Library nepotism flap heats up

No action was taken, but several residents came to a library board meeting Wednesday to protest a violation of the library's nepotism policy. The board will next consider action on the policy at its Dec. 15 meeting.

Westland library board members are under intense pressure to keep a nepotism policy that was violated when President Jim Chuck's wife was hired for a part-time job.

Amid warnings from residents that dropping the policy will tarnish the library's image, board members left a meeting Wednesday without resolving the issue.

The board will tackle the controversy again during its next meeting, Dec. 15. In the meantime, Chuck will continue to serve as president while his wife, Cheryl, keeps her $12-an-hour job in the library children's room.

"It's going to be much harder to talk about how marvelous Westland is," resident and former library volunteer Jim Cook told the board. "It's an embarrassment. Honest to God, folks, it's an embarrassment."

One former library board member, Jo Johnson, already resigned over the hiring flap.

Library Director Sandra Wilson has conceded that she made a mistake by hiring Cheryl Chuck for a 30-hour-a-week job that Chuck started Oct. 18.

A nepotism policy clearly states that family members of library board members may not be hired. The board has lifted the rule for Cheryl Chuck as it debates a policy change.

On Wednesday, Wilson said she hasn't been able to find employees, "and I was desperate and glad to have Cheryl."

Even Wilson has had to work as many as 30 hours a week at the library reference desk, working weekends and nights to try to keep up with her duties as director.

"I can't go on working these kinds of hours and not get burnt out myself," she said.

Guy Louis and his Chautauqua Express Musical came to Wildwood Elementary Wednesday for a fun-filled day.

The morning and afternoon performances focused on American music. Students sang and danced with Native American drums and rattles. Folk, blues and rock and roll were also featured.

"I think it went really well," said Kurt Tyszkiewicz, Wildwood Elementary School principal. "He had a lot of student interaction."

Instruments Louis used included a Stratocaster electric guitar, Renaissance lute, six- and 12-string guitars, ukulele, mandolin and a variety of percussion instruments.

"They really had a nice time," Tyszkiewicz said of the Wildwood students. He was impressed with how Louis tied the history of music into ecology, emphasizing saving trees and keeping water clean. The program included science and history, the principal said.

Outlook's good for man after kidney transplant

BY RICHARD PEARL
STAFF WRITER
rpearl@oe.homecomm.net

Richard Popp Sr. said Friday morning he expected to be home this weekend, roughly 10 days after receiving a kidney from son Richard Jr.

"If not today, tomorrow (Saturday)" is what doctors at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak told the popular former Garden City High School teacher and assistant football coach who underwent an 11-hour operation Nov. 10 that ended a nearly five-year wait for the transplant.

The elder Popp, 59, of Westland, said his time on the surgical table was longer than expected because doctors had to operate twice — the second time to realign the new kidney.

However, that procedure took "just a couple hours," he said.

The new kidney is "still not functioning as fully as they want, but it's moving in the right direction," he said. "It is functioning, just not fully."

Popp will return next week to the hospital for "a lot of anti-rejection treatment" — daily "for the next four, five or six days," he said.

The anti-rejection drugs he's being given to help his body accept the new organ "are very difficult to get used to," he said Wednesday.

He also said he'd lost 20 pounds because he's had to continue with the kidney dialysis he's been undergoing the last five years to remove waste from his body.

However, Popp Sr. also began walking Wednesday for the first time since surgery, going 300-400 feet from his bed, then back several times.

Though his strength is returning and he's "getting a little better every day," the healing is "slower than I wanted. But that's not odd, they (the doctors) say."

On Friday morning, Richard Jr., a computer teacher at a Southfield high school, visited his father and said his dad "looked better than he has in years, color-wise."

As for himself, the younger Popp, a 32-year-old single father of three who was released from the hospital Nov. 13, said he feels great and plans to return

Ice arena addition tops Monday meeting agenda

BY DARRELL CLEM

dclem@oe.homecomm.net

A new study indicates strong support for a second ice surface to allow Westland hockey and figure skating programs to expand.

A new ice surface would likely double the size of Westland Sports Arena and cost $3 million to $5 million to build, Parks and Recreation Director Robert Kosowski said.

Even if city approval comes quickly, he said, it could take two to three years to expand and renovate the ice arena, 6210 N. Wildwood.

No decision has been made about how to pay for the proposed project.

"We are only in the exploratory stages right now,"

Kosowski said.

Westland City Council members will discuss ice arena issues during a study session at 6:15 p.m. Monday at City Hall on Ford Road.

Councilwoman Justine Barnes said during an earlier council meeting she hopes a new sheet of ice will be approved.

"We are going forward hopefully on another sheet of ice," she said.

Late last month, 81 people attended an arena feasibility study meeting and voiced sweeping support for a Westland Sports Arena expansion.

Kosowski, in a report to council President Sandra Cierelli, noted that "there is a strong current need for more ice time to accommodate our Westland user groups."

The Westland Hockey Association — the largest user — could "easily" double its use of ice time if a second sheet were added to the arena, the report suggests.

The hockey association now has 375 members and 13 teams using 42 hours of ice time each week.

Kosowski's report noted "the need for additional hours to accommodate the many Westland children on waiting lists for the hockey association."

The Westland Figure Skating Club — the arena's second biggest user — also could double its use of ice time and would like to add more prime time hours to develop the program, the report said.

The figure skating club has just under 200 mem-

Community college offerings defended

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER
dclem@oe.hometown.com

A Westland woman, critical of Wayne County Community College services, wants the entire city to become part of the Schoolcraft College district.

The measure would entail state legislative approval, but a longtime WCCC trustee defended the job the college is doing.

"Is it serving the people of western Wayne County? Yes, it is," former trustee Ted Scott said.

Judi Cornfoot, who is not enrolled in college, disagrees and cites the following problems she said she has encountered:

■ She hasn't been able to get catalogs and class schedules at her home.

■ She opposes WCCC tax increases that she said don't bring any improved services to the Westland area.

■ Some classes she has wanted to take would force her to drive long distances because they weren't available at the western campus in Van Buren Township.

"If Westland is going to be a world-class community, it needs to get out of Wayne County Community College because they're not serving us at all," Cornfoot said.

Scott disagreed. He said he has personally delivered some college materials, such as catalogs and schedules, to Cornfoot. He also made her aware of western-campus classes that he thought might interest her.

"She wants more than it sounds like is normal," Scott said.

What Cornfoot wants is for all of Westland to become part of the Schoolcraft College district.

Right now, the part of Westland served by Livonia Public Schools is already in Schoolcraft, while the area served by Wayne-Westland Community Schools is part of WCCC.

Cornfoot said many Westland students pay nonresident fees to attend Schoolcraft at the Radcliff campus near Radcliff and Ford Road.

Scott conceded that students have to drive several miles to WCCC's Van Buren campus.

"Is that reasonable? Yes, I think it is," he said. "We are not built next to John Glenn High School. I'd like us to be, but I didn't do that."

Even so, the Van Buren campus is the fastest-growing among WCCC's sites, Scott said.

"It has room to grow more than any of the others," he said.

Cornfoot, 45, is sitting out this semester but said she has 20 credit hours to go for an associate's degree in arts. She says she won't attend WCCC.

"I'd like to see our property taxes going somewhere where it's going to do some good for the people of Westland," she said. "The school is not serving Westland residents at all."

Scott said he has not received widespread complaints. "I was on the (WCCC) board for 10 years," he said, "and I never had anybody with that kind of bitterness."

Statistics provided by Schoolcraft researcher Jim Utley show that many of that school's Westland students do come from the WCCC district.

Of 1,522 Westland students last fall, only 599 actually lived in the Schoolcraft district, he said.

That means Schoolcraft drew 923 students from the WCCC district.

Westland City Councilman Richard LeBlanc previously investigated what it would take for all of Westland to become part of the Schoolcraft district. He learned the city council would have to pass a measure and then seek approval from state legislators — a nod that isn't likely to occur.

LeBlanc said his concerns were purely geographical.

"Some people from Westland can toss a stone and hit that (Radcliff) college, yet they are charged nonresident status," he said. "It was always an issue of geography for me and nothing else."

WCCC resident students pay $54 per credit hour; nonresidents pay $70.

Schoolcraft resident students pay $53; nonresidents, $78.

Scott said people like Cornfoot, who aren't happy with WCCC, have the option of attending Schoolcraft, but he said the attacks on WCCC are unwarranted.

"They're both good community colleges," he said.

Students view court in action at school

BY LARRY O'CONNOR

Judicial proceedings inside her high school's auditorium didn't surprise Becky Camilleri much.

"My mom makes me watch 'Judge Judy' all the time," the Livonia Franklin senior said.

Though seemingly nonplused by Wednesday's visit of 16th District Court and Judge Kathleen McCann, Camilleri still found the cases rather interesting.

In 1½ hours, Camilleri and an auditorium full of her fellow students watched McCann quash a motion, sentence a drunken driver, extend someone's probation and send an expelled Stevenson High student to jail.

With both hands cupping his chin, senior Phil Huelter listened intently to testimony in an attorney's vigorous but failed attempt to get the judge to throw out his client's case.

The attorney argued Livonia police didn't have just cause to pull over and question his client who was in a van stopped on Clarita Street. Two officers testified they investigated after the saw the van cross Farmington Road going west on Clarita and then stop in the middle of the street.

The driver switched seats with a passenger after authorities spotted them, police officers said. Police arrested the defendant for driving with a suspended license.

"I've always been interested in being a lawyer," Huelter said afterward. "Even more so now."

Students watched as the judge ordered a father of three children to continue substance abuse counseling after his second marijuana conviction.

Another man limped up to the stage with a severely broken ankle and herniated disks in his back, the result of crashing his motorcycle while intoxicated.

"I'm very lucky to be here," said the defendant, who cannot work and faces additional surgery because of the accident.

McCann was sympathetic, but only to a point. She ordered him not to drink and attend Alcoholics Anonymous as well as seek outpatient treatment.

She sentenced him to two years probation, 15 days in a work release program and assessed fines totaling more than $1,000.

Happy Holidays

"Hustle and bustle, flash flurries of feet, running here and there in a pushy track meet. Will they have his favorite ties? Will they have her hard to find size? Hither and thither, to and fro. On Visa. On Discover. And away we go."

"Out of my way, I have presents to buy. Move it or lose it, you slow poky guy. Who's got time for love and good cheer? You want holiday spirits? Buy a bottle of beer. What? Peace on Earth? Goodwill to all men? Hey, do peace and goodwill come in size 10?"

— Tim White

Tim White's poems captivate the mind; and he reads them at a new library program that's Thoughts: Pam Hussein reads a poem to the library listeners.

easy to find.

The Wayne resident is among a group of poetry lovers who meet monthly at the Public Library of Westland Open Mike Poetry Reading brainstormed last spring by Suzie Shipman, reference associate.

Usually, between 10 and 15 people attend. Some bring their original poetry; some read published works and some just come to listen and absorb the messages. Some are regulars and some are curious.

"I was inspired, actually, by local coffeehouses and I thought, what better place to have a poetry reading than a library?" explained Shipman, who enjoys reading poetry but doesn't write.

"It's a nice group of people with outstanding poetry," Shipman said.

The visitors range in age from a 4-year-old who came once and read a poem to elderly people.

"Lately, we've been having teenagers come, too," Shipman said. "It's a place they can express themselves in an emotionally safe environment. No one's going to laugh at their poetry. Most people are really enthusiastic about it. They're making time; or finding a sitter to do this and that's really encouraging. We emphasize the family and friendly atmosphere."

The informal setting, sitting in a circle without actually having to stand by a podium is inviting to people who might be otherwise intimidated, said White, who earned a degree in English and philosophy from the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

He works in customer service at Detroit Newspapers Inc., as a substitute teacher for Garden City Schools and as an essay grader for the MEAP tests.

"My goal is to make my living via writing and I'm not real fussy," he said, adding that he also does freelance writing.

White was happy to get a positive reaction to one of his favorite poems, "The Wasted Land," which is a contemporary takeoff of T.S. Eliot's "The Waste Land."

"The Wasteland" is about the numbing of values and the degeneration of society that he saw in the '20s," White said. "He thought the activities of the Roaring '20s were escapism to escape the horrors of World War I."

White's poem addresses the blending of fantasy and reality.

"War is more and more like a video game and video games are more and more realistic," White said.

The poem is ever changing as current events inspire him to add more verses.

A few passages from "The Wasted Land" include:

"I have a dream but a couple Valium oughta get rid of it."

Life in the fast lane, Everything all the time, I want my war t.v."

The reaction from people at the poetry reading, White said, was positive.

"There was an older gentleman who was a veteran of World War II," White said. "I was concerned that veterans might think I was trivializing war, but he was able to see that was never my intent."

The next Open Mike Poetry Reading nights at the Public Library of Westland are 7:30 p.m. Dec. 13, Jan. 26 and Feb. 8 in Community Room B. There is no charge. Coffee, tea, punch, cookies and crackers will be served.

For more information, call the library at (734) 326-6123.

to teaching Monday. "I'm a very fortunate person," he said.

Popp Sr. said Friday he told Carol, his wife of 38 years, to stay home and rest. She's "been a real trooper," he said.

The help and support he's gotten from his wife, other family members and friends has been "overwhelming," he said.

"There are so many people pulling for me, it's just unbelievable. The phone is ringing off the hook," he said at midweek.

"The support is absolutely incredible. (People) calling, sending cards, prayers. I can't get over it," he said.

All the good cheer was very important "because you tend to get depressed," he noted.

Forced into retirement in 1995 by diabetes, Popp Sr. suffered a series of medical problems that caused kidney problems.

That reduced his kidneys' function to just 5 percent, forcing him to spend four hours a day, three times a week in dialysis the last five years as he and the family went through a series of delays before the transplant took place.

"I can't emphasize enough the need for donors," said Popp Sr. "I sure appreciate it."

Make shopping safe with center's tips

Westland Shopping Center is offering tips to holiday shoppers on how to stay safe. No matter where you visit, taking that extra bit of precaution will help make you a little more aware of your surroundings.

Always stay alert, watchful and aware of your surroundings. Walk with confidence. Make sure someone knows where you are when you are away from home.

Park in well-lit areas as close to your destination as possible.

Whether you're driving or parked, always lock car doors. When you must leave valuable items, such as your shopping bags or purse, in your car, always store them in the trunk.

In public places, keep your purse closed and close to your body; men should carry wallets in a breast pocket. If you are carrying a shoulder-strap purse, carry it so that it hangs straight down from your shoulder, suspended between your arm and body. If you are carrying a short strap handbag, carry it with your arm placed through the strap.

When possible, don't use an Automated Teller Machine alone.

Be discreet. Don't flash large sums of money. Keep track of your credit card(s). Tear up carbons and save the receipts. Keep a list of all credit card numbers in a safe place.

Have your car key in your hand before you enter the parking lot. Check your car on all sides before approaching the door and look inside.

If someone suspicious approaches you as you are leaving the building, return to the building immediately and contact a public safety officer or the police.

Remember, if you are ever uncomfortable or concerned about any situation wherever you are, contact a public safety officer or the police immediately.

The shopping center, at Wayne and Warren roads, is offering extended holiday hours which will begin Dec. 13. Hours will be 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., with extended hours on Sunday not to ease the policy against hiring relatives.

"I think the situation could be compounded much more if the board were to reverse the policy that's in place," City Councilman Glenn Anderson said. "I think this is an unfortunate thing that happened, and I would hope we would not repeat it."

Cook said he researched nepotism. "I could find nowhere where it is defended."

Cook voiced concerns that students working convenience store jobs will come to believe that the only way to get a library position is to have a relative there.

"You've got to set an example for the community," Cook told the board.

Former library board member Marjorie Kay Daniels, who helped establish the policy, called it "a good one."

"It was set up to avoid the situation you now find yourselves in," she said to board members.

Daniels questioned conflicting statements made by Jim Chuck and library board member Sharon Clark in an Oct. 31 story in the Observer.

Clark said board members had earlier considered dropping the policy, but Chuck said he wasn't even aware of the section that prohibited the hiring of board family members.

"They conflict," Daniels said of their statements.

Daniels also warned board members that allowing nepotism would cause resentment among employees and hurt the library's reputation.

"These things are never forgotten," she said. "You've got to make the right choices."

Anderson said the hiring of relatives could raise questions about whether library employees are getting preferential treatment for merit pay increases.

Pay an issue

Wilson said library officials will have to address how to keep employees. She lost one employee to a similar job in Wayne that paid $2.50 more an hour.

Wilson voiced fears that library hours will have to be reduced unless hiring problems subside.

Board member Marty Budner indicated that Cheryl Chuck's hiring isn't the first time the library has been guilty of nepotism. Wilson's husband, Jim, has worked as an outside consultant to address computer problems.

But Joanna Bennett, assistant city attorney, pointed out that a consultant isn't considered a library employee. Moreover, the nepotism policy in question applies only to library board members.

Clark said that she has never supported the nepotism policy and that she has received no complaints about Cheryl Chuck's hiring.

Daniels, Anderson and others said they have.

"It is a concern to quite a few people," Anderson said, telling Clark, "You can't cavalierly disregard the impression it's going to set out there in the public."

Clark responded that she wasn't trying to be cavalier about the issue.

"It's much more serious, I believe, than some people think," Anderson said.

Library board members indicated they delayed a decision Wednesday to study the issue. They have identified several options:

■ Dropping the policy altogether.

■ Keeping it intact, which means Cheryl Chuck's job could be threatened.

■ Allowing relatives to work as temporary employees, which could threaten Cheryl Chuck's long-term employment.

■ Revising the policy to allow the hiring of family members if they are qualified; are not given preferential treatment; are the best qualified for the job; and won't be directly supervised by Wilson.

Daniels and her husband, Ed, suggested Wednesday that the issue could be resolved if Jim Chuck resigned as board president.

He had already offered to step down, but his colleagues asked him to stay.

"I don't think that the position I have is really the issue," he said.

Jim Chuck indicated, however, that Wilson's decision to hire his wife in violation of the nepotism policy will be remembered when Wilson has her next job evaluation.

"It will not be overlooked," he said.

The report also found that:
■ The city needs extra arena activities such as more open skating and extra hours for novice hockey players who just want to drop in to play.

■ The arena needs to accommodate more special promotions, shows, tournaments and practice time.

■ Consideration should be given to the possibility of adding high school activities such as hockey and figure skating teams.

■ The arena needs more dressing rooms, extra storage space, a better concession area and more room to display trophies that local sports organizations have won.

If the city decides to expand the arena, then officials will be forced to address issues such as losing space for adjacent ball fields and park land.

Bill Yarger of Yarger Architectural Design already has drawn up three conceptual arena designs, but Kosowski stressed that the drawings are preliminary because no decision has been made to expand the facility.

Still, Kosowski said he has been encouraged by the level of interest and support for a second sheet of ice.

Kosowski said he has been "energized" by the positive comments as the administration and the council seek ways "to offer the most innovative recreation possible."

Western Wayne may lobby against motor carrier bill

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
STAFF WRITER
kabramczyk@oe.homedcom.net

Western Wayne leaders may visit Lansing again, this time over a state bill one mayor says will give the literal green light to truck drivers to haul freight that violates weight restrictions.

Members of the Conference of Western Wayne may organize a journey similar to a bus trip that recently went from Farmington Hills to Lansing to protest House Bill 4777. Many mayor and township supervisors believed that bill would strip local officials of "home rule" powers, and this time motor carrier bills approved Oct. 28 by the state House are drawing the ire of many from the CWW's 18-member legislative consortium.

The CWW is a consortium of elected officials from the cities of Belleville, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Garden City, Inkster, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth, Romulus, Wayne and Westland and the townships of Canton, Huron, Northville, Plymouth, Redford, Sumpter and Van Buren.

The House package would redistribute revenue derived from trucking violations for weight and equipment citations by local police agencies to county libraries. In October the CWW approved a resolution opposing the bills that was forwarded to state lawmakers.

Currently money collected from the civil fines is placed by communities into their general funds. In 1994 the Legislature passed bills to allow local units of government the option to create municipal ordinance violations bureaus and adopt by reference the Michigan Vehicle Code to better enforce the state's traffic laws. The laws allowed local law enforcement agencies to bring civil, rather than criminal, actions against people who violated local ordinances.

In October the revenue distribution derived from violations was revised in the proposed bill. Those changes would disburse 30 percent of the fines to cities, villages or counties for repairs and maintenance on local roads, 40 percent to the jurisdiction for library purposes and 30 percent to the courts.

The House bills were approved, 81-23, on Oct. 28 and eventually referred to the Senate Committee on Transportation and Tourism.

Local officials

Local officials criticize the move because that money is now used to help pay for officers to enforce those violations. Livonia Mayor Jack Kirksey, who chairs the CWW, said many communities will not be able to afford the enforcement of police units assigned to enforcement.

"The bottom line is, if they do pass, it will be an open invitation to at least violate the laws of the state, if local governments check out (of enforcement)," Kirksey said.

Kirksey said the bills will not be on the "fast track" in the Senate as they were in the House. "They will not get as high of a priority," Kirksey said.

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack suggested the CWW take a leadership role for Senate hearings expected in February on the package. "The heaviest of trucks will only get heavier," Yack said. "Then there will be a plea for more money from the general public to fix our crumbling roads."

Package supported

Last month state Rep. Thomas Kelly (D-Wayne) said he disagreed with an Oct. 8 resolution from the CWW opposing the bills.

Kelly, who sponsored one of the bills, said the package reverses what has gone on in the past seven or eight years. Nearly 50 libraries are funded by fines, Kelly said.

"What's happening is the communities are seeing treasure troughs with truck weights," Kelly said. "Some of the things they are getting written up for are silly, such as not enough Band-Aids in safety kits. Sometimes they are cited three times, sometimes for the same thing, in the same community."

Kelly said all he was trying to do was put the system back to what it was.

"They're pitting one department in municipal government versus another," Kelly said, that is libraries versus public safety.

Also, Kelly said garbage haulers hired by local communities are fined. Those fines can be sizable and add to the company's costs. "Who will pay for that? Not the communities, but the people who live there."

Chief opposes bill

But Livonia Police Chief Pete Kunst said local enforcement was critical in curbing the problems and the dangers of overweight trucks. "They have a devastating crash potential," Kunst said.

Kunst said Livonia's motor carrier enforcement officer cited 138 commercial vehicles for 93 weight violations, 86 equipment violations and 56 document violations through September 1999. Costs for the officer include $70,000 to $80,000 annually for salary and fringe benefits, while the vehicle costs $25,000-$30,000 amortized over five years.

Even with the legislative revisions, Kunst still opposed the bill. "I can't justify the budget (for enforcement) when a portion is going to the library system," Kunst said. "This is a traffic safety issue, this is an area where we can make an impact."

"Their record is not very good when they collide with a vehicle."

Schoolcraft offers floral arrangement

Create an autumn topiary of lotus pods, fall mums, and statice in less than three hours. In Schoolcraft College's Floral Arrangements for the Holidays class, Bruce Boland of Boland Flowers in Garden City, will teach you how to create a fresh flower centerpiece ready for display at the table the next day.

"Expect the fresh flower arrangement to last three to four weeks, depending on the flowers you use," he says. "It's all a matter of taking precautionary steps to make sure the flowers are packaged correctly."

Boland has a lifetime of experience with floral arranging to share. In the four-week course, students will learn to make a Thanksgiving topiary, a door swag, a traditional Christmas arrangement, and a contemporary Christmas arrangement incorporating protea, anthurium, and bottle brush flowers.

Boland will focus on the best methods and materials to use to prolong the life of any arrangement. The class is designed for all experience levels.

Each class begins with a demonstration, followed by hands-on arranging.

Students can imitate the class demo, or use trimmings that suit their personality.

Class start 6:30-9:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 24, and continues through Dec. 15, at the Radcliff Center in Garden City. The Center is located on 1751 Radcliff Street, south of Ford Road, between Wayne and Merriman roads.

The cost of the course is $102. Fresh flowers will be provided. Students need to bring a knife, wire cutters, scissors, and a cutting board. For more information, to register for classes, or to obtain a catalog, call (734) 462-4448.

New Concourse A opens six gates at Metro Airport

BY KEN ARRANCZYK
STAFF WRITER
karranczyk@home.com.net

Ned Holmfeld was a happy man Thursday.

The president and founder of Spirit Airlines stood in Concourse A near the Smith Terminal of Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport, watching airline passengers in queues before boarding airplanes.

It was just as he imagined when Spirit and Southwest Airlines signed onto an $10.8 million expansion project of Concourse A to add six gates, which officially opened that day for business. Spirit, a discount carrier based in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., actually began flights from its two new gates on Nov. 8.

With the gates Spirit air crews can now operate without worrying about gate availability. Previously Spirit agents had to ask other airlines to lend them gates on a flight-by-flight basis, leasing gates from three different carriers on three different concourses.

"We would spend hours and hours to get a gate," Holmfeld said. Spirit Airlines now has consolidated operations.

Southwest Airlines has looked forward to occupying the four gates in the remodeled concourse, said Bob Montgomery, Southwest's director of properties. Montgomery also believed the gates will allow Southwest to continue to offer low fares and "excellent customer service" to Detroit travelers.

County officials believe the gates could handle as many as 40 additional low-fare flights a day. Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara said in every market Southwest has entered, fares have declined.

"This is what our customers have been asking for," McNamara said. "This is what we are working to provide."

Northwest Airlines maintains 60 of Metro's 103 gates. Other carriers include Mesaba with 12, Continental/America West (four), Delta (four), and now, Southwest with four. American, U.S. Airways and United each have three gates.

Northwest says it flies 70 percent of the passengers at Metro if connecting traffic is included, but airport officials point out that, out of originating and destination flights, Northwest controls 45 percent of that market and other carriers maintain 55 percent.

Holmfeld doesn't expect the new gates to take business travel away from Northwest, which uses Detroit Metro as a hub, but does expect customers to get good fares. "Our role is to come in as a low-priced carrier," Holmfeld said.

McNamara called it "simple economics. These guys go to Florida for $100, and it drives the rates of the other carriers down," McNamara said.

David Katz, airport director, said the six additional gates could carry 10 flights a day with 150 people on a plane. "That's a lot of seats a day that people can choose from," Katz said.

Southwest Airlines acted as the construction manager on the Concourse A project. Spirit paid Southwest for its share of construction costs. Wayne County will reimburse the airlines with revenue from Passenger Facility Charges. Eventually, Wayne County will own the gates and the airlines will lease the gates from Wayne County.

McNamara said the project could be the "poster child" for the effectiveness of the passenger facility charge legislation, currently deadlocked over the Federal Aviation Administration reauthorization bill, due to disagreements over PFCs.

Dedicated: Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara speaks to reporters at a dedication Thursday of the recently expanded Concourse A at Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport, while Cornell Mays, deputy director of airports, looks on.

"If any member of Congress would like to see evidence that PFCs can be used by airports to stimulate competition, they only need to walk to the end of Concourse A at Detroit Metro Airport to see six brand new gates for two low-fare carriers," McNamara said.

Holmfeld expects to expand service to more outboard destinations. Spirit currently flies to eight cities.

Plane watchers:
The shiny new concourse at Detroit Metropolitan Airport offers six new gates for flights on Spirit and Southwest airlines.

Engler, schools differ on Durant II

BY MIKE MALOTT
HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE
mmalott@hometown.com

The deadline for starting an appeal in the so-called Durant II lawsuit passed Wednesday, Nov. 10, without a filing.

But the fight appears far from over.

The plaintiffs in the case, 255 school districts across Michigan, believe the state government owes them $428 million in the current school year as a result of an October decision issued by the Court of Appeals. School districts charge the state underfunded them for special education, lunch programs and transportation.

Gov. John Engler disagrees.

He interprets the Court of Appeals ruling to mean that while technically the state had violated the constitution, by not breaking special education money out from the remainder of the districts' school aid foundation grants, that it had provided enough money overall.

There will be no additional

funds for schools, according to Engler spokesman John Truscott.

"There has been no change in the governor's position on this. The budgets are set for 2000 and 2001. There will be no additional money," deputy press secretary Susan Shafer confirmed Tuesday, Nov. 16.

John Schultz, chair of a committee of the school districts involved in the case, issued a statement Thursday, Nov. 11, calling on the Legislature to appropriate the additional cash.

"This is the first time in the history of the Durant litigation that the state has not challenged a decision of the Court of Appeals which concluded that the Legislature had violated the Michigan Constitution," he said.

"The fix clearly involves the restoration in full of the foundation allowance revenues for all children enrolled in our public schools, regardless of whether they are handicapped or entitled to special education services or not."

The Legislature is required by the Headlee Amendment to provide sufficient funding to meet the minimum percentages required for special education services. And Schultz concludes it will take an additional $428 million to meet that requirement.

"The suggestion of some people in state government that some new or more clever sleight of hand or 'technical change' in the school aid act will fix this problem is an ill-advised suggestion. It will only serve to further extend an already far too protracted dispute," he said.

The school districts filed suit against the state saying it hadn't adequately funded special education, transportation or school lunch programs. The Legislature over the summer put an extra $7 million to lunch programs.

The Court of Appeals ruled in October in favor of school districts on the claim that the allocations violated Proposal A in the state Constitution. But the court disagreed with school districts about whether the foundation grants could be counted as covering the state's overall obligations.

13-hour telethon to benefit Arab community

DEARBORN, Mich. — On Sunday, Nov. 21, the Arab Community Center for Economic and Social Services (ACCESS) will kick off its 18th Annual Telethon, a live, 13-hour broadcast, airing from noon to 1 a.m. on MediaOne Cable in Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Westland, Livonia, and Redford Township, Detroit's Comcast Cable, and other regional cable stations. Moreover, ACCESS's 18th Annual Telethon will be broadcast nationally during designated hours, thanks to the efforts of ANA Television.

For almost 31 years, ACCESS has provided much needed services to the Arab and non-Arab communities throughout the Metro-Detroit area, annually assisting over 40,000 people. Last year ACCESS, with the help of the community, built a new $3.9 million dollar One-Stop Employment & Human Services Center located on Schaefer Road in Dearborn, Michigan. ACCESS's new Employment and Training Center is on its way to helping thousands of people become skilled workers.

This year's Telethon will begin the process of raising money to build a state-of-the-art Community Health Center, ensuring that every person that walks through its doors will get the best help provided. The Telethon will also help ACCESS to continue to provide many of its everyday services, including immigration, translation, education and family counseling services.

To support the 18th Annual ACCESS Telethon call and pledge at 313-271-2211.

1.5 million will travel on Thanksgiving Day

An estimated 1.5 million Michiganians - 16 percent of the population - will travel during the 1999 Thanksgiving holiday period, says AAA Michigan, up from 1.3 million last year.

According to an Auto Club survey, 75 percent of all travelers will drive to their final destination. Forty percent of those traveling will be heading to a destination within Michigan. Popular destinations outside of Michigan include Illinois (16 percent), Ohio (11 percent) and New York (11 percent).

Eighty percent of travelers intend to visit with relatives during their journey, however, only 55 percent plan to stay with relatives. The average trip will include four travelers and last five days. Thanksgiving weekend is traditionally one of the busiest travel periods of the year, says AAA, prompting heavier-than-normal traffic volumes.

"Holiday travelers heading to airports should be prepared for crowds and travel lightly," says Larry Dickens, AAA Michigan Travel Vendor Relations Director. According to Dickens, some airlines may limit the size and number of carry-on items, especially during heavy travel periods when planes are at full capacity.

Detroit Metropolitan Airport handles as many as 105,000 persons per day on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving and 110,000 the Sunday following. This represents a substantial increase from the normal traffic.

Four Ocelots scored in double figures: Quentin Mitchell (18), Lamar Bigby (16), Robert Brown (15) and Reggie Kirkland (13).

Brown, the Central Michigan transfer, grabbed nine rebounds.

The key statistic on the game was assists.

College of Southern Idaho had 32, while Schoolcraft totaled 17.

On Thursday, Brown scored 20 points to propel Schoolcraft to a 93-85 victory over Casper (Wyo.) in the opener.

Bigby added 16, Mitchell had 13, while Kirkland 12 and Mike Williams came off the bench to score 12 apiece.

Brown also had 15 rebounds and three assists. Brian Williams (Wayne Memorial) and Bigby had four assists each.

Schoolcraft held a 56-45 halftime lead on 51 percent shooting. The Ocelots shot just 37 percent in the second half.

Petes dump Whalers

Preston Mizzi scored twice Thursday night to help the Peterborough Petes get the Plymouth Whalers' three-game weekend road trip off to a poor start with a 4-1 loss.

Justin Williams notched the lone Whalers' goal, his 11th of the season, at 9:29 of the third period. Stephen Weiss and Eric Gooldy drew the assists on the score, which made it 3-1.

Mizzi scored his eighth and ninth goals of the season in the first and third periods. In between, Marcel Rodman and Adam Dewan scored for the Petes.

Peterborough held a 49-25 edge in shots on goal. Rob Zepp played in goal for Plymouth.

The Whalers outshot the Petes, 16-12, in the first period but Peterborough wore Plymouth down and held a 20-4 edge in shots on goal in the second period and 17-6 in the third.

Plymouth played at Kingston on Friday night and in Ottawa today.

The score was tied, 1-1, after one period but North scored the only two goals of the second period to take a 3-1 lead into the final session.

Mickie Fallon had two assists, as did Sarah Sharp, as the Blazers won their opener. Megan Shefferly was in goal for the Blazers.

Southfield stuns Blazers, 45-44

BY BRAD EMONS
SPORTS WRITER
bemonsoe@homecomm.net

When he coached at Detroit Cooley, Ben Kelso captured three consecutive boys state championships (1987-89).

But Friday night's stunning 45-44 district final win at Livonia Ladywood probably brought a bigger smile to his face.

With his daughter Jennifer leading the way with 16 points and Safiyyah Bibbins adding 14 points (all in the first half), the Blue Jays won their first district girls basketball title of the decade.

"It's been a lot of years since this happened — over 12 years," said Kelso, whose team improved to 21-1 overall and will face Dearborn Fordson in the regional semifinals, 7:30 p.m. Monday at Ladywood. "The kids wanted it so bad and I wanted it so bad for them."

"You have to understand these girls all grew up in the same community and have known each other since they were 3 years-old."

Ladywood, the Catholic League runner-up and winners of the last two districts, bowed out at 16-7 overall.

The Blazers led 17-9 after one quarter and didn't relinquish the lead until 5:26 left in the final period when Kelso, a 5-foot-11 senior, scored inside to make it 39-38.

Southfield then stretched the lead to five, 43-38, on basket by Bibbins (after a steal) followed by a short baseline jumper from freshman Kineta Taylor.

After a free throw by Jazmine Williamson put Southfield ahead 45-42, Ladywood drew back to 45-44 with 17 seconds remaining on an inside bucket by Liz Obrecht.

With 16 seconds to go, Ladywood fouled Moore, who missed the front end of a one-and-one. But Blazers turned the ball back over on a steal by Bibbins.

With 3.2 seconds remaining, Bibbins stepped to the line and missed the front end of another one-and-one.

Obrecht snared the rebound and passed the ball up court, but Kristen Barnes' desperation three-point attempt did not hit the rim, sending the Blue Jays' fans into a wild celebration.

"We had a three-minute drought where we missed wide-open layups and open jumpers that we normally make," Ladywood coach Andrea Gorski said. "When we didn't make those, it gave their team an opportunity to come back."

Ladywood shot itself in the foot with seven fourth-quarter turnovers, many unforged after getting Southfield to cough up the ball.

"When we needed to get the ball back, we'd come back down and throw it away, which is uncharacteristic of this team," Gorski said. "I think we panicked. Maybe our heads weren't in it for some reason."

Melissa Harakas, who made the Blazers' only three-point shot of the night, led Ladywood with 13 points.

Sister Michelle, hampered by a sprained ankle and bloody nose, finished with 10. Obrecht, the 6-2 sophomore center, contributed nine points and 11 rebounds.

"During the season we were fortunate to hit those three-point shots in close games and tonight we got good looks, we just didn't make them," Gorski said.

Southfield, meanwhile, overcame some adversity of its own.

Bibbins, a 5-9 senior, sprained her ankle just before the end of the first half, but later returned. Kelso also hit her head on the floor midway through the final quarter and was wobbly.

And to make matters worse, Moore, the team's primary ball handler, was saddled with four second-half fouls.

That prompted Kelso to revert to a semi-delay game with 5:16 to go.

"We were hurt, tired and we wanted to get the game to the end," Kelso said. "I instructed who was going to shoot."

Belleville too much for Glenn

Tigers roar to win with big 2nd half

BY RICHARD L. SHOOK
STAFF WRITER

It was hard to tell it from the scoreboard but Coach Joel Lloyd feels the Westland John Glenn girls basketball program is making excellent progress.

John Glenn made a reluctant exit from the state high school girls basketball tournament Friday night by a 66-27 margin by Belleville.

"Remember, though, the Tigers have three Division I college players in their starting five and have a decent chance to get through the regionals for the second straight year. Provided they can avenge their only loss of the season, to Ann Arbor Pioneer."

"This team came an awful long way this year," Lloyd said after the Rockets finished 12-11. "We finished with two more wins than we had a year ago, we were over .500 and we got to the district championship game."

"Getting to the finals was a wonderful experience. We'll learn from this and go to work on next year."

The Rockets played the Tigers at the start of the season and were mauled, 63-21, so on the surface the finish wasn't much better.

But John Glenn actually held a 10-4 lead in the first quarter of the district championship game at Romulus and trailed by only a 23-17 margin at halftime.

"I was talking to the girls at halftime about coming out and playing defense," coach Kevin Edwards of Belleville said. "We wanted to come out and play hard defense."

It did. To the tune of a 21-6 third quarter.

Lack of tourney success no mystery in girls hoops

What happened?

Nine schools started district girls basketball play on Monday and by the time Friday rolled around, none were left.

With the tournament barely started on Monday, these teams were already ancient history: Lutheran Westland (6-15), Livonia Clarenceville (0-21), Livonia Churchill (4-16), Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (13-8) and Livonia Franklin (8-13).

On Wednesday, a rebuilding Wayne Memorial squad (4-17) also bit the dust.

Westland John Glenn (12-11), which made nice strides this season under third-year coach Joel Lloyd, hung around until Friday before running into state-ranked Belleville (22-1).

The biggest shocker was Friday's district championship game at Livonia Ladywood (see related story).

What does it all add up to?

Nine schools and no teams in the regional this week.

Ladywood, the Catholic League runner-up and winners of the last two districts, got upstaged in its own gym by Southfield, 45-44.

Southfield, despite a 21-1 record, was not the favorite because the Blue Jays played in fourth division of the Oakland Activities Association and their schedule was suspect.

Consequently, Ladywood had to battle the likes of Flint Powers, Birmingham Marian, Dearborn Divine Child and Redford Bishop Borgessen en route to a respectable 16-7 record.

But when you match wits with one of the masters of high school basketball coaches, Ben Kelso, no victory is a gimme.

Just ask Perry Watson.

Like he did all those years at Detroit Cooley, Kelso has transformed Southfield into a formidable team in just two seasons.

And if Kelso stays around, the Blue Jays, who played two sophomores and two freshman extensively, won't be going away any time soon.

Kelso not only knows how to mold a good basketball program, you can bet he also has access to his own gym in-season and during the off-season (the time basketball players are born and made).

You see, Kelso is also the school's athletic director and boys basketball coach.

Since the highly-gifted Dawn Warner led Franklin to four consecutive district titles during the early 1990s, Livonia schools have been shut out of the regionals.

Several factors contribute to this lack of success.

The solutions are simple, but school administrators must cooperate.

Farmington Hills Harrison coach Pete Mantyla said he could not survive in the Western Lakes Activities Association if it weren't for an AAU program.

But the word AAU is a often a dirty term.

The public schools in this area are only kidding themselves if they think they can survive with a watered-down, non-competitive intramural middle school program.

They have to open up their facilities (just they do for other groups and not necessarily at the high schools), create new facilities and form a competitive and more extensive middle school sports program within their own leagues.

These middle school kids need to compete for medals and ribbons, not bagels and apples.

That doesn't go for just basketball, but it would help in a number of other sports not tied in with club programs as well.

One Livonia coach wrote me recently and said he was rebuffed in his attempt to secure a high school gym for his program.

Totally frustrated, this former Livonia high school coach and teacher now plans to take his program elsewhere.

So guess where?

Ladywood, the only program right now among the nine schools in the Livonia Westland area which has a legitimate shot at playing in a girls basketball regional.

"Jennifer said, 'Don't take me out.' And Bibbins told me, 'I can hurt tomorrow, put me back in.'"

Each team had 17 turnovers.

Ladywood shot 18 of 42 from the floor (38 percent), while Southfield made 17 of 39 (43.5 percent).

Victory, however, couldn't have tasted any better for Kelso and his girls.

"Because of my daughter, these girls have virtually lived at my house the last two years," Kelso said. "They spend a lot of time with each other and have parties together. We've tried to get a family-type attitude among the kids and it's been nice."

And asked if this victory was better than any of his three state titles at Cooley, Kelso put it simply: "You're right."

quarter and a 22-4 fourth.

"We didn't start out very well," Edwards said. "I keep telling the girls you can't do that. You have to play hard right from the start."

Samantha Crews made the first basket of the second half to cut the lead to 23-19, but Belleville turned up the defensive pressure and John Glenn turned the ball over on seven of its next eight possessions.

The Tigers went on a 10-0 run, then outscored the Rockets 11-2 in the final 4:23. They stole everything but the John Glenn players' sneakers.

"For a half we were right in the thick of things," Lloyd said. "The first 12 minutes we played pretty well. We were taking the fight to them."

John Glenn outthrustled and outscraped Belleville. But the physical play took its toll. The Tigers were quicker, deeper and stronger, which eventually made the difference.

Providence College-bound Ryann Kilgore scored 17 points while her junior sister Kristen, being heavily recruited by both Michigan and Michigan State, scored six of her 16 points in the final five minutes of the game.

The girls' father, Bill, was a prep star at nearby River Rouge and played college ball at Michigan State.

Guard Jenetria Harden, going to Loyola of Chicago, scored 10 points while Crystal Steward had eight and Courtney Ivan six.

LaToya Chandler led John Glenn with seven points but sprained her left ankle with 2:10 left in the first half and didn't return until late in the third quarter.

"In the second half they took control of the boards," Lloyd said, "and not having LaToya Chandler hurt a little bit, too. She can jump with the best of them."

"But give them credit. When a shot goes up, they crash the boards like a tidal wave. You can't jump with them, you've got to box them out."

Samantha Crews scored six points in her final high school basketball game while her sophomore sister Stephanie scored four.

"We wanted to slow things down," Lloyd said, "but not to a crawl. We didn't want to run up and down the floor with them."

"But nonetheless, we did get some fast-break points. And when you're running and getting good shots, you hate to rein your kids in."

John Glenn bothered Belleville early with its tight defense. The Rockets contested most of the shots, anticipated the Tigers' passes well and did a nice job of stripping the ball in the paint if it wasn't shot right away.

But the second half was just the opposite. And once the basketball got rolling downhill, it didn't stop.

St. Agatha rules district crown vs. Canton Agape

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS WRITER
cjrisk@oe.homecomm.net

In the final analysis, Redford St. Agatha simply had more options to call upon. Bigger ones, too.

Canton Agape Christian tried to offset the Aggies' overwhelming size advantage with superior quickness, but the Wolverines simply couldn't win without an inside offense. St. Agatha prevailed in this Class D district final, 41-33, advancing to the regional semifinal against Adrian Lenawee Christian at 8 p.m. Monday at Pottsville.

"Certainly, they were much bigger than us," said Agape coach Chuck Henry, his team finishing with a 19-3 record. "The first half was pretty good. Then Sara (Chrenko) got her third foul, and that hurt us."

St. Agatha, once-beaten champions of the Catholic League's C-D Division (22-1 overall), started a front line measuring 6-foot-3 (senior Krystol Dennis), 5-7 (senior forward Kerry Shivers) and 5-6 (sophomore Kim Dennis), with a 5-10 top sub (sophomore Jessica James).

Chrenko, a 5-9 senior, was Agape's only real sizable solution.

Indeed, through most of the first half, she was Agape's only solution. The Aggies got off to a fast start, hitting their first three shots (including a game-opening three-pointer by Kim Dennis) to build a 7-0 lead.

But the Wolverines stuck with it. With Chrenko scoring off the dribble, they closed the gap to 11-9 at the end of one quarter and pulled to within one three times in the second period.

The Aggies got back-to-back baskets from Krystol Dennis and James to pull in front by five with 2:37 left in the half, but Chrenko answered with two buckets in a 20-second span and the gap was one once again.

That's when the turning point came. Chrenko got her second foul with 1:34 left in the half, then got another on the in-bounds play, her third.

To the bench she went, taking with her 13 of the 17 points Agape had scored. St. Agatha jumped at the opening, getting four points from Krystol Dennis and three from James to close the period with a 7-0 run, making it 25-17 at the break.

"She was the one girl who could take advantage of them inside," said Henry of Chrenko's absence. "I really enjoyed the way things were going in the first half until that time."

The third quarter was a nightmare, for both teams. St. Agatha committed 11 turnovers and made just 3-of-16 shots in the period.

But Agape couldn't take advantage. The Wolverines hit just 1-of-6 from the floor in the quarter and had eight turnovers of their own.

Trailing 32-20 entering the final quarter, and with Chrenko now saddled with four fouls, the outlook was dim for Agape. Adding to their troubles were the defensive clamps applied by Kristen Rogers on the Wolves' standout point guard, Amy Henry.

"We knew coming in they had a couple of outstanding guards," said St. Agatha coach Tim Szakal. "Rogers just did a great job on their point guard, Amy Henry. She forced her to make some mistakes."

Indeed, Henry was scoreless through 3 1/2 quarters. Then, suddenly, without warning, the diminutive guard caught fire. She nailed a three-pointer from the corner to trim a 12-point deficit to 36-27 with 2:35 left.

Thirty seconds later, Henry was fouled on a three-point try; she made all three free throws, and the score was 36-30.

A miss by the Aggies gave the ball back to Agape, and Henry hit again from three-point range. With 1:40 remaining, the Wolverines were within three.

"We made it interesting," said Szakal. "It builds character. I guess."

The Aggies found an answer, and it was in the area they dominated. Agape fouled three times in the final 1:07, and although the Aggies converted just one of the six free throws, twice they rebounded the misses, getting a basket from Kim Dennis on one of those.

"You take away the baskets they scored on free throws and out-of-bounds plays, and we outscore them," said Henry.

Szakal didn't argue. "We beat them off the glass," he said. "They were getting their shots in the first quarter, but they weren't getting any second or third shots."

"We controlled the glass." Chrenko's 17 points led all scorers. Henry added nine for Agape, but no one else had more than three.

St. Agatha certainly enjoyed better balance.

Krystol Dennis led with 14 points; James totaled 12 and Kim Dennis had 10.

HIGH SCHOOL HOCKEY ROUNDUP

Patriots roll past Crestwood

All-Stater Nebus leads Stevenson past Bears in season opener

Livonia Franklin scored early and often en route to a season-opening 11-0 boys hockey win Friday over non-league foe Dearborn Heights Crestwood at Edgar Arena.

Brandon McCullough, a senior center, paced Franklin's offensive attack with two goals and three assists.

The Patriots led 5-0 after one period and 8-0 after 30 minutes.

Franklin goaltender Rob Williams made 17 saves in posting the shutout.

Other Franklin point producers included Jesse Wright and Sam Dismuke, two goals and one assist each; Gordie Statham, two goals; Josh Garbutt, one goal and one assist; Andy Garbutt and Chad Van Hulle, two assists apiece; Nick Tilt and Adam Bierley, one goal each.

Both of Dismuke's goals were short-handed, while one of Wright's was on a power-play.

Assists also went to Matt Wissel, Joe Ceci, and John Nichol and Adam Beaudoin.

Crestwood had three players missing out of the lineup.

•STEVENSON 4, WYANDOTTE 2: Livonia Stevenson got a pair of goals and one assist from All-Stater Mark Nebus Wednesday at Edgar Arena to beat non-league foe Wyandotte Roosevelt, a member of the Michigan Metro High School Hockey League.

Stevenson led 2-0 after two periods. Nebus scored at 3:06 of the opening period from Jason Gildersleeve and Bryan Dery.

Dave Bonello made it 2-0 at 11:05 of the second period on assists from Mark Blazok and Nebus.

Wyandotte's Eric Pattenauide cut the deficit to 2-1 with a goal at 2:25 of the third.

Nebus then gave Stevenson a three-goal cushion at 5:34 from Alex Piotrowski and Dery.

Blazok notched his first high school goal at 8:16 (unassisted), while Nick Mendenhall of Wyandotte ended the scoring at 12:06.

Kevin Marlowe was the winning goaltender, while Josh Cade was in the nets for the Bears.

"We played a very strong first period despite getting only one goal," Stevenson coach Mike Harris said. "We played with a lot of intensity. But as the game dragged on some of our systems broke down."

"But overall I was happy with the way we played our opening game and I was happy with the win."

•OLD-TIMERS 4, REDFORD 3: The Detroit Red Wings' Alumni Team, including retired players Lee Norwood, Dennis Hextall, Alex

Delvecchio, beat Redford Catholic Central in the Shamrocks' season opener on Friday at Redford Ice Arena.

CC led 2-1 after one period before three unanswered goals by the Wings' Alumni left the Shamrocks trailing 4-2 after two periods.

CC added a goal to make it close in the third.

Brandon Kaleniecki, Jason McDonald and Jim Spiewak scored for CC. Rick Buttery collected an assist on Kaleniecki's goal and the other two goals were unassisted.

Beri Dunne, Andy McCoy and Daryl Bridges played in net for the Shamrocks.

•CANTON 4, WYANDOTTE 3: It took just 21 seconds.

In the first 8:33 of the third period in Thursday's opening round of the Redford Tournament, Wyandotte Roosevelt reestablished itself as a longtime member of the prep hockey ranks.

The Bears' Nick Williamson scored twice in that span, capping their comeback from a 3-0 deficit against that newcomer, that upstart Plymouth Canton squad — in its first year of play and in only its second game ever.

Williamson's second goal knotted it at 3-3, giving Wyandotte what would seem a firm grip on the momentum — a grip that lasted just 21 seconds.

It took that long for the Chiefs to reassume control. Brad Wolfe knocked in his second goal of the game at the 8:54 mark, assisted by Sean Depp, and Canton made it stand up as the game-winner.

The win gave the Chiefs a 2-0 record and a berth in the Redford Tournament final opposite Redford Unified, which defeated Plymouth Salem 8-2 in Thursday's second game. The title game was played last night (see Thursday's Observer for results).

The Chiefs built a 3-0 advantage, getting a first-period goal from Jeremy Majszak (Ryan McCabe and John Rockstanz assisted) and adding two more in the second, from Wolfe (assisted by Depp) and Brian Marsh (unassisted).

The Bears' Derrick Servicki narrowed the gap to 3-1 before the end of the second period, putting Wyandotte's comeback in motion — one that Canton goalie Ryan Zeilinski controlled.

•REDFORD UNIFIED 8, SALEM 2: In the second game, Redford got three goals and two assists in its season-opener from Kevin Moodie and two goals and an assist from Bill McSweeney in handing Plymouth Salem its second-straight loss.

First-period goals by McSweeney and Moodie put RU ahead, but the Rocks did manage to trim that to 2-1 on a goal by Mark Nagel. All three were scored in the game's first four minutes.

Four unanswered second-period goals put Redford in command. Jon Duke, McSweeney, Cody Bartlett and Moodie found the net for RU.

Goals by Moodie and Nick Ostrowski increased Redford's lead to 8-1 in the third period. Steve Nagel, who assisted on his brother's first-period goal, scored on an assist from Andrew Peters in the third period. Steve Lyons also had an assist for the Rocks.

RU assists went to Bartlett, Erik Wurn, Brad Geistler, Brad Johnson (two), Dave Sellin, Brad Johnson, Kyle Robertson and Nick Slayden.

Ian Hannan was in goal for RU. Scott Stukel played goal for Salem.

•FARM. UNIFIED 11, W.L. WESTERN 0: Farmington high school hockey coach Glenn Breuhan's wish became a reality Friday night.

His players made it so by starting the team's second season with a trouncing of Walled Lake Western at the Farmington Hills Ice Arena.

"We finished strong last season," Breuhan said. "We were pleased with the way the team progressed going into the district. We played excellent hockey at the end of the season, and we had hoped it would carry over into this season."

It's only one game, but there was definitely a carryover effect as the Flyers dominated a team to whom they lost twice last season by 6-1 and 5-1 scores.

The Flyers, who were 5-18-2 last year, took a 3-0 lead after one period against the Warriors, extended it to 8-0 at the end of two and finished with another three-goal period.

Brad Heraghty scored three goals and had one assist, and Matt Lee scored two goals and assisted on two others. Ross Patterson recorded three assists.

Kevin Temerowski, Mike Lautenbach, Jeff Swanson, Brian Marion, Mike Frayne and Glen Hearn also scored goals.

Temerowski had two assists; Lautenbach, Marion and Hearn were credited with one apiece.

Farmington goalie Logan McLean earned the shutout while making 10 saves. Meanwhile, the Flyers fired 47 shots at the Western net.

Arthritis Today

When you have arthritis, you may believe that your joints are like a bouncing ball-up one day and down the next. The shifting of pain from joint to joint and the recruitment of the back and neck is typical of arthritis both osteo- and rheumatoid arthritis.

In osteoarthritis, you may have only one joint impaired, for example the knee. The reason that pain goes to your shoulder, your back, your neck, and behind the leg, is because of strain. Walking is an activity that involves the whole body. Proper mechanics requires the rhythmic motion of your shoulders, a straight back and neck posture, and the coordinated exchange of weight between legs and from back to front of the foot. If your knee is not right, as in osteoarthritis, the coordination of upper and lower limbs is lost. The body strains to keep you moving forward. The result of the effort is the discomfort that you feel in your back and which travels from place to place in your body. Your arthritis is not worsening, what you feel is the tension and strain from muscles around the joint.

The same disordered mechanics of movement occurs in rheumatoid arthritis. That your finger joint can be swollen now, and a day later be fine, but the wrist or knee now normal can be inflamed tomorrow, remains unexplained. The effect is to put a strain on rheumatoid muscles similar to what occurs in osteoarthritis.

Do not become depressed over the endless change and uncertainty of whether your joints will support you. Instead, keep vigilant and remain resourceful, keep learning what you can do despite the arthritis.

West Bloomfield too strong for North Farmington

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER
domeara@a.homescomm.net

West Bloomfield's girls basketball team was too athletic, too quick, too tall, too accurate and just plain too good Friday night.

The Lakers had too much of everything going for them as they overwhelmed North Farmington to win their third consecutive Class A district tournament championship over the Raiders, 62-24.

West Bloomfield (18-4) will play the Detroit Northern district winner at 6 p.m. Monday in the regional tournament at Birmingham Groves.

Playing on their own floor Friday, the Lakers started fast and left little doubt where the game was headed by racing to a 26-6 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Senior guard Jen Kristensen provided the spark, scoring all 17 of her points in the first half. She made three triples and had 11 points in the first eight minutes as the Lakers piled up the points early.

"In the first two district games, I was rusty," Kristensen said. "Coach (Lance Davis) said I had to be ready to shoot; so that's what I did, and the shots started falling for me."

"We had to be intense the first quarter. That was our good defense. We came out full speed ahead and we got (the victory)."

West Bloomfield junior Lisa Copeland finished with a game-high 18 points. Senior Heather Robbins added eight, junior Amanda Shammass seven, junior Chastity Quinn six and senior Nina Dixon five.

"Jen didn't surprise me in terms of her ability to shoot the ball," Davis said, adding Kristensen averages 13 points per game and was the fourth-leading scorer in the Oakland Activities Association Division I.

"When she plays at that level, good things can happen. When she comes to play, it makes my job easier."

Junior Samantha McComb, who was double teamed whenever she touched the ball, had nine points on 3-of-9 shooting from the floor to lead the Raiders (13-9). She also was 2-of-2 shooting free throws. Junior Staci Russell added six points.

"Sam is an excellent player," Davis said. "That doesn't attest to who she is. She shouldn't hold her head down, because she only had nine points."

"It's a team sport and it requires having other players step up to ease the pressure. It looks as if we bottled her up. We left it open for other people to score and they didn't."

In a district semifinal game Wednesday and again Friday, Davis said McComb was looking for open teammates under intense defensive pressure.

"She's willing to make the extra pass, because it's the right fundamental thing to do," he said.

Davis added the Lakers had more offensive capability on paper, and that was borne out in the game.

"They have an excellent player in Sam McComb. I thought our three (Copeland, Kristensen and Robbins) were just as good," Davis said. "I thought our three versus their one — not that it's a three-on-one game — would win out."

The Lakers led 35-10 at half-time. Copeland scored 11 points in the third quarter, including the last eight, to boost the West Bloomfield lead to 52-19.

"We watched a tape of this team and knew they picked it up in the second half," Kristensen said. "We didn't want them to come back. We knew they were capable of it."

West Bloomfield turned up the heat with its defensive press in the third quarter.

That resulted in nine North turnovers (29 overall) and was a big reason why the Lakers dominated the game.

"We had to make sure the game was up-tempo and intense," Davis said. "I think our five play at that level, because we practice that way; we had to make sure North played like that."

"We talk about starting the game with intensity and we did that. The last two games we've been able to break teams' spirit in the first half. We were able to capitalize on that today and put the game away early."

The Lakers, who had nearly twice as many shot attempts as the Raiders, were 11-of-19 shooting in the first quarter, 15-of-32 in the first half and 27-of-63 overall (43 percent). The Raiders were 10-of-35 for the game (29 percent).

"They're athletic; they trap; they do everything well," North coach Linda Perkins said of the Lakers. "They have the potential to get through the regional to the state tournament."

"We talked at halftime about swinging the ball instead of dribbling through the trap, hitting the high post through the double team and the girl on the baseline."

"My kids were trying; we just kinda got rattled."

The Lakers have some unfinished business during Davis' five-year tenure. Despite their success in the district tournament, they haven't won a regional title.

"This is three of eight (post-season games), and we have five

Section 5.15i. Forfeiture of vehicle or return to lessor.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this section and in addition to any other penalty provided for in this ordinance, the judgment or sentence for a conviction for a violation of section 5.15(i), may require 1 of the following with regard to the vehicle used in the offense if the defendant owns the vehicle in whole or in part or leases the vehicle:

(a) Forfeiture of the vehicle if the defendant owns the vehicle in whole or in part.

(b) Return the vehicle to the lessor if the defendant leases the vehicle.

(2) The vehicle may be seized pursuant to an order of seizure issued by the court having jurisdiction upon a showing of probable cause that the vehicle is subject to forfeiture or return to the lessor.

(3) The forfeiture of a vehicle is subject to the interest of the holder of a security interest who did not have prior knowledge of or consent to the violation.

(4) Within 14 days after the defendant's conviction for a violation described in subsection (1), the prosecuting attorney may file a petition with the court for the forfeiture of the vehicle or to have the court order return of a leased vehicle to the lessor. The prosecuting attorney shall give notice by first class mail or other process to the defendant and his or her attorney, to all owners of the vehicle, and to any person holding a security interest in the vehicle that the court may require forfeiture or return of the vehicle.

(5) If a vehicle is seized before disposition of the criminal proceedings, a defendant who is an owner or lessee of the vehicle may move the court having jurisdiction over the proceedings to require the seizing agency to file a lien against the vehicle and to return the vehicle to the owner or lessee pending disposition of the criminal proceedings. The court shall hear the motion within 7 days after the motion is filed. If the defendant establishes at the hearing that he or she holds the legal title to the vehicle or that he or she has a leasehold interest and that it is necessary for him or her or a member of his or her family to use the vehicle pending the outcome of the forfeiture action, the court may order the seizing agency to return the vehicle to the owner or lessee. If the court orders the return of the vehicle to the owner or lessee, the court shall order the defendant to post a bond in an amount equal to the retail value of the vehicle, and shall also order the seizing agency to file a lien against the vehicle.

(6) Within 14 days after notice by the prosecuting attorney is given under subsection (4), the defendant, an owner, lessee, or holder of a security interest may file a claim of interest in the vehicle with the court. Within 21 days after the expiration of the period for filing claims, but before or at sentencing, the court shall hold a hearing to determine the legitimacy of any claim the extent of any co-owner's equity interest, the liability of the defendant to any co-lessee, and whether to order the vehicle forfeited or returned to the lessor. In considering whether to order forfeiture, the court shall review the defendant's driving record to determine whether the defendant has multiple convictions under this ordinance, the provisions of state law set forth at section 257.625 of the Michigan Compiled Laws, or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to this ordinance and state law, or multiple suspensions, restrictions, or denials under section 257.904 of the Michigan Compiled Laws, or both. If the defendant has multiple convictions under this ordinance, section 257.625 of the Michigan Compiled Laws, or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to state law, or multiple suspensions, restrictions, or denials under section 257.904 of the Michigan Compiled Laws, or both, that factor shall weigh heavily in favor of forfeiture.

(7) If a vehicle is forfeited under this section, the Township shall sell the vehicle and dispose of the proceeds in the following order of priority:

(a) Pay any outstanding security interest of a secured party who did not have prior knowledge of or consent to the commission of the violation.

(b) Pay the equity interest of a co-owner who did not have prior knowledge of or consent to the commission of the violation.

(c) Satisfy any order of restitution entered in the prosecution for the violation.

(d) Pay the claim of each person who shows that he or she is a victim of the violation to the extent that the claim is not covered by an order of restitution.

(e) Pay any outstanding lien against the property that has been imposed by governmental unit.

(f) Pay the proper expenses of the proceedings for forfeiture and sale, including, but not limited to, expenses incurred during the seizure process and expenses for maintaining custody of the property, advertising, and court costs.

(g) The court may order the defendant to pay to a co-lessee any liability determined under subsection (6). The order may be enforced in the same manner as a civil judgment.

(8) The return of a vehicle to the lessor under this section does not affect or impair the lessor's rights or the defendant's obligations under the lease.

(9) A person who knowingly conceals, sells, gives away, or otherwise transfers or disposes of a vehicle with the intent to avoid forfeiture or return of the vehicle to the lessor under this section is guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for not more than 93 days or a fine of not more than $500.00, or both.

(10) The failure of the court or the prosecutor to comply with any time limit specified in this section does not preclude the court from ordering forfeiture of a vehicle or its return to a lessor, unless the court finds that the owner or claimant suffered substantial prejudice as a result of that failure.

(11) The forfeiture provisions of this section do not preclude the prosecuting attorney from pursuing a forfeiture proceeding under any other law or this state or a local ordinance corresponding to this section.

County studies giving youth programs to Growth Works

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
STAFF WRITER
kabracyk@oe.homedcom.net

Wayne County's Department of Community Justice and local service agencies are embarking into a brave new world of juvenile justice and intervention.

On Tuesday, Wayne County commissioners will discuss and possibly approve an eye-popping $288 million in contracts for six care management organizations which then can subcontract community-based services to service providers.

Western Wayne communities, including Canton, Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth, Redford and Westland, would be serviced by Growth Works of Plymouth through a $37.5 million proposed contract with the Department of Community Justice. This week, like the other five CMOs, Growth Works' contract is under study by the commission.

Wayne County wanted to initiate the CMO approach for juveniles instead of using the state's Family Independence Agency because county officials believe they can conduct the program for less money and with better results.

In western Wayne County, Growth Works will oversee programs by service providers for community-based and residential services, substance abuse, treatment, mental health services, case management and educational and employment options. The contracts provide incentives to award agencies for rehabilitating children and stopping recidivism, and impose financial penalties to those who do not.

On Thursday, commissioners still wrestled with the juvenile court's role in overseeing the youths and some were wary of approving that dollar amount without some emphasis on prevention and programs for at-risk youths.

The issue was considered so critical, that Thursday's regularly scheduled commission meeting was postponed until Tuesday, so commissioners could spend the morning discussing the CMOs with Jeriel Heard, director of the Department of Community Justice, and court administrators.

"This is one of the most important things to ever come before the Wayne County Commission that involved young people," said Ricardo Solomon, commission chair.

Who's in charge

Administrators from the Wayne County Circuit Court's family division told commissioners the court would maintain oversight responsibility, but not management responsibility.

Commissioner Bernard Parker, D-Detroit, asked whether the courts would turn over the program to Wayne County. "The intent of the court is to oversee the rehabilitation of youths," said Jane Varner, an administrator of the family division of the Wayne County Juvenile Court.

Parker was concerned about the time element for the placement of youths. "The whole idea of the CMOs was to respond to the needs of the child, rather than go back to the courts which can take two or three months," Parker said. "That was the problem before and it seems to be the problem of the future."

Alexander Luvall, court administrator for Wayne County Circuit Court, said no agreement was in place between the court and the Department of Community Justice, but assured Parker the court wanted "accountability and performance evaluation."

Judges will conduct "business as they see fit," Luvall said. "If we offer them good programs, I'm sure they will be utilized," Luvall said.

Financial concerns

Commission Vice Chair Kay Beard, D-Westland, said she didn't want a similar situation that happened with county's Department of Mental Health a few years ago. Budget deficits were reported after cash was advanced, Beard said.

"Some (providers) were able to make payments and some went bankrupt," Beard said. Beard was "concerned on how the advance will be spent and whether the county would be put in a similar situation." She encouraged her colleagues to ensure audits were completed by Wayne County Auditor General Brendan Dunleavy.

Parker introduced amendments to the CMO contracts outlining prevention services, payment schedules, a documentation provision and add $1.5 million for prevention programs. That was referred for committee study.

Solomon commended Jeriel Heard, the director of the Department of Community Justice, for doing an outstanding job.

Heard said the CMO program was a partnership with the commission.

"We will resolve every issue that this commission has raised today and we'll get it done for you," Heard said.

Encouraging participation in art praiseworthy

The Livonia Arts Commission and Westland Chamber of Commerce deserve praise for encouraging participation in the arts.

In addition to nurturing young talent by awarding scholarships, the arts commission regularly showcases art works and musical programs. On Sunday, Nov. 7, the commission installed a new bronze work at the Livonia Civic Center Library to help develop a sculpture garden. It was an anticipated event, after all, promoting art is what the commission is all about.

And while I don't want to seem as if I'm discounting their achievements, I do want to applaud the Westland Chamber of Commerce, which chose arts as the theme of its fund-raiser on Saturday, Nov. 30, at the Hellenic Cultural Center in Westland. The chamber could have chosen any topic for a fund-raising theme. Choosing the arts as a theme required extra work and coordination. The Westland Chamber of Commerce worked to develop relationships with local artists and art teachers to create the event.

Tasty event

"Taste of the Arts" will feature samplings of food and beverages from more than 20 local businesses including Chimento's Italian Market, Max & Erma's and the Fire Academy Brewery and Grill. Art works by students from Wayne-Westland Schools will be exhibited and will be for sale. During a silent auction, you can even place a bid on works by a number of local artists, including Norma McQueen and Mary Brittain. A string quartet will provide entertainment for the evening.

Sponsored by the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, the event benefits the chamber and the Family Resource Center, a nonprofit organization that helps families in need.

"I'm excited," said Lori Brist, the chamber's executive director. "We'll have delectable cuisine from the area's best restaurants, in addition to the more-than-100 pieces of art on exhibit by students from Wayne-Westland elementary and high schools. There will be a donation box for anyone wanting to take home one of the pieces of student art."

A mystery prize drawing offers more than 180 items donated by Westland businesses, including a VCR.

Kristi Jasin's enthusiasm for marching bands remains as ardent as ever, even though silence has descended over fields once filled with sound and color.

This cold November day finds the Livonia Franklin High School Band director indoors rehearsing students for their final performance of the season at Livonia's Holiday Parade. Jasin's passion for the music goes back to the days when she was marching with bands at Plymouth Canton Educational Park and Michigan State University.

"I always loved marching band," said Jasin, pointing out that although the season has ended students continue to play in the concert, symphonic and jazz bands. "I hear the drums and it does something for my heart. The nostalgia, hearing the cadence, you want to march."

The Franklin Marching Band officially ended their season by competing against 79 bands in the nationals presented by Bands of America on Nov. 13. Jasin said she was proud of her students who didn't seem to mind placing 13th because the Plymouth Canton Marching Band, under David McGrath, took first place home to Michigan.

"They were very happy for Plymouth Canton," said Jasin. "They cheered for them even though they competed against them in the state competition."

Jasin values the feedback she receives from judges at competitions. It helps the 79-member Franklin band grow.

"They put on a very good show," said Jasin. "It was the first time, they played in the RCA Dome in Indianapolis and just going there was such a thrill. We didn't go there to win. The goal is musical growth. The kids learn a lot by not making it because they learn this is what we need to do better. Being in marching band is about loyalty to the group, responsibility, decision making, leadership. It's teaching them skills that transfer into life. It's teaching them to be the best they can be. The process is more important than the end product."

Even though marching band season is over the lessons go on for the Franklin students who frequently play at events ranging from the Thanksgiving Parade in Detroit to ice cream socials at elementary schools. Community involvement is important for marching bands at Franklin, Livonia Stevenson and Redford Thurston High Schools because students receive experience while providing pleasure for an audience.

Franklin's symphonic, concert, and jazz bands are presenting a holiday concert 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 9, that's open to the public. It's part of their plan to invite the community into the school to see what they're doing.

Franklin participates in the community in other ways as well. For the 21st year in a row, it will host the Solo Ensemble Competition on Jan. 29 and Feb. 6. It is the largest solo ensemble competition in the state and run by students and parents, including the Band Boosters directed by Jim Hatten.

"One of our goals is to share our music and love of performing with the community," said Jasin. "I think performing in public is a very important part of music ensemble growth."

Drum major Anne Darket, in addition to playing flute in the symphony band, has led the marching band for four years. She started playing flute in fifth grade and feels she's matured as a musician since joining the marching band.

"I like marching band because the people are like a second family to me," said Darket, a Westland resident. "As far as the nationals, I wasn't really nervous because we pretty much have the show under our feet by then and it's a good experience seeing the better bands like Plymouth."

Sara Knopsnider, drum line captain in charge of percussion for Franklin, agrees with Darket. She's stayed in marching band because of the growth and camaraderie. As a junior, she also has the opportunity to recruit students from elementary schools during the upcoming winter. Last year, Darket and other Franklin juniors were able to recruit 30 new members for marching band.

"It's like one big family," said Knopsnider, who also plays drums with the jazz band.

Winning attitude

Thurston High School, along with Livonia Franklin and Plymouth Canton, took part in the state competition presented by the Michigan Competing Band Association. Director Edward Lucius is proud of the fact that

THEATER

Lively 'Flanagan's Wake' provides hearty laughs

BY FRANK PROVENZANO
STAFF WRITER
fprovenzano@oe.homedomain.net

The crowd filed in dutifully at the makeshift parlor at Baci Theatre in Pontiac where a wake was being held for a friendly fellow named Flanagan.

First stop: the bar to fill up with spirits, limericks and fabricated tales about the recently departed. There's plenty of raucous encouragement for audience members to get two drinks — one for each kidney.

Irish wakes, as the roaming cast of "Flanagan's Wake" reminds, is an ritualistic exercise of drinking, dancing, and between bouts of storytelling and eulogies, a fair amount of fighting.

Somewhere along the way to depositing the wooden casket six feet under, a sermon gets mangled and an Irish culture that celebrates life at a ceremony of death gets honored and insulted.

It's the type of irresistible fun of family reunions, comedy clubs, and well, Irish wakes.

Like its interactive cousin "Tony n' Tina's Wedding" that plays upstairs at Baci's, "Flanagan's Wake" proves that the theatrical experience can indeed transform an audience of strangers into a community where the common interest is a good laugh and a sing-along.

There isn't any resisting the current production of the hilarious interactive play. In about two hours, the charming cast demonstrates the appeal of dissolving the traditional fourth wall of theater and inviting the audience to participate in a 50-percent scripted play and a 50-percent free-for-all.

For Maureen Dorrington of Beverly Hills, who portrays the howling mystic Kathleen Mooney, "Flanagan's Wake" is a play of scripted spontaneity that draws in the audience in the actor's unfolding craft of storytelling.

Being "in the moment," said Dorrington, extends beyond the stage. Audience members are encouraged, provoked, and drafted into participating in putting flesh on the skeleton story about Flanagan's dreams, demise and foibles.

The collaboration with the audience requires a balance of wit and respectful distance — not easy when the cast is on the prowl for a quick laugh. But with this endearing cast, there is a near-instant comfort.

While actors appear firmly grounded in their respective characters, it's when they let out their personalities and demonstrate their improv skills that they shine.

At various times, the spotlight shines on Dorrington, Tony Lawry of Garden City, Brian Ravich of Livonia, Charles McGraw of Hamtramck, Tom Whalen of Royal Oak, Pat Caporuscio of Richmond and Courtney Jo Demsey of Grosse Pointe.

All have their fair share of dramatic and comedic theater credits and stints in improv.

Together they take audiences on a journey through an Irish wake without hitting any insulting bumps. Well, then again, that depends on whether you're open to sparring with the likes of Flanagan's angry fiancée or his babbling, iron-fisted mother.

After six years of performances in Chicago, the play opened in Pontiac in early October. Several weeks later, however, the original producer, Joe Nederlander, pulled out of the show, and Baci owners Nino and Luigi Cutraro stepped up to keep alive "Flanagan's Wake" and extend its open-ended run.

In a local theater scene often lacking in vibrant performances, "Flanagan's Wake" offers a glimmer of hope. It's the type of play that will be fun for those who prefer movies or home entertainment.

And it's a good laugh for die-hard theater-goers who should be impressed with the improv ability of the cast.

"Danny Boy" might be delivered off-key, but there's nothing out of tune with "Flanagan's Wake."

Thurston's 117-member band has made the top 10 in state finals the last four years. They placed seventh in Flight III in 1999.

"The kids work hard all season long," said Lucius. "At state, there's 6,000 to 9,000 people staring at them. The kids do get nervous. What's special about state is our kids had their best performance of the year."

Like Jasen, Lucius believes that there's more to competition than winning.

"We're teaching kids that there's no winners or losers," said Lucius. "We're not competing with other bands. It's not a sport but for kids to do the best they can do."

In addition to performing at competitions held throughout the fall, Redford Thurston plays concerts for the community. Their winter concert by the wind ensemble, honors band, concert band, and jazz ensemble takes place 7:30 p.m.

Wednesday, Dec. 14. Admission is free. For more information, call (313) 535-4000, Ext. 1133.

"We compete because bands here have always striven for excellence," said Lucius. "We're still able to participate in the community and play at home games."

Top honor

Tiffany Labon joined the Redford Thurston Marching Band as a requisite for performing in the honors band at Carnegie Hall in New York City on April 19. The Redford Thurston band was one of nine chosen from 77 bands which applied for the honor of performing at the National Concert Band Festival. As at other schools, the group making all of the performances by all of Thurston's bands possible is the Band Boosters led by Pat Bilicki, Bruce and Debbi Bovee and Chuck Litvin.

"Once I joined marching band, I really liked it," said Labon, a freshman percussionist. It's a lot of fun especially when you can finally put all the drill moves together."

Community connection

As director of Livonia Stevenson's 107-member marching band for the last 14 years, David Booker chooses not to compete in the state or nationals but instead concentrates on community performances in the Holiday Parade and nursing homes in addition to playing at football games.

"We're one of the few bands that makes a community commitment," said Booker. "Other schools don't do as much for the community because they spend all their time marching. I choose not to compete in state or national because I want to develop the jazz and symphonic programs. Students should have a balanced program. Ours offers a total musical experience."

Expressions from page C1

The Livonia Arts Commission's latest sculpture is a welcome addition to the landscape of the Livonia Civic Center Complex where an environmental work by Andrea Blum invites the public to interact with art.

Installed on Nov. 7, the bronze sculpture by Ferenc "Frank" Varga, "Birds in Flight," cost $16,000.

"It's understandable, believable," said arts commission president Bob Sheridan who donated the foundation for the 10 foot high sculpture. "I think everybody can appreciate it."

The sculpture was paid for with the proceeds of the commission's annual arts festival and the $5,000 stipend it receives annually from the city to promote arts.

"Our challenge as arts commissioners is to develop cultural interests in the community," said Sheridan, who donated one of his ceramic pieces to the Westland Chamber of Commerce's silent auction. "I'd like to show my appreciation for all the hard work the commission does - from putting on the monthly art exhibits, the Music Under the Stars and scholarship programs to helping groups such as the Livonia Symphony and Jack-in-the-Box Productions."

This is the second time the arts commission asked Varga to create a sculpture. The first sculpture, "Wisdom and Innocence," was installed in front of the Livonia Civic Center Library in October 1995. Varga's works can also be found in front of St. Vincent's Hospital in Birmingham, Ala., the Mission Health Medical Center in Livonia, and the Oncology Center of West Branch Hospital. His "Copernicus" graces the front of the main branch of the Detroit Public Library.

Varga studied sculpture at the University of Honolulu and the Academy of Fine Arts in Florence, Italy. In the early years of his career, the 56-year-old Varga apprenticed under his father, Ferenc Varga.

"After the lighting is installed in the garden of sculptures area we hope to invite sculptors to send their proposals for works to be included," said Sheridan. "We hope on a yearly basis to add another piece and that these could be enjoyed for many generations. They'll know we did something for the arts. We'd been there."

Varga worked closely with the commission on the design for the sculpture after the commission chose birds as the subject.

Spirit of flight

"Man's interest has always been the spirit of flight," said Varga from his home in Delray Beach, Fla. "I wanted to represent the spirit of man and his interest in flight in a figurative, modern way. It's recognizable that they are birds but is stylized. The composition is angular so when the sun shines on it you always have a different movement. The composition begins to change in movement with the sun."

GUIDE TO THE MOVIES

'Not a Word of a Lie' in book about rural Irish

By M.B. DILLON
SPECIAL WRITER

If the Hynes sisters of Redford and Livonia ever want to relate in detail what it was like growing up in rural Ireland on a Galway Bay peninsula, all they need do is recommend the reading of "Not a Word of a Lie," a newly published book penned by their childhood friend, Bridie Quinn-Conroy of County Galway, Ireland.

In town to visit Teresa Hynes Misener, Peggy Hynes Boland and Delia Hynes Melvin and attend the wedding of a family friend, Quinn-Conroy "has immortalized the wonderful Irish people who survived with very limited resources during World War II," said Misener.

"Those people's dreams came true and became our inheritance. Bridie shows the caliber of people they were in a way no 'blow-ins' possibly could."

Chicago-born Jeff O'Connell — a writer now living in a thatched house in the farming community of Duras where Quinn-Conroy and the Hynes girls came of age — acknowledges as much in his foreword in "Not a Word of a Lie."

"No matter how deeply 'blow-ins' like myself might dig in bringing to light aspects of history and folklore, we will always lack something essential that no amount of reading and research could make up for," writes O'Connell. "We were not born here. But Bridie Quinn-Conroy was. In 'Not a Word of a Lie,' you are introduced to the inner history of Duras, the stories of particular men and women — their struggles, joys, sorrows, and small but important triumphs — in a way only hinted at by documents and parish records."

"We had to do the 'brothers' jobs. I picked potatoes and drove a tractor," said Quinn-Conroy, currently the mayor of her adopted hometown of Craughwell, 15 miles east of Duras. Children also helped plant crops, bind corn and save barley, hay and oats.

Women ran households without the benefit of running water. There were no bathrooms, no refrigerators, no electric irons, toasters or appliances.

They were hard times, but the best of times, said Quinn-Conroy, who is married and has four children and nine grandchildren.

Reunited: Teresa (Hynes) Misener (left), Maryagatha (O'Grady) Savage, author Bridie Quinn-Conroy and Delia Hynes Melvin, who grew up together in a rural area in the west of Ireland, were reunited at the wedding of Mrs. Savage's son.

"Perhaps the younger generation has more, but I doubt they have such simple, carefree happy days," she said.

Misener agreed. "They were hard times, but we survived, and our characters are all the better for enduring the rainy days and coming out the other side," she said.

The people of Duras supplied their own entertainment. "During the long winter nights, our kitchen seemed a haven for many of the villagers. They could be sure of a warm seat around a turf fire, a good discussion, and tea and currant cake. They made predictions about the rise and fall of prices of beef, spuds, cattle, hay, sheep, pigs, barley, wool, or a pint, and were often right. They talked about the weather and were never satisfied."

The Quinns made good hosts. Michael was noted for his knowledge of history and folklore, and for his political involvement in Duras. Before her marriage, Julia had lived in the U.S., where she visited 47 states. A strong advocate of education, Julia walked three miles to her job at Seamount College, where she taught the Irish language. All the Quinns, Hyneses, and their neighbors spoke Gaelic fluently.

The rural Irish cherish their memories of ceilis — dances held in the home in which all generations participated. Family members or friends played the instruments. "Not a Word of a Lie" evocatively portrays interesting villagers, as well as local folklore and other aspects of life in Duras long ago: growing up Catholic, matchmaking, baking on the open hearth, events at sea, and savoring catches of the day.

Quinn-Conroy says she hopes her book "will be looked at in 60 years' time as a social history which touches on the times, lives, traditions, superstitions, education, religion, and above all the friendships, neighborliness and high standards and moral ethics we had."

The author's desire is fast becoming a reality. Her book should be available in the U.S. soon through Irish Books & Media of Minneapolis, Minn. Irish Books & Media also has expressed interest in publishing the sequel, entitled "Believe it or Not."

"Not a Word of a Lie" is available online from Kenny's Bookshop in Galway City for $15 (including shipping) or by contacting publisher Ann Korff, Tir Eolas, Newtownlynch, Kinvara, Co. Galway, Ireland. The book is included among reference materials at the Irish Cultural Center in Norwood, Mass.

"Not a Word of a Lie" is actually the fruition of a childhood vow: "I was always writing short stories and notes," said Quinn-Conroy. "I used to talk with the old people, and I would listen to their stories. I'd read the 'Irish Press' every day, and I never once saw Duras mentioned. It was just in my head that one day I would write something which merited Duras being put on the map."

Gem Theatre 'yoops' it up with Jeff Daniels' play

"Escanaba in da Moonlight," a comedy by Jeff Daniels, runs through Feb. 13 at the Gem Theatre, 333 Madison Ave., Detroit. Performances: 8 p.m. Wednesday-Sunday. Tickets: $29.50-$36.50. For information call (313) 963-9800.

Sure, there are thick breezes of flatulence jokes and a profusion of politically incorrect "yooper" convention, but what's not to love in "Escanaba in da Moonlight?"

Not much. In fact, fewer folks leave the show with a frown on their face than there are men walking the streets of downtown Menominee on opening day of deer hunting season. In both cases, there sure aren't many.

Jeff Daniels' comedy offers a constant array of manly merriment regulated by practical wisdom.

"If you're looking back at the things that you missed, you won't know what hit you," is just such a truism.

Yet this story does look back, to opening day 1989 at the Soady deer camp, "the world famous Soady deer camp," outside Escanaba.

In a log cabin decorated with animal hides and cases of Gobel beer, Albert Soady (Jim Porterfield) talks up the Superior State while he rips on the "flatlander fudge-sucking, beer-flattering trolls" who drive up north in their Winnebagos.

"If we wanted company we would have built a bridge sooner."

He's awaiting the arrival of his sons, Ruben (Phil Powers) and Remnar (Joseph Albright) who, he candidly explains, are not "the sharpest tool in the shed."

Ruben, at 35, is about to become the eldest "buckless Yooper" in Soady family history. So this year, he's breaking with tradition. No pasties. No Spam and mayo sandwiches in the blind. He's trusting that the concoctions and incantations from his full-blooded Indian wife Wolf Moon Dance (Sandra Birch) will guide his aura (that's air-a as in "the air around 'ya") and break the curse that has forever denied him a buck.

Naturally, the Soady men and friend Jimmer (Wayne David Parker), whose speech was rendered unintelligible after an alien abduction, are reluctant to stray.

Remnar offers evidence to that with the tattered, duct-taped channel shirt he's worn since he was 9. "Does it smell?" he asks rhetorically. "Most certainly."

But it's tradition. And the Soady men don't mess with ancestral forces.

Hilarious happenings ricochet as the plot charges through visions of God, mishaps with porcupine pee and a surprise visit from DNR Ranger Tom Treado (Randall Godwin), who has a penchant for teddies.

But there are moments of "Blair Witch" suspense, as when the men confront a "bear walk," which, according to their knowledge of Indian lore, requires a sacrifice far beyond going without whisky for the duration of camp.

Under Guy Sanville's direction, the cast hits their comedic marks dead-on. And though pretty much the same group has been performing since it first opened at the Chelsea's Purple Rose Theatre in 1997, they still have the ability to make rehearsed material sound — and appear — spontaneously funny.

Daniels has plans to take his gem to the silver screen and is currently working on the movie screenplay. But you'd be wise to see the Gem's production.

Get ready for a facial muscle workout because "Escanaba in da Moonlight" will keep you little "flatlander fudge-suckers" grinning ear-to-ear, from da start to da end.

da reflective: Phil Powers (standing) and Jim Porterfield portray two "Yooper" deer hunters in Jeff Daniels' comedy, "Escanaba in da Moonlight."

Hilberry Theatre's 'Merchant of Venice' a treat to watch

Wayne State University's Hilberry Theatre presents William Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice" through Dec. 9 in rotating repertory. The Hilberry is on Cass near Forest on the campus of Wayne State University in Detroit. For ticket information, call (313) 577-2972.

BY SUE SUCHYTA
SPECIAL WRITER

The Hilberry Theatre's production of "The Merchant of Venice" is a quick paced, easily understood and well-acted rendition of one of the immortal bard's better-known works.

Directed by Gillian Eaton, the play is a treat to watch. The undercurrent of anti-Semitism, with which the play is generally associated, is used to highlight intolerance between cultures, not to indict Shakespeare for holding similar beliefs.

Despite its serious moments "The Merchant of Venice" is a comedy of attitudes that explores the lifestyles of the merchant ruling class in Venice 500 years ago. Antonio, a merchant, borrows money from Shylock, a Jewish moneylender, to help his friend Bassanio win the hand of the beautiful and noble Portia.

Shylock, who had been treated like an outcast for much of his life, grants the loan with a notarized condition that he receive a pound of flesh if the bond is forfeited. Antonio, whose fortunes depend on a fleet of his ships traversing the globe, carelessly assumes his fortune is assured.

Romantic escapades enliven the plot. Portia's potential suitors attempt to solve the riddle of her late father's will, which would grant them Portia's hand in marriage, while Shylock's daughter Jessica elopes under cover of darkness with a Christian, lining her pockets with much of her father's wealth.

Gavin Lewis is a convincing mixture of wounded pride and burning revenge as the bitter Shylock. It is through Portia's wisdom that Shylock learns that cruelty can not be repaid in kind.

Sara Wolf performs the role of Portia with polish and finesse. She captures the spirited nature of Portia while cloaking the character with the sophistication of her station and a wellspring of intelligence and insight. The scenes with her lady-in-waiting Nerissa, played by Trisha Miller, were light-hearted yet key to the plot. Miller, a first-year student appearing in her second show of the season, exudes talent and charisma on stage.

Christopher Gilbert portrays Antonio, the merchant with stubborn pride and quiet dignity. More passionate than practical, Antonio's heroism is dimmed only by his anti-Semitic attitude, which was as acceptable in that era as it is disturbing today in a century scarred by the Holocaust.

Erik Gratton is a charming, sincere and moon-eyed successful suitor to Portia. Jessica, the eloping daughter of Shylock, is played with misty enthusiasm by Cat Shoemaker.

Dallas Henry played Lancelot Gobbo, the comic relief and lower class clown with a cascade of amusing accents, the most disconcerting of which was a red-neck twang. Though funny, it broke the otherwise historical continuity of the production.

The entire cast poured enthusiasm into the production. Costumes, designed by Jean D. Woodland, and created by Mary Leyendecker, were elegant and superb. Charles Moser's multi-level set, accomplished the numerous shifts in scene easily.

Smoky eyes, golden lips are key to a fab party face

DISCOVERING BEAUTY

MARY ANNE TOCCALINO

If there were ever a time to splurge on a fabulous dress, an outrageous pair of shoes, a long-awaited appointment with your hair stylist, and a shopping bag full of the newest make-up, this is it!

This New Year's Eve, being what is now popularly accepted as the beginning of the new millennium, is reason enough to make sure you look just as put together as your New Year's celebration plans.

This Y2K demands a little more effort in the makeup area. This is the evening when you need to jazz up your evening makeup a bit.

The easiest way to glamorize your dewy skin, smoky-eye look is to sparkle. Sprinkling finely milled sparkled talc gives a delicate glow to cheekbones, shoulders and décolletage.

But a heavier hand applied to these areas screams "Happy New Year" in no uncertain terms.

This is also a time when you bring out your color palette. Use your dark jewel tones to accent your dark eyes. Add a little of Sebastian's Blue Dusk shadow to the already darkened socket of your eye.

This enhances the smoky eye with transparent color which will put the attention to your eyes rather than the dark circles that could appear when you're dancing until dawn.

Another way to richen your looks is to keep the dramatic smoky eyes accentuated with gold-burnished cheeks, lips and nails. This is also the time to experiment with color and texture. Pick a burgundy lip or pale, shimmering eyes and lips balanced with pink cheeks.

Even if you're going to a low-key event or this just fits your personality, this New Year's still calls for a definite glamour factor.

For you makeup minimalists, we know that "nature" doesn't mean bare face but rather a well-defined glowing face able to withstand a serious night of party playing.

In order to keep things from getting messy, make sure you use waterproof mascara and a little bit of extra glue on those long, lush false lashes.

Also, I found a product that saved my life when working long hours on a location shoot called She Lac by BeneFit, which is resistant to water, tears, humidity, smudging and all of those beauty disasters.

It's a liquid sealer for eyes. This is similar to Lip Chic, which I've used for years as a sealer to keep a stain of color on lips. No matter how many New Year's kisses you give away, your lips will stay on.

Accenting the eyes is the surest way to have a low maintenance makeup. Use a soft lip color with a strong eye to ensure that you won't have to worry about touching up your lips.

With all the running around from party to party, things can get heated up, so you may want to make sure your foundation is minimal and well set with translucent or sparkled powder. Then you can run around achieving a glow but without exposing any beauty flaws.

So whether you're dancing until dawn, hopping from dinner to club, or laying low with loved ones, I'm sure you'll look amazing for the entry of the new century.

Have a safe, happy and healthy holiday. I'll talk to you next month.

With so many millennium and New Year's Eve party goods already in stores, shoppers might be thinking manufacturers and retailers have contracted another case of, "if we build it, they will buy."

But retailers don't think so. Consumers, and not just the retail industry, are excited about the celebrating the millennium and are likely to purchase merchandise to commemorate the event, they say.

"People recognize that the millennium is special, and it's not just another novelty approach retailers have taken to drive sales," said Ron Rademacher, a divisional merchandise vice president with Jacobson's. "They realize that this is a very special time period that we're living in and they're tuned into celebrating it."

Larry Meyer, CEO of the Michigan Retailers Association agreed, saying, "I think the millennium is going to be a real boost in retail sales."

After all, retailers are in the business of predicting consumers' needs and wants.

So far, Jacobson's customers have responded well to the store's millennium merchandise, said Rademacher, adding, "It has clicked for them that I need this to make my millennium celebration more complete, special and exciting."

The sheer number and range of products currently sitting on store shelves might leave some shoppers wondering how many millennium party trinkets one person can own.

From special tuxedo shirts to time capsule kits to Year 2000 cocktail blenders, the availability and range of millennium party gear is

Millennium madness

There's no end to the New Year's Eve merchandise retailers have in store

positively overwhelming.

However, manufacturers and retailers aren't working together to market these goods; they're competing to sell them, noted Mohan Pisharodi, associate professor of marketing at Oakland University in Rochester Hills.

"Competition is intense," said Pisharodi. Thus, retailers are putting these goods on the market in hopes of selling what they can, they're not worrying consumers might find the choices dizzying, he said.

The oddity of some millennium party baubles is probably an attempt to attract attention and differentiate a particular product from the range of others, said Pisharodi.

Besides, there has always been a segment of the consumer market that purchases innovative products and novelty items, he said. Also, different types of consumers buy different types of products, so the plethora of millennium goods on the market reflects that range, said Pisharodi.

At Jacobson's, for example, the focus has been on millennium offerings geared to entertaining, said Rademacher. "As a company, our customer base does a lot of social events. We have tailored not only our apparel but our home furnishings items to the party season."

While stores like Jacobson's already have plenty of millennium merchandise on store shelves, there's more to come, said Rademacher, adding Jacobson's is carrying at least twice as much New Year's Eve and holiday merchandise this year than in the past.

"These products have value to different people, and, in retail, you serve the customer," said Meyer of the trend. "I think we're going to see more and more products with a millen-

Champagne shirt: Even tuxedo shirts have been tailored to celebrate the millennium. Jacobson's sells one with a champagne glass print and another printed with "2000," about $165.

Great Lakes Crossing creates unique, half-hour television ad to boost holiday traffic

Television ads can be entertaining, but how often do they have a story line and run 30 minutes in length?

If Great Lakes Crossing in Auburn Hills is on to something, more plot-driven retail advertising may be on the horizon.

The value and entertainment shopping center, owned by Taubman Centers, recently filmed a 30-minute television ad/comedy program hybrid aimed at encouraging viewers to head to Great Lakes Crossing to do their holiday shopping.

The segment is slated to air Thanksgiving Day on WDIV Channel 4 following the station's broadcast of downtown Detroit's Thanksgiving Day Parade.

"I think it will be very effective because it is entertaining," said Mort Zieve, of Simons, Michelson, Zieve

Advertising, the Troy firm that created the segment.

While the program showcases the mall's offerings, a holiday shopping guide, new computer coupon service and recently launched national gift certificate program, viewers will be entertained, said both Zieve and Julie Nemeth, Great Lakes Crossing's marketing director.

The program follows two friends, a man and a woman, who have challenged one another to complete their holiday shopping during a trip to the mall. Several comic moments arise since the story plays on cultural stereotypes about men and women's shopping habits.

"The guy is sort of sloughing off a bit. There's a scene, actually, when he is just hanging out at Outdoor World," said Nemeth. Produced by WDIV, the segment also has a surprise ending, she said.

"What we're trying to do this holiday season is make the shopping experience a lot easier," said Nemeth. Shopper's schedules are packed and hectic, so making holiday gift-buying easier is a competitive necessity for any mall, she said.

Great Lakes Crossing's holiday shopping guide, for example, not only lists gift ideas for mothers, fathers and other loved ones but also tells shoppers where specific merchandise can be purchased. The company's new gift certificates are redeemable at any Taubman mall in the country, meaning the certificates can be mailed to friends and family in other states.

Great Lakes Crossing's new coupon service allows visitors to learn about and obtain retail discounts at computer kiosks in the mall. The computers also register regular users of the system into a monthly drawing for a cruise.

"We hope the results will be that the consumer will understand that all their holiday shopping can be done here at Great Lakes Crossing," said Nemeth of the mall's marketing tact and new services. We're a new mall.

FOCUS ON WINE

RAY & ELEANOR HEALD

Flavorful wines for Thanksgiving

A treasure trove of food flavors find their way to the traditional Thanksgiving dinner table. No one wine is perfect with both white and dark turkey meat, your special homemade dressing, cranberry sauce, sweet potatoes, or whatever else you may serve.

So, we're offering a bounty of flavorful wine suggestions in a broad price range. Using our suggestions in each wine category below, you should find a few bottles that will please adults gathered around your Thanksgiving table.

Wines are listed by price and you may wonder, how can we recommend a $40 wine with the same enthusiasm as an under $10? That's easy. High-end recommendations are serious wines of complexity and depth. Lower-priced are simple, pleasant drinking.

Pinot grigio

Today's new and hot white is pinot grigio. It's a superb aperitif pour. Go right to its Italian origins and choose some dynamite values from among:

- 1998 Kris Pinot Grigio $11.50
- 1998 Zenato Pinot Grigio $10
- 1998 Stella Pinot Grigio $7

Favorite white wine

Chardonnay, America's favorite white wine, is well suited to the Thanksgiving feast. Oakier, more complex styles are not overwhelmed by seasonings in the dressing or gravy. They aren't beat up by sweet potatoes or cranberries. Oranges in a cranberry relish actually showcase the bright tropical fruit of California chardonnays. Oakier styles cost more to produce and the price for the best are above $20, but you'll find some price surprises.

- 1997 Matanzas Creek Winery Chardonnay, Sonoma Valley $31 bested any chard in our tasting.
- 1998 Edna Valley Chardonnay, San Luis Obispo $18.50 was number two, so we placed it here instead of by price to get your attention.
- 1997 Penfolds Adelaide Hills Chardonnay (Australia) $27
- 1997 Beaulieu Carneros Reserve Chardonnay $27
- 1997 Dry Creek Vineyard Reserve Chardonnay, Sonoma County $22
- 1997 Acacia Chardonnay, Carneros $21
- 1997 Venezia, Regusci Vineyard Chardonnay, Napa Valley $20
- 1997 Belvedere Chardonnay, Russian River Valley $19
- 1997 Franciscan Oakville Estate Chardonnay $17
- 1997 Byington Chardonnay, Santa Cruz Mountain $17
- 1998 William Hill Chardonnay, Napa Valley $15
- 1997 Chateau Ste Michelle Chardonnay $13 - none better under $20 from Washington
- 1998 Penfolds Koonunga Hill Chardonnay $10 - best buy

Light red

- Beaujolais Nouveau from France is best bet light red.

HOME ECONOMISTS OFFER TIPS

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER
kwygonik@oe.hometeam.net

Plan ahead - that is the secret to making a memorable Thanksgiving dinner.

Lois Thieleke of Birmingham, a home economist for the Michigan State University Extension-Oakland County, has lots of tips to share.

"When buying a turkey, it is generally suggested that for every adult plan and buy 1 1/2 pounds of turkey," said Thieleke. "There is a lot of waste on a whole bird and you certainly want leftovers."

"What's the best way to thaw a turkey?" is one of the most frequently asked questions this time of year. Last year, 13,276 people called the Butterball Turkey Talk-Line (800) 323-4848, or www.butterball.com, to find out.

Refrigerator thawing is recommended both by the 48 home economists and nutritionists who answer the Turkey Talk-Line, and by Sylvia Treitman, director of the MSU Extension-Oakland County's Food and Nutrition Hotline.

Thaw your turkey breast-side-up in its unopened wrapper on a tray in the refrigerator. Allow at least one day of thawing for every four pounds of turkey.

If you forget to take the turkey out of the freezer, you can use the cold water method - place the turkey breast-side-down in its unopened wrapper in cold water to cover. Change the water every 30 minutes to keep the surface cold. Estimate minimum thawing time to be 30 minutes per pound for the whole turkey.

"Give your turkey a bath," said Treitman. "Remove the neck and giblets. Rinse inside and outside in cold water, drain well."

Some people like to stuff their turkeys, some don't. I like to cook my stuffing in a separate casserole dish. For flavoring, I fill the cavity of the turkey with quartered fresh apples, a bay leaf, two cinnamon sticks, and a sprinkle of nutmeg and ginger.

"Do not stuff the turkey the night before," said Thieleke. Home economists and nutritionists who answer the Turkey Talk-Line say to allow 1/2 to 3/4 cup of stuffing per pound of turkey. Pack the stuffing lightly in the turkey.

Roast your turkey at 325 degrees F, and use a meat thermometer to check for doneness - 180 degrees F in the thickest part of the inner thigh, or 170 degrees F for the white meat.

"Even if your turkey comes with a pop-up thermometer, check the temperature with a meat thermometer," said Thieleke. "Use a meat thermometer to make sure the center of the stuffing reaches 165 degrees F."

"Do as many things ahead of time as you can," said Marion Mahoney, administrator of Dayton-Hudson's Culinary Professional Department Store Program, which developed a Turkey 101 class for novice cooks. Timing is important.

BUTTERBALL TURKEY COMPANY

Holiday feast: Golden, roasted turkey, and sumptuous side dishes such as orange candied sweet potatoes and string beans with browned butter and almonds, make Thanksgiving dinner a memorable meal.

"Be sure to let your turkey rest 20 minutes after roasting. If your turkey tastes dried out, you probably carved it too soon," she said.

When you're shopping for potatoes, Thieleke recommends a russet potato for mashing or baking. For boiling or roasting buy red potatoes. For mashed or scalloped buy Yukon gold.

For a truly traditional Thanksgiving, don't forget the cranberry relish.

"Cranberries are one of only three major native North American fruits," said Thieleke. "The others are concord grapes and blueberries. Cranberries are very tart so sugar is generally added to make them sweet. Cut the calories when cooking cranberries for sauce by using apple juice for the sweetener. Bring one cup frozen apple juice concentrate to a boil in a saucepan and add four cups cranberries, reduce heat and simmer until thickened."

MAPLE AND TARRAGON SWEET POTATOES

Makes 8 to 10 servings
4 pounds sweet potatoes, peeled and sliced 1/4 inch thick
1/3 cup maple syrup
1/4 cup soy margarine, melted
1/4 cup orange juice
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons dried tarragon

Preheat the oven to 350°F. Arrange the sweet potato slices in overlapping rows in an oiled shallow, 2-quart casserole. In a small bowl, combine the syrup, margarine, juice, cinnamon, and salt. Pour evenly over the potatoes.

Sprinkle the tarragon over the top. Cover with lid or foil and bake, covered, for 25 to 30 minutes, or until readily pierced with a fork but still firm. Bake another 20 to 25 minutes uncovered, or until glazed and golden around the edges.

Mushroom or minty, choose stuffing to suit family taste

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The recipes for Mushroom and Cashew Stuffing and Minted Fruit Stuffing start with a traditional base of bread, then each adds tasty extras for a distinctive flavor lift.

The recipes give instructions for the stuffings to be baked alone, not inside another item, so they are easy to adapt for menus to suit different family tastes. The stuffings can accompany a festive entrée, such as turkey for a Thanksgiving dinner, be part of a party buffet, or serve as a nourishing comfort food item for a lighter supper.

MUSHROOM AND CASHEW STUFFING

3/4 pound regular sliced white bread, cut into 1/2-inch cubes (about 8 cups)
1/4 cup butter
1 large red onion, chopped
1 large red pepper, chopped (about 2 cups)
1/2 pound button mushrooms, sliced
3 celery stalks, chopped
1 1/2 cups roasted, unsalted cashews, halves and pieces
2 tablespoons fresh or 1 teaspoon dried thyme
2 tablespoons fresh or 1 teaspoon dried rosemary
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
3/4 cup canned chicken broth
2 eggs, beaten

Preheat oven to 400 F. Place bread cubes on large, shallow baking pan and bake until golden, stirring occasionally, about 20 minutes. Transfer to large mixing bowl.

Turn oven down to 350 F.

Melt butter in a large, heavy skillet. Add onion and cook until clear, stirring occasionally, about 10 minutes. Add red pepper, mushrooms and celery; cook until tender, about 5 to 7 minutes. Combine with bread in a mixing bowl. Add nuts, seasonings, broth and beaten eggs. Stir well and pour into an 8-by-8-inch greased baking pan or one of similar size. (Can be prepared a day ahead and refrigerated.) Bake, covered, for about 1 hour.

Makes 8 servings.

MINTED FRUIT STUFFING

12 slices honey wheat bread, cubed
1 1/2 cups apple cider or apple juice
2 tablespoons butter, melted
1 large onion, diced
2 medium Granny Smith apples, peeled, cored and diced
1 tablespoon honey
1/2 cup diced dried apricots
1/2 cup yellow raisins
1/2 cup minced fresh or 4 teaspoons dried mint
1 tablespoon minced fresh lemon thyme
Salt and pepper to taste
Mint sprigs to garnish, optional

Preheat the oven to 350 F.

In a large mixing bowl, toss together the cubed bread and cider; set aside.

In a large nonstick skillet, melt the butter. Add the onion and saute over medium heat until the onion is translucent, about 5 minutes. Stir in the apple, reduce the heat to low and cook until the apple is tender, about 4 minutes. Stir in the honey. Stir the apple mixture, dried apricots, raisins, mint and lemon thyme into the moistened bread. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Spoon the stuffing into a 2-quart baking dish. Bake 40 to 45 minutes, until golden brown on top. Garnish with fresh mint and serve.

Pumpkin-ricotta cheesecake low in fat

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pumpkin-Ricotta Cheesecake will not leave Thanksgiving diners feeling deprived, even though a serving contains only about 1 gram of fat.

The festive dessert fits in well with meal plans and advice given by Weight Watchers International. The advice includes: Do not starve before a feast, so you're less likely to overeat; serve yourself plenty of vegetable side dishes; cut off turkey fat; make your own low-fat, low-sodium gravy - and go out to play or walk briskly after you have eaten!

PUMPKIN-RICOTTA CHEESECAKE

Nonstick cooking spray

12 2 1/2-inch-square honey graham crackers, made into crumbs

1 and 1/3 cups instant nonfat dry milk powder

3/4 cup part skim ricotta cheese

3/4 cup egg substitute

2/3 cup low-fat (1 percent) cottage cheese

1/2 cup canned pumpkin

1/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar

1 tablespoon lemon juice

1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract

Preheat oven to 350 F. Spray an 8-inch springform pan with nonstick cooking spray. Sprinkle bottom of pan evenly with graham cracker crumbs.

In a blender or food processor, puree remaining ingredients until smooth; pour mixture into prepared pan, reserving 1/4 cup of the batter. Drizzle the reserved batter in 3 concentric circles over the batter. With a knife, lightly draw a line through the batter from the outer edge toward the center. Repeat lines around the pie, alternating directions to make a decorative web pattern.

Bake 50 to 60 minutes, or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Cool completely on rack. Cover and refrigerate until ready to serve.

Makes 8 servings.

Nutrition information per serving: 160 cal., 12 g pro., 1 g fat, 24 g carbo., 3 mg chol., 263 mg sodium.

Natural therapies

Oakwood offers Healing Touch sessions to patients

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON

In the midst of a hi-tech revolution in the health care industry, some hospitals and independent health centers are getting back to the basics by focusing on "wellness" not "illness" based treatments.

When it is estimated that Americans are spending an average of $20 billion a year on alternative health care, hospitals are finding it necessary to make radical changes in the current health care system. Changes include training nurses and nurses assistants in therapies such as Healing and Therapeutic Touch.

Healing Touch is an energy-based therapeutic approach to promoting and accelerating the natural healing process of the human body through a series of techniques the practitioners use, with their hands, to assess and influence the inherent energy system within.

Oakwood Healthcare System now offers Healing Touch sessions, as a complement to current medical treatments, on the third floor of Oakwood Hospital Annapolis Center in Wayne.

According to Registered Nurse and Healing Touch Practitioner Barb Welcer, Healing Touch is a certificate program developed by Colorado native Janet Mentgen, R.N., B.S.N., through the American Holistic Nurses Association more than 10 years ago.

Welcer provides Healing Touch treatments two days a week at the Oakwood hospital in addition to maintaining a private practice from an at-home studio. Certified by Healing Touch International Inc. of Colorado and endorsed by the American Holistic Nurses Association, Welcer has been practicing Healing Touch for the past six years.

"Healing Touch is heart-centered work performed by someone who has a genuine interest in caring for people and helping them heal," said Welcer. "By using on and off the body movements and light touch, a practitioner assesses the energy field of the patient then smooths and balances the patient's energy so that the body can do its own self-healing. It puts a patient in their best state of healing and almost always induces the relaxation response."

Welcer said it also works to increase the immune system and decrease pain. Patients are fully clothed during the session and can either lie down or sit from five minutes to more than 50 depending on the treatment and the state of their energy field.

Welcer notes that Healing Touch isn't a miracle remedy that results in "vast improvements" directly following sessions, but it has been attributed to increasing the healing process of wounds and fractures, alleviating anxiety and inducing the relaxation response by awakening the body's ability to heal itself.

How can it help?

The list of conditions in which Healing Touch can be used is long and varied, including pain management, hypertension, spiritual enhancement, migraines, side effects of chemotherapy and radiation, pre and post surgical procedures, rehabilitation and maintaining wellness.

Welcer says among the many benefits of HT is that "any one can perform the work," whether you are a trained professional or a layman. She offers informational sessions to patients, family members and staff once a week on how it can be used in concert with medical treatments.

"Because this is heart-centered work you have to want to do this and not everyone does," said Welcer. "Not all the nurses on this unit are interested or comfortable with Healing Touch."

To date though, Welcer has offered basic Healing and Therapeutic Touch classes to staff members since July. Approximately one dozen employees have participated in the training and future classes are being planned. While two of the staff members have completed the Level I class and possess the basic skills to provide Healing Touch, Welcer said she will continue to collaboratively practice HT with staff members until they are fully comfortable working alone.

Healing and Therapeutic Touch also meet the intrinsic need humans have to be touched. The skin-to-skin contact has been shown to provide comfort, warmth and solace for an individual whether they are ailing or in good health.

Bertha Miller, a 79-year-old Wayne resident and patient at Oakwood Hospital, received a Healing Touch treatment while on the third floor unit where she was being treated for cancer.

"It was beautiful," said Miller. "It was peaceful and it felt so good."

Miller said she would recommend it to others both for the healing and calming effect the therapy provided. The Wayne senior, who was about to be transferred to Arbor Hospice in Washtenaw County, was hoping the therapy would be provided at the Ann Arbor hospice as part of her care.

"I would really like that. I loved it," said Miller.

Barb Welcer, RN, BSN and certified Healing Touch practitioner, can be reached for Healing Touch sessions at her in-studio home by calling (248) 348-7271. On special request she will provide treatments at the hospital or at your home. A reduced rate is offered to seniors.

BodyWorks focuses on mind, body connection

A growing practice in Plymouth's Old Village, founded on the concept of holistic healing, is meeting the needs of clients through neuromuscular therapy, cranio sacral therapy, Reiki, astrology, numerology and psychotherapy.

According to BodyWorks Healing Center owner, Pat Krajovic, the Plymouth business recently observed its first anniversary since the change in ownership from Heartlight.

"The services and retail products we offer support the natural healing process," said Krajovic. "There is an emphasis on caring for the body, mind and spirit through bodywork and not just traditional massage but the use of energy healing and spiritual interaction."

Krajovic, a certified massage therapist through the American Massage Therapy Association, took over the Plymouth business in 1998 from Heartlight owners who wanted someone who shared their vision and would be equally supportive to their loyal clientele.

"We continue to provide a safe and comfortable environment based on unconditional love without judgment," said Krajovic. "We have enhanced the retail product line and now include intuitive counseling, crystals, psychotherapy, chakra balancing, and we've expanded the bodywork modalities."

Krajovic and her husband David, who professes to "dabble" in a little bit of everything at BodyWorks from Bach Flower remedies to maintaining the financial aspect of the business, both say they are witnessing a "renewal" in peoples interest in the body, mind and spirit.

"This country is experiencing a spiritual revival," said David Krajovic. "People have this sense of emptiness in their life and they're starting to turn to other sources for answers. They're asking themselves what's missing? They want to some how reconnect with the earth and be in control of their well being."

Collaborative effort

Krajovic says the BodyWorks Healing Center can help them uncover what may be troubling them whether it's physically, emotionally or spiritually and provide them with the tools and guidance to heal.

That pretty blue gemstone set in gold on your right hand may be more than an accessory to your wardrobe, it could also be a healing aid that's working with your body's own magnetic field.

According to Pamela Zuch of BodyWorks Healing Center in Plymouth's Old Village, rocks and crystals are the tools she uses to help calm chaotic energy, promote healing, turn negative emotions into positive ones and induce inner peace among others.

"Stones and crystals have immeasurable powers to influence and enhance the healing process," said Zuch. "I wear a lot of them for their different effects, because I'm drawn to others and as a support buffer."

Zuch, a healer who refers to herself as "a Jill of all trades," also is knowledgeable in herbology, Tarot (learned from Alhambra Institute), Reiki, intuitive healing, psychometry and crystal healing. She's also certified in iridology (a belief that each area of the body is represented by a corresponding area in the iris of the eye — a person's health and disease status can be diag-

Healer uses astrology to empower, educate

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON

Did you know that the very moment you were born a virtual road map of your existence could already be charted that illustrates "the hand you've been dealt" in life? This blueprint is known as your birth or natal chart.

"Knowing how to interpret your birth chart arms you with the knowledge to help you steer your boat, so to speak, through life's uncharted waters," said Susan Austin. "And we all know — knowledge is power."

Austin, a metaphysical reader, has been working at BodyWorks Healing Center in Plymouth's Old Village since 1993 yet honing her psychic and astrological skills for the past 22 years. She said when she first began studying astrology in the late 1970s it wasn't as widely accepted as it is today.

"I got a lot of criticism and strange looks from people when I told them about what I did and what my interests were. People thought I was crazy," said Austin.

Having had visions as a child and a strong attraction to astrology, Austin says she uses her natural abilities to help people seek greater knowledge about themselves. She uses astrology, reads tarot and tarot cards, chakra scanning and intuitive healing and guidance.

"I basically help them troubleshoot," said Austin. "It's terribly difficult to be objective about ourselves. Lots of issues can get in the way, like our ego and our emotions. I don't predict events but I can interpret the natural cycles people are inclined to encounter and I know what areas to look out for."

Interpreting the signs

Astrology is based on a two-dimensional chart showing the position of the sun, the moon, and planets at the precise moment of your birth.

According to Austin, a skilled natural healer understands "what reflects back" from your birth chart and can help you comprehend lessons you have to learn, issues to be faced, and problems to be solved.

Austin says she can't force people to make changes — that's up to the individual and the choices they make once they possess the knowledge their birth chart holds.

"I can offer people the insight into why they may make the choices in life they do or behave a certain way, but to be perfectly honest there are no cut-and-dry answers that come from astrology. However, understanding where you're coming from will help you begin the healing process."

Austin says not only has the acceptance of her talents changed dramatically in the last two decades, but so has the way in which she's able to develop an individual's birth chart. Thanks to technology, Austin simply enters your birth date, day of the week, time of the day and year and a computer program provides a printout that Austin uses as a guide. In the past, she said everything was written out by hand and involved a great deal of mathematical calculations.

"One wrong number and the whole chart would be in error," said Austin.

The chart includes information about the sun and the moon and the planets in signs; the houses; planets in the houses (behavior influences) and your ascendant, or rising sign (impacts personality).

Austin does initial readings once she's developed your "blueprint" and each reading is recorded on cassette tape so the individual may refer to them later. Other readings typically follow.

Twelve houses

The 12 houses of the horoscope define 12 areas of your life. The beginning of each of the houses is called its cusp. Each house has what is called a natural ruling sign and natural ruling planets. That is the sign and planet associated with that house that begins with Aries and ends with Pisces.

The 12 areas of our life that are depicted include

Benchmark status

General Motors Corporation designated Health Alliance Plan (HAP) a "Benchmark" HMO for the salaried employees and retirees' health care program. HAP meets the highest quality, service and cost standards GM has for the HMO's it offers. HAP is one of only 13 premier GM Benchmark HMO's nationally, and Michigan's only Benchmark HMO for the year 2000.

"HAP commends General Motors' leadership in holding health plans accountable for customer satisfaction, value and quality," said HAP president and CEO Cleve L. Killingsworth. "The GM Medical Plan Guide enables consumers to make an informed choice among local health plans by sharing meaningful, comparative information during open enrollment. Achieving the GM 'Benchmark' standard reflects the high quality of HAP-affiliated physicians and employees and their dedication to excellence in quality health care and service."

HAP, with approximately 6,000 contracts, will be the largest GM Benchmark HMO in the country offered to their salaried employees.

"Now that HAP attained Benchmark status, the monthly contribution paid by GM salaried employees and retirees enrolling with HAP will be the lowest of any HMO offered. GM employees will appreciate the contribution advantage and will recognize the value implied by the 'Benchmark' designation," said Joan C. Rodney, regional director — Southeast Michigan Health Care Initiatives.

GM devoted considerable effort to ensure that health plans offered meet our expectations in terms of quality of care. We look forward to building on HAP's strengths to ensure an increasing level of health care quality, value and service offered through the HAP program."

Her colleague, Rob West, a certified massage therapist who previously taught at the Ann Arbor Institute of Massage Therapy, practices advanced structural neuromuscular therapy, of which he is certified in, as well as myofascial therapy, cranio sacral therapy, reflexology, and Reiki. His clients range from individuals suffering from a variety of ailments and injuries including trauma from a blow to the head, fall or accident; lower back pain, postural distortion, migraines, TMJ, and fibromyalgia to people seeking to maintain overall health and wellness.

West says he also receives referrals from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor primarily treating head and neck injury victims.

When treating chronic pain patients, West says it's a matter of treating not just the afflicted area but the "whole neurological system," in order to correct the distortion. "Muscles have memories," said West. The BodyWorks therapist says he and his client will work toward strengthening the injured muscle — not just manipulating the tissues and muscles.

Initially a complete history of the patient is taken including cranial measurements, past medical conditions, active diseases, prescription medication, prior injuries and symptoms. Then West and Krajovic work with their client toward addressing the physical and emotional issues they hope to resolve, and focus on helping the body learn to heal itself through their guidance.

"People want to gain control of their lives and are tired of feeling bad and living with pain. We offer natural healing options for them to shed all the emotional and physical baggage many of us carry around," said Krajovic. "We encourage people to come in and see what's here. Some people just stop in and spend a few minutes here because they say they feel better after they leave."

Jama Cuellar, a clairvoyant consultant, is also on staff at BodyWorks Healing Center. She began psychometry and clairvoyant readings in 1984. She reaches Tarot, ESP and conscious awareness classes.

Chakra system

Chakra One: Earth, physical identity, oriented to self-preservation

Located at the base of the spine, this chakra forms our foundation. It represents the element earth, and is therefore related to our survival instincts, and to our sense of grounding and connection to our bodies and the physical plane. Ideally this chakra brings us health, prosperity, security, and dynamic presence.

Chakra Two: Water, emotional identity, oriented to self-gratification

The second chakra, located in the abdomen, lower back, and sexual organs, is related to the element water, and to emotions and sexuality. It connects us to others through feeling, desire, sensation, and movement. Ideally this chakra brings us fluidity and grace, depth of feeling, sexual fulfillment, and the ability to accept change.

Chakra Three: Fire, ego identity, oriented to self-definition

This chakra is known as the power chakra, located in the solar plexus. It rules our personal power, will, and autonomy, as well as our metabolism. When healthy, this chakra brings us energy, effectiveness, spontaneity, and non-dominating power.

Chakra Four: Air, social identity, oriented to self-acceptance

This chakra is called the heart chakra and is the middle chakra in a system of seven. It is related to love and is the integrator of opposites in the psyche: mind and body, male and female, persona and shadow, ego and unity. A healthy fourth chakra allows us to love deeply, feel compassion, have a deep sense of peace and centeredness.

Chakra Five: Sound, creative identity, oriented to self-expression

This is the chakra located in the throat and is thus related to communication and creativity. Here we experience the world symbolically through vibration, such as the vibration of sound representing language.

Chakra Six: Light, archetypal identity, oriented to self-reflection

This chakra is known as the brow chakra or third eye center. It is related to the act of seeing, both physically and intuitively. As such it opens our psychic faculties and our understanding of archetypal levels. When healthy it allows us to see clearly, in effect, letting us "see the big picture."

Chakra Seven: Thought, Universal identity, oriented to self-knowledge

This is the crown chakra that relates to consciousness as pure awareness. It is our connection to the greater world beyond, to a timeless, spaceless place of all-knowing. When developed, this chakra brings us knowledge, wisdom, understanding, spiritual connection, and bliss.

nosed from the color, texture, and location of various pigment flecks in the eye).

Intrinsic value

Individual rocks and crystals have various healing powers and each of the seven chakra's in our body have their own healing stone. Chakra's are innate energy systems that correlate to a major nerve in our spinal column. Using the correct stone, the object is placed on the appropriate chakra to focus its energy to the area that needs healing.

Zuch says if she can't get a feeling for the kinds of rocks and crystals people need she'll often lay them out and ask the person to choose which ones they're drawn to, for whatever reason.

■ Zuch, a healer who refers to herself as 'a Jill of all trades,' also is knowledgeable in herbology, tarot (learned from Alhambra Institute), Reiki, intuitional healing, psychometry and crystal healing. She's also certified in iridology (a belief that each area of the body is represented by a corresponding area in the iris of the eye).

"The vibrational energy of the stones have a luring power unto themselves," said Zuch.

There are literally hundreds of different rocks, crystals and gemstones in existence. Listed below are a few, along with their natural healing powers:

■ Malachite: Cleanses the emotional body, releases old trauma of past lives.

■ Lapis lazuli: Cleanses the mental body, changes negative views of reality into positive ones.

■ Rose quartz: Promotes the healing heart through self love, self esteem and body image. Fosters inner peace.

■ Citrine: Useful to balance energy.

■ Green fluorite: Aids ability to meditate, brings healing to emotional body and heart chakra.

Zuch said crystals are more than ornamental accessories in our homes or articles that we wear as a trendy fashion statement. "Stones and rocks are natural objects that emit their own electrical frequencies. It's important for people to know the healing powers they possess and use them appropriately."

If you would like to meet with Pamela Zuch, contact Body Works Healing Center of Plymouth at (734) 416-5200. She teaches classes in Tarot and in the use of crystals in healing.

Retailers worry over Internet, e-commerce boom

MIKE WENDLAND

The e-commerce shopping season officially starts Friday, right along with the regular retail season. But already, signs are strong that this year, shopping online may actually start to put a dent in some traditional store shopping.

"You owe a loyalty to your local retailer," read an angry e-mail I received this past week from a merchant whose store in an Oakland County suburb's "downtown" is fairly well known. "Every time you promote shopping online, you're shooting us in the back and causing prices to rise."

I'm not promoting anything. But I'd sure be remiss if I didn't point out what's happening out there in cyberspace.

For the past two weeks, so many people have logged onto the huge Toys R Us Web site (www.toysrus.com) that, if you do get through, you're greeted with this message:

"...we have been getting millions of visitors to our Web site over the last few days. Right now, we are processing thousands of new orders every hour! Because of the high demand, we are at full guest capacity and are therefore currently unable to process your request to enter our site right now."

And the real season has yet to start.

Last week, according to a survey commissioned by the investment banking firm Goldman Sachs, Internet shoppers spent $222 million. Just last week, that's up $21 million over the week before. And, according to the survey, the vast majority of those who bought online said their spending had nothing to do with holiday shopping. That, they said, was yet to come.

Last year, some $3.1 billion was spent online during the holiday season. This year, estimates range from $10 billion to $12 billion.

Cameron Meierhofer is an online analyst for PC Data Online. He told Cnet News (www.cnet.com) that the data doesn't suggest that brick and mortar retail stores will be completely neglected. Indeed, while 90 percent of those online shoppers polled said they immensely enjoy Internet shopping, 60 percent of them still intend to buy their gifts from real stores.

But the trend is clear. Retailers will feel the competition from e-commerce. "Each week [Internet shoppers] spend a little more time online," Meierhofer says.

Meierhofer isn't alone.

"Books, CDs, and computer sales are still the drivers, but apparel is the fastest growing segment," says Brett Azuma, vice president for electronic business at DataQuest, a unit of Gartner Group (www.info-edge.com/gartner.htm).

Shop till you drop

Azuma says the growth rate simply shows no sign of tapering off. "This is not a niche market; this is not an emerging market; this has become a mainstream market," he contends.

Jupiter Communications (www.jup.com) is another online marketing firm that is trying to chart this trend. Jupiter predicts that there will be 10 million new online buyers this holiday season. Those shoppers will be spending more — from $412 per person last year to $919 in 2003.

Allen Weiner, a vice president for Nielsen/Net Ratings, says his company has started a special Internet holiday e-commerce index. "We anticipated that shopping would start earlier this year, but not this early."

Convenience is cited over and over as the main reason folks buy online. People like clicking a mouse instead of hoofing it through a mall.

And the so-called "dot-com" folks are also undoubtedly helped along by a blitz of advertising. I watched the Lions game the other day on TV and was amazed to note that during one commercial break, literally every advertiser was an Internet shopping site. This coming Tuesday, I'll be in New York doing a coast-to-coast satellite TV tour, reporting for more than a dozen stations from California to New York about the coming online shopping season.

Everyone, it seems, is ecstatic over e-commerce.

Except most retailers. And the U.S. Conference of Mayors and the National Governors' Association.

Last week leaders from both groups called for taxes to be collected on all those billions being spent online. All the paranoia and hand wringing is going to increase as the Net becomes still more pervasive. The smart retailers, of course, will realize that there is still a need to physically inspect the things we buy, to try them on, kick the tires, smell the perfume, look at the jewelry sparkle. And they'll figure how the Internet can be used to turn Net surfers into face-to-face buyers.

So the smart ones will open up their own Web sites to showcase their wares and attract the eyeballs of Net surfers. A good example: The Toy Soldier and Doll Hospital in Berkley (www.toyshoppe.com).

Jack Zagrodzki, vice president of marketing, has put together a very creative and compelling Web site that showcases the store's emphasis on non-violent, old-fashioned toys, classic playthings and learning aids.

"We decided to move forward with technology," Zagrodzki wrote me in an e-mail. "The Internet is not going away."

Instead of finding the Internet a threat, Zagrodzki has found it to be a great opportunity. While his store's Web site builds loyalty and strong relations with local customers, it opens up the store to a worldwide audience, who never would have heard of the place were it not online. And online, it's of course open 7-by-24.

This shopping season will be pivotal, I predict, in the Internet's evolution. Online shopping will truly mainstream this year.

And, I also predict, the response of retailers to this trend ... as a threat or an opportunity ... will seal their fate within a few years.

What do you think? How has the Internet impacted your shopping habits? E-mail your response to me. And also send along Web sites from local retailers you think have done a good job using the Internet to draw people to their bricks and mortar stores.

Mike Wendland reports about computers and the Internet for NBC television stations coast-to-coast. His radio show is heard every weekend on TalkRadio 1270. WXYT. You can reach Mike through his Web site at www.pcmike.com.

Dentistry in the 90s

by Herbert M. Gardner, D.D.S.

LEFT HIGH AND DRY?

Dry mouth is a common symptom before, during and after menopause and a side effect associated with more than 400 medications. As such, it poses a problem for many people. According to researchers at the School of Dentistry at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, older adults with reduced saliva flow were about 50% more likely to have at least one tooth during the course of the study than those with normal flow. The fact is that saliva helps to significantly reduce the risk of cavities by neutralizing acid in the mouth and removing germs and food residue. It also helps provide a mineral barrier that protects the tooth's surface. If dry mouth is a problem, your dentist can help.

Depression rates higher in seniors with macular degeneration

Seniors with vision loss from an eye condition called macular degeneration are depressed at up to 25 times the rate of their peers with normal vision, according to a new study by the Henry Ford Health System Visual Rehabilitation and Research Center. The rate of depression is higher than reported by seniors for any other disease.

Widespread, undiagnosed depression among seniors with vision loss is emerging as a critical problem with enormous consequences for overall health and well being, said ophthalmologist Lylas Mogk, M.D., who led the study. Loss of vision profoundly impacts day-to-day activities seniors perform, compromising the ability to function at home, in the community and with a spouse and family.

Macular degeneration is the largest cause of vision loss in America and affects more people than glaucoma, cataracts and diabetic eye disease combined. It strikes silently and painlessly, dismantling central vision but leaving peripheral vision intact. Its invisible to other people, so often little empathy and help is offered, Mogk said.

The study will be recently presented at the annual conference of the Gerontological Society of America in San Francisco, Calif. Mogk screened 159 new macular degeneration patients over the age of 65 using the Geriatric Depression Scale and Activities of Daily Living index. Results showed that:

- nearly 30 percent were depressed (compared to a 2.5 percent depression rate in seniors with normal vision);
- an additional 35 percent were probably depressed;
- patients who could do most daily activities were the least depressed; and,
- only five patients had previously been identified as depressed before the screening.

Mogk said ophthalmologists and geriatricians need to be aware of the psychological impact of macular degeneration. Doctors often don't realize the emotional devastation caused by saying, "You have macular degeneration. You will never go completely blind, so just stop driving and you'll be fine."

We need to offer patients resources and referrals for rehabilitation, support groups and counseling, Mogk said. The key is to help people master the skills to live fully in spite of vision loss.

As director of the Visual Rehabilitation and Research Center,

Mogk has established the only home-based visual rehabilitation program in Michigan. An occupational therapist, who also is a specialist in orientation and mobility for the visually impaired, trains patients to use peripheral vision, master magnifying devices, optimize lighting and contrast and control glare.

Modifications such as large-numbered phones, clear markings on thermostats and stove dials, and large print checks and phone books are used to help create a safe and user-friendly home.

Henry Ford Health Systems Visual Rehabilitation and Research Center is located in Grosse Pointe Park, Mich.

Mogk and her daughter Marja have written a book, "Macular Degeneration: The Complete Guide to Saving and Maximizing Your Sight" (Ballantine Books, 1999). It is considered the first book to simply explain the condition and offer a home visual rehabilitation program. The book has been endorsed by more than twenty leaders in the field of ophthalmology. Mogk also has a unique perspective on the subject because her father has been living with macular degeneration for more than fifteen years.
