There's was nothing unlucky for in the number 13 for Allen "Buddy" Shuh, the connections pastor at Westland's Journey Community Church. He made it past week 13 of NBC's The Biggest Loser, posting another 6-pound weight loss.

Shuh, who has stress fracture, again sat out the challenge, but still lost weight, coming in at 269 pounds at the weigh-in, a 2.18 percent of his body weight loss that kept him from being eliminated. The Wayne resident had started the show in January weighing 403 pounds.

Council OKs plans for new access to MJR

By LeAnne Rogers
Observer Staff Writer

The rezoning and revised site plans needed to accommodate direct access to Hunter from the MJR Westland Grand Theater have been approved by city council.

On a related matter, the council has scheduled a public hearing for 6:30 p.m. Monday for comments on an amended Brownfield Redevelopment plan which would provide up to $115,000 tax credit for demolition and other costs relating to the project.

Located north of Hunter on Wayne Road, MJR plans to build a new driveway south behind Hunter Plaza and through the a parcel which was previously the site of Good Shepherd Reformed Church. The driveway would connect with Hunter just east of Wayne Road. An existing driveway on the north side of the church building would be removed and the western curb cut on Hunter closed.

"This will create secondary access to Hunter and mitigate left turns onto Wayne Road (from MJR)," said Westland Planning Director Bruce Thompson. "It will also mitigate traffic at Wayne Road and Hunter. There will be easier access into the commercial property (Hunter Plaza) and also at the intersection."

The 3.13-acre former church property was rezoned from R-5, single family residential, to CB-1, low-intensity commercial business. The church and a home on the far eastern end of the property would be both be demolished. The balance of the property including the frontage at Wayne Road and Hunter would be used for a future restaurant, said Thompson.

Two site plans were approved — one laying out the new MJR driveway and a masonry screening wall, the second showing the reconfiguration of parking and the dumpster location for Hunter Plaza.

"Additional parking for Hunter Plaza would be created on the north side of the (existing) church in a swap for the driveway at the south end of the Plaza," said Thompson. "This will have a positive effect on Hunter Plaza. It will move the dumpster to the southeast corner which is a more appropriate location."

Traffic to the rear of the building will now be one way in, one way out, Thompson said, which is much safer for pedestrians.

By Sue Mason
Observer Staff Writer

Marion Lozen needed a refrigerator, and her husband didn't believe in buying one on credit, so she went out and got a job with Kroger.

Four refrigerators and 60 years later, the Wayne resident is still working and has no plans of retiring anytime soon.

"Retirement's not what it's cracked up to be, at least not for me," Lozen said. "I enjoy working. I don't want to retire."

I enjoy the managers, the other employees and the customers."

The 85-year-old Lozen celebrated her 60th anniversary with the grocery chain at a celebration Thursday at the Kroger Training Center in Westland, with her family, friends, colleagues and Kroger officials on hand.

She was hired March 29, 1952, by Kroger and said the best day of those 60 years "was the day they hired me."

"She's one in a million," said former Kroger employee Donna Bossio of Westland, who's known Lozen for more than 20 years. "She never called in sick. She even worked with a sprained ankle."

Lozen started at the Kroger store at Michigan Avenue and Venoy and worked there until it closed. She then moved to the Kroger at Merriman and Warren Road, where she worked until it, too, closed. She's been

Civic League pops for garden's water hookup

By LeAnne Rogers
Observer Staff Writer

When it's time to start planting crops, the Norwayne Community Garden will have plenty of water thanks to the Wayne-Ford Civic League.

The league board has authorized spending up to $2,500 so the garden, located on two former residential lots at Dorsey and Newago Court, can hook into city water.

Pam Carter, the garden coordinator, was asking the public to vote online to help the garden earn grant funding through the Raising Organic Family Farms website. Carter was hoping to buy two solar-powered water pumps for the garden, which currently has two water tanks that requires the water to be hauled around the garden.

The simplest answer to the watering problem was obvious to Wayne-Ford Civic League President Vic Barra, a pipefitter for Ford Motor Co.

"I read the article in the (Westland) Observer and saw the problem. The Wayne-Ford Civic League comes to the pump again," said Barra. "They will be able to get rid of the unsightly water tanks. We're glad. This is what the civic league should always have been about."

Get ready to compost, season starts Monday

By LeAnne Rogers
Observer Staff Writer

When the curbside compost collection season begins Monday, there may well be some pent up demand thanks to the recent warm weather.

But that doesn't mean Westland residents could start getting compost picked up early to accommodate the unusual weather.

"I know it's early but we're having an early spring this year. People are cleaning up their yards," said resident Jo Johnson, who questioned why the compost collection hadn't started.

The problem is that the yard where the compost is taken after it's collected isn't open for business until the week of April 2, said Westland Department of Public Services Director Kevin Buford. "We'd love to have started early but the compost yard didn't have their workers back yet, so we couldn't pick up the compost early," he said.

Compost is picked up weekly on the regular trash day in up to five garbage cans labeled as Yard Waste Recycling or up to 10 kraft paper compost bags. The total weight cannot exceed 60 pounds and no plastic bags will be accepted.

Compost is defined as grass clippings, leaves, yard and garden waste, excluding pumpkins, pruning debris and brush. Removed trees are not accepted and compost should not include food scraps, animal waste, chemicals or sod.

At the curb, compost must be separated from regular household garbage by 10 feet. Mixed compost and garbage will not be collected. A separate truck picks up compost.

Brush or limbs will be picked up but must not be longer than four feet or larger than three inches in diameter. The brush or branches must be tied in small bundles with strong cord — no tape. A maximum of eight bundles per week is allowed. No stumps or roots will be accepted.

Cardboard boxes containing compost will not be picked up. Sod, dirt, wood chips or landscaping material, such as wood chips, mulch, gravel, stone, cement, etc., and vines of any sort, also will not be picked up.

Residents are responsible for properly preparing compost for collection and disposal of uncollected material.

Bundles of hay/straw must be broken down and put into cans or paper bags for collection.

Parent at odds with district over bus driver's actions

By Sue Mason
Observer Staff Writer

A decision by Wayne-Westland school officials that a bus driver acted appropriately in not picking up a child after turning off the flashing lights isn't setting well with the parent of a Wildwood Elementary student.

Rob Stanchina believes his nine-year-old son's safety was put in jeopardy when he was forced to run three blocks to the next stop after the school bus driver refused to wait as Stanchina and the youngster were approaching.

"By code, the driver can't stop again after turning off the lights," said School Superintendent Greg Baracy. "The driver did everything right. She followed code and did everything right for the safety of the child."

According to Stanchina, he was walking his son to the bus stop and was two houses away from the stop. He said the bus arrived early, picked up the students and pulled away even though another parent was telling her "to hang on" because there was another child coming.

Stanchina said students are scheduled to be picked up between 8:40 and 8:50 a.m., but the bus arrived early.

"We're never late for the bus, we walk everyday," said Stanchina. "We're a one-car family, if he misses the bus, he'd miss a day of school. It was 8:37 a.m. when she pulled up, I checked my cell phone."

The bus driver "stuck her head out and said to go to the next bus stop," which is three blocks away, he said. His son ran after the bus and crossed two intersections to get to the next stop.

"It broke my heart to hear him yell don't leave me," he said. "The point is he should not have had to run down the street and chase after someone. Even if we were late, she should have waited. It's insane what she did and the way she did it."

Stanchina would like to see the bus video which he believes would show that the driver put his son "in danger." However, he has been told by school officials that he would need to subpoena it, he said.

"I understand child privacy laws are in place for a reason, but with my child involved in a situation with his bus driver, I feel that it is within reason to view the bus stop interaction," he added.

Stanchina would like to see the driver disciplined, possibly fired, for what happened.

"What really gets me is that the time it would have taken to get to the bus would have been 30 seconds, but she waited a full 1½ minutes for him to get to the next stop," he said. "I want to see the video, I want to see what happened."

Baracy said he and transportation director Sherice Roark and John Albrecht, director of student and legal services, spent several hours reviewing the tape and determined the driver's actions were appropriate.

"She made sure she waited for the youngster at the next stop, she took appropriate protections under state guidelines and the district's code," Baracy said. "If she had done something wrong, we would have taken appropriate action. She didn't."

Stanchina disagrees. "The bottom line is she didn't care," he said. "I feel like I'm getting the shell game."

at the store on Michigan Avenue west of Wayne Road since it opened in 1972.

"I stayed at Kroger all these years because I enjoy the people," said Lozen, who serves as lead clerk. "I also enjoy what I do."

"You always hear about her," said Jeff Dean, who heads up produce at the Wayne store. "The first time I saw and watched the two generations after her, she was running circles around them."

"She has an impeccable record, she's always on time, never tardy, never calls in and always punches in on time," Dean added. "She's old school." Lozen has spent her entire career working in the fresh meat department. She currently works 48 hours a week, placing orders for Kroger lunch meats, stocking meat cases and waiting on customers. She said one of her favorite tasks is helping older customers make product selections.

"Many of them need help," she said. "I also like to educate younger people and new customers about the lunch meats we offer. Everyone in the meat department helps our customers however they can." "Marion's our lunch meat champion," store manager Michele Maletta said. "Even before I came to this store more than a year ago, I heard about Marion. Everyone loves her — the associates, customers and managers. I receive customer compliments about her a couple times each week."

Family ties

Lozen's daughter and son-in-law, Judy and Mike Hurley, granddaughter Jennifer Chambers and several of her great-grandchildren were on hand for the celebration.

Judy Hurley was in first grade when her mother went to work. She remembers going to the neighbor's after school to wait for her mother and father to get home. And if her mother worked Saturday, she spent the day with her father.

Every party needs a cake and for Marion Lozen, it was one made especially for her by the Kroger bakery.

Lozen has lived in Wayne since she and her husband moved there after he got out of the service in 1946. She still lives in the second home they moved to in 1958.

"At first I think she thought about retiring, but after dad passed away in 1989, she didn't," Judy Hurley said. "If this is what makes her happy ... but my husband and I are retired."

"I had to get married on a Friday, her day off. I wanted to make sure she'd be there," added Chambers, principal at Wayne-Westland's Hoover Elementary in Wayne.

"She's amazing, absolutely amazing. I really look up to her," she added. "When I'm making that decision to call in, I think about what grandma would do. She's a loving, hard-working person who would do anything for anyone."

Lozen has witnessed many changes at Kroger and within her department — although she says many of the processes for handling lunch meat remain the same. She appreciates the automatic scales the most because they are quick and easy to use and she can easily teach new associates how to operate them.

"She's an angel. I call her that everyday," Mary Kowalczyk said. "If I work an hour in her department, I'm dying. She's done it for 60 years and her body's not hurting. She has a lot left after working in the cold for eight hours. It's the worst job in the store." Lozen's secret to such stamina?

"I eat a banana a day for the potassium," she said.

Lozen shows up for work six days a week and always 10 minutes early.

"She's enthusiastic ... and gives 150 percent every day," Maletta said. "I wish I had a hundred associates just like her."

With 60 years to her credit, Lozen plans to continue working at Kroger and entertains no thoughts of retirement.

"I love what I do and I'll continue working as long as I can," she said.

placed around the garden, Carter said, to allow for irrigation of the 20 raised planting beds.

"That will be awesome — no more hauling water. It's a wonderful thing," said Carter. "I got an e-mail after the article. They are supposed to install the meter this week."

Once the utilities around the garden have been marked by Miss Dig, the garden will be connected to the water main on Dorsey, said Westland Department of Public Services Director Kevin Buford.

"There is also a main on Newago but it's on the other side of the street, so we would have to go under the street," he said.

"On Dorsey, the main is on the same side of the street. We will tap the water like we do for residential use. They can hook up a hose or sprinkler."

As part of the water hook-up, Buford said he would recommend installation of a shut-off with a box that can be locked to keep others from helping themselves to free water.

Crops grown at the garden were provided to Norwayne residents, including those who participate in the commodities food program at the nearby Dorsey Center. Carter and others who work at the garden are volunteers.

A garden cleanup is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday, March 31. A cold crop planting is tentatively set for Saturday, April 21, with the hot crop planting planned for Saturday, May 12.

Anyone interested in volunteering or donating to the Norwayne Community Garden can contact Carter at pacarter718@att.net.

Merriman Road Church presents Easter drama

By Sue Mason
Observer Staff Writer

Members of Merriman Road Baptist Church are transforming the sanctuary into ancient Jerusalem as they get ready for next weekend's presentation of the Easter musical drama, More than a Man.

More than 120 church members are involved in the production which will be staged at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday, April 6-7, at the church on Merriman Road in Garden City.

"We're moving along pretty good, we've had to build more because we changed the set," said Pastor Wayne Parker. "Most of the scenes take place in the temple."

The musical drama presents the passion of Jesus as viewed by three characters — Joseph of Arimathea, Nicodemus and the high priest Caiaphas.

"It starts with Jesus as a young child in the temple when these men are deciding their future and then jumps 20 years ahead and you see them develop their view of Christ," said Parker.

"We're always looking for different perspectives to view the passion of Christ. This play brings it right down to each man making a choice of accepting or rejecting Christ. We believe it's a decision we all have to make, the message seems clear to us."

Russell Weathers of Livonia, Roy Dray of Westland, and John Rowe of Redford are sharing the directorial duties. Weathers also plays a member of the Sanhedrin Council, while Rowe plays one of the guards.

Joining Weathers as a member of the council is Scott Lefler of Westland. Fresh off of playing Willie in a production of Willie Wonka and the Chocolate Factory two months ago, is joining Weathers as a member of the Sanhedrin Council. "Willie Wonka was a fund-raiser for the teen group, this is more community outreach."

EASTER DRAMA

What: More Than a Man, a free Easter drama
Time/Date: 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday, April 6-7
Location: Merriman Road Baptist Church, 2055 Merriman Road, south of Ford Road, Garden City

Details: The musical drama depicts the life of Christ from his early childhood through his crucifixion and resurrection. Doors open at 6:30 p.m. The production is free to the public with open seating on a first come, first served basis.
Contact: For more information, call (734) 421-0472.

"Russ asked me to be in the play," said the Westland resident.

'Russ asked'

It's a comment heard from many of the people involved in the production.

"I volunteer everyone else," said Weathers who admits the hardest part is getting everyone together at the same time to get a full rehearsal.

"We've been rehearsing for about six weeks, this week we'll be here every day," he said. "The teens did their fund-raiser and as soon as that was over we started this." Weathers has been involved in directing for five or six years, but this is Dray's first time with the church production although he's done it elsewhere. Like Weathers, he also appears in the play, he plays Jesus' father Joseph and appears in only the first scene.

"It's hard getting everyone here for practice, so I fill in," he said.

For the second year in a row, Chris Babb of Canton will play Jesus. The hardest part of the production for Babb, a sophomore studying history at Eastern Michigan University, is hanging on the cross that towers more than 13 feet above the stage. He has a narrow strip of wood to put his feet on, and nails have been bent to give the appearance of being driven through his hands.

This year, the production will incorporate video. In between the time he is taken from Pilate and is hung on the cross, a video will run, showing him being beaten and carrying the cross up the hill to where he's crucified.

"It's totally different," said Rowe. "Normally, he comes in from the back of the church, carrying the cross. With the video, when it's done he'll be on the cross. Everyone will be looking at the temple when we show the video. That's when we'll move scenery to show the tomb."

"This is a good way to reach out to people," said Babb. "Being school age, I'm able to invite my friends to church. I hope a lot of my friends come."

Rowe will have the job of removing Babb from the cross. A balcony that covers his tomb has been reinforced to carry the weight of five to six people.

"Most everything you see, we've had to make," said Rowe. "We had to create columns to make it look like a temple and extended it across the stage."

A 'gift'

Rowe has been involved in the Easter dramas for seven years because "I see this as a gift given to me when I became a Christian."

"When I was asked to play Peter, it was my first role and I had to cry, I practiced and practiced," he said. "I found when I put myself into the role, I cried and cried. I've never done theater before, that's why I believe it's a gift."

Playing the high priest Caiaphas is retired Garden City police officer Mark Byars. A veteran of productions by the Dearborn players, Byars will miss out singing in the choir this year.

"It's a different role, but I enjoy being involved," he said. "What's amazing is that church groups have very little time to do a production while community theater has three months. The church has two weeks to bring the drama and choir together and it all comes together in the end."

Hicks students focus on literacy at carnival

By Sue Mason
Observer Staff Writer

Patrice Patton barely had time to walk in the front door from work Wednesday evening. Her daughter Paja was waiting, ready to go back to school.

Patton couldn't say no to the Hicks Elementary second-grader, who wanted to go to the school's literacy carnival.

"My daughter wouldn't have it any other way," Patton said. "She called and wanted to know when I'd be home. I told her I get off at 6 and it takes 20 minutes to get home. She said, 'So you'll be here at 6:20.' She's waiting for me at the door with her coat on."

Organized by second-grade teachers Lisa Lizak, Amanda Olson and Rochele Bucher, the cafeteria of the school was filled with students and their families, who were treated to pizza and juice, grade-appropriate carnival games with literacy themes and raffle drawings for board games. The traditional cake walk was turned into a book walk, and youngsters also did a make-and-take craft and visited a fortune teller who served them her very special fortune cookies.

"This is such a positive thing for the school. It's so exciting to get such a large crowd," Olson said. "I wanted to do something to catch the attention of the community. I wanted to get people to come in and learn reading strategies they can use at home. Reading is so important."

Kindergartners had a fish pond where they caught diagraphs — pairs of letters like "sh," "ch" and "th" — and tried their hand at rhyming and ABC games, while first-graders tested their reading skills with a sight word bowling game.

"The pins have words on them and when they knock them down, they have to read them," Lizak said. "They do it and color a pin on a sheet. They can challenge their friends to do it."

For second-graders, there was a parts of speech ring toss in which they had to supply a noun, verb and adjective when they landed on the appropriate hole, as well as ABC and contractions games, with third-graders doing a fact and opin-

"They're doing some comparing and contrasting writing," Lizak said. "Fourth-graders are working on their homophones (words that are pronounced the same, but have different meaning) in a duck pond and their non-fiction text features."

Heleena Moses tries her hand with the Homophone Memory Match.

Dressed in her best gypsy outfit, Bucher played the reading comprehension fortune teller, using a literacy cootie catcher Lizak found online. Bucher made about 100 fortune cookies, complete with paper fortunes like "A great book is in your future" inside.

"I made three at time and hand-rolled them," she said.

The teachers spent about a month putting together the carnival, not counting the time Lizak spent at home creating the games.

"I'm kind of a perfectionist. I just wanted everyone to have a good time," she said.

And that did happen.

According to Lizak, families started showing up a half hour early and the attendance was the best ever for an event at the school.

"We tried to make it different from a reading night so that people would want to come," she said. "My students were so excited just seeing the items in the hallway. They started asking what they were. They were so excited to come and do something like this at school."

Parent Amy Brown was working the pizza line, serving slices to students and their families. By 7 p.m., she'd handed out more than 200 slices.

"I have a kindergartner here, she just loves it," Brown said. "For me, this is a small way to give back and help out where I can."

Brown who described herself as the "pizza cop," making sure everyone got a slice, said the foot traffic in and out of the cafeteria had been steady throughout the evening.

Her daughter Lena gave the carnival a thumbs-up. She had already won a book — Three Little Pigs — in the book walk and liked the fishing game.

"I think it's great. They should do this every day," she said.

"They've done a wonderful job," Principal Kim Murphy said. "By far this is the biggest crowd we've had all year."

Westland honors life saver, volunteer

By LeAnne Rogers
Observer Staff Writer

Two Westland residents were recently honored by Mayor William Wild and the council for notable contributions to the community.

Dylan Henderson, 6, was named a hero and lifesaver in Westland for calling 9-1-1 after his mother Gail, a long-time diabetic, went into insulin shock at their home on Sandra Lane. The youngster, who was sleeping, was awakened by his mother screaming. Dylan wasn't able to wake her up and called 9-1-1.

"I want to say you should never underestimate what age to train kids for an emergency," said Gail Henderson. "I have been a diabetic on insulin for 31 years. At a certain age, I realized I needed to train Dylan for an emergency. I'm so grateful and so proud of him."

After guests left late on Feb. 25, Henderson said she and Dylan fell sleep in her bed. About 3 a.m. on Feb. 26, Dylan, a student at St. Matthew Lutheran School, called 9-1-1.

"I woke up with three firefighters and a police officer in my room. I didn't know what happened," she said. "He told the dispatcher, 'My mom has diabetes. You need to come fix her.' The first time he had to do it (call 9-1-1), he did it correctly."

Dylan's father Christopher Henderson also expressed pride that Dylan responded so well in an emergency. "You don't want them to grow up too fast. You definitely want to teach your little ones," he said. "We're so proud. He was so brave. There was not one tear."

Along with framed certificates from the mayor and council, Dylan received an appropriate gift.

"Since you're a lifesaver, we have some Lifesaver gummies," said Wild.

Dylan Henderson, 6, was accompanied by his parents Gail and Christopher as he was honored for calling 911 after his mother went into insulin shock. Presenting the certificates were Councilman Adam Hammons (far left) and Mayor William Wild (far right).

"You're a special young man."

Mike Sifter was honored for his volunteer efforts at the Westland Historic Village, including plastering the ceilings at the Octagon House.

"He has never asked to be paid and has donated materials, Mike has helped us a lot," said Wild, presenting a certificate of appreciation to Sifter, a 20-year resident. "He's just a good guy."

"We all know there isn't much of a budget over there. Without volunteers like Mike, there is a lot that wouldn't get done," said Councilman Bill Johnson, who presented a certificate of appreciation from the council.

Sifter was also very involved in the city's recycling committee during its early days, added Council President James Godbout.

Westland earns Tree City USA designation

Westland has been named a Tree City USA Community by the Arbor Day Foundation for its commitment to urban forestry.

This is the eighth year Westland has earned this national honor from the Arbor Day Foundation, the nation's largest nonprofit organization dedicated to planting trees.

The Arbor Day Foundation is a nonprofit, environmental and education organization of more than 1 million members with a mission to inspire people to plant, nurture and celebrate trees.

"We all benefit when communities like Westland place a high priority on planting and caring for trees, one of our nation's most beautiful resources," said John Rosenow, Chief Executive and Founder of the Arbor Day Foundation. "Trees shade our homes, add beauty to our neighborhoods, and provide many environmental, economic and social benefits. We applaud Westland's elected officials, volunteers and citizens for providing vital care for its urban forest."

The Tree City USA program is sponsored by the Arbor Day Foundation in cooperation with the National Association of State Foresters and the USDA Forest Service.

Westland has met the four standards to become a Tree City USA community. Tree City USA communities must have a tree board or department, a tree care ordinance, a community forestry program with annual expenditures of at least $2 per capita and an Arbor Day observance and proclamation.

Communities that earn Tree City USA recognition not only have taken the time to meet the four standards, they know that trees:

- Promote healthier communities by filtering the air we breathe by removing dust and other particles.
- Moderate climate, conserve water and provide vital habitat for wildlife.
- Reduce the heat island effect in urban areas caused by pavement and buildings. Reduce energy use and increase property values.

More information about the Arbor Day Foundation and its programs can be found at www.arborday.org. Tree City USA information can be found at www.arborday.org/TreeCityUSA.

Reaction positive at first school bond forum

By Karen Smith
Observer Staff Writer

The Livonia school board received positive feedback to a proposed construction bond of up to $200 million to pay for school improvements.

But the approximate 24 parents, seniors and other community members who attended the first of five forums on the topic had some advice for the school board:

"We need a brand-new school; you can only redesign a school so much," said Fred Mack, a retired teacher who taught in Livonia Public Schools for 52 years.

"It can't just be paint, windows, heat — what is it that makes Livonia schools the schools of choice?" asked Joe Mitra, a 20-year resident with no children in the district who works as an educational architect. "I'm all about the emerging trends ... in learning environments."

"Go through what's needed, as opposed to what the administration wants," said Al Churchill, a retiree on a fixed income.

Decision by December

The school board is holding the forums to gather the community's input on what kind of projects a construction bond should pay for, what the selling points would be to voters, what the challenges would be to passing a bond and what the level of support from the community would be.

The board plans to decide by December whether it will seek a bond, when it would place the proposal on the ballot, how much the bond would be for and what improvements the bond would pay for.

The district conducted a telephone poll Jan. 23-25 of 480 registered voters to gauge their support for $190 million in improvements in three areas: technology and equipment, fine arts and major facility renovations. A $190 million bond would

COMMUNITY FORUMS

Community forums will be held:

- 6:30-8 p.m. Tuesday, April 3, at Holmes Middle School, 16200 Newburgh.
- 3:30-5 p.m. Monday, April 16, at Stevenson High School, 33500 W. Six Mile. (Shuttle service will be provided from the Civic Park Senior Center at 3 p.m. for this forum.)

Parents, staff and community members can attend any of the meetings, regardless of location. In addition, a forum for students in kindergarten through 12th grade will be held 7-8 p.m. Tuesday, April 17, at Churchill High School, 8900 Newburgh. Parents must accompany elementary-age students.

RSVPs are appreciated for the forums. Contact Jill Wozniak at jwozniak@livoniapublicschools.org or call (734) 744-2510.

cost the owner of $125,000 home about $144 a year for 30 years.

The majority of respondents said they believe voters would reject a $190 million bond proposal because it would cost too much. However, the majority also said they personally would support it. The majority of respondents also said they think most people would support technology renovations to help make the district competitive with current education practices.

The technology renovations, without the other improvements, would cost an estimated $36 million, or $31 per year for the owner of a $125,000 home.

Additional input sought

The forums are a continuation of the board's efforts to get community input, said Donna McDowell, administrator of communications for the district. All the comments from the forum will be recorded and given to board members for their deliberation, she said.

The first forum was held at Franklin High School last week. After administrators presented background information on the need for school improvements and the limited funding currently available to pay for them, attendees broke into small discussion groups with school board members.

According to administrators, the district's sinking fund generates only about $4 million to $5 million a year. "It would take 25 to 30 years to get at all the things we're talking about," Superintendent Randy Liepa said. However, a bond, like a mortgage on a home, would allow the district to make the improvements sooner rather than later.

Dianne Laura and Gregory Oke said all the people in their group were very supportive of a bond.

"It's nice to hear a lot of people would be supportive if we do things the right way," Oke said. "I feel good it's not all negative." However, he noted, it was only the first of five forums.

"It was very positive," Laura said, adding people made some really good comments. But "we need to look at reality and what's going to pass."

Behind in technology

The eight community members in Oke's and Laura's small group listed what their priorities would be, ranging from technology to new lighting, plumbing, flooring and signage.

Alicia Douglas, who has a child in elementary, middle and high school as well as college, said Livonia is 10 years behind surrounding districts, including Clarenceville and Wayne-Westland, when it comes to technology.

"This is how our children learn now," she said.

Michele Michaels, a member of the Hayes Elementary PTA board, agreed. She said students have the technology at home but take "10 steps back" when they go to school. She said Hayes is 50 years old, and the windows leak, the temperature can't be controlled, and the sign outside is rotting, kept together by fresh paint "so people don't realize."

"I have no questions," she told Oke and Laura. "Run with it; go for it."

But Mack and Mitra questioned whether the existing classrooms are large enough to turn into modern-day learning environments.

Churchill said the changing job market makes renovations to the career center "pretty important." He advised school board members to consider what's really needed. "Projectors in every classroom? I question whether that makes a lot of sense," he said.

'Chump change'

Douglas said she thought community members would pay $150 a year to finance all the improvements listed in the district's long-term facilities plan, if they have the necessary information. She suggested volunteers hand out brochures at grocery stores.

"It comes out to be less than $12.50 a month. I can grab that spare change in my home from the laundry. I don't see it as a problem. It's chump change."

But the seniors in the group said $12.50 extra a month is a lot for someone on a fixed income, especially on top of the recent tax increases for public safety and senior services.

Pat Mack, a retired Cass Elementary School teacher, said school improvements will benefit seniors, even those on a fixed income for whom an extra $12.50 a month is a struggle.

"It affects the type of neighbors you have," she said.

'War on Iran?' topic of talk

Long-time local peace activist Rudy Simons will give a talk on a possible war with Iran at the Citizens for Peace meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 10, at Unity of Livonia.

The title of his talk is "War on Iran? Views from Iran, Israel & U.S." Attendees will hear three views from Simons, as he speaks from the perspective of an Iranian, an Israeli and an American as they consider the prospect of war with Iran.

Simons will share his insight into the political mood of Iran and its people. He will provide viewpoints unavailable to the majority of Americans since he is one of a few U.S. citizens who has traveled throughout Iran with the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

Since the 1920s, the Fellowship of Reconciliation has sent delegations of peacemakers to regions of the world in conflict and to nations regarded as U.S. enemies. This people-to-people outreach, a form of civilian diplomacy, has taken Simons to Iran, Israel and Palestine four times in the past six years.

A group discussion will follow his talk. The public is invited to this free presentation. Unity of Livonia Church is on Five Mile between Middlebelt and Inkster. For more information, call (734) 425-0079 or go to www.citizensforpeace11.blogspot.com.

25th annual Seedlings benefit raises record amount for program

The 25th annual bowling event benefiting Seedlings Braille Books for Children in Livonia raised more than $32,000 — a new record, said Debra Bonde, director of Seedlings.

"We were thrilled," she said, adding pledges are still coming in. "I'm just struck by how generous people were. It just touches my heart. They do it partly for fun, but they also do it for the right reason."

Bowling for Braille Books, held Saturday at Plaza Lanes in Plymouth, will allow the nonprofit to produce more than 3,200 braille books for children at a cost of $10 each.

Bonde said the event drew 130 bowlers, about the same number as in past years. But a lot more bowlers turned in more than the minimum, motivated by incentives and/or excited to mark the fundraiser's 25th anniversary.

This year, those who turned in $250 or more in pledges were entered in a drawing to win a Kindle Fire, courtesy of city of Livonia Treasurer Dennis Wright. Those who raised $100 or more could have a braille book inscribed in their name. The minimum to participate was $60.

Eighteen people raised more than $250 each, with the top three pledge-getters raising $3,400 alone. Cheryl Murphy of Novi won the drawing for the Kindle.

Steve Barnhart of Canton bowled the highest game with a score of 288. "He just missed it by one

Best bet? Transfer money from 401(k) to an IRA

By Rick Bloom
Guest Columnist

Q: Dear Rick: My employer has just sold his business to a competitor. Like my old company (where I worked for 20 years), the new company has a 401(k) plan. The new employer says we can either transfer the money in our existing 401(k) plan into its plan or we can close out the current 401(k) plan. I am about 10 years away from retirement and I'm not sure what option would be better for me. The new 401(k) plan is not nearly as good as the old plan. I am concerned about taxes. If I take the money, it would cost me a lot in taxes. What do you recommend?

A: Let me first address the tax issue. If you have money in your old 401(k) plan directly transferred into an IRA, then there will be no tax consequences. A direct transfer means that the money goes directly from the old 401(k) plan into an IRA. This is a relatively simple transaction to accomplish. Any custodian such as a Vanguard, Fidelity or TD Ameritrade can do it for you.

In analyzing your options, I recommend the direct transfer into an IRA because you will have complete control of your investments. Unlike your new 401(k) plan, which has limited options, with an IRA, you virtually have unlimited investment choices. Therefore, it is much easier for you to establish a balanced and diversified portfolio. In addition, you don't have to worry if, down the road, your employer changes the plan or the investment options.

Whether someone retires from a company or their company is sold, as in this case, 99 percent of the time I recommend directly transferring 401(k) money into an IRA. I'm always a believer that people should maintain as much flexibility as possible with their money and an IRA offers that flexibility. The downside of the IRA vs. the 401(k) plan is you can borrow money from your 401(k). You cannot borrow from your IRA. However, when it comes to investment options, the IRA gives much greater flexibility than a 401(k) plan.

There are many reasons why I am not a fan of borrowing money from a 401(k) plan. First, the adverse tax consequences. When you borrow money from a 401(k), you are paying interest that is not tax-deductible. I recognize that the interest you pay is generally going into your retirement account, however, when that money comes out, you will be taxed. Therefore, you're really paying double taxes on the money that you're paying in interest.

Another reason I'm against borrowing from 401(k) plans is because in many plans you cannot contribute new money if you have an outstanding balance. Particularly for those who take advantage of a company match, this can be a severe penalty.

Lastly, I believe retirement money is sacred and that you should avoid borrowing against it at all costs.

A key factor to successfully moving money from your old 401(k) plan into an IRA is to make sure that you're dealing with the right company. Too many times when people retire or change employers, they end up paying excessive fees on the money that they invest. As an example, I recently met with someone who transferred their 401(k) money, which was in a 401(k) Roth, into a variable annuity within a Roth IRA. This transaction benefitted one person only — the person who sold the variable annuity. For the client, it meant excessive fees and limited investment options. Therefore, when you do move money from a 401(k) into an IRA, be careful of unscrupulous salespeople who will attempt to advantage of you.

Good luck!

In training

The former Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital property was used by the Urban Search and Rescue team from the Western Wayne County Mutual Aid Association March 13 to train for life-saving emergencies like a tornado or missing person situation, which requires a wide-area search. Farmington Hills Fire Chief Corey Bartsch, a team leader, said the 40-person team trains for a different scenario each month. Since 2006, the USAR team has performed this important role, one particular scene they responded to was the explosion at the W.C. Frank's Furniture Store in 2010.

A western Wayne County-based megachurch is forging ties with people halfway around the world with the goal of putting two impoverished villages on a path of sustainable economic growth.

Members of NorthRidge Church, which hosts more than 9,000 people at weekend services at three area locations, have agreed to "sponsor" more than 3,000 children in the villages of Moyo and Hamaundu, in the southern African country of Zambia, through World Vision, a Christian relief and development agency.

Organizers expected the long-planned program to generate 2,000 sponsorships, but that number was quickly reached when the program was announced at services early this month, and more than 1,000 more sponsors are on a waiting list as World Vision prepares to send along information about more children in need.

"This has set a precedent with World Vision," said Beth Harris, NorthRidge's outreach director. "A church has never been able to do the number of sponsorships we've been able to do."

While each sponsorship links a church member or family to a child or young adult in Moyo or Hamaundu, sponsors' contributions actually go toward a World Vision Program that helps improve life for all villagers, Harris said.

"We're not just sponsoring kids, it's a whole area development plan," Harris said, adding that the church's commitment is for 10 to 15 years.

The development plan, said NorthRidge's Mike Miller, focuses on five key areas: providing the villages with clean water, better health care and an improved education system, fostering economic development, and supporting local churches. NorthRidge sponsors' donations will go to World Vision programs already in place in the villages, he said, and World Vision is partners with existing churches there.

"What we want is a relationship (and) ultimately a sustainable, thriving community," said Miller. "To do what we're talking about, it will probably take anywhere from 10 to 15 years from today to the finish line, where those communities are thriving."

Harris and Miller said because key development areas are interrelated, improving conditions in one can improve conditions in another. For example, they said, village girls who now have to walk three to five miles daily to fetch well water, which their families depend on, have a hard time being in school, so wells closer to the population will improve access to education.

"Now they can get water and go to school," Miller said.

NorthRidge's commitment came after Pastor Brad Powell and several other men from the church visited both Moyo and Hamaundu about six months ago. Miller said World Vision has been laying the groundwork for about a year and a half.

Church member Mark Warren of Wyandotte and his family are sponsoring two Zambian children through a donation of $35 a month per child. Warren said it's good to be a part of something bigger than oneself and that he's "thrilled to give back halfway around the world."

As the program progresses, he said, sponsors can interact with the children, exchanging letters and pictures, Warren said.

"We're just an average family who's glad to be part of the campaign," said Warren, the circulation director for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

Harris said another goal is to have more visits by NorthRidge members to Moyo and Hamaundu.

House OKs Walsh bills making it illegal to lie to cops

The Michigan House on Thursday approved two bills introduced by a western Wayne County lawmaker that make it a crime to willfully and knowingly lie to law enforcement officials during an investigation.

House Bills 5050 and 5051, which make it illegal to conceal information or to make misleading statements during a criminal investigation, were amended in the Senate and returned to the House for passage.

"This closes a loophole in Michigan law that allowed someone to protect a suspect in a crime by misleading police investigators," said state Rep. John Walsh, R-Livonia. "This will act as a deterrent to someone lying to police or providing false information during an investigation."

The bills prohibit people from doing any of the following during a criminal investigation:

- Knowingly and willfully issuing or providing any writing or document to the peace officer that the person knows is false or misleading regarding a material fact;
- Knowingly and willfully concealing from the peace officer (by trick, scheme or device) any material fact; and
- Knowingly and willfully making any statement to the peace officer that is false or misleading regarding a material fact.

Based on the severity of the crime being investigated, violators could face penalties ranging from 93 days in jail to four years in prison.

"This does not infringe on the right of people who are being questioned during investigations, and it will not change the rights to due process of law," Walsh said. "Time is of the essence in police investigations, and someone giving false information is wasting time and taxpayer money by sending officials on wild goose chases."

The measures have been sent to the governor for signature.

Diapers are Ford's better idea

By Darrell Clem
Observer Staff Writer

Ford Motor Co. employees, in a move to help children and struggling families, collected 18,653 disposable diapers delivered by company volunteers Monday to the Canton-based Detroit Area Diaper Bank, a nonprofit charity that has helped meet a critical need across southeast Michigan since April 2009.

Rolling up in a box truck, Ford Volunteer Corps members dropped off supplies the diaper bank's unpaid leader, Marybeth Levine, planned to start dispersing this week to social service agencies ranging from the Wayne County Women, Infants & Children Program to the Downriver Fish & Loaves Food Pantry.

Employees from 15 locations, mostly in Dearborn but including the Livonia Ford Transmission Plant, collected the diapers and thousands of baby wipes last week during the latest Ford Accelerated Action Day effort that gives back to local communities. Donations to the diaper bank marked one of many activities across metro Detroit.

Stocking shelves

Plymouth mom and Ford employee Lisa Jacobi delivered diapers along with company volunteers Dave VanHoet of Canton, Vince Amore of Livonia, Mark Carrier of Ann Arbor and Levine's husband, Steve Levine — helping to restock the diaper bank's Extra Space Storage unit off Canton Center Road.

Jacobi said diapers are expensive and out of reach for struggling families who can't afford to buy supplies not covered by government safety-net programs.

"This is a way we can reach out and help the community," she said.

Ford volunteers also collected 147 cans of formula donated to area food banks.

Will welcomed the latest donation, which was timely because donations had fallen off since a major campaign ended during the 2011 holiday season.

"This couldn't come at a better time," Levine said, adding that Ford Motor Co.'s help should get the diaper bank through another month.

Action day

Will, a Ford retiree, said the company's effort provided "another reason Ford's the best."

Levine started the volunteer diaper bank (www.detroitareadiaperbank.org) in April 2009. Since then, the charity has distributed over 1.2 million disposable diapers to numerous agencies across southeast Michigan, including First Step, The Salvation Army and Starfish Family Services.

During the Ford Accelerated Action Day, the company donated $50,000 to numerous agencies. Efforts included painting a playroom and assembling shelves at the Detroit Rescue Mission Ministries, creating an art therapy room for First Step's domestic violence program, building house walls for Habitat for Humanity and sprucing up residential cottages for Redford-based Methodist Children's Home Society — among numerous other projects.

"There is no better use of our dollars and our deeds than to invest in children," said Jim Vella, president of Ford Motor Co.'s Fund and Community Services. "Our investment in the community will help bring comfort to families today while laying the groundwork for better days ahead."

The Pursuit of Happiness

The Declaration of Independence has long held "the pursuit of happiness" as an American goal, but now it is formally becoming a human goal. On Monday, April 2nd, 2012, Resolution 65/309 will be put into effect by the United Nations. Most of us don't pay attention to U.N. resolutions, but this one emphasizes the importance of happiness on a global scale.

Up until now, a country's Gross Domestic Product was used to measure its progress as a nation, in social and economic terms. It has been discovered that having a high GDP doesn't necessarily translate to a happy nation with a positive sense of well-being.

This resolution was proposed by Bhutan, a small Himalayan nation in Asia that has been using Gross National Happiness as a measure of success for years now. Business Week has ranked it the happiest country in Asia and the eighth happiest in the world, despite its economic limitations.

This is a big paradigm shift. It means reassessing what we, as humans, value. No longer will wealth be determined solely by dollars. According to Bhutan, true wealth means having a "ravishing environment," "vibrant health," "strong communal relationships" and "meaning in life and freedom to free time."

For individuals, there has been a multitude of books published claiming to guarantee happiness to the reader. This is problematic because the concept of happiness is problematic. There are many books that push money and materialism as the path to happiness. But then there is a whole section on happiness as a way of life as opposed to an end goal. Gretchen Rubin's The Happiness Project offers concrete steps for people to reach self-actualization. The newest title by Andrew Weil, Spontaneous Happiness, focuses on obtaining and sustaining optimal emotional and physical health. Then there's also happiness that comes from how one conducts their life and behaviors. Happy by Ian Smith discusses just that.

These books plus many, many more are available for checkout at the Westland Public Library. Visit us anytime and pick up some titles to help you on your way to happiness and well-being. Call 73

Miracle League wins Pyramid honor Mackinac Bridge, Madonna University Light It Blue

The Miracle League of Plymouth was chosen the 2012 Best Project Teams (under $3 Million) Pyramid Award for the Miracle League of Plymouth project, a baseball field and pavilion for children with special needs.

The Pyramid Awards are sponsored by the Washtenaw Contractors Association. This particular award recognized architect Joseph Philips and contractor, Ted Barker, Shaw Construction.

Each of these prestigious awards represents the highest level of achievement in the areas of teamwork, service, or innovation. The winners are selected by independent experts in the construction industry.

Ted Barker, President, Shaw Construction; Construction Manager, Miracle League of Plymouth

"A project like this comes by once in a lifetime to construct a very special ball field in the very town you were raised in," said Barker. "To be able to be part of such a dynamic team with Joseph Philips Architect, LLC, Bob Bilkie, and Deb Madonna, who helped raise this project from an idea three years ago to a complete success is all the award any one needs. Then to be recognized by my peers from my very own construction industry as the 2012 Washtenaw Construction Association Best Project Team is overwhelming."

According to judges, the project involved an extremely high level of cooperation between the owner, architect and contractor, resulting in true synergism between these three entities; resulted in an improvement in some critical aspect of the construction project; the improvement is documented and sufficient information is disclosed to the Jury to complete its review; the award nomination is supported in writing by all three entities; the project is located in Michigan; and the contractor/construction manager nominee is a member of the Washtenaw Contractors Association.

"It once again goes back to form and function," said Bob Bilkie, co-chair of the Miracle League of Plymouth. "Not only does the field suit our Miracle League Players well but it is also a thing of beauty to behold. Ted and Joe are at the top of their games."

Madonna, the other co-chair of the Miracle League of Plymouth, said the MLP was "lucky enough" to be able to build a baseball field for children, some of whom have not had a chance to play."

"There is nothing better for adults than to be able to create a place for all children to play and be part of a team, to provide a place where they will make friends," she said.

The Bilkie Family Field, home of the Miracle League of Plymouth, is at 357 Theodore, behind Central Middle School between Main Street and Farmer, in Plymouth. For more information, visit the website at www.miracleleagueplymouth.org.

In April, the Mackinac Bridge will be lit with blue lights at night as part of the autism awareness campaign, Light It Blue Michigan. It's the first time the Mackinac Bridge has ever taken up a cause.

Bridge participation in the campaign is the result of efforts by Madonna University graduate students and Corner Pieces, a non-profit in the Upper Peninsula.

Working in groups, members of the marketing class identified and worked with four unique non-profit organizations to create marketing plans. The Madonna students then voted and awarded a monetary gift to each non-profit based on the strength of their plan.

"I got a phone call, out of the blue, from a student at Madonna. They said they needed to work with a non-profit on a project, and since we had just started our organization the previous May, we were excited about the help," said Ben Duff, founder of Corner Pieces, a Sault Ste. Marie-based non-profit dedicated to helping children and families living with Autism spectrum disorder.

The students who selected Corner Pieces quickly decided to help Duff with a project he had hoped to undertake, but didn't have the time or resources – to get Michigan landmarks to participate in the national Light it Up Blue campaign led by Autism Speaks, www.lightitupblue.org.

"Michigan had the lowest participation in this national campaign," Duff said. "And we wanted to really make a statement by going after the one thing that everyone in Michigan knows by sight, the Mackinac Bridge."

The marketing plan the group drafted helped raise $7,500, which was needed to pay for the cost of changing the light bulbs on the iconic five-mile long bridge, currently the third longest suspension bridge in the world.

Working with Duff's organization, the group also secured participation in the Light It Blue Michigan campaign by the GM Renaissance Center, Motor City Casino, the DTE Energy Building and Madonna University.

"Without the students' involvement, this would never have happened," Duff said.

There will be a lighting ceremony at the bridge on Monday with Michigan's Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley, who has a 4-year-old autistic daughter, and has been an outspoken advocate of expanding Michigan's health care coverage for children affected by the disability.

"This project was a wonderful opportunity for me and my classmates to go beyond the classroom, develop a relationship with a real business, and hopefully have a positive impact," said Scott Draper of Canton, a graduate student in the class.

The class, led by professor Betty Jean Hebel, voted to award Corner Pieces $500.

When the Mackinac Bridge and Madonna University turn blue, they will be joining a long list of historic buildings and structures that have participated in the 3-year-old national campaign, such as the Empire State Building in New York, Christ The Redeemer in Brazil, and Niagara Falls in Ontario, Canada.

Through the establishment of Corner Pieces www.cornerpieces.org, Ben and Tiffany Duff, whose son is autistic, have made it their mission to provide iPods and iPads to autistic children who struggle with communication. They also seek to educate and inform the general public and affected families about the causes, signs, and treatment of autism, which effects one out of 110 children in the United States.

Stevenson's Kenning Brichford returns in the sprints for the defending Division 1 regional champions and Kensington Conference runner-up.

PREVIEW

Starting blocks: Track teams set Stevenson defends region title

By Brad Emons
Observer Staff Writer

Having a well-rounded team has been the formula for success for the Livonia Stevenson boys track program during the past decade.

The Spartans are the defending Division 1 regional and Livonia City champions, along with being Kensington Conference runners-up. They open their season Tuesday with a KLAACentral Division meet at Salem, and ninth-year coach Scott Shaw faces an air of uncertainty as the season approaches.

"We have a good group of seniors that have had success in the past, plus several of them have looked very solid so far in the pre-season," Shaw said. "The only negative is that our numbers are down. I only have 73 kids as compared to over 100 most years. We seem to be down in the number of freshmen participating, which is quite disappointing."

Stevenson lost some top-

Kassius Kelly Clarenceville Adam Clay Franklin flight talent to graduation, including shot put thrower Jon Aneed, who finished fifth in Division 1, and standout 800-meter runner and relay anchor Matt Williams.

But the cupboard is far from bare for the Spartans, who return senior sprinter Kenning Brichford, who clocked 11.1 and 23.2, respectively, in the 100- and 200-meter dashes.

The lone returnee from Stevenson's school-record 4 x 800 relay team (7:56.1), which finished fifth in the state finals, is junior Zaid Shareef.

Other top returnees for the Spartans include Nick Pod-

Warner MAC golf honoree

Eastern Michigan University senior Shannon Warner (Livonia Churchill) was named Mid-American Conference Women's Golfer of the Week after shooting a final-round 72 to place fourth with a three-round total of 218 at the University of Arkansas-Little Rock Golf Classic (March 26-27).

It was the second top-five showing of the season for Warner, who has been battling a nagging wrist injury. It also marks the first time in her career she has collected the weekly award.

The transfer from Michigan State, a two-time MHSAA Division 1 individual state medalist and Miss Golf, helped the Eagles turn in a third-round score of 292 to finish with a total of 899 (tied for third place with Middle Tennessee State).

Atienza trio state-caliber

The Atienza brothers of Livonia made a name for themselves at state level events during the weekend of March 23-25.

Jordan Atienza, a sophomore at Franklin, captured the 148-pound weight class at the Michigan Youth Wrestling Association state tournament at Battle Creek's Kellogg Arena.

The 16-year-old was a state qualifier for the Patriots and earned second-team All-Observer honors.

Nathan Atienza, a 12-year-old seventh-grader at Holmes Middle School, took fifth place in the same tournament in the 100-pound weight class for the 1999-2000 age bracket.

And not to be outdone, Owen Atienza, a fourth-grader at Coolidge Elementary School, placed first on vault and floor exercise in Level 4 at the USA Gymnastics Michigan Men's meet held at Lake Orion High School.

The 9-year-old also added a seventh on the parallel bars and took seventh in the all-around.

Blazers fall

Maddy Rosochacki's eight goals proved to be the difference Wednesday as host South Lyon outgunned Livonia Ladywood, 17-13, in a girls lacrosse match.

Ladywood senior Kylie Birney countered with six goals and senior Emma Ellswood added four, but it wasn't enough as the Blazers slipped to 1-2 overall.

Mia Fragale made seven saves in goal for South Lyon (2-0), while Ladywood junior Stephanie Mackley had six stops.

Trierweiler gains honor

Madonna University freshman second baseman Kasey Trierweiler (Grand Ledge) was selected as the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference Softball Player of the Week (ending March 25).

Trierweiler paced the Crusaders to a perfect 2-0 week hitting .714 with a pair of doubles and two RBI as the Crusaders extended their early season winning streak.

BOYS SOCCER

Spartans name new coach

By Brad Emons
Observer Staff Writer

The torch has been passed. Livonia Stevenson's new varsity boys soccer coach is Ken Shingledecker, who succeeds the highly successful Lars Richters. Stevenson athletic director Lori Hyman made it official Friday that Shingledecker, currently the girls varsity coach at Livonia Ladywood and assistant men's coach at Madonna University, was her choice.

"Ken is a very experienced and well-versed soccer coach," Hyman said. "He is a proven winner and his strengths lie in his ability to stress the importance of team-unity and assisting his players in becoming outstanding individuals. His coaching style mirrors the values and expectations that the Stevenson soccer legacy has been built on."

The 34-year-old Shingledecker has quite a legacy to uphold. Richters, a former Stevenson all-stater and head coach at his alma mater for 14 years, stepped down recently to concentrate year-round on coaching the Under-16 Crew Academy program.

Richters compiled an impressive 232-46-23 record, including Division 1 state runner-up finishes in 2006 and 2008, along with two other Final Four appearances.

Stevenson finished 14-7-1 last fall and captured its ninth district championship under Rich-

Chargers get 5-4 triumph with key hits

Clutch hits in the late going propelled Livonia Churchill to a season-opening 5-4 softball victory Thursday at home over Walled Lake Central in eight innings.

The Chargers, who battled back from a 4-0 deficit, scored three times in the sixth, one in the seventh and one in the eighth to pull out the victory.

Churchill's Casey Bias went 3-for-4 on the day, including a two-run triple in the sixth inning.

Rachel Jason, who went 2-for-4, then belted a leadoff homer in the seventh to send the game into extra innings.

In the bottom of the eighth, Katie Shereda, who also went 2-for-4, tripled and scored the game-winning run on Julia Cavagnini's sacrifice fly.

Winning pitcher Missy Sidor went all eight innings, scattering eight hits and two walks while striking out eight.

Losing pitcher Taylor Meredyk also went the distance, allowing nine hits and two walks while fanning eight.

Taylor Krumm and Brianna Krus each collected two hits for the Vikings (0-1).

A.A. HURON 5-8, HVL 3-6: On Thursday, Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (0-2) opened its season by losing a doubleheader to visiting Ann Arbor Huron (3-0) in a pair of five-inning games.

The Crystallettes perform their synchronized skating routine at the USFS Championships March 2-3 in Worcester, Mass.

USA's Crystallettes

Local synchro skaters off to ISU Worlds

The Crystallettes senior synchronized skating team has been named Team USA II and will represent the United States at the 2012 ISU World Synchronized Skating Championships, April 13-14 in Göteborg, Sweden.

The Synchro World Championships will have 21 teams representing 16 countries: Australia, Belgium, Canada, Croatia, Czech Republic, Finland, France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, Japan, Latvia, Russia, Switzerland, Sweden and the U.S.

The Crystallettes were awarded the silver medal at the 2012 U.S. Figure Skating Synchronized Skating Championships, March 2-3 at the DCU Center in Worcester, Mass.

On Friday, after skating a clean and edgy short program to Duffy's Mercy, the Crystallettes were in second place with 60.40 points.

They were less than four points behind the reigning national champion Haydenettes (64.26) and less than three ahead of third-place Miami (Ohio) University, which scored 57.98 points.

Going into the long program Saturday, the Crystallettes knew they had to skate a near-perfect program to stay in the top two spots and earn the honor of representing the U.S. at the World Championships.

The Haydenettes skated just before the Crystallettes and delivered a solid program, earning a score of 138.66 and putting the pressure on the Crystallettes.

But the Crystallettes were focused and motivated to skate their long program, performed to the Latin-themed On The Floor by Jennifer Lopez.

Their performance was an exciting and fun interpretation of the Latin music, with impressive intersections, and overall a very strong effort. Most importantly, however, it was clean and delivered a score of 125.14 points.

As the score wasn't enough to overtake the Haydenettes for first place, the team had to wait to see if it was enough to hold the silver medal.

Miami University skated right after the Crystallettes, but its score (124.66) came in just under the Crystallettes by less than one point, leaving the

 "I hope to carry on the tradition that Lars has built at Stevenson," said Shingledecker, who is general manager at the Taylor SportsPlex. "I plan on doing everything I can to assure this program continues to be thought of as one of the elite soccer programs in the state of Michigan."
 "The opportunity to be involved with a high school with this type of soccer tradition made this a no-brainer. I am in the process of moving my family back to Livonia, and I hope to be able to coach my two boys at Stevenson one day."
 Shingledecker guided Ladywood last spring to a 17-4-6 record and the 2011 Division 2 state final before losing to Plainwell, 2-1. He is 51-22-8 overall in the midst of his fifth season with the Blazers.

Shingledecker was also an assistant coach at his alma mater Lutheran High Westland (1998-2009) under coach Rich Block and was the Warriors girls varsity coach for three seasons (2004-06).
 "He is involved in the Livonia City Soccer Club as a head coach and has established solid relationships in the soccer community," Hyman said.
 Shingledecker becomes only the fourth boys varsity coach in school history, succeeding Pete Scerri, Walt Barrett and Richters.
 "I plan to speak to Lars and get some feedback about the style that he found to be successful here," Shingledecker said. "But I'm sure I will mix in a few things here and there to put my own stamp on it. I plan on filling the staff out right after spring break."

Tie that binds
 Churchill deadlocks Salem, 0-0

Junior Ashley Elliott held down the fort in goal Wednesday night as Livonia Churchill battled host Salem to a scoreless girls soccer draw at Centennial Educational Park.
 "It was a pretty even game and we had the wind against us in the first half," said Churchill coach Dave Hebestreit, whose team stands 0-1-1 overall. "Ashley played well and made two big saves in the first half on legit chances."
 The Chargers got a strong defensive effort, according to Hebestreit, from Rachel Blackney, who was moved to the backline from the midfield.
 "We were able to build up our attack and play into our forward Alexa Vakratis," Hebestreit said. "We had our chances, especially late in the game."
 Churchill was coming off a season-opening 7-0 setback Monday at home against Northville.
 "I'm happy with the way we bounced back and played pretty well," Hebestreit said.

The tie leaves Salem 1-0-1 overall.

 Ladywood keeper Sara Even posted her first shutout of the year, while Nikki Bradley made nine saves for the Saddletites.
 "Our team defense was off the charts tonight," Ladywood coach Ken Shingledecker said. "We were excellent in our pursuit to get the ball back after we lost it. It's a quality league win for us."

RU 2, CLARENCEVILLE 1: Katherine Sprader scored a pair of goals Thursday to enable Redford Union (1-1-1) to slip past host Livonia Clarenceville (1-2).

 Losing pitcher Julie St. John, a freshman, gave up just one earned run on seven hits. The Hawks committed three errors.
 Senior Meghan Kubinski went 2-for-3 with an RBI.

 St. John allowed eight hits and fanned five without giving up a walk.
 Kubinski knocked in two runs, while Brooke Kuehn had a hit, walked twice and scored three runs.
 "Overall good first games," HVL coach Kris Ruth said. "We saw some jitters in the field. We hit the ball, but did not get a lot of solid contact on the ball. Julie St. John did an excellent job on the mound, commanded the strike zone well and didn't walk anyone today."
RENAISSANCE 13, CVILLE 1: It was a forgettable 2012 opener Wednesday for Livonia Clarenceville (0-1) as the the Trojans could muster just one hit and committed six errors as visiting Detroit Renaissance (1-0) rolled to a five-inning mercy rule victory.

 Phoenix second baseman Breanna Lawrence did the bulk of the damage, going 4-for-4 with a homer, triple and four RBI. She also scored three runs.
 Winning pitcher Kayla Banks allowed just one run on one hit and a walk while striking out 11.
 Angela McAlpine collected the Trojans' lone hit, an RBI double scoring Rachel Grefke in the first inning.

 Garden City (1-2) collected seven hits by seven different players got an RBI single from Jared Conroy and an RBI sacrifice fly from Sean Fox.
 Losing pitcher Zak Kmet went the first five innings and was charged with four earned runs.

Shawn Friesner finished up.
 The Cougars committed three errors on the day.
CVILLE 9, RENAISSANCE 4: The arm of the home plate umpire got quite a workout Wednesday as Livonia Clarenceville left-hander Damien Quarles struck out 13 in just five innings as the Trojans (1-0) opened the season with a win over Detroit Renaissance (0-1).
 Quarles, a senior, gave up two hits and walked one. He did not allow an earned run.
 Ben Gehan came on in the sixth and seventh innings to earn the save as he gave up one earned runs on two hits and three walks while fanning five.
 Gehan also had an RBI double and scored three runs, while Kyle Kissandi added two RBI on a single and bases loaded walk. Tyler Weed also contributed an RBI single.
 "It was just real sloppy," said Clarenceville coach Dan Miller, whose team committed four errors. "We took advantage of some opportunities (like four Renaissance errors), but we've got to play better."
WAYNE 3, BELLEVILLE 0: Pitchers Zach Lankton and Tyler McCurry combined on a four-hit shutout Wednesday as Wayne Memorial (2-1) downed the Tigers (1-1).

 Lowry got credit for two RBI with a bases loaded walk and a sacrifice fly.
 Losing pitcher Tyler Wilson worked six innings, allowing all three runs on five hits. He walked four and struck out eight.
GARDEN CITY 11, JOHN GLENN 1: Tyler Steele went 3-for-4 with three RBI to lead the Cougars (1-1) to a five-inning mercy-rule triumph at Westland John Glenn (0-2).

Shawn Cummings will also put up some big numbers for us this year. He holds the school record in the discus (135-7). Alec Jones under five minutes in the mile. He's our best miler in a long time. We'll be competitive in all our meets."

LUTHERAN WESTLAND

Head coach: Mike Unger, 25th year. League affiliation: Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.

We finished second to (Auburn Hills) Oakland Christian last year by 6.5 points and hope to turn that result around. They will be a formidable team again this year along with (Rochester Hills) Lutheran Northwest."

ulka (long jump), Jim Mims (300 hurdles) and Stephen Fenech (3,200)

Meanwhile, the KLAAs South Division looks to be up for grabs.

Livonia Franklin got a piece of the title a year ago with a 4-1 dual meet record and tied rival Livonia Churchill for fourth in the Kensington Conference meet.

Franklin's top returnee is senior shot put stand-out Adam Clay, who broke the school record last year with a toss of 55 feet, 7 inches.

But Clay, who has signed a football letter of intent with Southern Illinois, is doubtful for the start of the season after undergoing off-season knee surgery.

"The throws have suddenly become our biggest question mark as Adam Clay's return from knee surgery is questionable," Franklin fourth-year coach Pat Koelzer said.

The Patriots, however, do return Tom Brokaw (110 hurdles) and Alex Perelli (sprints).

Livonia Churchill hopes to have a bounce-back spring under 18th-year coach Rick Austin.

The Chargers boast a slew of returnees and hope to make up the loss of distance runner Tom Windle and pole vaulter Carl Rayford.

"We are continuing to rebuild in 2012," Austin said. "Pride in our program continues to run deep. There will be many opportunities for our young guys to step into varsity roles this season. I think that we can compete with everyone in a competitive South Division of the KLAAs. We really look forward to what the season has in store for us."

Westland John Glenn coach Jess Shough, now in his 26th season, may have to rely on a number of underclassmen to improve upon last year's fourth-place showing in the KLAAs South and ninth-place conference finish.

"Our season will be determined by how fast and far they progress — plus how much improvement comes from our veterans," said Shough, who will bank on senior sprinter Brandon Benson and hurdler-long jumper Kalya Massenber.

At Wayne Memorial, the Rev. Andre Williams, an associate minister at Prayer Temple Missionary Baptist Church in Redford, takes over for James Thomas after spending two seasons as an assistant coach at Glenn.

Williams will rely on a pair of distance runners in freshmen Devin and Michael Gibson, along with junior distance runner Daniel Malcol.

One team to watch closely is Livonia Clarenceville, an independent that is moving up from Division 3 to Division 2 for the regionals.

The Trojans boast the area's top sprinter in Observerland champion Kassius Kelly, who has already clocked 100 dash times of 10.79 and 10.86 in dual meet victories over Redford Thurston (89-38) and Garden City (82-54).

"He has a tremendous work ethic," Clarenceville third-year coach Brady Gustafson said. "He's always on time, ready to work. He lifts during the off-season and also runs AAU in the summer."

Mike Unger, now in his 25th season as Lutheran High Westland's coach, lost a pair of outstanding hurdlers to graduation in Zach Musial and Micah Kempf, who ran 15.1 and 15.3, respectively, in the 110 hurdles.

Jake Fairbairn, a senior, is the leading returnee for the Warriors after placing third in the Division 3 state finals in the 300 hurdles (40.9).

Newcomer Mitch Boehm, a senior, should also help out in the sprints.

"With the addition of some seniors who have never run track before, the team appears to be better balanced than it was last year," Unger said. "And having over 40 kids on the team, hopefully a few surprises will emerge to help us be a team with better depth as well."

All-Observer gymnasts rank among state's best

DIVISION 1

Alyssa Bresso, Sr., Farmington: Bresso placed sixth in the Division 1 all-around at the state meet with a 37.275 score. She also was all-state on vault (seventh), bars (sixth) and floor (fourth). Bresso averaged a nine-plus score in every event this season and a 36.963 in the all-around. At the regional, she was second on vault, third on floor, fifth on bars and beam.

"Alyssa has been a huge reason for our success over the last four years," coach Jeff Dwyer said. "I was glad she went out on top (at the state meet) as she deserved the recognition for all of her hard work over the years."

"She is so talented that you take it for granted that she can always throw a quality routine. Fortunately, she did exactly that on a consistent basis for four years."

Ayana Lewis, Sr., Canton: The senior's brilliant high school career had a wonderful final chapter, culminating with D1 all-state medals on vault and bars. Lewis placed sixth on vault (9.4), seventh on bars (9.250) and just missed being all-state in all-around with an 11th place score of 36.350.

At regionals, she captured championships on vault (9.675) and beam (9.525). She also set three Canton school records (bars, 9.9; beam, 9.75; all-around, 38.275).

"This has been the breakout year for Ayana," said Canton coach John Cunningham. "... Memorable and remarkable."

Lewis, an Elite All American Gymnast and D2 state champion on vault in 2011, was chosen as the Chiefs' Most Valuable Gymnast.

And she was named "Senior State Gymnast of the Year" by the Michigan High School Gymnastics Coaches and Judges Association.

Nicole Lasecki, Jr., Canton: Lasecki's junior season for the Chiefs featured top-20 finishes in two events plus all-around at the D1 state meet.

She took 16th on vault (9.050) and 17th on floor (8.975).

"An All American Gymnast in five events and a KLA A Scholar Athlete, she also won the KLA A Kensington Division championship on floor."

At regionals, held at Plymouth High School, Lasecki earned medals for finishing in the top-five in three events.

"Nicole had a very strong year as a result of a lot of hard work," Cunningham said. "... She will be a strong team leader next year."

Melissa Green, Soph., Canton: The smooth and steady performer earned D1 all-state honors in four of five events.

An Elite All American Gymnast, Green took eighth on floor (9.375) and finished in a ninth-place tie on bars (8.975), along with 10th-place showings on beam (9.3) and all-around (36.600).

Green also won five regional medals, highlighted by second-place finishes on vault, bars, floor and all-around.

For her season-long excellence, she won the team award for most consistent gymnast.

"Her consistent high scores were a prime reason for Canton's spectacular season," Cunningham said.

Jocelyn Moraw, Fr., Canton: The freshman burst onto the scene in a big way, helping the Chiefs reload after losing a number of key gymnasts to graduation such as Robyn Piwowar and Kali Pierce.

For her efforts, the Elite All American Gymnast won the team's award for top rookie. One of her season's highlights was registering a 9.7 mark on bars to briefly hold the Canton school record.

Moraw competed with the poise of a junior or senior, capturing D1 all-state medals in four events. She took sixth on floor with a 9.45 tally, placed eighth in all-around (36.9), tied for ninth with teammate Green on bars (8.975) and placed ninth on beam (9.325).

At regionals, she was champion on bars (9.6), floor (9.525) and all-around (37.650).

Cunningham said Moraw was a "huge surprise," contributing in a major way to the team's outstanding season.

"With huge shoes to fill missing from last year, Jocelyn calmly became one of our team leaders," Cunningham noted.

DIVISION 2

Amanda Lumley, Sr., Farmington: Lumley is the Division 2 state champion on floor for the second time in her high school career, winning the title with a 9.625 score this year. She was all-state on bars (sixth) and as an all-arounder, finishing fifth with a 36.45 total. Lumley was a regional champion on floor with a 9.875, and her season average was an impressive 9.633. She won the state title in that event two years ago and was the runner-up last year.

"Since her freshman year, Mandy become stronger and stronger on what were once her weaker events (bars and beam)," coach Dwyer said. "For that reason, I think it is quite an honor to place fifth in the all-around, which is the hardest event in which to earn all-state honors."

"It's remarkable that she did this with a bad back. She is such a tough kid. No one does floor better than Mandy. She is so awesome to watch, because she makes everything look so effortless."

Meredith Jonik, Soph., Farmington: A repeat member of the all-area team like Bresso and Lumley, Jonik is an all-stater in the all-around, finishing eighth with a 36.30 score. She is all-state on beam (sixth) and floor (third), too. Jonik averaged 9.143 and 9.25 in those events, respectively, and her all-around average was 35.90. At the regional, Jonik shared first place on beam with Lumley, and she also was second on vault, fourth on bars and seventh on floor.

"What an accomplishment for a sophomore," coach Dwyer said. "I remember Meredith joining the team last year and proving to be quite the competitor. She has continued to gain even more difficult tricks and has become a gymnast who gets the job done."

"I love how she competes. She has the ability to block out the pressure of the environment and just go after her routines. She is also able to forget about mistakes and move forward."

Erica Lucas, Soph., Canton: The sophomore epitomized perfection on vault, going undefeated and ultimately winning the D2 championship with a score of 9.550.

She finished 11th in the all-around at Kenowa Hills (35.675), just missing all-state honors.

During the season, Lucas won vault in every dual meet, invitational and tournament, including a 9.7 to claim the regional championship.

"Erica works harder than anyone else on the team, every day and weekends besides," Cunningham said. "For her, 'One more try' means 10 at least."

Alex Kitz, Sr., Livonia Blue: The senior captain earned all-state honors in two events after placing fifth on the uneven bars (8.975) and a tie for ninth on vault (9.225).

Kitz also took 14th in the all-around (35.325) in Grand Rapids.

She was the regional champion in the all-around (37.3), including a first on bars (9.4); seconds on floor (9.525) and beam (9.25); and a third on vault (9.125).

She was also KLA A champ on bars (9.4) and third in the all-around (35.8).

"Alex is a great leader and teammate," Livonia Blue coach Lisa Broomfield said. "She was always trying new skills and working hard. She has the drive to success."

Andrea Merlotti, Jr., Salem: The junior excelled in her first season with the Rocks.

Overcoming an illness leading up to regionals, Merlotti earned all-state honors on bars, finishing ninth with a 8.925 mark.

At regionals, she tied for third on bars (8.900) and took third on beam (9.225) while taking sixth in all-around (35.325).

"She was a great addition to our squad," coach Dana Driscoll said. "Andrea is a very dedicated and hard-working gymnast. ... I am excited to see what she brings to our team next year."

Shannon Diaz, Soph., Livonia Red: The sophomore earned all-state honors on bars with an 8.9 and a 10th-place finish.

She qualified for the state finals with a third-place finish at the regional (also with an 8.9).

At the KLA A meet, Diaz took second on bars (8.95) and beam (9.4) to go along with a ninth on floor (9.05).

"Shannon is competitive, she's aggressive and her talents are increasing," Livonia Red coach Kelly Grodzicki said. "She's highly talented and is also involved in competitive cheer. She had an amazing season. The coaches are very excited to see what Shannon will offer next year."

Jane McCurry, Jr., Plymouth: The junior was all-state on floor exercise, with her 9.375 mark good for a seventh-place tie.

She took third in that event at regionals with a 9.5, setting a new school record for the Wildcats.

"Jane is a dedicated hard-working team player setting a great example for her teammates," coach Pam Yockey said. "She has managed, in three years with no gymnastics background, to set the school record on floor.

"She is a joy to coach and a great team leader."

Nicole Jacobs, Sr., Salem: The senior's fourth season with the Rocks proved to be very special as she bounced back from a serious knee injury sustained in the 2011 state meet.

Jacobs persevered and took part in the 2012 meet, too, the fourth straight year she qualified. She tied for 17th on vault (9.050), tied for 14th on floor (9.075) and placed 16th in all-around (35.125).

At regionals, she was second in all-around with a 35.975 and was champion on floor with a 9.600 score.

"Nicole was a captain for the past two years and has been an outstanding leader," Driscoll said. "... This year was exceptionally special because last year at the state meet Nicole suffered a torn ACL.

"She was able to work hard in her recovery and compete at the same high level as she always has."

Brittany Ramirez, Fr., Salem: Making quite an impact as a freshman, Ramirez qualified as an all-around for the D2 state meet, placing 13th on vault (9.125) and 20th in all-around (33.825).

At regionals, she tied for third in all-around with a tally of 35.975. She also finished with a share of third on bars (8.90).

"Brittany has an amazing amount of potential which she demonstrated this year," Driscoll said. "We look forward to seeing what the next few years will bring."

Julia Matherly, Sr., Harrison: Matherly was a state qualifier in the all-around, earning fifth place at the regional with a 35.525 score. She also competed for individual honors on vault, beam and floor at the state meet. At the regional, she scored 8.85, 9.075 and 9.5 in those events, respectively.

"Julia has come very far in her career," Dwyer said. "Her dream was to qualify on at least one event for the state meet. She had the meet of her life at the regionals, posting career highs on vault, beam, floor and all-around."

"It was quite an accomplishment. Julia worked hard every day and put herself in a position to advance. I was glad to see her efforts pay off."

COACH OF YEAR

John Cunningham, Canton: One-upmanship proved quite sweet for the longtime Canton coach and back-to-back Observer Coach of the Year.

In 2011-12, Cunningham presided over a team that narrowly exceeded the remarkable run enjoyed in 2010-11.

Both years resulted in the Chiefs finishing second in the state to Grand Ledge.

In 2010-11, the Chiefs did lose once during the regular season. This time around, the team never tasted defeat in dual meets and rolled through regionals to earn a return trip to the team finals.

Canton (6-0 overall, 4-0 in the Kensington Division) racked up titles in the division and overall KLA A, followed with the regional championship.

At the team finals, the Chiefs registered 148.575 points — just shy of Grand Ledge's winning tally of 149.400.

Canton also set a new team record with 149.1 points, eclipsing the former standard by two points.

"This year's team was shockingly good, both in its weekly improvement and its final consistent success," Cunningham noted. "I have never coached a better team."

This year's team had plenty of individual talent, obviously. Leading the way were four D1 all-staters and D2 vault champion Erica Lucas.

The emergence of freshman all-stater Jocelyn Moraw also bodes well for Canton's continued success.

Michigan Glass Month

Nursery rhymes are a visual treat at exhibit in Canton

By Sharon Dargay
O&E Staff Writer

Walk into the lobby at the Village Theater at Cherry Hill in Canton and you might find yourself looking for pews.

"It's just like a church," said Tom Newton, who placed stained glass art in the venue last week.

The exhibit, coinciding with Michigan Glass Month, runs April 1-29, and includes a variety of stained glass pieces, in addition to tools and sketches that show the designing, glass making and assembling process. Prominent in the collection is a series of 10 panels depicting nursery rhymes that originally were installed in the kindergarten room at the St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Center, in Farmington Hills.

"We were able to hang in sunlight. Sunlight is very important to stained glass. It's dynamic and changing from morning until night," said Newton, who maintains a studio at the Glass Academy in Dearborn. "That was one of the motivators when I was asked to do this exhibit. They have a beautiful lobby. I said this is absolutely perfect for stained glass, especially during the day."

Last year when the Academy exhibited glass at the theater, Newton offered to loan a few nursery rhyme panels to the display for "extra zip."

"I took four out there and we hung them and moved them away from the wall so light could get behind them. It was really well received. When the gallery asked me if I was interested in doing it this year. It was an easy decision."

He brought all 10 nursery rhyme windows to the theater, along with other stained glass and the drawings, called "caring for residential foster care programs dried up. Today, the nonprofit organization primarily runs tutoring programs for adults and children.

The Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent DePaul originally founded the Center as a kindergarten for orphans in the mid-1800s in what is now the 12 Mile-Inkster Road area of Farmington Hills. The nuns' St. Vincent Academy evolved into a full orphanage, but was destroyed by fire in 1928. Charles T. Fisher of Fisher Body and his wife, Sarah, donated funds for a new orphanage which opened in 1929. The stained glass for the kindergarten room was made that same year.

Made in Detroit

Newton likes the quality of the glass windows and their secular theme. "They are simplistic," he said, referring to the design. "And very attractive. The colors are rich and the subject is every day."

The Detroit Stained Glass Works originally crafted a 40 nursery rhyme windows for the Center. Some were destroyed and others damaged when the windows were moved to a gymnasium in the building.

Local artists began restoring them in 1986. The Center owns 10 of the original pieces. A few others are located at Providence Hospital and the Daughters of Charity retained a few.

1970. He had no information about the whimsical windows.

"I had these wonderful drawings of nursery rhymes and did a display with them for Michigan Glass Month. I asked if anyone had information on the drawings, I'd like to know."

He received a call and invitation to view the corresponding stained glass pieces from the St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Center.

"They showed me the original windows. It was neat," he recalled.

New mission

Diane Renaud, CEO and director of The Education Experience at the St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Center in Detroit, said the stained glass exhibit is a "window of opportunity" to raise awareness of the 168-year-old organization. Now nonprofit run by a board of trustees, rather than the nuns, the Center offers tutoring for first through third graders in northwest Detroit, as well as GED preparation for adults at four locations in the city. It relies on fundraising and donations to continue its free services to the public.

"The windows are symbolic for us because they are a snapshot of time in our ongoing evolution," Renaud said. "We've always evolved to meet the needs of the community. I understand that the audience that saw it (last year) was excited to know what our latest incarnation had become."

The exhibit is open 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday-Friday, by appointment and during public performances at the theater, which is located at 50400 Cherry Hill Road, in Canton; (734) 395-5300 or (734) 394-5460.

Many people are wrongly rejected when they apply for Social Security Disability benefits. Attorneys Bleske and Alfonsi can often make a winning difference at the application stage. And, if an appeal is necessary they have won several hundred cases before a court date is even set.

Those denied can appeal on their own but statistics for many years reveal that those represented by attorneys win a much higher percentage of appeals. And attorneys who specialize in Social Security Disability cases win a much higher percentage yet.

In addition to practicing only Social Security disability law attorney Bleske has written a book for attorneys about the

DILEMMAS IN CARE
 Arthritis can strike at any age. If the condition appears in middle age or later, the patient runs the risk of experiencing other medical problems; arthritis just adds to them.
 For the doctor caring for that patient, arthritis may be more a burden than becoming another item on the list of medical conditions to follow. For example: I care for a patient with gout who also has cancer of the stomach and who recently finished a combination of surgery and chemotherapy for the cancer. He sees me for an acute attack of gout of his foot.
 He cannot take colchicine or medications such as Indocin or meloxicam because he has no stomach to absorb oral medicine and the gastrointestinal tract below the stomach is likely to be sensitive from the chemotherapy. Oral medicine is at risk to cause a bleeding ulcer. The only way to treat the patient is by steroid injection. All other therapies listed in textbooks are precluded by his other medical problem.
 If a patient with gout also has diabetes, then the doctor must think twice before giving cortisone by mouth of injection, a treatment that almost always successfully stops a gout attack. However, cortisone raises blood sugar, and in a diabetic the rise may be dramatic. In this instance, other medicine such as colchicine is the first choice, except if it is contraindicated by the patient having stomach or intestinal conditions.
 If a patient has both arthritis and kidney failure then the doctor faces a dilemma as non-steroidal medications can harm kidney function.
 In short, treating the patient is often much different than what the Internet advises.

Learn about rabbits in Westland

Intelligent, curious and affectionate, rabbits can make wonderful pets. But too often, rabbits adopted on the spur-of-the-moment during the Easter season end up being returned to humane organizations — or worse, abandoned — when the novelty wears off and the responsibilities pile up.

The Michigan Humane Society (MHS) will hold a rabbit education and adoption event 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturday, April 7 at the MHS Berman Center for Animal Care, 900 N. Newburgh, in Westland, to help more rabbits find permanent and responsible homes.

"This is the time of year that people are thinking about rabbits, and while they can make fantastic pets, we want to make sure that people are adopting them for the right reasons," stated Linda Reider, MHS director of animal welfare. "We will have rabbit experts on-hand for the event to explain the specialized lifetime care requirements of rabbits, as well as the wonderful things that a rabbit can bring to your home. And of course, we will have many wonderful spayed and neutered rabbits available for adoption."

Two of the many rabbits up for adoption are siblings Laverne and Shirley, who have been in the care of the Michigan Humane Society for nearly six months. They are 1 1/2-year-old New Zealand white rabbits, seeking a home together. They will join approximately a dozen other rabbits up for adoption at the event, including Dwarfs, Flemish Giants, and other varieties. The rabbits have been spayed or neutered. Adoption fees are $20 for an individual rabbit and $30 for a pair and include a chewable basket, which contains food, treats, rabbit bedding, and a rabbit care book.

MHS recommends that the entire family attend the event to meet any potential new furry friends, for the best possible match-making.

Easter basket cupcakes add a special touch

Go beyond store-bought marshmallow chicks and chocolate rabbits this year. Perfect for some-bunny special — or as a dessert to brighten any holiday table — A Tisket, A Tasket, A Cupcake Easter Basket cupcakes prove that it can be a good idea to put all your eggs in one basket.

"These cupcakes look impressive," says Nancy Siler, vice president of consumer affairs at Wilton, "yet they require just a few easy steps. Simply bake cupcakes and use your favorite cake mix to help speed up prep time. Cool completely, place into Picket Fence Cupcake Wraps or Basket Cupcake Wraps and pipe with green-tinted icing to create grass. If piping isn't possible, simply spatula ice the cupcakes; either way, they will impress."

Wilton has a basketful of ideas for finishing these little cakes. Perch miniature nest decorations filled with jelly beans on the icing grass for a playful take on a robin's springtime roost. Or, top cupcakes with pre-made icing flowers to echo the cheery hues of spring's first blossoms. These treats will be the perfect end to any Easter hop-pening.

Is it time for an ADVENTURE?

Women are on the move — especially women of the Baby Boomer generation.

If you've felt the urge to see different places and experience a new adventure, you're not alone. The Travel Industry Association estimates that 32 million single American women traveled at least once last year — and a lot of them were Boomers.

"I'm in my early sixties, and in the last year, I traveled thousands of miles — with my husband and children, with girlfriends and alone," says Harriet Lewis, Vice Chairman of Grand Circle Corporation. The company specializes in international travel and adventure for Americans aged 50 or older.

Lewis says that travel can make a difference in our lives as individuals, and in the lives of those we come in contact with.

"During a recent trip to Egypt, I climbed Mount Sinai late at night in order to see the sunrise. The experience changed my life," says Lewis. "The Middle East was an area of the world I had explored before, but not in such depth, and spending time with people in Syria, Jordan, Israel and the Sudan in the past year has shifted my worldview. Travel changes us. It makes us more curious, more thoughtful, more tuned in to our world."

Lewis advises other women who are considering traveling to ask themselves some questions as part of their preparation:

- What do you want to gain from your travel experience: Adventure? Culture? Relaxation? Inspiration?

- Which destinations, countries or regions interest you most? Make a list, put them in order, and outline the steps you need to take to make your "bucket list" a reality. Do you need to schedule vacation time or start saving?

- Do you want to travel with friends, family, or go it alone? Do you want to make your own travel plans or go with a tour operator that will handle the planning for you?

- If you choose a tour operator, consider the size of the groups (the smaller the better), your cost per day and what you are getting for your dollar. Are the guides local, knowledgeable, and able to connect you with local homes, schools and communities so that you get a real taste of local life?

- If you are traveling with a tour as a solo traveler (popular among women these days regardless of marital status), ask what the company offers solo travelers in terms of making them feel comfortable. Will they help match you with a roommate of the same gender? How will they break the ice? What do they do when it comes to meal times to ensure that solos have partners or friends to eat with?

- How can you get the best value for your dollar? Compare what a tour operator can offer you vs. what you can find on your own. Can you use your airline miles to save costs? If you choose a tour, are the single supplement fees free or reasonable? Are there certain times of the year where costs are lower based on seasonality?

Lewis believes that taking the time to ask these key questions will ultimately give you a much more fulfilling experience.

"Travel is the best way I know to enhance your life," she says. "I really believe what Mary Anne Radmacher said about travel is true for women: 'I am not the same having seen the moon shine on the other side of the world.'"

TIPS FOR THE SAVVY FEMALE TRAVELER

Lewis has compiled a host of travel tips gleaned from her lifetime of travel and from the many women who have taken trips with Grand Circle over the years. "Women with a passion for travel are resourceful — I'm always amazed by their expertise and ingenuity."

To share this wealth of knowledge, she put together the book "101 Tips for Women Travelers," which is full of practical advice on making the most of your journey. Here are five key tips:

- Prepare two essential lists — for packing and for medical emergencies. Make an itemized list of everything in your checked luggage. Carry it in your purse. If your luggage gets lost, you can quickly reconstruct the information for the airline and insurance company. The other list should cite all your medications, what they're for, the name and phone number of your doctor, and prescription numbers.
- Minimize what you pack. A good rule of thumb is to pack one outfit for every three days of travel. If you're not planning on wearing something at least three times, leave it out.
- Stay healthy with sleep and hydration. You can bring an inflatable or down pillow to give you added comfort for sleeping. If tap water is unsafe, try a portable water filter or a collapsible water bottle that can be refilled from a clean source.
- Bring gear that serves more than one function. Dental floss can be used to repair jewelry or hang laundry. Duct tape holds suitcases together, repairs eyeglasses or cameras, and can serve as a bandage in an emergency. Wrap duct tape around a pencil to a one quarter inch diameter, so you don't have to bring a whole roll.
- Carry a purse, not a satchel. Some museums have size restrictions on purses allowed, so make sure yours is no larger than 8 x 11 inches. To get your free copy of "101 Tips for Women Travelers," call 1-800-248-3737, or visit www.gct.com/tips.

Visiting iconic sites like the Sydney Opera House is on many travelers' bucket lists. Make a list of the places you'd like to go.

DREAM DESTINATIONS

The style of travel you choose is just as important as your destination.

- River and small ship cruises currently top many travelers' wish lists. They allow you to unpack once and enjoy a leisurely pace, while your small ship can access ports that larger ships cannot, opening up small cities, towns, and villages for you to explore. Most popular for 2012 are river cruises in Europe and Russia, and small ship Mediterranean cruises.
- Meeting local people and experiencing local cultures are very important to travelers, especially women. Connecting with people in their homes, schools and communities is much easier to do when traveling in small groups, which is why small group adventures are another extremely popular way for women to travel today. Top destinations include Burma, Botswana, India, Turkey, Kenya, Tanzania, Peru and Costa Rica.

Clinical trial treats heart failure

DMC Cardiovascular Institute has become the first hospital in Michigan to participate in the INOVATE-HF (INcrease OF VAgal TonE Heart Failure) clinical trial.

INOVATE-HF is a global clinical study to determine the safety and efficacy of the CardioFit system, an investigational implantable device designed to stimulate the vagus nerve in the neck, which may lessen the workload on the heart, alleviating failure symptoms. The study will explore the system's ability to reduce heart failure morbidity and mortality and will also investigate whether combined treatment with CardioFit and medical therapy is more effective than medical therapy alone.

"We're obviously very pleased to be the first health care provider in Michigan to participate in this clinical trial," stated Dr. Randy Lieberman, principal investigator of the INOVATE-HF clinical trial at DMC Cardiovascular Institute.

Heart failure is a serious condition in which the heart is unable to provide adequate blood flow to the body. Affecting approximately 23 million people worldwide, heart failure is the leading cause of hospitalization in people over 65. It is also the most rapidly growing cardiovascular disorder in the United States.

Heart failure is caused by a variety of factors that result in a damaged heart muscle. The most common are coronary artery disease, prolonged high blood pressure, alcohol or drug abuse, and heart valve disorders.

In patients with heart failure, the nervous system is out of balance, and this imbalance increases workload on the heart. The CardioFit system is intended to restore this imbalance by stimulating the vagus nerve in the neck to treat a specific part of the nervous system that is not treatable with current medical therapies. The CardioFit system consists of a stimulator, a sensor lead and a stimulation lead, which are implanted under the skin of the chest. Once activated, the stimulator's electrical pulses are transferred via the stimulation lead to the vagus nerve in the neck. Like a pacemaker, the CardioFit System can be programmed on and off via external wireless communication with the device.

Patients who may be eligible for enrollment in INOVATE-HF include those who are 18 and over, have been diagnosed with heart failure and are being treated with a combination of medicines, but who continue to have symptoms such as shortness of breath and fatigue.

Developed by medical device company BioControl Medical, CardioFit was first implanted in patients in 2005. Results of a European pilot clinical study suggest there may be a therapeutic role for vagus nerve stimulation in the treatment of heart failure symptoms in patients already on standard medical therapies.
