Clerk expects low turnout for primary election

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

Westland has just under 60,000 registered voters, but most of them won't be casting ballot in the city primary election Tuesday.

"In the last city primary in 2009, we only had a 7.3 percent turnout," said Westland City Clerk Eileen DeHart Schoof. "It has been awhile since we had a primary. I expect we will have a turnout of a 10 percent turnout or less."

DeHart Schoof

The 2009 primary drew more absentee voters than those going to polls. So far, 4,146 absentee ballots have been requested and just under 2,800 have been returned.

"I expect a lot more absentee ballots will be returned," said Schoof, who supports allowing all voters to cast absentee ballots without restrictions.

Absentee ballots can be obtained Monday until 4 p.m.

but those ballots must be completed at city hall and immediately returned.

Voters will be narrowing a field of 12 council candidates to eight candidates who will move on to the Nov. 3 general election. In November, to the top four vote getters will be elected to council. The top three finishers will receive four-year terms with the fourth-place finisher earning a two-year term.

In the council race are incumbents James Godbout, Adam Hammons, Bill Johnson and Dewey Reeves. The other candidates are Steve Boron, Bill Campbell, Christopher Coldren, Peter Herzberg, Judy McKinney, former

Cemetery cleanup helps scouts soar to Eagle rank

By Sue Mason

When 20-year-old Lucius Chubb died in August 1863 of wounds suffered during the first day of the Battle of Gettysburg, his father Glode went there to get his son's body so it could be buried next to family members in a small cemetery on what is now Warren Road in Westland.

Faded flowers and flags decorate his grave and new wooden crosses mark the graves of others who are buried Chubb Cemetery, thanks to the efforts of two Garden City Boy Scouts.

Sam Bernhardt and Jacob McNally took on the task of fixing up the cemetery as projects for their Eagle Scout award. Last week, a small group of people gathered at the cemetery to see the results of their work and to rededicate the burial site.

"This cemetery is hugely important to Westland, a lot of different aspects of its history is here," said Jeff Koslowski, president of the Westland Historical Commission. "To have young people come forward and volunteer to care for it, it shows that the youth of our city can care for and preserve our history for future generations."

It isn't a surprise that Bernhardt and McNally both selected the Chubb Cemetery for their Eagle Scout projects. They have been in the same pack and troop since joining Boy Scouts in the first grade. They are members of Boy Scout Troop 744, which meets at Memorial Elementary School in Garden City.

They also recently graduated from Garden City High School.

Community center to close for now

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

In what is expected to be a short-term move, the Wayne Community Center will be closing its doors at the end of business today (Sunday).

At its meeting Tuesday the Wayne City Council is expected to consider authorizing the city attorney to finalize details and prepare a contract with HYPE Athletics for leasing and operating the facility.

"HYPE is basically taking all of it over except some maintenance. We'll put it on the agenda to approve the deal contingent on the lease being worked out," Wayne Interim City Manager Lisa Nocerini said. "It's 99 percent done. They will work it out between the city attorney and HYPE."

The proposal before the council — to have the attorney complete the agreement — is the same way Wayne finalized the sale of the State Wayne Theater, Nocerini said. Council has been kept updated about the ongoing negotiations, she said.

Earlier, Nocerini had posted an announcement that the community center would close Sunday if an agreement wasn't reached with HYPE.

"We're going to close still. The facility will be in transition," Nocerini said. "HYPE is expecting that after Aug. 3 the building will be closed seven to 10 days, maybe two weeks. They would reopen around Aug. 15. The building does need a major cleaning."

For those with memberships at the Wayne Community Center, Nocerini said HYPE is offering use of their existing Dearborn Heights facility during the closing. Alternatively, members could receive credit to their membership for the days the facility is closed.

Due to financial constraints the Wayne City Council had approved closing the community center in the budget for the fiscal year that began July 1. The council agreed to delay the closing of the building during July while negotiating with HYPE Athletics on a potential lease agreement for the facility.

The facility has remained

'Like a forest'

Bernhardt had wanted to do something with veterans for his project and got the idea of cleaning up the cemetery, which includes the grave of two Civil War soldiers, after a friend's father told him about it. He raised around $300 to cover the cost of the materials and used his time in his wood shop class at Garden City High School to make the wooden crosses and engrave names on them.

"The cemetery was overgrown and you couldn't tell anything was there, it was kind of like a forest," Bernhardt said. "I got started by cutting down everything so I could have access to the ground."

Wood shop teacher Andy Romes let him use a milling machine. By programming a computer, he was able to cut the wood to size and cut the names and dates into the crosses.

It wasn't easy. "It took quite a while. At first I wasn't used to the system," Bernhardt said. "It's an old system and it had some bugs. I had to re-cut some pieces. It took me 2-3 hours a day for three months to do it."

"There were times when I didn't think I'd finish in a trimester. It was pushed to the limit and a lot of times I thought I wouldn't get it done," he added. "If I hadn't had the machine, I probably would have had to hand-chisel the names on the wood, and if I had had to I probably wouldn't have taken on the project."

Working with a map of the site and historical commission member Ryan Eberhardt, Bernhardt went to the cemetery the night before the crosses were to be installed and marked where they should go. An auger was used to drill the holes. Some went down, 4 feet, others 5 or 6 feet.

Bernhardt will have his Court of Honor on Aug. 11 and later in the month will leave for the U.S. Army. Being an Eagle Scout means he will enter the Army one rank above that of private.

'Hard work'

McNally built a walking path that goes from the cemetery gate to a newly installed lighted flag pole. The Westland Department of Public Service donated everything for the project — bricks, sand, even the flag pole. Garden City Rental gave McNally the tools he needed for the installation at no charge.

"This was a first for me," he said. "My dad had a general idea about doing it and gave me tips."

Family and friends helped. It took eight hours to complete the project.

"We removed the sod and dug up the top soil," he said. "When we got to the depth we needed, we started laying the bricks. There were about 800 bricks, maybe closer to 1,000. It was hard work."

He, too, admits, that there is a point where you get road-weary, but it wasn't to the point "where I thought it wasn't going to happen." He also is looking forward to seeing how being an Eagle Scout will help him in the future. He plans to attend Schoolcraft College to study criminal justice.

"My brother got a job at Ford because he was an Eagle Scout," he added.

In rededicating the cemetery, Koslowski acknowledged that the cemetery "had fallen into a certain state of disrepair due to several storms. Some of the former markers had either been moved or Mother Nature had worn them down to the point where they became difficult to read."

"We at the Westland Historic Village Park are always looking for ways and means to preserve, protect and teach about our city and regional history," he said. "The cemetery in which we are currently standing is a part of that history. From civil war veterans to those that passed away at Eloise, Chubb Cemetery tells the story that is close to all of us."

Koslowski noted that because of their work, people will be able to will be able to honor the efforts of Thaddeus Treat, who volunteered for the 54th Indiana Infantry as a hospital steward during the Civil War, and pay their respects to Hermann Adler, who died at Eloise in 1913 and was most likely the last person buried in Chubb Cemetery.

"We are very proud of Sam and Jacob. All their hard work not only benefits citizens today, but will also benefit them tomorrow and beyond," Koslowski said. "We could not be more proud of Sam and Jacob, their families and Troop 744."

"The city will save a tremendous amount of money with this agree-

Voters will also narrow the field from four candidates to two candidates who will move on to the November ballot seeking to become Westland City Clerk. Schoof will be retiring in January.

Wayne County Commission Richard LeBlanc, D-Westland, is in the race with Christopher Cox, Jody Rice-White and Zivka Wojtowicz.

The polls will be open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday. Voters in precincts 3 and 31 usually vote at Hayes Elementary School but due to construction will be shifting to Cooper Elementary School for the primary.

Precincts 12, 25 and 35 will continue voting at Cooper. Hayes School will be open for voters again in November. Schoof said as required by state law, voters received new registration cards for their temporary move and will receive another card reflecting the change back to Hayes.

Masco, the Michigan-based maker of brand-named faucets and other building products, plans to move its headquarters from its longtime home in Taylor to Livonia by the end of next year.

The company, which spun off its installation and services business and has cut corporate staff over the years, intends to move into new, three-story, 75,000-square-foot digs on about 12 acres at West Seven Mile Road and Haggerty Road, near Schoolcraft College.

Masco hopes that it can begin construction by September and move by December 2016.

The company's research and development center will remain in Taylor, at 26855 Trolley Industrial Drive.

"Masco has been a tremendous asset to the City of Taylor and we are disappointed to see them leave," said Taylor Mayor Rick Sollars. "But we also recognize the business environment and the pressures involving these types of large corporate decisions. We wish we could have done something to keep the Masco headquarters in Taylor, but that wasn't possible."

The current headquarters is more than 400,000 square feet and was built in 1966, and will likely be put up for sale, the company said.

"The move to a new facility will provide a more collaborative, functional space and is an important step forward for us," Keith Allman, Masco's CEO and president, said Thursday. "Over the past several years, we have better aligned our corporate center services with the requirements of our overall business and our individual business units. As a result, our corporate office is now too large and segmented for our leaner workforce."

Masco, which Alex Manoogian started in 1929 as Masco Screw Products, has seen its workforce decline from more than 60,000 to about 30,000 worldwide and from about 700 to 250 at the headquarters in Taylor.

In addition to Delta and Hansgrohe faucets, the company also makes bath and shower fixtures, KraftMaid and Merillat cabinets, Milgard windows and doors, Behr paint and HotSpring spas.

Mark Taormina, the planning and economic development director for Livonia, said the city is delighted to add another corporate headquarters, and expects to approve the plans and discuss tax incentives.

Schoolcraft College

vice president Glenn Cerny wrote a letter to the city back in April, requesting the city to create an Industrial Development District on the proposed facility, indicating an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate would be requested for the property. The city council approved the creation of the district at its June 15 meeting.

Wayne-Westland launches online student registration

By Sue Mason
Staff Writer

Registering students has gotten easier for parents in the Wayne-Westland Community Schools with the launch of an online program earlier this month.

"I'm really excited to bring this to you," John Albrecht, assistant superintendent for Educational Services, said in a presentation to the school board. "This brings Wayne-Westland into the 21st century in how we enroll and register kids in the district."

"We ask that our students be registered every single year. This makes it more convenient for families and saves time standing in line," he added.

Gone is the need for parents to complete two emergency cards for each student. Instead, they input the information online for their child and the data, other than the name and birth date, is preloaded for a subsequent students.

With printed forms, it can take up to a semester for the secretaries to find the time to input the information. The time gap is eliminated when parents do registration directly into the system. It also eliminates the potential for errors.

"We'll get accurate spelling," Albrecht said. "When parents fill out the forms by hand, what they have written down is entered in as we interpret it. On occasion the information is entered wrong. The really neat, nice thing with this is when you type in the address, you type in the numbers and the first two letters of the street and the name pops in."

No need for copies

The program verifies residency and required documents are scanned and attached to the student's file. There's no need to make copies and put them into a student folder, Albrecht said. Deferred documentation also is automatically tracked, and parents receive reminders about needed information.

The online registration represents a savings for the district, which has spent up to $12,000 on summer postage to mail the secondary packets. It also means a reduction in printing costs. The district prints around 25,000 hard copies of the emergency contact cards, as well as copies of the Student Code of Conduct, concussion forms and similar documents.

Two links to the Registration Gateway, one for returning students and one for new students, can be found on the district's homepage at wwcsd.net. Parents need to create a user name and password.

"Parents got an email last week; I got 100 responses the first night," Albrecht said. "Most said 'thank you, this is so nice.'"

For parents lacking computers or Internet access, computers are available at the district administrative offices and the high schools are setting up computer labs. Computers also are available at the local libraries.

"You can also do it on a smartphone," Albrecht said. "One of the people I talked to did it on a smartphone."

By next year, the online registration will be fully integrated with the MiStar parent portal. Parents will be able to search and all the information will be there, Albrecht said.

"This provides our families and our clerical staff with an efficient means to update student information. Hopefully, we eventually will become paperless," he added.

Board: Livonia school chief leaving big shoes to fill

By Karen Smith
Staff Writer

Randy Liepa attended his last Livonia Public Schools board of education meeting Monday as superintendent of the 15,000-student district, but he promised to not be a stranger.

"I'm not going anywhere, I'll be seeing you around," he told board members.

Liepa starts his new job this week as superintendent of Wayne RESEA, the regional educational service agency that provides services and support to Wayne County's 33 school districts.

Andrea Oquist, director of elementary programs for Livonia Public Schools, will serve as the district's interim superintendent until a successor to Liepa is hired. She has said she is not interested in the position on a permanent basis.

The board recognized Liepa for his service to Livonia schools since 1994. He was superintendent for the past 12 years.

Trustees Dan Centers and

Randy Liepa worked election night 2013 when voters approved a $195 million construction bond. Also pictured are board member Colleen Burton, right, and Business Director Lisa Abbey.

Mark Johnson said Liepa treated everyone with dignity and respect. "It never occurred to Randy Liepa to treat people who clean the building any different than the most influential state leader," Centers said. "He treats everyone the same."

Big shoes to fill

Vice president Dianne Laura said Liepa has the ability to think outside the box. "It's not going to be easy to fill your shoes," she said. "I look forward to the great things you'll do for all students of Wayne County."

Secretary Tammy Bonifield said one of the reasons she ran for the board was that Liepa was able to make the tough budget decisions and help everyone work through them. "Hopefully you'll get those legislators in line," she said, in reference to Liepa's frequent visits to Lansing to advocate for funding for Michigan students.

Trustee Liz Jarvis said that when a district runs smoothly, like Livonia has, people don't notice how involved the superintendent's job is. She said Livonia is one of the districts that is surviving financially at a time when few are. "It's not possible to overstate his impact," she said of Liepa.

Trustee Eileen McDonnell thanked Liepa for his hard work for the past 21 years and wished him well in his new position.

Board President Colleen Burton said it will be strange to have someone else in the superintendent's position, taking over the daily tasks Liepa performed for so many years.

"The amount of trust we have in you is immense," she said, adding that trust was built up over time.

Liepa credited LPS employees, calling them a "remarkable staff and a remarkable family that's committed to taking care of kids every day. If I've had any success, it's because of their work," he said.

Liepa's wife, Peggy, thanked the board for giving her husband the opportunity to do what he is passionate about and for welcoming them and their three children into the community 21 years ago.

She cited her husband's demeanor and work ethic. "People often ask me, 'How does Randy do it, how does he stay so calm?'" she said. "That all stems from his parents, and they'd be proud," she said.

Liepa's father, Arvids Liepa, an immigrant from Latvia, died in 2014; his mother, Shirley, in 2007.

OUR VIEWS

Voters have many decisions to make at polls on Tuesday

On Tuesday, voters in Westland and Garden City will decide which candidates will advance to the November election and the fate of a millage renewal that supports public safety.

In Westland, voters will decide who will be on the general election ballot for city clerk and city council.

Incumbent Eileen DeHart Schoof, the city's first elected city clerk is retiring. There are four candidates vying for the four-year term: Wayne County Commissioner Richard LeBlanc, Christopher Cox, Jody Rice-White and Zivka Wojtowicz.

Schoof, the city's first elected clerk, is retiring after 12 years in office. We believe LeBlanc is the best choice to take over in January.

LeBlanc is well versed in state, county and local government, having served as a city councilman, state representative and currently county commissioner. He is well liked because of the attention he pays to his constituents. He has zeroed in on the need for "new service delivery demands, technological advancements, as well as changing requirements for accountability and record keeping" in the clerk's office.

Two candidates will be selected from the field of four. One of those two candidates must be Richard LeBlanc.

In the city council race, incumbents James Godbout, Adam Hammons, Bill Johnson and Dewey Reeves are being challenged by Steve Boron, William Campbell, Chris Col-dron, Peter Herzberg, Dennis LeMaitre, Judy McKinney, Kevin Miller and Charles Pickering.

Eight candidates will advance to the November general election where three 4-year terms and one 2-year term will be filled. In looking at the candidates, we believe James Godbout, Adam Hammons, Bill Johnson, Dewey Reeves and Charles Pickering should advance to the general election.

They are veterans in city government. The incumbents asked the difficult questions and made the hard decisions when it came to addressing the city's looming financial crisis. The city is now on a sound financial footing and an improving infrastructure.

Pickering offers a different view of what the current council has done. Reduced services and tax increases have been a burden for residents, and his top priority would be to restore the services that have been lost, including public safety, street maintenance and trash pickup.

With such a large field of candidates, residents have many choices. We encourage voters to do their homework and find out who would best represent them. In the council race, James Godbout, Adam Hammons, Bill Johnson, Dewey Reeves and Charles Pickering deserve that consideration.

Garden City

On Tuesday, Garden City voters will decide on the renewal of the public safety millage for five years and two mayoral candidates who will face off in November general

The city is asking residents to extend the current 3.5-mill tax levy for five years. The millage would raise $1,704,445 the first year and provide money for operations and equipment for the Garden City Police and Fire departments. It's estimated that 3.5 mills would cost the average homeowner about $121 based on current taxable values.

The millage has helped stabilize the two departments and maintain services residents have come to expect of their police and firefighters. It needs to be renewed to maintain current services.

We believe the prudent decision is to approve the tax renewal. Keep Garden City safe and well-protected. Vote YES on the public safety millage request.

In the mayoral race, incumbent Mayor Randy Walker is seeking a fourth two-year term as mayor. He's being challenged by former city council member David Fetter and longtime resident Buddy Wallace, whose name is appearing as E. Wallace on the ballot.

As head of the city council, Walker has worked hard to bring order to council meetings and see that the city's business being conducted in a civil manner. He also has taken to the streets with Police Chief/City Manager Robert Muery to identify blight in the city.

He is committed to making Garden City a better place and it shows.

Voters can only vote for one candidate. The top two voters will advance to the general election. In looking at the candidates, we believe that Randy Walker is the best choice in the mayoral election.

We urge residents to get out and vote on Tuesday. Polls in the two communities will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Vote in primary

Aug. 4 is primary election day in the cities of Livonia, Plymouth, Garden City, Northville and Westland. Depending on the city, voters will be choosing candidates for mayors, treasurers, clerks and city council or commission members that will appear on the November ballot. Those receiving the most votes in the primary will advance to the general election in November.

Why bother voting in a primary?

Because if you don't choose your favorite candidates in the primary, they may not appear on the Nov. 4 ballot. Suddenly, your choice is limited! We are given the enviable opportunity to choose our own local leaders who will make decisions on our behalf for the next several years. Your vote is your voice!

The League of Women Voters, which never supports or opposes candidates, provides information that will help voters learn about and compare candidates and their views. Log on to VOTE411.org to find information about your polling place and what contests are on your ballot. Most local candidates have participated in this public service venture, and this is an excellent way for voters to find last minute information about the candidates. Additional voting information can be found on the League's website: LWVnorthwestwayne.org.

If you do not vote, you are allowing a minority of voters who do vote to make decisions for you. It takes only a small amount of time to learn about the candidates on your ballot and then 15 minutes to vote on Aug. 4. Greater participation on voting day results in leaders that are more representative of their citizens. So check out VOTE411.org to help you make confident decisions on Aug. 4.

Rec Center will be missed

I am a fourth-generation Wayne resident, currently raising a fifth. I grew up a few blocks away from the Wayne Community Center, on Columbus Street. The reason my husband and I stayed in Wayne, the reason we bought a home in Wayne and decided to raise our children here, was the sense of belonging we've always felt here. Wayne has always felt like home to me, and I truly believe a large part of that feeling has always come from the Wayne Community Center.

As kids, we were constantly at the Community Center, year-round. My brother and I grew up looking forward to Easter weekend and the Marshmallow Drop. For years, my neighborhood friends and I came to the Community Center once a week for Spiriters Cheerleading, earning stickers for our pom pom handles and carefully putting swirly tape on our new batons.

One year, we begged my mom to take us to Winter Fest so we could participate in a live version of Double Dare. We had to wait almost an hour for our turn, and neither of us made it past the first round, but we were thrilled anyways.

I learned how to ice skate in the Ice Arena using the pearly white ice skates Santa brought me for Christmas that year. Even though I don't remember ever actually having them sharpened, I had enough fun skating there to feel homesick for that little rink when I found myself skating in Rockefeller Center decades later.

As a teenager, the Community Center and the activities the Parks and Recreation Department sponsored kept me busy and gave me a sense of belonging to the city. I remember walking to the hills along the tennis courts with my friends to stake out our spot for the Fourth of July fireworks, making sure we had a great view of Franklin Hill. It was our summer ritual, reuniting and laughing with classmates we hadn't seen since the last day of school. I remember the beginnings of Wheelfest, first held on the corner of Wayne Road and East Michigan Avenue, then later piling my friends into my car and heading to Goudy Park every August.

This weekend, on Sunday, Aug. 2, the doors of the Wayne

Community Center will close, as the city council has decided it can no longer fund the Parks and Recreation department. Whether those doors will re-open remains to be seen. What worries me most about the closing of the Community Center is the generation of children that is growing up right now in our city that won't form their childhood memories of ice skating or dance recitals in Wayne — they'll form those memories in Canton or Livonia.

Without that sense of belonging, of attachment to the friendships they formed and experiences they had in our town, I fear that this next generation of children who will grow up in Wayne will not choose to stay.

I sincerely hope that they are given that chance, and that one day, our city can once again come together to open those doors, to provide a chance for our town to create our own memories in a place that belongs to all of us.

GUEST COLUMN

Bold action led to creation of Medicaid, Medicare 50 years ago

Fifty years ago, LBJ's "Great Society" created a healthier nation; on July 30, 1965, Medicare and Medicaid, the two foundations of government health insurances, were signed into law. Since then, millions of poor and elderly have been helped from use of this government safety net to obtain medical care.

Today, with the passage of the Affordable Care Act, also known as "Obama Care," our country has significantly filled the gap for people who qualify for neither Medicare nor Medicaid. Thanks to President Lyndon B. Johnson (LBJ) and other tireless advocates for national health care, such as President John F. Kennedy, and our own Michigan Congressmen John Dingell Sr. and John Dingell Jr., America promises a healthier tomorrow for everyone.

According to a New York Times editorial, Medicare covers 46 million Americans over the age of 65 and nine million younger disabled people. "Its achievement in improving life expectancy and reducing poverty among the elderly has been enormous. Before Medicare, almost half of all Americans 65 and older had no health insurance. Today that number is 2 percent. Analysts say that between 1970 and 2010, Medicare contributed to a five-year increase in life expectancy at age 65, by providing early access to needed medical care."

Persons with mental illness and intellectual and developmental disabilities benefited by the creation of both Medicare and Medicaid. These programs transformed the way persons who are disabled, the elderly and low-income individuals received health care. Most of us know that medical bills can take a huge financial toll, but those at or near the poverty line are already struggling to make ends meet. For low-income individuals without insurance, a string of medical bills is often an irreparable blow. When President Johnson added Medicaid to the Social Security Act in 1965, millions of children, parents, pregnant mothers, seniors, and people with disabilities were able to receive consistent health care for the first time. If that isn't an anniversary worth celebrating, I don't know what is!

The positive statistics are worth noting: Within the first decade of Medicaid, African American infant mortality rates were cut in half. Current data shows that not only does Medicaid improve lifelong outcomes for children, academically, they are achieving better GPA, experience fewer missed school days, have higher graduation rates, and become higher earnings adults. Investments in our children will pay dividends to the nation as a whole. Over the decade, Medicare and Medicaid have been a lifeline to so many by providing health care assistance to those in need. But, as far as we have come over the past 50 years, we still have a distance to go. More needs to be done to help those with serious mental illness and substance use disorders. Once again, another Michigan lawmaker has stepped up to help the most vulnerable amongst us.

Sen. Debbie Stabenow's Excellence in Mental Health Care Act, signed into law last April by President Obama, is another example of how Medicaid can be used to help needy Americans. This legislation will ultimately increase access to community mental health and substance use treatment services, while improving Medicaid reimbursement for mental health services.

The Excellence in Mental Health Act initially provides $25 million in funding to states as planning grants to develop applications to participate in a two-year pilot program. Eight states will be selected to participate in the program, and Michigan is working aggressively to be one of those selected, which will be revealed this September.

The Detroit Wayne Mental Health Authority Board, staff and provider network are excited to partner with the State of Michigan to apply for these new federal funds to help create a better life for persons with mental illness and substance use disorders.

At the conclusion of his speech celebrating the passage of Medicare and Medicaid programs 50 years ago, President Johnson proclaimed, "There are those, alone in suffering who will now hear the sound of some approaching footsteps coming to help. There are those fearing the terrible darkness of despairing poverty — despite their long years of labor and expectation — who will now look up to see the light of hope and realization."

Dr. Herbert Smitherman Jr., the DWMHA Board chairman and also concurrently serving as president of the Wayne County Medical Society, understands the value the creation of Medicare and Medicaid 50 years ago has meant to the quality of health care for those who did without for so long. He inspires his board colleagues and staff at DWMHA to provide a system of care that is consumer and community focused, data driven and evidenced-based.

Smitherman gets it right when he states, "Many a grandmother, grandfather and child with a disability and person living in poverty has been helped because our elected leaders created two federal programs; Medicare and Medicaid a half century ago. He continues, "Our fellow citizens owe these leaders a debt of gratitude." So true, so very true!

SAFER grant lets Westland to add 13 firefighters

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

Westland will be adding 13 new firefighters, thanks to receiving a $2.3 million federal grant.

"This is great news for the residents and businesses of Westland and for our hardworking fire department," Westland Mayor William Wild said. "This grant will allow us to deepen our coverage and relieve the fatigue level of our first responders."

The grant will fund the 13 firefighters for two years and will bring Westland's firefighting staff to 67 from the current 54 firefighters.

Once the grant expires, the city would be responsible for funding the positions or the firefighters would be laid off.

"This will get the staffing where it needs to be for the Westland side," Wayne-Westland Firefighters union president Mitch Tokarski said. "I think they should start the hiring process as soon as possible. We have a hiring list."

The funding is coming through the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Assistance to Firefighters Grant Program and the Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response or SAFER Program.

The Inkster Fire Department is also receiving $1.8 million in SAFER grant funding for hiring, recruiting and retaining firefighters. Westland's budget called for hiring firefighters but not until October to allow time to see if the grant funding was awarded.

"I'd like to thank both Fire Chief Michael Reddy and (consultant) Lisa Nocerini for traveling to Washington, D.C., with me to meet with our Michigan (Congressional) delegation to stress the importance of this grant to both Westland and the surrounding cities that we help everyday with mutual aid," Wild said.

Westland operates a joint fire department with Wayne. The Wayne Fire Department, which currently has only 12 firefighters and is using overtime to meet daily minimum staffing, has also applied for a SAFER grant. There is still funding available and grants are being announced weekly.

"We haven't heard anything about the Wayne grant application. I felt Wayne would do better with their application due to the financial condition of the city," Tokarski said.

New Livonia medical building to include surgery center

Mendelson Kornblum Orthopedic & Spine Specialists will open a new, state-of-the-art health care center in Livonia on Wednesday.

The Mendelson Professional Building, named in honor of orthopedic surgeon Herbert Mendelson, M.D., will house the Mendelson Kornblum orthopedic practice and an outpatient surgery center, run by St. Mary Mercy Livonia. The building, near the northwest corner of Five Mile and Levan roads, will also contain Lakes Urgent Care clinic.

"We are very fortunate to have the opportunity to build at Five Mile and Levan Road," said Mike Beaubien, CEO of Mendelson Kornblum Orthopedic & Spine Specialists. "The location is the former Frank's Nursery and has been without a tenant for many years. The city of Livonia has been a great partner in helping us achieve our vision of a new health care center. We hope the community is as excited about it as we are."

This 42,000-square-foot health care center was custom-designed with patient care in mind. The main level will be occupied by the Mendelson Kornblum and Lake Urgent Care clinics. On the second level, St. Mary Mercy Livonia has leased 21,000 square feet of space for its outpatient surgery center and Michigan Bariatric Institute clinic slated to open in late 2015.

blum Orthopedic & Spine Specialists clinic space is 14,000 square feet, two-and-a-half times the size of the previous office space in the St. Mary Mercy Marian Professional Building. The clinic is equipped with state-of-the-art equipment such as digital x-ray and wireless technology. Services offered at the clinic include orthopedics, spine, pain management and podiatry. It will also offer physical therapy in its 4,500-square-foot gym with all new equipment. The Mendelson Professional Building is a $13 million investment for the group.

With its new Outpatient Surgery Center, St. Mary Mercy Livonia will expand its surgical services offering select ambulatory procedures and surgeries requiring less than a 24-hour stay. The center will include three operating room (OR) suites, two procedure rooms, 19 spacious, private pre/post-operative patient recovery rooms, visitor waiting rooms and clinical office space.

"Opening this new outpatient center not only provides efficiencies and a better patient experience, it allows us to expand our surgical program, which was at capacity," says David Spivey, president and CEO, St. Mary Mercy Livonia. "With the expansion of our ambulatory surgeries offsite, more complex cases can occupy the hospital campus operating rooms."

The new $6.9 million center's OR suites boast state-of-the-art, fully integrated surgical technology and digital equipment. The design and layout of the space was created for clinical efficiency, easy access, privacy and comfort for patients and guests.

The Michigan Bariatric Institute will soon move from the St. Mary Mercy Marian Professional Building to a clinic within St. Mary Mercy's space on the second floor of the Mendelson Professional Building. The new clinic features six exam rooms and classroom space. The classroom space will be used for Bariatric seminars and support groups.

In total, the Mendelson Professional Building will bring nearly 60 jobs to the community with staff additions at Mendelson Kornblum Orthopedic Specialists and the St. Mary Mercy Outpatient Surgery Center.

Two students receive KFC scholarships

Redford resident Deanna Wilson and Garden City resident Ni'Chelle Samuels are among hundreds of hourly restaurant employees at KFC restaurants across the country to receive more than $1 million in college tuition assistance from the Kentucky Fried Chicken Foundation.

The scholarships were made possible thanks to KFC Franchisees, including Vangeloff Management Inc. located in Southfield.

The two students were chosen as winners via the REACH Educational Grant Program™ and received $2,000 for the 2015-16 academic year. The REACH program helps KFC Managers and team members pursue their educational dreams at four-year and two-year institutions, including trade/vocational and graduate schools.

"I am more than honored to be one of the recipients of a $2,000 Reach Grant and encourage others to apply for this grant next year," Samuels said.

"The grant is a tremendous help to my education and in paying for my tuition," Wilson said.

The program takes inspiration from Colonel Harland D. Sanders, founder of KFC, and his belief in the importance of hard work, giving back to those in need and passion for a job well done.

The broadcast is the first of its kind in the region to feature a roundtable of Holocaust survivors including Dr. Guy Stern, director of the Harry and Wanda Zekelman Institute of the Righteous at the Holocaust Memorial Center, and Stephen Goldman, executive director of the Center, discussing the many dimensions of the Holocaust and the southeast Michigan experience.

"I believe it is important to talk about how far we have come as a nation since the Holocaust given all that is taking place as it relates to racism and bigotry," Thompson said. "That is why I thought it is important to engage the Holocaust Memorial Center in this dialogue and to dedicate the entire hour of Redline for this conversation. The goal is to engage listeners and metro Detroiters in deeper issues that are topical and resonate strongly in our present-day reality."

"This is a topic of high importance especially considering the situations involving genocide throughout the world today. Holocaust survivors are in a unique position to comment on their feelings about what it means to be a stranger in a strange land through no choice on their part,"

Goldman said. "It has been said that those who do not learn from history are condemned to repeat it. The Holocaust survivors' plea of 'never again' seems to have been transformed into 'again and again.'"

Stern underscored the importance of the upcoming broadcast.

"Through the efforts of people of goodwill, regardless of background, the memory of the Holocaust has been kept alive throughout the years since its occurrence," he said. "By invoking this memory, responsible leaders have been able to hold it up as a warning against its reemergence in various parts of the world. While this warning has often not been heeded, the force of that argument has stayed intact and has occasionally prevented or shortened other genocides and, one hopes, will continue to do so."

Throw-Down lets cooks show off barbecue skills

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

The challenge for amateur barbecue bragging rights has been thrown down by the Westland Area Jaycees, but so far there aren't a lot of people signing up to compete.

"We're trying to figure out what we need to do to get more participants," said Jim Hart, Jaycees president. "The people I'm hearing from are our own people (Jaycees) or people I know personally. We have zero response from the population at large."

The All-American Barbecue Throw-Down gets underway as with public judging at 1 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 15, as part of Westland's fifth annual Blues, Brews and Barbecue at the Farmers Market Pavilion adjoining Tattan Park on Carlson, south of Ford Road.

"We'll actually be out there at 5 a.m. so they can start (barbecuing). If they want to do beef brisket, they can start at home but they have to finish it here," Hart said.

Contestants can enter to compete barbecue ribs, pork, chicken or beef brisket. The contest has a $20 entry fee, which allows contestants to compete in one or multiple categories.

"We really want to get some more regular citizens to enter the competition," said Hart, who also issued a challenge to members of some local service clubs to participate.

Among those lined up to judge the barbecue are Westland councilmen Bill Johnson and Dewey Reeves, U.S. Army Sgt. Brennan LaPere of the Westland recruiting center and Westland Mayor William Wild.

"Jim Hart and everyone involved with the Jaycees are to be commended for creating the All American Barbecue Throw-Down that adds even more fun and excitement to Westland's signature event of the year, our Blues, Brews and BBQ," Wild said. "I'm sure this throw-down will spice up BBB with good-natured competition and the aroma of homegrown barbecue."

Entries are due by Wednesday, Aug. 12. For more information, visit cityofwestland.com.

Blues, Brews and Barbecue will be held Friday and Saturday, Aug. 14-15. There will be music by several local blues bands, barbecue cuisine from area restaurants and Michigan craft beers from Westland's Ashley's Beer and Grill.

Headlining the two-day event is the Soul Men, a Blues Brothers tribute band. The lineup also features the Alligators, the Boa Constrictors, Broken Arrow, Dirty Basement Blues, the Front Street Blues Band and the Randy Brock Group.

Joining restaurants Famous Dave's and Texas Roadhouse are newcomers Hammons Kitchen, featuring organic, gluten-free and raw food choices, Detroit Mini Donut and Heavenly Hot Dog. Restaurants scheduled to return also include Beaver Creek, Knox Catering, Max & Erma's, Biggy Coffee and Kona Ice.

Canton adopts ban on sky lanterns, citing fire risk

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

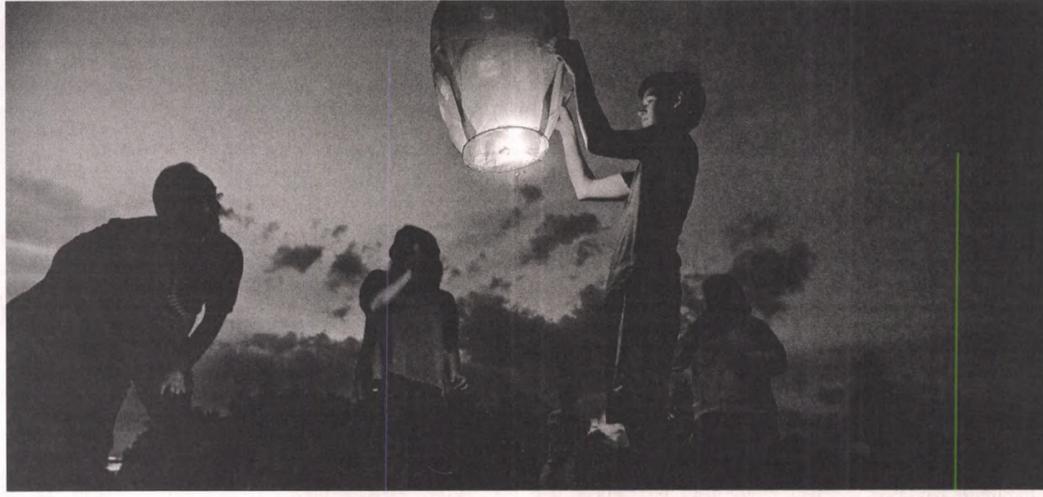

Amid concerns over potential fire threats, Canton officials have decided to ban sky lanterns — small hot air balloons that float skyward holding a flame.

Fire Chief Joshua Meier said the lanterns can touch down while still burning, posing a risk to homes, businesses and — during dry-weather conditions — fields and grass.

"We've had some close calls when they have landed between houses," Meier said.

Often referred to as Chinese lanterns, they are basically aerial candles typically made of oiled rice paper and a bamboo frame, set afloat by hot air from a small candle or fuel cell.

In a decision Tuesday,

Sky lanterns, also called Chinese lanterns or Kongming lanterns, are being banned in Canton.

the Canton Township Board of Trustees added a sky lantern ban to the local fireworks ordinance. The new rule is expected to take effect in late August after a second vote on Aug. 11.

Some states and other countries already have an outright ban.

Canton Township Supervisor Phil LaJoy said he noticed sky lanterns released in some local neighborhoods during Canton's summer Liberty Fest.

"Once the lanterns are released," he said, "the user has no way to control where they go or when or how they will land."

Moreover, LaJoy said it's possible the fuel source that powers the lanterns may not be fully consumed before landing — raising fears of an open flame dropping onto rooftops and places where fires could start.

"They are kind of scary," LaJoy said.

Officials say the potential for fires could be increased in densely populated communities such as Canton, a 36-square-mile township with more than 90,000 residents.

"It's just a big ball of fire floating in the air and where it comes down is anybody's guess," Canton Public Safety Director Todd Mutchler said.

Meier said sky lanterns aren't treated the same as fireworks that, according to state law, communities cannot ban during a three-day period around national holidays.

Some sky lantern fans release them during parties or weddings, while others send them afloat during more somber ceremonies to honor a loved one who has died. The lanterns have been blamed on at least one car crash in Michigan after a woman dodged one that had landed on a road.

Meier said sky lanterns can travel a mile or more. He said the aerial candles also are a concern when they are released near airports.

The township board's decision to ban the lanterns comes as local officials continue to push for a rollback of Michigan fireworks laws that state legislators eased in 2011, allowing more powerful products.

Trustee Pat Williams said some enthusiasts refuse to obey a local ordinance that prohibits the more powerful fireworks except around national holidays.

"It's now all summer long," he said. With an aide to state Sen. Patrick Colbeck, R-Canton, attending Tuesday's board meeting, Williams made a plea for lawmakers to help address the fireworks issue.

Local leaders to state advisor: We need skilled workers

Business, education and elected leaders from several western Wayne County communities bent the ear of Gov. Rick Snyder's top advisor on workforce development Tuesday.

Stephanie Comai, director of the newly created Michigan Talent Investment Agency, met for two hours with a group from Livonia, Westland, Wayne, Northville, Plymouth and Canton at Schoolcraft College. The focus was on the state's shortage of young people pursuing careers in skilled trades, technology and construction. Most of these positions only require one or two years of post-secondary education, and often pay more than many who earn a bachelor's degree.

"Locally, statewide and nationally, we are all looking for talent, but we are concerned the feedstock is dwindling in our workspace," said Chuck Dardas, president and COO of Livonia-based manufacturer AlphaUSA. Comai said her agency, created by the governor in March, is charged with developing state initiatives that better prepare young people for in-demand jobs.

"We need to overcome the stereotypes that exist about skilled trades," Comai said. "We plan to begin focus groups with parents to identify what they need to hear so they encourage their children to look at these careers."

Paul Bohn, a lawyer and partner with the Northville-based firm Fausone Bohn, said there are programming gaps in education and there are unreasonable state demands for professionals to teach career technical education (CTE) classes.

TED BARKER,

"Guys like Chuck Dardas, who is an accountant and successful chief executive of a manufacturing company for many years, is not 'qualified' to teach a business class in a Michigan school," Bohn said.

Comai acknowledged CTE certification requirements are "horrifying."

Educators detailed challenges they face promoting CTE and science, technology, engineering and math programs (STEM). With the need for education cuts in recent years, educators said limited demand for such curriculum made CTE programs an easy target for the budget ax. Additionally, local educators identified other issues:

» Mark Bondy, who runs CTE programs for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, said the district recently used $1.5 million from a bond issue to enhance STEM labs, but there are not enough students using these labs.

» Ann Owen, principal of Livonia's Emerson Middle School, said she consistently sees seventh-graders and eighth-graders drop out of school. She suggested more active and engaging classes, such as robust shop classes, might keep these at-risk students in school.

Dr. Michele Harmala, superintendent of Wayne-Westland schools, said technical education is primarily discussed at the high school and college level, but it needs to be introduced at younger ages, which may entice more students to these careers.

Employers like Ted Barker, who runs Livonia-based Shaw Construction and Management Co., said there is a lack of awareness about opportunities in his industry.

"We have a lot of employees who make a very good living working for us, and only two of them have a bachelor's degree," Barker said.

Harmala said CTE is a less-expensive option for parents concerned about the costs of their child's college education. And in many cases, Harmala added, a motivated, experienced young worker with an associate's degree will have a chance to earn a business, engineering or management bachelor's degree with the expense covered by their employer.

Other leaders involved in the discussion included: Dr. Randy Liepa, the outgoing Livonia schools superintendent who will soon lead Wayne RESA; Dr. Michael Meisen, superintendent of Plymouth-Canton schools; Mayor Jack Kirksey of Livonia; Supervisor Phil LaJoy of Canton Township; and Supervisor Shannon Price of Plymouth Township.

Michigan Talent Investment Agency's Stephanie Comai and AlphaUSA's Chuck Dardas listen to Tuesday's workforce discussion with leaders from across Western Wayne County.

Social Security taxes, benefits explained

Q: Dear Rick: I am in my early 70s and I retired about five years ago. At that point I began collecting Social Security and my pension. Retirement is not what I thought it would be. I am totally bored. I will start a part-time job in September. When I was filling out forms for the new company, I was told they would deduct Social Security taxes from my pay-check. Is that correct? I thought that since I'm collecting Social Security that I should no longer have to pay the tax. Also, I was told my new job could have a negative impact on my current benefits. When I called Social Security, they were totally unhelpful. Can you help? And one last question, should I use a Roth or traditional 401(k)?

A: Your new employer is 100 percent correct that they would have to withhold Social Security taxes. The fact that you are currently collecting Social Security is not relevant. When you have earned income, such as income from a job, you're liable to pay Social Security taxes whether you are receiving a benefit or not.

I recognize that you do not think this fair, however, my question to you is where does fairness enter into the equation? When I went to the University of Michigan Law School, the first thing my tax professor taught me was never to equate taxes with fairness. Therefore, in your situation it may not be fair but it is the law.

With regard to your current benefits, that is a different story. The way Social Security determines your benefit is based upon a number of factors, such as your past earnings and the age you begin collecting benefits.

In determining the amount of your benefits, Social Security uses your 35 highest paid years. Therefore, since you have already worked for more than 35 years, your current benefits would not be adversely affected.

Rick Bloom

As to contributing to the 401(k) plan, the fact that you are collecting Social Security and over 70 years of age is not an issue. As soon as your employer allows you to contribute to the 401(k) plan, you can. I recommend the Roth option. It gives you the opportunity to invest tax free. Eventually when you retire the second time, the Roth 401(k) plan can be directly transferred into a Roth IRA. That money would not be subject to the required minimum distribution at age 70½.

People sometimes forget that the benefits of the Roth IRA are not only that they grow tax free but that they are not subject to required minimum distributions. What that means is that you can allow your Roth IRA to grow tax free for as long as you choose. For retirees, this provides flexibility for the future.

FYI: Whether you are collecting Social Security or not, if you are working, I recommend the Roth option.

The benefit of having money grow tax free can be substantial — particularly, for someone who is just starting their career. After all, could you imagine someone who is 21 using a Roth 401(k) vs. a traditional 401(k)? Having money grow tax free for 40 some years can make a substantial difference for someone in retirement.

Good luck.

Madonna chair: Paralegal employment on the rise

"This is the best job market for paralegals that I've seen in my 30 years of paralegal education," said Jennifer Coté, chair of the paralegal studies department at Madonna.

Employment of paralegals and legal assistants is projected to grow 17 percent from 2012 to 2022, faster than the average for all occupations, according to the U.S. Department of Labor Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) <http://www.bls.gov/ooh/legal/paralegals-and-legal-assistants.htm>

During the Winter Semester 2015, which concluded at the end of April, there were 49 paralegal jobs posted on Madonna University's Career Services website. Recent Madonna graduates work as clerks for a U.S. magistrate and a Michigan Court of Appeals judge. Others are employed in law firms, corporate legal departments (including the auto industry), banks and the U.S. Attorney's office.

According to Coté, most large law firms, corporations and government bodies require that paralegals possess a bachelor's degree in paralegal studies. In addition to a bachelor's degree, Madonna University's paralegal program — approved by the American Bar Association — offers a post-baccalaureate certificate in paralegal studies and a nurse paralegal certificate.

Degree completion is available for those with an associate degree. Fall classes start Sept. 8 and are offered weeknights, weekends and online. For information about pursuing a paralegal studies degree, call Jennifer Coté at 734-432-5570.

The National Utilization and Compensation Survey Report, published by the National Association of Legal Assistants, showed the average annual paralegal compensation for 2014 was $55,223 for the Great Lakes Region. Nationally, experienced paralegals in corporate, employee benefits and securities law were the highest paid with annual salaries ranging from $70,000 to over $100,000.

Piot edges Trospers to win title

Canton natives battle to final hole before 25-foot putt wins it

James Piot rallied from behind and then held on with great putting to beat fellow Canton resident and 2013 champion Donnie Trospers in the final match of the 37th Michigan Junior Amateur Championship Thursday.

Piot, 16, and a junior-to-be at Novi Detroit Catholic Central, made a 25-foot par-saving putt on the 18th green to edge Trospers 1-up in the championship presented by Miles of Golf/Kendall Academy/Titleist at The Polo Fields-Washtenaw.

"It means a lot," Piot said. "It's my first win of the season actually, and I thought I played pretty well and I've been working hard. Hard work pretty much pays off."

Trospers, 18, the 2014 GAM Junior Boys Player of the Year, and the top seed because he was medalist in the 36-hole match stroke play at the start of the week, birdied two of the first three holes and had a 3-up lead through five holes.

Piot rallied strong and quickly though with three consecutive birdies, two of which won holes and was just 1-down starting the back nine.

Trospers went 2-up at the par-5 10th hole with a birdie, but Piot battled back, winning holes with pars at 14 and 15 where Trospers missed greens and par-saving putts.

The two Canton golfers each birdied 16 and then at 17 Trospers' shot flew right over the top of the flag and into a

Harrison grad Laird excelling

Farmington Hills Harrison graduate Molly Laird is excelling on and off the fairways at the University of Detroit Mercy.

A mechanical engineering major, Laird has teamed up with UDM men's lacrosse player Austin Ross of Warren to construct a portable motorized device that will allow a powered wheelchair to navigate a flight of stairs.

Using the computer-aided design program SolidWorks, Laird and Ross — both sophomores-to-be at UDM — engineered the lift digitally before construction.

"Typically, students do not get to work with machines until their junior or senior years," Laird said. "We are gaining that experience before starting our sophomore year."

Laird, whose aunt is in a wheelchair, wants to improve the mobility of individuals in wheelchairs.

"I know this project will make a difference in someone's life," she said.

The lift is expected to be fully functional by mid-August.

Young golfers post hot scores at Motor City tourney

By Ed Wright
 Staff Writer

The heat was on Wednesday at Whispering Willows Golf Course in Livonia, but the high-80s temperatures proved to be nothing more than a minor distraction for the nearly 50 youth golfers who competed in the 2015 Motor City Junior Championships.

The annual event attracts junior swingers from throughout suburban Detroit, but Wednesday's tournament had a definite hometown Livonia flavor to it, especially near the top of the leaderboards as the only three non-locals placed in the top two spots in the five age flights (three boys and two girls).

The low 18-hole round of the day was carded by Sterling Heights resident Justin McCown, who won the 13-14 boys division with a solid 77.

McCown capped his memorable day by winning his flight's closest-to-the-pin and long-drive awards as well.

Other standouts in the boys 13-14 standings were Livonia's Brendan Stout, who fired a runner-up score of 85, and Novi's Connor Gallagher, whose 96 was good for third.

Whether it was completing a high school cross country race with a broken collarbone, learning to talk at the age of 6 or thriving despite the daily obstacles presented by autism, Scott Howse has never backed down from adversity.

On July 20 the former Livonia Churchill long-distance standout and current member of the Schoolcraft College cross country team was recognized for his unwavering positivity by being presented with the Ralph E. Hay Honors award, a commendation designed for athletes who have achieved great feats in the face of adversity.

Howse received the award at the Canton Pro Football Hall of Fame Gold Jacket 5K post-race awards ceremony in Brownstown Township.

Ex-Chief waging battle with rare cancer

Positive attitude benefitting Nolen

By Ed Wright
Staff Writer

Much like the speedy wide receivers Josh Nolen routinely locked down during his spectacular career as an undersized, tough-as-nails cornerback for Canton's football program, the cancer that has invaded the 21-year-old's body is in for a relentless battle.

On June 24, following weeks of experiencing alarming symptoms that were initially misread by medical professionals, Nolen was diagnosed with renal medullary carcinoma, a rare and aggressive form of cancer that affects the kidneys.

Within days of the daunting diagnosis, Nolen was transported to the M.D. Anderson Cancer Center in Houston, Texas, where he undergoes powerful chemotherapy treatments that sap his strength, but can't lay a finger on his extraordinary mental toughness.

"Every day when I wake up, I tell myself I have to win this day, I have to stay positive," said Nolen, who is living with an aunt just a few minutes from the cancer center. "It was tough at first, but now I accept what I'm up against and I'm prepared to fight it."

"The doctors have told me I have a lot in my favor, including my age and the fact that I'm physically fit. Attitude is extremely important in beating cancer, but the other two things are probably more important."

"The doctors told me that if the treatments had started even a few days later than they did, I probably wouldn't have made it. I definitely appreciate the smaller things in life now." A few months prior to being diagnosed by doctors at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor, Nolen began experiencing persistent pain in his lower-left abdomen.

"The pain was so bad, I was going through three bottles of Aleve a week," he said. "It got so bad, I finally went in and had it checked out. They told me it was probably a muscle strain, but I told them there's no way that's what it was. I'm an athlete and I know what a muscle strain feels like. This was worse."

A few weeks later, Nolen's urine was streaked with blood, which prompted another trip to the doctor's office.

"They told me it was probably just from something I drank," he said. "When I went in a third time, they told me I had pneumonia."

Nolen's condition had deteriorated to such a degree in late June that he could barely roll over in bed without feeling exhausted. He had also lost 10 pounds in just two weeks.

"I finally decided that I had to call U of M," he said. "I woke up one morning at 7 a.m. so that I could call them as soon as they opened at 7:30. They told me they didn't have an opening until 3 that day, but I was in such bad shape, I couldn't wait that long."

"I decided to drive myself (from Canton) to the St. Mary's Hospital emergency room in Livonia. When I was about five minutes from the hospital, U of M called and told me they could get me in right away." Immediately after Nolen informed the U of M doctors of his symptoms, they delivered somber news.

"Basically, they told me

Former Canton High School football player Josh Nolen has maintained a positive attitude during his battle with renal medullary carcinoma.

they hoped it wasn't the case, but that they were obligated to tell me that all the signs pointed to kidney cancer," he said. "I was shocked, but I wasn't totally surprised because of the way I was feeling."

After undergoing several tests and scans that morning, Nolen returned home.

"About 15 minutes after I was home, the doctor called and said I had to get back to the hospital ASAP," he recalled. "They had found a mass on my kidney and several small masses on my lungs."

The chemicals that are pumped into Josh Nolen's blood stream during his once-every-three-weeks chemotherapy treatments in Houston are both allies and enemies, hope-instillers and energy-drainers, as they destroy both bad and healthy blood cells.

Following his first chemotherapy treatment at the Anderson Cancer Center, Nolen was able to ride close to five miles on a stationary bike at a nearby YMCA.

However, that wasn't the case in the wake of his second treatment, which was delayed 36 hours by the discovery of a blood clot in his left arm and the onset of an upper-respiratory infection.

"After my second chemo treatment, I couldn't take a step without stopping to rest," he revealed.

Nolen's condition has since stabilized, he added.

"If you had called me seven days ago, I probably wouldn't have been strong enough to talk to you," he said during a Friday afternoon phone interview. "I feel stronger now." Nolen said his spirits have remained strong thanks in part to the support offered by his former Canton football teammates and coaches.

With an eye on earning a bachelor's degree in finance at Western Michigan University next spring, Nolen has enrolled in online courses for the upcoming semester.

"Hopefully, if all goes well, I'm planning on being able to attend classes in person for the second semester," he said, his voice strong and assured.

A GoFundMe account has been established to help Nolen handle the onslaught of expenses that have piled up during his battle.

HOWSE

Adding to the specialness of the day for the Howse family was the first-place performance of Scott's brother, Shawn, in the 5K race. Shawn Howse, who ran the entire race in bare feet, earned a berth in next month's Gold Jacket Championship race set for Canton, Ohio, which is the home of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Scott Howse, who placed third in the Gold Jacket 5K, was nominated for the Hay award by Ed Kozloff, who is the head cross country coach at Schoolcraft.

"I was excited when I found out I won," Scott Howse said. "I was surprised because it came out of the blue."

Diagnosed with autism at the age of 2, Howse defied some educators, who recommended to his parents, Ken and Connie, that Scott be institutionalized.

Non-verbal until the age of 6, Howse learned how to talk using music therapy - particularly the song "Jesus Loves Me," which he had heard at church one Sunday.

Howse caught the running bug at Riley Middle School, where he won the city championship in cross country. He later excelled in cross country and track & field at Livonia Churchill while running under the guidance of John McGreevy and Rick Austin.

"I like to run because it calms me down," said Howse, who runs approximately three miles, up to five times a week.

Ken and Connie Howse both revealed beaming smiles when asked about the pride they feel for Scott.

"Just knowing what he's been through, we can appreciate the strides he's made," Ken Howse said. "Just getting into a school program was a huge step. He did really well in some subjects, but struggled in others. We came up with a customized program that helped him get up to a certain level in all subjects so that he could attend public middle school and high school."

The Howses vividly recall the Churchill cross country race when their son got entangled in a large group of runners and tumbled to the ground.

"He jumped right back up and started running, but he was only moving one arm," Ken Howse remembered. "His coach, John McGreevy, shouted for Scott to walk off the course so we could check him out, but he kept going."

"It turned out he had broken his collarbone, but he didn't want to stop the race. We took him to the hospital after the race and he missed a few weeks of running, but by him finishing that race, it showed us what a competitor he was."

Along with attending Schoolcraft and competing on its cross country team, Howse works three days a week at the Detroit Zoo.

He also co-authored a book with his mom - "Autistic and Awesome: A Proven Roadmap for Raising an Autistic Child - which can be purchased on Amazon.com.

"I have wanted to write a book for quite some time that I thought would be meaningful for parents of children with autism," Connie Howse said. "It's an easy-to-read, easy-to-understand book that includes stories Scott wrote and research I have compiled over the years."

"It's only been available for a few weeks, but it has received positive feedback so far. We could have published it as an e-book or a hard copy. We chose the hard copy because we figured people would want it on their shelf so they could have easier access to it."

Scott Howse's life has been jam-packed with notable achievements. For instance, in 2010, he became the first national athlete with a disability to earn Academic All-American honors.

In 2015, Howse will complete his eighth year with the Schoolcraft cross country team.

He is on track to receive his two-year General Studies degree in the spring of 2016.

"God is my biggest inspiration beyond belief," Howse said. "He helps calm me down when I'm having a bad day or I'm angry and he lifts me up even higher on my good days."

ALL-AREA BOYS GOLF TEAM

Elite golfers armed with loads of talent

FIRST TEAM

Donnie Trosper, sr., Canton: An unbelievably talented golfer, Trosper closed out one of the best high school careers ever put together by an athlete at Canton High School in any sport.

With averages of 36 and 71.1 strokes per nine and 18 holes, respectively, Trosper was the Division 1 regional medalist at Dearborn Country Club with an even-par 72.

Trosper went on to finish second at the D1 state finals at Ferris State University's Katke Golf Course.

With a 67-77-144 tally and spark the Chiefs to third place as a team.

And with that, he made the first all-state team for the fourth year in a row.

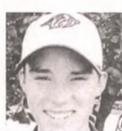

Other highlights for the Canton co-captain — and their were many — included registering a 63 in the SunTel Invitational held at Birmingham Country Club, earning medalist honors in two of four dual matches and in five of eight 18-hole events.

"Donnie is a phenomenal talent," coach Tom Alles said. "His game has no weaknesses. When Donnie plays in competition he expects to win every time."

"His golf course management skills are exceptional and his knowledge of the game is outstanding for a high school golfer. Donnie is the best golfer I have had the honor of coaching in my 21 years as head coach of the Canton Golf Team."

Trosper will golf for the University of Central Florida in the fall.

Justin Kapke, soph., Plymouth: Only a sophomore, Kapke burst onto the scene in a big way to give the Wildcats a dangerous lineup from top-to-bottom.

Kapke, an all-KLAA selection, averaged 39 for nine holes and 76 for 18 and was the top average scorer in both KLAA tournaments combined.

"He had the lowest 18-hole average on our team," coach Dan Young said. "He works extremely hard on his game and it's paying off."

After Kapke shot a 76 to finish fifth overall at the D1 regional at Dearborn CC, he finished with a 85-84-169 tally at the state final.

Kitwana Ashford, sr., Farmington: A repeat member of the all-area team, Ashford qualified as an individual for the Division 2 state tournament and shot well with a two-day total of 149 after rounds of 75 and 74. Ashford's average score in nine-hole matches was 38; he shot an average of 77.86 in tournaments. His season low was 73 at Pontiac Country Club.

He shot 76 and was fourth overall in the regional at Fieldstone Golf Course and made the state-meet cut. Ashford will be on the Henry Ford Community College golf team next year.

"Kitwana had very high expectations coming into the season," coach Ray Maleyko said. "He wanted to finish in the top 10 in every tournament we played and compete against the best golfers in each tournament."

"Kitwana thrives under pressure and welcomes the challenge. His practice routines are grueling. He'd spend four hours on the putting green or the range, because 'It didn't feel right.'"

"I'm extremely proud that he was able to achieve his season goals and represent Farmington High School at the state final."

Jack Boczar, soph., Plymouth: Boczar is one of three golfers Young considers "all number ones." Along with Kapke and junior Kyle Kozler,

"they all can go low at any given tournament and did."

The youngest of the trio, sophomore Boczar averaged 37 for nine holes and 77 for 18. He registered the lowest average for nine-hole matches in the KLAA, deservedly earning all-KLAA honors.

At D1 regionals, he came in third overall with a 75, pacing Plymouth to the championship at Dearborn CC. He followed that up at the state finals at Katke, tallying a 80-81-161 scoreline.

"Jack works as hard as anybody and has improved from a year ago," Young said. "... He is a leader in our program."

Kyle Kozler, jr., Plymouth: One of several standout Wildcats was the talented junior, who averaged 39 for nine holes and 77 for 18. Kozler capped off his consistently splendid season by being the team's top performer at the D1 finals with a 78-74-152 scoreline.

Among a number of stellar performances, Kozler's 76 topped Plymouth's scorecard at the D1 district at Pine View Golf Course in Ypsilanti — sparking the Wildcats to the title. He followed that up with a 78 at the D1 regional.

"Kyle was named all-KLAA and was our lowest scoring golfer at the state championship," Young said. "He's a great ball striker who has a very bright future."

Noah Lindlbauer, sr., Canton: Another stellar performer for the Chiefs throughout his career, Lindlbauer averaged 38.5 per nine holes and 78.2

per 18 during his senior season. A first-team all-conference selection for the second straight season, the Canton co-captain also earned academic all-state honorable mention honors.

Lindlbauer was district medalist with a 74 at Pine View Golf Club and shot 80 or lower eight of 10 times in 18-hole rounds.

He finished 13th overall at the D1 regional with a 79 and then registered a 75-80-155 scoreline at state finals.

"Noah is a very intelligent thinker," Alles said. "He thinks his way around the course very effectively. He is extremely competitive and will battle the course until the last putt is holed."

"Noah is a straight hitter of the golf ball and possesses an outstanding short game to complement his accuracy."

Austin Alexander, sr., N. Farmington: A four-year varsity standout, Alexander finished his career as the third-best player in North Farmington history with an overall average of 38.3.

The only golfers ranked ahead of him are Max Kollin (35.8), who plays for Indiana University, and Don Timmer (38.1). He is tied with Nick Williams.

A perennial selection to the all-area team, Alexander averaged 78.5 in tournament play and 38.6 in dual matches.

"Austin was the medalist in every match he played in this season and is one of the mildest mannered young men I have ever had the honor of coaching," coach Bruce Sutton said.

"During his four years on the varsity, Austin made it to the state final as a freshman and helped the team to a 26-5 overall record."

"He was selected for the All-Observer and OAA All-Blue Division teams four times and was the team MVP for three years. I am proud to say I have been his coach."

Connor Greenlee, sr., Farmington: Greenlee made the jump from the all-area second to first team this year after shooting average scores of 78.7 in tournaments and 39.4 in nine-hole matches. His season low was 73 at Birmingham Country Club. Greenlee was eighth in the Fieldstone regional with a 79 and was one stroke away from qualifying for state.

"Connor's performance on the course was exceptional," Maleyko said. "Connor set the bar high for himself and his teammates, and I'm very excited that he will be playing golf at the collegiate level next year at Henry Ford CC with Kitwana."

"Connor has all the tools you want as a golf coach. One of his best attributes is that he works with his teammates on their games as much as he works on his own. He wants to be a better golfer. He puts in the time and the repetitions to get better."

"I can't tell you how many times after practice, a match or a tournament, he asked to hit balls at the range or putt on the greens. Farmington boys golf will definitely miss him next season."

SECOND TEAM
Suhas Potluri, soph., Canton: With Potluri only a sophomore in 2015, the Chiefs won't miss a beat next season despite the graduation of Trosper, Lindlbauer and others. Potluri was the epitome of consistency, scoring 40.1 per nine holes and 80.1 per 18, earning dual-match medalist honors three times and breaking the 80 mark five times out of nine 18-hole rounds.

A first-team all-KLAA selection for his second straight year, Potluri placed second in the SunTel Invitational at Birmingham CC with a 69 and he shot a 81-84-165 at the state finals.

"Suhas is constantly working to improve his game," Alles said. "He spends a great deal of time on the range and on the practice green to hone his skills."

"He hits the ball a long ways but also possesses a deft touch around the greens. He has a lot of competitive junior golf experience that will serve him well for his junior and senior years."

Joe Pummill, sr., Garden City: A rare four-year all-conference performer, Pummill averaged 38.0 for nine-hole rounds and 81 for 18. He was a match medalist six times, including back-to-back matches when he carded scores of 36 (at Gateway) and 33 (at Westland Municipal).

"The key to Joe's success this year was his consistency," said Ron Pummill, Joe's coach and father. "Joe knew he needed to shoot low in order for us to be successful and that is what he did."

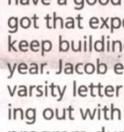

"He was our leader. In the four years he started in high school, we won two league championships and back-to-back state district titles. I am proud of Joe both as his coach and his dad. It was truly an honor to have coached him and I am going to miss him."

Jacob Kenward, fr., Franklin: The freshman enjoyed a dazzling debut season for the Patriots, capped by a sensational round of 78 at a Division 1 district tournament at The Legacy in Ottawa Lake. Kenward missed earning individual medalist honors at the district by just one shot.

"What made Jacob special is that he played and practiced and kept up with his grades," coach Jason Rammiller said. "The first year usually is about experience, playing in matches and tournaments, but he held his own in matches and tournaments."

"Jacob battled through injuries and made it to regionals, and even though he didn't have a good round, he got that experience to keep building for next year. Jacob earned his varsity letter and is helping out with our junior program during the summer. I am glad that I have him for three more years."

Andrew Lloyd, sr., Plymouth: The senior co-captain was instrumental in the Wildcats' success, providing an average of 41 per nine holes and 81 per 18 while contributing leadership. He also had one of the highlights of the season, was match medalist with a 35 in a showdown against Canton for the KLAA South Division title.

"That's huge and it's great for that kid," Young said about Lloyd's clutch performance. "He deserves it; he's a hard worker. He's a great kid. He's captain for a reason."

Lloyd, an all-KLAA pick, also chipped in during postseason tournaments. At the D1 regional, he registered a solid 83. He then tallied a 87-87-174 scoreline at the D1 finals at Ferris State.

Connor Zydeck, sr., Plymouth: Zydeck also provided clutch golf and leadership as the team's other senior co-captain, 41 per nine and 86 per 18.

He was the story at the D1 regional championship at Dearborn Country Club, coming through with a 76 to make "the difference" in the Wildcats prevailing, Young said at the time.

"He played in the 5 spot for us and ... he shot eight strokes below his average," Young said. "He got into a good rhythm today and came through for us when it counted the most."

Zydeck had a 84-84-168 scoreline at the D1 finals at Ferris State.

Joe Majoros, jr., Farmington: Majoros was a solid complement to the team's senior leaders as the Falcons just missed making the cut for the D2 state meet, tying for third place (324) but losing a tiebreaker to Notre Dame

Prep. Majoros, who also plays forward on the school's hockey team, shot an average score of 82.86 strokes in tournaments and 44 in dual matches.

"There was probably more pressure on Joe this year than any other golfer on our team," Maleyko said. "Joe made some major swing and grip adjustments early in the year that paid dividends throughout the season. He met and exceeded my expectations."

"Joe has all the tools to be a very successful competitive golfer. The thing that impresses me the most as his coach is watching him commit to shots during competitions that we work on during practice."

"I'm really looking forward to seeing Joe take the torch from our graduating seniors and leading our team next season."

Chris Dooley, sr., Canton: With averages of 39 per nine holes and 83.2 per 18, Dooley provided the Chiefs with solid, consistent play throughout his senior season.

A first-team all-KLAA member who also was named to the academic all-state first team, Dooley was a medalist in one dual match and shot a 77 in the Next Tee Invitational at Oakland Hills North.

"Chris is a very consistent player," Alles said. "He manages his game intelligently. He does a great job of playing to his strengths and keeping his composure."

"Chris has always been the consummate team player. He is extremely coachable and well-respected by his teammates."

Hunter Schlamp, sr., Canton: Schlamp closed out his prep career in grand style, registering impressive scores of 82 at districts, 81 at regionals and 80-80-160 at the state finals.

He averaged 41.2 per nine and 83.4 per 18, shooting 82 or lower five out of eight times in 18-hole events.

"Hunter is very athletic," Alles said. "He has improved considerably over the three years he has been on the team."

"He has a great attitude and rarely gets rattled on the course. Hunter was a big factor in our team being able to qualify for the state finals."

Jared Latham, sr., Garden City: Latham closed out his high school golf career with a bang, averaging 40.4 strokes during nine-hole rounds and 83 over 18. He often played his best during big matches, a prime example being the team-best 77 he fired during the Cougars' second-consecutive Division 1 district championship performance.

HONORABLE MENTIONS
Canton: Brian Oldani, Phillip Conrad, Josh Johnson, Plymouth: James Baldwin, Joe Fantana, Salem: Hayden Winch, Farmington: Jackson Tellerio, Phil Chacko, Luke Seflic, Harrison: LJ Tucker, N. Farmington: Nate Corley, Chris Matti, Churchill: Griffin Ahmet, John Doyle, Sam Spayd, Franklin: Will Hettel, Matt Wiebelhaus, Stevenson: Noah Pappalardo, Dominic Rea, Hyder Mansour, Garden City: Justin Bastion, Connor Johnson, Redford Union: Evan Albright, Luke Hebrner, Thurston: Alex Williams, Logan Charlton, Wayne: John Hicks, Nick Jefferson, John Glenn: David Hickson, Chase Anderson.

Latham has signed to continue his competitive golf career at Jackson Community College.

"Jared had his best year as a high school player this year," coach Ron Pummill said. "Jared has a desire to play college golf and he put in the work this past summer. That work paid off."

"Jared hit the ball off the tee as well as anyone on our team, but his improvement on the greens and his course management were why his scores were low. I wish him nothing but the best at Jackson Community College."

CO-COACHES OF YEAR
Dan Young, Plymouth: It was another outstanding season for the Wildcats, who won the KLAA South Division with a 5-0 record, then prevailed in the Kensington Conference, D1 district and regional tournaments.

"We had a great season, coming together at playoff time," Young said. "Winning our division, conference, district and regional championships are all hard to do."

With a selfless attitude, Plymouth's lineup had multiple golfers step up at different points of the season. Leading the way were Kapke, Boczar, Kyle Kozler and senior co-captains Lloyd and Zydeck.

"Our team had many contributors and they worked very hard to improve as the season went on," Young noted. "Most importantly, we had a great group of guys who had 'Team First' attitudes. That was the difference."

Tom Alles, Canton: Despite falling short in the division and conference standings, the Chiefs were driven to succeed when the stakes were highest.

Led by senior stalwarts Trosper, Lindlbauer, Dooley and Schlamp, augmented by Potluri and Brian Oldani, the Chiefs placed third at the D1 championship — finishing just two strokes back of runner-up Battle Creek Lakeview.

"Our seniors stayed focused and played very well the entire year," Alles said. "Our third place finish at the state finals was our best showing in my 21 years as head coach of the Canton Boys Golf Team."

"The boys can take great pride in the fact that their hard work paid big dividends with such a high finish at states. It was a pleasure for me to be able to coach such a talented and dedicated group of young men."

AMATEUR TRACK & FIELD

Waza Track Club delivers strong efforts in Ypsi

Waza Track Club performed admirably at the recent AAU Region 12 National Qualifier Track Meet in Ypsilanti from July 2-5.

Of 24 athletes that competed, 22 qualified for the Junior Olympics national championship track meet that will be held in Hampton Roads, Va. from July 31 to Aug. 8.

Waza TC's athletes and relay teams set a total of 30 personal records, meaning they exceeded their previous best mark in their respective event. In addition, three athletes established PRs in their respective events en route to qualification for the Junior Olympics meet.

Among the club's national qualifier champions and runners-up are:

» Akshay Reddy of Commerce (13-year-old age group) - Following up on his indoor national performance where he won three national championships, Akshay won each of his three events at the National Qualifier with PRs in three events: 800-meter run (2 minutes, 16.4 seconds); 1,500 (4:41.6); and 3,000 (9:56.8).

» Victoria Heiligenthal of Commerce (15-16) - Also following up three indoor national championships, Victoria won two events at the National Qualifier and placed second in another. Her times in her three best events were 2:20.9 in the 800; 4:57.61 in the 1,500; and 10:55.8 in the 3,000.

USL SOCCER

Bucks ousted from PDL playoffs in overtime

The Michigan Bucks completed a historic second half comeback Friday to get to the elite eight Premier Development League matchup with Great Lakes Division rival Kitchener-Waterloo United FC, but couldn't duplicate the previous night's feat Saturday at Pontiac's Ultimate Soccer Arenas.

The Ontario team jumped out to a 2-0 first-half advantage and went on to post 3-1 victory to seize the Central Conference title and earn a spot in the club's first-ever PDL final four.

The Bucks entered the match with heavy legs from the previous night's 3-2 overtime marathon victory over the Thunder Bay (Ontario) Chill 3-2 on a late goal.

K-W United and the Bucks played two Great Lakes Division regular-season games, with the home side coming away with an identical 3-1 score line.

The first K-W United goal came during the ninth minute by defender Ken Krolicki off a corner kick past the outstretched arms of Bucks goalkeeper Drew Shepherd for a 1-0 lead.

Just five minutes later, K-W's Adam Polakiewicz sent a low

Tom Owens, pictured earlier in the year, had a just miss on a corner in the early minutes of the second half.

bouncing ball to the far post that eluded Shepherd and gave the K-W a 2-0 lead on the team's first two shots of the game.

The Bucks looked to have a certain goal in the early minutes of the second half when a Tom Owens corner kick fell to the feet of the Bucks' Francis De Vries, who missed from 6 yards out with what looked to be the spark to lead back-to-back comebacks.

Michigan missed several close-range opportunities all night with shots that actually missed the goal or were blocked by United defenders.

In the 57th minute, right after a huge kick save by Shepherd, United broke from its own end and played a ball to Sergio Camargo, who played a perfect cross to Wesley Cain, who scored for a 3-0 K-W lead. The Bucks finally broke through in the 77th minute, when De Vries, a New Zealand native, converted a 24-yard free kick.

The Bucks continued to press and had several opportunities during the final 15 minutes, but could never get the score back to within one goal.

Yuta Nomura replaced Shepherd in goal for the final 27 minutes as the Bucks ended their season at 13-3-3.

Nathan Ingram made three saves for K-W United, which moves on to the PDL's final four Friday, July 31, at a site to be determined. K-W United faces the Sounders FC (Wash.) U23, while the Ocala (Fla.) Stampede take on the New York Red Bulls U23 in the other semifinal.

back bunker. He left the first bunker shot in the sand and ended up conceding the hole.

Both golfers missed the green at 18 with approach shots, and Piot calmly stroked in his 25-foot par putt to secure the match.

"I played pretty good this week, I mean I beat the whole field by six (shots) the first couple of days," Trospen said. "If I made a couple of those par putts coming in, I probably win it. But James made a lot of putts. He made a great putt on 18."

Piot said he figured the wind would be to his advantage at the start of the match, too.

"Donnie hits it really high, and he might have used too much club at 17, too," he said. "I went for the middle of the green there. I didn't want to end up in that back bunker and my putter came back for me on the back nine. I was pretty confident with it and Donnie missed a couple of par putts he doesn't normally miss."

Piot reached the final with a semifinal win over 2013 GAM Junior Boys Player of the Year Andrew Walker of Battle Creek in 19 holes, and it took Trospen 23 holes and a 30-foot birdie putt to finally top Dylan Deogun of Orchard Lake in the morning.

Trospen, 18, is headed to Central Florida to play college golf. Deogun, 18, is headed to Mercer University in Macon, Ga., and Walker, 17, is an early verbal commitment to Michigan State University.

Piot, who was runner-up to Jake Kneen of White Lake last year, plans to defend his title next summer.

"It feels good to win," he said. "It's a lot of golf and I was pretty consistent all week."

It's all because she cares

Livonia woman looks forward to 3-Day breast cancer walk

By Sharon Dargay
Staff Writer

Katie Lee was just 15 years old the first time she walked 60 miles in three days.

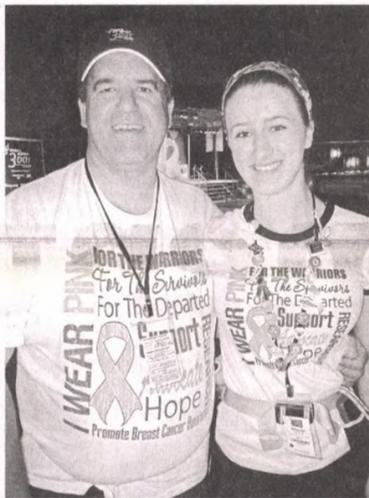

With her mother and grandmother at her side, the Livonia teenager completed her first Susan G. Komen 3-Day, an annual fundraiser for breast cancer research that spans three days and 60 miles. They called their team Cleavage Keepers.

"I had heard about it and it sounded like a cool thing to do, a fun idea, given that my grandmother is a survivor," said Lee, 22, a seven-year veteran of the event, which runs Aug. 7-9 this year. Her mother, Lori, was 46 and her grandmother, Jean Makela, was 70, when they walked in the 3-Day for the first time.

Cleavage Keepers reunited for the 60-mile walk the following year, adding a family friend and some of Lee's classmates from Stevenson High School to the team. Her mother walked with her for their third event, and her father, Craig, kept her company during her fourth walk in 2011. College classmates joined her in year five, and by year six and seven, she took on the challenge by herself.

"I technically walked by myself, but you're never really alone. You are surrounded by so many friendly people. We had all sorts of fun. It's 60 miles of socialization and friendship.

"You meet so many amazing people. There was one woman who was only 30 when she was diagnosed. She did the walk in a wheelchair for two years. Another woman walked when she was eight months pregnant. There is one man who is 82, who walks with a walking stick."

Katie Lee and her dad, Craig, walk the Susan G. Komen 3-Day in 2011.

"We've walked through Dearborn, Novi, Northville, Plymouth, Livonia and Farmington Hills. It's amazing where you can get in 60 miles."

KATIE LEE, 3-DAY WALKER

Eighth year

Lee, who will start her second year of veterinary school at Michigan State University this fall, has raised more than $2,300 for her eighth consecutive walk. It starts Aug. 7 at the Suburban Collection Showplace in Novi and ends Aug. 9 at Ford Motor Co. headquarters in Dearborn.

"We've walked through Dearborn, Novi, Northville, Plymouth, Livonia and Farmington Hills. It's amazing where you can get in 60 miles."

She'll walk 22 miles through Novi, Farmington and Farmington Hills the first day. Although many participants camp overnight at the Suburban Collection, Lee will sleep at home Friday and Saturday nights. The 22-mile route will take her through Plymouth, Livonia and Northville the second day and on the final day, she'll walk through Hines Park from Livonia to Dearborn.

"I get injuries every year, but that was because I was a dancer," said Lee, who took Irish dance lessons for 17 years. "I have knee problems and shin splints. I tripped last year and sprained a groin muscle and I had a big crotch wrap." She doesn't mind the injuries because the event raises awareness of breast cancer in addition to research funds.

Supporters

"You'll see people along the side of the road saying, 'I'm alive because of you. You don't hurt after that,'" she said. "People will drive by and honk. People support us by bringing food and on hot days, cold towels and wash cloths."

Lee's dog, Hannah, cheered her on last year.

"My mom would drive her and stop every couple of miles (along the route). Everyone loved petting her."

Hannah died earlier this year, but Lee's new pup, Dina, likely will take on cheerleader duties with Lee's mom this year.

Onlookers can show their support for walkers at several cheering stations along the route. On Friday, stations will be set from 7-7:30 a.m. at the Suburban Collection; 8:25-11 a.m. at CVS Pharmacy, 39350 W. Nine Mile, Farmington Hills; and 10:35 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Gill Elementary School, 21195 Gill, Farmington Hills. On Saturday, visitors can cheer from 8:10-10 a.m. on Center Street, between Dunlap and East Cady, in downtown Northville, and from 9:20 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. at Kellogg Park, Ann Arbor Trail and Main, in downtown Plymouth. One cheering station will be set from 8:45-10:55 a.m. Sunday, at Perrin Recreational Area, 27443 Ann Arbor Trail, Dearborn Heights. Closing ceremonies run 4:30-5 p.m. at Ford World Headquarters, 1 American Road, Dearborn.

Lee, who sports a pink ribbon tattoo on her ankle, said she'll continue to walk as long as she can.

"It becomes such a big part of you. If I can raise awareness by walking and it saves someone from the heartache of dealing with cancer, I can handle a few blisters and the fundraising.

"I look at it as a privilege. I love it."

Find out more about the 3-Day by visiting the3day.org and click on the link to the Michigan walk site. Click "donate" on the Michigan site to find Katie Lee's fundraising page.

Stay alert behind the wheel this vacation season

With our summer season in high gear, more driving miles are being logged than at any other time of the year.

Road trips, travel vacations, and out-of-state family reunions are upon us. For many, work and school vacations are time to "hit the road". A million drivers from near and far are expected at Michigan's famous Woodward Dream Cruise next month.

Increased attention to driving safety is not complete without heightened awareness of the grave epidemic of drowsy driving.

A study on highway safety by AAA Motor Club of Michigan emphasizes motorists' need to "wake up." Research revealed an alarming number of snoozing drivers. For example, 28 percent of drivers surveyed reported being so tired that they had difficulty keeping their eyes open while driving in a measured 30-day period. Drowsy driving is obviously dangerous because it slows reaction time, impairs vision, and causes lapses in judgment. We are accustomed to multimedia emphasis warnings about the danger of drunken driving. More attention needs to be paid to drowsy driving while sober.

Accident risk

Studies have shown that many drivers underestimate the problem of driving while extremely tired and misjudge their ability to deal with it. The AAA Foundation for Traffic Study says that a very fatigued driver may fall asleep for several seconds without even realizing it. The catastrophic effects of a crash can begin in a fraction of one second. Many chronic drowsy drivers believe this an acceptable state of affairs because they have been experiencing it for so long, they can come to believe they are actually good at driving drowsy.

Some warning signs of drowsy driving can include yawning repeatedly, feeling as though your head is heavy, wandering thoughts, inability to recall the last few minutes of travel, and hearing the rumble strips when your car has veered off lane and is headed for the cement highway barrier.

ADHESIVE CAPSULITIS

Adhesive capsulitis is a shoulder condition in which the shoulder joint capsule shrinks resulting in a shoulder that cannot move. Several attributes of adhesive capsulitis make the condition difficult to diagnose and treat.

First, the name adhesive capsulitis. Orthopedists have operated on such a shoulder numerous times. At the time of operation there are no adhesions and microscopy of the specimens invariably finds no evidence of inflammation. Still the name, adhesive capsulitis carries on.

Second, the cause of condition is unknown. People with diabetes are at risk for developing adhesive capsulitis but physicians have no explanation as to why that association occurs. Usually a physician can find no evidence to support the diagnosis from a patient's history of injury or shoulder overuse.

Third, imaging the shoulder does not reveal the presence of adhesive capsulitis. X-rays of the shoulder are normal and are helpful only to eliminate the possibility of a fracture or osteoarthritis. MRI provides extensive information about the muscles and tendons around the shoulder and quality of the bone, but there is no reliable sign that tells the radiologist that adhesive capsulitis is present.

The diagnosis depends on examination that reveals the patient can barely move the shoulder and the absence of any other cause such as shoulder tendinitis.

Treatment by any means is inconsistent in its results. Physical therapists are limited because shoulder movement is so restricted. Steroid injection into the shoulder capsule does not reverse the process of shrinkage. Operation under anesthesia wherein the orthopedist forcibly moves the shoulder has many complications and inconsistent results.

Most often time determines how much recovery will occur.

Save your eyes with clean living, sunglasses

Which health screenings and exams are top priorities for you? If you're like most adults, monitoring your weight, cholesterol, and blood pressure is probably part of your health care routine. But what about vision care?

When adults reach their 40s, they often start to notice small changes in their vision, which can impact their daily lives and job performance. Whether having difficulty reading a book or working on a computer screen, such changes can be frustrating, but they can often be addressed by an eye care professional.

A comprehensive dilated eye exam is the best way to detect diseases and conditions that can cause vision loss and blindness. That's because many have no symptoms in their early stages.

According to the National Eye Institute, all adults aged 60 and older should have a comprehensive dilated eye exam, with the exception of African Americans, who are advised to get the exams starting at age 40 due to a higher risk of developing glaucoma at an earlier age. Even if you haven't experienced any issues with your sight, a dilated exam can detect serious eye diseases and conditions such as age-related macular degeneration, cataract, diabetic eye disease, and glaucoma.

During a dilated eye exam, your eye care professional places drops in your eyes to dilate, or widen, the pupil. This lets more light enter the eye, similar to the way an open door lets more light into a dark room and allows your eye care professional to get a good

EYE DISEASES AND CONDITIONS

Just as the rest of your body ages, so do the eyes. The following are common diseases and conditions associated with aging that can be detected with proper monitoring from an eye care professional:

» Cataract. People who experience this clouding of the lens in the eye often report increased glare and fading of colors.

» Diabetic eye disease. A complication of diabetes and a leading cause of blindness, its most common form is diabetic retinopathy, which happens when the disease damages small blood vessels inside the retina.

» Dry eye. Dry eye can feel like stinging or burning, and can lead to blurred vision or even vision loss if left untreated.

» Glaucoma. Glaucoma is a group of diseases that can damage the eye's optic nerve and result in vision loss and blindness. Open-angle glaucoma is the most common form of the disease.

» Age-related macular degeneration. Age-related macular degeneration (AMD) is a disease that blurs the sharp, central vision you need for "straight-ahead" activities such as reading, sewing, and driving. AMD affects the macula, the part of the eye that allows you to see fine detail.

look at the back of your eyes to examine them for any signs of damage or disease.

Regular eye exams go a long way in helping you see well for a lifetime. But there is more you can do. Experts at the National Eye Institute recommend following these additional steps to protect your vision.

1. Live a healthy lifestyle. Living an overall healthy life is good for your eyes. This includes:

» Maintaining a healthy weight. Being overweight or obese increases your risk of developing diabetes and other systemic conditions, which can lead to vision loss from diabetic eye disease or glaucoma.

» Eating healthy foods. You've heard carrots are good for your eyes, but eating a diet rich in fruits and vegetables, particularly dark leafy greens such as spinach, kale, or collard greens is important for keeping your eyes healthy, too. Research has also shown there are eye health benefits from eating fish high in omega-3 fatty acids, such as salmon, tuna, and halibut.

» Not smoking. Smoking is as bad for your eyes as it is for the rest of your body. Research has linked smoking to an increased risk of developing age-related macular degeneration, cataract and optic nerve damage, all of which can lead to blindness.

2. Know your family history. Talk to your family members about their eye health history. It's important to know if anyone has been diagnosed with an eye disease or condition since many are hereditary. This will help to determine if you are at higher risk for developing an eye disease or condition.

3. Use protective eyewear. Protect your eyes when playing sports, working with hazardous materials, or doing chores like mowing the lawn. Protective eyewear includes safety glasses and goggles, safety shields and eye guards specially designed to provide the correct protection for a certain activity. Most protective eyewear lenses are made of polycarbonate, which is 10 times stronger than other plastics. Many eye care providers sell protective eyewear, as do some sporting goods stores.

4. Wear sunglasses. Sunglasses are a great fashion accessory, but their most important job is to protect your eyes from the sun's ultraviolet rays. When purchasing sunglasses, look for ones that block out 99 to 100 percent of both UV-A and UV-B radiation. Exposure to excess sunlight can increase your risk of cataract and age-related macular degeneration, tissue growth on the white part of eye that can cause discomfort and blurred vision.

Plan for a healthy school year

August is already here and the school year is right around the corner. It's time for the planning to start and lists to be made. As you make a school supply list and shop for new clothing and shoes, don't forget to plan for a healthy school year. Parents often ask how they can keep their children healthy throughout the year but there isn't only one answer to this question. Here are some tips to get your child off to a great start and maintain their health all year long.

Schedule a back-to-school doctor appointment

Before the school year begins, make an appointment with your child's physician to verify all of your child's immunizations are up-to-date. Some of the vaccinations children receive while they are babies or before they began school as a preschooler need to be updated later in life. Also, there are other immunizations such as those that protect against human papillomavirus and meningitis administered during the preteen and teenage years. The physician might also recommend a return visit for a yearly flu vaccination. Having up-to-date immunizations will help your child stay healthier throughout the school year.

At this appointment, your physician may also give your child a basic vision test. Blurry vision can cause reoccurring eye strain and headaches so it's important to know if impaired vision is the culprit. A follow-up appointment with an ophthalmologist may be recommended if your child has difficulty with the exam.

Make balanced nutrition an important part of your daily routine

Good eating habits will help keep your child healthy throughout the school year. A well-balanced breakfast is important. Too much sugar or a meal full of refined carbohydrates can cause blood sugar spikes, which will later result in a dip in energy. Try starting the day with whole grain toast with peanut butter and jelly and a glass of milk. The protein in this meal will keep your child feeling full longer and allow the child to focus on learning.

Continue the nutrition-filled meals into the lunch hour. Although school lunches have become healthier in recent years, it is still best to pack your own. A turkey wrap or tuna sandwich paired with a yogurt, piece of fruit and bottled water will give your child energy for the afternoon.

Don't let the healthy eating stop at the end of the school day. A nutritious family meal is not only good for the body but is also good for your child's development and social skills. Make the dinner table a technology-free zone and catch up on each other's day.

Know when to keep your child home

Germs are everywhere and your child can't avoid them. At some point during the year, illness will most likely set in. When should a child stay home from school? If your child has a fever over 100 degrees, body aches, extreme sleepiness or is vomiting, keep him or her home for at least 24 hours after the symptoms have subsided. If your child is just feeling off, send a note to school for the teacher or school nurse just so they are aware of your child's minor illness. They will be able to monitor the situation and notify you if the symptoms become worse and your child needs to be picked up.

Other tips for a healthy school year

» Staying active is a great way for kids to stay healthy. Since school is very sedentary, children should have at least one hour of play each school day. On weekends, plan family outings that include physical activity such as bike riding, hiking or swimming.

» Find alternatives to sugary birthday treats. Fruit kabobs, hummus and veggies or string cheese are healthy options that are also delicious.

» A consistent sleep schedule is also important for optimum health. Children under 12 years old should get at least 10 hours of sleep a night and those 12 to 18-years-old need at least eight hours. It's best to have a set bedtime, not only during the school year but all year long. This keeps your child on a routine, maintaining the internal clock and helps the child fall asleep and wake up more easily.
