Westland 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos is reluctantly ending a judicial career that started in 1992.

'This is like a home to me'

'A natural for job,' Bokos prepares to retire as district court judge

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Had he listened to his father, C. Charles Bokos might have missed his calling to become a Westland 18th District Court judge.

His father, George, had good intentions when he convinced him to study pre-dentistry at Wayne State University, but "I hated every minute of it,"

Bokos said.

The day Bokos walked into a comparative anatomy lab class to dissect a cat's brain, he knew he had to switch career paths. He talked to a department head who asked him what his dream was, and he surprised even himself when he blurted out that he wanted to study law.

It's a decision he has never regretted, even though he was blocked from seeking re-election this year because he reached the state-imposed maximum age of 70 in October.

"I felt like I was sort of a natural for this job," Bokos said, sitting in his office and reflecting on a judicial career that began in 1992. "This is like a home to me, this court. I'm very sad about having to leave. I'm having a difficult time."

MOSTLY GOOD TIMES

Bokos' journey has been an incredible one, marked mostly by rewards with a few disappointments tossed in. Although he will retire this month, he can return from time to time to work as a visiting judge.

Bokos grew up in Detroit, the oldest of three children born to Greek immigrants George and

1st defendant in shootout pleads guilty

3 men face trial in January

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

One of four defendants has pleaded guilty to charges stemming from an Aug. 12 cocaine sting that erupted in gunfire outside a Westland shopping center, and a trial has been set in January for the other three men, authorities confirmed.

Reed

Roberto Debert Reed, 32, of Detroit is facing his sentencing on Jan. 23 in Wayne County Circuit Court after pleading guilty to charges of felony firearm, conspiracy to commit armed robbery, and possession of more than 1,000 grams of a controlled substance, Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Maria Miller said.

Reed is accused of driving alleged gunman Benjamin Bernard Pringle, 32, of Detroit to the scene outside Bob's of Canton-Westland, a market near Warren and Merriman where police said the defendants intended to rob a Romulus police drug informant of $60,000 in cocaine.

Miller didn't say how much prison time Reed is expected to get when he is sentenced by Wayne County Circuit Judge Michael Hathaway for his role in a drug sting-turned-shootout that left 28-year-old suspect Brian Thomas of Detroit dead. Pringle also was shot, but he survived.

The shootout stunned workers and residents near the shopping center and sparked criticism from some Westland city officials, who questioned the decision by undercover Romulus police to carry out an afternoon drug sting outside a busy shopping center.

Pringle is facing trial on Jan. 12 along with defendants Joseph George Boldizar, 50, of Garden City and Demond Nigel Sanders, 29, of Detroit.

Pringle, Boldizar and Sanders are facing trial on multiple robbery and drug charges. Pringle, who was an accused gunman along with slain suspect Thomas, has additional charges involving four counts of assault with intent to murder, four counts of felonious assault, felony firearms and being a felon with a gun.

If convicted, the defendants could face penalties ranging up to life in prison.

WW board hears 'positive things' about school improvements

BY SUE MASON
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Glenda Verdon went before the Wayne-Westland school board last week to say thank you. A mother, a grandmother and an educator, the Canton resident spoke about the positive things going on the school district in light of an attempted recall of two board members.

"As an educator and a consultant I have been in a lot of schools in Wayne County. I've seen aging buildings, with leaky roofs and a media center where the newest books are 10 years old," she said. "But not here. The schools are clean, well lit, something kids can feel good about being in school."

Verdon added that her son and daughter were both well-prepared for college by their teachers and administrators and that she can see that her granddaughter, a fifth-grader, is getting a quality education.

"In the midst of all things going around, we need to notice the very positive things going on in this district," she said. "Thank you to all of you."

Joining Verdon in voicing support for improvements that have been in school buildings and athletic fields were former John Glenn football coach Chuck Gordon, who lived in Westland and had two children graduate from John Glenn High School, and Wayne Memorial High School Principal Valerie Orr, a Wayne resident and Wayne Memorial graduate. The improvements, funded by the 1998 bond issue and sinking fund money have come under attack by angry parents who have said that the money could have been better used in the classroom than in new field houses and Astroturf fields.

Orr told the school board it was disheartening to hear negative comments about upgrading facilities, the addition of a new gymnasium and new technology.

"We share three gyms with three boys basketball teams, three girls basketball teams, three competitive cheer teams, our JROTC Raiders, a step team and many other organizations," she said. "If our kids didn't have these gyms, we wouldn't have a Raider team that's second in the nation."

Orr also questioned why her students shouldn't have facilities that students in districts like West Bloomfield, Novi and Northville have.

"If you have an issue, I encourage you to stand with my kids and tell them why they don't deserve facilities like they have in Novi and Northville," she said. "They deserve it."

Gordon also defended the improvements.

"We had to bailout the kids," said Gordon who served on the bond committee. "The money wasn't misspent, the opposite occurred. The entire district was upgraded."

"I admire the board and Dr. (Greg) Baracy for having the vision of giving our kids the best facilities and environment they can. Our kids deserve the best we can give them period."

Brandi Smith who has been among parents questioning the school district's spending, agreed that students deserve good things, but said the focus should be on what's important. For her, it's the education of her children, she said.

"That's where the focus has been lost," Smith added. "Parents don't feel the kids don't deserve the best. The money could be used for books, papers and pens."

Burek tapped as Stevenson principal

A familiar face will be at the helm of Stevenson Middle School following the appointment of Scott Burek as principal.

Burek has been the assistant principal at the Westland middle school since 2002 and interim principal since October when Ginny O'Brien decided to retire.

"I look forward to working with the parents, the staff and the students at Stevenson and like our sign says, it's a pleasant place to learn and grow," said Burek, a Canton resident.

Burek received his bachelor of arts and master's degrees from the University of Michigan-Dearborn and his educational specialist degree from Oakland University.

He was a teacher and administrative intern at Fitzgerald High School and a summer camp director in West Bloomfield before joining the Wayne-Westland Community Schools as an assistant principal.

"Welcome to your new job, I'm sure you'll do a great job," school board Vice President Skip Monit said. "It's nice to see we can continue to promote from within."

Change, for better or worse

Local producer creates new dramatic series

BY REBECCA JONES
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

"Your life's about to change," says The Blind Man to Nolan Stokes in the pilot episode of New Directions, a dramatic series filmed in and around Detroit and being shopped to networks.

It's about a clandestine life makeover program that uses divining methods such as tarot cards, dice or a flip of a coin to determine where a person's life needs to go.

"It could be good, could be bad," said writer Michael Davis of Detroit.

"They make that come true no matter what," said executive producer Matthew Peach, of Livonia. And the results are filmed for the benefit of an Internet viewing audience.

The pilot episode, "The Makeover," was shown at a screening party Saturday at the Museum of Contemporary Art

"His life kind of sucks," Rasnick said. When his friend recommends him for a life makeover, Nolan meets The Blind Man (David Durham of Garden City), who warns of trouble ahead.

Other local actors in the cast include Jordan Brun of Canton, and Mary Gibbs of Redford. Mike Madigan of Troy is the director.

Davis and his writing partner T.J. Suliot of Mount Clemens created the series and have finished scripts for the entire first season, should the show be picked up. The Blind Man's motives are revealed, and other characters meet their fate, which is sometimes good, but more often creepy.

"It's a conspiracy theorist's dream," Rasnick said. The pilot received great feedback at a screening in Royal Oak this summer, said Peach. His next step is to take "The Makeover" episode to New York for meetings with network executives.

"If we find someone who is really interested, that's great. If not, the Internet is a powerful tool. We'll be moving forward on our own," he said.

Pre-production work on future episodes is underway. "We're going to keep rolling," Davis said. "There's a lot of talent here."

Angeliki Bokus. He graduated from Redford High School and then attended Wayne State, where he received his law degree. He was in college when he met Hilda, his wife of 48 years and a retired school-teacher.

"I proposed to her seven days after we met," Bokus said, and they now have three adult children and seven grandchildren.

Bokus began a law practice in Detroit and later moved to Garden City, and the firm included current Westland City Attorney Angelo Plakas. In the 1970s, Bokus said his clients included then-fledgling police unions from cities like Westland, Livonia, Redford and Wayne.

Bokus was hired as Westland's city attorney when former Mayor Tom Taylor took office in January 1976, and he held the job until then-Gov. John Engler appointed him to replace retiring 18th District Judge Thomas Smith in 1992. It was when Bokus left his city post that Plakas came on board.

Bokus won over voters as a judge, and in three elections they cast ballots to keep him in office. Reflecting on his judicial career, he had nothing but kind words for court workers and two judges with whom he has worked, retiree Gail McKnight and current Judge Sandra Ference Cicirelli.

Bokus will be replaced in January by new Judge Mark McConnell, for whom Bokus has had high praise.

"This is a wonderful place to work," Bokus said, leaning back in his office chair. "The staff is incredible."

'BEST BOSS'

His court recorder and secretary, Carla Franceschi, has worked for him since 1980, dating back to when he had the law firm.

"He's the greatest," she said. "He's the best boss anyone could ever have."

David Wiacek, district court administrator turned magistrate, agreed. "He's like a duck in water," Wiacek said. "He's the perfect guy for the job. We're going to miss him."

Bokus fondly remembers letters he has received from once-troubled people who told him that his court orders as a judge helped them kick alcohol and drug habits. He also said he has been proud of his association with the Westland Police Department.

One of his biggest regrets as judge came when he ordered a murder defendant to stand trial for killing a girlfriend who was bitten and stabbed. He relied on flawed testimony from a doctor, but the defendant was freed after spending nine months in jail.

"He lost his job and his house," Bokus said. "That case bothered me for a long time."

Bokus has helped send real murderers, child molesters, armed robbers and numerous other criminals to prison by ordering them to stand trial, and he also has handled misdemeanor crimes, civil cases, landlord-tenant disputes and small claims. Anyone sitting in his courtroom has noticed that he had treated everyone with respect and dignity, no matter what their situation.

"I've tried to treat everybody the way I would want to be treated," he said.

Bokus and his wife will spend some time here and some at their Florida home, and he looks forward to being a visiting judge.

He certainly has no regrets for not becoming a dentist. Other than being a judge, Bokus can think of only one career he might have liked.

"The only thing I would have wanted to do is play third base for the (New York) Yankees, but that wasn't going to happen," he said. "I like what I do, and this community has been good to me."

"There's definitely a need for it," Kollinger said. "We very much appreciate it," Rutledge-Clarke added.

Black noted the displays are by checkout lanes, drawing shoppers' eyes. "I think everybody realizes it's a tough economy," he said.

Holiday gift giving

The holidays are upon us! Pressure is building to create the best possible holiday experience for our families. Whether you celebrate Christmas, Hanukkah, Kwanzaa or another type of winter holiday, you may still be looking for a few special presents.

Although there are many theories as to when traditional holiday gift giving began, many authorities say that it dates back to ancient Roman times when gifts were given in honor of winter solstice. Originally, evergreen branches were a typical gift. Later, honey and cakes were given to symbolize prosperity and sweetness in the coming year. My how times have changed!

Whether you are looking for traditional or novel gift ideas, you can count on the library to have books to help you! "The Perfect Present," by Robyn Freedman Spizman, suggests creating a scrapbook of family traditions for children of any age in your family. Include favorite recipes, stories about family traditions and how they began and holiday photos from previous years. "1,001 Great Gifts," by Sheldon, says older adults may enjoy ballroom dancing lessons or a membership in a fitness club.

How about adopting an animal at the Detroit Zoo (www.detroitzoo.org) in the name of a friend or relative? Or go to the National Wildlife Federation Web site (www.nwf.org), where you can adopt an animal, or adopt a wildlife acre in someone's honor. These adoptions usually include stuffed animals and other perks. For the reader who has everything, consider donating a book to the library in their honor. A personalized nameplate will be inserted in the front of the book. Maybe you are just looking for a quick, last-minute idea. Books, such as "Great Gifts You Can Make in Minutes," by Beth Franks, "Last Minute Christmas Gifts," by Carol Taylor, and "Great Gifts: Toast the Host" offer hundreds of novel gift ideas.

The William P. Faust Public Library of Westland is here to serve your informational, educational and recreational needs. Visit us often at 6123 Central City Parkway, call us at (734) 326-6123, or visit our Web site at www.westland.lib.mi.us.

Faas takes lead of organization in charge of cleaning up Rouge

BY KURT KUBAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Few people are as knowledgeable about the Rouge River and the ills that plague it as Tim Faas.

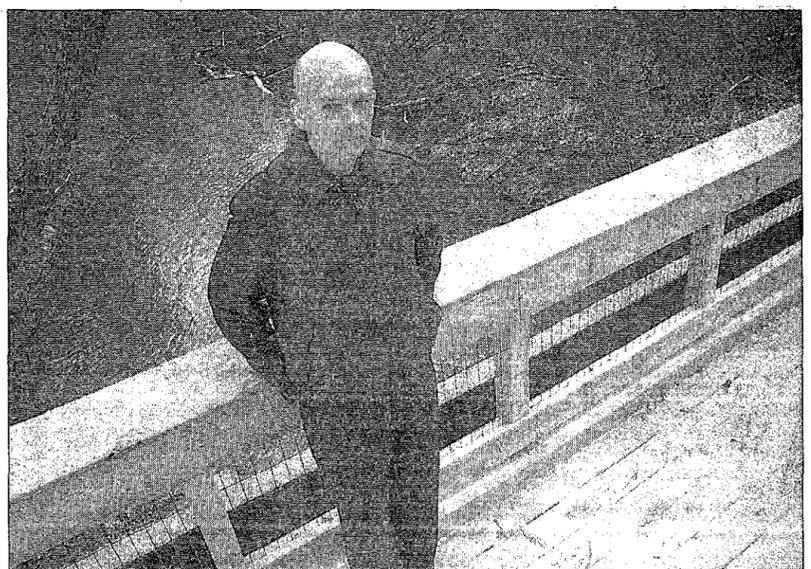

As director of municipal services for Canton Township, Faas knows firsthand about the efforts that have been made by Rouge communities to clean up the waterway, and how much more needs to be done to return it to a safe recreational resource that allows fishing and even swimming.

Faas, who lives in Farmington Hills with his wife Ceri, was recently elected to a two-year term as chair of the Alliance of Rouge Communities (ARC), an organization formed in 2006 by dozens of communities within the Rouge River watershed to help restore the river and to comply with federal clean water requirements.

Faas will chair his first full meeting when the ARC meets on Tuesday in Novi.

Faas is assuming the job of chairman at an interesting time for Alliance, which has a membership that includes about 40 communities, and several counties. Currently the ARC is in a legal dispute with the Michigan Department of Environment over new requirements for storm water management plans, which each community has to file with the state to show that it is complying with federal water quality regulations.

According to Faas, most of the ARC communities believe the new requirements are too costly, because they will force communities to do much more water sampling of storm water

Tim Faas, Canton's director of municipal services, is the new chair of the Alliance of Rouge Communities (ARC), which is in charge of improving the Rouge River.

ARC MEETING

What: The Alliance of Rouge Communities public meeting
When: 2-4 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 16
Where: Novi Civic Center, The Gateway and Events Room of the Parks, Recreation and Forestry Quarter, 45175 W. 10 Mile Road, Novi discharges into the river than is currently required.

"The ARC position is we've been doing a very good job with our monitoring program, better than the rest of the state. This will be very costly to our communities," Faas said.

The fight with the DEQ will be a topic that will be discussed at Tuesday's meeting, Faas said.

Faas, 47, grew up in southwest Ontario, Canada. He worked for the city of Windsor for about a decade as assistant director of the public works department. He came to Michigan for a job opportunity, and became the director of operations for the Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA). From there, Faas became the director of Municipal Services for Canton.

In addition to trying to get the state to ease its position, Faas says he has two major goals for the ARC during his tenure as chairman. First, he wants people to learn about the organization and realize it has real value. He says ARC is important for its member communities, because it helps them meet federal mandates like water quality monitoring and public education — programs that would be much more costly for individual communities without the pooled resources of the ARC, which has a $749,559 budget for 2009.

"Beyond the overall improvement to the watershed that we have seen because of the work we've done, the Alliance is a way for the communities to pool resources and at the lowest cost to comply with water quality requirements," Faas said.

His other hope is to help find secure funding for the ARC, from grants, corporations, and even individuals. He believes if ARC is successful proving its value, then the second part of the equation will be much easier.

"We have so much real data to show how much the watershed has improved," Faas said. "In Canton in particular, the Lower Rouge has gone from one of the worst in terms of water quality to one of the best."

Schoolcraft students create a sweet downtown

Third place winner Tina Czarney and Lisa Chin's construction La Saison in the Gingerbread Village display at Schoolcraft College.

The theme of this year's Gingerbread Village at Schoolcraft College is "Downtown." Students in the Culinary Arts Program have created a delectable vision of the city with such landmarks as Comerica Park and Macy's in sweet gingerbread.

The creations also include some imaginative buildings that only exist in the students' imaginations. The buildings include intricate details of fruits and vegetables, baked items, Scrooge and a snowman all down in candy and spun sugar.

And it's all edible, except for the gas lamp lighting system.

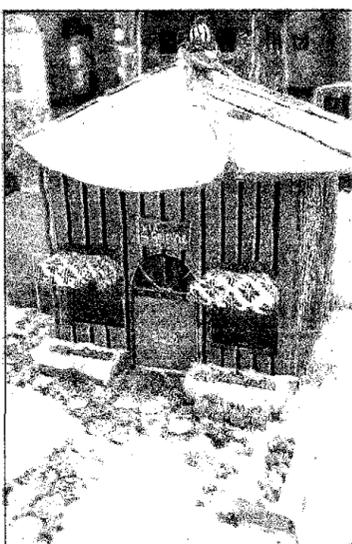

The 16 buildings were created by 30 students working individually and in groups. It will be on display at Schoolcraft's VisTaTech Center until 5 p.m. Friday, Dec. 19, and is open to the public.

A panel selected four buildings for special recognition.

First place was awarded to Rudeepan Wattanapat of Plymouth for North Star Gallery.

Second place was awarded to Gabrielle Todd of Jackson for Epicurie and to Laura Camacho-Arguello of Dearborn and team mate Nancy Mechler of Brighton for Old Town Bakery.

Third place was awarded to La Saison by Tina Czarney of Allen Park of Allen Park and Lisa Chin of Canton.

Schoolcraft creates new Transitions Center

BY HUGH GALLAGHER
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College is now one of four programs within a new Transitions Center.

College officials say the change is to serve students and the community better but some longtime WRC advisory board members aren't happy with the change and how it was presented.

A meeting was held Tuesday at Schoolcraft to introduce the change. The Transitions Center, under director Stacey Stover, incorporates the Women Resource Center, Adult Student Services, Family Resources and Student Engagement Programs.

"We're excited about this, providing opportunities to more students and growing services to students and the community," Stover said.

Stover replaced Nancy Swanborg as director of the Women's Resource Center in July.

"This is an expansion of services. Services are continuing," Stover said. "It meets the needs of the community."

Laura Callow of Livonia has been an advisory board member since 1970, when the WRC was founded. She said the changes have been in the works since September.

"All the trappings of the Women's Resource Center were stripped, a quilt, pictures, plants. People could no longer refer to it as the Women's Resource Center but only as WRC," she said.

She said Schoolcraft President Conway Jeffress was concerned that a center for women at the college might be a violation of Proposal 2, the anti-affirmative action amendment approved by voters in 2006.

But Beth Allen of Farmington Hills, who has been on the WRC advisory board for 18 years, said the center has always welcomed and assisted men.

"It was called the Women's Resource Center because that's where most of the efforts were," Allen said.

Stover emphasizes that the change will not eliminate any of the services now offered. Allen and Callow say they understand that the services will continue.

The Women's Resource Center includes a Divorce Support Group, programs to help women in transition and help with economic independence. Adult Student Services offers financial planning, income tax assistance, a workers in transition program and help for adult students. Family Resources offers campus recruiting information and a Web site for families and parents. Student Engagement sponsors a women's history month program, helps with student schedules, and a high school to college transition program.

Allen said what many on the advisory board are concerned about is that the WRC won't have a separate identity and that many of the women who have come for assistance won't feel as comfortable under the new arrangement.

She said many women come in emotionally upset but through counseling are able to become economically self-sufficient.

"Many of us believe that with the changes you won't see that anymore," she said.

But Stover said she knows the history of the WRC is important and that it will continue under the new arrangement.

"One thing that was done well under the Women's Resource Center was the ability to work one on one, to sit down with students and work with someone," she said.

She said the program has "as wonderful base" of 48 volunteers who will continue their work.

"They are empathetic and knowledgeable," she said.

Another tradition that will continue is the annual WRC Spaghetti Dinner, which has raised scholarship money for adult students. Stover said the dinner will continue and funds raised will go to the Transitions Center.

The date scheduled is March 17, 2009.

Winter dark covers a world of wildlife

Winter Dark. It never really takes me by surprise. But it does send me inside early. I adjust and have come to realize that it's the near frantic scurrying of black walnut-hauling red squirrels, the huddling of chickadees against the wind and the sudden cessation of dripping icicles that warms me. I have about 30 minutes to finish outdoor task.

So it is with winter dark, a more powerful warning than a ticking watch. I head in with a few oak logs for the night fire about the same time deer cautiously head uphill from their woodland edge beds of pine needles.

Winter Dark. The time of the owl, the fox and the coyote. The time for the occasional rifle shot like crack of a frozen tree "explosion." One night soon the mysterious throaty groans of nearby lake ice join the dark noises. Winter dark is the time to wonder on the ways of nature and man as ranting winds rattle windows on my old hilltop home and send the occasional puff of smoke back drafting from the wood stove.

I may feel frustration these moments can be hard to share, but I find more pleasure in their peaceful solitude than the more common human trait in my small town of heading out or a drink or two. And I know that winter dark is followed by the sparkle of dawn, frosted windows and a new world of discovery laced with snow. Fresh snow sets the stage for discovery. More often than not those discoveries are found along the edge of my cross country ski tracks.

Technical books on winter wildlife seldom mention the tiny intricacies that seem so obvious on a slow paced solitary ski sojourn. Perhaps it is because those writers are cloistered indoors and work from established facts rather than direct personal observations. Chickadees: We all know they huddle a bit against the wind. But look at them closely down among the dogwood thicket and some observations are quickly noted — their huddling is not random. Random behavior is not the way of successful winter survival. The chickadees huddle low and face into the wind. A trait that seems to be shared by most small winter "feeder birds." I can only surmise it is to keep the cold winds of winter dark from blowing up under their layers of insulating feathers.

Dawn, with her almost imperceptible slowness wakens the sleeping earth as I push on along the tree line. Crows call. A startled rabbit bursts into flight and then freezes to "disappear." If I was a hunter it would be his end. And as the first clear rays of sunshine warm my cheek and soak the feathers of huddled chickadees, I ski over small logs that hide tiny earth-covered wood frogs, amphibians frozen into a comatose state of ice laden biomass until their time of spring. I enter the backwoods swamp, a place where winter dark's hand gives us a clear sense of time and place. I smile recognizing that if it was not for the slowing of the pace brought on by winter dark, the eye would not see and the mind would not absorb the subtleties of wilder mysteries, a world that on this dawn includes the painfully slow trek of an inquisitive young opossum with frost nipped ears and a dragging bent tail.

Holocaust Memorial founder was 'selfless'

BY SARA CALLENDER
ECCENTRIC STAFF WRITER

Rabbi Charles Rosenzweig turned his personal tragedy into messages of tolerance and understanding.

Rosenzweig, whose family was killed by the Nazis, later created Holocaust memorial centers in West Bloomfield and Farmington Hills. He died Thursday of heart failure at Royal Oak Beaumont Hospital.

Because his personal documents were destroyed in the Holocaust, Rosenzweig — who lived in Southfield — didn't know how old he was. Estimates range from 80 to 88.

"He was a selfless man who worked tirelessly to bring the knowledge and the tragedy of the Holocaust to many," said Alan Zekelman, a member of the board of the Holocaust center. "He knew that the only way to prevent hatred and genocide was to educate people about them."

Born in Ostrovitz, Poland, Rosenzweig immigrated to the United States in 1947, after his parents, brother and one of his two sisters and all of his aunts, uncles and cousins were killed.

Rosenzweig was ordained at Yeshiva University in New York in 1951. He served as rabbi at Congregation Mt. Sinai in Port Huron from 1953 to 1993.

His passion was creating a permanent memorial to Holocaust victims and teaching the importance of tolerance.

Burial will take place in Israel. Memorial contributions can be sent to the Holocaust Center, 28123 Orchard Lake Road, Farmington Hills 48334.

An exceptional home-like setting for Active/Alert, Memory Impaired, Frail/Recovering and Alzheimer's residents.

Some insurance agents know their products, others just salesmen

Money Matters
Rick Bloom

Dear Rick: I need to purchase some life insurance. After listening to your radio show, I decided to buy term life insurance. I contacted a friend of mine who sells life insurance and he gave me a bid. I went online and was able to find a policy with same terms that was considerably cheaper. Both of the companies are AAA rated. Is there any reason why I shouldn't buy the one online?

Congratulations for shopping around and getting competitive bids. I don't have a problem with buying life insurance online particularly term where the policies are straightforward and easy to understand. The money you save looks better in your pocket than it does anywhere else.

As far as I am concerned there are two types of insurance agents those who are salespeople and those that understand their policies and the workings of insurance and client needs.

Those who are salespeople only don't understand the policies they sell nor do they understand individual needs. All they want to do is sell. These people provide no value to you so there is no reason to deal with them.

There are agents who understand complex insurance needs and they are able to guide you to select the right policy for your situation. These individuals bring value to the process.

One of the reasons I like term insurance is because the policy provisions are easy to understand — you're buying insurance for a period of time and if you pass on during that period of time, your beneficiaries collect on the policy. In most situations, I recommend term insurance because it fills a need and is cost effective. If you are considering term insurance, get competitive bids and remember, the Internet is a great resource.

Dear Rick: I want to take some losses by selling some good funds but I don't want to be out of the market. How can one find good comparable funds to replace those when making sales for tax losses? I want to sell Vanguard Explorer, Vanguard Wellington, Dodge & Cox International and Selected America. I never see this specific issue addressed. What do you suggest?

The real issue is to not violate the wash sale rule which says if you sell an investment with a loss, you cannot buy that same fund back within 30 days. If you purchase the same fund within 30 days, then you cannot take the loss for tax purposes. That does not mean that you cannot buy back a similar fund because you can. For example, if you are in a balanced fund and you sell that fund, you can immediately buy back another balanced fund without violating the wash sale rule.

In your situation, I like all the funds you are selling. Although, they've all had a difficult time of late, they are all good funds. Therefore, there are a couple things that you can do. You can sell the existing funds that you're in and then reinvest the money into an index fund for that category, hold the index fund for over 30 days, then sell them and re-buy the same funds you have sold. This would allow you to still deduct your losses for tax purposes and remain invested. Therefore, if the market does have a short-term run you'd be in a position to benefit from it.

In your situation, the index fund that you can use to substitute for the Vanguard Explorer will be the Vanguard Small Cap Index. A substitute index fund for the Vanguard Wellington would be the Vanguard Index Balanced Fund, a substitute for the Dodge & Cox International would be the Vanguard Index International, and a substitute for the selected American Shares Fund would be the Vanguard Index 500 Fund.

Another strategy as opposed to using the index fund is just to buy some very good similar funds. In that case, I'd consider the Baron Small Cap Fund as a replacement for the Vanguard Explorer. Instead of Vanguard Wellington, the Dodge & Cox Balanced Fund would be an excellent substitute. To replace the Dodge & Cox International, you could use the Vanguard International Value Fund, while replacing the Selected American Shares with the Dodge & Cox Stock Fund.

I believe you never want to let the tax tail wag the dog. In other words, you don't want to do anything for tax reasons and tax reasons alone. However, if you can do something that makes sense economically and it saves you on taxes, then that is a strategy worth pursuing.

Sheila Cockrel has message of city-suburb cooperation

BY JULIE BROWN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Sheila Cockrel

Detroit Councilwoman Sheila Cockrel, like many, is concerned about the future of the U.S. auto industry.

Cockrel envisions a future without three domestic auto companies, and notes there will be huge consequences for housing, government structure and others.

She told Westland Rotarians "the vilification of the titans of the automotive industry" in Washington, D.C., was uncalled for. Cockrel, speaking Thursday, Dec. 11, to Rotary at the Wayne-Westland Salvation Army, urged her listeners to take up the cause of city-suburban-cooperation.

"We really are all in the same boat," the councilwoman said, adding that there are divisions between black and white, white collar and blue collar, and city and suburban dwellers.

"We've made division an art form," she said, decrying the "travesty that's been going on in Washington, D.C. We're all Detroit and we're not on the cutting edge of history in the minds of a lot of folks."

She reminded her audience of the auto industry's quick retooling as World War II hit home, with Detroit as the arsenal of democracy. "People do have short memories. It will outdo in my opinion what we saw in the Great Depression," if the auto industry goes under, she said.

Cockrel, who brought greetings from the council and her stepson, Detroit Mayor Ken Cockrel Jr., said metro residents need to figure out how to respond to current challenges.

"We really have to rethink who we are and what our future's going to be," she said.

That means a focus on education, which Cockrel considers second only to public safety in city services. Young people also must be able to compete in the global economy.

"We're not competitive, we have to change that," she said.

She agreed public officials need to put the public back in their service. The Kilpatrick scandal had a "cathartic quality that is going to be positive," she said. City department heads are already less guarded in conversations.

There will be multiple elections next year in Detroit, a challenge she envisions. Cockrel talked about asking President-elect Barack Obama for money to take down vacant, abandoned buildings in the city.

"I think we will overcome, but it's going to take working together," she added.

Jeff Juenemann, a club member who owns a Westland insurance business, asked about retail possibilities in Detroit.

"It's rooftops, it's density," she said. Most cities have dense downtowns; in Detroit, people grew up in neighborhoods, many defined by the local Catholic parish.

"People owned their homes, their piece of America," she said of 1950s Detroit. That means there are empty homes now in the city. Detroit needs a downtown with enough density to support high-level retail, and must address issues of safety, including police response and lighting.

"Come in on any conveyance you want," she said of the need for regional mass transit, when asked about Livonia and other suburbs opting out of the SMART system. She likes for workers to be able to get around, and for suburbanites to visit the city with ease and with spending money.

"Our future is together. It's finding common ground," she said.

Detroit native Roger Ratkowski, a caterer and president-elect of the service club, asked about housing projects like Herman Gardens on the city's west city. The U.S. Housing and Urban Development model was for mixed-income housing, she noted, adding Herman Gardens got off to a rocky start in the mid-20th century. It's better now with the Salvation Army building a youth center as part of development there.

City government now has little to do with public housing, Cockrel added.

Rotarian Margaret Harlow, a Westland tire business owner, likes going to downtown Detroit and feels safe there. Harlow asked about media coverage focusing on crime in the city.

Cockrel referred to the "1967 Rebellion" in Detroit, a term she uses rather than "riot" for people systematically victimized then by the Detroit police. She agreed the media culture about the city is limited.

Style without the attitude

Sisters put their own touch into Hair Vibe salon

BY TIFFANY L. PARKS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

What do you get when you combine an "uptown Mayberry" barbershop with some slick styles and cuts? Hair Vibes.

The salon, located at 8589 N. Lilley Road in the Golden Gate plaza, was taken over by three sisters in August 2007 and has begun to take on a new identity under its new ownership.

"I have worked in larger salons with all of the drama and I am not having it here," said stylist Mel Quinn, whose sisters, Marianne Della and Kathy MacKenzie, have joined her in business. "We don't have any attitude here and we have a lot of fun together."

Quinn, who has been a stylist for 20 years, had been at the salon for about four years when the previous owners announced they were moving and wanted to sell the business.

"It had always been a dream of Mel's to have her own salon and I had been looking for business opportunities," said Della, who was working in the insurance industry. "Being that there were three of us, no one person had to bear the burden of the costs alone so the risk was not so great and we decided to go for it."

While Quinn, a Canton resident, oversees the day-to-day operations of the salon, Della, who lives in Westland, handles its finances. MacKenzie, a Flint resident, is largely a silent partner but drives down on weekends to pitch in.

"I never expected it to be easy working with family but so far, so good," Quinn said, joking that the main disagreement she had with one of her older sisters was whether they should move the salon's front desk. "I thought we would have way more issues than we do."

Della, who has been coined the "go-to girl," left the insurance business to focus on Hair Vibes. The sisters are joined by two stylists, Carolyn "Red" Mitchell and Melissa Rosenberg.

Mitchell, a longtime stylist and resident comedienne of the salon, recently moved to Canton and said she went through four salons in 10 months because she couldn't find the right chemistry.

"I had to go through a few salons in order to find someplace that I wanted to stay," she said. "I don't do egos and it was easy to talk to (Quinn) so I said 'alright then.'"

Rosenberg found Hair Vibes through an online listing in May.

"We do have a lot of fun together," said Rosenberg of Farmington Hills, as she joked that she needed a catchy name such as Mitchell's self-appointed "Hair Goddess" title.

"Hey, it's on my business cards," Mitchell said.

In efforts to make the salon their own, Quinn and her sisters have put up artwork, mirrors, painted a couple walls and removed a batch of fake trees.

"It was like a hair jungle in

In addition, the salon has donated its services to local groups and has partnered with other local businesses in an effort to survive the economic times.

"No one in small business wants to see another business fail," Della said the cross promoting.

Quinn agreed and said that while the hair industry has taken a hit, she sees promise with Hair Vibes.

"There has been a big swing in the industry with people stretching the amount of time in between cuts and colors but we are seeing good things happen even now," she said. "All of our hard work will be worth it and even though we work a lot of long hours, I'm not going home saying that I hate my boss."

OUR VIEWS

Thank you, Rep. McCotter, for standing up for Detroit

U.S. Rep. Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, has developed a reputation for his soaring oratorical style in the House of Representatives.

His speeches are notable for their obscure historical references, stinging wit, musical allusions and passion.

We have not always agreed with the positions that McCotter has supported with his oratory. But on Wednesday, the 11th District congressman used his eloquence in support of the auto recovery bill and rose to the defense of not just the auto industry but the embattled Detroit region and working men and women everywhere. This was a Class A rhetorical performance.

McCotter had been one of the most ferocious Republican leaders against the bank bailout, something he continues to rail against. He and others were instrumental in defeating an initial bailout bill before a revised version was passed in the Senate and the House. He has been harshly critical of the lack of oversight on how those billions of dollars are being spent and the clueless arrogance of investment bankers.

But, McCotter argues that the auto industry is different. Contrary to its critics, the industry has been restructuring, has been meeting federal CAFE mandates, has been developing better and more energy-efficient cars. They didn't ask for help until they were swamped by the bank disaster. He says that it is the hard-working people of his district and other districts all across America who will suffer if there is no bailout. Small businesses will collapse. Whole towns will be devastated.

He strongly rebukes those who have railed against the UAW for daring to negotiate decent contracts for their members.

"I once spent a freezing winter morning in front of the glass house, the Ford Motor Company corporate headquarters, in Dearborn. All those employees, those UAW members, that people say don't want to work come to work and don't want to perform, don't care about their quality of performance. Well I'll tell you what: They stood out in zero degree temperatures to keep the Wixom plant in my district open. That's how badly they wanted to work. That's how much they cared about the production of those cars. That's how much they love their families," McCotter told his fellow representatives.

He quotes Bruce Springsteen's Youngstown: "Seven hundred tons of metal a day, now sir you tell me the world's changed/Once I made you rich enough, rich enough to forget my name."

Perhaps McCotter's oratory helped move a few votes to win passage of the bailout in the House, where he was one of only 32 Republicans to vote yes.

On Thursday, the Senate failed to endorse the House bill. McCotter and others began efforts to solicit President Bush to release some of the billions marked for banks to General Motors and Chrysler.

Whatever the outcome, McCotter deserves a warm thank you from his district.

Help the Big Three to help America

Michigan's unemployment rate is at the highest it's been in nearly 20 years, and from the State Capitol to Capitol Hill, the focus of our state's economic recovery has shifted to the crisis within the domestic auto manufacturing industry. Last week, executives from Chrysler, Ford, and General Motors headed to Washington for a second time to request federal assistance to help weather the financial emergency they're currently facing.

Glenn Anderson

As a former Ford Motor Co. employee, I know firsthand what Michigan families are feeling as the industry continues to struggle. However, the anxiety and stress resulting from the latest industry downturn is not limited to only employees of these three automakers. If we allow the domestic automobile industry to go bankrupt, we will likely face a complete meltdown of our economy.

According to the Center for Automotive Research, if one of the Big Three ceased operations in 2009, nearly 2.5 million jobs would disappear in the first year, and result in the combined loss of $125 million in personal income. This is money that not only puts food on the table for countless families but also acts as a fuel for the nation's economy. While the pain following the failure of the Big Three would be more severe here in Michigan, the consequences would be nationwide and would likely trigger another depression. No part of the country would emerge unscathed.

America's greatness has in large part been synonymous with the development and growth of our country's domestic automakers. From putting the nation on wheels, to rapidly switching gears to become the "Arsenal of Democracy" in World War II, the domestic auto industry has been the economic backbone, and the cultural face, of America. Nonetheless, it is clear that the automotive industry has seen transformational changes since its inception.

As it pursues advanced technologies to adapt to the new economy, the industry has been faced with daunting challenges. Drastic swings in energy prices, devastating drops in home values, reduced consumer confidence and severely constricting of available credit have combined to make the necessary capital-intensive research and development process all but impossible.

The need for reform and restructuring is real. The industry's labor unions have already made major concessions, including assuming long-term responsibility for retired workers health care benefits through a groundbreaking 2007 contract as well as other monetary and work rule changes.

These concessions were no doubt hard to accept for many workers, however, their willingness to make these sacrifices signals their commitment to the survival of these companies as well as the harsh reality they face. Wisely investing federal dollars in this vital industry coupled with solid agreements from automakers will help to bolster our country's economic and national security.

We may never again see a repeat of the automotive industry's heyday. There is no doubt that things have changed dramatically and operational changes are overdue. We must not view federal assistance as an attempt to recapture a nostalgic past.

Rather, it must be viewed as an absolutely necessary step to propel the industry forward and prevent job losses of a cataclysmic level. A modernized auto industry which embraces the future, the cutting edge of technology and the American worker continues to represent our greatest hope of national security, stability and economic recovery.

Simply put, we cannot afford to turn our backs on the companies that built our state and our nation. Last week, I introduced a resolution in the Michigan Senate imploring the president and United States Congress to adopt an assistance package for the American automobile industry. Upon the resolution's passage it shall be transmitted to the president of the United States, the president of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Michigan congressional delegation. It is time for Congress to act and provide the financial backing necessary to keep the Big Three moving and America's men and women working.

State Sen. Glenn S. Anderson, D-Westland, represents the 6th Senate District. On Thursday, the U.S. Senate failed to pass the auto bailout package passed earlier in the U.S. House. President George W. Bush was considering using some of the money from the bank bailout to help General Motors and Chrysler.

Patriots lock down fourth straight City mat title

Chargers 2nd; Spartans 3rd

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A banged-up Franklin wrestling team got off the mat Wednesday night and captured its fourth straight Livonia City Championship.

The Patriots, boasting eight individual winners and a pair of runners-up, tallied a team-best 210 points followed by Churchill (149.5), host Stevenson (128) and Clarenceville (79.5).

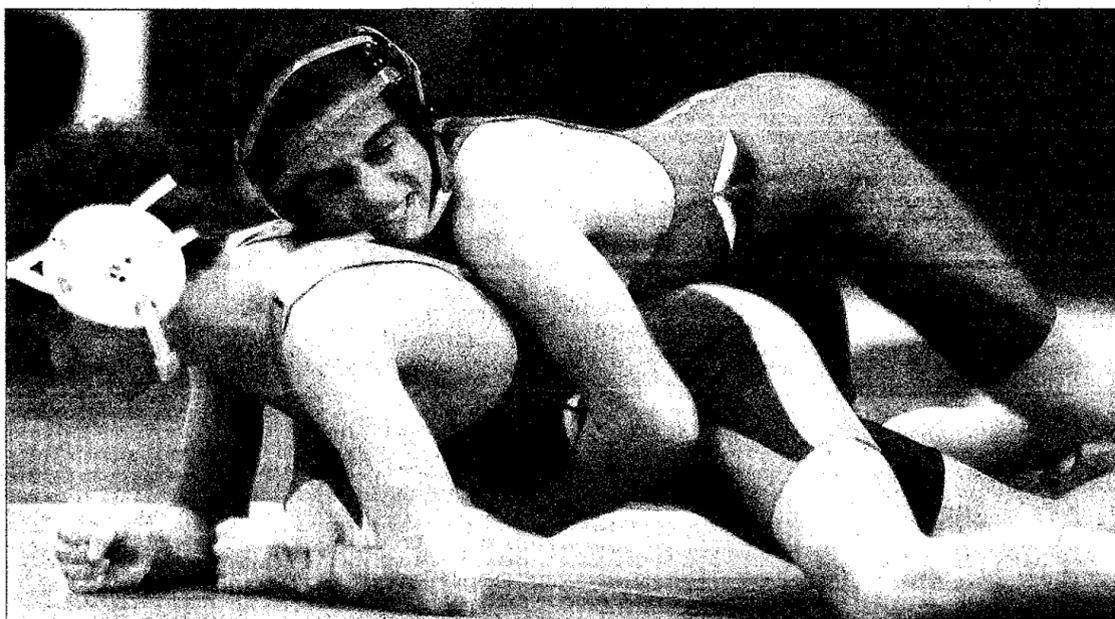

Franklin opened its season last Saturday at the Westland John Glenn Rocket Invitational and finished 3-2 in the team-duel format with losses to Clarkston and Roseville.

"Tonight I was worried because we had four serious injuries coming out of that meet," Franklin coach Dave Chiola said. "Our seniors wanted four years of winning the city meet. We had four seniors wrestle super hurt and I wanted to bench them, but they were ready to go."

Franklin winners included Paul Hanni (112), Steve Tuyo (119), Justin Jacobsen (130), Brandon Billiau (152), Elvin Ferreira (160), Don Stratz (171) Garrett Hay (189) and Mike Modes (285).

Ferreira was named co-MVP along with Stevenson's Raz Markosian (140). The Franklin senior captain edged Churchill's Grant Morgan in an entertaining final, 13-10.

"I had a hard time deciding (MVP) between Stratz and Ferreira," Chiola said. "It was a coin flip between the two. Both are solid kids. Both are hard workers and team leaders. They're training partners and go against each other every day in practice."

Also bringing a smile to Chiola's face was the performance of Tuyo, a sophomore, who edged Churchill's Matt Hecksel, 12-10.

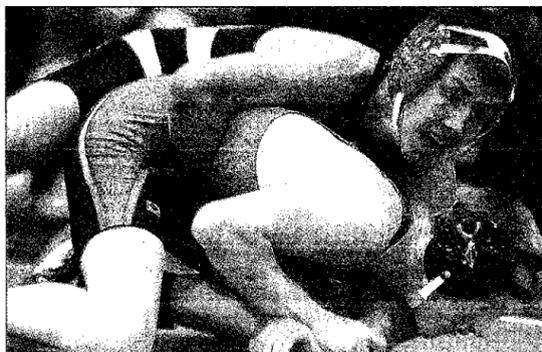

"That was an upset for us at 119," the Franklin coach said. "That wasn't something we expected."

Churchill, meanwhile, has been battling the injury bug, too, after winning four matches Saturday at the Clarenceville team tournament.

"Team-wise we did a little better than I thought, but individual-wise a little poorer — if that makes sense," Churchill coach Marty Altounian said. "A few of the seniors did not win their final matches, which is disappointing. But not to make excuses, they've only been on the mat a short time because of injuries. A lot of them haven't had a lot of reps, but they did a good job for being out there."

Churchill's Jacob Meadows, a sophomore, took the 103-pound title over Franklin's Rian Klein, 10-8. The Chargers also got a win at 145 from

MU quartet hailed

The American Volleyball Coaches Association announced its 2008 All-Region and All-America teams Thursday and four Madonna University players were recognized for their efforts.

Senior Lubovj Tihomirova (Riga, Latvia) earned first-team All-Mideast Region and first-team All-America honors after ranking 11th nationally in kills per set (4.08). She ranks fifth all-time in school history in kills (2,413) and holds the single season record in kills (967 in 2007).

Fellow senior Whitney Fuelling (Milford), who ranked 10th nationally in attacking percentage (.385) made second-team All-America and first-team All-Mideast.

Also making All-Mideast Region was junior Inta Grinvalds (Portage Central), who was tied for fourth nationally with 10.8 assist-to-kills per game. She currently ranks second all-time in MU history with 5,322 career assists.

Junior Mary McGinnis (Fraser), who averaged 3.2 kills per set for the 35-7 Crusaders, was named honorable mention All-Mideast.

Prep hockey action

Northville scored seven times in the opening period en route to a 9-1 KLAAs Kensington Conference boys hockey win Wednesday night over host Livonia Franklin at Edgar Arena.

The Mustangs, who outshot Franklin 37-8, improved to 5-1 overall and 3-0 in the KLAAs Central Division.

Franklin falls to 0-4 overall and 0-4 in the KLAAs South Division.

Angie Chronis notched a hat trick, while Rachel Freeman and Julia Franceschi added two goals apiece Thursday as host Ann Arbor Pioneer improved to 4-0 with a 10-2 Michigan Metro Girls Hockey win at Veterans Arena over Livonia Ladywood.

Shelby Kucharski tallied her 12th and 13th goals of the year for the Blazers (2-2).

Livonia Blue eyes another big year

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Gymnastics teams from around the state could be seeing lots of Blue once again.

That's in Livonia Blue, a combined team made up of 18 gymnasts from Stevenson High and three from Franklin coming off a third-place finish with a score of 144.725 in the MHSAA state team finals.

The defending regional and conference champions finished last year with a 10-1 dual-meet record while losing only one senior to graduation, Kelly Tapella, who finished 11th in the Division 2 individual all-around (35.50). Tapella also finished seventh on floor exercise (9.175) and eighth on uneven bars (8.775).

Livonia Blue junior Emily Quint is one of the state's top returning Division 1 gymnasts for third-year coach Lisa Fierk and assistant Michele Hahling.

Quint was third in the all-around (37.65) after placing runner-up on floor exercise (9.55), third on vault (9.6) and fifth on balance beam (9.475).

"Her goals are set and there's no reason she won't hit them," Fierk said. "She is a great asset to our team. She always brings a smile and some hip-hop moves into the gym."

Senior Laura Nomura is also another top-notch performer who returns. She finished 12th in Division 2 all-around (35.05), while earning All-State honors with a third on floor (9.325) and fourth on vault (9.15).

Stevenson coach Gabel steps down

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Coming off the back-to-back most successful state playoff runs in school history, Livonia Stevenson is suddenly searching for a new varsity football coach.

Tim Gabel, who guided the Spartans to a 13-1 record and a berth in the Division 1 state finals in 2007, along with a state semifinal this fall, resigned unexpectedly Friday afternoon.

Gabel, who guided Stevenson to nine state playoff appearances and an overall record of 92-47, submitted his letter of resignation during the fourth-hour class period to Stevenson athletic director Lori Hyman.

"I just feel like it's time," the 41-year-old Gabel said. "It wasn't a snap decision, it's been coming a number of years. It's something I've been contemplating."

Hyman was shaken and stunned at the news. "Tim resigned for his own personal reasons and it was nobody else, he decided on his own," she said. "I'm devastated. I've worked with him for the nine years I've been here, and he's been a tremendous asset to the our staff. I'm taking it pretty hard, but I understand and respect his decision."

"He's done a wonderful job and he's had such a presence here. He's not only been a good football coach, but he stands for so much more. We'll miss him not only for his integrity, but he's also been

Guzik catalyst again for Livonia Red team

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Three returning state qualifiers, including Division 1 state placer Paula Guzik, should make the Livonia Red girls gymnastics team formidable once again this season.

The Red squad, made up of gymnasts primarily from Churchill High, is coming off a ninth-place finish in last year's MHSAA team finals (141.025) and a third-place conference showing.

The most notable loss to graduation off last year's 7-4 squad was state qualifier Margarita Lazarevska.

Guzik, a senior, took sixth in the Division 1 individual all-around with a score of 36.90, while adding a fourth on vault (9.575) and a fourth-place tie on floor exercise (9.5).

Guzik

She is joined by another top-notch all-around performer in senior Alicia DiMauro, a state qualifier last year on both vault on beam.

"We are thrilled to have two strong senior gymnasts leading our team this year," said Red assistant coach Megan Whitaker, who is in third year under head coach Kelly Grodzicki. "They are providing a great motivation and examples to the younger, new gymnasts on our team."

Another all-around performer returning is junior Brittany Swazey, who qualified last year for the state meet on vault.

GYMNASTICS PREVIEW

"We also have a large junior class who are stepping up their routines this year," Whitaker said.

Livonia Red, which opens its season Wednesday night at Farmington Unified, steps into the new Kensington Lakes Activities Association along with rival Livonia Blue, which placed third in the state, along Northville (fourth overall) and Canton (10th).

"It will be an interesting year to see how our team grows athletically and how we fit into the conference mix," Whitaker said. "We have a very strong conference and look forward to many challenging meets."

"Meadows has been injured and he's been back about a week and a half," Altounian said. "He's doing pretty good — better than I thought. And Hesskamp has improved dramatically from last year."

Stevenson's young team garnered three individual firsts led by Markosian, Mitch Gonzales (135) and Matt

Greenman (215).

"Raz pinned everybody," Stevenson coach Dan Vaughan. "He's down to 140 this year after going 145 last year. He worked tremendously hard over the summer — he hit the weights, went to the Milan BorderWars and did USA freestyle. He'll be a force at 140. It's a lot of hard work and the young guys are taking his lead."

"The first five weight classes for us are first-year wrestlers, ninth- and 10th-graders. It's a little tough because they're green, but overall they held their own."

Clarenceville, coming off a

3-1 weekend, was led by senior captain Jake Ruth, who garnered the 125-pound title with an 8-4 decision over Franklin's Erik Czech.

The Patriots, meanwhile, continued their City domination.

"I think we have been able to stay consistent with all of the graduation losses because of our dedicated assistants, all of the alumni that come back to volunteer their time, the great relationship we have with the football team, and the support of our athletic director (Ron Hammye)," Chiola said.

BLUE

"Laura is one of our captains this year," Fierk said. "Her attitude in the gym is exceptional. She's shown great improvement this year."

Senior captain Meghan Powers is another state player to return after tying for eighth in the Division 1 floor exercise with a 9.35. Powers is coming off knee surgery in May and is "healing nicely," according to the Stevenson coach.

"Meghan is a strong part of our team and has a great attitude," Fierk said. "I'm really proud of her ability to know when she needs to take it easy and when she can push herself."

Livonia Blue also has two other all-around returnees who provide valuable depth.

Senior Brittany Janis was injured most of last season with a broken ankle before earning spot in the Division 1 state finals where she tied for 11th in the uneven parallel bars with a 9.05.

said. "Her skills and attitude will make her a great addition to our team."

"Sarah already comes into the gym know a little bit about our team. She's ready and willing to compete and improve her skills."

Livonia Blue doesn't officially open its season until 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 8, against Plymouth. All home meets will be held at Churchill High School.

"We have our goals set out for us and we know what we have to do to reach them," Fierk said. "The girls have been working hard everyday in practice, not only on their gymnastics skills, but their teamwork as well. We will not be able to achieve our goal if we do not work together. Working together will make our team stronger and more successful."

"Everyone in the gym is working new skills and improving old ones. I believe that beam and floor may be our strongest events this season."

Patriots get passing grade in '08 opener

Livonia Franklin opened its wrestling season Dec. 6 by finishing fourth with a 3-2 record in the Westland John Glenn Rocket Invitational Team Tournament.

The Patriots scored wins over the John Glenn 'B' team (79-0), Wyandotte Roosevelt (39-36) and Walled Lake Central (51-25), while losing to Roseville (49-19) and Clarkston (36-26).

"I didn't think we wrestled all that well, but that being said, it's the first tournament and we know what we need to work on now," Franklin coach Dave Chiola said. "We have come to this tournament the past few years and a couple of those years we wrestled better than we did any other time throughout the year. Nobody wants to peak in December. We need to deal some injuries, get some guys down to weight, and get in a little better shape."

Going 5-0 on the day for the Patriots were Elvin Ferreira at 152 and 160 pounds; Garrett Hay (171-189); and Mike Modes (285). Don Stratz (160-171) and

PREP WRESTLING

Cody Hay (215) each finished 4-1.

"This was a nice start to the season," Chiola said. "We have a lot of new kids on the team this year and many of them looked pretty good, so I was encouraged by that. Overall I think we did O.K. I think it'll be a fun season."

Rockets lose two duals

After starting out the season with a 5-0 record and winning its own Rocket Invitational team tourney on Saturday, Westland John Glenn was defeated Wednesday at home in a quad meet by Southgate Anderson (54-16) and Novi-Detroit Catholic Central (58-18).

Glenn coach Bill Polk had a number of starters missing. He had to use several reserves and bump up wrestlers in their weight classes, while voiding a couple of weights.

Seniors Zaid Ammari and Jeff Adkins were the only double winners for the Rockets, while Anthony Pavlich suffered his first loss of the season against CC.

Szczyпка's 24 lifts Blazers to win

Senior Caitlin Szczyпка poured in a career-high 24 points Thursday night as Livonia Ladywood downed host Monroe St. Mary Catholic Central in a non-league girls basketball game, 58-42.

The Blazers, who improved to 2-2 overall, led 10-2 at the outset before falling behind 25-23 at halftime.

Ladywood then outscored the Kestrels 14-7 in the third quarter and 21-8 in the final period to win going away.

Freshman Cara Miller added 11 points, while Courtney LaValley and Molly Gacioc added seven and six, respectively, for the Blazers.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Nicole Boggs paced Monroe CC (0-4) with 12 points. Ashley Strauss added 12, including three 3-pointers.

With starting guard Mary Fitzgerald picking up four fouls and forced to sit much of the second half, the Blazers turned to Szczyпка.

"Caitlin provided us both leadership and scoring," Ladywood first-year coach Pat Cannon said.

JOHN GLENN 49, OAK PARK 28: Westland John Glenn (2-1) pulled away in the second half en route to a non-league girls basketball triumph Wednesday over the host Knights (1-2).

Nyah McReynolds led the Rockets with 15 points. Brittany Holbrook added 13, while Chanel Payne contributed seven.

Charisse Little paced Oak Park with eight points.

Glenn led only 18-15 at intermission, but broke the game wide open with an 11-4 third-quarter run followed by a 20-9 fourth-quarter outburst.

The Rockets hit 18-of-29 free throws (62 percent), while the Knights made only 20 percent (4-of-20).

DEARBORN 55, CHURCHILL 47:

Four players scored in double figures Wednesday, led by Meredith Berce's 15 points, as the host Pioneers (3-0) remained unbeaten with a non-league win over Livonia Churchill (1-1).

Jillian Fimding (14), Laura Inch (11) and Endia Kidd (10) also carried Dearborn, which hit 17-of-23 free throws (73.9 percent).

Senior point-guard Lindsey Graciak paced the Chargers with 17, while Darcy DeRoo chipped in with 11.

Churchill was 3-of-5 from the foul stripe. The Chargers were outscored 33-27 in the second half.

Carrico sparks Madonna over Marygrove

Christie Carrico and Plymouth High's Kim Olech led the way as the Madonna University women's basketball team rolled to a 78-60 non-conference win Wednesday night over host Marygrove College in a game played at the University of Detroit Jesuit High School Arena.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

Carrico, hitting 12-of-15 free throws, led the victorious Crusaders (3-8) with 20 points. She also grabbed 14 rebounds.

Olech, a transfer from Adrian College, also had a double-double with 14 points and 14 rebounds.

Also getting into the act for MU was Alyssa Guerin (Salem) and Tabatha Wydryck with 12 points apiece. Guard Katie Mount added eight points and six assists.

Lonnie Terrell had 19 points to pace the Mustangs (1-9). Keyandra Linebarger added

10. Marygrove was outrebounded 60-32.

MU is off the rest of the week for final exams before returning to action 5:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Activities Center to face NAIA No. 18-ranked Cedarville University (Ohio).

GABEL

such a great role model for our kids."

Gabel graduated in 1985 from Livonia Franklin High, where he played football. He is a graduate of Wayne State University and has a degree in civil engineering.

He began coaching the Spartans freshman team following his high school graduation. His father Jack was a longtime assistant under Jack Reardon, who served as the school's varsity football coach for 30 years. Gabel spent two years as varsity assistant under Reardon before taking the head coaching spot in 1995.

Gabel teaches social studies at Stevenson. His wife Amie also teaches at Stevenson.

Gabel said he will continue to assist Scott Shaw, also on Gabel's football staff, during the boys track and field season in the spring.

"I've had the privilege to work with some awfully good kids and Stevenson is set up for a good team next year," Gabel said. "And I'll be helping to create a smooth transition. I'm sure I'm going to miss it, but I plan on staying busy."

"I appreciated Lori's support and (current principal) Steve Archibald's support, along with Roger Frayer (Stevenson's former A.D.) and Dale Collier (former Stevenson principal.)"

Who might be Gabel's successor is anybody's guess. Gabel's top two assistants were defensive coordinator Conrad Newman and Shaw, his offensive line coach.

"I have not heard officially from other coaches," Hyman said. "But I hope they come back."

Ultimate Soccer Arenas to host Chinese Women's National team

In preparation for their Dec. 17 soccer match against the 2008 Olympic gold medal champion United States, the Chinese Women's National Team will hold a training session on Monday, Dec. 15 at Ultimate Soccer Arenas in Pontiac.

The session, which will begin at 10:30 a.m. is free and open to the public. Monday's training is scheduled to last about 90 minutes.

The match, set for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff Wednesday at Ford Field in downtown Detroit, is the first U.S. Soccer event to be held in the metro area since the 1994 FIFA World Cup and the first women's match in 15 years.

While both teams will train at Ford Field on Tuesday, the Chinese team arrives in Detroit on Sunday night in preparation for the international friendly. Livonia native Dan Duggan, Michigan Bucks Chairman and CEO Dan Duggan, was contacted by U.S. Soccer in search of some assistance in promoting the game in the metropolitan area.

"We are always happy to help out the Federation in supporting the highest level of soccer in Michigan," Duggan said. "It is not very often that we have the honor of our National team in the area, so we have offered to help in any way. As a result, the Bucks will be providing many of the necessary volunteers to make this a highly successful event."

This will be the first of many high level soccer teams to play at Ultimate Soccer Arenas during the next several months.

According to George Derderian, managing partner of Ultimate Soccer Arenas, the facility is in top shape and ready to welcome the Chinese with open arms.

"We are honored to have the Chinese National team visit us and use our facility for training next Monday," he said. "We are sure that they will not only be impressed with the field conditions, but with the entire facility as well. I suspect they will tell us they have never encountered a soccer facility like this anywhere in the world."

Tickets for the USA-China match are $18, $28, $40 and $55 and can be purchased through Ticket Master or at Ultimate Soccer Arenas.

The Bucks still have the best seats available in each of the four seating categories at USA. Tickets at Ultimate Soccer can be purchased with personal check (made out to US Soccer) or with their credit card.

For more information, please call the Bucks office at (248) 334-7460; or visit the Bucks web site at www.bucksoccer.com.

Holidays a time for sharing

Everyone has been affected by the economy, but some a lot more than others. This year, the need is greater than ever for charities caring for the less fortunate. I was reminded of this last week when I spoke to nonprofit organizations in our communities. Even though we might not be able to give as much as in the past it's important to do what we can.

JA'NOAH HOUSE

Audrey Mattson of Livonia is still taking clothing and food to the poor and homeless in the Norwayne area of Westland, Brightmoor, Cass Corridor, and Brewster Projects even though her husband, Carl, died in April 2007. The Livonia woman continues their work through the Ja'Noah House. Call (734) 522-5077 to help.

Linda Chomin

In years past, the couple was able to fill 250 holiday gift bags for children, this year only about 50.

"Every little bit means a lot even socks for the homeless, hats and gloves," said Mattson. "We're seeing more homeless on the streets. Even though they can go to the shelters at night, they have to walk the streets during the day and they're hungry."

CAPUCHIN SOUP KITCHENS

Sister Nancy Ann Turner is concerned about those with homes, but no heat. The Livonia nun runs the tutoring program at the Capuchin Soup Kitchen's Conner location. She's asking for educational and hand-held games for the 60 children and socks, blankets and hand and body lotions for everyone. Call (313) 822-8606, Ext. 210.

"I try to give the moms a food card. We have a lot more coming for meals," said Sister Turner. "For the low income it's kind of their way of life. Others they're struggling for the first time because they lost their job. Last year, we had families living without heat and people got sick."

Brother Vincent Reyes used to collect toys for the children at the Meldrum kitchen. This year, he's asking for caps and gloves for the kids in addition to underwear and tube socks for the homeless shower program. Call (313) 579-2100, Ext. 203.

"We're seeing more people at the Meldrum kitchen," said Reyes. "The family pack we give feeds a family of four for a week and usually includes 15 pounds of chicken now only 10 pounds, and the numbers jumped from September to October from 4,300 families to 5,100 families. It's going to be even worse next year. The economy is becoming more of a problem and people can't give what they haven't got."

FIRST STEP

Judith Barr has been busier than ever at First Step which helps survivors of domestic violence and sexual assault. Around 75 families need to be adopted for the holidays by this week. Call (734) 416-1111.

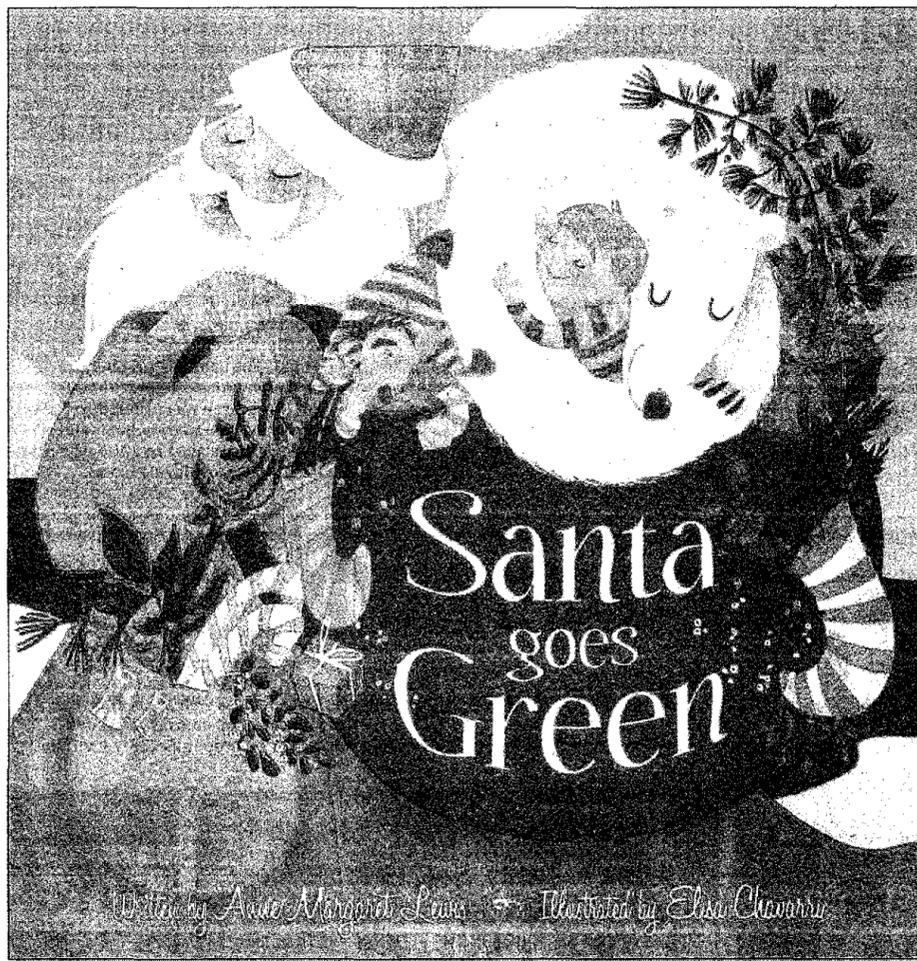

"When the economy is hurting and people are underemployed there's more stress which leads to an increase in family fighting and domestic violence. We're seeing more calls to the 24-hour line, seeing more women afraid to leave and prosecute because they need the income, the bread and milk," said Barr, associate director of the agency based in Plymouth. "We're in need of coats, pajamas, sweat suits used for assault response. When they go to hospitals and police stations, clothes are generally taken. We do need underwear, all sizes of socks, gas cards. People can't afford gas anymore to go to court, to park. We need disposable phones with minutes, food cards. We're trying to help people sustain. For children, we're giving non-violent, durable toys. We still have hats and mittens because of the generosity of churches last year."

First Step does need small or individual sizes of juice, protein bars and canned goods for the shelter that provides a haven for women and children.

"First Step is in a transition. We're looking for a new way to house people to be safe. Our building is 60 years old. We're halfway in a capital campaign for a new facility. If someone makes a cash donation then we're able to go out and buy what a family needs, an alarm system to ensure their safety."

If you need help, call (888) 453-5900.

Dogs write Santa with their Christmas wishes in a new book by Kandy Radzinski.

Authors use imaginations to create fun books

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
O&E STAFF WRITER

All Sam wants for Christmas is something warm to wear. While that might not seem unusual for a little boy or girl, this wish comes from a chihuahua. The short-haired pup is just one of the characters in Kandy Radzinski's What Dogs Want for Christmas.

Children's books open a world where animals can write Santa with their requests. Several new tales this season take creativity to the limit. Nowhere is that more true in the Oklahoma author's new book, a sequel to What Cats Want for Christmas, from Sleeping Bear Press in Chelsea.

WHAT DOGS WANT FOR CHRISTMAS
Radzinski's rescue dog provided plenty of inspiration as evidenced when Beanie asks for something new to chew besides a nice leather shoe. Radzinski took a photograph before painting the watercolor of the innocent-looking trouble maker. Her love shines in these beautiful renderings. Radzinski grew up with dogs before going on to teach art at Central Washington State College and the University of Tulsa.

"I'm probably closer to dogs than people. They're always there for you," said Radzinski, who also lives with a Scottie named Kirby. "The book mostly revolves around Beanie. She was the most expensive. There's the living room leather chair with one arm. In the dining room, one chair is garbage. She chewed the throw pillows just enough to ruin them, but we love her."

Celebrate Christmas Irish-style

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
O&E STAFF WRITER

Not much has changed for Mick Gavin since he left County Clare in 1973. Give the Irish any reason to celebrate and out come the dancing shoes and fiddles. This year, Gavin is inviting everyone to step out to his annual party on Dec. 20 at the Monaghan K of C Hall in Livonia.

At least twice a year, the Redford musician calls his performer friends together for gatherings. This Saturday, Wallace Hood of the Irish Rovers and Ray Maguire of Plymouth join Gavin on stage. There will be step and ceili dancing with students from the Ardan Academy of Irish Dance based in Livonia. Kitty Heinzman brings her students from the Hibernian Club in Redford and Gaelic League in Detroit. They'll take turns kicking up their heels with Anne McCallum's Set Dancers. "We do encourage parents to bring their kids. It's a family event," said along. There will be food including Christmas cake and Irish scones, and step, set and ceili dancers. It's

Canned goods are sought for annual Holiday Food Drive

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
O&E STAFF WRITER

This year more than ever, Livonia Councilwoman Laura Toy hopes the community puts politics aside to help the needy. On Thursday, Dec. 18, she'll join with state Rep. John Pastor and state Rep.-elect John Walsh to collect canned goods and nonperishables for Gleaners Food Bank from 5:30-7 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus on Farmington Road, between Seven Mile and Eight Mile, in Livonia.

Toy started the annual drive when she was in the state Senate. Over the last six years, she's collected everything from gently used coats to books to brighten the holidays of the less fortunate.

"I started it to do something to help people during the holidays. The natural thing would be to do something with toys because of my last name, but in my district I looked and saw there was a need, particularly in the south end of the district, Westland and Redford as well as Garden City," said Toy, who now is the community outreach specialist for the state Senate in Lansing in addition to being a Livonia councilwoman.

"This year, the food shelves are empty. I felt between the three of us we could rally all of our supporters. Besides canned goods and nonperishables, people could provide a gift certificate for a grocery store or favorite bakery or deli, or any cash donation."

Cash donations can be mailed to Rep. John Pastor at 15417 Middlebelt, Livonia, MI 48154.

"Gleaners serves Southeast Michigan and maybe not all the help goes to Livonia but it makes us better to help our neighbors," said Toy.

BOOKS

really used their creativity to write about Willow, an independent thinker, for Sleeping Bear Press. The recently released book was illustrated by Cyd Moore, who formerly lived in Birmingham and Beverly Hills. Willow paints pink trees and blue apples in Miss Hawthorn's art class.

"I hope kids, teachers and parents learn or realize that the more free you are to explore in art and writing and probably reading, the better," said Moore, who now lives in Sylvania Lake with three cats and one dog. "My mother was a painter and art teacher but never sat us down and told us you have to do it this way. We were always provided reams of paper, clay. We always got new crayons and markers for Christmas so I was just free like Willow who was not following along."

The Brennan sisters were careful not to cast a negative light on teachers but still relay a message. Although this is Denise's eighth children's book, it is her first using human characters. The Howell author is best known for Buzzy the Bumblebee and Grady the Goose.

"It's the fact Willow doesn't see Miss Hawthorn the way anybody else does and her ability to unleash creativity in Miss Hawthorn," said Denise Brennan-Wilson. "Using our imaginations is so important. Nobody sees art the same way. Everything being the same isn't near as much fun. My sister and I originally started talking about trees, willow and hawthorn. The metaphor is there about the difference in trees and part of the underlying messages."

SANTA GOES GREEN

Elisa Chavarri especially had fun illustrating Anne Margaret Lewis' story about saving a polar bear in Santa Goes Green from Mackinac Island Press in Traverse City. A boy named Finn is concerned about Leopold and the sea ice so necessary to hunt for food. The melting glaciers could mean the extinction of the species.

Chavarri was born in Peru but eventually moved to Michigan where a trip to the Detroit Zoo left her with an idea for portraying the big white bear fond of nose-to-nose kisses.

"I always liked polar bears so I was excited. The way Anne described him he was a lovable character," said Chavarri of Northville. "The book makes it seem that it's attainable that we can save the polar bears. Anything you can do will make a slight difference and all of those add up if everyone starts being more aware."

FILL A BUCKET

Carol McCloud revisits the topic of helping others in Fill a Bucket: A Guide to Daily Happiness for Children. The book is illustrated by David Messing of Livonia. The book is a prequel to her Have You Filled a Bucket Today? McCloud has given more than 800 presentations in elementary schools since the book was published in 2006 by Ferne Press (www.bucketfillers101.com).

"It's perfect for new babies and first-time parents," said McCloud of Brighton. "Kids at age 2 can start taking dishes off the table. It gives them a sense of accomplishment and pride. When you fill others' buckets it fills yours."

A IS FOR ABRAHAM

Richard Michelson wrote A is for Abraham for a younger version of himself, but adults as well as children can learn about Judaism from this book. Michelson grew up in Brooklyn without any religious education even though his family were Jews. It wasn't until deciding to marry a woman outside his culture that Michelson became curious about his background. She eventually converted to Judaism and they raised their children in the faith.

Although he represents illustrators through his R. Michelson Galleries in Massachusetts, it was an editor at Sleeping Bear Press who suggested Ron Mazellan for the drawings that seem as if from an earlier age.

"It's a Jewish family alphabet. I thought of it as a fun encyclopedia for families to share," said Michelson. "I'm culturally Jewish but didn't understand where the traditions came from or why things were being done. My mother had grown up in a Jewish household and rebelled. We didn't keep any traditions, didn't celebrate the Sabbath 'cause my dad was busy making a living. I was trying to be a regular kid and fit in. As an adult I'm not alone. A lot of people don't understand the basics of their tradition."

Michelson recently read African and Native American alphabet books just to learn about the cultures.

"I hope non-Jews turn to this book as a primer, but obviously Jewish people are the most likely audience for it," said Michelson. "I hope they get fun and education. It's hard often to have the second without the first. I generally write poetry, stories. The best way to communicate is through a good story in this case in fun word play. It's difficult to reconcile the tradition. There are so many different branches of Judaism so I tried to be general enough. For those steeped in one tradition it can be used as a jumping off point."

MEDICINE FOR ARTHRITIS IN THE ELDERLY

The number of medications doctors have to treat arthritis is large. However, this array of therapy is not open to people with arthritis age seventy or older.

For example, ibuprofen is drug commonly used to treat osteoarthritis. This medicine belongs to the class of drugs known as the Non Steroidal Anti-Inflammatory Drugs (NSAIDs); a well known side effect of this class of medication is upset stomach, even ulcers. But for individuals over age 70, this complication of therapy is unlikely. The real risk for the elderly with NSAID therapy is that NSAIDs can cause kidney failure, and it is not necessarily the result of excessive use of the NSAID. For that reason doctors limit drug treatment for osteoarthritis in the elderly to acetaminophen (Tylenol), a medicine that gives pain relief but does not hurt either the stomach or the kidney.

Another arthritis, rheumatoid arthritis can appear in old age. Again, doctors have many drugs available for treatment, but not for the group over age seventy, because the medications interfere with the body's immune system. The effect of this change is to disrupt the elderly individual's surveillance against cancer, making that person more susceptible to lymphoma. In addition, interference of the immune system by rheumatoid arthritis medication increases the elderly person's risk for infections such as pneumonia.

Finally, starting new arthritis drugs on an elderly person means taking a chance, as drug trials usually do not include patients over age 65.

CELTIC

"They'll be dancing a variety of Irish step dances, and ceili old folk dancing intermixed with Christmas music," said Heinzman. "Last year it was a nice event. Even though we had a bad snowstorm, we still had a good crowd. Kids danced and turned the stage over to Mick and his music students. We had people from the audience come up and do ceili dancing. There's food and drink so people can come out and have an entire evening and participate a little bit. It's like a cabaret kind of day."

Heinzman's mother Kitty is from Westport, County Mayo, and he started dancing at age 5. That was 39 years ago. About 15 years ago, he and his sister, Liz, opened their studio, then known as the Heinzman

School of Irish Dance. They bring a select few of their students to Crossroads Ceili Saturday-Sunday, Dec. 27-28, at The Ark in Ann Arbor. Paddy Homan, winner of the 2001 Thomas Moore Cup for solo Irish tenor, will be joined by Hood, Gavin and his students, and Maguire who played with the popular Irish group, Pat's People, in the 1970s and 1980s.

"It's just a way of life for us. My mom still is a very involved part of the Irish community," said Heinzman. "She teaches ceili which means together or group dancing. We teach solo dancing or step dancing now at the Ardan Academy of Irish Dance in Livonia with locations in Redford, Wixom, Taylor, Grosse Pointe, Warren, Lansing, Toledo and Windsor."

ROBERT G. MARKS
 July 26th, 1926 to December 9th, 2008. He passed away peacefully surrounded by family early on the morning of Tuesday, December 9, 2008. Bob was a navy veteran of W.W.II serving in the Pacific Theatre as a navigator with a squadron of P.B.Y.'s. Robert lived most of his life in the metro Detroit area- Old Redford, Wayne, Dearborn. The last seven years he resided in Lantana, Florida with his wife June (Rigg). He was a long time professional educator in the Livonia Public Schools, holding a variety of positions; elementary teacher, M.S. administrator, coach, and H.S. media center director. He changed to this career later in life for he wished "to make a difference" and in his final days mentioned how content he was with that decision. In that new career he was very successful impacting the lives of countless children in schools, libraries, and on the sporting fields/courts in and around Livonia and the greater Metro-Detroit area. He was especially important in the lives of his four children: John, Tom, Sue, and Doug, and greatly enjoyed touching the lives of his 21 grandchildren and his 17, soon-to-be 18 great-grandchildren. Robert loved a good book, a good card game, a good debate, a good word puzzle, a good sporting contest (even two or three at a time), a fine meal, a cup of tea, travel, music in all forms, and the outdoors. Most of all it was time spent, or activities with, his family and good friends that made him most happy. He would appreciate these words from Dr. Seuss at this moment, "Don't cry that it's over, celebrate that it happened". Bob was preceded in death by his parents, Robert H. & Lillian M. Marks, his wife of 44 years Alice K, and his younger brother Doug. He is survived by his wife of 9 years, June, his four children and their spouses: Patti, Amy, Paul, Glenda, and Judy, his four step children: Chris, Robin, Heather, and Craig, his sister-in-law Sandy and his many grandchildren and great-grandchildren who will miss him very much. Robert was truly a member of America's "greatest generation" and we who carry on are thankful for the model of living he represented. We will be forever blessed that he shared so much of himself with his family and extended family of friends. Peace. A private family service is planned for Friday at the Palm Breezes Park in Lantana. A Memorial Service for family and friends is being planned for the spring in Dearborn, Michigan with details to be announced early in the new year. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Focus Hope Inc. of Detroit or Hospice of Palm Springs, Florida

Stain problem with no cure

They have put some of my work in the World Book Encyclopedia and called me to court cases as an expert witness and yet I don't have the smarts to answer the problem described in the following e-mail. Please read it and if you have a solution to this lady's frustration, please drop me a note and tell me what you think about all this:

"My husband and I have had a laundry problem for several years that has caused us constant frustration. The problem is that when we wash dark-colored clothing at our house, it often comes out with grease-like stains that were not on the clothing prior to washing. The stains usually come out after treatment with color-safe bleach and re-washing. We have tried many different detergents and we don't use fabric softener, so we know that our washing products are not the source of the problem. We had thought that the problem could be the washing machine, so we replaced it with a new front loader a couple of years ago, but we have continued to have the problem. We wondered whether the problem was the dryer, but we have had the spots on some clothes that we have air dried or dried elsewhere.

"We know that the problem is not the hot water heater because it happens to clothes washed and rinsed in cold water. We have consulted with an appliance repair person (when we had the previous washer), a handyman, and a plumber, and none of them can figure out what is wrong. We have city water and we wonder whether there could be something in our pipes, but they are copper including the pipe to the water source. We were told that corrosion would be unlikely. We are desperate to find an answer to this problem, and we have tried everything that we can think of. Can you offer some advice? Thanks Christine."

I am sitting here scratching my head just the way Jim Carrey did it in the movie, Dumb and Dumber. Let's look at some facts about stains that occur on items being washed and how they get there. We are not going to blame the washer because you illuminated that possibility in your e-mail to me.

Fabric softener has always been a leading contender in the stain race but that is also out of the picture. The hot water heater is also removed from the story, which leads us to the only area of possibility, the rubber fill hoses. But wait, it can't be the hoses! You had a new washer installed and I'm sure they used the new hoses that came with the washer, right? Transmissions can leak oil into a washer tub but that's been ruled out as well. Your washer doesn't have a transmission. My dear Christine, I would love to give you an answer to this problem but I am stumped. I will count on some of the readers to come up with a prescription and pass it on to you. Stay tuned.

Spencer-Jacovetti
 John and Laurie Spencer of Lakeland, Fla., and formerly of Redford, announce the marriage of their daughter, Crystal Marie, to Christopher Andrew Jacovetti, son of Bill and Karen Jacovetti of Livonia. The bride is a 2000 graduate of Redford's Thurston High School and she currently attends Daytona University. The groom is a 1997 graduate of Catholic Central High School and he works as manager of Sunbelt Rentals in Ormond Beach, Fla. The couple wed Aug. 8, 2008 at the First Church of the Nazarene. A reception followed at the Italian American Club.

ANNIVERSARY

Golden anniversary
 Cornelius and Jean (Duty) Van Boven of Canton are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary this month. The couple wed Dec. 27, 1958 at Newburg Methodist Church in Livonia. They have lived in Livonia for 58 years and are parents to James VanBoven of Canton and Brian VanBoven of Redford Township. They have one grandchild. Cornelius VanBoven worked at Teamsters Trucking and Jean worked for Plymouth Canton Community Schools until retiring 23 years ago. They've been members of the American Legion in Plymouth for 43 years. The couple will celebrate their anniversary with a trip to Hawaii.

Staying on track

Enjoy but choose holiday food carefully

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
OSE STAFF WRITER

It's all right to enjoy that slice of pumpkin pie or cookie at a holiday gathering, just remember to get back on track at the next meal. That's the advice of local registered dietitians this season. Gail Posner plans to eat the delicious foods at her family's Hanukkah celebrations, but limit portions. She cautions clients at Healthy Ways Nutrition Counseling in West Bloomfield not to arrive at parties hungry, but fill up on vegetables and fruits before leaving the house.

"The goal is not weight loss but weight maintenance. Who wants to deal with an extra five to seven pounds, the average gain over the holiday?" said Posner. "A cup of eggnog is 500 calories, martinis and daiquiris a good 350 calories. Try some alternatives like red vitamin water which has holiday color and is loaded with antioxidants: acia, blueberry and pomegranate, a good protector for our health with extra vitamin C. If you are going to drink, I encourage people to go every other drink, have a glass of water, Perrier, in between. Enjoy the holiday specials but keep them in check."

When it's time for dinner, make sure one half of the plate is vegetables, the other one table-spoon servings of high calorie items.

"You can always go back and try all the different things that people make, and eat slow,"

'After the party, be careful of dangerous leftovers. People do fine at a party and gain weight afterwards. Give leftovers to your guests.'

GAIL POSNER, registered dietitian said Posner. "After the party, be careful of dangerous leftovers. People do fine at a party and gain weight afterwards. Give leftovers to your guests."

For Thanksgiving, Posner arrived at her sister-in-law's home with a salad, spinach Parmesan side dish, and fruit for dessert. In addition to vegetables, she ate turkey and a bite of sweet potato. Her motto is don't eat an entire serving when a taste could satisfy the craving.

"It's fine to enjoy these holiday items, but if you're going to eat a cookie have a glass of water between each delicious item, have one and then a cup of tea or water before enjoying the next one," said Posner. "We all get off track, don't wait till Jan. 1 to get back on."

As a certified diabetes educator at Troy Beaumont Hospital, Judith Pegg offers tips anyone can use to avoid weight gain. She especially warns those with a family history of diabetes to be aware of the consequences of obesity.

Pegg's mother died of complications and her grandmother had both legs amputated because of diabetes. Her hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) is a precursor to the disease.

"You don't have to avoid anything in their diet. You have to learn to put it in your diet. Figure that chocolate in if that's going to help you feel satisfied," said Pegg, a registered nurse who gives presentations for the American Diabetes Association. "If you're going to a party allow one carbohydrate, a few crackers and cheese, for your evening snack. People shouldn't be drinking unless blood sugar is under control and depending on medication and then one drink for women, two for men. And don't stand by the appetizer table. If you're going to stand there talking to someone, turn your back."

For many, weight loss means changing their lifestyle.

Pegg grew up in a large Italian family where food was the focus of celebrations. For Thanksgiving, she cooked a traditional dinner but made the stuffing with less fat and then baked it separately. Pegg admits she wasn't always conscious of her choices until her husband had a heart attack two years ago at age 55.

"Changing the way you do anything during the holidays is difficult. It's important to stay focused," said Pegg. "If they have pre-diabetes with numbers higher than normal but not high enough to be diagnosed, they need to start living different, learn to change their lifestyle. They could possibly avoid ever going into diabetes. It's a chronic disease with no cure."

Ryan Maiké, 18, of Farmington Hills, practices his song during a recent rehearsal for the Farmington Community Chorus holiday concert at Oakland Community College.

Chorus member carries on family tradition

BY STACY JENKINS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Ryan Maiké remembers being in awe of the Farmington Community Chorus, when he would attend concerts with his grandparents.

Maiké's grandparents, Jim and Dorothy Miller, were long-time members of the chorus, but have since moved out of the area.

Since they're in Arizona, currently, Maiké, 18, said he plans to send them a video of the concert, in which he will perform a solo of the song, God Bless the Broken Road, at the FCC's holiday concert, "Joy!" at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 18, Friday, Dec. 19, and Saturday, Dec. 20, at the L.C. Smith Auditorium at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Hills.

Maiké said his grandparents have always been a musical couple who encouraged his pursuit of music.

"I grew up with them always singing," he said. "I would listen to tapes of them singing. Throughout the years, my grandparents were big advocates for me getting involved in music."

They paid for Maiké to take piano lessons, guitar and voice lessons.

Maiké, who is a student at OCC, was looking to join a singing group and saw the FCC notice at OCC.

"For the last couple of years, I had been singing in a group," he said. "Once I graduated from high school, and was in college, I knew I had to find a place to sing. I didn't know this was the same group that my grandparents were in, but once I found out, all of those memories came back. I was like, 'Wow! I have the chance to be in that choir?'"

He's enjoying his FCC experience so far.

"I've enjoyed getting to know people," he said. "There is such a wealth of knowledge about music and about life."

Maiké, who lives in Farmington Hills, said he enjoys the leadership of Director Steve SeGraves.

"He does a really incredible job of leading us," he said.

The Farmington Community

Chorus is a 80-voice mixed chorus, which will be joined by dancers and instrumentalists for the concert.

This year, for the first time, talented music students from OCC have auditioned to join the FCC and are earning college credit. Directed by SeGraves and accompanied by assistant director Susan Garr, the chorus will perform a variety of holiday music including Sweet Little Jesus Boy, Boogie Woogie Hanukkah, Christmas Joy, It's the Holiday Season, and Still, Still, Still as well as solo and small group numbers.

Tickets are $15 and can be ordered in advance. A limited number will be available at the door. To order advance tickets, call the FCC ticket line at (810) 632-4067 or the Costick Activities Center, 28600 W. 11 Mile in Farmington Hills at (248) 473-1800. Tickets may also be bought from FCC members.

For more information about the Farmington Community Chorus, contact manager Kathy Hall at (248) 471-4516 or visit www.farmingtonchorus.com.

Celebrate winter solstice with music, dance, stories

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

If you dread winter's arrival next week, the Rev. Leonetta Bugleisi and the Paint Creek Unitarian Universalist Congregation might just change your mind. She and her congregation are busy transforming the American Legion Hall — where they hold weekly services in downtown Rochester — into a winter wonderland of snowflakes and icy silver and blue decorations.

"We go bozo mundo with decorating," said Bugleisi, who will lead the church's Fifth Annual Solstice Ritual at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 19, in the hall at Third and Walnut, a block west of Main.

The celebration will be heavy on cultural arts, too. The church choir will sing; the Lake Orion Drummers will sound out the beat on their African hand drums; dancers gracefully will glide into the hall to the music of Sarah McLachlan; and the sounds of Toronto musician Loreena McKennett will set the mood for contemplation.

TELL ME A STORY

Dramatic storytelling, complete with gods and goddesses, ice fairies, elves, trolls and a Viking-druid solstice tale about the mischievous Loki, a shape-shifter, serves as the centerpiece of the event.

"It's an old story that taps into the druids and the meaning of mistletoe, which was called 'all heal' and was said to avert ill luck to herds. The kissing thing came later with the English," Bugleisi noted.

The congregation and visitors will have lots of opportunities to participate in chanting, dancing and music-making. Shakers and other small percussion instruments will be on hand for their use and everyone will join in on the final song, Ritchie Havens' rendition of Here Comes the Sun.

"Last year we did a pine cone exchange. Every pine cone had a peace message on it. They were in baskets and everyone took one and read the message. Then they exchanged pine cones. I might do it again this year."

Participants will spend some time in personal reflection and meditation and in a guided visualization.

"Someone gave us a good CD last year of the sounds the sun makes. We also have this cool noise, the scientific voice of the sun."

MARKING THE DATE

Bugleisi said the winter solstice is universally celebrated in all cultures because it signifies the start of gradually lengthening days and the return of the sun.

"We are all so dependent on the sun and its return ... it's the juxtaposition, the contrast of the darkness and of wanting the light to return," she said. "It's a metaphor spiritually ... we carry the light within us."

She refutes the idea that celebrating seasonal change is anti-Christian.

"We are trans-Christian. We study Christianity and other religions," she said.

"I'd encourage people to check out the Web on Newgrange Ireland and Stonehenge in England. They'd see that something was going on before Christianity. Our ancestral stories go back long periods of time and are richer than just one culture."

Both the monuments at Stonehenge and the tomb at Newgrange were built so that they aligned with the solstice. At Newgrange, for example, a shaft of sunlight penetrates the tomb's central chamber at dawn on the winter solstice.

Bugleisi describes the annual gathering at her church as a "totally commercial-free ritual that transcends all religious interpretations of the holidays." It's designed for ages 6 and up.

"Some people last year brought their teenagers and they (the teens) loved it. They said 'This is the first service we went to that we didn't feel bad or guilty.'"

"People really appreciate it. Hopefully, they're coming here annually for it."

JOB SATISFACTION AND THE AMERICAN DREAM

WORKWISE
by
Mildred L. Culp

Where does work figure in the American Dream? J. Walter Thompson's report from a survey of 2,112 Americans at least 18 years old presents trends generationaly. Ann Mack, director of Trendspotting, maintains that "for older Americans, the Dream is about freedom, as well as the possibility of building a good life through hard work. Younger Americans tend to take for granted the conditions appreciated by older generations; theirs is a dream with bigger aspirations in terms of fame, fortune and happiness." However, job satisfaction would seem to be essential to the Dream, regardless of age.

EMPLOYER/EMPLOYEE PARTNERING
Former dairy farmer Charles Isaak, inventory manager at Pacific Steel & Recycling (PS&R) in Great Falls, Mont., joined the company 12 years ago. PS&R has more than 700 employees, all owners of the company, across seven states. Isaak believes that his company aids him in achieving job satisfaction, which in turn motivates the company. "I've been encouraged to work my way up," he says, "through training and by letting people know I'm motivated."

When the CEO offered him management training, he grabbed it. Then came the opportunity to relocate to headquarters from his hometown in Aberdeen, Idaho, where he'd worked for 10 years. He'd lived in only one other place. The CEO offered him an out-of-state mentor to meet with him once a month for six months to help define his new position. Isaak sees a broad attempt to partner with employees. A consulting firm is working with around 150 to 200 managers, assistant managers and foremen to improve relationships at work and at home. This effort will eventually benefit the entire company. PS&R partners financially, too. When the ROI is on target, employees get a bonus, even if they've worked there only two weeks. Since 1977, the company has paid two bonuses every year to some of its employees.

LEGAL WORK
Criminal lawyer Anthony Colleluori of Woodbury, N.Y., The Law Offices of Anthony J. Colleluori & Associates P.L.L.C., loves litigating. "I have a niche practice I find exhilarating and I pinch myself everyday because I love being an attorney so much," he says. "I try to put clients first. I get to help people in a time of their lives when all others have abandoned them and their family."

He engages clients and the professional community, M.D.s and psychotherapists, to identify what will forestall re-offending by defendants. "I try not to worry about money," he observes. "Then as a result, I get good results and happy clients and I make money. I feel blessed to be a lawyer."

THE ENVIRONMENT
Lisa Kivirist, co-author, with John Ivankov, of "ECOpreneur: Putting Purpose and the Planet Before Profits," abandoned corporate excess to run multiple businesses, including bed and breakfast Inn Serendipity, on her Brownstown, Wis., organic farm (New Society Publishers, $17.95). She believes that self-employment exemplifies the American Dream, integrating independence, control over the work environment and personal passion with a debt-free, self-reliant lifestyle. "It's work but it's so much more than that to me," she explains. "We all need to earn a living," she continues. "Doing everything smartly and strategically and still loving what you do when you go to bed (is the American Dream). We live very well on less."

VALUES
Colleluori, the attorney, ranks his fulfilling employment second or third in his life. Family comes first, while religious faith and employment vie for second -- the latter, "exceptionally important."

For Isaak, faith comes first, then family, then employment. "At the end of the day," he comments, "I like to say I made a difference."

Kivirist, the ecopreneur, views work socially. She believes that "work should be right up there. If it isn't, we're really missing something as a nation."

All consider job satisfaction a key component of the American Dream. (Dr. Mildred L. Culp is an award-winning journalist. E-mail your questions to culp@workwise.net. Copyright 2008 Passage Media.)
