City to use sump pumps to handle overflows

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Spend $2 million to disconnect residential footing drains and avoid having to participate in a $100 million regional project to store excess stormwater discharge.

The Westland City Council recently awarded a contract to Bidigare Contractors Inc. for work disconnecting 250 homes from existing footing drains and installing sump pumps. The city has 170 volunteers participating in the program, which will begin in the spring.

"We'll need another 80 more homes and we're looking for residents to participate. There is an advantage to the city and also to the residents - they will get a sump pump," Westland Department of Public Services Director Kevin Buford said. "This takes water away from the foundation of their homes."

Homes constructed before 1980 were built without sump pumps, Buford said, unless the homeowner happened to have one installed. Instead, stormwater would be directed from the weeping tile around the foundation of the home into the combined stormwater-sanitary sewer - and that's the problem.

When there is a heavy rain, stormwater going into the sanitary sewer can overwhelm the system and cause sewer overflows which release untreated sewage into the Rouge River and, in some instances, residential basements.

"Stormwater doesn't need to be treated, sewage has to be contained and treated," Buford said. "We had overflow problems in the mid to late 1990s and a 2001 event. In 2002-03, we had no problems."

Under a final abatement order with the Department of Environmental Quality, area communities, including Westland have until 2012 to get their sanitary discharge under control or buy into a regional system.

In Westland, the city is allowed discharge of 81 cubic feet per second - a number the city stays below during times of normal flow, Buford said. The city has seen discharge of 84-87 cfs

Relay for Life kick-off honors cancer survivors

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A cancer survivor for over six years, Janet Baracy recalls her cousin who was diagnosed with the same type of breast cancer at the same age but years earlier.

"She wasn't as lucky. There were new treatments that saved my life. The money we raise goes to research. That's why we're here," Baracy told about 100 people gathered for the official kick-off for the 2010 Westland American Cancer Society Relay for Life. "If I had gotten this 15 years ago, I wouldn't have survived this disease."

This is the 10th year for Westland's Relay for Life, a 24-hour event that will begin 10 a.m. Saturday, May 22, in Jaycee Park. There are a variety of activities over the 24 hours and teams have someone walking on the track throughout the event, signifying that cancer never sleeps.

Through a wide range of fund-raisers prior to and during the event, 33 teams last year raised almost $100,000 for the American Cancer Society. Most of the funding goes toward research - the American Cancer Society is second only to the federal government when it comes to funding research.

"They also do a lot of what could be considered little things. It was a not if I would lose my hair but when," said Baracy, who underwent both chemotherapy and radiation treatments. "The American Cancer Society gave me a coupon for a wig. A lot of insurance won't pay for that. People can't

The theme for the 2010 event is celebrating more birthdays. Cancer survivors were recognized and presented with cupcakes, including a candle.

"More often than not people have been affected by cancer. There are 30 people diagnosed with cancer each day in Wayne County," said American Cancer Society representative Sarah Sherwood.

Westland man ticketed for misusing library computer

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A Westland man has been ticketed for viewing pornography on a computer at Westland's Faust Library earlier this month.

The initial complaint made to Westland police was that someone was looking at what may have been child pornography, which is illegal.

"I did an examination on the computer and there was no child pornography on there," said Westland police Sgt. Brian Miller, who is assigned to the Internet Crimes Against Children Task Force headed by the Michigan State Police. "He was viewing adult pornography in plain view of everyone in the library."

The man, 36, was cited for violating a city ordinance on obscene material and also ticketed for resisting arrest after struggling with the officers who escorted him from the library on Feb. 5.

"The officers stood behind him for a minute or so. He was so into it, he didn't notice two uniformed officers and a (police) dog," said Miller.

The library has a zero tolerance policy toward viewing any type of pornography on the library computers, Library Director Cheryl Napsha said at the time of the incident.

All of the library's public use computers have screens that are in plain view of staff and other patrons. Napsha said that when someone is spotted viewing inappropriate material, the library staff will log off the computer they are using and warn them that if it happens again, they will no longer be allowed to use the library computers.

People sometimes will use a library computer to look at pornography because they don't have Internet access at home, or wish to keep parents or a spouse from knowing which sites they are accessing, Miller said.

Two men face trial in theft of coaxial cable

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Two men have been charged in connection with the theft of more than $6,000 of coaxial cable from a Westland business.

Employees at T-Mobile, 400 Manufacturing Drive, discovered two spools of cable missing earlier this month. Checking security video, employees reportedly found the cable had been taken a couple of weeks earlier by suspects using a hacksaw to cut the cable into three-foot lengths which were thrown over the fence.

"Lincoln Park police arrested (the suspects) for stealing cable at an AT&T place. It was late at night - a neighbor saw them and called police," Westland police Sgt. Steve Borisch said.

Thomas

"I had been working with AT&T on another case and they told me about the arrests."

The men arrested in the Lincoln Park case were driving a minivan - the same kind of vehicle reportedly used by the suspects in the Westland case when cable was stolen from the T-Mobile location.

"I went to look at the minivan, it looked the same," Borisch said. "Inside I found a receipt from a scrap yard. I went to the scrap yard in Wayne. They just get ID (from sellers), but the guy knew them - they were regular customers. They both confessed to taking part in the thefts at T-Mobile. They both said they had a heroin problem and this led to the thefts."

James Doyle, 21, of Westland and William Thomas, 31, of Wayne, each waived their preliminary examination in 18th District Court Thursday on charges of receiving and concealing stolen property and selling stolen non-ferrous metals, the latter a five-year felony. Not guilty pleas had been entered for each.

Considered an habitual offender, Doyle is being held in lieu of $20,000/10 percent bonds in both Westland and Lincoln Park. Thomas, who had been released from the

Relay organizers aim for 40 teams

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

As the Westland Relay for Life celebrates 10 years, organizers are working to include more neighbors from Wayne in the event.

The official kick-off, which drew about 100 people, was held for the first time at Wayne Community Center in an effort to recognize the joint effort.

"It's awesome, a great turnout — maybe our biggest yet," said Kelly Lawrence, who chairs the event which raises money for the American Cancer Society. "I see people from Wayne and some new people."

Currently, 20 teams have signed up for the 2010 event which will be held 10 a.m. Saturday, May 22, to 10 a.m. Sunday, May 23, in Jaycee Park.

Last year, 33 teams raised nearly $100,000 for the American Cancer Society. The goal is for Westland to have 40 teams this year, said Sarah Sherwood, American Cancer Society representative.

"We don't really track how many people participate. There are usually 10-15 people on a team plus all the public who stop by," said Sherwood. "This is the 10th-year anniversary with Westland. We'd like to call back some of our old teams from the past and keep it growing. People can start a team or just come out."

Wearing a head band decorated with cloth birthday candles in honor of the theme of celebrating more birthdays, team development chair Lisa Hamlett encouraged people to form teams.

"It's fun and it's easy. You won't regret your decision," she said. "We're here to give you fund-raising ideas and to support you. It's not that hard."

Anyone interested in registering a team or getting more information about the event can visit www.RelayForLife.org/WestlandMI.

Gebhardt seeks 2nd term as county commissioner

Wayne County Commissioner Joan Gebhardt, D-Livonia, has announced she will seek re-election to the commission in 2010.

Gebhardt

Gebhardt represents District 12, which includes the communities of Westland, Inkster and the southern portion of Livonia.

"Wayne County faces many severe budget challenges going forward, and I believe my leadership and financial management skills will best serve the communities and constituents of District 12," Gebhardt said.

Gebhardt became commissioner in January 2009. During her first term in office, she said she has made Wayne County government more accessible to citizens by holding local office hours in her district four times each month. The commission has held full board meetings in Inkster and Westland. It will hold one in Livonia during the next 12 months.

Gebhardt said she has led an effort to reduce the commission's budget by $1.6 million and enacted a 10 percent pay cut for commissioners that took effect this past October. As commissioner, she said she has pushed for openness and transparency in government by posting her office expenditures online.

As a Wayne County commissioner, she serves on the Committee on Government Operations, Committee on Ways and Means and the Committee on Public Services. Gebhardt also is vice-president to the executive committee of SEMCOG, serves on the board of directors for the Head Start Governing Board and the Great Start Collaborative, and is a trustee for Schoolcraft College.

"I look forward to serving District 12 for another term, and will continue working hard with community leaders to attract new jobs and investment to the county," Gebhardt added. "I will also ensure that taxpayer dollars are spent responsibly."

The 2010 primary election is Aug. 3 while the 2010 general election is Nov. 2.

Westland resident Patricia Sullivan, 74, was singled out among the survivors — she was diagnosed with breast cancer 53 years ago. At 21, Sullivan discovered a lump in her breast after getting tossed around at a dance on ship traveling on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

"I was checking to see if I was OK. They had no treatment but surgery in those days. I found the lump and had surgery right away," said Sullivan. "They did a biopsy while I was under (anesthetic) and did a radical mastectomy. They tested the lymph nodes. They hadn't developed chemotherapy or radiation yet."

Sullivan, who worked in nursing, recalled that for about a year she had the dubious honor of being the youngest patient treated for breast can-

During the relay, there is victory lap for survivors, a silent luminaria walk remembering those lost to cancer and recognition of caregivers. There is also music, entertainment, food and a lot of activities.

Animal licenses

The last day to purchase an animal license in Westland without penalty is Monday, March 1. Pets must be licensed as soon as they are old enough to be vaccinated by the veterinarian - four months old.

The cost is $12 per animal or $6 if the animal is spayed or neutered. Stop at the Westland Clerk's Office during regular business hours. City ordinance also limits pet ownership to three animals per household or a kennel license is required. The late fee will be waived for new residents or those who acquire a new pet after the March 1 deadline. For more information, call (734) 467-3185.

during storms.

Wayne County will meter their entire sewer system in 2011, Buford said, so it will be known exactly how much is being discharged and from where. Once that is determined, the county drain commission can assess communities for their share of the storage tunnel, which has estimates of $80 million to $200 million.

"We decided we've got to do something. The system improvements will help the system and also get us down from 84-87 cfs on the high end," Buford said.

Now that storm and sanitary sewers have been separated, the city is addressing the footing drains, manhole rehabilitation and sewer relining to reduce stormwater discharge or infiltration into the sanitary sewer.

"We're 100 percent positive we know what areas get the flow. We know the areas that need correction - some areas are perfect," Buford said.

This project is for 250 homes to have footing drains disconnected, but Buford said the city would like to do more homes as funding becomes available. An estimated 1,000 homes have the footing drains with concentrations in the areas of Norwayne, Inkster Road and Henry Ruff and Merriman and Ann Arbor Trail.

Wayne County Jail on an electronic tether, turned himself in and was released on personal bond. Both are scheduled for Wayne County Circuit Court arraignment on March 4.

• Two Inkster men were arrested Friday morning for allegedly stealing scrap copper wiring from Plastipak, a bottle manufacturer located on Hix.

Work was being done at the business, Borisch said, with scrap copper wiring being placed into a bin from H & H Metals, which was hired to recycle the material.

When the wire disappeared from the bin, Borisch said surveillance video showed subjects in a pickup truck were seen taking the material on Saturday-Sunday, Feb. 21-22.

As it happened, the suspects allegedly sold the scrap wire to H & H Metals, located in Inkster.

"They keep very good records (of sellers) with a thumbprint," said Borisch, who tracked the pair to a home on Rosewood in Inkster with the assistance from Inkster police.

The two men, ages 29 and 27, are jailed and expected to be arraigned Monday on charges of larceny and trespassing. The 29-year-old is also facing a crack cocaine possession charge. An officer reported recovering a rock of crack cocaine in the back seat of his patrol car after transporting the man following his arrest.

"Their story was that an employee told them they could take the wire but the employee said that wasn't the case," Borisch said. "They had to pass two 'no trespassing' signs to get to the recycling."

Five nominated for Westland ATHENA Award

The chocolate will be flowing when the Women of Westland and their guests gather Saturday, March 6, for their sixth annual Westland ATHENA Chocolate Fantasy Ball.

Five have been nominated for the ATHENA award, which recognizes a man or woman for excellence, creativity and initiative in their business or profession, contribution of time and talent to improve the quality of life for others and assisting women in realizing their full leadership potential.

The ball will be 6-10 p.m. at Joy Manor, 28999 Joy Road, east of Middlebelt, in Westland. It will feature a cash bar, hors d'oeuvres, a chocolate dessert extravaganza and silent auction. Proceeds from the event will be donated to the Barbara Douglas Scholarship Program.

This year's ATHENA nominees include Desiree Herrick, Barbara Schimmel Marcum, Margaret Reyez, Scherice Roark and Jessica O'Leary.

Herrick was nominated by Theresa Bizoe, associate director of First Step where she has worked for 11 years as a children's advocate, children's program coordinator, crisis line coordinator and sexual assault outreach coordinator. She currently is First Step's non-residential program coordinator.

She has received the Wayne County Council Against Family Violence Spirit Award, the MCADSV Children's Task Outstanding Child's Advocate in 2001 and 2005. She also developed the Keeping Kids Safe program, a violence prevention curriculum for elementary school children which has been recognized by Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan as a model program.

Schimmel Marcum is the director of the Westland Senior Resources Department. An experienced gerontologist, she works "tirelessly" to ensure that the city's older adult community leads fulfilling lives and helps bridge the gap between young and older through community service. She sits on the Board of Directors of Senior Alliance and is a strong advocate for the Meals on Wheels program.

She received a Woman of Distinction Award from Wayne County Commissioner Joan Gebhardt, D-Livonia in 2009 in recognition of her community service.

Reyez is a long-time

Westland resident who works as an instructional media center clerk for the Wayne-Westland Community School. She also is a history presented in the dramatic program at Greenfield Village, appearing as the school marm in the 1871 Scotch Settlement House.

She is a certified youth minister at Ss. Simon and Jude Church and a certified coordinator of Rainbows for All God's Children, a support program for children suffering from the loss of parent through death or divorce. She also has been involved in the Mother Cabrini Ladies Guild at Ss. Simon and Jude and president of the PTA at Kettering Elementary school.

Roark is director of transportation for the Wayne-Westland Community Schools and supervises 74 bus drivers, 30 attendants, five mechanics and office staff. She is an expert with bus routing software and the excellence she demands from her mostly female staff is evident from the results of competitions and inspections. Two Wayne-Westland bus drivers won first- and third-place in the 2009 School bus rodeo, and school bus inspections by the

O'Leary is the GEAR Up Ladies of Leadership co-facilitator at Wayne Memorial High School where she plans after school activities to provide her students with awareness, understanding and skills they need to become community leaders.

She has organized field trips for LOL members and organized community service, such as gardening with middle school students and caring for animals at the Michigan Humane Society shelter. She also has helped collect items for a local teen home and has met weekly with women at a female correction facility in Ypsilanti.

Tickets cost $20 each and are available by calling Meghan Giersdorf at (248) 255-8241 or Women of Westland at (734) 467-9113.

Mom's book shares joy of special-needs son

BY JULIE BROWN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Joan Broggi's heart is full of love for her 19-year-old son, Alex.

"He's so humble," the Plymouth Township woman said of Alex, who has epilepsy which led to mental impairment when he was younger. "He has the kindest, purest heart."

She and husband Nick, also parents to three other children, have found their lives enriched by Alex, prompting her to write Bursting with Joy: Discovering Universal Truths Through Our Special Son (Ferne Press/Nelson Publishing & Marketing).

"My goal is just to give hope and inspiration to others," said Broggi, a substitute teacher in Livonia Public Schools whose work includes special education classrooms. She hopes not just parents of special needs children but all who read her book will embrace gifts given.

"This can be a good thing if I look at it with the right eyes," the author said.

"This is kind of their journey," said Plymouth Township resident MaryAnn McAuliffe, Broggi's sister. Alex had his first seizure at 6 months, and became cognitively impaired.

"When he was younger, he had a lot of seizures," McAuliffe said. "Now he has maybe one a month." Alex, a Livonia Franklin High School graduate, attends the Western Wayne Skills Center of the Livonia school district, learning life skills aimed at giving greater independence.

"There's just a real simplicity to him. He just sees the good in everyone," she said of her nephew. Alex tells women and girls, including those with Down syndrome, that they're beautiful.

The sisters grew up in a family with eight kids, and are close-knit. Alex's youngest sister is a high school sophomore and he has two older siblings, a brother at Michigan State University and a sister doing graduate work in occupational therapy at Eastern Michigan University.

Broggi's writing is based

in part on Elisabeth Kübler-Ross' On Death and Dying, which details the steps associated with death.

Bursting with Joy is available through amazon.com and at Border's and Barnes & Noble. For more on the author, visit www.joanbroggi-books.com. Joan Broggi's busy right now with the book launch, including at the family church, Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic, as well as NorthRidge Church, also in Plymouth Township.

She's doing speaking engagements, including one to her EMU daughter's program. Alex attended and was front and center with a big grin.

"It was so endearing," she said of Alex, who signed books that day. His mental age is, around 8.

"I've been wanting to do it for 19 years," Broggi said of her book. The family lived for a time in Princeton, N.J., when Alex was younger. When they returned to Michigan, she began subbing in the Livonia district, where a colleague encouraged her to share her experiences in writing.

It took her three months of putting pen to paper, followed by editing by the Northville-based Ferne Press. "It's a very positive take," she said of the book and her family's life. Broggi adds a sixth stage, joy, to Kübler-Ross' five stages.

Friends have read the book, and one with a special-needs child became tearful. "She said I'm at the joy stage with my son." That reaction makes the work worthwhile for Broggi.

She got an added impetus at Alex's high school graduation: "There was just so much love bestowed on him as a result of who he is," she said.

A portion of proceeds will go to the Epilepsy Foundation of Michigan, Special Olympics and Arc of Western Wayne County, in keeping with the family's beliefs in giving back. "When you start changing that focus, your life changes," Broggi said of having a special-needs child.

Girls in regular education classes at his school have enjoyed working with Alex. "They come out of it changed," she said. "He doesn't see physical beauty. He just sees the person."

She's read to Alex from book chapters, and he's been surprised there's a book about him. Some experiences were a little hard to relive, his mother said.

"It was very therapeutic for me, too." Her husband and the rest of her family have also been extremely supportive, and Alex has brought compassion and optimism into their lives.

Broggi, who earned a bachelor's degree in general studies from the University of Michigan in 1982, continues to substitute teach in the Livonia district. She has less time now for that with book marketing.

RESA eyes millage to help struggling districts

BY BRAD KADRICH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

In an effort to help its struggling school districts, Wayne County RESA officials are considering asking voters county-wide to pass a 1.9-mill tax increase that would send millions of dollars back to individual districts.

RESA officials believe the 10-year millage, if approved, would generate some $92 million in school enhancement money that would be redirected to individual districts based on the community's property values and student-count.

According to Steve Ezikian, Wayne RESA's assistant superintendent for finance and administration, RESA is considering the millage proposal to help districts who have no other option.

"We're the only ones who can do it," Ezikian said. "Proposal A took away local districts' ability to levy any millage. The only action left (by state law) is a county-wide enhancement bill."

No official decision can be made, Ezikian said, until boards of education in each individual district decide whether they would support it. A poll commissioned by RESA found county voters essentially split on the issue, Ezikian said.

Wayne-Westland Superintendent Greg Baracy said he'd be in favor of RESA's idea for the 1.9-mill county-wide enhancement. In fact, Baracy said, he's been clamoring for it for years.

"I have been supportive of exploring a county-wide enhancement millage for the past several years," Baracy said. "We are prohibited — as most districts are — from going back to our community and ask for any kind of help on the operations side."

Baracy said his own feelings are fueled by those displayed by parents — and potential voters — in his district. He said "dozens and dozens and dozens" of them have approached him, as Wayne-Westland deals with its shrinking budget, wondering why the district doesn't ask for local help.

"Over the last few years,

WHO WOULD GET WHAT?

If Wayne County RESA decides to go for a 1.9-mill tax to enhance school operating funds, here's how each district would benefit based on pupil count:

District	Pupils	District share
Garden City	5,280	$1.8 million
Livonia	16,934	$5.8 million
Northville	7,272	$2.5 million
Plymouth-Canton	19,000	$6.5 million
Redford Union	3,517	$1.2 million
South Redford	3,401	$1.1 million
Van Buren	5,882	$2 million
Wayne-Westland	13,065	$4.48 million especially, they say to me, 'Why don't you just ask us for some help to offset this state budget crisis and all the cuts Lansing has imposed upon you?' Our parents are more and more understanding there is a real structural problem in Lansing with how schools are funded.

"There's no help for us in the foreseeable future," he added. "We cannot sustain what we have today, and most of us have already made significant cuts in programs and contracts, all those things."

The poll, commissioned by RESA and conducted by Mitchel Research & Communications in East Lansing, shows some 43 percent of respondents who said they would either vote "yes" or were leaning that way. Some 44 percent would vote "no," and another 6 percent were leaning that way.

"The poll was pretty even in terms of how voters feel about a millage," Ezikian said. "It wasn't strongly in favor or against."

The millage would generate some $6.5 million in enhancement funds in Plymouth-Canton, money that would go directly into the general fund. That fund, according to figures to come up some $9 million short and would have to be supplemented from the district's $11 million fund balance.

The RESA proposal could get sticky in Garden City, where the district tried — and failed by a few hundreds votes — to get a .5-mill sinking fund approved in November. That two-year millage would have generated some $300,000. District officials are contemplating trying again, and the RESA millage might jeopardize it.

"We'd like to go for it again, but we want to be thoughtful of our community and their economic needs," said Garden City Superintendent Michelle Cline. "By all means, I'm supportive (of the RESA plan). We just need to think about our own separate needs we have as a district."

The RESA proposal, if passed, would generate some $1.8 million for Garden City schools, money the district's leader knows would come in handy.

"The challenge is knowing we will benefit, but we have to coordinate our needs so our taxpayers aren't overburdened," Cline said. "I think it's going to be challenging (to pass), but I don't think we have much of a choice but to try."

In Livonia, the district stands to gain some $5.8 million if RESA goes after, and gets, the millage.

But the district's administrator of communications, Donna McDowell, said the proposal hasn't even been discussed between Superintendent Randy Liepa and his Board of Education.

"Nothing has really been decided yet," McDowell said. "All the districts are looking at all their options, and this is only one of those."

Blanchard, Engler push for new bridge

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Former governors Jim Blanchard and John Engler met on stages before for debates during the 1990 gubernatorial campaign, but they cast aside their old politicking and political differences Thursday at Michigan State University's Michigan Political Leadership Program at Laurel Manor in Livonia.

Both ex-governors agreed the political parties need to work together to turn Michigan's economy around and believe a second bridge to Canada needs to be built to encourage trade with Canada and help the state's manufacturing base.

"I'm absolutely certain our state is too great to be kept down much longer," Blanchard said. "Sooner or later, the great state of Michigan will rise again. The only question is when, and how and what can we do about it."

Blanchard also encouraged several office holders and potential future political candidates not to use excuses, characterize Michigan as a "victim" or blame foreigners, Wall Street or trade policies for the state's economic woes. "Tell them to go run for office somewhere else," he said.

Engler said Michigan, as a manufacturing state, cannot afford to live in the past. "You'd better be forward looking; you'd better be looking ahead," Engler said.

Engler believes that the United States needs to cut its corporate tax rate, the second highest among industrial nations. "Just as Michigan faces competition with Indiana, so does the United States face competition from nations all over the world," he said. "Global industry affects global competition." Cutting the corporate tax from 33 percent to 22 percent will put the United States in the middle of the pack of industrialized nations and help create 2.1 million jobs by 2019, Engler said.

Engler said Michigan needs to work on a bridge plan and "get that done." Blanchard also emphasized the immediate need for it.

Michigan needs to have the best schools, Engler said. "I've always said the state with the best schools wins," he said. "We're spending enough money; we're just not getting the results." Engler said there was "no excuse" for a third-grader's inability to read. Blanchard said: "Money isn't everything, but it sure helps." The state still needs to provide for students, he said.

Neither of the former governors would endorse any of the declared candidates. Neither expressed a desire to return to the political arena. "Been there, done that," Blanchard said. Engler joked that he was raising three girls in the ninth grade so he already had "a house full of drama." He quickly added on a serious note that he hoped Michigan voters would elect people who care about manufacturing.

Engler encouraged a "competition of ideas" during the state's current budget discussion. "You ought to think about how you can do a better job," he said.

Blanchard encouraged candidates to make sure that they "love this state, and not just yourselves," he said. "Make sure you want to serve."

Engler had advice during his opening comments for the new Fellows of the MPLP and recent graduates. "Taxes come up all the time," Engler said. "In your political career, people will face this (budget problem) to raise taxes. It will be seductive. But our global competitors, that's not what they are doing."

See Better With Glasses For LOW VISION!

"...They are better than I thought they were going to be. I see better than I ever thought I'd see again!"
~ Marsha Heath

Marsha Heath suffers from retinopathy of prematurity since infancy and glaucoma later in life.

Marsha had worked as a secretary but retired a year earlier. Presently legally blind, she came to Low Vision of Michigan using the assistance of a white cane to travel due to tunnel vision. Marsha wanted help with reading, computers and seeing faces.

Low Vision of Michigan fitted Marsha with very strong custom reading lens or microscope glasses. With proper lighting, Marsha is reading standard print again. A second pair of telescopic spectacles was made to help see faces and television. With an extra adapter, her telescope glasses also help her see the computer.

"I really like them. The reading glasses work good, the telescopic glasses work good. I really like them, they work really good for TV, the computer and reading is great. They are better than I thought they were going to be. I see better than I ever thought I'd see again." Marsha's advice? "If you're thinking about doing it, do it. Don't wait."

Chapman stitches up a foot laceration, just one of the hundreds he tended to while in Haiti.

ER doctor helps 1,500 in Haiti

BY KAREN SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Some had wounds full of maggots. Others had broken bones sticking through their skin.

Ten days after the earthquake hit Port-au-Prince, Haiti, there was still much to do for emergency medicine physician Jeff Chapman, D.O., of St. Mary Mercy Hospital in Livonia.

"A lot of people were never seen," Chapman said in an interview Thursday. "Everybody was basically crushed. All you can do is triage them and work as fast as you can."

Loaded with medicine, intravenous antibiotics, supplies for splinting, casting, wound care and lidocaine donated from the St. Mary Mercy pharmacy, Chapman spent eight days treating earthquake victims with a team of nine others from the ministry he founded with his wife, His Healing Touch Ministry.

Chapman estimates they treated 1,500, saving about 600-700 lives just by cleaning and treating infections with antibiotics.

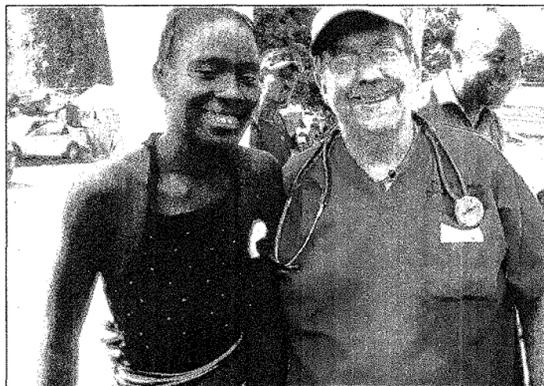

They camped at a mission compound about 20 miles north of town with about 200 other medical people, driving trucks from tent city to tent city where the victims are temporarily living.

"Everybody was afraid to go into the buildings," he said, adding that 80 percent were destroyed and another 15 percent were deemed structurally unsafe.

He said medical personnel were limited with what they could do, given the circumstances. "We had no lab equipment, no X-rays," he said.

Those who needed intravenous medication or were in critical condition were loaded onto the trucks and driven back to the mission compound, where they had a one-room clinic.

Some victims still didn't know if their family members were alive. Chapman said his translator got a call while he was there from his mother, saying she was alive. "She couldn't be reached for two weeks."

Some were scared and needed a hug and someone to pray with them, Chapman said.

Chapman started doing medical missionary trips about 15 years ago. He's been on 70 trips in almost 40 countries. "This is the worst disaster I've ever seen. We worked sun up to sundown and took care of as many as we could."

Chapman said he plans to go back to Haiti, but he has other trips already scheduled that he needs to complete first. He's headed Saturday to the Amazon.

Sometimes his wife, Carolyn, a paramedic, goes along. Sometimes they take their children, two boys ages 6 and 9, and a grown daughter who lives in Florida. They live in La Salle.

Chapman said his ministry has given him valuable experience that he puts to use back in the emergency room in Livonia. "I've seen a lot of strange diseases," he said.

He diagnosed one patient at St. Mary Mercy with chikungunya fever, a strange tropical disease. "I'd seen this in India," he said, adding the infectious disease doctors at the hospital were amazed he had even thought of chikungunya fever. He's also identified cases of typhoid and malaria in Livonia in patients who had been traveling.

Dr. Michael Calice, chairman of the department of emergency medicine at St. Mary Mercy, said Chapman is certified in tropical diseases, which is not typical of most U.S. physicians.

He also is familiar with snake bites. One time the two were working together when a man who had been bitten by a bushmaster snake came in to the emergency room. Found in scrublands and forests from the Amazon River basin north to Costa Rica, bushmaster snakes are highly venomous and their bites cause severe bleeding.

Calice said he had never heard of a bushmaster snake, but Chapman knew exactly what to do. "It's not something most people would know," Calice said.

Chapman said his faith motivates his work with His Healing Touch Ministry. "When Jesus was here, he not only preached, he healed the sick and comforted people. That's my mission."

Chapman said His Healing Touch Ministry is always in need of reading glasses, prescription glasses and other medical supplies. Donations are tax-deductible. To donate, e-mail Chapman at amazon-dr@aol.com.

Livonia bar raises funds to help employee with cancer

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A Livonia bar is conducting a fund-raising drive for one of its own.

Mason's Bar & Grille, 13490 Farmington Road, is collecting donations to help a waitress pay for her cancer treatment.

Kim Wasmundt, a 37-year-old single mother of two sons, was diagnosed with stage three lung cancer Dec. 31. She currently is hospitalized for her treatment.

Her mother, Dorothy Wasmundt, said Kim fell on the snow about a year ago. After her shoulder continued to bother her for a month or so, she went to the doctor, something she had put off because she didn't have insurance, her mother said. X-rays later revealed a tumor in her chest.

Kim worked at Mason's for a couple of years, her mother said. Last year, she had managed to get "back on her feet," her mother said, after she had moved out of their home in Livonia to an apartment in Westland.

She was given a medical leave from Mason's after two rounds of chemotherapy in December. Her mother said she doesn't know if her daughter will have surgery. "She was in the hospital for eight days; they released her and then she got the flu," Dorothy said.

The bar is collecting money for Wasmundt. Her oldest son, Cody, lives with her and is a Franklin High School senior. Her younger son, Mikey, lives with Kim's ex-husband in Westland.

"She's devastated," Dorothy Wasmundt said about her daughter, who grew up in Redford and graduated from Redford Union. "We're giving her some cash, and trying to help her."

Churchill stuns Zebras on Bedell's buzzer-beater

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Adam Bedell has been Mr. Inside for Livonia Churchill's boys basketball team all season.

But the 6-foot-6 senior center became Mr. Outside and Mr. Clutch, draining a 3-point shot as time expired to give the Chargers a dramatic 51-48 victory in the Kensington Conference championship final Friday night at Wayne Memorial.

Upstart Churchill, 11-7 overall, knocked off its second No. 1 seed of the Kensington Lakes Activities Association playoffs and will travel Thursday to Waterford Mott (16-3) to take on the Lakes Conference champ for the overall KLAA title.

Wayne, which falls to 15-4 overall, tied the game with 5.24 seconds remaining on a driving layup by Brian Gray.

Churchill coach Jim Solak then called a timeout and the ball was forward to half court before guard Anthony Frezzell signaled for another timeout — this one coming with only 0.74 seconds remaining.

Bedell, who led all scorers with 23 points to go along with 10 rebounds, then became the unlikely hero. He took an inbounds pass from teammate D'Juan Cooks just off the 3-point line, wheeled and swished a shot at the buzzer.

It was Churchill's first boys basketball title of any kind since 1983 and 1976.

"It was kind a double option play, me and Tony (Frezzell) were both coming off a double screen," Bedell said. "Whoever was open, D'Juan was going find him. It just happened to be me and I made the shot. I was hoping I'd get it off in time. I felt I got it off in time, and when it left my hand, I knew it was in."

Ironically, it was Bedell's first 3-point make of the season and it came with less than a second showing on the clock.

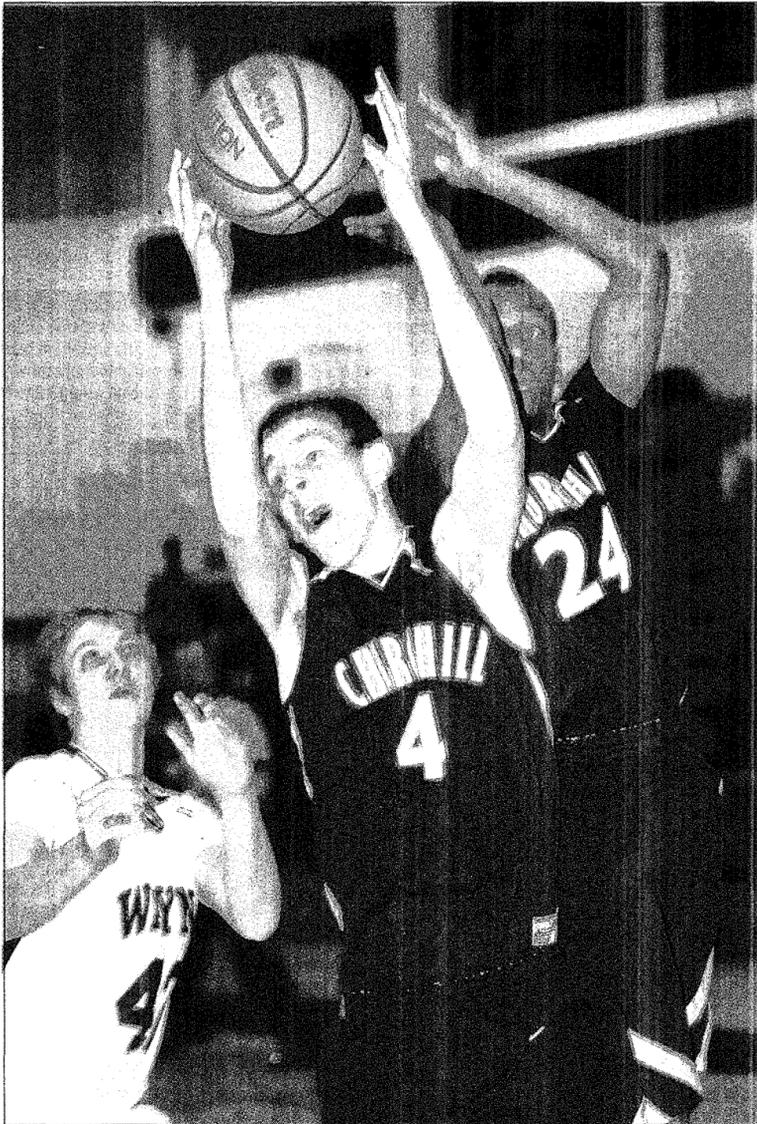

"He's only shot four or five all year, but he makes them in the practice, though," Solak said. "He does practice them and he's capable. Adam said during the timeout, 'I want it,' and Anthony made a heads-up play getting the timeout."

Frezzell, a senior guard, added 13 points, while his running mate Raynord Allen added nine.

Wayne got 16 points from senior guard Reggie Reeves, while the team's leading scorer, 6-3 senior center Daniel Hill, had a relatively quiet night with 11.

"We tried basically to harass the inbounds passer, but he (Bedell) made a heck of a shot," Wayne coach Wayne Woodard said. "It hurts. It's disappointing and we came up short. But there's still a lot of basketball to be played. We'll prepare hard in practice Monday for Grand Blanc (Tuesday), and

Stevenson skates by Kettering for overall KLAA title

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

It was mission accomplished for the Livonia Stevenson boys hockey team.

The Spartans captured the overall Kensington Lakes Activities Association championship Wednesday night with a 3-1 triumph over host Waterford Kettering at Lakeland Arena.

State-ranked Stevenson, the No. 4-ranked team in Division

1 and KLAA's Kensington Conference champion, ends the regular season with a 19-3-2 overall record.

"I'm very happy for my players who worked so hard during the spring, summer and fall," Stevenson coach David Mitchell said. "They set a goal, and they accomplished it. And I'm happy for all the people who have supported us."

It was 1-1 after one period as Stevenson's John Mandryk opened the scoring off assists from Evan Malick and Kyle Gabrielson.

But the Captains answered just nine seconds before the period ended on Matt Brisson's power play goal.

Trevor Baruzzini's second-period goal from Cole Rochowiak and Justin Shureb put the Spartans ahead to stay.

Shureb then added his 20th goal in the final period from Rochowiak and Brendan Hay to give Stevenson a two-goal cushion.

Kettering (12-8-3), the Lakes Conference champ, got a sterling performance from goaltender Stephen Salek, who made 50 saves.

"They (Kettering) played a very patient game and their goalie played well," Mitchell said. "They looked for an opportunity and when they got it, our goalie Danny Sager (19 saves) came up big like he's done all year."

Stevenson opens Division 1 pre-regional play 5:45 p.m. Monday at Livonia's Edgar Arena against crosstown rival Churchill. The second game pits Salem and Plymouth at 8:15 p.m. The winners meet at 7:15 p.m. Wednesday at Edgar Arena. The regional final is 3 p.m. Saturday at Novi Ice Arena.

Irish leaves C'ville for Mott grid post

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The search is on for a new football coach at Livonia Clarenceville.

Ryan Irish, who spent the last five seasons at the varsity helm, stepped down recently to take a similar position at Waterford Mott.

Irish posted an overall record of 24-23 with the Trojans. His best season came in 2008 when he was named Observerland Coach of the Year as Clarenceville reached the Division 5 playoffs and finished 9-2 overall.

"It was not an easy decision," said Irish, who also teaches at Clarenceville. "It was a family one and a geographic one. I reside in Rochester and my oldest daughter Grace was diagnosed with leukemia in 2005. She's battled it and now has a rare (cancerous) tumor in her right leg. It's been an issue and now it's an opportunity to be closer to home."

Irish, who takes over a Mott team that finished 1-8 last season, called it "the biggest decision I've ever had to make since I've been here."

"Clarenceville is a football school which allowed me to be a football coach," he added. "The most difficult thing is the outstanding people I encountered, from the administration on down to my principal (Paul Shepich). They've given me remarkable support as a coach, along with my family and my daughter. They took care of my family and helped me through the process."

"Clarenceville has some outstanding kids and I believe the program is headed in the right direction."

Clarenceville athletic director Kevin Murphy knows replacing Irish will be difficult, but understands his decision.

"Rochester (to Mott) is 10 minutes, it's a better move," Murphy said. "All the time he spends in the summer ... He was a great guy, great for the kids and a great motivator. He was a 'rah, rah' guy with the kids and they loved him. The parents also liked him. He's a big loss in the hallways for us and was a big presence for the kids."

Murphy said the varsity football job has been posted and the deadline to submit a resume, letter of recommendation, along with references, ends March 11.

Those interested can send an application to Murphy via postal mail to: Kevin Murphy, Athletic Director, Clarenceville H.S., 20155 Middlebelt, Livonia, MI 48152. His e-mail address is kmurphy@clarenceville.k12.mi.us.

High voltage

Chargers jolt Salem in Kensington semifinals

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Bob Brodie didn't want to talk about turning points after his Salem boys basketball team lost 49-44 to Livonia Churchill Wednesday night in a Kensington Conference semifinal.

But the Rocks coach couldn't help but wonder if things might have turned out differently had Churchill senior forward D'Juan Cooks not buried a trey from way behind the three-point arc as the horn sounded to end the first half.

Cooks' answered prayer came seconds after host Salem (9-9) fought back from an ice-cold start and finally pulled ahead 18-16 thanks to a basket in the paint by physical junior forward Ethan Walsh. The subsequent triple gave Churchill a 19-18 edge at the break.

"It seemed like it was a struggle the whole game," Brodie said. "The first half was a struggle (9-for-29 in field-goal tries alone) and then we finally got the lead and they hit the shot at the buzzer to go up."

Buzzer-beaters wouldn't have mattered much to Churchill coach Jim Solak if not for the pesky defense his team played throughout the game.

"In the second half our guards got a little more pressure and we were communicating a lot better, especially our big guys inside," he said. "Not too many easy catches (for Salem), and we made it a struggle for them. That was the difference."

That bought some time for his offense, which for stretches had to do without 6-6 senior forward Adam Bedell (eight points, all in the second half, and 15 rebounds). Bedell found himself in early foul trouble.

"We got a lot more movement in the second half," Solak said. "Our guards made better decisions and having Adam and D'Juan on the floor at the same time that helps too. It helped when we got Adam back on the floor."

Sweet-shooting senior guard Anthony Frezzell paced Churchill's relative offensive explosion in the second half, when the Chargers tallied 30 points to Salem's 26.

Frezzell scored 16 of his 20 points after the break, nailing three triples to make sure Salem didn't rally.

Cooks chipped in with 12 points and seven rebounds, while senior guard Raynord Allen scored eight and tallied six boards.

For all of the Rocks' troubles, they hung around, trailing 41-37 with three minutes to go after 6-6 senior center Jake Peterson (16 points, 8 rebounds) drove through the lane for a basket.

Walsh also sparked the Rocks after coming in off the bench late in the first quarter. He scored 10 points and pulled down seven boards with his typical never-quit style.

Both teams started the game as if they were allergic to the basket, missing plenty of uncontested, close-in tries.

A jumper by Allen gave Churchill a 4-2 lead midway through the frame and the Chargers slowly heated up to take a 10-6 advantage after one.

"They weren't scoring very well, but we couldn't answer the bell at the other end either," Brodie lamented.

Churchill, 10-7 overall, travels Friday to face Wayne Memorial for the Kensington Conference the. The Chargers are 0-2 against Wayne this season.

And Solak is thrilled to face imposing power forward Daniel Hill and the tough 15-3 Zebras.

"Wayne has proven all year they're the best team in the conference," he said. "So if we want to be the best, we've got to beat the best. The way they're playing right now it's always fun when Wayne and Churchill play on a Friday night."

He added that Friday's title matchup is somewhat of a surprise, but he'll happily take it.

"When the brackets came out, not many people thought it was going to be Wayne and Churchill in the final," Solak said. "It should be fun. They're winning every way possible right now. We're going to find a way to come out and see what we can do."

LUTH. WESTLAND 69, GREENHILLS 58:

Marc Rosin drained seven three-pointers buckets as part of a 23-point performance Friday to spark Lutheran High Westland (8-9, 8-7) to a victory over host Ann Arbor Greenhills (2-13, 2-16) in a Michigan Independent Athletic Conference Blue Division matchup.

Gage Flanery followed with 12 points and Jeff Greening was the third Warrior to reach double figures with 10.

The Warriors let the lead slip away in the third quarter before rebounding with a 23-point effort in the fourth.

"We did what we had to," Haller said. "It was a sloppy game, but we got the win."

The Gryphons got 23 points from Connor Tremper and 10 from Duane Gardner.

HURON VALLEY 47, MOUNT CARMEL 30: Mark St. John tossed in 10 points and Matt St. John contributed nine points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (9-7) to non-league win Friday over visiting Wyandotte Mount Carmel.

Herring lifts MU women to 70-54 quarterfinal win

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Madonna University freshman guard Shantelle Herring admitted she was a little uptight prior to Thursday night's Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference women's basketball playoff opener against Siena Heights.

"I was very nervous in the beginning of the game," said Herring, a Macomb Dakota High grad. "I just tried put myself in a mental state that would prepare me for today - and it looks like it worked. Our whole team came together and we all had a consistent game, and played a full 40 minutes. It came to the win and we came out on top."

The 5-foot-8 Herring was very good in the first half, scoring 13 of her game-high 19 points as the Crusaders built an 18-point lead and coasted to a 70-54 quarterfinal triumph.

"The key was full-out 40 minutes of intensity," said Herring, who also had seven rebounds and three assists.

"This is the first real game that we played a full 40 minutes. Our team showed it. We came out on top, never lost our lead. We showed great composure and chemistry with the entire team."

Madonna, the third seed, improved to 13-14 overall and will move into the WHAC semifinals to face second-seed Aquinas College, 20-10 overall, Saturday afternoon in Grand Rapids.

"This is playoff time," said MU coach Carl Graves, who was highly animated throughout the game. "And this what we really want we work for all year for. We talked about this on Day One in practice because this team has been so close - two out of the last three years we've been to the tournament final. They really believe. They won their summer league and they really believe that this is their year. So I'm just riding their emotion, and trying to edge them on and keep them playing hard."

Herring's triple with 7:57 left in the first half gave the Crusaders a 28-14 advantage. She then came back with another triple as the shot clock expired with just under three minutes remaining to push the margin to 35-18.

"Everything was clicking for us," Graves said of the first half. "We drew up some stuff, we really studied the tape. My assistants did a great job of pointing things out on some things on tape that we thought there were weaknesses of theirs, and that it would give us open looks. We got some great shooters. We saw weaknesses where they were collapsing defensively, and allowing us to take wide open shots from the perimeter. So we thought - we're at home, we're going to shoot well, and if they give us those shots, we're going to knock them down."

Siena Heights (17-14) shot only 30.4 percent from the floor (21-of-69), including just 4-of-19 from three point range.

Nikki Hughes and Shalaha Hubbard each scored 12 for the Saints, while Lauren Crockett added 11.

"I still believe we're still one of the best defensive teams in the conference, if not in the country," Graves said. "I think it showed first half. They just were very aggressive, very disruptive and lot of the young kids came to play."

"I was really pleased with Shantelle's effort. She works so hard. She's one of those kids who will absolutely play herself until she's about to fall down before she lets you know she's tired. Her effort offensively was great."

Senior center Kim Olech (Plymouth), wearing a heavy knee brace, added 14 points and 11 rebounds, while junior guard Katie Mount contributed 13 points.

"Obviously this is the most we played Olech all year," Graves said. "A double-double (points-rebounds) from her is what we're used to. So given her 36 minutes tonight, our hope is that she keeps going on Saturday against Aquinas and she can play without pain."

then we have Inkster (March 8) in the district."

Churchill led 13-11 after one quarter behind Frezzell's nine points, but trailed 24-18 at halftime.

The Chargers stormed back in the third quarter to knot the score at 36-36 on a leaning desperation shot at the horn by Allen.

Churchill then opened up a 44-39 advantage with only 2:19 left on a half-hook shot on the baseline by Cooks, but Wayne clawed back on a steal and layup by Gray to make it 46-46.

After the teams traded turnovers, Frezzell made a layup with 18 seconds left followed by Gray's layup with only 5.24 to go, knotting the game at 48.

Churchill committed only five turnovers on the night, while Wayne had 11.

"Our guards have really turned it around as a group," Solak said. "We go five deep and they've really dedicated themselves to taking care of the ball and making sure every possession matters."

"As important as Adam and D'Juan are, and how good they've been for us inside, our guards have been the catalyst in our tourney run."

Wayne had beaten the Chargers, the fourth seed, in two previous meetings, 60-58 (in overtime) and 67-57.

"It feels real good to get the second conference championship under my belt," said Bedell, who also led the Chargers to the overall KLLA soccer crown. "This is great, this is a good first step."

Canton 'prize patrol' is heading to a street near you

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

Wheels, Siren, The Law, Hallmark and The Chief will prowl the streets March 9 in Canton randomly "busting" individuals who break the law — of inertia.

"We feel sort of like the Publisher's Clearing House van when we hit the streets. We never know how people will react to us, an enthusiastic group with bags and balloons in their hands congratulating folks and rewarding them with prizes for simply walking their dog or playing a game of catch," said Jennifer Provenzano, recreation specialist for Canton Leisure Services.

Provenzano, nicknamed The Chief, by her colleagues, created Canton's Random Acts of Fitness program and assembled its mobile team last spring. The group travels around the community one day a month looking for people engaged in physical activity — from organized sports to housework — and rewards them for their fitness efforts. The program has been on hiatus since November 2009, but will resume its monthly schedule next month on a "no school" day for Canton students in kindergarten through eighth grade.

"This will be our 'Think Spring' edition and all of our goodies and swag will be Spring-related," Provenzano noted. "We hope to encourage Canton kids to put down their video game controllers and take in a little fresh air that day instead."

Provenzano said she was inspired to create the outreach program after reading about a Subway Restaurant promotion that sent mountain bicyclists into New York City, N.Y. on a similar mission.

"I thought what a neat idea that would be with as many parks as Canton has."

PRIZE PATROL

The team members, Jon-Eric "Wheels" Cornelier, Amanda "Siren" Buelow, Jennifer "Hallmark" Judycki, and Travis "The Law" Faulkner gave themselves nicknames related to their roles.

Cornelier usually jumps out of the van on his in-line skates and Buelow announces their arrival with a megaphone "siren," Provenzano said. Faulkner "lets residents know they've been busted" and Judycki profusely congratulates detainees.

"For the most part people are really excited about it and let us know we've made their day, which of course in turn, makes our day, too," Provenzano said. "We've had some really priceless reactions."

Skeptics, wary of strangers, have said "no thanks" to the prizes, which often include T-shirts, water bot-those people are excited," Provenzano said.

FROM GARDENING TO BALL

Although she doesn't take names of prize-winners, Provenzano recalls a few favorite incidents. There was the time the Random Acts team discovered five houses in a row where homeowners were busy gardening.

"It was pretty cool," she recalled. "But the kid playing catch remains our favorite."

The youngster, stationed "way out" in the outfield reluctantly played catch with his father, but was excited about to get an award.

Canton Leisure Services received its own share of kudos earlier this month at the Michigan Recreation & Park Association's Annual Conference, held in Grand Rapids.

Its Random Acts of Fitness program won the Innovative Recreation Programming Award, one of four given to recreation efforts statewide.

Provenzano said she wouldn't be surprised if similar programs are developed in other Michigan communities this year.

She pegged the cost of the program at two hours worth of staff wages once a month and gas for the van.

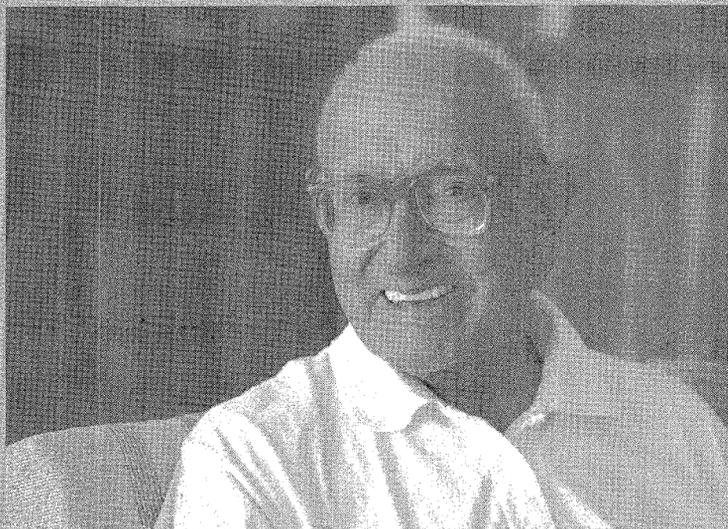

"We're lucky enough to end up with some surplus items throughout the year," she added, referring to the prizes given out.

"We'd love to align ourselves with a sponsor to keep this going. We'd love to have a team uniform to be more recognizable."

Provenzano wouldn't identify the neighborhoods or parks the team will visit on March 9, but said "If you're out moving and getting fresh air, we think you're fair game."

Reduce stress through breath, focus on present

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

On the rare occasion Kathy Henning begins to feel stress, she nips negative thoughts in the bud, quiets her mind and focuses on the moment.

"How important it is to stay present in the moment because the mind can get carried away, in particular worrying about the future. We can feel overwhelmed and powerless," said the Henning, a Livonia resident and meditation teacher. "Utilizing the tools to stay present helps us manage the challenges we're facing and by turning our attention within and meditating, we often come up with creative ideas we may not have thought of otherwise."

Henning, who teaches classes in Livonia, Dearborn and Royal Oak, guides listeners through meditation tools on her first CD, Living in the Present Moment: Everyday Tools and Practices, ($15.95) available from Amazon.com and Henning's Web site, www.LivingInThePresentMoment.com

"Meditation is beneficial on many levels. We're engaged in the world all day long, our senses and energy are pulled outward. If we don't replenish that we feel overwhelmed and exhausted on many levels. Meditation is an opportunity for the body, mind and senses to rejuvenate."

Focusing on breathing and quieting the "chatter" in the mind are among the tools she teaches both on the CD and in classes. Henning said meditating even five minutes daily — "while waiting in line at the post office or waiting for your computer to boot up" — can help reduce stress.

"Stress can have a huge impact on our physical well being...blood pressure, immune system," she noted.

Her new CD represents more than 30 years training in meditation. It combines soothing music with Henning's voice as she guides listeners through tools they need to stay present and peaceful, as well as through an actual meditation.

Henning, who grew up in Berkley and attended school at Shrine of the Little Flower in Royal Oak, began learning about meditation after moving to California in the late 1970s.

"Life was great. I had a wonderful job at CBS (as an usher) and my own place, but I still felt that something was missing," said Henning, who is married. "I was in my early 20s. It was as though I had a sense come from deep within. I could see down the future of my life...if it was just about the material world, I knew it wouldn't fulfill me."

She began studying at meditation centers — often serving as a staff member — and for six years devoted herself to the study of self-discovery and meditation.

"It is something I wove into my daily life," Henning said. "I still would feel that emptiness if I hadn't heard about the importance of knowing our inner self. When we sit for meditation and turn our attention within we come to know that self that lives inside us."

Henning's meditation classes meet from 7-8 p.m., generally twice monthly. Sessions are $12 each and are aimed at all ages, both men and women.

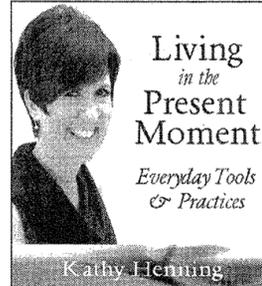

- March 3, 23 and 31 at The Sanctuary Chiropractic & Wellness Spa, 35275 Plymouth Road, Livonia.

- Holistic Healer & Wellness, March 2 and 16, 21194 Van Born, Dearborn Heights.

- Center for Natural Healing, March 11 and 25, Center for Natural Healing, 1103 S. Washington, Royal Oak.

- A special "for women only" program runs March 4 and 18 at All About Women's Health, 31209 Plymouth Road, Livonia.

Register for classes by calling (734) 674-6965.

Soap subject to scrutiny; do laundry problems affect you?

I was sitting at the kitchen table on the telephone when through one ear I heard a teaser on WDIV Channel 4. It said something about the way you do your laundry could cause health problems and they even used the word cancer.

Appliance Doctor

Joe Gagnon

I super-glued myself to the news broadcast waiting for the story to come on but instead I heard another teaser which said the story would be broadcast the next morning at 5:45 a.m. That night I went to bed and set the clock for 5:15 — or so I thought — and when it went off at 4:15 a.m. the next morning I was a little unhappy with myself for being a senior citizen. These things happen! Now, I'm finally seeing the news story with two anchors, a weather guy and traffic lady all conversing on the subject and it's captured my attention. I know that I have four experts on camera who know all about clothes washers and how they function even though the weather guy admits he doesn't know how to sort colors and his white pinkish shirt is made fun of.

One of the anchors tells us to rinse our clothes in warm water and I know he's never done the wash. I end up talking to him and even though he can't hear me I tell him he is wrong. Cold water rinse will do a much better job than hot or cold water. I ask him if he read one of my columns — the one in which I explained how my mother used to send me to the cold spring that ran beside our log cabin to rinse out the clothes she washed in the old round aluminum tub. Apparently he hadn't.

KILLING GERMS

They told us not to use scented detergent and I don't know why. With the millions of smelly washer problems going on in this country I can understand why consumers will try anything. If scented detergent is a health hazard why isn't the product removed from store shelves? We were told to wash our underwear in a separate load. I guess they didn't read the column in which I told readers to wash underwear, panties and baby diapers after they soaked them in a laundry tub using bleach and hot water to kill the bacteria. The splash effect of germ infested articles can splash under the splash guard and come off during the next load of different clothes. In some areas of the country, service technicians are required to wear rubber gloves so they don't spread hepatitis around their community.

AIR IT OUT

They informed us not to let a load of clothes stand in the washer and I have already been told by my darling Valorie that the clothes smell if she forgets to put them into the clothes dryer right away. The last thing I remember them telling us is to air out the washer. This has been a standard practice with most homemakers since the washer was invented. It stands to reason that if any remaining water is left in the tub and given the chance to evaporate, it will lessen any odor or mold problems. I guess the manufacturers didn't think of that when they built their first models of the modern era front load washers. They had a light bulb in the tub that went on when you opened the door. In order to save energy you had to close the door to shut off the light bulb. To give you an idea of how difficult it might be to air out your washer and serve the purpose, I went downstairs to our two-year-old front loader which has the door slightly ajar, (they no longer have a light bulb) and moved the drum back and forth. Lo and behold, you can hear the water sloshing back and forth under the drum. I say amazing because Valorie informs me she hasn't done a wash load in 10 days.

I want to thank Channel 4 WDIV for doing this story even though I don't think it was educational enough. I might suggest they go to their World Book Encyclopedia and read the published words of an old white haired service technician. Stay tuned.

Joe Gagnon can be heard at 8 a.m., Saturdays on WAAM 1600 and Sundays at 2 p.m. on WDTK 1400. You can e-mail your problems and questions on appliances to appldr@twmi.rr.com

ARTHRITIS THAT RESOLVES

When people receive a diagnosis of arthritis, they think they have a problem that will stay with them for the rest of their lives. Even harder to accept is the likelihood that over time, the condition will become worse. Certainly, that is the usual course of osteoarthritis of the hands, shoulders, hips or knees. The doctor may successfully treat other joint conditions such as rheumatoid arthritis, but often the damage incurred to hands and feet leaves permanent impairment.

However not every type of arthritis ends that way. Arthritis caused by the Parvo B19 virus may cause swelling and pain in the hands in a manner that looks exactly like rheumatoid arthritis, but in time the Parvo B19 infection ends and the arthritis clears completely. Likely other viruses act the same way, but await medical detective work to be revealed as agents of arthritis.

Reactive arthritis creates a similar temporary joint problem. In this instance, the body fights off an infection, either bacterial or viral, but the antibodies the body produces also irritate joints resulting in arthritis. Over weeks to months the antibodies dissolve, the irritation ends and the joints return to normal.

The most common cause for an arthritis that comes on suddenly and then goes away gradually is inapparent injury. Most often this type of injury occurs to the knees or ankles.

Part of a doctor's evaluation is to determine if the arthritis is reversible. If such is the case, the best treatment is restraint and observation.
