is 2-2 in the Metro, 6-2 overall.

·LUTHERAN WESTLAND 6-8, LIGGETT 2-19: Pitcher Katle Heiden tossed a seven-hitter in the opener Friday as Eutheran High Westland (5-3, 3-0) captured the first game of a Metro Conference double-header at Grosse Pointe Woods University-Liggett (3-7, 2-1).

Heiden struck out five and walked three.

Nicole Young, who gave up four hits, six walks and fanned nine, took the loss.

Heather Rose was the losing pitcher in the nightcap. Sarah Marody had three hits in the double-header. while Sharon Greer, Emily Reinke and Heather Haller collected two apiece.

Hudson was effective, if not The Chiefs tied it at 2-2 in the overwhelming, in getting the pitching win; she gave up five hits and one walk, striking out Lakes Activities Association.

10. Doyle was strong, too; she also allowed one earned run on five hits and one walk, withthree strikeouts.

Canton is now 3-1 in the Western Division of the Western.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE SOFTBALL

Madonna tunes up for WHAC tourney

Seven-out-of-12: Not fantastic, but not too bad either.

And those seven wins did put Madonna University's softball team two games over .500 and put them in a tie for fourth place in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference with Aquinas College, each team finishing at 15-13.

Sophomore shortstop Kristy McDonald was a big part of the Lady Crusaders' week, which is why she was named WHAC player of the week. McDonald, from Redford Thurston HS, hit safely in her last nine games and was 18-of-34 at the plate (.529) with five doubles and two triples; she knocked in 14 runs and scored eight others.

Madonna would have had fourth place to itself had it swept its twinbill with Siena Heights Monday.

The Lady Crusaders handled the opener easily enough; Janell Leschinger tossed a three-hit shutout, walking three and striking out two as she improved to 19-7 in a game stopped after five innings by the eight-run mercy rule.

The Crusaders scored five times in the first, with Kelly Zurawski singling in two runs and McDonald, Jamie Cook and Courtney Senger each collecting RBI singles.

They added two in the second without the benefit of a hit, and two more in the third, with McDonald and Vicki Malkowski each singling in runs. McDonald and Senger each had two hits and two RBI, and Angela Litwin (from Plymouth Canton) had two hits and scored twice.

The second game was a pitchers' duel all the way, with the Saints' Kristin Heinze bettering Madonna's Janelle Schmidt and Tanya Liske, who allowed one run apiece. Erin Parks doubled in the game's first run in the third, giving Siena Heights a 1-0 lead; Jamie Hallenbeck doubled that advantage with a run-scoring single in the sixth. Madonna's only run was knocked in by Tanya Liske on a groundout •MADONNA 1-15, INDIANA TECH 2-4: Janell Leschinger could have used the kind of offensive support her Madonna team turned in in the second game of Sunday's WHAC double-header at Indiana Tech.

Leschinger allowed two unearned runs - the Crusaders committed six errors in the game — on six hits and four walks, striking out two in a 2-1 loss. Tech's Sarah Douglas tossed a two-hit, one-walk gem at Madonna. Both Tech runs scored in the bottom of the seventh, with

In the second game, the Crusaders erupted for 19 hits and 15 runs in a game ended after six innings. Janelle Schmidt got the pitching win, allowing four runs on nine hits and three walks, with one strikeout.

McDonald was on fire at the plate, going 5-for-5 with two doubles, a stolen base and three RBI. Jamie Cook added three hits, three runs scored and three RBI; Vicki Malkowski had three hits (including a triple), scored four runs and knocked in one; Missy Bako (Garden City) had three hits (including a triple) and an RBI; Jenny Kruzel had two hits and two RBI; and Angela Litwin had two hits.

• MADONNA 7-13, TRI-STATE 1-2: A sweep was in order for Madonna last Saturday in Angola, Ind.

Janell Leschinger got the win in the opener, working the first five innings and not allowing a hit; she walked one and struck out five. Missy Bako allowed one hit in her two innings on the mound. Vicki Malkowski, Kristy McDonald and Bako each had two hits and an RBI. Angela Litwin and Courtney-Senger also had two hits apiece. In the second game, McDonald drove in four runs with a double and a triple, Malkowski contributed two doubles, a triple, three runs scored and two RBI, and Senger added three hits and three RBI in the fiveinning mercy. Jenny Kruzel also had three filts, with Bako adding two hits and two RBI; Jen Walker getting-two hits and an RBI; and Jamie Cook collecting two hits.

Madonna opens the WHAC Tournament today in Battle Creek.

Kingswood boots Warriors, 9-0

The going was a little tough Monday for host Lutheran High Westland girls soccer team, which lost to Metro Conference contender Bloomfield Hills Kingswood, 9-0.

The Lady Warriors trailed 5-0 at intermission and were outshot 25-4 for the match.

The defeat drops Lutheran High Westland to 1-

6-1 overall and 1-5-1 in the Metro. Things were better, however, Friday for Lutheran Westland, which earned a 1-1 tie in a non-leaguer at Southgate Aquinas.

Cali Heins got Lutheran Westland on the board first from Angie Matthews. Coach Mark Brenner also praised the play of stopper Kelly Buczek. • CHURCHILL 6, JOHN GLENN 0: Two goals Monday by Kersten Conklin helped power the Chargers (6-2-1) past

Westland John Glenn (2-6-1). Kristen Leszczynski had a goal and two assists while Livonia Churchill got single goals from Melissa Sultana, Lindsay Kantzler and Dana Thomson. Kerrie LaPorte played goal for the Chargers and earned her first complete game shutout. Churchill is now 6-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

•STEVENSON 10, W.L. CENTRAL 1: The Spartans piled up a 5-0 halftime lead and rolled on to their eighth win in goal scorers were Brianna Roy, Sarah Wittrock, Lindsay Gusick and Laura Shishkovsky.

Roy had a pair of assists, as did Wittrock, while Gusick had one assist.

Jill Endridge scored Walled Lake Central's lone goal, "Things were clicking for us," coach Jim Kimble said. *Everybody contributed and we're pretty happy with the effort we gave." •WAYNE 2, BELLEVILLE 1: Goals by Kristina McCahill and Alana Green helped the Zebras hand the Tigers their first Michigan Mega Conference Blue Division soccer loss. Shella Honeycutt and Green drew the assists on the goals for Wayne Memorial, now 5-5 overall and 3-2 in the

Jenny Sheppard provided the winning goalkeeping. • MARIAN 3, LADYWOOD 0: Livonia Ladywood goalkeeper Liz Obrecht kept Birmingham Marian off the board for a half Tuesday, but the host Mustangs scored three unanswered goals in the final 40 minutes to post the Catholic League Central Division triumph.

Ladywood slips to 2-8-1 overall and 0-7 in the Central.

The Blazers took only four shots.

"I thought we played an excellent game_and-I think we're really starting to improve," Ladywood coach till Megan Urbats, Dana White and Andrea Sied each Logsdon said. "Her (Obrecht) confidence level is rising and scored two goals for visiting Livonia Stevenson. Single I think in the future she will be a great asset to the team."

Shamrocks run victory streak to 14

Redford Catholic Central moved closer to clinching a berth in the Catholic League baseball playoffs with a double-header sweep on Saturday of visiting Warren DeLaSalle.

CC senior right-hander Anthony Tomey struck out a careerhigh 14 batters, tossing a fivehitter with two walks in a 6-3 complete-game victory in the Tomey also hit a pair of home runs, including one that came in the second game, in an 11-2 win.

The victories moved the Shamrocks, No. 1 ranked in Division I. to 10-0 in Central Division play.

Birmingham Brother Rice is second with a 7-3 record, followed by Harper Woods Notre Dame at 4-6. The first two teams in the Central Division qualify for the playoffs.

Teams play 16 division games and the Shamrocks could clinch a playoff berth with a win Wednesday (May 5) against Rice.

Tomey's three-run homer in the fourth gave the Shamrocks a 3-1 lead. Matt Loridas, who singled, and Chris Woodruff, who was hit by a pitch, scored ahead of Tomey.

The Shamrocks added three more in the fifth. John Hill led off with a walk and was sacrificed to second by Mario D'Herrin, who was safe after a DeLaSalle player was late covering first base.

Bob Malek's double drove in two runs and Casey Rogowski added an RBI singled to finish the CC scoring.

DeLaSalle scored on a solo homer by Sean Dobson and on RBI singles by Dobson and Matt Mitchell in the fifth, a rally that started with a CC error.

DeLaSalle scored on a solo homer by Sean Dobson in the third and RBI singles by Dobson and Matt Mitchell in the fifth.

Mark Cole was the only CC hitter with at least two hits.

Tomey is now 4-0, including a pair of no-hitters, with a 1.05 earned run average.

Dan Duffey was the winning pitcher in the second game, fanning seven with no walks while allowing three hits in five innings. He's now 3-0 in pitching decisions.

The Shamrocks had eight hits and received 11 walks. Tomey's homer, a solo job, came in the

Rucker lanves lows

All an gratifier postures? For $300 a week, Westland John Glenn High's Guy Rucker will toil in the U.S. Basketball League for the New Hampshire Thunder Loons.

The 6-foot-10 center, who gave up his final year of eligibility at Iowa, made his pro debut Sunday in the Loons' 105-97 win over Long Island.

The 13-team USBL is similar to the Continental Basketball Association. But the USBL is only a two-month season lodged in between the end of the European pro leagues and the NBA draft.

Rucker was in line for significant playing time under new coach Steve Alford at Iowa after the Hawks lost frontliners J.R. Koch, Jess Settles and Sam Okey from last year's Sweet 16 team to graduation.

But there was only one catch - Rucker, a partial academic qualifier, had to graduate by the end of the summer to earn another year of eligibility.

After averaging 10.6 points and 5.7 rebounds as a freshman, Rucker's Iowa career took a dive as he was shuttled in-and-out of the lineup by Dr. Tom Davis' constant substitution system.

After a sophomore flop where he gained weight and appeared to out of shape. Rucker show signs of returning to freshman form this season, but after being benched for the Michigan game in Ann Arbor midway through the season - after missing two practices to attend a funeral of a relative - his playing time diminished.

Rucker apparently impressed the Loons with his set shooting touch. (He had four points and four rebounds in the season opener.)

It's too bad Rucker didn't give himself an opportunity to be coached by Alford. It would have been interesting to see what kind of player he could have become. He certainly would have received more minutes.

My guess is that Rucker will end up somewhere over-

Carol Young, mother of Michigan basketball player Chris Young (Redford) Catholic Central), dropped me an E-mail the other day and I thought I would share this with you.

The student, who was shot and rescued falling out of the window at Columbine High School, has suffered partial paralysis (vertebrae damage) and just recently spoke his first words this week.

Well it turns out that the young man is a huge Michigan basketball fan and wears the U-M basketball T-shirt under his shirts.

Head coach Brian Ellerbee. who was recently contacted by the people at Colorado High School, had the team sign a basketball, posters and Michigan paraphernalia to the recovering student.

Certainly this was a nice. gesture on the part of the Wolverine hoop squad.

Salem product Davey sticks with Blue Jays

BY RICHARD L. SHOOK STAFF WRITER

Tom Davey will be in every edition of the Baseball Encyclopedia from now on.

"I'm getting to the point where I'm feeling pretty good," said Davey, going through the same feeling-out process all players do with their first major league. league experience. "The first time out I was pretty nervous.

"It was like, Well, I'm facing this guy I've heard about, I'm facing that guy.' Now it's just me and the catcher and, 'I've got to get this guy out.'

"I'm getting to the point where I feel comfortable with what I'm doing."

It shows in his statistics.

Davey had a 1-0 record with one save in his first 11 appearandes, compiling a 3.12 ERA. In 17 /3 innings, the right-hander had struck out 11, walked 10 and given up six hits. Opponents were batting just .169 against

 This despite the fact every city, every ballpark, has to feel strange and new for the rookie Toronto Blue Jays' relief pitcher. So far, a month into Davey's major lèague experience, he's been to his new home base of Toronto plus Minnesota, Baltimore, New York, Anaheim and now Seattle.

But the 6-foot-7 Davey isn't the only one on Cloud Nine. Or Cloud 8 2 Mom Sandra, dad Jim and sister Christina (age 10) are also feeling the thrill.

"I'm ecstatic," Jim Davey said. "I always felt he was going to get there. It's whether your health is going to be there. He's such a hard worker and dedicated to what he does."

Jim Davey has a network of baseball friends who kept him up on his son's minor league progress. Those same friends call to tell him when a Toronto game is going to be on television so he can watch or tape it. One even sent him a tape because he knew Jim wouldn't be able to tape the Tom Davey originally wasn't going to make the Blue Jays. He was going to get one more season of refinement at Syracuse, in Triple-A.

"They sent me down," he said, "with three days left in spring training. I was a little disappointed. But I reminded myself that, 'Hey, I've still got a job I've got to do."

He'd pitched one minor league game and was supposed to clean • up the last inning of Toronto's last spring game. But reliever Robert Person came down with a Suddenly, Davey was called over and told he wasn't going to pitch the last inning, he was going to start.

"I couldn't figure it out," he said. "I threw pretty good, then after the game they called me over and said, 'You're going to Minnesota with us.' I couldn't believe it."

He hurried to pack his stuff and make the bus so he couldcatch the plane with his team-guy I know in Ontario who keeps me up on things had called me and told me Tommy had made the team. Next thing I knew my phone was beeping and it's Tommy."

"I didn't get a chance to call my dad until I got on the bus," Tom Davey said. "I called on my cell phone. He had already

"They were more excited than I was. I wasn't sure how long it was for. I just knew I was going to be there (the minimum) six days.

"The first 2-3 games I did all right. Then they had another cut and it was somebody else. And when that happened I was a little more excited about being on the team. But I'm aware we still have a couple of guys on the disabled list."

When the Blue Jays went to Toronto for their first home game of the season, Davey's family was on hand to watch.

He didn't get in that game but his father made the return trip by himself the next day and was rewarded when Tom pitched in

"He was on Cloud Nine," the Plymouth Salem product said. "It was a four-run game, I threw the last couple innings of it. He was pretty pumped up."

Watching his son pitch is nothing new for Jim Davey. But instead of taking a week here and a second week there, the Detroit Edison employee simply sandwiches a Friday and Monday around a weekend.

"It stretches it out much more like that than taking a week or two weeks," he said. "You can see a lot more games over the course of a year."

But in Toronto, not Syracuse. "I felt like I had a real good camp," Davey said of spring training. "I knew I was good enough to make this club, that I could pitch in the big leagues. It was just a matter of when you're going to get your shot."

Talent isn't always the deciding factor when it comes to making a major league roster. Salaries play a part, as does major league service time. If there's a choice between a veteran and a rookie, the rookie will often get sent down just because he has options. Veterans generally must be released or waived. Davey was aware of

"I learned a lot about how to pitch to big league hitters this spring," he said. "You can't do the same thing you did in the past - throwing the ball past the hitters. You've got to bear down every single pitch."

Davey throws a fastball, one a two-seamer, but mixes them up with a split-finger just to keep hitters off-balance. His chief problem is control - sometimes he doesn't have it. But so far he's been just wild enough to be help-

"It's so good to see him mature," Jim Davey said, "and to see him get better and have a

June 26-27 slated for O&E golf event

Changes are in the wind. And hopefully, your golf ball will track it. When the golf season starts to wind down this fall, don't count on that one final shot at fame in the Observer&Eccentric/Whispering Willows Golf Tournament, You'll be disappointed.

Because there won't be any O&E Tournament this fall.

Don't fret - it hasn't been cancelled. It's just that a meeting of the minds has come to the conclusion that guys would rather play golf in June than late September or early October.

So we've changed things — namely the date. The O&E/Whispering Willows Tournament will have a new playing date: June 26-27. The rest of the format is basically unchanged. It remains a two-day tournament, 36 holes of golf, divided into four flights (championship, first, second and third). Cost is $85 for both rounds. One slight alteration: Should rain intervene and cause a washout, the tournament will be re-scheduled for two weeks later, July 10-11, rather than the next weekend (which is a holiday weekend). Those eligible to play are all those living within the Observer&Eccentric circulation boundaries (areas included are listed on the accompanying coupon). Coupons will be reprinted in all Observer and Eccentric sports sections, from now until June 19, when entries close. For further information, call Whispering Willows at (248) 476-

Big step: The Paul Taylor Dance Company performs classic and new pieces from its expansive repertoire, including a tango, entitled "Piazzolla Caldera."

Paul Taylor Dance Co. considered world's pre-eminent contemporary troupe performs at Detroit Opera House

BY FRANK PROVENZANO fprovensano@oe.homecomm.net

OK maybe image is everything At least that's the initial impression for anyone not thoroughly familiar with the Paul Taylor Dance Company.

Perhaps it's a sign of their, prominence in the rarefied dance world that the New York-based troupe assumes that audiences will know about their history, and the knighted "genius" whose name is on the company.

Didn't know that the Paul Taylor dancers have performed in more than 400 cities in 60 countries? Perhaps you are uninformed about last year's Academy Award nominated documentary, "Dance Maker," about Taylor and his anointed group of dancers? Forget about first impressions. Get ready for the lasting kind this Thursday through Sunday as the Paul Taylor Dance Company returns to Detroit after a nearly two-decade absence.

The concert is the season finale in an impressive dance series presented by the Michigan Opera

"They are acknowledged as the preeminent contemporary dance company in the world," said Bradley Stroud, director of dance at the Michigan Opera Theatre.

OK, so maybe there's more than just image.

to his prolitic work as a choreogra-"He was there at the beginning of the creation of contemporary dance," said Stroud of Birming-

Today, Taylor's choreography is included in the repertories of nearly every major dance company.

This weekend, the versatile dance troupe will perform a mixed-repertory program, including Taylor's classic "Cloven Kingdom" and "Arden Court," and newer works, "Eventide" and "Piazzolla Caldera."

Not familiar with any of these dances? Keep it to yourself.

In particular, the show-stopping "Piazzolla Caldera," a spicy piece of tango set to flashy lights and performed in tantalizing costumes, demonstrates how Taylor incorporates a popular dance step into his own style. "Every piece is entertaining," said Stroud, "You don't have to tear them spart to figure out what it was about. There's humor in every piece." Broadening appeal

In contrast to the traditional pieces of American Ballet Theatre, who has performed "Giselle" and "Don Quixote" at the Detroit Opera House over the last year, the Paul Taylor dancers offer "challenging techniques" that draw on contemporary dance and social influences, said Stroud.

"Everything in Paul Taylor's choreography is pertinent to what's going on in the world around him," he said.

Of course, it helps that many of the 16 dancers have been in the company since the early 1990s. In the dance world, where athleticism and stamina seem to fade with each passing performance, that's far from typical.

During the last two years, Michigan Opera Theatre's dance series has set out to broaden its appeal. The intention of trendy dance shows like "Blue Suede Shoes," set to the music of Elvis Presley, and "Dracula" were attempts to get the attention of nontraditional dance audiences.

Apparently, with subscriptions and single-ticket sales increasing, the market strategy has been modestly successful.

"Our theory is to bring the very best in dance," said Stroud. "If people see something really good, chances are they'll come back:"

Canadian Brass serious about having fun

BY HUGH GALLAGHER hgallagher@oe.homecomm.net

The Brass just want to have fun. Sure, trumpeters Jens Linderman and Ronald Romm, hornist Chris Cooper, trombonist Eugene Watts and tubist Charles Daellenbach are serious classical musicians. Known collectively worldwide as The Canadian Brass, the musicians aren't above a little show-

In the early years they'd rise to the occasion of a fanfare by standing on their chairs. That was the beginning of a "reputation" in some circles.

"When we did Tanglewood for the first time, they said to us This is serious, no tutus or anything, we want a serious brass concert," said Brass cofounder Eugene Watts. "Then we saw the ad in the New York Times for the summer season and it was a picture of me in a tutu."

The Brass will bring their wit and their musicianship (though not their tutus) to Ann Arbor's Hill Auditorium May 8 as this year's University Musical Society Distinguished Artist Award

Watts promises that the "distinguished artists" won't hesitate to dress appropriately for a bit of "Carmen."

"It's quite an honor," Watts said seriously. "We've been thrilled to be a part of it. The hall is so incredible. It's been a joy and the award just adds to it."

The Brass, now in their 28th year, have appeared under the UMS auspices nine times, most recently in February 1998. The award recognizes the group for their musicianship and for their involvement with musical education. The group actually began by playing at schools throughout southern Ontario in the early 1970s.

In 1998, working with the Music, Educators National Conference, they hosted "The World's Largest Concert" on PBS for the second consecutive year.

Sarah Wiercioch is having a good time playing the brat who eventually becomes the "eyes" of Susy Hendrix, a blind woman fighting for her life in Frederick Knott's thriller "Wait Until Dark."

In the first scene of the Plymouth Theatre Guild production, Wiercioch literally throws a temper tantrum. But it's only a part the 10year old is playing says mom Susan. Sarah doesn't act like that at home.

"My favorite part is yelling when I'm throw- lengths, including ing things," said Wiercioch. "This is my first murder, to get what Please see FINALE, E2

The 14-year-old annual event is held to celebrate music in public schools and links 8 million children in song worldwide,

The Brass also initiated the Fund for the Advancement of Musical Education, which provides grants for professional musicians to help in the continuance of their musical studies.

"We're impressed and pleased with our relationship with musical education, especially brass playing," Watts said.

We're doing something at the Eastman School and these guys have grown up with us. It's quite a responsibility and we're happy about that influence. What we discovered is that we do something that normal students can identify with. They may dream about a symphony or a rock and roll band, but they see us play and think they can do it."

For the award concert, in addition to music from "Carmen," Watts said the group will perform Bach's "Toccata and Fugue" and music by Duke Ellington.

"Our new recording coming out May 18 is on the music of Duke Ellington. We're excited and proud of it," Watts said.

This eclectic mix is typical of the Brass. Though their classical credentials are extensive, they've also played the music of the Beatles, John Philip Sousa and Dix-year and Watts promises a different approach on this album.

This is Ellington's centennial

"It was written and conceived by Luther Henderson who was associated with Ellington in the 40s on his classical pieces and did a lot of his arranging," Watts said.

The group has been invited to Harlem in the fall to perform a concert of Ellington music.

Despite the jazz label, Ellington's compositions, especially longer pieces like "New World Coming" and "Harlem Sunday," are as classical as anything by Gershwin, Watts said.

When Watts and tubist Charles Daellenbach founded the Brass in 1971 in Toronto the idea was to create a serious classical brass ensemble.

Brass instruments were for color. String and woodwind ensembles were the usual classical mode. But it didn't take long for the Brass to develop a large and loyal audience.

The secret was playing seriously but also having some fun.

"At the early concerts we wanted to show what we could do," Watts said. "What we learned was to relate to and play for an audience, and we've never lost that."

When asked to name his favorite Brass albums, Watts again shows the eclectic style they've adopted.

"The Lennon-McCartney I really love. Our Bernstein. I loved the Wagner and 'Red, White & Brass," he said. "We're working on two exciting projects for fall. Recently we've been so 'crossover' that we're coming back to classical with a vengeance."

The Brass are especially prominent during the holiday season, when they are as ubiquitous as Bing Crosby and Gene Autry.

"It was an obvious thing, brass and Christmas. The Salvation Army has been setting us up for years," Watts said. "That's the busiest time of the year for us, from Thanksgiving to Christmas we're working every night."

A festive mood will also prevail for the awards activities. In addition to the public concert, a gala evening package is being offered that includes aperitifs, the concert, dinner and an afterglow.

Previous recipients of the UMS award, sponsored by Ford Motor Co., are pianist Van Cliburn, soprano Jessye Norman and pianist Garrick Ohlsson. The program raises funds for the UMS Education Program, which reaches thousands of children and adults each season through in-school visits, pre-concert lectures, master classes, teacher workshops, youth and family performances and additional activities.

non-musical role out of 13 productions. I like it because I have to be serious."

"Wait Until Dark" is serious, dead serious. Susy Henrdrix might die if she can't outwit the three ex-convicts intent on retrieving a doll full of heroin from her home. Susy is unaware of its' contents until master criminal Harry Roat Jr. enters the scene. Roat will go to any length, including murdering Susy, to recover the white "gold." Using the well-honed senses she developed as a result of the blindness, Susy must depend on Gloria (Wiercioch) to serve as

"There's a lot of scary stuff;

guns and drugs," said Wiercioch.

But fear isn't in Wiercioch's blood. Stage fright isn't in her vocabulary either. If it were. Wiercioch wouldn't be well on her way to a career in theater. Since attending a summer theater camp at age five, Wiercioch's already performed in the chorus of "Showboat" at the Masonic Temple, and as Little Red in-"Little Red Riding Hood" at the Marquis Theatre in Northville.

Wiercioch hasn't limited herself to theater though. She's sung the National Anthem at all the Plymouth Whalers home games at Compuware Arena this season. In her spare time, Wiercioch models for print ads for KMart. Her face can also be seen in the frames for sale at Kmarts across the country.

A student at Our Lady of Good Counsel in Plymouth, Wiercioch in spite of three late-night rehearsals a week, is an honor student and a member of the track team.

"My husband and I, we're just drivers," said Susan Wiercioch, Sarah's mom. "School comes first to her. She comes right home and does her school work before she sees her friends."

Sarah knew at age four after seeing a friend perform in a play, that theater would play a big role in her life. Even though a veteran performer at her tender age, Wiercioch knows she still has plenty to learn and she's depending on director Ralph Rosati to teach her.

Rosati's been directing plays since 1975. He knows the stage from both sides of the lights. He's acted in 31 productions himself. Rosati researched "Wait Until Dark" by renting the video of the 1967 film starring Audrey Hep-

"In this production, lighting has been a challenge," said Rosati. "The last two scenes it's dark, hence the title Wait Until Dark,' and it gets scary. There is violence. That's why it's not recommended for children under 12. It's very dark and tense, and lighting is the key to making it. all come together."

Keith Prusak plays the villain: the murderous Harry Roat Jr. The hardest part for him is being nasty to his wife Ariana who plays Susy, They've been married two years. Their roles last season in the Plymouth Theatre Guild production of "Arsenic and Old Lace" had them playing lovers. They also acted in the recent. SRO Production "Death Trap."

"I definitely don't want anybody to like Roat," said Prusak. "Roat is a social misfit. It's a duel between Susy and Roat to the death."

Ariana likes playing opposite her "real life" husband. A graduate of Lutheran High School in Westland, Ariana earned a degree in theater arts from Eastern Michigan University in 1994.

"I enjoy the last scene where I play cat and mouse with Keith," said Ariana. "It really does get scary. It just draws me into the fear."

Even though they're at each others' throats on stage, off stage. Wiercioch says "the other people I get to work with are really nice."

"We have a great group of people," adds assistant director Diana Wells of Livonia. "There's a bonding already."

Act I's spicy humor is missing in the more serious story of the Flood, but then the dialogue is more focused and the masterpiece qualities of the show's meaning comes through with songs like "The Hardest Part of Love" (a marvelous duet by Miller and Monterosso) and "I am no Stranger to the Rain" (McCune's impassioned solo). # Follow the Ridgedale Players 'Into the Woods'

"Into the Woods" will be presented Fridays, May 7, 14 and 21, Saturdays, May 8, 15 and 22. and Sundays May 16 and 23 at the Ridgedale Players theater. 205 W. Long Lake, Troy. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, 3 p.m. Sundays. Adult tickets cost $13. Senior and student Sunday tickets are $12. To order tickets, call (248) 988-7049. BY HELEN ZUCKER . SPECIAL WRITER

The Ridgedale Players' production of Stephen Sondheim and James Lapine's "Into the Woods," directed by Susan Skibici and Laura Kerr, is wonderful. The cast of 16 actors interacts with speed and a rich sense of the play's poignant, wry intelligence.

Nancy Jeanne Potts bubbles with life as The Witch, who locks her daughter, Rapunzel, in a tower for 14 years. Wishing to protect her golden-haired daughter from the world, Potts is very strong. She sets the plot going by promising the baker and his wife a child if they bring her by midnight a milk-white cow, a bloodred cape, a golden slipper and blond tresses. Potts and Amanda Bayly (Rapunzel) do a moving rendition of "Stay With Me," and Potts is one tough lady in "Last Midnight."

Jim West does a great job as The Narrator, who weaves the familiar fairy tales - Cinderella. Jack and the Beanstalk, and the Baker and the Baker's Wife, Little Red Riding Hood and Rapunzel - into a fantasia that involves them all, and, in Act II, undercuts the happy endings with twists of fate we all recognize. The Narrator (the one who "gives direction") disappears in Act II, and West becomes The Mysterious Man in the Woods, a necessary figure.

Suzette Shuller brings a neat comic touch to "A Very Nice" Prince," and gentleness to the lovely song "No One is Along." Shuller's voice has range, and this musical gives her the chance to use it. Dan Fuller is stalwart and hilarious as Cinderella's Prince.

Fuller strikes just the right attitude and is especially good in his love scene with the baker's wife and doubling as The Wolf, singing a sexy rendition of "Hello, Little Girl." But Fuller is at his best in his duet with his brother, Rapunzel's puzzled Prince, played by Eric Henrickson. "Agony," a song about how delicious it is to want what you can't have (like "Sleeping Beauty") is one of the best songs in the show: Fuller and Henrickson do it justice.

Gwen Elbert is fine as Jack's rackety, loving mother. Tom Peterson is full of bounce, heart, willingness, anything but high intelligence as Jack, the plucky fellow who climbs the beanstalk and brings down a goose that lays golden eggs, a harp and a giant whose wife later lays waste to the community. Tania Velinsky is a spirited, funny Little Red Riding Hood. She has verve.

In a show filled with fine performances, Carl Jones and Holly G. Hellsten stand out; they're terrific as the baker and his wife who get their child and then lose their way. They get to ask a lot of questions, along with The Witch, Rapunzel, and Cinderella. When Cinderella tells The Prince "My father's house was a nightmare; yours was a dream. Now I want something in-between" as she holds the baker's son, she means she wants what the baker and his wife had. Jones and Hellsten give us the married state in all its bliss and annovance.

This week on Backstage Pass on Detroit Public Television, you'll meet some talented young artists whose shoeboxes are overflowing with dreams, some of which have already been realized.

What a month it has been for the young performers of Detroit's Mosaic Youth Theatre! Fresh from their April performances at New York's Kennedy Performing Arts Center and the White House, the organization's new production. "Everybody's Talkin," begins a four-day engagement at the Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts

This original musical play is an adaptation of Shakespeare's comedy, "Much Ado About Nothing," done in Motown style with singers, rappers, comics and dancers.

"Just walking into the Kennedy Center was an incredibly thrilling experience, and the challenge for our cast was to keep the awe in check and remember that theatre is theatre and music is music, no matter where you're performing and who's in the audience," said Artistic Director Rick Sperling.

"There's a concern that kids don't dream as big as they did in the past. Experiences like these help them realize they can expand their horizons," he adds.

The Mosaic Youth Theatre has demonstrated that its work is worthy of a national stage, and the dream of becoming the first nationally touring youth theatre is something that can be achieyed.

Few schools in America can match the creative legacy of ing a band in its infancy, you're

School, and the perennial sprouting of talent has produced a bumper crop of dreams this year. The gifted members of the drama department will perform in the first new production of Mbongeni Ngema's "Sarafina" in over ten years, May 12-13 at the Southfield Center for the Arts and May 19-21 at Cass Tech.

Ngema made an exception to his long-held decision not to release the rights to "Sarafina" when he heard that the students will represent the United States in the Fringe Festival in Scotland this August. He not only believes in the ability of the group to tell his story as it should be told, but, obviously, in the power and potential of dreams.

Cranbrook Academy of Arts is another place to see who's up and coming on the arts scene. The 1999 Graduate Degree Show, going on through May 14. presents the work of over 60 young artists, architects and designers.

'Entrapment' well made, worthwhile picture

By Victoria Diaz SPECIAL WRITER

While watching "Entrapment," which stars Sean Connery, you may find yourself thinking that James Bond has metamorphosed into an attractively aging Scot named Robert MacDougal. That 007 has turned to a life of crime, exercising a talent for stealing priceless objects d'art. That, at age 60, the glittery hero has matured into someone made of real flesh and real blood, someone who, after all those years and all those amorous adventures, might even possess a human heart when it comes to romance.

All of which, of course, says something for how closely Connery has come to be identified with the legendary Bond. Probably, he and any picture he makes will be haunted to some extent by the shadow of the famous secret agent forever. But despite its Bond-like shadings, "Entrapment" is a well made, worthwhile picture all on its own. And, in it, Connery shows us once again that old movie stars do not necessarily fade away; sometimes, their screen presence grows ever more luminous with the passage toward the final moments of the 20th century. We have 16 days to go, to be precise, as the story opens. We are in New York, through we aren't really sure exactly what's happening, even as we watch.

A number of techno-gadgets and other sophisticated tools are playing a part, and slowly, we realize that somebody is going to an awful lot of trouble to life a treasured Rembrandt from a darkened room, only to leave a portrait of Elvis in its place. Here is a thief who is not only nimble and up-to-date (having gained access from the outside wall of the high-rise with those gadgets); here is a thief with a sense of humor. All of this reflects something about the film itself.

Soon, we're whisked away to colorful Kuala Lumpur, hightech capital of Malaysia. Here lives reptilian black-marketer Conrad Greene (Maury Chaykin), and here, beyond glass, guard, and a thicket of laser beams, is a shining work of art MacDougal has always coveted but never been able to get his hands on. Being the kind of determined connoisseur of art and beauty that he is, we suspect that he is going to eventually (a) attain the prize, (b) almost die trying, or (c) die trying.

Meanwhile, back in Manhattan, a beautiful insurance investigator named Gin Baker (Catherine Zeta-Jones) talks her boss into allowing her to go after Mac, the suspected thief. She should prove to be just the tickworks for the company that et. It moves along at a breakinsured the stolen masterwork neck pace, contains enough susfor $24 million, and so it stands pense to turn your knuckles to reason that she's hatched a white, and enough intrigue to scheme or two. Her reasons may 'make your head spin. Though it not be what you think, however, or her schemes what you anticipate. She's capable of spinning an especially crafty web.

But then, Mac is no slouch at keeping one step (or more) ahead of the competition. And therein pretty much hangs our tale, as these two play their catand-mouse games from the Scottish Highlands to high above the streets of Kuala Lumpur. (One especially electric scene has them navigating between the city's Petronas Twin Towers the world's tallest buildings via a fast-fraying metal wire strung with holiday lights.) As the 20th Century barrels to a close in this thriller, the tension heats up, and the chemistry between its two main characters really begins to crackle, too. If you're in the mood for action-adventure, "Entrapment"

doesn't have quite the visual opulence of some of the Bond films, it's still highly watchable, and some of the scenes are knock-outs, especially those shot in Scotland and Malaysia.

Surprisingly, though, "Entragment" succeeds best on another level. The sparks that fly between the two lead characters are a substantial reason why this film works as well as it does. Scrip writers Ron Bass and William Broyles haven't given the two any particularly torrid scenes, but no matter. Fiery grace (Zeta Jones) and grizzled elegance (Connery), combined with a thoughtful script and their nicely nuanced performances help to turn this matchinto sheer dynamite. And, by the time Connery's character utters his most memorable line - "I was prepared for everything except you" - many of us are prepared to believe he is something 'way beyond a mere charming adventurer, brandishing a bunch of shiny, high-tech

Local band contests announced

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO cfuoco@oe.homecomm.net

Local bands looking to boost their career have two chances thanks to Jim Beam and Palace

Sports and Entertainment. Jim Beam is sponsoring B.E.A.M. - Benefiting Emerging Artists in Music — which offers aspiring musicians $50,000 in grants, free rehearsal studio time and publicity. Pat DiNizio, singer and guitarist for the Smithereens, is the chairman of the B.E.A.M. Advisory

"We're giving 150 hours away to a band to practice their music. It's just a formal place to rehearse. So many bands don't have a garage or luxury of their parents' basement to practice in," said Mindy Moller, public relations manager for Jim Beam in Deerfield, Ill.

We're also giving grants away throughout the year. There's $50,000 in grant funds available for tours, or music lessons or. equipment or promotional piece development, whatever it's gonna take to get more exposure for that particular musician or band," she said.

any genre. Rehearsal space will offered at Diversion Recording Studios, 29165 Pierce Road, Southfield. The grants and the rehearsal time will be awarded in June, September and December, with the first deadline set for May 31. Winners will be announced by July 1.

Applications are available on the Jim Beam Bourbon Web site at http://www.jimbeam.com, by writing to P.O. Box 4723, New York, NY 10163-4723, or at Diversion Recording Studios. Palace Sports and Entertainment Inc., is hosting a competition to select local, unsigned or local-label musical performers to serve as opening acts for select shows this summer at Pine Knob and Meadow Brook Music Festival. "There is such a wealth of local musical talent in Michigan, we wanted to extend a hand to showcase some of that talent at our venues. Most local musicians rarely get the opportunity to perform in front of a crowd the size of one found at Meadow Brook or Pine Knob," said Tom Wilson, president of PS&E.

48326. Entries must be postmarked no later than May 17.

Eight finalists will be invited to perform a 10-minute set live at Meadow Brook Music Festival on Wednesday, May 26. Judges will choose four winners to open. for artists (to be determined) throughout the 1999 concert season at Meadow Brook Music Fes-. tival and Pine Knob.

Musical acts must meet the following requirements for consideration: Artists must perform original material (no cover songs of previously recorded material): must be unsigned, or signed to a local record label only; and cannot be related to PS&E employees or have previously performed at any PS&E venue.

Audio/video tape or CD submissions must meet the following requirements: Audio/video tapes or CDs must contain at least 10 minutes of original material, no covers of previously recorded songs. All music and lyrics must reflect a live performance. No "karaoke-style" submissions. # Esthero ready to start touring again

CHRISTINA FUOCO

Esthero is making general conversation when all of a sudden she just freaks.

"On my God, there's this huge snake on 'Real TV.' It's a boa. Oh my God and it's ... it's a foot thick. And it sleeps with kids during nap time. The snake snores, apparently it like lives in their house and it's allowed to sleep with the kids which is like little bunnies to them," she said before shiver-

Esthero — one name only. please — is easily excitable these days. She's about to embark on her first tour since she underwent throat surgery to remove nodes on her vocal chords in January. Recovery is coming along slowly for her, the Ontario, Canada-born singer said.

"The first show I did it was great. It was one of the best shows I've ever done but I could-

S i n g e r n't sing for a week afterward. Then the show after that, I couldn't sing until two days later. The show after that I seemed OK. It's like a muscle and you have to build it back up," she said.

The surgery was one of two major changes for Esthero in the last six months or so. She also parted ways with "Doc," the Minnesota native who served as music director and co-producer on her debut "Breath From Another" (Work).

"He was just somebody that I had made the record with and cooperated with and he didn't dig being on the road very much," she said non-chalantly.

Press material from the Work label credits "Doc" was creating the majority of the album's. music including the ethereal hits "Country Livin' (The World I Know)" and "Heaven Sent." Esthero's vocals — three-parts Sade, with a little Sinead O'Connor and Bjork thrown in for good measure - effortlessly float over a bed of trip-hop, acoustic guitar and orchestra-

With "Doc" gone, her live shows will include new guitar and trumpet players and a few special touches.

"I, like, incorporated a lot of the samples back in there because we proved ourselves as organic players and musicians. Now I brought a few more elements, probably unrecognizable to anybody but me, back in live. They're still triggered by our drummer. I just give them more out that way," he said. work to do."

Esthero opens for Gus Gus at 8 p.m. Saturday, May 8, at St. Andrew's Hall, 431 E. Congress, Detroit. Tickets are $15 in advance for the all-ages show. Call (313) 961-MELT or visit http://www.961melt.com for more information.

Self-made group

Sam Rosenthal is a selfdescribed workaholic. He said he easily works 12-hour days as the founder of Projekt Records, an influential Chicago-based goth label. In his spare time, he is the lyricist/songwriter for the goth group Black Tape for a Blue Girl. "I enjoy it because it gets me away from Projekt and it let's me spend time concentrating on my art," said lyricist/songwriter Sam Rosenthal.

The Chicago-based group is now touring in support of "As One Aflame Laid Bare By Desire" (Projekt), its seventh CD overall.

"The new one is the most melodic. It just sort of worked

Although it's on album No. 7, the group didn't tour until two years ago when Rosenthal decided to showcase the band at a Chicago music festival in 1997.

"It wasn't as hard as I thought," he said with a laugh.

"The main problem is the vocalists don't live in the same city so basically I have a touring band that is different from the recording band. We're a threepiece with Elysabeth and she sings and plays viola. Lisa (Feuer) who's on the album, plays flute and backing vocals. It's kind of creating the band on stage using the songs from the album. With different musical elements."

Monster Magnet leader thrives on surprising fans

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO STAFF WRITER cfuoco@oe.homecomm.net

Long stringy hair, '70s-style sunglasses and well-worn jeans, Dave Wyndorf's character is unforgettable.

Wyndorf, the lead singer/guitarist for the rock band Monster Magnet, apologizes for calling late for an interview.

"I got caught up in the phone press train," Wyndorf said in his smoky voice. "Press train - Pulling out of the station, Woo-Woo!"

Wyndorf has had a lot to talk about lately. Monster Magnet is one of the few hard rock bands to hit the top 40 in England. Somebody stole his beloved, custom-made black leather vest with a silver embroidered panther. Monster Magnet was on the Marilyn Manson tour, off the tour, back on again and off once more. And of all things, Monster Magnet is the only band in recent memory to have an autograph session in a strip club.

"That was per my request, requesting and requisition. Finally a record person with enough gonads just said, 'Yeah, let's do it. That's a good idea.' I thought it was perfect. The only thing was that it was restricted to a certain age group from going it," Wyndorf said of the event held in Detroit.

"It should be on the record that we did an autograph signing at a strip bar, at least

Oh and there's the music. Monster Magnet has found success with its latest album "Powertrip" (A&M/Interscope), on which Wyndorf dabbles in hard rock, blues, and even some acoustic music.

"I love blues and I love acoustic guitars and stuff," Wyndorf said via telephone from his New Jersey home. "I keep going that way." I get to sing low a lot lately too."

The songs on "Powertrip" were written over the course of a few days, something new to Wyndorf.

"I had to put myself on the schedule so I wouldn't freak myself out and from getting too caught up in the process of writing to please a lot of people, which always if your worst enemy. You should please yourself first," he explained.

"I write a song a day and look at them all when you're done and pick out the best ones. A lot of the songs are reactions to previous songs I wrote."

For example, Wyndorf said, if he writes three all-out "high energy rockers" one day, he may follow that up with an acoustic num-

Bluesy and acoustic songs are indicative of Wyndorf's penchant for doing things that fans - or others - would not expect from him. He took that a step further when he covered the impeachment hearings for MTV.

"Nobody told me that we were going to be outside on the lawn the whole time. ... It's like going back to school where you stand outside waiting to get in the school, freezing your (butt) off, and once you get in it's 98 degrees and you fall asleep immediately."

But the biggest stretch for Wyndorf wasn't entering into the press or political ring.

"I figured putting on a turtle neck was a bold compromising statement for me."

The New Jersey resident makes it very clear that his whole image is no gimmick it's really him.

"Everybody's got a gimmick. I try to keep the gimmicks as close to the truth as possible so I can live with it - girls, sex. psychedelia to a certain extent, crazed imagination, delusions of grandeur. That kind of stuff goes through my head every day so if I wear it on my sleeve I can do it for a while. It's not like I say, 'Awe, I've got to shuck this role.' It's purely for survival's sake that I do

Eliza 'waiting' for her time to come

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO STAFF WRITER cruoco@oe.homecomm.net

Singer/ songwriter Eliza Thomasian finds inspiration every day at work.

As she walks down the halls of Grapevine Studios, owned by Motown songwriter Barrett Strong, Thomasian passes gold records and other commendations of Strong's work.

Strong, a Grammy Award winner, penned "Ball of Confusion," "Papa Was a Rolling Stone," and "I Heard It Through the Grapevine," and that gives her hope for her musical future.

"I go, 'Oh my God. It's definitely feasible. It can happen.' I'm inspired because I see that, although I'm not in it for the money, I can live off my music. It's like a lifestyle," Thomasian said.
She is hoping to find success.

with her sophomore effort, "I'm Waiting," an impressive, eightsong album that mixes acoustic folk, rock and blues. She is celebrating the release of "I'm Waiting" with a CD release party and performance Thursday, May 6, at Memphis Smoke in Royal Oak.

The collection includes "Is Jesus in America?" a song that she co-wrote with Strong. "I'm Waiting," released on Strong's label Blarrit Records, is a departure from her previous CD, the techno-heavy "I Want More."

"I just think ever since I was growing up I've been playing piano and singing. That's how I write - piano, singing, acoustic guitar. Folk music is my influence," she said.

*But then I got into this hiphop craze and went mental. I met this guy who was totally into rap and all this. I was trying hip-hop beats, looping and all this stuff. I'm not into all that anymore. I want to do just basic stuff that I do on stage," she added about "I Want More."

For "I'm Waiting," she worked with producer Michael Puwal, of the band The Rev. Right Time and the First Cuzins of Funk, and guest musicians Robert Gillespie, Stephen Grant Wood, Lorenzo "Spoons" Brown, and Scott Spellman.

"I met him and we just started working together and all of a sudden we did almost all those songs, just me and him. It was just me and him doing everything. We just clicked. It was totally cool," she said.

Blarrit Records is planning on releasing "I Want More" nationally and offering "Found Someone" as the first single.

"They're going to get it to all the AAA stations. This album could cross over because 'Strung Out' could be on the Planet (WPLI-FM)."

In the meantime, Thomasian is hoping to return to the Bottom Line, the legendary New York club where singer Shawn Colvin got her start.

"I hope once every six months to go back there. She made it big from the Bottom Line in New York. The more I keep going back, the more fanbase you create. You keep getting bigger and bigger. I just think this album is a lot better for me. It's 100 perheart. Hopefully you could hear that." Eliza and special guests Mystic Bloom celebrate the release of her CD at 9 p.m. Thursday, May 6, at Memphis Smoke, 100 S. Main St., Royal Oak. The show is free and open to those ages 21 and older. Call (248) 543-4300 or visit http://www.detroitsound/~ eliza for more information.
